COUNTY BEEVES PLACE IN SHOW

Wayne Business Firms and Individuals Buy Calves At Sioux City.

Thirty-two of the Wayne county baby bees, shown at the fair here, were taken to Sioux City last week for the inter-state show and sale.

Lester Lutt's calf placed highest of the Wayne group, receiving fourth in Hereford division of the show Wednesday last week.

Wayne firms and individuals who contributed to the fund for purchasing Wayne county baby bees include Fred S. Berry, J. A. Hays, First National bank, R. L. Larson, State National bank, Brown-McDonald company, Wayne Herald, Wright Lumber company, Kiwanis club, Young Business Men's club, Carl Nuss, Standard Market, Stratton hotel, Wayne Creamery, Carl Nicolaisen, W. A. Hiscox, H. B. Craven, D. S. Wightman, Dr. Walter Bentback.

Through Don Baird, the 4-H members express appreciation to Wayne people who supported the sale.

Enrollment of freshmen at the Wayne State Teachers college shows an increase of 20 percent over last year.

Forty-eight percent of the students enrolled at the college are new this year, leaving a balance of 52 percent or 391 students who registered at the college in former years.

Due to the increase in enrollment at the college, many classes are over large and with a shortage of equipment.

Only two rooms remain empty in Pile hall.

EFFORT TO NAIL THE STATE CORN HUSKING CONTEST

LAST week the Young Business Men's club started a movement to bring the state corn husking contest to Wayne county.

Work of the new resettlement administration in the handling of rehabilitation and resettlement problems in Wayne, Stanton and Madison counties, will be cared for under the direction of H. M. Ochsner working in closest cooperation with County Agent C. H. Loggett.

With this announcement the procedure for applying for benefits under the resettlement administration were outlined by Mr. Ward as follows: First, the applicant for a properly secured loan must be deserving and have the desire, character and ability to repay such a loan.

The resettlement administration, said Mr. Ward, "is not a relief agency. Of course, the relief problem is of paramount importance at this time and will be met through regional, state and county organizations but ultimate goal is the reestablishment of the worthy and deserving farmer to a self-sustaining basis. We know there are many farmers who have been too proud to ask for relief. We are particularly interested in those who, with a comparatively small loan, could purchase the necessary farm equipment, livestock and other capital goods and get back on their feet."

The rural resettlement work in Wayne, Stanton, and Madison counties is a two-fold program, that of rehabilitation and that of resettlement.

Thus it is in rehabilitation moderate sums will be loaned to rehabilitants to be invested in capital goods and will be expended under a budgeted farm management plan for a short period until such families are able to provide their own subsistence and under such a plan will be included purchase of land or its lease on a long term basis upon which to establish farm families of the four types outlined above with farm ownership the ultimate goal.

WAR'S TERROR LOOMS

War talk fills the newspapers, and the late war to end war seems to have become a fad.

War talk fills the newspapers, and the late war to end war seems to have become a fad. Twenty years of peace diplomacy appear to have made little impression on the Italian dictator who proposes a war of conquest on a comparatively defenseless country.

The Way To Win

It is plain to careful political observers that republicans and democrats who are not in agreement with the New Deal's idea of government will have to get together to prevent the reelection of the president and stem the tide towards socialism and federal paternalism. To win, republicans must gather enough support from the group of Jeffersonian democrats to offset inevitable surrender of radical forces.

Touching this subject, David Lawrence, well known Washington correspondent, says in part:

"The opportunity to defeat Mr. Roosevelt has not been and is not to be found in a splitting off of an extreme radical wing, for the radicals certainly will not desert Mr. Roosevelt in order to make easier the election of a republican stand-patier. The 1936 campaign will probably be fought as a battle between radical and conservative groups in American politics and the only question really to be determined is what wisdom and statesmanship will be exhibited by the leaders of conservative thought in America in affording the people a medium through which all anti-New Deal votes can be transmitted.

"To this correspondent, it seems abundantly clear that a mere campaign between the nominee of the republican party, as hitherto constituted, on the one hand, and Mr. Roosevelt, on the other, can not but result in the triumph of the president by a comfortable majority of electoral votes.

"The fusion or coalition of all conservative elements opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's policies, if brought about either under a reorganized republican party or through the formation of a really liberal conservative party with a name that would bring republicans and democrats into the fold, must constitute the only formidable threat to Mr. Roosevelt's reelection that can be devised today. Such a combination could defeat Mr. Roosevelt by a close margin."

Food Prices

THE increased burden of food prices is not due to increased farm prices, but to taxes on foods, as pointed out by the Omaha Journal-Stockman. Producers of food are not making unreasonable profits, but their products carry unusual taxes that make the consuming wage earner yearn for relief. Says the Journal-Stockman: "Food prices have been higher than they are now, but the country was in a more flourishing condition and people could pay the high prices without complaining. Today it is different, and as prices of food go up, consumption decreases."

Touching the problem of prices and the relation between agriculture and industry, the Lincoln Journal comments:

"A well-known economist has said: 'Money spent for commodities to be consumed is the force that moves all wheels of industry.' If this is true not only must the farmer have a reasonable purchasing power but real prosperity will not return until the wheels of private industry are turning and wage earners are receiving adequate wages. To get back to that point there is no reason for arraying industry against the farmer or the farmer against industry. The effect of such practice, among certain politicians and in present governmental circles, has been too apparent recently. Only by working for the benefit of both industry and the farmer can permanent prosperity be maintained."

Country Newspapers

COLUMNIST Arthur Brisbane doffs his sombrero to comparatively small rural publications in these paragraphs: "The most important and influential newspaper, by far, in proportion to circulation is the so-called 'country newspaper,' smaller dailies and weeklies.

"Their readers know who runs them and those readers, not living in city apartments, with a can-opener, buy everything from the paint on the roof to the cement in the cellar floor, from piano and radio in the sitting-room to the car in the garage."

Brisbane's experience enables him to express himself advisedly. The metropolitan newspaper or chain of great newspapers is usually a composite of unidentifiable entities. The country newspaper's editor is out in the open for inspection or dissection as varied humors suggest. He may be cussed or discredited with a refreshing definiteness. Sometimes a rural editor wishes he could lose his identity, but he can't do it.

Shares

THE Omaha World-Herald commends General Hugh S. Johnson, a friendly critic of the administration. The World-Herald evidently shares Johnson's alarm over lack of confidence and over failure of proper team-work on the part of different forces needed to hasten recovery. Here is one paragraph from the World-Herald's editorial treatment of the subject:

"More than a 'breathing spell' is needed; more than a truce. There should be a meeting of minds, a joining of forces all seeking a common objective. Government need yield no job to greed or privilege. Honest business need surrender no proper right. But enlightened government and honest business must find a way to work together in reasonable harmony, together with labor, with agriculture, in the spirit of mutual confidence, if the 'unemployment log jam is to be broken."

Assuming that we were evolved from monkeys, Author Clarence Day speculates on consequences if we had sprung from other sources. He mentions the ant as a genius for work and freedom from disorder. If ants had been our antecedents, he thinks there would be more cooperation and less waste. If we had descended from beasts like tigers or lions, we would have more initiative and more of the unconquerable spirit of independence. Elephants are rated as ultra-smart, but too tolerant and patient to make the best sort of ancestry. After all, the monkey ameba—with all the monkeyish chatter and frivolity to follow—was probably the most desirable origin of the human race that is still working on civilization—sometimes doubtfully, sometimes hopefully.

Governor Eugene Talmage of Georgia, is out on the stump speaking in behalf of Jeffersonian democracy. He spoke to the Kiwanis club in Lincoln Friday, and he attacked the often wasteful extravagance of the New Deal. He said he would stop processing taxes, pay farmers' contracts and the soldiers' bonus from the $4,888,000,000 relief fund, and then he would quit the spending spree. He would ask everyone to read the federal constitution. Governor Talmage says he is the first farmer elected to the Georgia governorship since the Civil war. He is one of many democrats who cannot swallow the political nostrums administered by the New Deal.

The exhibition of muscular agility and brute force in New York's Yankee Stadium Tuesday night showed by the price of admission and the size of the crowd no lack of prosperity among tight fans. How many on relief attended, there is no way to find out. Anyway, in the pugilistic world the privilege of seeing two men engage in fiercest physical encounter exacted as much as $200 per head. The fight may be said to have been a great success in money received and in brutality exhibited. To offset the influence of depression-free pugilism, the work of Sunday schools and Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts will need to be speeded up.

We heard a local physician tell how a certain district of Wayne was afflicted with typhoid fever before extension of the public waterworks system and before the discarding of private wells. As a matter of fact, typhoid cases have been rare for many years, and then only when brought in from the outside. Modern sanitation has worked wonders in keeping people well. About the only way a fellow can get sick in this well safeguarded community is to put himself in shape to catch cold.

Henry Ford has been mentioned for president, though probably he would not accept the responsibility if it were tendered to him. He is an industrial executive of outstanding ability, and he has the reputation of being fair with a depth of vision. Solving the problems of a country overloaded with debts would not be easy, but Ford could come nearer doing it than a windy politician whose popularity rests more on fanciful promises than on sound judgment.

The need of regular public live stock sales in Wayne to meet the demands of this area might well be taken in hand and pushed along by some public-spirited group. Wayne is a central point that would largely benefit by meeting the requirements of the surrounding territory in the way of public sales.

Every day of warm weather increases insurance against damage from frost. Even late corn, still soft, will soon land behind the bulwarks of safety. Much corn would, we are told, be benefited by a frost.

Congress and the state legislature may learn by recent experience not to waste time and money in passing laws before being able to make a fairly close guess as to their constitutionality.

A speaker in Sioux City last week talked about the Eskimos, and he stressed the fact that natives of the far north will not stand for either stealing or lying.

Cotton In The Trough.

Nebraska Farmer: On returning from Washington/Congressman Coffee was quite elated that he was able to get an amendment to AAA providing that 30 percent of the customs receipts be used for subsidizing the export of surplus agricultural commodities. It is estimated that over 100 million dollars will be derived from that source.

But that is only part of the story. The bill provides that the money should be used "to finance adjustments in the quantity planted." Presumably it was largely for the benefit of wheat, livestock and other products. Now comes cotton which will take a probable 70 millions of the total amount. As usual cotton has all four feet in the trough, and if Congressman Coffee gets much for his constituents he will have to be in closer contact with the feed bag than he has been so far.

INJUSTICES.

Review of the case of Colonel Alfred Dreyfus, condemned to prison on false evidence in France forty years ago, reveals an injustice that is the worst that happened during the so-called middle ages. Dreyfus was accused of selling military secrets to Germany. Dreyfus' handwriting was forged and he was pronounced guilty by a secret court-martial. He was dismissed from the army and sentenced to prison. Only the conscience and persevering efforts of a few French leaders uncovered the truth and called a halt to the tyranny. Under the secrecy and iron rule of European dictators the world does not know how many injustices are done today. No one knows how many innocent persons are made to suffer and often perish to conceal facts and serve convenience. In referring to the Dreyfus outrage, a writer says: "No better lesson than the Dreyfus affair will ever be shown to the people; they have to make the effort to distinguish between liars and truthful men. They have to read, question, compare, verify, think. Presently, if the world will come to be understood that a country without justice is a mere enclosure of animals designed for the butcher."

created a great deal by the many new and hitherto unheard-of injuries received by persons in automobile wrecks. The speeding car has a large variety of ways to deal out death or disabilities, and necessarily the physician and surgeon must advance with demands. Before the days of speeding cars there were fewer ways to be killed or hurt, and accordingly the doctor's sphere of service was comparatively restricted. Now he has a lot of new kinds of breaks to mend.

Infection In Hand.

Harvey Hostetter had an infection in one hand last week. The member is much better now.

Paul Baier of Wayne, underwent a tonsil operation Monday.

Mrs. Art Hagemann of Wayne, had her tonsils removed Tuesday.

Mrs. Carl Guet of Wayne, was admitted Tuesday as a medical patient.

POTATOES.

The AAA amendment to regiment potato growing is referred to by one editor as a scheme to discredit the entire triple A plan. This is not likely in view of the fact that a congress and president friendly to the triple A supported the potato appendix. More responsibly the administration just took you aside in registering potato growing and has felt an unexpectedly strong rebound of unfavorable sentiment. We have not thus far read or heard any approving words for the potato amendment, and probably ardent admirers of the New Deal are finding some difficulty in trying to get away from the blunder. We find quoted in an exchange section 220 of the potato amendment as follows: "Any person who knowingly sells, or offers for sale, or knowingly offers to buy, or buys, potatoes not packed as required by this title, or any person who knowingly offers to buy, or buys, potatoes in the package to which are not affixed or attached tax-exempt stamps, or tax stamps as required by this title shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $1,000. Any person convicted of a second offense under the provision of this title may, in addition to such fine, be imprisoned for not more than one year." But we have a suspicion that the administering officials will let go of this potato amendment, and try to forget it, as soon as congress reconvenes.

Records On Holsteins Are Outstanding

Purebred Holsteins produce more than twice as much milk and fat as the average. According to the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry the average for all cows in the country during the past six years was approximately 4,350 pounds milk and 170 pounds fat. During the same period, Holsteins tested in the best improvement test averaged 11,934 pounds milk and 374 pounds fat per cow annually. The herd of registered Holsteins owned by Fairacres Farms at Winside, has maintained a daily average yield of 1.2 pounds of fat per cow during the first 65 days of the current annual production test. The 100-pound fat mark has been topped by seven cows in the herd with top honor going to the cow named L. V. Queen. She has won a credit of 127.8 pounds fat from 3,711.4 pounds milk. Top honor in milk production goes to Bessie Homestead Matador with a credit of 3,852.3 pounds milk and 126.0 pounds fat. During the last month of the test L. V. Queen Mechtildie led the herd with a yield of 62.7 pounds fat and 1794.8 pounds milk.

Christian Science Services.

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, September 29.

The Golden Text is from James 1:17: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variability, neither shadow of turning." A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Ecclesiastes 3:14, 15: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be forever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before Him: that which hath been is now; and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught that does not proceed from this great and only cause. . . The spiritual reality is the scientific fact in all things." (page 207).

Recipes

- Baked Pears.
Arrange a number of pears in a baking pan; pour a thin syrup of water and brown sugar over pears; bake in moderate oven until tender. Baste several times with syrup. Cook separately raisins, nuts and cinnamon, with some water and brown sugar. Serve over pears with whipped cream.
Plum Preserves.
(Hazel Arnold Mason)
Use small tart plums. Pick over and wash carefully three quarts of the fruit. Put over slow fire and cook until tender. Measure and add as much sugar as you have pulp. Continue cooking until mixture gives a jolly test. Skim off pits as they come to the surface.
Savory Potatoes.
(Hazel Arnold Mason)
6 medium sized potatoes
2 medium sized onions
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon shortening
1-2 cup of water
1-2 cup of milk
1-4 cup of grated cheese
Cook potatoes and slice very thin. Chop up onions and mix with potatoes. Add parsley, salt and pepper. Melt shortening in pan and add potato mixture. Pour in water, cover tightly and cook gently for 20 minutes. Add milk and cook 15 minutes longer. Remove from fire, sprinkle with grated cheese and serve immediately.
Fricassee of Beef From Shin.
(Hazel Arnold Mason)
Spread beef from shin, that has been cooked to make stock, with three tablespoons of prepared mustard and a thick coating of flour. Melt fat skimmed from top of stock. When fat is hot, put beef in pan and brown on all sides. Remove to hot platter. To fat in pan add 2 tablespoons of flour and stir until well browned. Add 1-2 cups of the beef stocks and strain into the sauce bowl. Add meat to sauce and cook gently until meat is thoroughly heated.
Rose Salad.
(Hazel Arnold Mason)
1 small cabbage
1-2 cups of celery, diced
Salad dressing
1-2 red pepper (sweet) shredded
1-2 cups of left-over chicken or veal.
Remove outside leaves of cabbage and cut into small pieces. Close to leaves, cut out centers. Drain in cold water for one hour. Drain dry.

Shred center and mix with equal parts of celery and diced veal...
Spanish Casserole.
(Hazel Arnold Mason)
1-4 cup butter
1 small onion, minced
2 cups green pepper, minced
2 cups tomato puree
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
One-eighth teaspoon of paprika,
1-2 and 2-3 cups cracker or bread crumbs
Heat 3 tablespoons butter in pan. Add green pepper and onion and brown slightly. Add puree and seasoning and bring to boiling point. Reserve 1-4 cup of bread crumbs and add the rest of crumbs and the mushrooms to ingredients in pan. Pour into greased casserole. Sprinkle with the remainder of the crumbs and dot with remaining butter. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, from 15 to 30 minutes.
Farm Mortgages Not All Bad.
Omaha Journal-Stockman: We have heard a great deal of late years about farm mortgages. In the newspapers, on the platform and in the halls of legislation the oppressive character of the mortgage has been shown up in vivid colors and the farmers of the nation depicted as the unfortunate victims of this cruel and inhuman instrument.
As is always the case, however, there are two sides to the question and an impartial analysis of the much maligned farm mortgage will bring out a few favorable points. It can hardly be questioned, for instance, that the mortgage on the farm has enabled many a man to own a farm who would otherwise have been denied the opportunity. Mortgages have helped develop the country.
If the mortgage as a tool of business had not been invented only persons of large means and well established business reputations could borrow money with which to acquire property. It is precisely because the borrower, however obscure, may pledge his purchased property to obtain a loan that he is able in countless instances to buy a house or a farm. He may be an honest man, but if he is also an obscure one whose credit rating is not known beyond the circle of his immediate friends he will have great difficulty in finding a lender who will take his unsecured note. The mortgage makes it possible for him to obtain money despite his obscurity. He can get on the security of his land what he could not get on his promise alone.
This naturally brings up the question as to the wisdom of impairing or destroying the functions of the farm mortgage. In abolishing this instrument by well meaning legislation it may be that the farmer himself is injured most of all. If only the rich or well-to-do are to be land owners, the value of all land will be greatly reduced, the opportunity of worthy farmers will be taken away and farm workers everywhere reduced to a condition of serfdom or peasantry as in most parts of the Old World.
The farm mortgage must not be permitted to become an instrument of oppression or bondage but it would be a sad day indeed for the independent farmer of moderate means if the useful functions of this tool of business should be permanently impaired or destroyed.
A Bungled Task.
Lincoln Journal: The state supreme court has once more convicted the legislature which sat for months ago in the year of bungling its task. It holds invalid two laws which levied a cent additional gasoline tax upon car users for the purpose of providing money with which to take care of relief cases and as a contribution toward old age pension fund. The court finds, just as did the federal supreme court in the NRA case, that the legislature had delegated its own authority to an administrative board, without providing rules or standards by which it might do its assigned task, thus leaving it to the arbitrary whim or discretion of the board. The court says that law-making cannot be done in that way, and that the legislature is forbidden by the constitution thus to delegate its powers.
In the case of the companion law the court found that the legislature had attempted to delegate to the congress of the United States its own legislative powers by passing a law that gave the federal supreme court in the NRA case, that the legislature had delegated its own authority to an administrative board, without providing rules or standards by which it might do its assigned task, thus leaving it to the arbitrary whim or discretion of the board. The court says that law-making cannot be done in that way, and that the legislature is forbidden by the constitution thus to delegate its powers.

bad advice, may find its acts nullified by a federal supreme court decision setting out the invalidity of what was done.
While the situation is somewhat complicated, two things are clear: The payment of the one cent a gallon added gasoline tax will be discontinued until the legislature again acts, and until a special session is called Nebraska will be unable to secure for those of its citizens who are eligible for old age pensions any government aid for the reason that its own appropriation for the purpose, with the gas tax money gone, is entirely inadequate to match the federal offer.
Pass On Pension Applications Here
Wayne county board, at regular meeting Tuesday, passed on a few old age pension applications. The board has passed on 140 of the 180 applications and sent these to Lincoln for final action.
National Historian Attends Convention

Head Of College Addresses Club

Plans For Corn Picking Contest In The County Are Discussed.

Wayne Young Business Men's club, at dinner meeting at Hotel Stratton Wednesday evening last week, heard a short talk by Dr. J. T. Anderson, new head of Wayne college. Dr. Anderson expressed a desire of the college to cooperate in every way possible with activities of the club, and also asked the club's cooperation in college affairs.

Coach W. R. Hickman showed motion pictures of last spring's commencement at Wayne college, also of fishing in Catalina channel and of Boulder dam.

The proposition to have a county corn picking contest was presented, and Ralph Beckenhauer, L. E. McClure and D. S. Wightman were named on a committee to promote this.

The club meets at the hotel next Wednesday when Ralph Beckenhauer and P. L. Briggs have charge of the program.

Football Squad Will Meet Lyons

When Wayne high school starts next week the Walden-coached Lyons team here this Friday in first football game of the season. Coach Robert Gibb will have a bunch of players who will try to give a good account of themselves.

The starting lineup for Wayne will average 150 pounds and all will have had one year of experience except Delbert Alderson. To solve the guard problem, placing boys who can both take it in the line on defense and get around in time to get into the offensive play, Coach Gibb will probably pick Ray Bonavitz and Buford Johnson. Who will call signals is still undecided, but Petersen seems to have

Now Is The Time To Buy a Home In Wayne

Loan Company owns 3 good, all modern homes in Wayne that can be bought very cheap and on terms like rent.

An opportunity you may never get again. Buy a good modern home and pay for it like rent and have something besides rent receipts.

No easier way to save, no safer investment. Prices going up. Loan companies will soon have all their properties sold and your opportunities will be gone to buy so cheap and on terms like rent. Don't put it off. The sooner you start paying for a home the sooner it will be paid for.

the edge on this and Barnett and Gildersleeve have good chances. Dale Alderson and Don Baker have the end positions, and Fleetwood and Delbert Alderson will place at tackle. Ahern, Sevy, Johnson and Bonavitz are lining up to get the call in the line, and Alan Nelson will handle center position. In the backfield will probably be Barnette, Robinson, Petersen and Penhollow, with Gildersleeve in reserve.

Coach W. R. Hickman will referee. Lyons last week defeated Bancroft by 25 to 0 so the game here should be good.

Silver Wedding Observed Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Walfred Carlson Entertain Many Relatives And Friends.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walfred Carlson was celebrated Sunday when the Carlsons entertained at dinner and supper in their home west of Wayne, also at an evening party with dancing and luncheon. A large wedding cake for the occasion was baked by Mrs. Charles Meyer, Jr. and Mrs. Oscar Ramsey. Blue and silver decorated the home, and the Carlsons received a number of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, the latter formerly Miss Esther Nelson, were married at Wayne September 21, 1910, and have lived at their present home since. Their seven children, Mrs. Russell Pryor, Donald, Dorothy, Walfred, Jr., Alvin, Clarence and Evelyn, and their grandchild, Beverly Jean Carlson, were present for the anniversary.

Dinner guests were the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nelson and family of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nelson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson and family, Mrs. Lena Hogelen and Emil, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Rehms and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stalder, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kardell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kartell, all of Laurel; Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. Gunnard Peterson of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nygren and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Nygren and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pryor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson and family of Dixon.

A large number of friends joined the group for the evening.

Being Treated In Canada Clinic

Evan Hamer of Carroll, who is receiving treatments for arthritis at Williamsburg, Ontario, Canada, writes that he is improving. He and Mrs. Hamer plan to be there about a month longer. Patients gather from all parts of the world, New Zealand, Cuba, Mexico, to receive treatments from Dr. Locke. The little city of Williamsburg and most homes within a radius of 10 miles house the health-seekers. The homes have ramps in place of steps so that the patients may be wheeled or may walk easily to them. The clinic is in a large tent which accommodates several hundred. In the center of the tent is a revolving chair and around this at a short distance is a circle of 15 chairs. The circle is approached through lanes of galvanized pipe, large enough to walk down and also large enough for a wheel chair. Dr. Locke sits in the center chair and when time is called for treatments the patients flock to the circle. The doctor treats them one by one, gripping their limbs and exercising the muscles to return them to normal. After one group has been treated the doctor treats another group. Mr. Hamer reports 2,000 patients there now.

Young Citizens Will Be Chosen

Two highest girls in each of the 13 districts. The World Herald brings the 52 district winners to Omaha, paying all traveling and hotel expenses. The final state examinations will be held Oct. 30 and 31 at the time of the Ak-Sar-Ben. Five boys and five girls will be named as Nebraska's outstanding citizens. Medals will be presented and the young folks will be guests at the Ak-Sar-Ben show.

New Projects Are Proposed

part-mutual betting required regulations about doping horses, etc. On the liquor proposition the extreme "wets," extreme "dry's" and middle course thinkers had to be satisfied.

The bills regulating child labor and old age pension were other important pieces of legislation.

The past legislature is known for passing the greatest number of bills and some of the most important in the state's history, stated the speaker, Mr. Biermann believes that calling a special session is unnecessary expense.

Dr. C. T. Ingham, president, referred Mr. Biermann's three proposals for Wayne county to the agricultural committee which includes H. B. Craven, W. A. Hiscop, W. D. Noakes and C. O. Mitchell.

F. S. Berry presided Monday when Dr. J. T. Anderson, G. B. Sanberg, Dr. J. E. Brock and S. D. Legge were received into the club. Prof. Clifford Bair directed music. Edwin Meldy sang "Wit's," by Bruno Hahn, and Mrs. Meldy accompanied him.

Prof. J. R. Johnson was a guest of Prof. Bair.

Sholes Man Dies In Tractor Mishap

Funeral services were conducted at Randolph Methodist church Wednesday last week for Sigfrid J. Landberg, 30, who was fatally injured September 14 when plowing with a tractor near Humboldt, Minn. Rev. David Simpson was in charge and burial was in Randolph.

Mr. Landberg, it is thought was riding on the tractor platform looking backwards so as to protect himself from a raw wind. He fell when the tractor was moving and his head was pushed forward by the plow with such force that he was strangled. He was dragged about 350 feet. Discovery of the young man's lifeless body was made about two and a half hours after the accident by men who were working in the vicinity.

Mr. Landberg was born January 20, 1905, at Sholes and was thus aged 30 years, 7 months and 24 days. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Emma Landberg, and three brothers, Swan, Charles and Helga, all of Sholes. His father died 25 years ago.

Miss Ruth Paden Visits Many Schools In Old Mexico During Past Summer

A month in old Mexico the past summer, studying the school systems of the country with special attention to the rural schools, was the interesting experience of Miss Ruth Paden, instructor in the Wayne college training school. Miss Paden was one of a group of 87 who toured Mexico with Miss Mabel Kerner of Columbia University as leader.

The entire time spent in Mexico was on the high plateau between the Sierra Madre Occidental and Sierra Madre Oriental ranges of mountains. Weather there is like fall or early spring in Nebraska.

The idea stressed in the rural schools of old Mexico is to make the school fit the needs of the Indian. Many of these people do not speak the Spanish language, only their native Indian tongue. Every person who attends the schools now must learn to speak the Spanish language, and every school must have its garden. Girls are taught to cook and sew and boys are taught how to work and the arts and crafts. Each school also has its theatre, many of them outdoors.

Schools Under One Head

The school system of the country is under one head. Teachers are chosen, not by their education and ability, but by the way they are able to fit into a community. Education or lack of it seems not to make so much difference, the idea being to have a leader first, and education may be gained eventually. Many of the schools have adult classes on certain days of the weeks and evenings. The school is a very important part of the life in rural communities.

In one of the schools where Miss Paden's group visited, a school made up entirely of the village police.

Miss Paden noted a great weakness in the lack of preparation on the part of the teacher. This was not only true of the rural schools but in the national normal and other normal schools visited. The group visited on excursions, including the University of Mexico, industrial schools, agricultural schools and the National Education Building in Mexico City. Any available building is used for school purposes—parts of old haciendas, cathedrals, monasteries; the state university was housed in a former university.

Visit Places in Mexico City

The party visited historical points in Mexico City, a huge old cathedral, the castle where Maximilian and Carlotta lived during the former's reign in Mexico, Chapultepec park. They had tea one afternoon with the American Ambassador.

An interesting visit was to the Zapati cultural mission, a training school for rural teachers. The school is named for one of the leaders in the revolution. The cathedral in Mexico City where the party visited is the largest in the western hemisphere, built by Cortez on the site of a heathen temple. The cathedral is in the oldest and most important part of the city, near the palace and markets. The national museum, pawn shop and Thieves' market, where plunder used to be taken for sale, were other points of interest in the city.

Motley Throng In City

People of the city from a motley throng, all nationalities, rich and poor, well-dressed and beggars pass to and fro on the streets. Two middle class weddings took place at the cathedral on one of the days when the party visited the city. The bridal procession was gay and colorful, vehicles bedecked with flowers.

People in the cities dress much as we do in this country but in the rural districts men still wear large hats and gay zerapes over dirty canvas trousers and jackets. Women wear the native rebozo or shawl about their heads. Costumes are quite colorful, especially men's. The Indian is not clean except when taught by the schools the value of cleanliness.

Homes are made of adobe, stone or straw, depending on the locality. There are many children. The Indian does not have a garden and the main articles of food are tortillas (small flat cakes), frijoles (beans) and pulque, the last named an alcoholic beverage made from the maguey plant. The Indian knew nothing of the value of vegetables in the diet until the schools insisted upon the raising of gardens. The use of chili and other highly seasoned foods is not so prevalent in the diet of the Indian as in the Spanish.

Indian Not Ambitious

"The Indian of Mexico is not ambitious and methods of agriculture are very primitive, in fact more primitive than any known race," Miss Paden observed. The people will raise some corn, beans and a few gourds; they are very backward and unprogressive but exceedingly gracious and polite to strangers.

Pottery, rugs and lacquer work of the Indians of the interior of Mexico are very interesting and colorful. Pottery, while not perfect in shape, is graceful as to line. Some of the rugs are fully as beautiful as those made by the Navajos.

The party visited the pyramid of the sun and moon and the floating gardens outside of Mexico City. The temple is pre-Aztec in workmanship and built on the order of the Egyptian pyramids with steps leading to the top, where human sacrifices were made. It is thought that the pyramids are foundations for an old temple. The floating gardens are a remnant of the ancient original. Boats, laden with flowers, come into the canal near the city to sell the flowers to tourists.

The party of which Miss Paden was a member met at Mexico City, many coming by boat from New York City and New Orleans and others by train. Travel on the plateau was by car and also by train.

son last Wednesday evening to help them celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hollman and family and Edna and Art Weisshauer spent Monday evening of last week in the John Weisshauer home.

The Harris Sorensen family spent Sunday evening of last week in the Carl Sievers home. They were at the Carl Petersen home at Carroll Tuesday evening of last week.

Clardy Harder and Leland Johnson visited in the Otto Hinrichs home Sunday evening of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hinrichs called in the George Harder home that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beck, Mrs. E. Granquist, Mrs. Julia Gildersleeve and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gamble and family spent Sunday evening of last week in the Clarence Beck home.

Lois Echtenkamp spent last week in the Ed. Echtenkamp home while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Echtenkamp, were at the Black Hills. They left Tuesday of last week to be gone a week.

Complete Cattle Test

Federal testing of cattle for T. B. was completed in Wayne county by Dr. C. W. Curl and his assistants. The test was 100 percent and the area will now be declared accredited. Dr. Curl went to Stanton county from here.

Many In Training

Prof. J. R. Keith reports a possibility of 85 students for band and orchestra at Wayne College this fall.

Instruments are being installed in the gondola at Rapid City, S. D., preparatory to another attempted flight to the stratosphere in October.

May Have To Escape From Chinese Army

A "Red" arm invading the interior of China may force missionaries and teachers to leave at any time, writes Miss Ovelia Hastings who visited in Wayne a year ago with her sister, Mrs. Carl Miller, now of Norfolk. Miss Hastings, who of Norfolk, Miss Hastings who, after being in Wayne, went to Chicago to receive a degree, is teaching in a girls' school in interior of China. She states in a recent letter that she has sent all her personal effects which she wishes to keep to relatives and friends by carrier as she may have to flee from the region any time. As the school is 50 miles from transportation she would have to be prepared to walk.

Former Wayne People In City

Margaret Schemel Contacts College Students While In New York.

While in New York City the past summer, Miss Margaret Schemel contacted a number of former Wayne people and enjoyed visiting with them. The Lyle Dowlings have been in New York a little over a year. Mr. Dowling is associated with Witmark's Publishing offices with headquarters at Rockefeller Center, Radio City. Mr. Dowling's work is with the publishing of music for educational purposes.

Despite Mr. Dowling's short time as head of his branch of work he is given great freedom in carrying out plans and is installed in his own office with private secretary, Mrs. Dowling is the former Miss Eleanor Brown, daughter of an Omaha surgeon, and spent the first 12 years of her life in New York City, where Dr. Brown lectured at Columbia university.

The Dowlings are pleasantly located in Yorkville, one of the oldest sections of New York City.

Miss Schemel also met Ralph Gansko of Madison, formerly of Wayne. Mr. Gansko has been in the city since the first of August of this year, and has sung on several touring programs—over radio stations in New York City and Brooklyn. He is a regular member of a choir which may be heard over station WOR, at 5:30 p. m. eastern standard time. Mr. Gansko recently received a contract with Schubert to appear in "Bitter Sweet" and "Rose Marie," to go on tour soon.

Miss Margaret Hoehne of Osmond, former Wayne student, and cousin to Merton and Dwight Farrow, college athletes well known here, will appear soon in the Max Gordon production, "The Great Waltz." Miss Hoehne's stage name is Margaret Fenroy. The play, "The Great Waltz," has had a two-year run in New York City and will go on tour after October 1. It is probable that the play will have a Christmas run in Chicago.

Miss Schemel attempted to contact Mrs. Merrie Ryskind, the former Miss Mary House, daughter of Dr. J. T. House, but discovered that Mrs. Ryskind was not at home at her Eighty-third street penthouse, but had gone to California with her husband and two children for a two-months' vacation. Mr. Ryskind is author of the musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing," which was shown on tour in Sioux City a few years ago.

Miss Schemel says a number of the popular plays and musical comedies in New York this past summer. She liked "The Great Waltz" in particular, a musical extravaganza based on the conflict between William Strauss and his son, Richard. The strongest play of the season, "Awake and Sing," is a drama of a Jewish family and life in the Bronx. "The Children's Hour" is also a strong play, with scenes laid in a Lesbian home. Another play which Miss Schemel enjoyed is "Tobacco Road," the story of life among the "po' white trash" of Georgia.

The Pulitzer prize play of the past year, "The Old Maid," is charming but super-sentimental. Box office receipts are excellent on this play and it promises a long run in the city.
