FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1934.

TWO ARE FINED IN COURT HERE

Property Destruction, Trespass And Assault Charged Against Two Men.

Found guilty on charges of trespass, destruction of property and of assaulting Stella Skeahan and Edward Skeahan, Robert Dehart, 3101 S. 16th, was assessed fine of $175 and costs of $11.60 in county court Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dehart and son lived in California when the family trouble started. Mrs. Dehart claims her husband abused her so she and her son came to Wayne.

Last week Robert and Charles Dehart and another man, named Dwight Dog in court for want of his real name, came to Wayne to gain possession of Robert Dehart Jr.

In county court Friday Robert Dehart was charged with destruction of property, trespass and with striking Stella and Edward Skeahan.

The court found Robert Dehart guilty of trespass and destruction and assessed fine of $75 on this complaint, and guilty of the assault complaints for which he is to pay fine of $50 on each.

As one accumulates years, he is more prone to look backward and mull over experiences of youth.

Asks For More Jobs THE American Federation of Labor asks business to supply more jobs. The Federation wants a balanced program—employment, production and consumption in exact tune.

We quote the Omaha Journal-Stockman's comment in part: 'The idea that it is possible to increase or decrease business at will still persists, in the face of failures that are daily becoming more apparent. Production can be planned, of course, if those who are putting money into it agree to it, but there is no way to guide or control demand to fit the production picture.'

'The American Federation of Labor has a special reason for wanting to see production and employment increased, by any means. The unemployed do not pay dues. But the organization on the one hand urges business men to spend their money in production without any assurance that the venture will be successful, on the other hand strikes that cripple business are at least countenanced and encouraged.'

The Wise Course FINE weather and sharp rivalries brought out an unusual vote everywhere at the election Tuesday. The general result may reasonably be accepted as an endorsement of the national administration.

No president in the history of the United States has had the cooperation accorded President Roosevelt in trying to put over his recovery program. Congress acted as a rubber stamp and the public gave assent.

It is important that members of the coming congress, regardless of political affiliations, restore the American right to question and oppose moves they think are ill advised. Not to handicap the administration by needlessly playing politics, but to examine and resist any proposed measures that threaten harm rather than good should be accepted in the course of duty by every senator and representative.

The Balance Of Power WHILE the fever of reform is on, it would seem that qualifications for voting might well be reconsidered. In great centers of population millions of ignorant voters living from hand to mouth, with no vision and no sense of responsibility as citizens, hold the balance of power and determine the future policies of the country.

Hundreds Attend Rally For Stefan Several hundred Wayne county people were in the huge crowd staging a rally at Norfolk Monday evening for Karl Stefan. F. S. Berry of Wayne, was one of the speakers, and Wayne and Wisner musicians combined to form one of the several bands. Torch light parade was another feature.

Features Planned At Gay Theatre Pages of history live in the new film, 'Cleopatra,' which will be shown at the Gay theatre in Wayne Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. In every lavish, glittering, fascinating sequence, the genius of Cecil DeMille speaks. 'Cleopatra' is the finest thing he has done. Tiding the exciting love affairs of Egypt's glamorous queen for his base, DeMille weaves his pattern on a background of Rome and Egypt in their glory and grandeur. More than 5,000 appear in the film which tells in dramatic fashion how Cleopatra and Marc Anthony, the Roman leader, linger at love, while mighty empires totter at their very feet. Plan Bicycle Race. P. L. March is planning a Joe E. Brown handicap three-mile bicycle and thrifty. An intelligence requirement is suggested as worth considering in making up the qualifications of a voter, and in so doing, safety would not only be served, but an incentive would be given to learn what the American system of government means. Besides, should the thousands on government relief in big cities be permitted to govern farm areas and influence the taxes they shall pay?

Speeding WITH telephone lines everywhere and with the radio as a Returns means of broadcasting news, election results are generally known before midnight. In the old days, to determine the winners in county contests, it was necessary to wait until the official ballots were brought to the county seat by members of the election board, and then anxiety was sometimes defeated by the bearer of ballots forgetting to copy the figures before they were sealed. Not until late the next day could successful county candidates be made known. Two or three days were usually required to determine state or national results. Facilities for communication have eliminated distances and reduced time until returns begin to appear in some parts of the country before the polls have been closed in other parts.

Not In Accord DR. GLEN FRANK, noted educator and president of the University of Wisconsin, is evidently not in harmony with the Washington professorial group in the matter of crop curtailment. 'To restrict production and to raise prices as a general policy,' he said, 'is, not liberalism but reaction, not statesmanship but surrender, not creative advance but cowardly retreat. This way,' he adds, 'lies the subsidizing of inefficiency.' 'To me, it is incredible that, in a world of tragically unfulfilled human need, we should now set out upon the quixotic attempt to increase welfare by destroying wealth or declining to create it.'

Henry Ford has developed a refreshing philosophy of life in connection with his automobile industry. He banishes fear, and sets an example of confidence by planning increased car production. He expects to make nearly as many automobiles in 1935 as he did in 1930. He believes the country will have better times despite the crazy antics of politicians. 'If American industrialists will forget the alphabet schemes,' says Mr. Ford, 'and take hold of industries with good sound American sense, the depression would be over. They should take hold of their country, too, in the same way and run in with good sound American common sense.'

More important as a means of reducing costs than a one-house legislature (would seem to be to consolidate counties, enlarging county units and reducing overhead. Converting the state into only a few counties, as suggested by a Nebraska newspaper some months ago, would be an impractical and unwelcome extreme, but to consolidate three or four or even five counties would insure economy without causing inconvenience.

The Kearney Hub notes Prof. Tugwell's sojourn in Rome with interest, but without fear. It says he is there not merely to observe, but to plan the agriculture of the entire world. But concludes the Hub: 'Fortunately for us, there is little chance that the Tugwellian theory will be carried out. It is too Utopian even for this age of communism and fascism in Europe and regimentation in America.'

The person who wins in the primaries and then loses in the election, has had a long, hard, expensive ordeal without gaining the final goal, and while one congratulates the winner, he does not forget to sympathize with the loser. It may be said with truth that the acquaintance gained in a political campaign, even though the objective is missed, affords some compensation.

If Karl Stefan, just elected to congress, proves as popular in Washington as he has proved in the Third district of Nebraska, he should be able to win the heart of Washington and even charm a democratic administration into giving him almost anything he is disposed to ask for.

ARMISTICE. Armistice day, November 11, reminds us that sixteen years have gone by since firing ceased in the World war and the nations acclaimed return of peace. Twenty years ago the world conflict started, and for four years two groups of nations waded with each other in causing slaughter and ruin. Results even to winners were irreparable losses in men and treasure—a legacy of broken hearts and mountains of debt. Besides its gigantic sacrifices, the United States learned the ingratitude of nations, finding out that an obligation between countries may not be worth the paper on which it is written. No one old enough to remember fails to regard with horror the costly experiences of the war—the wild waste during and following the sanguinary struggle—the penalty exacted by the world-wide economic collapse. As the country turns to recollection of the Armistice and to due observance of the occasion, a wish for no more war is profoundly felt.

Politics (Continued from Page One.) want peace and understand the folly and futility of war, rumblings abroad are not very encouraging. Japan's demand for greater naval power increases suspicion long directed to that ambitious country. With stinging recollection of the last war still painfully fresh, it is amazing that nations cannot bring themselves to peaceful settlement of disputed points.

Times Are Changed In Past Forty Years A lively rig rented for 50c and a sack of peppermints that cost 10c furnished a full day's entertainment that couldn't be beaten for Fred Blair and his boy friend and two young ladies 40 years ago. Times are changing lots but those were great days.

The reason Mr. Blair recalls 40 years ago is that it is just that length of time that he has been in business, last Monday having been anniversary of the day he went from Malvern to Dunlap, Iowa, to clerk for $75 a year. When he left Harlan with his 90c worth of clothes in a $1.95 trunk Mr. Blair's friends predicted he'd be home soon. But he surprised them. Mr. Blair went from Dunlap to Fremont and came to Wayne in 1912 to open his present store.

HERE AND ABROAD. An American author returning from a visit in European countries, draws a sharp contrast between conditions here and abroad. In foreign countries he found inhabitants impoverished and hardened, and driven by force and fanaticism. 'In Europe the physical facade of civilization is crumbling,' he says, 'dirt and disorder gain daily ground, and bitterness, hatred and despair drive more and more men to plunge from mad theory to madder action, threatening to topple civilization down the slope of war into an unspicable abyss.' Speaking of fascist and communist rule, he says: 'The fascists expect to murder the fellow-citizens they do not like; the communists starve them into abjectness by allowing them only 600 grams a month of basic foodstuffs at prohibitive prices.' 'The menace of both fascism and communism,' he says, 'is not that they seek to control economic production and the distribution of material goods, but that they threaten the soul of man.' In America he finds a more humane civilization with the processes of living less difficult than in other lands. He says: 'I find, indeed, that here and here alone there is order, liberty and peace.' Here there is no interference with religious beliefs or the education of children. Here there is liberty of the press and of speech, for which the returned traveler is truly grateful.

An Idea For That After-Game Snack

No matter how thrilling the football game, there is a let-down after it is over, and this is just the time for the clever hostess to suggest a bite to eat. Savory sausages and waffles with maple syrup are a good suggestion for refreshments after the game is over. Here are the recipes given by Miss Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Recipes

Pork Chops Baked with Apples.

4 thick pork chops (1 1/4 in. thick) 1/2 t. salt 1/2 large tart apples 4 T brown sugar 2 T flour 2 cups hot water 2 t. lemon juice or vinegar 1-2 cup raisins (seedless or seed-filled) 1-3 t. cinnamon Rub the chops with sage and salt and brown on both sides in a hot skillet. Arrange in a baking pan. In the meantime core the apples and cut into halves crosswise. Fill the cavity with the brown sugar and lay, flat side down, on each pork chop. Add the flour to the fryings in the skillet. Stir until smooth, then add the cinnamon, hot water, and lemon juice and cook to a thin gravy, stirring occasionally. Add the raisins and pour over the meat and apples. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) basting occasionally for one hour or until the chops are tender. (Serves four).

Combination Salad.

Combine grated cheese, sauerkraut, diced celery, strips of pickles and diced or drained crushed pineapple. Serve with mayonnaise on lettuce leaf.

Salmon Loaf With Rice.

1 can salmon 2 c. hot boiled rice (1-2 c before being cooked) 2 eggs beaten 2 T melted butter Juice of 1-2 small lemons Salt Pepper Mix ingredients lightly with fork. Add liquor from salmon can. Bake in a covered pan set in water for 1 hour in a 375° F oven. Serve with tomato sauce made by straining and slightly thickening one cup of canned tomatoes, well seasoned. Peas may be used instead of rice in which case serve with a cream sauce.

Orange Pie.

4 egg yolks 3-4 cup sugar Juice of one orange 1 cup cream Beat egg yolks until thick, then beat in sugar and then add orange juice. Cook until thick, let stand until cold. Whip cream and fold into above. Put in a baked pie crust shell and let stand in cold place about four hours before serving.

Meat Dishes That Stretch The Budget

Often it is hard to make the food budget stretch out until the end of the month, so here are suggestions for low-priced, yet tasty meat dishes. They are suggested by Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Haricot of Lamb.

2 pounds lean breast of lamb 2 tablespoons lard Flour 4 carrots 2 turnips 4 potatoes 2 onions, sliced 1 tablespoon parsley Dumplings Salt and pepper Sugar Cut the breast of lamb into pieces suitable for serving. Dredge with flour and brown on all sides in hot lard. Turn into a heavy sauce pan and cover with hot water. Cube the carrots, turnips, potatoes and slice the onion. Brown these in the hot lard after the meat has been removed. Add these to the meat in the kettle, and simmer until meat and vegetables are tender. Season to taste with salt and pepper and a dash of sugar. Thicken the gravy with flour smoothed in cold water if necessary. Ten minutes before serving, drop in small dumplings. Cover closely and cook until dumplings are done. Serve immediately.

A Liver Recipe That Adds A New Touch

There comes a time when every homemaker reaches the "end of the rope" in preparing dishes which are new and different, so here is a new recipe for liver which may come in handy.

Liver in Mexican Style.

1 1/2 pounds beef or pork liver 2 tablespoons bacon drippings 1 small onion, sliced 2 cups tomatoes 1 green pepper, chopped 1-2 cup peas, cooked 1-2 cup corn, cooked 3-4 cup rice, cooked Salt and pepper Flour Cut the liver into slices, then in strips and dredge with flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown the liver with onion and green pepper in the bacon drippings, add the tomatoes, cover and simmer until the liver is tender, about one hour. Add the rice, corn, and peas and continue to cook until the mixture is thoroughly heated. Serve inside a ring of rice or spaghetti.

District Meeting of the Farmers Union will be held at Wakefield next April.

Reforming the N.R.A.

Omaha Journal Stockman: The reorganized N.R.A. minus Gen. Johnson, and with all decisions lodged with President Roosevelt, is headed to a 36-hour week for the textile industry with 40-hour pay for the 36 hours. This for the purpose of reducing the ranks of the unemployed. If the thing works in the textile industry it may be expected to apply to all industry. Provided the supreme court does not decide that it is unconstitutional.

Meat Salad Ideal For Sunday Supper

For the Sunday night supper, a meat salad is ideal. It is a substantial dish which is easily prepared, and besides that, it furnishes a very good way of using the meat left from the Sunday dinner roast. The following recipe for pork salad is given by Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Pork Salad Platter.

3 cups cold roast, pork, diced 3 hard-cooked eggs 1-2 onion, grated 1 chopped green pepper 1 cup whipped cream 3 stalks celery, diced Stuffed olives, sliced Mayonnaise dressing French dressing Paprika Add the diced celery and chopped green pepper to the diced pork. Grate in the onion. Marinate with French dressing. Add paprika and set aside to chill. When ready to serve, add whipped cream to mayonnaise and fold into the salad. Pile in a rounded mound on crisp lettuce leaves on a large platter. Garnish the salad with slices of hard-cooked egg and olives. Around the salad place a border of pineapple slices masked with mayonnaise dressing and sprinkled liberally with paprika. Celery stalks, filled with cream cheese, add attractiveness.

Stuffs for Meat Dishes Are Popular

Stuffings are becoming more and more popular, since many of our meat cuts are cropped at the market. Such cuts as the shoulder of pork or lamb are ideal for stuffing and stuffing; then friend husband need have no worry about carving them at the table.

Standard Bread Stuffing.

2 cups bread crumbs 1 teaspoon salt 1-8 teaspoon pepper 1-4 teaspoon poultry seasoning or sage 1 1/2 teaspoon minced onion 1 egg, slightly beaten 1-4 cup melted butter 1-8 teaspoon thyme 2 tablespoons chopped parsley Toss with a fork until thoroughly mixed. For a moist stuffing add 1-2 cup milk or cream. Variations may be gained in this standard recipe by adding other ingredients.

Sausage Stuffing.

Break 1-2 pound pork sausages into small pieces and fry them until they are crisp and brown. Add 1-4 cup of mushrooms cut fine, canned or fresh. Cook a little longer and add to standard recipe.

Chestnut Stuffing.

Cook 1 quart chestnuts in boiling water until they are tender. Cool and remove the shell and under-skin and chop fine. Melt 1-4 cup butter and cook the chestnuts in it until they are delicate brown. Add the ingredients listed in the standard recipe given above with the exception of poultry seasoning, sage and thyme. Also add 1 teaspoon of grated lemon rind. Toss lightly together until, thoroughly mixed.

Mince Pie Season Here; Recipe Given

Hot mince pies, while an old-fashioned dessert, are still in favor, especially for the holiday dinner. Mince meat for pies may be purchased already prepared, or if you wish to prepare it yourself, here's a good old-fashioned recipe, suggested by Inez S. Wilson, home economist. The proportions in this recipe are a good average, but they may be varied to suit the taste of the individual.

Wayne Artist Is Included In Tea For Lorado Taft

Attendance at a tea honoring Lorado Taft and at lecture by Christopher Morley were highlights of Miss Martha Pierce's recent visit to Chicago. She spent week-end of teachers' conventions in the exposition city, attended the fair and visited her sister, Mrs. W. E. Bowers and Dr. Bowers. She spent some time at the art gallery inspecting modern art exhibits.

Through sculptor friends, the Fred Torrey, Miss Pierce was included in a tea given by artists living in the Taft studio building in farewell to Mr. Taft who was leaving on a western speaking tour. The sculptor planned to go to the coast, then work back through Arizona and the middle west, making Wayne one of his stopping points as he will talk at the college December 17.

Miss Pierce also talked with Leonard Crunelle, one of Taft's most interesting sculptors. It was Crunelle who made the statue of young Abraham Lincoln as a volunteer soldier leaving for Indian service, which has been placed at Dixon, Ill., from where his company started. Taft found Crunelle at time of the other Chicago fair, 1893, when the young man was working in a coal mine and in his spare moments was carving figures out of soft stone found in the mines. Taft took him to Chicago and gave him training. Before Mr. Taft attained his leadership in the field of art, he traveled over the country giving exhibitions of modeling from clay, and Crunelle was his clay boy.

Red Cross Drive Will Be Staged

Supt. H. R. Best Heads Drive For Memberships To Be Staged In County.

Plans for the annual American Red Cross roll call, to be held between Armistice day and Thanksgiving, were made last Thursday evening by Red Cross directors who met with L. M. Williamson, field executive from Lincoln. Supt. H. R. Best, chairman of the drive, has asked Wayne Young Business Men's club to take charge of the canvass in Wayne business district, and Mrs. R. W. Ley and Mrs. E. W. Huse will have charge in residence section, assisted by a committee to be named. A chairman in each town of the county will also be named by Mr. Best, and rural districts will be handled through school directors.

"Although the government's widespread relief program in this country's worst depression has assumed huge proportions, the contribution made by the American Red Cross to needy families in the last five years has no parallel in the annals of private relief agency activities," says Supt. H. R. Best who is chairman of annual drive in this county.

"Measured in dollars and cents, the Red Cross has spent $18,835,000 and distributed in addition wheat and cotton products valued in excess of $70,000,000 since the rigors of depression set in. Direct relief to 25,000,000 individuals in practically every county in the United States is the record of performance of the Red Cross. Causes of the plight of those assisted varied from unemployment to drought, tornado to earthquake, but all the aid was extended on the basis of helping others to help themselves. This principle, incidentally, has been adhered to since the inception of the Red Cross. Actually, helping others to help themselves defines the movement itself."

Preliminary meetings to acquaint Wayne county farmers with provisions of the federal campaign to eradicate Bang's disease, commonly known as contagious abortion, will be held within the next few weeks. Agricultural Agent G. H. Liggett has announced.

With the termination of federal cattle purchasing in practically every Nebraska county, plans are being made for testing cattle by the agglutination blood method for contagious abortion. Cattle so eliminated from herds will be appraised and paid for by the federal government. A total of $56,000 has been made available for the work under the terms of the Jones-Connelly cattle bill.

Only farmers who file application will have their herds tested under the program which is to be purely voluntary. The agreement stipulates that the test will be done free of charge. Red Cross Drive Will Be Staged

Plans for the annual American Red Cross roll call, to be held between Armistice day and Thanksgiving, were made last Thursday evening by Red Cross directors who met with L. M. Williamson, field executive from Lincoln. Supt. H. R. Best, chairman of the drive, has asked Wayne Young Business Men's club to take charge of the canvass in Wayne business district, and Mrs. R. W. Ley and Mrs. E. W. Huse will have charge in residence section, assisted by a committee to be named. A chairman in each town of the county will also be named by Mr. Best, and rural districts will be handled through school directors.

"Although the government's widespread relief program in this country's worst depression has assumed huge proportions, the contribution made by the American Red Cross to needy families in the last five years has no parallel in the annals of private relief agency activities," says Supt. H. R. Best who is chairman of annual drive in this county.

"Measured in dollars and cents, the Red Cross has spent $18,835,000 and distributed in addition wheat and cotton products valued in excess of $70,000,000 since the rigors of depression set in. Direct relief to 25,000,000 individuals in practically every county in the United States is the record of performance of the Red Cross. Causes of the plight of those assisted varied from unemployment to drought, tornado to earthquake, but all the aid was extended on the basis of helping others to help themselves. This principle, incidentally, has been adhered to since the inception of the Red Cross. Actually, helping others to help themselves defines the movement itself."

Junior High Happenings.

Eighth grade had Halloween party Wednesday last week in "Y" room, in charge of committees headed by Billy Jones and Erna Meyer. For language, the class makes educational reports this week.

First practice for "Up in the Air" junior high operetta, was held Thursday afternoon.

Harvey Meyer gave special report on New Zealand for geography 6 on Friday. Art 6 is making chalk drawings of autumn landscapes. The room had Halloween program Wednesday last week and stories and poems were told. Elaine Rhodes was program chairman.

Fifth graders had a jolly little party on Halloween, full of surprises. Several children brought candy and popcorn balls, and Mrs. Louis Sund surprised the class by bringing pretty Halloween sandwiches. Dorothy Smolski's tenth birthday was that day and she brought a cake decorated with ten lighted candles. Library reading period is being held every Friday afternoon, the children bringing books from home or library.

Lantern slides of western United States were shown in geography 4 class Friday.

Third graders have started designing pioneer scene in their little theatre, and made table and chairs of wood, and dishes of clay. Friday they peeled apples and hung the strips up to dry in the window just as did their pioneer ancestors. This week they dip candles.

Demonstration of reading was given by Jacqueline Wightman, Richard Best and Howard Sala before E. L. Mortensen's debate class Friday. Donald Denbeck, fifth grader, brought a puppet show to demonstrate to the children that day.

Indian project in preparation for Thanksgiving, has been started in first grade. Thursday the weffolks tried to walk like Indians, and Norman Rockwell then brought Indian moccasins to show how quietly the redmen traveled. Recently a syphon was borrowed from Gayle Childs and everyone was interested in how water could be siphoned from one pail to another.

Kindergartners received a gift bowl of fish from Carolynn McClure Thursday.

New Leader Has Support Of Youth Says Missionary

"The youth of India is turning away from teaching of Gandhi to that of Pandit Jawarhar Lal Nehru, a graduate of Oxford university who is well acquainted with Marxian and communistic theories."

Thus reports Miss Letah Doyle, missionary on furlough from near Delhi, India, who visited in the Rev. A. E. Fowler home at Winside last week.

"India is now in throes of a nationalist movement and there is much unrest, although many people still are loyal to the British government. Riots have been numerous, but not lately for the native leaders are in prison. Younger Indians are deserting aged Gandhi because he is a pacifist and they feel he isn't accomplishing things fast enough. Instead of asking partial independence as at first, the dissenters are demanding absolute independence from the British. This new leader is not at all religious in his beliefs—he contrasts sharply with Gandhi who is a devout and humble man.

"These Indian people are not farm dwellers—you seldom see a house between the villages. Of the approximately 360,000,000 inhabitants, over 300,000,000 live in 720,000 small villages and make their meager living by farming the soil nearby. It's none too productive soil, either. The dwellers raise many legumes, like our dried peas and make a gravy from these in which they dip their unleavened bread. They still use oxen for plowing, as in the days of Abraham. Most of the cultivation is by hand, using little garden trowels. The government has put in a huge irrigation project covering a large part of northern India and this is very important to a country where only rainfall is during the monsoons of July.

"Changes work slowly in India. Only 5 percent of the men, and 2 percent of the women can read. The caste system holds, although with the trickle of enlightenment coming into the country, educated Christians are accepted as out of the caste system. There are four great divisions in this system—the Brahmins, warriors, merchants and low, and some even add a lower group, the outcasts, who are not allowed in the temples or on village walks and if traveling the roads must keep a distance from those of higher caste so the odor from their garments will not blow onto the others. It's their scavenger tasks which make them so despised. With no gas, no electricity, no coal and no money to buy fuel of any kind, the Indians must make it out of barnyard refuse and are consequently looked down upon. Then, too, the Brahmins hold this cow sacred and the untouchables eat it. After you've been in India a time, you can tell the outcasts not by their clothing but by the cowed and servile expression, the results of centuries of domination. But, quoting Bishop Azariah of the Anglican church, 'Out of this low caste have come men of saintliness and might.'"

Demolishes Cart

Anita Bush was a plump little infant—really fat. When four months old her mother took her to town and bought a two-wheeled cart. When she sat the 20-pound youngster in this, Anita went through the bottom and the cart was ruined. Anita had a good sized dose of sickness all in one month—measles, mumps, chicken pox and flu. Dorothy Lutt and her uncle who lived at the home, were great pals and Dorothy would hide out in his car so her sisters wouldn't see her and go riding with him. Melvin Sahn's birthplace was the farm northwest of Wayne where he lives today. He distinguished himself at an early age by pulling the paper off the wall. Alvin Carlson was a fat baby with white hair . . . he had a great yearning to go to school, until he got started! When Leona Mae Granquist was 10 months old and broke these in a bucket, then pouring them into Leona's apron . . . Leona then threw the egg mixture to the chickens. Their mother was not pleased. Dale Brockman has not yet forgotten that he had to wear dresses around home when a wee tot . . . however he had his suit for dress-up. He had a fondness for hitting chickens with sticks, which must have been hard on the family flock. Lucille Reeg grew up the youngest child with three older brothers, what a jolly, tom-boyish childhood she must have had! Highlights of Robert Wright's first six years are a pet dog named Efflu because he was so white and fluffy, the 1933 World's fair and a trip to Colorado Springs. Say Arnold Reeg's parents, the first four months of his life when he wasn't eating he was crying. Follow the Egg. Robert Tucker learned to walk by means of an egg. He insisted upon creeping so a neighbor told her to put an egg, or something else he hadn't seen before, upon a chair. So anxious was Robert to get hands on this new, fascinating thing that he toddled rapidly across the room. So prone was Robert Maricle to run away and go hunt his father,

Wm. Beckenhauer Funeral Director. Willard Wiltse Assistant Graduate Embalmer. Quality and Service. TODAY Today I walked by the side of the road Where the lovely columbine grew; A profusion of flowers grew all around Of scarlet and white and blue. While my nostrils breathed that fragrant air I enjoyed the sweet scene The grass that grew by the roadside was A carpet of lovely green. And I passed a man who carried a load But 'twas no business of mine The bright sun slipped behind a cloud And 'twas then it ceased to shine. So on I walked by the side of the road But the flowers grew not for me! The birds sang not their lovely song And the earth seemed void of glee. For I had failed in my duty to man, Refused to help with the load And the sun shone not—the miles were long As I plodded a weary road. Franklin Lee Stevenson.

Demolishes Cart

Anita Bush was a plump little infant—really fat. When four months old her mother took her to town and bought a two-wheeled cart. When she sat the 20-pound youngster in this, Anita went through the bottom and the cart was ruined. Anita had a good sized dose of sickness all in one month—measles, mumps, chicken pox and flu. Dorothy Lutt and her uncle who lived at the home, were great pals and Dorothy would hide out in his car so her sisters wouldn't see her and go riding with him. Melvin Sahn's birthplace was the farm northwest of Wayne where he lives today. He distinguished himself at an early age by pulling the paper off the wall. Alvin Carlson was a fat baby with white hair . . . he had a great yearning to go to school, until he got started! When Leona Mae Granquist was 10 months old and broke these in a bucket, then pouring them into Leona's apron . . . Leona then threw the egg mixture to the chickens. Their mother was not pleased. Dale Brockman has not yet forgotten that he had to wear dresses around home when a wee tot . . . however he had his suit for dress-up. He had a fondness for hitting chickens with sticks, which must have been hard on the family flock. Lucille Reeg grew up the youngest child with three older brothers, what a jolly, tom-boyish childhood she must have had! Highlights of Robert Wright's first six years are a pet dog named Efflu because he was so white and fluffy, the 1933 World's fair and a trip to Colorado Springs. Say Arnold Reeg's parents, the first four months of his life when he wasn't eating he was crying. Follow the Egg. Robert Tucker learned to walk by means of an egg. He insisted upon creeping so a neighbor told her to put an egg, or something else he hadn't seen before, upon a chair. So anxious was Robert to get hands on this new, fascinating thing that he toddled rapidly across the room. So prone was Robert Maricle to run away and go hunt his father,

Wayne-Oakland Play To Tie Score

Local Team Goes To Pilger This Friday For Game Of Interest.

Wayne high school and Oakland football teams met on the local gridiron Friday and played to a 6-6 tie. Wayne men showed the best form of all season and in tying Oakland they outplayed and outgated a much larger team. Coach Robert Gibb is very much pleased with the work of his boys in the game.

Wayne team will go to Pilger November 9 to engage the Pilger team in the annual football tussle. On paper the Pilger team looks touchdowns stronger than Wayne, but no concession are being made by the Wayne team.

Following is a short summary of the game with Oakland: Oakland won the toss and decided to defend the south goal and Tom Cavanaugh of the Wayne team elected to kick. Nelson kicked off to the Oakland 10-yard line and the ball was returned to the Oakland 30. After trying a crack at the line which was unsuccessful, Oakland quick-kicked, the ball rolling into the end zone for a touchback. Wayne scrimmaged from their 20, but they were unable to pierce the Oakland line so Peterson dropped back to kick. The kick was good for 35 yards. From this point the game developed into a kicking duel between Young of Oakland and Peterson of Wayne. It wasn't until late in the second quarter that either team made any serious goal-ward marches. To start things going, Young of Oakland intercepted Peterson's pass on the Wayne 40-yard line and carried the ball down to the Wayne 20. After a series of line-plunges with Wigstrom and Young alternating, Young carried the ball over for the first touch-down of the ball game. The plunge for extra point was no good. Score was Oakland, 6; Wayne, 0, at the half.

After the start of the second half, and an exchange of punts, Wayne blocked an Oakland punt on the Oakland 16-yard line, but were unable to push the ball across, so Oakland took the ball on downs. The ball was on the Oakland 2-yard line at this time. On the first play, McEachen blocked a poor Oakland punt and recovered for Wayne on the 4-yard line. From this point, Goshorn, Wayne's hard-driving fullback, plunged over standing up. The kick for the extra point was blocked. Score stood Oakland, 6; Wayne, 6. Remainder of the game was scoreless, with Wayne making several attempts to score but lacking the drive to take the ball across.

Defensively, the Wayne club was at its best, giving Oakland only 7 yards from scrimmage the last half. The boys looking good for Wayne are Captain Cavanaugh, Penhollow, Fleetwood, Goshorn, and Nelson. Young and Wigstrom bore the brunt of the attack for the Oakland crew. Wayne's starting line-up was as follows: Ends, Wright and Baker, tackles, Fleetwood and Penhollow, guards, Cavanaugh and McEachen; center, Nelson; quarterback, Peterson, fullbacks Gildersleeve and Robinson, fullback, Goshorn. Substitutions for Wayne: Ahern, Sevy, Bonawitz, M. Penhollow and Keeney. Officials: J. M. Strahan, referee; H. E. Fisher, umpire, P. Stillman, headlinesman.

Wayne made 5 first downs to Oakland's 3. Wayne gained 86 yards to 65 for Oakland. Wayne attempted 6 passes and completed 2. Oakland attempted 8 passes and completed none. Wayne was penalized 20 yards and Oakland, 25 yards.

Agriculture Census Will Be Taken Soon

The first census of agriculture in the United States was taken by the federal government in 1840. The last census of agriculture was taken in 1930. The number of farms reported in 1930 was 6,288,648. The next census of agriculture will be taken in 1935. The law now provides that a census of agriculture be taken every five years.

The census of agriculture in 1935 will include the name and address of the farm operator; farm tenure; farm acreage, which includes all crop land, all pasture land, and all farm woodland; the total value of the farm; the acreage and yield of each of the principal field crops and vegetables; the number of trees and the yield of each of the principal fruits; the number and value of each class of livestock; poultry and eggs; and farm population.

In order to secure complete and accurate reports from each individual farm operator in the United States, it will be necessary for every farmer and all agricultural agencies to cooperate with the federal government in this census.

Never before has a census of agriculture been of greater importance. The individual farm operator's report is a confidential government report. If you should like to have, in advance of the enumeration, a "sample copy" of the general farm schedule or questionnaire, write to the bureau of the census, Washington, D. C.

have named their son after President Harding.

And Fred Gildersleeve's parents were most understanding—when little Fred was five years old he was in bed with whooping cough and wanted a new sled to slide on when he got well. His parents got him a nice shiny one and he was so delighted with it that Fred had it in bed with him all the time, and laid on top of it, pretending he was going down hill. When Fred was ill as an infant the doctor left some medicine for him to take, and his oldest sister saw it and divided it between the three children. "We then had to call the doctor again."

Says Myron Gildersleeve, "I was born on a farm southeast of Wayne in the year of 1920. I arrived without getting my feet dirty although it was a muddy day in February."

Donald Grier's birthplace had also been his father's home since he was two years old, and Donald attended the same county school as had his father.

Arvid Hamer stepped right into usefulness from the beginning... before his birth, his brother was always running away, but after Arvid got big enough to play with him he stopped. He and his cousin had a splendid time dumping a pain of milk into the cistern.

TETRAETHYL in Standard Red Crown

Supertfuel—

Same Price as "Regular" Gasoline!

The Government at Washington has ruled that gasoline containing tetraethyl must be distinguished from gasolines lacking this valuable fluid by a metal plaque on the pump reading, "Contains lead (tetraethyl)." (larger quantity) goes into premium priced gasoline! All Standard Red Crown pumps carry the tetraethyl plaque. And that's one reason why Standard Red Crown has more LIVE POWER per gallon, though it costs no more than "regular" gasoline!

How GLORIA GOT TO THE GAME . .

DON'T BE FOOLISH. GLORIA, WE CAN'T POSSIBLY GET TO LINCOLN IN TIME FOR THE GAME! THE CAR SIMPLY CAN'T DO IT.

NONSENSE! COME ON, STINGY. I'LL BUY THE TICKETS—OUT OF MY HOUSEHOLD MONEY.

OH, I'LL PAY ALL RIGHT IF WE MAKE IT. BUT LISTEN TO THAT KNOCK. YOU'LL NEVER DO IT... BETTER DRIVE IN HERE FOR GAS.

AT THIS STATION? I SHOULD SAY NOT. NO WONDER THE ENGINE STARTS SLOW AND KNOCKS, IF YOU'VE BEEN BUYING THAT GASOLINE. IT'S A WASTE OF MONEY. YOU'LL NEVER GET ANY SPEED OR MILEAGE THAT WAY!

THERE'S THE SIGN TO LOOK FOR, MY BOY! YOU STICK TO STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERTFUEL. IT'S GOT LIVE POWER!

LISTEN, GLORIA, DON'T TRY TO TELL ME THERE'S ANY DIFFERENCE. STANDARD RED CROWN DOESN'T COST ANY MORE THAN "REGULAR."

WHAT'S THE PRICE GOT TO DO WITH IT? LOOK AT THAT PLAQUE. THAT MEANS STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERTFUEL CONTAINS TETRAETHYL YOU WON'T FIND THAT ON THE PUMPS YOU'RE BEING DRIVING UP TO!

BY GEORGE, I NEVER NOTICED THAT BEFORE. THAT OUGHT TO MAKE A LOT OF DIFFERENCE, BUT WE'LL SEE...

WHOA! SLOW DOWN, GLORIA, YOU WIN! WE'VE GOT PLENTY OF TIME NOW, THANKS TO RED CROWN!

YOU BET WE HAVE! WE GOT LIVE POWER! AND EVEN IF YOU DO HAVE TO PAY FOR THE TICKETS, YOU'LL MAKE IT UP BY SAVING GASOLINE!

LOOK FOR THAT PLAQUE ON THE PUMP! IF IT'S THERE, O.K. BUT IF IT'S NOT, REMEMBER: YOU'RE NOT GETTING A GASOLINE WITH TETRAETHYL!

IF THE PLAQUE IS ON THE PUMP, YOU KNOW YOU ARE GETTING GASOLINE CONTAINING TETRAETHYL, THE MOST EFFICIENT KNOCK FLUID KNOWN.

HERE'S WHERE TO GET IT!

College Student Is Descendant Of Indian Princess

When Charlotte Millard, Wayne college freshman, returns to home at Dubois, Wyo., next summer she is going to delve into Indian lore and particularly the history of Sacajawea, the Bird woman, for this co-ed is a great granddaughter of the famous Indian guide. And Dubois, inland ranch town and home of dude ranches, is not many miles distant from old Fort Washakie, Indian post near where Sacajawea is buried. There's a sign pointing to her grave and if you seek it out, you'll find a monument bearing the words "Sacajawea, Died April 9, 1884, a Guide with Lewis & Clark Expedition, 1805-1806, Identified 1909 by Rev. J. Roberts who officiated at Her Burial." Sacajawea's son, Baptiste, is buried somewhere back in the mountains.

There's a fascinating story behind those simple words—just follow that fateful Lewis and Clark expedition, or the history of the Shoshones. And when Charlotte Millard goes back to the land of painted bluffs, of rushing Wind river and high, remote mountain peaks, she will learn more of her great grandmother's unique career from the aged Indians remaining on the nearby Fort Washakie reservation.

Was she beautiful, this Sacajawea? Perhaps. She had strong Indian features... most assuredly a strong body... and certainly strongest will. Sacajawea, daughter of chief of the Shoshones, lived in the mountain wilds of Wyoming, roaming the plains and living off the wild game which was abundant. But a band of Minnatees captured her father, brother and Sacajawea and killed the chief, carrying off the other two. Sacajawea gave her brother, Cameahwait, (He-Who-Never-Walks), her horse for escape and was thus left to mercy of the Minnatees who sold her to the Frenchman, Charbonneau, who married her. A year elapsed and a band of whites, headed by the red-haired Captain Clark, stopped in a village on the upper Missouri. The Indian folks gazed in to see the white men, fascinated by the "white man whose hair is on fire" and by a negro in the group who was known as "a white man that is black." When Charbonneau and Sacajawea arrived to inspect the newcomers, Lewis and Clark hired the two as guides in order to have help of the woman, a native of the mountain ranges.

And so Sacajawea guided the white men to the coast. Her son was born and Captain Clark came to see the babe and Sacajawea was very happy for he was the only man who had ever been kind to her. Later he gave her a blue beaded belt which she prized highly, but later sold to buy a skin robe for the captain. When the expedition reached the coast, Sacajawea saw a whale, and when she later described this to her people, they believed she was falsifying. On the return trip Sacajawea found Basil, her sister's son, and adopted him.

Charbonneau took his wife to St. Louis to live, and she remained with him until he took his third wife and then left. Going on to Oklahoma, she was lost to her people for many years, and her ventures in this period have never come to light. Finally she returned to the Wyoming mountains and found her adopted son at Fort Washakie and remained with him till she died. Her adopted son is buried beside her near the fort.

Sacajawea, says her grand granddaughter, was not popular with the Indians for they did not believe the stories she told of the western coast, nor did they appreciate the great service she gave in exploration of the great west. Not in her lifetime, only in the white man's history books was Sacajawea honored as she deserved. Her granddaughter, Charlotte Millard's mother, was of Indian features, rather dark. Her daughter cannot remember her for she died when Charlotte was only three. It was her last wish that Charlotte not be raised as an Indian in the mission schools and consequently her father, blonde, with no Indian blood, kept her in public schools. After Sacajawea's personal belongings, as well as a portion of value, were lost after the mother died so little remains of the Bird Woman's. After Charlotte Millard had attended Springview high school, Miss Susie Souders of Wayne, who was teaching in the school, persuaded Miss Millard to come to Wayne college because of its musical inducements. You'd not think her to be of Indian ancestry... not from her features or brown hair... but Charlotte Millard is proud of her Indian heritage and also of her kinswoman, the Indian princess of history.

Dairy Cow Feed Important Problem

"In beginning the winter feeding of dairy cows it is a good plan to determine the amount of feed on hand and whether it will be sufficient to carry the cows until grass in the spring," says Melvin G. Cording of Fairacres. "It is well to feed a cow weighing 1,000 pounds 15 to 20 pounds of alfalfa hay, 25 pounds of silage and a pound of grain mixture for every three or four pounds of milk produced daily. This means that a herd of ten cows will require 15 or 20 tons of alfalfa hay, 25 tons of silage and a grain mixture, 15 percent protein, and according to production for the 200 days left before pasture.

no hay and 50 pounds of silage fed daily, it would be necessary to feed a grain mixture of 300 pounds of corn and coal meal, 300 pounds of bran or oats, and 200 pounds of cottonseed meal or some other protein-rich feed. Eight pounds of this mixture would be just a little more protein than 15 pounds of alfalfa and 25 pounds of silage.
"In substituting a feed it would be well to buy a protein rich feed," says Mr. Cording, "in order to give the herd the needed amount of protein required for health and production. The three supplements, rich in protein, which will be used extensively this year are tankage, linseed oil meal, and cotton seed meal or cake. Tankage runs high in protein of the three. Cotton seed meal and linseed are protein rich supplements, have been fed for years and years and are entirely satisfactory. The judicious feeding of linseed oil meal will improve any grain ration. It has a rich store of protein and its use is soon noticeable in the sleek oily hair and general good health of animals receiving it. Cotton seed cake or meal fed in excess of two pounds daily is an excellent substitute for part of the hay.

"In carrying the herd through the winter the importance of mineral must not be overlooked. In most of the hay grown this year there is a deficiency of calcium. It would be a good plan to keep the herd supplied with limestone (which is almost pure calcium) and bone meal. If no mineral is fed, stock will become unthrifty and milk production will suffer."
