Taxation Question Is Kiwanis Subject

Our taxation problems and the conservation of taxes through elimination of administrative and operative devices in relation to our schools, were discussed by Dr. U. S. Conn at Kiwanis club meeting on Monday noon. "We could do away with much inefficiency if we'd forget personal greed and community greed and work for good of the community at large," said the speaker. "We're inclined to demand things for our community which are not good for the country as a whole." As an example of this, the speaker cited the present divisions of school districts, with some having only two pupils yet maintaining a school building and employing a teacher for them. If these districts were to be consolidated, resulting in better-equipped teachers, more efficiency and less expense, patrons would be up in arms.

Dr. Wirt's PEOPLE are interested in what Dr. Wirt will reveal when he is examined by a senate committee. Some minimize his charges against the brain trust; others accept them as indicative of lurking evil.

To Unionize WHILE labor unions are doubtless still willing to permit employing institutions to provide the cash with which to pay wages and other expenses, and to assume responsibilities and stand any failure to keep out of the "red," they are doing their best to grab managerial functions and dictate terms and conditions of employment.

Personal A CURRENT magazine is running a series of articles presenting excerpts from memoranda concerning the peculiar personal habits of former presidents. While little oddities and whims that are set forth, show national leaders to be very human, the revelations really shade the luster of outstanding public service.

Winsome IN an interview in Cincinnati recently, Alexander A. Troyanovski, soviet ambassador to Washington, said that full democracy is in prospect in Russia, adding that Stalin is not a dictator and that people are not compelled to obey his orders.

The names of about 1,100 participants in the corn-hog reduction plan will soon be published. Signing up is expected to end Saturday.

Clergymen, undertakers and cemetery officials at Falls City have jointly appealed to the public to abolish the practice of holding funerals on Sunday.

of the biggest interference with the day's original idea of repose and divine worship.

Dwight Griswold of Gordon, who as republican candidate for governor two years ago, was swept to defeat by the Roosevelt tidal wave, has again entered the political arena for the same high place.

Austria is reported making progress with its lately entrenched dictatorship by driving from its news stands a total of 100 foreign periodicals. The banned American magazines are The Saturday Evening Post, the American Magazine, Variety and the True Story Magazine.

Only one ticket in the field and lack of popular interest encouraged comparatively few to go to the polls for Tuesday's municipal election. Two conventions and two sets of candidates would arouse discussion of both school and city affairs, and so insure wider and clearer understanding.

Observing the government's discontinuance of the CWA program to cure unemployment after spending over a billion dollars, the Omaha Journal-Stockman comments: "The cost was colossal but it accomplished its purpose of substituting employment for charity and it was a vast improvement over any system of doles.

It was under the other major depression that Grover Cleveland, then president, remarked, in vetoing a bill proposing a $25,000 gratuity, that "the people support the government; the government does not support the people."

Some of the pictures of successful candidates for municipal offices appearing in metropolitan newspapers this week suggest that they ought to select substitutes to pose for them while the camera performs. Borrow some photographs from rural communities.

Profits Are Necessary. Omaha Journal-Stockman: While the disposition on the part of the nation seems to be to go along with the recovery program as far as possible, there has been a practically universal revolt against the theory that profit is of secondary importance in human activities.

Nor are the rank and file of the population alone in their opposition to this Utopian idea. "Our system is such," declares Dr. Crowder of the University of Iowa, "that the motivating force for its smooth operation is the expectation of profits. Any attack on them or any attempt to cut them down causes the system to falter, if not to stop.

Senatorial Wit. Norfolk Daily News: Senator J. Hamilton Lewis was collaborating with Senator Huey "Kingfish" Long during the debate on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

Being from Big Bill Thompson's town of Chicago, J. Hamilton does a lot of worrying about King George V and the British naval power. He feared the improvement of the St. Lawrence might bring British naval vessels into Lake Michigan, to the very Chicago waterfront.

"We had better shut off the Mississippi river," suggested Senator Norris of Nebraska, speaking of the danger from the British navy, "because they will come sailing up there and destroy all the cities along that stream."

"Of course," wagged Senator Wheeler of Montana, "they will destroy New Orleans and Chicago."

"It may be," cried Senator Norris, "that all the cities along the river are destroyed this very minute. It may be that the Senator from Louisiana will find that he has no home to go to when he leaves here."

"They are now building the battleships in England," observed Senator Norris.

MIDDLE CLASS.

There is no danger that justice will often miscarry or long suffer interruption if the substantial, intelligent middle class—the class of moderate incomes, of high ideals and of modest and orderly habits—remains in the majority.

Oranges Are Good As Protective Food

Oranges, thanks to modern science and enterprise, are nowadays common in every part of the United States. This is important, not only because they add so much to the "pleasures of the palate" but because they are one of the most valuable of what the nutrition specialists call the protective foods.

They are one of the foods that help to keep the gums in good condition, and to make good teeth—this because they are such an excellent source of vitamin C, which has to do with the general health, and is necessary to prevent scurvy.

Orange juice is good for babies especially. They can take it easily and they need it because milk does not give them enough vitamin C and because they do not eat enough of the other foods that contain this vitamin unless special care is taken. There are other good sources of vitamin C, of course—tomatoes particularly, raw cabbage, raw turnips and grapefruit, especially lemons and lemons and tangerines—all the citrus fruits, in fact. Oranges, however, are at their cheapest this time of year.

It is good news, also, says the bureau of home economics of the Offer of Free Land Use.

If you own vacant land which you are willing to lend for use as a garden tract for some unemployed family head, please list the land on this blank, giving size of tract and location, including street address.

U. S. department of agriculture, that two or three million bags of oranges are on their way from Florida to be distributed free to needy families throughout the eastern half of the United States.

Florida growers have donated these oranges to the federal surplus relief corporation, which will pass them on to the State relief agencies. All of the states east of the Mississippi, and Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, and Louisiana will share in this distribution.

For people who can afford to buy, it is fortunate that oranges are plentiful now in the markets. The range in price, of course, is very great. In northern cities and in the middle west, oranges cost two to three times as much as in the south and on the Pacific coast, but even for the family with very little to live on, a bag of oranges is a good investment whenever it can be managed.

Two tablespoons of orange juice per day is the least the baby should have, the doctors say, unless he has about twice as much tomato juice instead. The relative cost will determine which he will get.

For that matter, even a bountiful meal is improved if oranges or orange juice are served. The additional vitamin C—from oranges or tomatoes or any other good source—gives that much more protection to the gums and teeth.

Oranges contain other vitamins—A, B and G. The outer peel, as well as the juice, contains vitamins A, B and C, which means that the sliced rind contributes some vitamin values to the dish in which it is used for flavoring.

Scurvy is a very ancient disease and is the extreme form of illness due to lack of vitamin C. For centuries soldiers and sailors died of it in great numbers, because they could not carry fresh green foods in the army or ship stores. Finally, the doctors discovered that lemon juice would prevent scurvy, and the concentrated juice became a part of the sailors' rations. Admiral Byrd's expedition now in the Antarctic has the benefit of the latest scientific discoveries about vitamin C. Among the medical supplies is a little bottle of the vitamin itself—highly concentrated, and enough, the expedition's doctor says, to protect the forty-odd men from scurvy for two years.

There is a mild, or incipient scurvy, however, which is much more of a danger in every day life than the acute form to which armies and navies and explorers are subject. An otherwise good diet may be low in vitamin C, unless somebody in the household checks up on it. The result in such a case may be just a general low state of health, bad gums, poor teeth, and so on, which could be remedied by correcting the diet. Baked potatoes, green vegetables when properly cooked for the shortest possible time, raw vegetables such as cabbage, turnips and green lettuce, and raw fruits—all these contribute vitamin C. But to make sure of enough, specialists recommend oranges, or other citrus fruits, or else tomatoes, two to four times a week for adults, and orange or to-

LITTLE AMERICA AVIATION and EXPLORATION CLUB With Byrd at the South Pole by C.A. Abele, Jr. President

Trail Work!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, Feb. 25: (delayed) via Mackay Radio) — Trail work! Sounds like a leaf from the diary of a Boy Scout. Well, so it is. Twenty-five members of this group left on the South Polar ice, got their first contact with the rugged outdoors in the Boy Scout organization back home. Therefore they know what it is all about.

Our first trail work of the season has started. And what an elaborate enterprise it is! And what an enormous mass of transportation equipment we are using for it. The main party, which will go out 300 miles to establish a food and supply base, consists of three dog teams of nine dogs and two men each. Behind this there will be a supporting party of two dog teams. And behind this group there will be the tractor party using the two Mechanic French Citroen and one American Cietrac tractors.

These three parties will be kept in constant touch with the main base at Little America by radio and by three of our airplanes, the Condor, which has been given the name William Horlick, one of the chief sponsors of the Expedition, the Fokker and the Pilgrim.

I am simply up to my eyebrows in the work connected with this interesting phase of the Expedition. One minute I am issuing kerosene to the dog drivers for cooking the next I am passing out gasoline and oil for the tractors and the planes. The amounts consumed are simply enormous. On this trail trip we are using a thousand gallons of Tydol gasoline for the tractors alone and 500 gallons for the planes.

Both groups will take sufficient food for 40 days. The supporting party and the main party will start the trip together. The supporting party will go out 100 miles, put down a cache of food, oil, gasoline and other necessities and return to Little America. The main party will continue and lay down a base 300 miles away—and then walk back home. Some walk!

Conditions in our main camp at Little America are surprisingly good. We are quite comfortable except that I still hate to get up in the morning. We'll be entirely settled in another two weeks for our long year away from civilization. My sleeping bag is warm as toast but getting out of it and into my cold clothing at 30 degrees below zero with my boots frozen solid every morning makes for lively dressings. I am becoming an expert as a fireman at diving into my clothes. The coldest part of the program is the delay while I beat my boots against the wall to soften them up. In my spare time—and I have darn little of it—I am building a deck out of scraps of wood so I can have more comfort while writing these stories for our Club. I am also building another bunk, more substantial and a little fancier than the one I have been using.

Making trail flags has been an interesting part of our work and we now have five thousand of them. They are small reddish-orange pennants mounted on bamboo poles. When a sledging party goes out on the trail these pennants are stuck in the snow every half mile or so, so the party will be able to pick up the trail on the way back to the base. We took aboard thousands of bamboo poles for this purpose at Panama, and now the guide flags are all ready for our fifteen dog teams for which we have put together 50 sledges. There are 58 of us left on the ice at Little America.

The good old Bear of Oakland is coming back to us tomorrow bringing a new doctor from New Zealand to take the place of Dr. Blakey whose health would not let him stay with us. We have some work for the new medicine to do. Some of the boys have been careless in not using their colored snow goggles and have been stricken with temporary snow blindness. There are also a few cases of influenza and one chap has some badly strained ligaments from a fall. Otherwise we are in good shape.

The Bear will take out the last mail we can send for almost a year so you can imagine that everyone, in every odd moment available, is dashing off last minute letters to the folks at home. I have made quite an exploration of Little America on my own hook and next week I'll tell you some of the interesting things I found.

The radio continues to tell me what a wonderful success our club is proving, with hundreds of new members every day and membership cards and maps going out by the thousands. Seems to me all of America must have joined by this time. If you and your friends haven't come in yet now is a swell time. There is no cost whatever to membership in our wonderful Club. Simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to C. A. Abele, Jr., President, Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y., and membership card, big working map of the South Polar region and, later, some other things, will be sent you.

maio juice every day for children. In addition to green vegetables and other fruits.

To get the most for the money invested in a bag of oranges use the rinds in cooking. Sweet potatoes scalloped with strips of orange rind make a most inviting dish. Slice the orange skin and boil it for about 5 minutes in half a cup of water. Scatter the slices of orange skin in the baking dish with the sweet potatoes, sprinkle with a fourth of a cup of sugar (to 5 sweet potatoes) and pour the orange water over all. Sandwiches for lunch or supper can be made by mixing grated orange rind with butter for the sandwich spread. As flavoring for puddings, cakes, or other desserts, in biscuits, or muffins, the grated orange rind adds a very attractive touch.

Contract Date Set In Dixon County

The deadline for accepting corn-hog reduction contracts has been officially set for Saturday, April 7.

In making the announcement about the closing date for accepting contracts, Brokaw declared that farmers who have been holding back on signing should get their contracts in at once.

Since figures in the corn-hog plan of the individual producers records must be published in local papers soon, it is all the more important that those who plan on signing do so at once.

Printing the list at that time will make it possible to make all the necessary corrections at one time, they believe.

Arrangements have been made with the editors of the county to publish the list according to directions of the corn-hog section at Washington.

There's Romance A-Plenty Behind Names Found Over Wayne County

A man's name—that's his most personal and most permanent possession. It's attached to him as red-faced and howling, he lies in his cradle, and stays with him to the very end, even surviving him for a century or more on his headstone.

Quite the most fascinating and hard-to-pronounce names in this locality are of Welsh derivation, and are found in Carroll vicinity.

Some tribes of American Indians had a very simple and sure way of naming their young—the first thing the new babe saw upon being brought from its tent, be it a black hawk, wounded deer, thunder cloud or crazy horse, became the infant's name.

For instance, the S. B. Whitmores of Wayne, have found unusual and very musical names for their family. Nyeulah's was evolved from three names which were favorites—Nanna, Beulah and Zola.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heikes, living southeast of Wayne, named their two eldest children Evelyn and Everett, corresponding names, and chose Iona and Rayoma for the younger girls.

Arnoel—ever hear that before? Well, Arnoel backwards is Leporona, which is the given name of Arnoel Trautwein's mother, Mrs. H. Trautwein of Winside.

The Emil Barelmans of southeast of Wayne, chose Milfred and Myrtle for their two youngsters.

Yleen Neely who recently became Mrs. Harry Rhudy, has a most unique name which, when spelled backwards, turns out to be her surname.

Carve Epic History On Mount Rushmore

An epic history of the United States is to be carved on Mount Rushmore by Gutzon Borglum, who is converting side of the great mountain in the Black Hills into likenesses of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

Entries must be not more than 600 words and will be in June 28.

Nine epochs which must be dealt with in the mountain inscription are writing of Declaration of Independence, drafting of the American Constitution, Louisiana purchase, ceding of the Florida to the United States, rise of the republic of Texas and its entry into the union, Mexican war, and acquisition of California, settlement of Oregon boundary dispute, Alaska purchase and building of the Panama canal.

Supt. and Mrs. Tom Frost and son, David, of Winsor, stopped in Wayne Sunday to see F. G. Philleo when enroute home from Bloomfield where they had been visiting.

Word Is Received On Wheat Contract

Word has been received from W. H. Brokaw, state corn-hog administrator, by County Agent Greth M. Dunn of Dixon county concerning a recent ruling to be used in making out a corn-hog contract.

A few farmers who signed a wheat contract received payment for 1933 crop on the basis of their intentions to sow wheat in the fall of 1932, but which, because of drought or other reasons, they were unable to sow.

County Agent Greth M. Dunn said that this would not affect the farmers in this vicinity to a large extent. However, he asks that those wanting further information concerning it to see him.

Present German Spirit Threatens World Peace Says Wayne Visitor

That Hitler has done much to raise the morale of Germans but has hurt them materially by complete domination of their thoughts and actions, is the opinion of Prof. Alden C. Alley, expert on international affairs who was in Wayne last week Wednesday.

In an interview, Prof. Alley spoke of the post-war Germany which he has studied in numerous visits abroad. The Germans, said he, are a strong, virile race.

Hitler has done much good for Germany in some ways, according to the observer, for during the past ten years he has preached to his people to stop living for material things and live for something bigger than self—to live for the fatherland—to stop fighting for wealth—to be brothers together and restore the glory of their country.

Hitler has hurt Germany badly, says the professor, by his complete suppression of every opinion excepting the Hitlerite one. The mind and soul of the German is enslaved today—he can't think his own thoughts or express them.

In the speaker's opinion, Germany is no more to blame for her present position than the rest of the world. For when the World War ended, nations came together filled with the passion of war, and made a peace treaty while their hearts and heads were filled with the horrors of the war.

doesn't like the burden of running his government and is willing to be bossed in this. But he's very likely to want to run the other institutions, and to insist upon it.

Unquestionably, Germany does present a threat to other nations of Europe, but this situation can be saved. Authorities estimate that it will take five years or more for Germany to re-arm to military strength, but if the civilized countries use sane judgment, making use of their best minds, they can work out a peaceful way for Germany to "come back," and offer her this in place of conflict, millions of lives may be spared.

As to our own country's place in world affairs, the visitor laments our insistence upon isolation. When the dangers of war were apparent in 1914, our nation decided upon a policy of isolation, and when the spark of war was lighted by firing upon the grand duke, we ignored the flames.

Our relations with other countries cannot be ignored. So, the intelligent foreign policy of the United States is certainly to attend to domestic problems, but also to find time to attend to neighborhood problems.

Nations have a bad habit of seeing only the evil in other nations. Europeans think of our country as it is pictured in Hollywood films, in reports of Reno divorce courts, gangster kidnappings and dishonesty in Wall Street.

The only low-priced car with fully-enclosed Knee-Action Wheels and what a difference that makes in performance and dependability

Simple as a Shock Absorber!

Chevrolet's "fully-enclosed" Knee-Action is, in reality, a gigantic shock absorber, built solidly on to Chevrolet's big, heavy frame, with the front wheel solidly anchored to the "shock absorber" arm. The result: When the front wheel comes in contact with a bump or hole, it rises or falls to absorb the shock.

A smooth, restful, gliding ride... a bounceless back seat... a new feeling of safety and relaxation in high-speed or rough-road travel. All these pleasures are yours with Knee-Action wheels. And if your car has enclosed Knee-Action, like Chevrolet's, you not only get this gliding ride at its best, you also get two other extra advantages. One of these is shock-proof steering. And the other is dependable operation, thoroughly protected against wear and tear. The patent rights on this special kind of Knee-Action are held exclusively by General Motors. That's why no other low-priced car has it. Also, no other has a Fisher body, cable-controlled brakes, a Y-K frame, or a Blue-Flame engine of unsurpassed economy.

Christ said: "All power is given unto me in Heaven and on earth. Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Matt. 28, 18-20. Next Sunday is new members day.

Lincoln, Nebraska,
March 30, 1934.
To: All unemployed registered in Wayne county.
Subject: Change in offices.
We have recently received instructions from Washington to reduce our personnel and close out some of our county National Reemployment Service offices. As most of the Federal Aid projects in this county have been completed or are on the verge of completion, there will not be an opportunity to support, economically a placement service in this county, and therefore we find it necessary to discontinue the services of this office. In the future, any Reemployment Service business that may arise will be handled through a district office. The headquarters for your district is Norfolk, Neb. Your present registration will be filed in the district office and you will always have the opportunity to keep your registration active through renewals at that office. If at any time we can serve you, please do not fail to advise us. We are taking this opportunity of publicly announcing our sincere appreciation of the fine service which your former reemployment manager, Mr. L. C. Gildersleeve and his staff, have rendered. Yours very truly,
