

Hard Study and Good Time Made Up Student Life In N. N. C. Days

Because a man was possessed of an IDEAL... because he had the fortitude and courage to work for this IDEAL and because it was more important to him than the acquiring of worldly goods...

corn was brought in and burned. Horses, even, were taken in at times - if a lad or a lass wanted an education, Mr. Pile almost always found a way to help out.

made up their programs for each Friday evening. All seniors had to belong to either the Crescent or the Philomathian, and there was heated rivalry, naturally, ending with a contest at close of the year for which local merchants donated the prizes.

It was in the summer of 1890 that J. M. Pile came to Wayne to erect an institute at the public school, and he was struck by the possibilities and the need for a college here.

Each winter Prof. Pile had a special course for farm boys, beginning about December 1 when the lads could leave their farm work. These courses lasted three months.

Prof. Pile was a strict disciplinarian - he hated laziness, a heap, and he hated cheating still more. One really had to work in his classes. Girls' and boys' dormitories both were locked at 10 p. m.

Damage Action Filed In Court

Omaha Girl Seeks Large Sum For Alleged Injury In Car Accident.

Suit seeking $25,000 for alleged damages was filed in Wayne county district court this week by Miss Noma Clark of Omaha, against John Elnuug, the action growing out of a car accident in Omaha March 8, 1934.

In the petition Miss Clark claims that she was crossing the street at 16th and Jackson in Omaha about 8:40 the evening of March 4 and when about 5 feet from the curb the plaintiff's car struck her with the left front bumper and fender, knocking her down and injuring her body, left side and head.

Miss Clark claims that after the accident she suffered from hemorrhages, that her hip and shoulder are bruised and ligaments torn and that her head is bruised.

Edgar Howard

I wish I might be able to go home and campaign a little for the approaching Congressional primary, but the call of public duty must be superior to the call of politics. Duty impels me to remain in Washington as long as the Congress shall remain in session.

How long that will be no man knows. Those of my home folks who approve my work in Washington will find my name on the Democratic primary ballots.

Sincerely, Edgar Howard
