TELLS ACTIONS OF OUR MARKETS

States Federal Reduction Plans Both Benefit And Penalize.

"If I were to offer advice on the national situation today, it would be for business and professional men to set their brains at work on the question of social structure, and to use a pencil in considering questions of economics. My criticism of the present federal organization is that men of practical experience have been denied the right of conference and the right of advice." Thus spoke Frank E. Scott of Sioux City, former president of the National Live Stock association and of the Sioux City Live Stock Exchange, who addressed Kiwanians at noon luncheon meeting Monday.

For 47 years Mr. Scott has been identified with the live stock industry, and for a long time has made intensive study of markets for live stock, wheat, corn, cotton, steel and the like.

"We felt the rumblings of this economic upset way before 1929 when men were being replaced by machines," he stated. "We felt it in this part of the country principally as busses and trucks out to the railroad industry. But the highway transportation took up slack in employment and the growing industry did not cause the employment as feared."

"A million cotton growers benefited by the federal crop reduction program but some 750,000 tenant farmers were thrown out of work in the south-land. Not only these tenants, but all transportation agencies, mills, jobbers, wholesalers and retailers who handled the crop were penalized, so the cotton reduction program threw about four millions of people out of work. The same with the wheat acreage reduction and corn reduction plans and the slaughtering of pigs. These brought unemployment on the farm in stock yards and packing houses."

"The government had bought 4,500,000 cattle at end of last week, and 2,500,000 of them were shipped somewhere, remainder killed on the farms. But all are to be slaughtered eventually. During the first four weeks of the program, the hide market was sharply depressed as no arrangements had been made to take the hides of government cattle off the commercial market."

"However, I consider this purchase of drouth country cattle the greatest humanitarian step ever taken by any country in the world. If the government had not stepped in, the cattle would have starved to death on these feedless farms. But the program has been detrimental to other groups. For instance, the corn-bus loans were wonderful for one class of farmers, the ones who don't feed stock but market their corn. But not for the prospective cattle feeder. Everyone of these programs resulted in good to somebody—everyone has been harmful to others."

"In 47 years of studying markets, I am convinced that it is not supply but demand which determines prices. The price level is now being influenced by world-wide situation—we are part of a world machine and are bound to react to the unsettled conditions."

"Only in the future can we estimate how much general benefit has resulted from the federal program. However, we know there are more men out of work today than a year ago, because we're displacing men in industries effected by the government program, and are not placing them elsewhere. Bonus money is now in circulation and is improving business temporarily, but what will happen when the government steps out of role of Santa Claus?"

T. S. Hook had as his guest, John Davidson of Wayne. C. L. Pickett introduced Rev. L. W. Gramley, newcomer to the city, formerly of Blair, and Walter Miller introduced Fred Scott of Norfolk, brother of the speaker.

Golden Wedding Event Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnsons golden wedding anniversary of September 13 was celebrated Sunday when about 50 relatives and friends were guests at a reception at their home northeast of Wayne.

Students Fortify Courage

Many young persons enrolled in the Wayne State Teachers College this week. Confidence in the future is encouraged by a growing disposition on the part of youth to turn our school system to advantage. Trained minds cannot usually be fooled by wild sophistries. The well rounded education, under practical leadership, is a bulwark to sound thinking along a safe middle course. Our best wishes go out to the students assembled here with assurance that the community will extend every possible aid in their meritorious activities.

Couple Marries Here Saturday

Mr. John C. Erickson and Miss Harriet M. Hoferer of Creighton, were married Saturday by Judge J. M. Cherry.

DANGERS LURK IN EXTENDING HELP TO PEDESTRIANS

The fate of the Omaha traveling man who was murdered by a young hitch-hiker whom he had befriended with picking up strangers on highways. Most pedestrians are worthy and grateful. The exception to the rule makes perilous the practice of giving hitch-hikers a lift. The young murderer who shot to death the man who bestowed a kindness, explained that he craved publicity, and that he wanted to be hunted. Both ambitions have been realized, and now he faces a murder charge. How inconsequential human life must seem to one who will deliberately kill another who has granted him a favor. His soul must be dead to every fine sensibility. Not only is it dangerous to help a man pedestrain on the highway, but quite as likely to be dangerous to help a woman. The latter may be impersonated by a man or she may be in league with a criminal gang of men. It is unfortunate that hitch-hikers cannot be safely picked up and eased along, but examples of resulting murders and robberies raise a warning that good judgment will heed.

MASONIC TYLER DIES IN WAYNE

Funeral For C. G. Rubick Will Be Held Friday At Baptist Church.

Charles G. Rubick, resident of Wayne county for 40 years, passed away early Tuesday morning, September 11, aged 70 years and 10 days. Mr. Rubick had been falling in health for some time and last Friday underwent an operation. Funeral will be conducted Friday at 2:30 from Wayne Baptist church with Masonic lodge, Rev. M. C. Powers and the Beckenhauer service in charge. Interment will follow in Greenwood cemetery.

Charles Gustav Rubick was born September 1, 1864, at Geneseo, Ill., where he lived until 20 years of age, when he came to Oakland, Neb. In about 1898 deceased went to Crawford, Neb., and drove a freighting outfit from the Platte to the Black Hills for some years. He later farmed near Crawford. He came to Wayne county, to a farm southeast of Wayne, 40 years ago and lived there until 14 years ago when he retired and moved into Wayne.

Mr. Rubick married Miss Viola Morgan at Crawford, Neb., March 19, 1890. Besides his wife, he leaves six sons and daughters, Lloyd Rubick, Mrs. Bert Graham, Richard Rubick and Roy Rubick of Wayne and vicinity, George Rubick of Council Bluffs, and Leslie Rubick who is traveling and who has not yet been located. Three sons, Russell, Edgar and Albert, preceded their father in death. There are seven grandchildren. Mr. Rubick also leaves two brothers, Henry Rubick of Wakefield and Robert Rubick of Salem, Ore., and one sister, Mrs. Amanda Moon of Middletown, Ohio.

Mr. Rubick joined Roman Catholic Masonic lodge at Pender in 1898, and transferred to Wayne lodge No. 120 in 1925. Deceased had served as tyler for Wayne chapter the past seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rubick of Council Bluffs, are here from out of town and James Morgan of Hartman, N. M., will arrive Friday.

ELECT OFFICERS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Classes Dismiss On Each Afternoon During The Wayne County Fair.

Wayne high school class officers were named this week and plans for semester's activities discussed. Senior officers will be: President, Peggy Strahan; vice-president, Frank Gamble; secretary-treasurer, Robert Cunningham; student council, Dorothy Hook. Junior affairs will be in charge of: President, Elwynne Fleetwood; vice-president, Geraldine Gamble; secretary-treasurer, Nora Jones; student council, Bud Bornhoff. In sophomore offices are: President, Betty Wright; vice-president, Blaine Auker; secretary-treasurer, Delores Heidenreich; student council, Dorothy Heidenreich. First year officers will be: President, Wayne McMaster; vice-president, Betty Heich Ellis; secretary-treasurer, Robert Tucker; student council, Robert Baker.

Gerald Wallick who has been assisting his mother, Rev. Iva Wallick, with revival meetings in Sioux City, entered high school Tuesday. Vernon Hughes came into 11th grade this week, and Wilford Lindy registered as a freshman, coming from district No. 81.

First issue of The Harbinger made its appearance Wednesday. Miss Leone Westover and Leonard Good are faculty sponsors.

Debate class has been reviewing the fundamentals of argument, according to Elmer Mortensen. Freshman English group is learning how to be good conversationalists. Medieval history class is studying about Egypt, and American history class is on the period of exploration.

School art exhibit was placed in the school building at fair grounds Monday morning, under direction of Miss Maude Curley. All work is free-hand and most of the high school entries are original designs. The pencil sketches of faces are studies of classmates.

A revised schedule of classes for fair days will allow students to attend daily. Classes begin at 8 a. m. in grades above fourth, and will continue with full day's schedule, closing at 12:30 p. m. both Thursday and Friday. Grades below fourth will take up at regular time and close at 12:30. The morning and afternoon kindergarten classes meet together at 9 a. m. on Thursday and Friday, and close at 11 o'clock.

The primary department, including kindergarten, first, second and third grades, has organized a Good Citizens' club to teach the children respect for others' rights, and stress courtesy. Daily stars will be earned, with a large one as reward for a full week's score.

John Drake Gets School Scholarship

John Drake will leave Saturday for Lincoln to enter University of Nebraska and take work towards his master's degree in sociology. He received his A. B. degree from Wayne in social and physical sciences. Mr. Drake was granted graduate tuition scholarship from Wayne Teachers College.

Plan To Winter Stock In County

About 200 farmers gathered at Wayne city hall Saturday to make plans for wintering cattle from drouth areas. On a committee planning to contact farmers who have cattle to be wintered are D. S. Wightman, J. J. Ahern, L. B. McClure, Herman Lundberg and Willis Noakes. Farmers who wish to winter stock are asked to place their names at Mr. Wightman's office in the Ahern building. The committee is also working on an equitable basis for all parties. Rains of the past week may make wintering arrangements slow up for a few weeks. Another meeting will be held this Saturday at the city hall.

Hold Broadcast For County Fair

Music interspersed with messages by Dr. J. G. W. Lewis made up the radio broadcast in interest of the Wayne county fair Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30. Dr. Lewis arranged and directed the program. Radio station WIAG, Norfolk, and the Wayne Herald contributed time and broadcasting facilities for the program.

H. J. Miner, president of the fair association, introduced by E. W. Huse, expressed appreciation for opportunity to broadcast for the fair and he introduced Dr. Lewis.

In his opening remarks Dr. Lewis mentioned that success of the fair is due in considerable measure to untiring efforts of the officers. Mr. Miner, president, H. E. Crayen, vice president, W. E. VonSeggern, secretary, and R. W. Ley, treasurer.

Wayne municipal band, directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, introduced musical part of the program with two marches, "National Emblem," by Bagley, and a number by Sousa.

Welsh quartet from Carroll, then sang two selections, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Kentucky Babe." In the quartet are Irwin Jones, Lloyd Morris, Ramey Hill and Ivor Morris. Miss Evelyn Morris accompanied them.

Following the quartet, Miss Mary Esther Perdue whistled "Whispering Hope" and "Traumer." Miss Helen Jones playing for her.

The band played "Spirit of America" and also accompanied by Franklin Simonin who sang "Sweetheart Darlin'" and "Stein Song."

Wayne Kiwanians next presented "The Song of the Western Man" and "Lassie of Mine." In the group were Wm. Beckenhauer, Prof. G. W. Costerisan, F. L. Blair, C. L. Pickett, Roscoe Slater, Robert Gibb and J. E. Brittain. Kermit Stewart played for them. The Kiwanis group and Welsh quartet then joined in singing "When You and I Were Young Maggie." Irwin Jones had the solo part.

A mixed quartet from Wayne high school, directed and accompanied by Mr. Stewart, sang "Come to the Fair." In the quartet were Delores McNatt, Margaret Jones, Frank Gamble and Robert Cunningham.

A clarinet trio, comprised of Marion Jones, Lloyd Erlehen and Donald Baker, played "Merriment Polka," and the band joined in accompaniment. The band concluded the program with "Dull Razor Blues" and Bailey's favorite march.

In his closing remarks Dr. Lewis thanked all who had assisted in the broadcast. "Drouths, depressions and calamities are at least good for one thing," he added. "They make people want to stand together. They induce cooperation. Let us work together to make our Wayne county fair a success. There are two classes of people in this world," Dr. Lewis continued, "those who do things and those who find fault because they were not done in some other way. Let us be along to the former rather than to the latter," Dr. Lewis urged.

Rain began falling about 10 minutes before conclusion of the program but stopped long enough to permit finishing the music by the band, playing out of doors. Mayor M. L. Ringer provided canvas curtains to protect the players from wind. At conclusion of the program rain poured steadily for an hour.

Plans Are Sent For Final Okeh

Electrical Demonstration Planned This Fall At The City Hall.

Plans for Wayne's new community building have been sent to Washington, D. C., for final approval, according to word received Tuesday by Mayor M. L. Ringer. Government loan and grant, also city funds and gift from Wayne Woman's club make about $70,000 available for site, building and furnishing.

Wayne city council, at a meeting Tuesday evening, decided to sponsor demonstration of electrical appliances at the city hall this fall. Plans will be set soon. An electrical company will send a young woman here to demonstrate the appliances and to give recipes. Merchants will be permitted to have displays of electrical appliances at the hall. The demonstrations will be open to everyone.

Wayne airport may be plowed up and reseeded this fall. Bids on the work were asked Tuesday. If the project is approved FERA labor will be used.

COLLEGE SHOWS GOOD INCREASE

Growth In Enrollment Is Surprise To Officers Of Institution.

Wayne State Teachers college reports a slight increase in enrollment over last year, this being a big surprise to the officials who anticipated a heavy drop. Freshman class is slightly smaller, but the other classes have substantial increases. Classes met for the first time Wednesday morning with chapel program at 9:10 o'clock consisting largely of announcements.

About 100 students have been assigned to various duties under the FERA allotment, each putting in from 6 to 12 hours weekly.

Faculty reception for students takes place this evening, 8 o'clock, in File hall parlors. The line forms in upper parlors, and light refreshments will be served in the recreation room.

Joint Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A. and Newman club social meeting was held in the gymnasium Wednesday, 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

Added To Faculty

Dr. James E. Brock of Marian, Ind., has joined the faculty as acting head of the physical science department. Dr. Brock has his doctor's degree from University of Indiana and has been teaching at Bresnan college, Charlotteville, N. C. He has had wide experience in scientific lines. He and his wife and two sons arrived in Wayne on Wednesday morning. Dr. Rolla V. Cook of Elwood, Ind., who had previously been elected, did not enter into the work as there was more chemistry teaching than he had expected.

News of Students

Miss June Tucker who enrolled as a freshman, comes from the Eastern Star home at Fremont, having lived there until her high school work was completed.

Harold Waldon who assisted Coach W. R. Hickman last year, is high school coach at Lyons this year.

Wayne Men Place In Norfolk Meet

Hundred Golfers Take Part In Tournament Sunday Despite Rain.

Shooting par on two of the three rounds, Harry Houston, of Plainview, won Norfolk country club one-day tournament Sunday for second consecutive year with score of 127 on 33 holes of medal play. Prof. F. G. Dale placed third in the first flight, and J. R. Reynolds was runner-up in third flight. Other Wayne men who entered are Carl Wright, Coach W. R. Hickman, W. C. Perry, J. H. Miller, Dr. L. F. Corry, H. E. Larson.

Jack Huddleston of Norfolk, was runner-up in the championship flight with a total of 124. Dale, who was third, had score of 137. Hickman also played in the first flight and had score of 143. Reynolds' score was 153 to place second in the third flight.

In spite of rain Sunday afternoon games were played through, more than 100 men being on the course.

MUNICIPAL BAND SCORES HIGH IN SUNDAY PROGRAM

"THE show must go on" is probably what Prof. F. C. Reed thought when rain began falling in the midst of a selection by the Wayne Municipal band which he was directing before the microphone on the sidewalk in front of the Herald office Sunday afternoon. Members apparently joined the spirit of their leader in determination not to flinch despite the descending water. They were keyed to their task and were not thinking or caring about the weather. Happily, the rain soon subsided and the clouds thinned down long enough to permit the band to finish its program. And how the band did play! As leader, Prof. Reed shows himself master of every detail, and every player reflects the results of careful training. The youngest members have, in skilled hands, speeded up maturity, performing like long seasoned musicians. Wayne has good reason to be proud of its band, and to be thoroughly appreciative of competent and painstaking leadership. (One 13-year-old member of the band told us he intended to be a newspaper reporter, and we would say that if he can do as well as a reporter as he is doing as a musician he will be a big success.)

To Demonstrate Bindweed Control

Arthur Peterson To Conduct Meeting In Wayne County Last Of Next Week.

Several Nebraska farmers are getting the best of their bindweeds by following four definite steps which cost practically nothing in cash outlay. Arthur Peterson will tell farmers of this county who come out to the meetings Friday, Sept. 21.

The first step is to begin summer following stubble land immediately after the small grain is taken off in June or July. A duck foot cultivator is used. The second step is to summer fallow again in the spring until June. The third step is to plant some heavy, smother crop like corn when the growing conditions are good in June or early July. The fourth step is to put the land in a row crop like corn in the following year and watch for the surviving weeds.

This procedure, Nebraska farmers have found, does not cost much except the work, and loses no crop if the growing conditions are good. It may be necessary to extend the procedure over another two-year period in order to finish the job, but that can be done if necessary.

At the meetings Peterson will discuss the various ways Nebraska farmers have worked over machinery to handle the summer fallowing job. He will have with him some samples of the duck foot shovels commonly used, and be able to answer many questions about this method and other ways of getting rid of the bindweed or little white morning glory. Peterson has gathered together the experiences of several hundred Nebraska farmers and all the research work of the agricultural experiment station at Lincoln and in other states. The meetings have been arranged by the agricultural agent of this county with the cooperation of the farmers on whose places they are held.

The state agricultural college at Lincoln has requested the county agent's office to compile a list of all farmers having corn fadder, slage, hay, or other feed for sale, giving the amount each farmer has and the price of his particular feed. If any farmer in Wayne county having feed for sale will notify G. H. Liggett's office, he will im-had the lowest butterfat average that they have had for years, due to the scarcity and high price of feed. Many of the dairymen have discontinued feeding grain with the idea that the cost would be greater than the return. An example is found of the return that can be obtained in the record made by the high cow of the association owned by Fairacres farms of Winside. This cow made the high record of 85.3 pounds of butterfat on a very conservative amount of feed during the month this cow consumed 300 pounds of a grain mixture costing approximately $4.75 and 150 of hay, and the run of an ordinary fall pasture. The amount of butterfat produced by this cow, calculated at 30 cents a pound would be $25.59, so we see quite a difference between cost of feed and the return for the grain. The tester of this association does not advocate too liberal feeding of grain but a limited amount will certainly pay.

During the month of August the 281 cows on test in this association averaged 684 pounds of milk and 27.5 pounds of butterfat.

In group one, 16 cows or more, Fairacres farms of Winside led for the fifth consecutive month. The herd averaged 1,032 pounds of milk and $8.9 pounds of fat.

In group two, 5 to 15 cows, A. V. Gabelman of Norfolk, led. Mr. Gabelman's herd of eight Holsteins averaged 1,155 pounds of milk and 45.2 pounds of fat.

High cow in the association was a registered Holstein owned by Fairacres farms. This cow gave 2,244 pounds of milk and 85.3 pounds of butterfat, the equivalent of 106.6 pounds of butter. Earl Rottler, tester, reports.

Historic Places Visited On Trip

Activity is noticeable in the east and south but this appears to be largely from government-promoted enterprises.

Prof. O. R. Bowen returned after returning from a three-week tour of the East and South accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Knox Jones of Lincoln, left August 22 and drove to Hannibal, Mo., the home of Mark Twain. Statues of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are in the business district and a statue of the author overlooks the river from a hill-top park. In Springfield, Ill., the party visited Lincoln's home and tomb, also the state capitol. They stopped at the university in Champaign and Mr. Jones visited ATO friends. On to Indianapolis and then to Hamilton, Ohio, where the four visited one of the country's largest paper manufacturing plants. Wood pulp comes in fiber form from the mills handling first process and the party saw the fibre pressed into various kinds of paper. After stopping at Cincinnati they went to Louisville and were there interested in seeing the famous Churchill Downs racing track and the many racing horses which are there for derbies.

At Hodgenville, Ky., the party visited Lincoln's birthplace, the log cabin having been restored and now encased in brick structure. Many of the original pieces of timber are in the cabin. After a short stop at Mammoth cave they went to Nashville and visited the state capitol and also Fiske college, famous colored school whose jubilee singers are heard often. At Murfreesboro they were interested in visiting the battlefield which is marked with tablets which show location of divisions of the army. At Chattanooga they visited Lookout Mountain and another battlefield at Chickamauga, Ga., now Fort Oglethorpe. A new highway took the party over the Smoky mountains to Asheville, N. C., where they visited the Vanderbilt mansion. Valuable collections from all parts of the world are displayed in the museum which occupies about half of the mansion and visitors are admitted for $2 each. At Raleigh, N. C., the travelers went to the capitol and at Norfolk, Va., visited famous Virginia beach resort. They then took ferry across to Hampton, the scene of the battle of Fort Monroe. There they visited Hampton institute where Booker T. Washington was trained. This is one of the best known colored schools. Going to Yorktown they saw the site of the surrender of Yorktown, and visited Williamsburg, Va., the colonial capital which is being restored as it was in the 18th century. In Williamsburg is Williams and Mary college, founded in 1693, this being second to Harvard for length of establishment.

In Richmond, Va., the party visited the university medical college from which Mrs. Bowen's father was graduated in 1869. They stopped at St. John's church, where Patrick Henry delivered his "Give me liberty or give me death" address. Main part of the Virginia university is in Charlottesville, Va. They also went to Monticello, Va., home of Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe. They then drove to Staunton, Va., birthplace of Mrs. Bowen, also birthplace of Woodrow Wilson. In home of a relative of Mrs. Bowen they saw priceless heirlooms which date back many years. An aunt of Mrs. Bowen was visited at Grottoes, Va., at the foothill of three mountain ranges. Another relative in whose home are many heirlooms lives at Bridgewater.

At Lexington they stopped at Washington and Lee university. In the chapel of the school is a recumbent statue of Lee. The reclining figure is in an alcove and Lee and his relatives are buried in the crypt below. The party spent three days in Washington and visited Mt. Vernon, Fredericksburg, Arlington. They went to Annapolis to see the naval academy. The body of John Paul Jones, first naval officer, is buried there, brought from Paris a few years ago. They stopped at Gettysburg, Pittsburgh and Erie, Pa., visiting a large paper mill at Erie, and then came to Cleveland, Chicago and Lincoln. The Bowsens returned home Monday after completion of 5,000 miles of travel.

Friday and Saturday, September 14 and 15, in Wayne.

A trip through the east presents a much better appearance than was anticipated by Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Griffin who arrived home Sunday evening. The Griffins went east on a northern route, by way of Chicago and the Lake Erie region, and returned a southern route. Mrs. Eva Griffin, Dr. Griffin's mother who had been here several weeks, accompanied them and remained at her home in Syracuse, N. Y. The Griffins went down the Delaware water gap, a scenic drive, and visited in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Charlottesville, Va., Walton, Ken., and in Columbia, Mo., their former home. Crop conditions look much better than the party expected, especially on the northern route. They also found rich green growth until they came to Missouri on the return. Rains are now improving conditions there. The Griffins took their kitten along and the pet proved a good traveler.

Trip Is Of Interest.

A trip to the east proved most interesting and educational for Frederick Berry who arrived home Saturday after spending a month traveling. Mr. Berry went to Chi-

Wayne Lads Earn Memorable Trips To The Chicago Fair This Summer

(Continued from Page 2, Sec. 2) Arthur Gulliver, son of Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Gulliver, and Beverly Canning, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Canning, went forward together and had a grand time. They left from Sioux City August 4, in company with 125 lads, and a sleepless night ride it was, too. How could 125 boys sleep when they were headed for the World's fair? They were quartered at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, just four blocks from the grounds and each day their guides chartered out the grounds they were to cover during the day with boundaries. They'd meet their companions for meals.

Beverly says he'll never forget the Pantheon where they showed you how the stars are placed, and different phases of the moon, all so plainly demonstrated that you could see what the heavens would be like in different years. Beverly is studying astrology now in school, and his Pantheon trip makes it twice as interesting. Then he liked the big Travel and Transportation building where you see right up to a big plane and see streamlined trains. As for the escalators, those moving stairways in a couple of buildings well he spent any way 15 minutes riding up one side and down the other in the Ford building. It was here, to leave the enchanted island with all its rides. The six-ride was disappointing—not fast and not thrilling like he'd expected. But top of the tower was a view of the city. The fireworks at the water carnival on Sunday evening were lots of fun.

Beverly liked the Sinclair exhibit with its life-size dinosaurs, models of the big dinosaurs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Spahr spent all day Sunday in the E. F. Cavanaugh home. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson were Thursday evening callers at Will. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Spahr were Thursday afternoon callers at the Fred Spahr home. Harold Semensen and family were Sunday dinner guests in the Cavanaugh home. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of Carroll visited from Thursday until Monday at the Will Roe home.

Did You Ever See a FLAT BOTTOM Mixing Bowl?

Imagine a mixing bowl with a flat bottom... or with square corners! Imagine trying to stir up batter in a flat bottom cake pan! All the ingredients that filled the outer corner would stick there without being stirred into the mixture.

The same principle applies to a washing machine tub. Corners in a flat tub create "dead pockets" and the washing efficiency is reduced accordingly. Just as a mixing bowl is round and smoothly curved to provide maximum mixing efficiency, so the Speed Queen tub is perfectly round with a curved bottom to deliver maximum washing efficiency.

That's why the Speed Queen has a bowl-shaped tub... why it washes clothes so clean... so quickly... and with such hand-like gentleness. No other washer has a bowl-shaped tub, and no other washer is able to wash like the Speed Queen. Come in and let us show you, including other exclusive features of the Speed Queen such as the double walls to keep the water hot, the famous arc-cut drive transmission that has only two gears, the new tangle-proof agitator, etc.

Unchanging, Dignified London Delights the Elmer Mortensens

A huge city without skyscrapers, without noise and rush, where the passing centuries have wrought but little change in customs and in traditions... this is the London that Elmer Mortensen found when he and Mrs. Mortensen crossed the Atlantic this summer to visit the latter's relatives. No skyline, so one could not realize the vastness of this ancient city. Crooked streets, quaint shops, many dating back centuries, no eels screeching overhead to jar one's nerves... the congested district practically deserted on Sunday when everyone is enjoying the "holiday." The cafes not so good as in this country, but meals eaten without haste—in fact, one is brought checkers or dominoes at end of the meal in many restaurants, and enjoys a game before deserting the table.

Everywhere are "bobbies," those courteous guardians of the law seem to be within hailing distance at all times. They carry clubs, not guns, and are much respected by the English folk. In fact, Scotland Yard's metropolitan police must all be university graduates. Of interest to a stranger are the "By appointment to" plaques which one finds in most of the shops. These indicate that the king, prince of Wales, other members of the royal family within several centuries back have favored the shop with their patronage. Such patronage is eagerly sought.

Nothing is free in London—the merchants lack the good-natured helpfulness of Americans. One has to pay to have air put in the tires, if a hatbox is furnished, one pays for this, or even for a needed piece of string. The storekeepers are noticeably independent and one would not think of going into a shop and pinching the fruit to see if it was soft, as is so frequently done here.

Cars Are Fewer. Owning an automobile is somewhat of a luxury in England. There's a $5 tax per horsepower, also compulsory insurance for auto drivers, so that tax on a small car is between $200 and $300. Fords are popular, especially an eight-horsepower model, and there are many little Austins. It's not uncommon to see a Ford with liveried chauffeur. To have a car means one has money, and there's a very definite division between those who do and those without autos. Cars are really taken care of, too. An ancient model which would have long been discarded in this country, is polished and carefully sheltered. With a 16c tax on petrol, one pays 30c to 40c per gallon, and tires and oil are twice as high as in this country. In between those who walk and those who support cars, are the bicyclists—a huge group. There are about 10,000,000 bicycles in England... one sees them riding over the country roads on week-end jaunts, in the cities for pleasure and business. The groceryman probably brings the daily food order a la cycle. Educational standards are much lower than in America... after one finishes common school in London, he usually is through, unless he can get a scholarship or has the finances to continue with high school.

There's quite a different social relationship—men are more waited on by women... when one sees a couple on the street, the woman is carrying the packages and is pushing the baby buggy. Such things are more than their mates' dress and groomed. Men are usually perfectly turned out, their shoes shined daily. A trunk messenger is quite an impressive individual—he's garbed in high top hat and swallow-tail coat, quite as if attired for a formal dinner. Often they buy these jobs from their predecessor or from the employer, and son succeeds father. Not many jobs in England so a person "stays put," once he is placed.

There's a very strong national movement to "Buy British Goods" but nevertheless, American merchandise is on the market and is liked. They have funny impressions of Americans in old England—still think we carry guns. They have a certain admiration and respect for our lawlessness coupled with pity for our lawlessness. We're considered rather vulgar and base, lacking in appreciation of cultural things. But they're apt to copy our business methods and our architecture.

Justice in Courts. No "fixing" of police summons for traffic violations in London. A summons means a fine, three pounds for driving through a red light, and reckless driving assures a prison sentence. An English Baron was sent to prison, and a famous auto racer was sentenced to four months for reckless driving while the Mortensens were there. Quite a contrast to our American procedure.

They're great tea drinkers in London—an American is apt to think this because they can't make drinkable coffee. They're air-minded, too. The Mortensens attended a royal air force display in which 300 or 400 planes took part in maneuvers and aerobatics. Nine planes which were tied together, flew in perfect formation without mishap. But the plane of the Lord Mayor of London's son crashed within 30 or 40 feet of the Mortensens, killing the young man. The Prince of Wales, the grand will ambassador arrived in his own monoplane. When the Wayne couple visited old Tower of London, they encountered the King and Queen of Siam sightseeing. Great Sportsmen. Great sportsmen, these English, and greatest of all their meets is the Derby at Epsom Downs. The king arrived in full regalia, his coach drawn by four milk-white horses. The Royal Ascot is important, but fashion takes precedence over the sport. Some time was spent in the way museum, in the British museum, in Westminster Abbey where they attended services, and in fine old St. Paul's church. Through a letter from the American ambassador, the Mortensens gained admittance to the House of Commons and heard Lloyd George, jolly and white-haired, and Sir John Simon speak. The law courts were wonderfully formal and dignified, the advocates wearing flowing white robes and waved grey wigs. Pageant of Runnymede, site of signing the Magna Charta, is a stirring depiction of England's history, dating from coming of the Romans down to the present day. Delightful to a tourist is the English countryside which is beautiful in miniature. Small gardens, small, carefully-trimmed hedges, everything green and fresh and well kept. Even the railroad right-of-ways are nicely clipped, with flowers in bloom. Almost every room in a house has its fireplace so the English house is well topped with chimneys. Trains are small but swift and efficient. Visit in Homes. Visiting in English homes and contacting native Londoners, the Mortensens came into intimate contact with British life. They were with Mrs. Mortensen's mother, Mrs. Mary Parker, and her sister and husband, and also called on a sister of Mrs. H. C. Capsey in London. While Mrs. Mortensen remained for a longer visit in London, her husband crossed the channel to Dieppe, France, and found a lovely countryside, more agricultural than was England with large fields of rye and wheat. Poppies grow in the stubblefields—those same poppies which blossomed in Flanders field. French towns seemed old and patched up, except on the battlefields where the buildings were partially all new. Where once armies fought, only memorials and graveyards are left to remind one of the horrors. In Paris, New Dame, Eiffel tower, the Arc de Triomphe and the numerous sidewalk cafes were of interest. Sailing from Southampton on August 15, the Wayne folks arrived in New York city on the 22nd, on board S. S. Bremen of the North German Lloyd line. They arrived on the 23rd, at 8 P. M. in three days, a distance of about 3,800 miles.

Reports In Conflict

REPORTS about economic conditions have been so in conflict that the average fellow is uncertain how to feel to conform to the facts. Not long ago a report said that notwithstanding short crops farmers were better off than they were a year ago. One report says unemployment has been increased, while another says it has been reduced.

Noting growing distrust that threatens recovery policies, the Omaha World-Herald, staunch administration defender, urges President Roosevelt to make a public statement as to the government's future course in order to dissipate fears and establish confidence. "Evidences of hostility on the part of business, growing out of mounting fear of the possible intent and objectives of government, continue to multiply," says the World-Herald, which advises: "If a word in season by the president can contribute to remove this formidable obstacle to recovery, the entire nation would rejoice to hear it spoken."

Then the World-Herald reproduces from Business Week an article asking business to come out of the doldrums and cease worrying. It says "business sentiment apparently is at the lowest point touched since February, 1933." Business Week says "the most discouraged men are those who feel that monetary, labor, tax and business policies of the administration are going to lead to disaster." That publication expresses the belief that fears are not well founded and that business interests should steam up and move ahead, lending efforts to improve conditions.

The fear of regimentation, of obstructive interference with private business, of further inflation, of the known socialistic tendencies of the "brain trusters" does not furnish ground for confidence. The NRA's requirements do not give small businesses a hopeful outlook. If the administration would preserve the good points in the NRA—if it has any—and abandon the harmful ones, which have caused price disparities, one obstacle to confidence and recovery would be removed.

Hit From Shoulder

SAUNDERS county republicans reflected a clear perspective of the passing political show in resolutions adopted in convention at Wahoo recently. The author of the resolutions knew his subject, and he knew how to express himself, placing teeth where they belong and would hit, as witness these two paragraphs:

"Before 1776 it was the British King who governed by force, who fixed prices, who dictated how private business should be run, who levied excessive taxes, who more and more disregarded the rights and liberties of Americans until they rebelled, fought the Revolutionary war, bled, died and sacrificed to establish the principles embodied in our constitution. Today under the present administration Americans are being subjected to the same abuses which were imposed upon our forefathers. Let us remember that the powers of the central government were purposely and expressly limited by the constitution so that these same abuses would not again be forced upon Americans.

"We now find the central government in Washington, dictating through bureaus, commissions, corporations and all manner of alphabetical organizations to farmers and small business men how their businesses shall be run and threatening them with huge fines and jail sentences unless they comply with unjust demands. All of this is being done under the guise of relief, while big corporations, freer from the restraining of the Sherman Anti-trust law, are forming combinations and monopolies, fixing increased prices and enjoying huge profits at the expense of the American taxpayers and consumers, who are the forgotten men and women. We demand relief from these abuses."

Farming And THE

Stockman calls attention to the traditional and proper relationship between farm communities and the government, quoting Owen D. Young as saying that "the chief functions of the government should be to aid them by advice in production and by assistance in distribution of their products." Mr. Young is quoted further:

"The farmer will never welcome government interference with his business," he said. "He may tolerate it if it is accompanied by a government subsidy, but he will never be happy under it. And I venture the prediction that when the subsidy stops, the interference will not long survive.

"I am not saying that planned production for agriculture is unwise—I am only saying what all of us who have lived on farms or among farmers know, and that is that they will not tolerate any coercion in the use of the land which they call their own. If there is one thing sacred to the farmer, it is the freedom of action or inaction which no other occupation knows."

The Journal-Stockman approves with this comment:

"Brave words; wise words; words that those who are charged with the heavy task of advancing and cherishing the interests of agriculture should study and profit by. The farmer and the farm family constitute the real bulwark of American freedom and progress. Their integrity and independence must be preserved if the nation is to live."

Following the noon-day luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday, Frank Scott, veteran live stock commission man of Sioux City, explained that introduction of machines had created demand for employment as well as displaced employment. He mentioned the motor industry with its armies of employees at construction points, besides the great armies engaged in distribution and upkeep and in the sale of gasoline. It is doubtful if the substitution of machines for hand composition in newspaper plants reduced the number of employees. Production was increased and the public was given more for its money. Machines decreased the need for labor in some lines, but losses in one branch, as pointed out by Mr. Scott, were largely made up in others.

When a boy or girl goes away to school for the first time, parents must release a measure of home ties and depend on results of early training and on the care of new advisers and new restraining influences. Painful loneliness accompanies transfer of anxiety to new fields. If parents do not shift enough responsibility to absent children, they weaken independence and hinder the flowering of strong maturity. If too much is expected from the absent boy or girl, unconcern and injurious aloofness may develop. Discreet parents suffer separations bravely, hoping for the growth of strong, independent character without forfeiting close ties of love and solicitude woven into childhood.

A conviction has been expressed that a person qualified to vote and help determine the public policies of a country should pass a reasonable intelligence test. Ignorance is especially prevalent in the south, but everywhere to some degree it lends weight to decisions without remotest knowledge of questions involved. The unobserving and indifferent illiterate mills around in a narrow circle and is often led to think and act in harmony with shallowest buncombe. If mental requirements were imposed, the wind would be taken out of the sails of many small-bore, self-seeking politicians.

The cry of closing more schools on account of lack of funds is heard louder than ever. Withdrawing means for education should not happen if times are even as prosperous as they were in past years. In contrast with suspension of schools in some sections of the country we are gratified to note that the Wayne State Teachers College has largely increased enrollment, and the intensified interest in education here is probably typical of a rule prevalent generally over Nebraska—a state that stands at the top in literacy and will likely stay there.

Nebraska democrats in convention last week did not point with pride to fulfillment of party pledges as expressed in the national platform, but they did voice demand for the preservation of individual independence as an inherent American right. This demand will not, however, find harmonious lodgement in the national administration's budget of public policies unless the swing to the right becomes more marked than the past record reveals.

Editor W. F. Cramb of the Fairbury Journal, commenting on Upton Sinclair's nomination for governor of California on a platform to abolish poverty, says if Nebraska voters were as gullible as those in California a candidate here could have been nominated on a platform to abolish dry weather, pain, debts, flat tires and sin.

Damage cases appear to be growing in popularity. Clay county in South Dakota has on its court docket suits asking for a total of $150,000. When times are hard, the temptation to shear victims who offer possible grounds and who happen to have the worldly possessions from which to draw, is greatly accentuated.

A soaking rain once a week until the country is locked in the clutches of icy winter will fix the ground for next year's crop.

Revelations touching activities of munition makers in American and abroad may help solve peace problems.

Higher Freight Rates.

Nebraska Farmer: The railroads of the country have petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for a 10 percent increase in freight tariffs. This is to include the major farm commodities.

The action is prompted, says the petition, by the restoration of the 10 percent cut in railroad wages in 1933 and increasing costs of materials. The wage restoration is estimated to add 100 million dollars to costs this year, increasing it $165,000,000 in 1935, and material costs are expected to add $137,000,000 in 1935.

Thus it becomes apparent to the farmer again that these constant increases in industrial wages sooner or later, usually sooner, land back on his doorstep and he pays them.

WALKING.

Returned travelers from across the Atlantic report that automobiles are a luxury in Europe. Owning a car in Europe seems to give a sort of caste. Automobiles in this country are common and have become necessities. People who used to walk, now ride. They find riding easier and quicker, and speed is considered important even if there is no speed limit on arriving somewhere and nothing special to do after one arrives. Europeans who have had to deny themselves automobile advantages, will retain firm leg muscles longer. In order to keep muscles from just dangling along uselessly, one should force himself to take regular walking exercises every day, employing the family car on a trip of a block or more when business or pleasure suggests. Walking which is important to keep up healthy arterial circulation and to maintain solid, well rounded muscles, should be practiced even though it has come to be classified as work.

Old Age

Strength from Humility.

When George Herbig, seventeenth century clergyman-pet, stopped on his way to a musical meeting to help a traveler whose horse had fallen, and arrived at his destination with his clothes disarranged and soiled, he was made the victim of some criticism. The great Herbert said the thought of what he had done would be music to him at midnight. No one is so distinguished in any field that he does not lift himself still higher by yielding to any task that will help a fellow in distress.

Every Day Holds Mystery.

It is said that to the late William James, psychologist of Harvard university, every day opened a fresh opportunity for adventure. To the ambitious person, the dawning day brings a thrill of expectancy. But plans are often in a measure upset. Some things will come along to interfere with schedule, and plans must be altered or postponed. What new experience will develop with the new day? What shifting of the day's program will be necessary to meet unforeseen changes? Sometimes accomplishments are greater than expected. Sometimes night follows a day of disappointment. Plans are frustrated by unexpected conflicts. With every new day the ambitious individual goes forth in high spirits, planning and expecting, but not knowing what he will realize. An hour much more zest is given an undertaking, if more courses were laid out for him and he knew exactly what would happen, how dull would be the day—how indifferent and mechanical would be one's task.

Bankers Convene In Wayne Tuesday

About 25 northeast Nebraska bankers had dinner together Tuesday evening at Hotel Stratton and discussed business of interest to bankers afterward.

Travel in West.

Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Hanscom arrived home Friday from an eight week trip through the west. They and the former's mother, Mrs. I. M. Hanscom, who had been here visiting, went to California and across the Mexican border to Tia Juana. They visited six national parks on the journey and were in the redwood country and northern California a large part of the time. They stopped in McMinnville, Ore., where the senior Mrs. Hanscom remained at her home. The Waynes folks also visited in Tacoma, Wash., and returned home over the northern route.

STRIKES.

In the country where a fellow who owns a business or farm has to be on the job ten or more hours a day—sixty to ninety hours a week—in order to make progress, whether times are good or bad, the reasoning employed to support a strike for a thirty-hour week without reduction in wages does not make a very favorable impression. Included with such demands as a basis for the textile walkout involving about a million employees, are recognition of the union, right of collective bargaining, reinstatement of all discharged workers, limit placed on output per individual and creation of an arbitration board to make binding decisions. These demands may be fair and just in large industrial centers where production moves swiftly, but we cannot see much for owners to do but obey orders and foot the bill. Time was when employees doubtless suffered more injustices than now. It would seem that burdens have been shifted to the shoulders of owners until, with the failures turned, they have little to say in the handling of their investments. The increased load saddled on big industries may not be too great to carry, but the comparatively small operations in the country would, under the force of multiplied obligations, have to surrender, fold up and quit.

College Group Will Be Formed

To Present Organization Soon To Students Of Wayne College.

Plans for organization of the Wayne College association will be considered further Saturday morning at 10 when a committee and officers of the alumni association meet at the college. Constitution will be submitted for approval. The plan is to have the organization arranged so that plans may be submitted to alumni and former students of the school at homecoming in October.

The association proposes to band together all graduates and former students of the N. N. C. and the Wayne Teachers College. The aim will be to promote contacts which will enable each to help other Wayne students in business, and former students will also promote interest of the college by sending students here. A student loan fund and school publicity bureau are also proposed. The organization is being promoted now so as to be ready to assist with observance of the school's 25th anniversary next year.

On the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson of Clarkson, Cyrus Jones of Cresco, Miss Margaret Schemel, Willard Wiltse, Russell Bartels, Mrs. F. W. Nyberg, Alumni officers are Miss Mary Kile, Miss Arlyn Nelson, Donald Anderson and R. W. Ley.

Paintings In City By Wayne Artist

Two paintings by Miss Martha Pierce are among about 300 canvases on exhibit during September at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, these being the work of alumni. Miss Pierce's paintings in the academy are a portrait of "Nelhardt of the Indian Wars" and a landscape. Some of America's foremost professional artists have work included in the exhibit. The academy wrote to Miss Pierce in August asking for her canvases.

While in Chicago Miss Pierce visited a sister, Mrs. W. E. Bowers, and another sister was also there from Oklahoma City. To see the Antioch cup in the hall of religion was worth the trip to Chicago, Miss Pierce feels. This cup of elaborately carved silver bears inside it a crude cup which is thought to be the one used at the Last Supper. The Antioch cup, discovered in 1897, has been on exhibit only three times, once in Europe and at the Chicago fair last year and this year. Religious art in the Belgian village and also other choice collections were of special interest to Miss Pierce.

Architecture and colorings at the fair were also interesting work of modern art, Miss Pierce found.

Wayne Grid Men To Face Good Schedule

Football practices are well under way at the high school camp and 37 boys have reported to Coach Robert Gibb. Robert Cunniffman, last year's captain, leads the parade, followed by Milford Brown, a big left end, Willis Penhollow, a 190-pound guard, and Stanley Norton, versatile backfield performer. These lettermen form the nucleus around which Gibb will build this year's machine.

Big Elwyn Fleetwood is in there this year battling for a tackle berth, as is Robert McEachen, 185-pound recruit. Other men who look good at the present reading are Tom Cavanaugh, likely guard prospect, Don Wright, an end candidate, "Red" Graham, a fast backfield performer who wore the colors of Wakefield last year, Howard Mau, new recruit and promising end candidate, Dale Alderson, freshman backfield candidate who has a very nice passing arm, and Durward Sevy, junior Nelson, Carroll Peterson, Harry Robinson, Jim Ahern, Roy Bonawitz, Fred Gildersleeve and Bud Bornhoff.

The first week has been spent in warm-up drills, blocking and tackling practice and board talks by the mentor. A tackling dummy has been added to the practice paraphernalia, and the boys will soon be told to know this fellow pretty well.

Number of freshmen candidates is so large this year that a special dressing room has been assigned to them. The equipment room and coaches' office has been changed. A good game schedule is planned.

Wayne Hospital

Miss Verna Andersberry of Wakefield, had tonsils removed on last Tuesday.

Henry Lessman who underwent an operation two weeks ago, is up and about now.

Iva Nelson of Bristow, had tonsils removed last Friday.

Alta Dickmeier of Hoskins, had tonsil operation Tuesday.

Find Ford Village Most Educational

Most interesting exhibit at the world's fair in Chicago is the Ford village, report Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wiltse, Miss Faneuil Beckenhauer and Ned Pickett who arrived home Saturday from a two weeks' trip in the Great lakes region. This was made more interesting by the party's visit at Ford's "Edison Institute, Museum and Village" at Dearborn, Mich. The 200-acre tract at Dearborn is an educational project which will be completed in 10 years. Here are reproduced Independence Hall, old city hall of Philadelphia and other early Colonial buildings, and priceless treasures of the early days are being collected and placed in the buildings which will be of educational value for years to come.

Chapel of Martha and Mary, typical colonial church, Swaneau, the Mississippi river boat that piled waters of the river years ago, old stone mill, first electric locomotive made by Edison in 1880, Luther Burbank's office and many other structures are in the institute. The cornerstone of Independence hall was dedicated in 1923 by Thomas Edison, Ford's friend for whom he named the village. The floor of the hall is inlaid imported teakwood and other details are just as carefully planned.

Meno Park laboratory at Meno Park, N. J. in which Edison invented the electric light, phonograph and many other things, is reproduced by Ford at the Dearborn institute.

The Wayne party went to Belle Isle and took the St. Clair shore line drive. They visited the private Cranbrook school, only one of its kind in America. A half day at the Detroit zoo was interesting, all rock formations being brought from the Rocky mountains. Friends were visited at Grass Isle, an island half way between the United States and Windsor, Canada, and relatives were visited at Caro, Mich.

Leaving Pontiac, the Wayne folks traveled to Windsor and through Canada to Niagara Falls, spending an evening there to see the falls lighted at night. They drove back through northern Ontario to Sarnia and crossed by boat to Port Huron, Mich., and then went north through Michigan to the Straits of Mackinac, then crossing by boat to St. Ignace. While crossing the party saw the largest ice breaker in the world, this being capable of breaking four feet of ice. The breaker carries three motors developing 1,600 horsepower each. Complete trains are carried across the straits on this.

The party visited all of the Great lakes. One of the most interesting sites on the inland seas is Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The government locks and canals there are especially

Increase On Loans To Corn Producers

A 10-cent a bushel increase in loans on corn has been approved by the Commodity Credit corporation, this applying to corn stored and sealed on farms in Nebraska, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and South Dakota.

Loans will be made upon grain which when shelled would grade No. 4 or better. Producers whose present government loans are outstanding may obtain loans by negotiating their present loans and negotiating for new loans. All who have corn loans must repay them or convert them into new corn loan plan by October 15.

All corn collateral offered for new loans must be re-inspected and resealed by state inspectors or sealers. Corn must not be damaged or improperly stored.

Deeds To Property Are Recorded Here

Property deeds recorded in Wayne county the past week include the following:

Walter Buskirk to Albert A. Utecht, September 4 for $1, the southwest quarter of 19-26-5.

Lenora E. Vail to Isabelle Lansing, September 4 for $983, lot 6, block 5, Lake's addition to Wayne.

Pauline Houchin to Margaret Imel and Mary Houchin Hoyt, September 10 for $1 and other consideration, interest in the south half of the northeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of 28-26-2.

College Has Stiff Fall Grid Schedule

Coach W. R. Hickman reports good prospects for a "clicking" football team this fall, and is holding regular practices. Backfield remains about the same as last year, and some very promising recruits have been added to the line. Schedule opens September 29 with Morningglade, this being a night game at Stock Yards park.

Wayne Young Folks Marry Wednesday

Miss Helen Westerhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westerhouse of Wayne, and Mr. Ted Fuoss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fuoss who live three miles southeast of Wayne, were married Wednesday, September 5. The young folks are on a trip and will make their home at the Sam Fuoss farm on their return.

Wayne Educators Visit In Southeast
Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Keith arrived home Sunday from a three weeks' vacation trip through the east and south, traveling 4,000 miles. The Keiths went to East St. Louis, Ill., and there were joined by Mrs. Keith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bone, on the trip east. They stopped in Washington, Pa., with relatives and then went to Washington, D. C., Mt. Vernon, Yorktown, Newport News and Norfolk, Va., and to Salisbury, N. C., former home of the Keiths. Returning they came through Tennessee and Kentucky. They stopped in Duquoin, Ill., with Prof. Keith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Keith, and also in East St. Louis on their trip home. Eastern and southern states have had more than normal amount of rain. Tobacco crop is of wonderfully fine stand, the travelers found. Growers have stripped the outside leaves to allow the inner ones, which are most choice, to gather more strength. Cotton crop seems spotted, fields of good and bad joining each other. School conditions are not good in the south, the Keiths found. Music, physical education and manual arts have been taken from the courses and appropriations have been cut to such extent that school heads in North Carolina predict if will require 20 years at least to regain the loss and likely the deficiency can never be made up.

Studies in West.
Miss Ruth Paden arrived Sunday to resume teaching at the

of many small fields with fences for the most part made of hedges. Most of the work is done by older men and women as all the young men are in service. Wheat and oats are cut by hand.

From Wayne Herald for September 15, 1898: Mark Stingers went to Wausau to engage in the harness business. Charles Cullen rode his bicycle down from Allen where he is teaching. Theobald boys, S. H. Alexander and Charles Martin were on a hunting trip. E. E. Strahan and Henry Kipping went to LeMars to attend races.

John Bose of Dixon county and Miss Nora Sydow were married September 13, 1898. J. D. King went to the national G. A. R. encampment as one of the Nebraska delegates. Arch McIntosh is building a house for F. L. Neely on the south lot of Mrs. F. E. Wheeler's. Miss Pearl Reynolds is teaching in Dixon county near Wakefield. Sam Barley is building a large barn for Charles Nairn near Carroll. Mrs. E. Hungerford left for Montana after visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Cunningham and Ethel went to Omaha to the exposition. Walden and Arthur Tucker went to Mt. Vernon to attend college. W. O. Gamble is planning a large family reunion.

Miss Ellen Cunningham and Charles Garhart were married on September 14, 1898, and will live at Pierce where the former is Presbyterian minister.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hildenkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Echtenkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gieselmann and LaVerne, all of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walter, Mrs. Malinda Utecht, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson and family, August Krakow, Mrs. William Hinnerichs and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hinnerichs and son, all of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kloppping and family and Mrs. Lena Hinnerichs, all of Laurel, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hinnerichs and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinnerichs and family and Mr. and Mrs. Reinhard Gehrke and children of Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hinnerichs, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hinnerichs and family, Mrs. Henry Hinnerichs, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Echtenkamp and son, all of Wayne.

Police Are On Guard. There's much suspicion, much watching of visitors as well as Soviet workers on part of the police. Particularly do the Reds see red when someone takes a snapshot of a public square, a bridge or military center. Mr. Stewart found this out, twice: First, as he sat by Lenin's tomb and took a picture of St. Basil's cathedral. A policeman pounced upon him and escorted him down the street, but the American convinced him it was only a camera he was snapping. Then later, in the open cooperative market, he saw a delightful chance for a character study—a native peasant, well-equipped with whiskers and dirt, sitting crosslegged with onions to sell. No sooner had he snapped him than an official grabbed him and took him off to the police station. It took fully half an hour of argument and investigation before Mr. Stewart was released, and then not before one official had broken open his film, laboriously unwound it and handed him back the somewhat useless wooden roller. But one can't argue very well in two different languages, especially with excitable Soviets.

Not Natural Mechanics. Without a mechanical background, Russians are not mechanically skillful. When they drive cars, they rip the gears and race the engines. But in factories one sees young men at work half-days and putting in the other half studying at their universities in connection with the factory. There are about 98 of these universities in Moscow, mostly small technological schools at factories. In a few years these young men should be as skillful as American engineers.

When they put up a building in today's Russia, it has the outward appearance of being efficient and modern but it doesn't stand up under close inspection. Said an American airplane engineer: "These Russians are not mechanics but craftsmen." With all the machinery needed for certain work, they will use old hand methods instead, not wanting to learn about the new machine. Everyone wants work—that is the remarkable thing about this new order. And they've achieved absolute equality between the sexes. Women labor on the subways, haul stone, pour cement—they work side by side with men and an engineer told Mr. Stewart that they did more work.

One is amazed at the enthusiasm with which all have entered into the Russian plan. They seem really to understand the working of their system... all ages, they're well versed in government. As a teacher, Mr. Stewart was much interested in the Russian plan of education. It begins in infancy when one to three-year-olds are placed in "creches" while their mothers work. Here they're fed, have regular sleep and play, also medical attention under a trained staff. All very sanitary and efficient. Parents pay a small sum based on their ages. After three years the children go into kindergarten until they are six, then begin elementary school training. Each child must attend the minimum number of years. Then a type

Union will be held at Wayne city hall Tuesday, September 18, at 1 o'clock sharp. Officers will be elected and other business transacted. Good attendance is urged.

Represent County At Omaha Meeting. M. L. Ringer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Omaha, J. J. Steele, C. A. Berry, J. E. Brittain, Dr. Walter Bentback, Roy Kloppping and Dr. J. G. W. Lewis were in Omaha last Thursday for the state democratic convention. Fred Dikes of Norfolk, and Mrs. Ed. Cox of Pierce, were named to represent the Eleventh senatorial district, Wayne, Madison and Pierce counties, on the state party committee.

Five County Meeting. Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ingham were in Hartington last Thursday evening to attend meeting of the Five-County Medical Association.

After dinner the men heard Sioux City doctors speak and the women were guests in the Dr. King home.

Emerson's three rural mail routes have been consolidated into two.

Franklin Philco, sang "Mother Machree" and "That Wonderful Mother of Mine."

Rev. Caspey spoke of the appropriateness of honoring mothers, wives and sisters for, he said, it is they who made real sacrifice. Referring to deeds of the service men he stated that it was much more noble to have fought for liberty than to spread communistic propaganda as many men are doing today. Mrs. Clyde Krause of Newman Grove, newly elected state president of the Auxiliary, praised work of the Legion and urged Auxiliary members to cooperate in these. Mrs. O. W. Hahn of Wayne, national vice president, gave an address on national defense. Though depression naturally follows a war, she stated, everyone should make an effort to preserve the institutions which have been established in this country. She urged Auxiliary members to help save the home, the church, schools, etc., as a means of national defense.

On the committee in charge of the banquet were Mrs. E. W. Huse, Mrs. Frank Heine and Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Gold Star Members. Gold star members were honored Friday evening at a banquet at Hotel Stratton for Legion Auxiliary women and their husbands and friends, 49 attending. Mrs. C. C. Bastian and Mrs. Alvina Korff are gold star mothers and Mrs. W. S. Bressler and Mrs. M. C. Russell are gold star sisters who were present. Tables were decorated with gold stars, patriotic favors and flowers. The group sang "Star Spangled Banner" and Rev. H. C. Caspey offered invocation before the dinner. Mrs. C. A. Orr presided at the after-dinner program. Miss Mildred Moses, accompanied by

Some day, when television is part of the average home's evening entertainment and scarcely a house is air-conditioned winter and summer several grown-up Wayne boys will be telling their children, babbly their grandchildren too, that the Chicago fair they attended way back in 1934, much as parents retell the wonders of Chicago exposition in 1893, the Illinois-Mississippi in Omaha, the Grand St. Louis and San Diego Exposition in 'And.' they will say, "I was just a youngster but I tried the trip myself by carrying papers."

Picture to yourself the thrills of riding Chicago's world exposition as a youngster of mechanical hours to be spent in the land of Science watching the mysterious workings of hundreds of mechanical models, antiquated trains to compare with slender models, the amazing Skyride with Chicago and the fair in nature below, wonder lights, fireworks shooting up over the lagoon at night, and what could ever forget it?

M. Pile, son of the James H. St. was one of the lads to win a Chicago as result of good work on his paper route. Ask J. about the greatest thing there he'll say the Sky-ride and the er above it. He saw a man p across on the wires to clean re. Then the Ford building re you saw how cars were re, and the Travel and Trans- building with everything in travel line, and with the big trains, and the old models upside. You go right up through E plane.

M. joined John Craft of the rah and the two boys "did" the fair together. Three days they had, but the first was spent at a baseball game, the Giants and Cubs. Next two were well taken up by fair sightseeing. Quite a bit of time was spent on the Scooter cars, airplane concession and other popular rides on Enchanted Island. The boys took in the torture chamber where old methods of torture are demonstrated by means of electrically-driven pieces and models of human bodies. Then Frank Buck's show was another good place for boydom — one day Frank Buck fought a python while the boys watched.

J. M. left Wayne on August 7 and spent three days in the exposition city, stopping off in Omaha on way home to visit until Labor day.

Enjoys Auto Exhibits.

For Bob Merchant, high point of the World's fair was the automobile group for Bob has a natural interest in mechanics. He left for Chicago July 15, accompanying a group of 155 boys and girls, which must have meant a very gay trip. Not all the time was spent on the grounds — one meant a trip to Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Mich. Another was spent sightseeing and attending baseball game, White Sox vs. Boston. But two good days at the fair are well remembered. There was the new Ford building, for instance, and many of the buildings had taken on new color since last year — the Travel and Transport building and Hall of Science. Lighting was more artistic throughout the grounds. Bob's group was in charge of a newspaper representative at all times, and was quartered in the Duncan Y. M. C. A.

Wightman, deceased, real names unknown:

You and each of you are hereby notified that Elmer E. Gailey as plaintiff has filed his petition and commenced an action in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, against you and each of you as defendants impleaded with others, the purpose and prayer of which petition and action is to foreclose a certain mortgage executed and delivered on the 15th day of April, 1932, by Donald S. Wightman, Edith Wightman, Suzanne D. Wightman and Minnie S. Wightman to Elmer E. Gailey upon and against the Northeast Quarter (NE 1-4) of Section Eighteen (18), Township Twentyseven (27), Range Two (2), East of the Sixth P. M. in Wayne County, Nebraska, as security for the sum of $5,000 with interest thereon, which said mortgage was filed in the office of the County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, on April 21, 1932, and recorded in Book 48 at Pages 370 and 371 of the Mortgage Records of Wayne County.

The plaintiff alleges in his said petition that he is the owner and holder of said mortgage and the indebtedness secured thereby; that default has been made in the payment of interest on said mortgage indebtedness; that taxes against said real estate are delinquent and unpaid; that defendants failed to procure insurance as provided in said mortgage; that the plaintiff has exercised his option to declare the entire mortgage debt due by reason of said defaults and has declared the entire mortgage indebtedness due and payable; that there is now due and owing to the plaintiff on said mortgage indebtedness the sum of $3,306.13 and interest thereon from April 15, 1934, and that the same is a first lien upon said real estate. Plaintiff prays for a foreclosure of said mortgage and for general equitable relief.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the 8th day of October, 1934.

Elmer E. Gailey, Plaintiff.

It is still the FARMER'S CAR

THINK back a few years and you'll remember when the roads were pretty bad. Dirt mostly. Narrow. And the hills steep and sharp. Took a real car to make the trip to town. And the farmer didn't have a Ford V-8 to drive, either. Those were the days of the old Model T. The old T was just the car for those roads.

Today you require a car that is at home both on the dirt and on the pavement. And that calls for a different car. One with the power to dig its way out of a tough stretch, and, at the same time, with speed for the concrete or improved road. And the Ford V-8 is just such a car.

Under the hood of the Ford is a real engine. The V-8 and the only one in a car under $2500. An engine that Henry Ford himself says delivers more power per gallon than any Ford ever built. Power for the hills and ruts and bad stretches of road. Reserve power to take you where you want to go.

On the highway the Ford V-8 steps out ahead and stays there. Power, pick-up, speed. Stamina to keep going mile after mile. Economy that is Ford tradition. Roominess and comfort front and back, for the whole family. A car you'll appreciate and enjoy for years.

Vine-Clad Horse

There's a horse quartered on the west lawn of Mrs. Kate Carpenter's house, but such a nice quiet horse. No pawing the ground, no noly neighing for this is a horse of vines, its wire framework covered by a lustrant Madeira vine in spite of the dry summer.
