Excellent ratings went to the boys' glee club, the clarinet quartet, to three vocal soloists, Robert Cunningham, Everett Dennis and Donald Wright, to Frank Gamble, trumpet soloist, and to Donald Baker, clarinet soloist. Many Gather For Rites At Chapel

Miss Nancyann Alford Laid To Rest In Presence Of Many Friends.

With impressive dignity, funeral rites were conducted at the Beckenhauer chapel Tuesday afternoon for Miss Nancyann Alford, whose death followed a suicide pact early Friday morning. The chapel was completely filled with neighbors, friends from Macy, college mates of the young woman, school friends of her brother and sister, and faculty representatives. Rev. M. C. Powders sermon was impersonal and effective, based on the text: "My strength is made perfect in weakness." He expressed deep regard for the companion Miss Alford left behind, also her parents, her grandmother and brother and sister, and to the many friends who gathered in farewell to Nancyann. Miss Dorothy Slater sang two numbers, accompanied by Franklin Philcox.

Following the services the mourners filed past the casket for a last sight of the pretty, dark-haired girl they had known, now so lovely and peaceful in her white coverings, under the soft lights. The casket was banked with floral offerings. Called into a strange community to face this tragedy, Mr. and Mrs. Alford spoke feelingly of the sympathy and helpfulness which they met on every hand, from college and college high school faculty and students, from neighbors and from many others. News of her sister's death was kept from Miss Alford who was in Lincoln with college high school group at the state music contest.

Nancyann Grinnell Alford was born at Shawnee, Okla., on May 13, 1915, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Alford. Her girlhood was spent at Shawnee and later at Chandler, Ariz., where her father, (Continued on Page Four)

TWIN OBJECTS OF ANXIETY DISTURB POPULAR THOUGHT

A GREAT deal of uncertainty rests in both the weather and in congress, and sometimes one is more uncertain than the other. At times both are equally uncertain, giving cause for equal anxiety, and that is what is happening now. Nothing can be done about the weather at any time, and only at intervals of two years—often a painfully long period—can anything be done about congress. As to the weather, it is always an object of criticism. Through the year it is too hot or too cold, too wet or too dry to suit everybody. Now it is too dry to suit anybody in this area. Without consulting Dr. Tugwell or any other administration professor, the weather has prolonged a season of drought that threatens to liberal cooperation with the agricultural department's reduction plan. However, farmers usually agree that it is less serious to have dry weather now than later when moisture becomes imperative. At this time small grain is up and corn is being planted and plenty of rains later will stimulate growth and permit us to shift the burden of worry to congress or to other things that cannot be turned on and off like an electric fan or a furnace thermostat.

APPROVE BUDGET OF FISCAL YEAR

City Estimates Increased By $45,000 To Finance Civic Auditorium.

City council met Tuesday evening and approved an estimate of $162,400 to carry expenses for the year beginning May 1, 1934. This was an increase of $45,000 over last year in order to take care of the civic auditorium project should it materialize.

A committee from Wayne Women's club, Mrs. George Crossland and Mrs. P. A. Davies, came to ask that the city take steps to collect garbage regularly. Two requests for permission to operate curb pumps were received from O. S. Roberts and Joe Baker, but were refused as the council is considering an ordinance prohibiting them.

Benny Kay asked that the city take over the Kay swimming pool south of town. Estimates of the amounts necessary to run the city during the fiscal year beginning May 1, 1934, were adopted as follows: Light plant, $12,000 for salaries, $12,000 for coal, freight and oil, $15,000 for repairs and extensions; water plant, $3,000 for salaries, $1,000 for coal, freight and oil, $8,000 for repairs and improvements; park maintenance, $2,000; library maintenance, $3,000; interest and sinking fund on bonds, $30,000; sewer repair, $1,200; street and alley repairs, $10,000; fire department maintenance and new equipment, $2,000; repair of highways leading to city, $1,200; musical and amusement organization, $2,000; general fund for salaries and supplies, etc., $15,000; community auditorium expense, $45,000. Total for all expenses is $162,400. Total receipts for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1934, were $72,933.94.

Assessments for sewer district No. 10 were made. All councilmen except W. S. Miller were present.

Coed In Wayne Takes Her Life And Youth Attempts Suicide

Principals In Wayne Tragedy

Nancyann Alford, 19-year-old student from Macy, Neb., above, died as result of a suicide pact Friday with Ronald Young, 20, below. But the youth survived and will face court charges because, a coroner's jury found, he "aided" the girl to slash her wrists.

Nancyann Alford Is Found Lifeless And Ronald Young Fails In Suicide.

ACCUSED OF ROBBERIES

Grim, stark tragedy descended upon Wayne early Friday morning, leaving in its wake a death and a broken life. When Dr. L. B. Young opened his dental offices at 7 o'clock that morning, he found lying on the floor the unconscious and bleeding body of his eldest son, Ronald, and in a discarded dental chair nearby, the blood-spattered body of Miss Nancyann Alford, 19-year-old coed from Macy. The young man was taken to Good Samaritan hospital and will live to face second degree murder charge. Investigations being carried on concerning recent thefts in Wayne are believed to be cause of the suicide and attempted suicide.

The coroner's jury which heard testimony in County Attorney H. D. Addison's office Friday afternoon, returned the verdict "That the death of said Nancyann Alford occurred on or about 3 a. m., May 4, in the city of Wayne. That deceased's death was caused by deceased stabbing her arms with a knife, with intent to commit suicide, and deceased's death was also caused by assistance rendered by Ronald Young to said deceased when deceased was attempting suicide, and other efforts on the part of said Ronald Young."

County Attorney H. D. Addison Saturday afternoon filed two charges against Ronald, the first being second degree murder and carrying penalty of not less than ten years or life imprisonment, and the second count charging cutting or stabbing with intent to kill, wound or maim, with penalty of not over 20 nor less than one year of imprisonment.

A frightful sight met the eyes of the dentist as he entered his office. At the rear of the waiting room are two offices, the inner one used as a laboratory and opening off the practicing room. In the doorway between the two back rooms lay his son in a pool of blood. In a chair was the dead body of pretty Nancyann Alford, sophomore college student, her arms cut at wrists and elbow. An odor of gas and two empty bottles of chloroform gave keys to the tragedy. There was no sign of a struggle. A blood-stained. (Continued on Page 1, Sec. 2)

Church Reunion In Wayne Brings Many Messages

Messages from former ministers and members of the congregation, also history of the church and reminiscences of early days, made the Methodist family dinner last Thursday evening a most interesting occasion. The record is one of steady progress and of many valuable friendships.

Rev. H. C. Cappy presided. When he called the roll of those who have been in the church 50 years or more, Mrs. P. C. Crockett and H. A. Sewell responded. He called for others who had been here 40 and then 35 years, and so on.

History of the church prepared by C. E. Gildersleeve, Miss Mary Mason and Judge J. M. Cherry, was read by the first named.

On invitation of Mrs. Winifred Main, messages of interest were received and read before the assembly.

"It is hard to be away from you but our thoughts are with you," Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lackey of Lincoln say in a telegram to the congregation.

"I am sending you greetings because of the pleasant memories I have of those years when we worked with you and enjoyed our trials and victories together," writes Mrs. Wm. Gorst of Worland, Wyo. "It does not seem 48 years since my husband was appointed to the Wayne church as pastor. Some of our most tender memories are of the people of that vicinity and we shall always rejoice over your victories."

Dr. and Mrs. E. Bradford of Rock Island, Ill., write that they are sorry not to attend the jubilee. They add that they joined the Wayne Methodist church in 1887 and were here until 1902. "We often think of the pleasant times we spent in our associations with the members of your church. We had the pleasure of being in your city three years ago and noted the wonderful improvements made while we were away and in particular your church. We hope the good work you have done will continue."

From Fullerton, Calif., Rev. and Mrs. Sharpe write that the former's pastorate at Wayne "was very brief, only 18 months, cut short by an evil spirit of disease that was driving me hither and yon with unceasing threats at my life. Into that 18 months in Wayne were crowded the most beautiful and satisfactory experiences of my entire ministry. The character of the general constituency made it a place where I would gladly have remained for many years. We celebrated the 25th anniversary of the founding of the church the last month of my pastorate. May God bless you as you take this backward gaze and forward look and give yourselves for the tomorrow's opportunities."

Mrs. Thomas Bithell of Omaha, wife of a former pastor, writes, "As my memory recalls the days and years spent at Wayne I sincerely believe them to be one of the happiest pastorates we ever spent. We were young and full of vigor, and the members and friends worked in hearty accord. I shall always look to Wayne as one of the bright spots of our life."

"My membership dates 40 years ago," writes Mrs. Ella Pile of Rochester, N. Y. "Three women of that time stand out as pillars of the church; Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Craven and Mrs. Culler. They have taken the long journey. We have here a former Wayne townsman who in his great way has become prominent in the spiritual and civil life of this city. I speak of Wendell Crossland who is head of a church with membership of over 2,000. Wayne should be proud of him." Mrs. Pile adds that she and her son, Fred, plan a trip to Wayne later this summer.

"Your anniversary celebration should be an occasion for rejoicing and for consecration," write Dr. and Mrs. John Grant Shick of Cambridge, Neb., the former pastor here about 10 years ago. "As we rejoice in victories of the past we should give ourselves for conquests of the future."

"It is almost 35 years since we left Wayne," writes Elizabeth Luedeke of Seattle, Wash., "and it is fine to be remembered after so long a time. Old friends do not forget though the years pass and great distance separates." The Luedekes were in Omaha 22 years and have been in Seattle 12.

Another message from Seattle is that of Grace Greenough who says, "My thoughts are with you during the week." And she adds a message to Mrs. Main, "I can see you on your first Sunday in Wayne church when you and Mr. Main came down to your seats, you the beautiful bride from Iowa."

Rev. Lewis F. Townsend and family sent greetings from Fairbury. "With the experience of the past your momentum should increase steadily as you enter the second half century. The next decades promise to be more searching than any that have passed before. We hope Wayne church may make life more abundant for all who come within range of her glowing influence."

Mrs. A. L. Mickel of Omaha, sends congratulations and wishes the "greatest good for all." She adds that she and Edward plan to be in Wayne the first week in June.

"My two years as director of music in your church were most pleasant and I have happy memories of my association with the church and the friends I made there," writes W. Irving Horn of Chicago.

SAFeway STORES

Movielites

A week of variety is in store for movie goers at the Gay theatre in Wayne. P. L. March has arranged "The Crosby Case" for this Thursday, "A Modern Hero" for May 11 and 12, George White, "Scandals" for May 13, 14 and 15, and "Social Register" for May 16.

"The Crosby Case."
May 10.

You who are especially fond of stories with a captivating plot, one that keeps you guessing until the end, will like "The Crosby Case." It's a thriller for start to finish.

"A Modern Hero."
May 11 and 12.

Richard Barthelmess is the star in "A Modern Hero" and you are sure to like him in this role, the most gripping and most dynamic of any he has played for several years. Five play feminine leads.

The story pictures the conflicting moods and traits of a youth whose father was one of the financial geniuses of Europe and whose mother was a popular circus beauty whose career as a leopard trainer was ended when one of the beasts chewed off her arm.

As a circus rider in his mother's tent show, the young man is seething with discontent and ambition. See if he works out his problems as you would.

George White's "Scandals."
May 13, 14 and 15.

With Rudy Vallee, Jimmy Durants, Alice Faye, Adrienne Ames, Gregory Ratoff, Cliff Edwards and George White, the "Scandals" is a magnificent film production. It is bigger and better than any of the productions that have annually amazed Broadway's musical playgoers for 15 years.

The "Scan-Dolls" dance and sing to melodic song hits in sparkling and elaborate revues that are among the most spectacular ever produced on the talking screen.

Throughout the array of comedy, beauty, dancing and songs, runs a romantic tale of interest and genuine suspense.

"Social Register."
May 16.

Another picture you'll enjoy is "Social Register."

RENO M I LO RENO, stormy-brained president of the National Farmers Holiday association, roared anathemas on Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the rest of the national administration, before a convention in Des Moines last week. Governor William Langer of North Dakota, also attacked the administration's agricultural program. Criticism voiced by these radicals, demanding a greater swing to the left, is diametrically opposed to the disapproval which warns against going too far in that direction— which warns against threats of communism and dangers of inflation. The things which the Reno fire eaters demand are the very things which farmers as a rule do not want. Manifestly the practical masses frown on the greater lengths to which Generalissimo Reno and his aides would have the administration go. More cheap money to promote more socialism cannot appeal to the farmer who is bent on fighting his own battles, avoiding government paternalism and maintaining his independence.

Governor Langer trots out North Dakota as an example of perfect team-work between farmer and laborer, with the "best labor laws in the union," as he declares. With laws framed to squeeze investors—to handicap business and industrial employers, (and the farmers are employers,) state socialism would seem the only thing left up there to prevent economic rigor mortis—to preserve machinery operating between supply and demand. Let North Dakota ride the waves of socialism or communism or any other visionary scheme that would indirectly redistribute private possessions, rob merit of just reward and paralyze independence, but may the Lord deliver the rest of the country from that extremity.

While the masses think the administration has gone too far in uncertain and costly experiments, the Renos and Langers think it has not gone far enough. Renoism and Langeritis want more experimentation. The masses want less. That's the difference.

WINS EDWIN R. CHASE, editor of the News-Telegraph at Atlantic, Iowa, who has just been announced the winner of the Pulitzer award for the best editorial in 1933, wrote on "Where is Our Money?" He concluded a detailed review by saying: "We spent it." He emphasized wild investments in stocks and second mortgages, crazy land speculations, buying on the installment plan until nothing for living expenses was left from earnings, extravagance in many and different ways that could not be supported. Taxes that were boosted to take care of wild excesses have not dropped in harmony with decreased incomes and depleted reserves. In effect Editor Chase says almost anyone can fix responsibility for the depression

Rulings Are Made In Corn-Hog Work

Dry Weather Has Hindered Germination Of Small Grain Crops

Unfavorable spring weather conditions have caused many Wayne county farmers to take unusual interest in possibilities of grain and forage sorghums as crops. Agricultural Agent G. H. Liggett reports. Dry weather has prevented small grains from germinating and many farmers are faced with the problem of using this land for other crops.

Under regulations of the AAA, farmers holding corn-hog contracts cannot put abandoned spring grain land into extra corn," Mr. Liggett says. "However, there is no limitation on the amount of grain sorghums which may be planted on this land."

Farmers are showing interest in atlas sorgo, forage sorghum used as ensilage, Mr. Liggett says. Seed is available at 2 to 3c per pound and about 12 pounds are needed per acre. Atlas is planted about the same time as corn and is tended as one would corn. Some Wayne county farmers are trying Kalo and Early Kalo.

Because of dry weather spring seeded alfalfa and pasture crops are in poor condition. Farmers who have not yet planted clover or pasture crops are advised by Mr. Liggett to get to summer fallow the fields and seed them during late July or early August. Alfalfa and sweet-clover seeded in this way are likely to prove satisfactory, he adds.

Tabulators and clerks are getting corn-hog contracts ready for final signatures of farmers as fast as possible, Mr. Liggett reports. Final arrangements are complete so that wheat contract signers in Nebraska who have seeded less by looking into a mirror, and he advises that the only way back to solid ground and healthy prosperity is through the medium of thrift and hard work, with each individual balancing his own budget.

Touching hopes for recovery in any economic crisis, people are inclined to look too much to the government for help. The government can establish a sound background, create uniformly favorable atmosphere, but it cannot through artificial means insure a condition of little work, short hours and high living.

It would seem that society had toiled long enough against corrective adversities to be over influenced by the spending orgy following the war, and it will be on the way to permanently better days if the government doesn't do too much interfering.

SOUNDS SECRETARY Wallace's recent criticism of the former administration's farm board which was a feeble noise compared with the present official uproar in the field of agriculture, has caused the reproduction of an excerpt from a campaign speech made by President Roosevelt at Topeka in the fall of 1932. Republicans and democrats who agreed alike on the futility of the farm board in 1932, will be even more persuaded now than before to agree on the futility of the present agricultural experiment. The inconsistency of adopting an allopathic dose of the thing that was previously denounced, will shock the sensibilities of persons who still expect a measure of consistency even in political professions. The excerpt reads:

"When the futility of maintaining prices of wheat and cotton through so-called 'stabilizing' became apparent, the president's Farm Board, of which his secretary of agriculture was a member, invented the cruel joke of advising the farmers to allow 20 percent of their wheat lands to lie idle, to plow up every third row of cotton, and to shoot every tenth dairy cow. Surely they knew that this advice would not, indeed could not, be taken. It was probably offered as the foundation for an alibi. They wanted to be able to say to the farmers, 'You did not do as we told you to do. Blame yourselves!'"

TUGWELL SPEAKING of Dr. Tugwell, assistant to the secretary of agriculture, the Nebraska Farmer suggests that he be given a job on a farm, so he might find out about the possibility or feasibility of a government department in Washington trying to plan a farmer's business. While the doctor is quoted as expressing belief in democratic processes, he is also quoted as giving utterance to this—rather contrary to the democratic idea, we would say: "The new kind of economic machinery we have in prospect cannot function in our present condition," and "It will require the laying of rough, unholly hands on many a sacred precedent, doubtless calling on an enlarged and nationalized police power for enforcement." He is also given credit for this, which further convinces us that he ought to be sent back to the theory of the class room: "Planning will necessarily become a function of the federal government; either that or the planning will supersede that government."

The weather has been hot enough for introduction of straw hats during the past week, but people have hesitated to violate fashion's decree which fixes the date at May 15. On that date local authorities on style for men's head coverings will lead the procession of Panamas, light straws and other straws. By declaring the existence of an emergency, as General Hugh Johnson, NRA, would say, the straw hat season might have been advanced a couple of weeks to the comfort of perspiring humanity.

In particular we wish to thank students and faculty from both the college and college high school, and our neighbors. We are grateful for the expressions of sympathy from the local press and radio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Alford and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Paulson of Hudson, S. D., and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Seace took Mattie and Homer Seace, Virginia Beckman and Herbert Welch to Lincoln Saturday for the music contest.

MUSIC WEEK. Special consideration is given to music this week. Music is a means of joyful stimulation every week of the year. There is more music than ever, because there are more musicians and more musical mediums, notably the radio. The organ or piano was the chief source of music in the old-time home. Later the phonograph made a liberal addition, and then came the radio. Now only the turn of a dial is necessary to bring the latest music from the world's best artists. Now the most sequestered home only needs a radio to gather musical strains from the air any time of day or night. Music is an inspiration; it performs wonders in pulling one out of the dumps, driving away self-pity and putting one in rapport with finest sentiments. It is a great antidote for the blue devils of fear. It soothes savagery and arouses the noble and courageous. There cannot be too much good music in the world.

Horror (Continued from Page One) farm products, we would be just that much farther away from the parity needed to establish market equalities and restore prosperity. The general should quiet his nerves by biting a nail in two every morning and thus put himself in shape to rest on his oars until agriculture catches up.

Serving Opposite Purposes. While newspapers and broadcasting stations, like automobiles and good roads, have been of great service to officers in pursuing Outlaw Dillinger and his allies, they have also undoubtedly helped the criminal gang in evading capture. Less publicity touching officers' plans or movements would seem likely to shorten the route to the goal of justice.

Cases Assigned For Jury Trial Damage Actions And Suit For Labor Of Minor To Be Tried. District Court cases set for trial when jury is called in fall are the damage action filed by Lucile Brund against John Meyer, the Earl Evans action alleging damages and case of C. W. Peasinger, guardian of the person and estate of Joy Evans. The first two grew out of car accidents and the last is suit on labor of a minor. Others are suit of Fred W. Weible against Louis Ties, action appealed in the case of Fred Bartels against Earl Wade and damage action filed by John Ulrich against W. A. Stewart the city of Wayne. Jury will be called in September unless attorneys agree for bearing in June. Session set for next Monday is postponed.

Judge Clinton Chase of Stanton, and Judge C. H. Stewart of Norfolk, were here Tuesday and made entries. The former returned Wednesday and will come again next Monday when jury is summoned. Birdie Mitchell was granted divorce from William Mitchell and plaintiff was given custody of minor children. Mitchell is to pay $15 a month support of the children. Former order in the divorce granted some time ago in the case of Opale Stevens vs. Guy Stevens was amended to read the "defendant to pay $15 per month beginning May 15, 1934," for support of minor.

Judgment in replevin action of Arthur W. Tiedtke vs. Bernard Poeschel, et al., favored defendant.

In the matter of the Citizens State Bank of Winside, insolvent, orders were set aside and permission to refile petition of intervention were granted to Ella Graef, J. C. Schmode, trustee, school districts 79 and 51 and Ella Graef, guardian.

The case against Harrison Miller, et al., charging theft, was temporarily stricken from the docket.

MOTHER'S DAY. Mother's day next Sunday evinces appreciation of man's best friend—the world's noblest and purest love. The beauty of a mother is not diminished by a fading complexion or an enfeebled body. It is rich in sustaining hope. It is an indescribable something that lays hold on conscience and stirs tenderest emotions. A man or woman never grows too old to become a child again in thought as a mother's unselfish devotion is recalled. No grandfather or great grandfather is too hardened or forgetful to tear a tear to the memory of a departed mother. She is the bright spot in every trial—the steady support in every crisis. She ministers to her family as long as she lives, making every possible sacrifice to ease family burdens, and when she goes, never to return, she leaves a train of sweetest memories. Her influence softens the spirit of hate. It is directed against wars and suffering. It is thoroughly good and genuinely helpful. Mother love is immortal, and if mother earth is not immortal, with a reunion of kindred spirits everywhere and forever in eternity, the whole scheme of creation is a failure.

Many Gather Rites At Chapel (Continued from Page One)

was in government service. She attended state teachers' college at Flagstaff, Ariz., last year, and took an active interest in college activities, including music and Girl Reserve work. While enrolled there she was caught in a blizzard in the mountains with a group of college students, and one of the party froze to death while the others looked on helplessly. After the rescue, Miss Alford was broken in health and very depressed, according to her parents. When Mr. Alford was transferred to Macy a year ago last February as head of the Omaha Indian sub-agency, Miss Alford and her sister and brother remained behind to finish the school year. The young folks and their grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Kennedy, came on to Macy in June, and moved to Wayne in September for opening of college and college high school. Miss Alford was well liked by her classmates at the college, and had a good record in school work. Her parents state that she took little interest in outside activities here and had dropped her violin practice, seeming to have lost all the enthusiasm and energy which characterized her former life.

The marriage of Miss Alford and William Laurence Brown of Flagstaff, Ariz., was made known to the family when the young man was notified of the tragedy. The couple was married in Arizona on May 13, 1933. Miss Alford's eighteenth birthday anniversary, and it was planned to keep the fact a secret until both had finished college. Mr. Brown returned to Macy with Mr. and Mrs. Alford Wednesday evening for an indefinite visit.

Close Bank Case In District Court

Decree Given In First Of Several Cases Filed For Winside Bank.

First of nine preference cases filed by E. H. Lulkart, in charge of the defunct Citizens State Bank of Winside, against officers and customers was settled Tuesday in district court in Wayne when Judge Clinton Chase decreed that Louis C. Mittelstadt, Norfolk, pay to the plaintiff $667.75; that he deliver to the receiver the $2,238 note of James C. Jensen; and that there be allowed against the receiver, and the assets of the bank Mittelstadt's claim in the sum of $2,321.20.

It was pointed out in the stipulation that before August 25, 1932, Mr. Mittelstadt was a depositor in the bank and owned a certificate in the sum of $2,500. The certificate was then due, and Mr. Mittelstadt had previously informed the bank that he wanted his money. The bank paid him for the certificate, using as part payment a promissory note of Jensen's, on which had accrued interest in the sum of $36.82, the principal and interest totaling $2,275.72. It is further set forth that Mr. Mittelstadt had no knowledge of the bank's financial condition and had no intention of securing a preference or to lawfully deprive other creditors of their proper share of the bank's assets and securities. It is further stated that Mr. Mittelstadt had no intention of appropriating to his own use and benefit the said note as against the proper interests of any other depositors in the bank.

Believing that the interest he collected on the note was his, Mr. Mittelstadt reported it to the government for income taxes, the stipulation states. It adds that the Norfolk man is ready to pay to the receiver the $667.75 which he collected on the note and deliver Jensen's new note to the receiver.

Egyptian Play Will Be Given At College

Rehearsals for the college commencement play, "Pharaoh's Daughter," to be given May 23 by the 5 students of the dramatics class under direction of Miss Florence Drake, are well under way and give promise of a splendid performance.

Alice Masonholder, as Queen Aephris, Pharaoh's daughter, rules with dignity and firmness, but reveals maternal weakness in relationship to her adopted son, Moesis, whom she had rescued from the Nile. Donald Lign as Moesis, princely young founding reared in the royal household of an alien race, has a difficult part which he plays well. Jacqueline Cook portrays the role of Princess Amarna-Ita. Joyce Rhodes plays part of the poor little Hebrew girl whom Moesis helps, and Ben Israel, her grandfather, is played by Richard Horton. LaVerne Larson takes the part of Miriam, sister of Moesis, and she sings "Song of the Nile" while six maidens sway gracefully in a lovely dance. Other parts are by the following: Leta and Asra, novices in the temple; Doris Taylor and Mildred Whitmore; Prince Kheta; Lewellyn Malmore; Prince Atori; Waldo Johnson; Prince Meren-Re; Arthur Mitchell; Nictis, aged lady-in-waiting to the queen; Zola Wilson; Amense and Nebka, in waiting to the queen; Ellen Schuppner and Carol Atkinson; Sethos, court physician; Orville Sherry; Nile boatman, Wm. Kuhn; Rameha, slave driver; Orville Sherry; priest; Robert Gulliver; assistant priests; Wendell; attendants; and Alvin Juhde; guards; attendants; Donkey and Wilford Parrott; slaves; Ed. Towns; Arthur Mitchell and Rex Olson. Dancers are Mavis Baker, Nellie Bucklin, Marie Denkinger, Martha Friedrichs, Elizabeth Klauer, and Irene Osterloh.

Story of "Pharaoh's Daughter" concerns the life of Moesis, adopted son of the reigning Pharaoh of Egypt during the period of early manhood. After Moesis befriends a poor Hebrew maiden accused of sacrilege by Amarna-Ra, his fiancée, the truth of Moesis' parentage is revealed in what proves to be a great climax. In the final scene Moesis is among his own people, eager to lead them to the promised land.

This non-sectarian drama written by Dr. and Mrs. Allison Gaw of the University of Southern California, was winner of the National Play contest in 1927.

After selection of the play Miss Drake's class devoted three weeks to study of Egyptian customs and dress. All costumes for the play are being planned and made by girls of the class with the assistance of Miss Drake. Scenery is planned and fashioned by the young men. Arlene Casteel is production manager and has charge of setting and scenery.

HAY FOR SALE!
New or Old. Will Deliver. Joe Pelt, Pierce, Neb. PHONE 141-W M149

FOR SALE
160 acre farm located Northwest of Wayne. This is a good stock farm as there is a creek through it and a lot of good smooth bottom land. About 10 acres in Alfalfa. The improvements are very good, there being a nearly new modern house, bungalow style, on it. Other buildings are very good. There is a mortgage on this farm of $6,000 which has nearly 5 years yet to run at 5 per cent. This farm is for sale for $75.00 an acre or $12,000

Thus it would require $6,000 cash and assume the $6,000 mortgage. Owners want to close sale at once and purchaser to get this year's rent from the farm. This is just about the best bargain in a quarter that is offered round Wayne today that I know of.

Wakefield Boy Earns School By Hauling Coal
Silas Lyman, Wakefield, who is working his way through Midland college at Fremont in two and a half years by hauling coal in his spare time, has been selected to coach athletics and teach mathematics and physics at Ulysses high school in 1934-35.
Lyman was 26, married and the father of one child when he decided to get a college education. He borrowed enough money to move his family to Fremont, bought a second-hand truck for a few dollars and started to haul coal for from 75 to 90 cents a ton. In the last two and a half years he has hauled 1,500 tons.
Loading and unloading these 3,000,000 pounds of coal by hand has kept Lyman in good physical trim for football and track. Because he has gone through school in five semesters instead of the usual eight, he has been able to play only two years of football, but in 1932 he was fullback on the second all-Nebraska college athletic conference eleven and last fall he was right tackle on several first all-conference teams. The discus and shot are his main events in track.
In addition to working his way through school and taking part in athletics, Lyman has found time to maintain a near B average scholastically. He will get his bachelor of arts degree at the close of the summer term.

Coed In Wayne Takes Life And Youth Assists

Nancyann Alford Is Found Lifeless And Ronald Young Fails In Suicide

ACCUSED OF ROBBERIES

(Continued from Page 1, Sec. 1) pocket knife lay on the floor near the girl's body and a scalpel, also blood-stained, lay on the front of the desk. A hole was broken in the glass window of the rear door, showing that the couple had gained admittance this way, the same as was used in the Ahern robbery of the preceding Saturday.

Stunned by the shock, Dr. Young touched the girl's shoulder and found she was dead, then ran to the front door and called to Ernie Dowling who was passing on his way to work.

County Attorney H. D. Addison, Dr. Walter Bentback and Dr. C. T. Ingham were called and the young man removed to Good Samaritan hospital. Mr. Addison called a coroner's jury to view the body and scene of tragedy, before having the body taken to the Beckenhauer mortuary. It was estimated that Miss Alford had been dead about four hours, placing time of the suicide at about 3 a. m.

After regaining consciousness about 9 o'clock Friday morning, Ronald told attendants that his companion had left letters behind, some in her room and others mailed. These were to her grandmother, her parents, brother, sister and fiancée, William L. Brown, who is in Arizona.

Implicated in Theft.

Guilt in connection with at least three petty robberies is said by authorities to have caused the tragedy. Ronald had confessed to J. J. Ahern to having taken merchandise from his store the preceding Saturday evening. Mr. Ahern called him into his office after hearing that he had been seen entering and leaving the building evening of the robbery. Silk hose, gloves, cigarettes and bracelets were missing and these Ronald agreed to bring back which he did. Authorities heard of the affair and Sheriff A. W. Stephens questioned Ronald about the robbery Thursday noon, the young man admitting that he and Miss Alford broke into Ahern's and Miss Alford's drug store, but attempting to shield the young woman from prosecution. He also confessed to robbery of the H&I grocery, unaided. Ronald denied having any part in a series of residence break-ins dating from last fall.

Working on new clues, Sheriff Stephens took a searching party to Miss Alford's room and other places Thursday evening and had new evidence by one o'clock which would have brought the couple under questioning the next day. Attorney Addison had questioned Ronald fully an hour Thursday evening.

Authorities state that about a month ago Ronald took over $20 in nickels, dimes and pennies to a Sioux City bank to be changed into larger denominations.

Came from Macy.

With her grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Kennedy, and her sister Mary, and brother Leon, Miss Alford came to Wayne last September to attend school. Both Mary and Leon are seniors in college high school. The four rented a house at 1113 North Pearl. The father, C. R. Ahern, was in Indian service at Chandler, Ariz., before bringing his family to Macy last summer. He is now in charge of the Omaha Indian sub-agency at Macy. Mr. and Mrs. Alford came to Wayne Friday morning upon being told of the tragedy. Mary was in Lincoln with the college-high school group entered in the state music contest.

Miss Alford had been in poor health for over a year, following another tragedy in which she figured. In company with a carload of students from the teachers' college at Flagstaff, Ariz., she was caught out in a blizzard and had to spend the night in the car. One of the party froze to death and Miss Alford's feet were frozen. Since that time, according to her family, she had not been well and had been depressed much of the time. She was engaged to a young man in Arizona, William L. Brown, and one of her pre-suicide letters was addressed to him.

"Ronald has been nervous lately but he is often that way," said Dr. Young following the tragedy. "He was headstrong always and hard to manage, but I truly believe he was off mentally to do this thing. My one consolation is that there was nothing immoral about the affair." Ronald was the eldest of the five Young children, the family coming here about 1848 from Newcastles. Ronald attended Wayne high school and had a good record, according to the faculty. He was well liked by fellow students, was active in athletics, and was an average student. After graduating in spring of 1932, he was employed in various places and then entered Wayne State Teachers college last fall as a freshman. He will be 20 years old on August 17, 1934.

Hold Inquest Friday.

Coroners' jury, made up of Clarence Wright, Walter Bressler, Barney Stark, Walter Miller, Lambert Roe and John Hufford, heard testimony in the county attorney's office Friday at 1 o'clock. Mr. Addison instructed the jury to determine whether or not murder had been committed, pointing out that if a person wants to commit suicide and another assists her in any way, that person is guilty of murder in eyes of the law.

Dr. Young testified first, maintaining remarkable calm. He told of entering his office at 7 a. m. Friday and finding the son and Miss Alford in the inner laboratory. Ronald lay on his stomach. His head was inside the north room at the rear, his body extending into the practicing room adjoining. The north room is used as a laboratory and contains a dental chair, in which the dead girl was seated. The back door was locked and a large hole was broken in the window. He noted an odor which he described as "peppery" and which was found to be gas. He went over to the girl and shook her shoulder, finding the body to be warm but unmistakably without life. Going to the front door he called to Ernie Dowling who was passing by on his way to work.

Ernie Dowling was sworn in next, and related being called into Dr. Young's office a little before 7 o'clock, and finding Ronald in the doorway between the back rooms. He went in search of Dr. Walter Bentback but did not find him. Returning he found that Ronald had been moved, or had moved himself, during his absence. He sent someone to find Dr. C. T. Ingham and then called County Attorney Addison. When he came back, Ronald was turned over. No one was in the office by this time as Dr. Young had gone home to bring back his wife.

Dr. C. T. Ingham, county physician, testified that he was called onto the case about 7:30 and found the young man lying on his face on the floor, unconscious. He examined Miss Alford and pronounced her death due to hemorrhages from slashes and cuts in the arms. Two cross-lined cuts were on the left wrist and a short one above the left elbow. The right elbow and right wrist were also cut over arteries. Because no cords were severed, Dr. Ingham stated that the girl could have cut herself. Death had been three or four hours at least before the discovery. Dr. Ingham reported two empty chloroform bottles in the laboratory, and a bloody, chloroform-saturated cloth in the young woman's mouth. Her mouth was burned by the acid. Indicates Suicide Pact.

Asked what Ronald had said upon regaining consciousness, he stated that he asked the young man about the tragedy when he regained consciousness about 9 o'clock that morning. Ronald told him that it was a suicide pact, and that he had no wish to get rid of the girl nor had they had any trouble. He said it was premeditated and that if either one of them had used undue influence to carry through the pact, it was Miss Alford, as she was stronger of the two. He told of going to the office from the dance hall and turning on the gas, remaining what seemed about an hour without results. Then the two decided to use the knife and "spill blood." Each cut his own wrists and Miss Alford tried three or four times without results so she called to her companion to help her. This he did, holding her hand which held the knife. When she became weak from the loss of blood she complained of pain and reached for the larger chloroform bottle, putting some on a rag and holding it to her nose, then putting the rag in her mouth. Ronald told the doctor that he tried to use the chloroform too, but was too weak to use it.

Confess Robberies.

The sheriff testified that under questioning Thursday noon, Ronald had confessed to robbing the Ahern store, Vath drug store and UGI grocery store, and said the girl was with him on the first two break-ins. Up until 12 o'clock Friday evening, the sheriff was working on new evidence in the case and intended to question the couple next day. He stated that Ronald was excited when questioned on Thursday but was clear of mind when interviewed at the hospital.

J. J. Ahern was called next and testified that he called Ronald into his store after hearing reports that he had been seen entering and leaving his store the night of the robbery. Ronald admitted breaking in and taking the missing merchandise, and was willing to return it. He brought back seven or eight pairs of hose, a pair of kid gloves and three cartons of cigarettes.

Mr. Alford, father of the dead girl took the stand to tell of letters left by his daughter which gave no reason for the tragedy but indicated she was in trouble and was going to do something desperate.

The girl's brother, Leon Alford, was present but did not testify. Report on the questioning of Ronald by Sheriff Stephens and the county attorney just before noon was given by Miss Viola Yocum, the latter's secretary. The young man told that blood on Miss Alford's arms was clotting and so he helped her slash. He stated that she was feeling no pain. When suicide was being attempted both were sitting on chairs in the back laboratory. During this interview, Ronald admitted the Ahern, Vath and UGI robberies, incriminating Miss Alford in the first two.

Richard Panake reported seeing the young couple at the dance on Thursday evening.

County Committee Organizes In Wayne

T. S. Hook was named chairman and Mrs. B. W. Huse, secretary-treasurer of Wayne county republican central committee which met Saturday at the city hall. Dr. J. C. W. Lewis was chairman last year. He urged having candidates from each party on the ticket in each election, city and county as well as state and national. The chairman and secretary will fill vacancies in the county committee. F. S. Berry spoke on the political outlook and urged activity of the county committee.

Dr. Lewis gave three reasons for resigning as committee chairman: First, his school work requiring much of his time; second, local candidates on state ticket might compromise his position in the state school; and third, his sympathy with present administration.

Veteran Builder Recalls Incidents During Formative Years Of Wayne

When Sam Barley returns to Wayne for his periodic sojourns, he sees Main street and its offsprings with X-ray eyes, looking back through the modern brick structures to the skeletons of their predecessors—the buildings which greeted him back in 1890. He sees the wide, deep rutted street leading up to the hill-tops and open space. He sees unpainted spring wagons drawn up in front of the one-story store buildings. He recalls the brief balcony which overhung the sidewalk on east side of Main street until just a few years ago. Campus hill, to him, brings back a lone, gaunt building which housed the first Pilo college, and which he helped to build soon after coming here.

Sam Barley was a native of Altoona, Penna., that division town on the Pennsylvania railroad which sent so many good solid citizens to settle this county. About 1860, Lincoln and Douglas debated there while on political tour as candidates for the presidency. Lincoln was leader of the newly-organized republican party which had been founded in 1856 to oppose the extension of slavery. Douglas was a true orator, recalls Mr. Barley these 64 years later. He could really express himself—just like Bryan. Lincoln, in comparison, was a bog boney fellow wearing black suit and long-tailed black coat. But he was a wonderful speaker. Again in 1864, Mr. Barley heard Lincoln and General McClellan debate, shortly before his assassination by John Wilkes Booth.

Coming on to Des Moines in 1865, Mr. Barley later landed in Kansas City as a carpenter, leaving there in 1890 when carpenters were striking for higher wages. On a Sunday he went to Omaha to seek work and next day the carpenters of that city rose up in arms and laid down their tools until pay was higher. He had a brother-in-law in Wayne and came here to join him, finding work as a house trimmer with Dyer Cortwright and William Piepenstock, two leading builders of the day. Many a good carpenter he worked with—Charles Mau, Jake Dornberger and H. Griggs among them—and many a fine old house in Wayne city owes its longevity to the careful workmanship of these men.

One judged the "elegance" of one's residence in these days by the preponderance of "ginger-bread" decoration and flutings and cupolas. Long, narrow windows, numerous shiny fireplaces with equally shiny tiles, inlaid floors, and colored glass which wrought fascinating patches of deep purple and ruby red on the floors when the sun shone through.

THE NATION PREFERS

MEAT—

But the nation can't buy meat at higher prices until salaries and wages go up. You who produce meat can help bring that about and thus help yourselves.

One way you can do it is by selling ALL your cattle, hogs and sheep on the primary market. In selling there you will restore competition. That will mean more money to spend from higher live stock prices—more jobs—and better times on the farm and in town.

When it comes time to sell your live stock be sure of a competitive market—Ship to

COLLEGE HEAD MAKES ADDRESS

Wayne High School Plans Graduation Exercises For Next Wednesday.

Graduation exercises for Wayne high school seniors will be held on May 23 at M. E. church, with Dr. Herman G. James of Vermilion, S. D., as speaker. Dr. James was formerly dean of the arts and science college at University of Nebraska, and head of the graduate school. He is a leader in research and noted speaker. When Dr. James was called to the presidency of the University of South Dakota, he was one of the youngest university presidents in the United States. He has had remarkable success in developing the university he now heads.

Complete program for the evening follows: Processional, Mrs. John T. Bressler, jr.; invocation, Rev. W. C. Heidenreich; music, "Echo Song" by Harris and "Indian Cradle Song" by Mathews, girls' glee club; address, Dr. James; music, "Song of the Jolly Roger" by Cuddehly, and "Laudamus" by Prothero, boys' glee club; presentation of the senior class, Supt. H. R. Best; presentation of diplomas, C. E. Carhart; president of board of education; benediction, Rev. H. C. Capsey.

Class day exercises are slated for Tuesday afternoon, May 22, at 2:30 o'clock, and will include: Class song, class of 1934; musical reading, Lytha Penhollow; class history, Helen Vath; vocal solo, Verona McNatt; one-act play, "Daughters of Men," Keith Cartwright, Ruth Rhodes, Inez Perry, Ward Wasson, Everett Dennis and Lytha Penhollow; class will, Keith Cartwright; reading, Ruth Rhodes; presentation of the key, Raymond Sala, senior president; acceptance of key, Lindley Keeney, junior president; vocal solo, Everett Dennis; presentation of class picture, Ruby Rhodes; acceptance of class picture, Miss Anna Geister; the colors, Wayne high school. Class day is a tradition of long standing at the school, and is built up about the huge key which is presented each year by the outgoing class to the incoming seniors. It is final appearance of the seniors as a group in any public entertainment or program, and the public is invited to attend this and all other events of graduation week.

The Presbyterian church was completely filled Sunday evening when baccalaureate services for seniors were held. Rev. W. C. Heidenreich's talk was strong and effective, and well received by the audience. He emphasized the need of Christian values in the well-balanced life, pointing out that these values were often neglected in the hurry and bustle of trying to get ahead.

"Twedies," senior class play, drew a good crowd to the Gay theatre Wednesday evening, and the cast gave a well-balanced and convincing performance.

Monday morning Elmer Mortensen and Raymond Sala reported on their trip to Topeka, Kan., the preceding week.

Dorothy Heidenreich visited high school Tuesday and is much improved in health.

Coach Robert Gibb presented letters to the members of 1933-34 basketball squad last Friday. John Brigger, captain, Wayne Hornhoff, Vincent Swanson, Melvin Brown, Robert Cunningham, Milford Brown, Willis Penhollow and Donald Wright. Reserve letters were given to those reporting regularly for second teams in basketball and football.

Intelligence tests were given to kindergarten and first graders the past week, and also to those in upper grades on whom no tests were registered.

CORN-HOG LAYOUT IN WAYNE COUNTY AHEAD OF OTHERS

DISAPPOINTMENT over progress of the corn-hog program is not due to delay on the part of the Wayne county committee, as we are assured. Handling thousands of details at Lincoln and Washington is a gigantic task—a bigger mouthful than administration heads had anticipated. Wayne county is not only not behind other counties in doing its work but is reported ahead of all other counties in the state. All required information has been in Lincoln since April 18. Before any further steps can be taken by the allotment committee in Wayne county, it is necessary for the state board to act on Wayne county figures, and it will then be possible for the committee to finish the program in this county and sign contracts. It is up to Lincoln and Washington departments, as we understand, and it is probable they are handling the experiment as fast as possible in view of the great numbers and usual government red tape involved.

Mr. Theobald's residence in Wayne dates from the spring of 1890 when he came to associate with his brother, the late S. R. Theobald, in the mercantile business, the latter having come here a year earlier. The brothers established a dry goods business. Their first location was on upper Main street in a small frame structure. Later they moved their store to the present site of the Hiscoc hardware and remained there for many years. Their store was destroyed in the Thanksgiving fire of 1891, but they rebuilt temporary quarters and in 1892 located in the new building which replaced the one which was burned.

The Theobalds continued in business together until eight years ago when S. R. Theobald retired. H. W. Theobald then continued in the store and later moved his stock to the Gaertner building a couple doors north. Deceased closed out his store three years ago when his health began to fail, ending a business career that was one of the longest in Wayne.

Horace W. Theobald, son of Thomas and Mary Theobald, was born March 24, 1862, at Norwich, England. He came to America with his parents at the age of 13 years.

Mr. Theobald was made a Mason in Blazing Star lodge at Burwell, Nebr., March 30, 1899, and was elected to membership in Wayne lodge No. 120 May 12, 1909.

EARLY MERCHANT OF WAYNE DIES

Rites Are Conducted Here Wednesday At Church For H. W. Theobald.

One of Wayne's pioneer merchants, Horace W. Theobald, passed away Monday noon, May 14, after many months of failing health following a stroke of apoplexy. He had reached the age of 72 years, 1 month and 20 days. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 from the Presbyterian church with Rev. M. C. Powers, Baptist pastor, and Rev. P. A. Davies, Presbyterian minister, in charge. Mrs. T. T. Jones sang "The Golden Evening," and "In The Garden." Committal followed at Greenwood cemetery where Masonic rites were conducted. Business houses closed during the funeral.

Annual Pageant To Be Presented

Miss Esther Dewitz Directs Students At College In May Festival.

"The Highway of the Ages," pageant to be presented Wednesday morning, May 23, at 10 at the college gymnasium, will include about 250 college students and grade children under direction of Miss Esther Dewitz, head of the department of physical training for women. The production is public and everyone is invited to attend.

The production is in three episodes, ancient days, middle ages and modern times. Winfred, a common man, wishes to build a highway of the ages. His efforts bring civilization, who urges Winfred to look upward and forward and tells him that he shall see many great things upon life's highway. Summoning Work and Play to aid Winfred, Civilization promises that if he remains faithful to his task he shall at last win freedom with responsibility and that Love, Peace and Joy will travel the highway of ages with him. Winfred experiences difficulties until the last episode when Columbia summons education who sends all children to school and Arbitration who joins the hands of Capital and Labor.

Part of Winfred, is played by Jeanne Wright. Cathryn Craven is Martha, the wife, and Mary Renard, the child. Evelyn Wendt is Civilization; Mary Renner, Work; Helen Miller, Play; and Pauline Fredrickson, the conqueror. Attendants are Helen Haswell, Norma Prescott, Caroline Spangler and Vivian Switzer; slaves, Elsie Carlson, Gladys Israelson, Olive Smith and Bertha Roe; slave driver, Catharin Perry; and maidens, Rose Mary Canfield, Ellen Christensen, Velma Davidson, Cecelia Dwyer, Georgia Howe, Helen Jones, Pauline Murray and Leona Steinko. COMMUNITY HALL NOW DEPENDS ON AVAILABLE FUNDS

MAYOR Martin L. Ringer has just received from Congressman Edgar Howard's secretary word to the effect that the proposed community house for Wayne was scheduled for favorable action Wednesday of this week provided funds were found available for the purpose.

No cash on hand means delay until the same appears. The report is interpreted as indicating that all barriers have been overcome, and that postponement now rests only on availability of funds. Several other important building projects, including the new post office building and telephone building, besides privately constructed improvements are getting ready to materialize. In addition to those listed by the Herald recently, others are in prospect and likely to develop before long. Altogether, Wayne, despite the depression as well as because of the depression, promises building activities unsurpassed in any year for a long time. And for the public as well as for individuals, to invest in improvements while material and labor are comparatively cheap is evidence of outstanding wisdom. When conditions grow better, we will shake hands with ourselves over premiums won on needs accomplished.
