Social Security WHILE Dr. Townsend's proposed old-age pension plan is extravagant and impossible, there is nevertheless a rising demand for a practical government provision to take care of those who, through no fault of their own, are unable to take care of themselves. There are more individuals above 65 years of age in the United States, and proportionately fewer of them are employed. In 1870 there were one million older than 65. In 1900 the number had reached four millions, in 1930 six and one-half millions, and in 1975 it is expected to reach 21 millions.

Always persons have been urged with due warnings to provide for the proverbial "rainy days" and many are able to do so. All intend to look out for material comforts when earning power ceases, but many fail, often through too generous giving—letting more than discretion would suggest slip through easy fingers to help relatives and friends. Then, frequently in time the aged person finds himself unable to provide for himself, and then is when the government may well step in with a sound and workable plan to ease the burden.

One who has been unsuccessful in providing for old age, may have lived a life of distinct helpfulness to society. He may have given liberally of his earnings and effort to help build a better social order. He may have taken unwisely from his store for the benefit of others of for worthy public services. He may have been over-indulgent with loved kin. Anyway, a useful life goes into declining and helpless years without support. Thus, it would seem only fair for society as a whole to come to the rescue with a practical pension plan.

So, the call for a special session of the Nebraska legislature to convene October 28 to pass social security measures is rooted in a real need. There is evidently a growing demand for some form of insurance or pension for the aged, kept, of course, within the bounds of reason and free from unnecessary and burdensome government paternalism.

Governor Landon of Kansas and ex-President Hoover seem to be in the lead for next year's presidential nomination. Mark Sullivan says aversion to the present regime may bring a preponderance of support for a change if any good man is named. The majority voting for a change in 1932 is just as likely to vote for another change in 1936, and trust a new leader to stop wild spending, balance the budget, safeguard the country's currency and put the brakes on fanciful tendencies. A change which is not improbable in the light of the experience of the past few years, would insure preservation of the good and abandonment of the impractical and dangerous.

Editor Cramb of the Fairbury Journal, brands the theory that married women keep men and single women out of jobs as utterly unfounded. On the contrary, he maintains that the average married woman contributes enough constructive ability to a task to create jobs that would not otherwise exist. "Hundreds of men who are successful," says Editor Cramb, "owe their success in large part to some competent employee, who stays with the business through thick and thin, and very often such an employee is a married woman or an employee who started out as a single woman, but who married during her employment, and is so indispensable to the business that she cannot be discharged."

The Omaha Journal-Stockman invites Washington bureaus to avoid tangling one provision with another in extending relief to the farm business, making this suggestion: "Washington authorities have not yet decided on how much per bushel may be loaned on corn this season. They have been consulting agricultural opinion and find sentiment favorable to loans of 45 to 50 cents per bushel. Furthermore, these loans should be available to farmers who have not signed corn-hog contracts as well as to signers. In other words, federal corn loans should stand or fall on their merits as loans regardless of any influence they might have on the AAA program."

A contributor to the World Herald points out the glory of Saturday night's happy activities in the small towns with business houses aglow and astir as contrasted with metropolitan centers where big stores are darkened and silenced at 6:30. The contributor—evidently a city-bred fellow—is thrilled on observing the animation belonging to the weekly experience of rural communities. The big cities have advantages, but not the one that brings persons close together and keeps friendships cordial.

Veterans of the World war who are suffering disabilities and wrecked prospects on account of their services to the country, should not have to look for support outside of the government treasury. In addition, congress should see that all World war pension claims are paid from the nearly five billions of dollars entrusted to the president for relief. A share of the money could be used for no more worthy purpose.

We are relieved to know that no serious accidents resulted hereabouts from pheasant hunting over the week-end, and we hope care in handling firearms will continue the good fortune through the open season. Let everybody use his head in the pheasant pursuit and avoid turning the experience into irreparable tragedy.

Dr. Hans Olsen of Kearney, stated that the library is the most important department in any school. Miss Annie Kramph of North Platte, urged literature for "starving" minds. "We are highly literate but we need enthusiasm and care," she stated. "Let us give reading to all those who want it."

PEOPLE.
 In life's swiftly moving currents, with little to disturb the accustomed routine, one does not fully realize fine human qualities until a major trouble wrenches the soul. We find others, too, have drunk deeply of sorrow's bitter cup. We find others have been bent low by severed ties, and have had to carry on. We have had sharpened understanding of how others feel. A flood of sympathetic messages shows how wonderful are people—how the real ego searches for thoughts to relieve distress and inspire courage and hope. Hundreds have expressed confidence in the future—confidence based on carefully thought out premises—the product of experience and earnest study. We are comforted by assurances that memories will be accentuated and enriched as Time modifies the hurt. We believe only sparks of divinity could burst into such flames of sustaining expression. That is a revelation of immortality.

HALLOWE'EN.
 Halloween comes one week hence, and mischievous youths often accept it as the time to perpetrate pranks without care to avoid doing injury to citizens' property. It is no more lawful on Halloween than at any other time of the year to trespass on private ground and engage in destroying people's possessions. As an example, a year ago, two valuable urns were knocked from a porch and wrecked—vandalism of which no one should be guilty in this day of supposed enlightenment and fellow-consideration. We hope this year, impudently nature will restrain themselves to harmless fun—fun that will not afterward hold the consciousness of having done unprovoked damage to neighbors and fellow citizens. Those who cannot resist an impulse to harm others, should be assisted by an enlarged, alert and active police force.

To The Orient With Congress

Well, we are now on our way to the Philippine Island as a member of the Insular Committee of the United States house of representatives. We drove down to Columbia to catch the Union Pacific Portland Rose and met a lot of friends who came to say Bon Voyage.

Nebraska looks beautiful today. The leaves on the trees are beginning to turn red and gold. Corn is about ripe but most of it is rot, wet to pick although here and there farmers are out banging the ears of corn against the bang board. The last of the watermelons are on sale on the road sides for a nickel apiece. Fourth cutting of alfalfa is about done and they are stacking it now. Lots of big yellow pumpkins piled up along the corn shocks. Apple trees are bare of leaves. The harvest days are over. Nebraska is a much hay in the Elkhorn and Platte valleys in our lives. Cattle look fat. The herds are not big, but the quality of the cattle is great. Here and there big bunches of white faces getting fat. Some farmers are going to make some money. Lots of others with few hogs and no hogs won't make much money. Plenty of feed, but few hogs and cattle on some farms. Winter must be around the corner—the highway workers are putting up snow fences against the coming snow.

Trains are crowded. Three sections of the Union Pacific train going to the west coast. People must have some money because it costs to travel and we notice that most of the passengers are buying Pullman tickets. Columbus gas man tells us business is mighty good around Columbus with very few vacant houses to rent. The PWA power project around Columbus is attracting unusual attention. Gas man says, too, that business generally must be better. Says he never saw so many brand new cars—automobiles in his life.

Some kinds of folks traveling. Lady from Norfolk got on the train going to western Nebraska to look over her land which she says is all clear of encumbrance and will bring her good money if the corn crop is any good.

Albion lady and her mother on one section of west bound train going on vacation.

A mother superior of western convent is on the train. A beautiful character who has been visiting relatives in north Nebraska. It was the first time she has seen her own mother for seventeen years. The parting took place in Columbus.

The Portland Rose is a beautiful train. The club car is entirely modern and complete. You can get a shave or hair cut—any newspaper or magazine or any kind of mixed drink—if you have the money.

It was because of the importance of the inauguration of the new Commonwealth and because the Insular Affairs committee had begun working on problems of trade from the Orient that the Philippine Government invited members of our committee to go to the Philippines to officially attend the inauguration on November 15 and see for ourselves the conditions as they exist in these islands. The Filipinos pay the traveling expenses of the members of the Insular Affairs Committees from both the House and the Senate. There is to be a good will stop in Japan and China and a stop in Hawaii. There will be stops in the Aleutian Islands, in Yokohama, Tokio, Kobe, etc. Then to China with stops at Shanghai and Hong Kong and then down to Manila. There will be ten days of inspection of the islands and on the afternoon of November 15 the inauguration of the new Commonwealth. For ten years under the eyes of a United States high commissioner and with the ever Governor General or President, the Filipino people will go through a transition period. The stars and stripes will continue flying over the islands and the people there (14,000,000 of them) will continue owing their allegiance to the United States. When the period of ten years has elapsed—under the present plans—the Filipino people will get their absolute independence.

What the reason is for the reference to the glimpse of the Aleutian Islands can only be guessed at. You know we held naval maneuvers there not so long ago. The Japanese did not like that. There is much talk about fortifying those islands.

There are thousands of graves of Americans in the Philippine Islands. There are hundreds of graves of unsung heroes, graves of boys of yesterday who counted the days of their enlistment for the time when they would come back—boys who never came back. We know of lonely graves which have been visited by a boy of the Orient, who wanted to come back home. And we are going to pause and lift a prayer to the memory of many of these who we know there.

A United States senator is sitting alone across from the Nebraska congressman. He doesn't recognize the Nebraskan who met him in Washington. After awhile they get acquainted and discover they senator is watching the thousands of hay stacks west of Columbus. Wonder what this senator is really thinking about? We know what the Nebraska congressman is thinking about—it's about the folks at home and hoping that with them—everything is all right.

By the way we notice on the menu on this train that a beefsteak dinner costs $1.75—but they say it's a big beefsteak.

Christian Science Services. The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, October 27, is "Probation After Death."

The Golden Text is from James 1:12: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation, for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."

A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Ecclesiastes 11:3: "If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth; and if the tree falleth toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "This text has been transformed into a popular proverb, 'As the tree falls, so it must lie.' As man falleth asleep, so shall he awake. As death findeth mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change." (page 291).

Argentina Suffers Heavy Loss From Drouth And Pests

Drouth and locusts are causing heavy losses in Argentina, writes George Soden of Buenos Aires, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Soden of Wisner.

"We are still having drouth and now the locusts are getting bad. It doesn't look like the Argentine will have much grain and produce to export this coming year unless we hurry up and get some rain.

"The price of butter is about the higher per pound than in the United States. This is caused by the unusual drouth—the worst in 30 or 40 years. We left a drouth at home last year and got into another one down here. It is surely true that you have better crops this year. I am anxious to hear how much the corn turns out per acre.

"These locusts, which cause so much destruction are the large flying grasshoppers, the same as we have back home. The farmers do their best to try to get rid of them. After the eggs are laid everyone gets busy and plows as many of the eggs under as possible. Many times traps cannot be because of so many locusts on the plains, causing them to be greasy. Ripping, from the Buenos Aires paper tell something of the enormity of the pest.

"We visited the zoo in Buenos Aires. About every kind of animal, bird and reptile is there."

Wakefield Loses To Wayne High

Local Team Scores Friday Over Opponents In First Eight Minutes.

The last and exciting game Friday afternoon at Wakefield, Wayne high school football squad defeated Wakefield high school by a score of 6 to 0.

The win gave the Wayneites an even break on games won and lost for the year—at two won and two lost. Both wins were at the expense of conference opponents, and now Randolph alone stands in the way of a conference championship for the local boys.

The game at Wakefield was played on even terms throughout, and it was because of a fumble late in the first quarter that Wayne was able to push across the lone counter of the game.

Wayne boys with Robinson doing the heavy load of ball carrying, put the ball behind the last marker for six points and enough to win. Robinson scored on an off tackle drive from the three yard line.

The starting lineup for the game were: Wayne: Date, Alderson, E. Fleetwood, R. Bonowitz, D. Sevy, B. Johnson, Del Alderson, Baker, G. Gildersleeve, C. Peterson, M. Penhollow, H. Robinson. Wakefield: J. Keagle, Stupp, Schwidien, Killion, Carter, Scott, Dutton, Nuernberger, Paul, Keagle, Quimby.

Wayne played the fast Allen team Wednesday afternoon on the home gridiron, and will be in there battling for a third victory.

Wayne Woman Finds Sweden Clean And Well-Kept With Little Poverty

cleanliness and the well-kept appearance of buildings and yards in cities and country, were two things which most impressed Mrs. August Nyberg, nee of Mrs. E. R. Love, of Lincoln, who arrived home recently on a summer's visit in Sweden.

"Most of the homes have two living rooms—one for general use, and one which is used for "company." The Swedish people love to entertain and diners for guests are feasts which always last an hour and a half and sometimes more.

"The first course of a Swedish dinner is called "smorgasbord" and includes three kinds of cheese, three kinds of fish, hot meat balls, two kinds of anchovies and two or three kinds of bread. Plates are removed and fried or baked fish is served with dressing and hot potatoes and gravy.

"The main course follows this and consists of chicken or turkey, or roast of veal cutlet accompanied by potatoes and pickles. After these, plates are removed, a salad of vegetables or fruit is served. Dessert, the pride of the Swedish people in the form of an elaborately decorated "torte," completes the meal. For parties, orders for the torte are sent to the bakeries, as decorations almost never are made at home.

"After the dinner, coffee is served in the living room. At Swedish parties a chess collection is often served. A mild cheese is mixed with cream, a small amount of sugar and a little maple syrup, browned in the oven and served with linguinary sauce. The country has many cheese dishes. One of the favorites is a dish made by cooking cheese in the water of whey, which is left when the cheese is made. The cheese is boiled slowly for five hours. Shortly before removing it from the fire and when the liquid is almost evaporated, flour, cream and egg are added.

"People of Sweden never hurry when they work and are very thorough. They are healthy and rugged and enjoy life. Old people of the country are provided for generously. Modern homes are built for them where they have girls to do the work, and nurses to care for them in illness. Old people who are well enough to live alone get pensions from the government.

"People of Sweden dress just as Americans do. Those in the cities are more elaborately dressed than people of the country. One never sees men in dirty clothing going to work. In the evening after the work in the fields, men bathe and change clothing before the period of relaxation at the end of the day. "There are no flies in Sweden, and houses have no screen doors or windows. One is never bothered with mosquitoes," says Mrs. Nyberg. "The Swedish people love to bat out of doors in the summer time. Homes have lovely lawns with many flowers. Because of the amount of rain and absence of extreme heat, flowers grow much larger than here; sweetpeas and pansies were almost unbelievably large. Three or four gladioli make a good-sized bouquet.

"Winters in Sweden are not pleasant like the summers. Cold weather begins about the last of October and lasts until late in the spring. Snow does not come with a storm but falls easily, and there is much coasting and sleighing. At midsummer, from the middle of June until the middle of July, there is darkness for only two hours out of the 24. In some places in Sweden and Norway there is only 15 minutes of darkness. In the winter there is a steady cold but very little wind. From December 15 until about the first of February, the sun shines only about 6 o'clock in the afternoon and light does not begin until 8:30 in the morning.

"During the period of long darkness or in December and January there is no school for children; girls then learn to sew and embroider. School buildings are modern and well-built. Children are taught to be very polite and in the smaller places always greet their elders with bows and curtsies.

"Cities are kept beautifully clean and neat. Buildings are not tall as in this country; most of them are six, seven and eight stories high. There are two 13-story buildings in Stockholm. All trams, street cars and buses are run by electricity, and many of the city homes are heated by electricity, being cheap because of so much water power from the many lakes in the country. Most of the fuel is burned wood; this eliminating dirt from smoke. One seldom sees a frame house or building in the city.

"The king's palace of 600 rooms is in Stockholm. "That is something I do not like about Sweden," said Mrs. Nyberg. "Instead of the sons of the king and their families living in the main palace, other palaces must be provided for them.

"Mrs. Nyberg has three brothers and a sister living in Sweden. Franz, Axel and Herman Carlsson are the three Swedes. Herman Carlsson, her youngest brother, was born after Mrs. Nyberg left Sweden and this was the first time the two had met.

"When Mrs. Nyberg left on her trip to the old country she took a fast train to New York City, making the trip in two days. The ocean trip ordinarily takes only nine days but some time was lost through fear of icebergs. The boat carried 940 people, mostly Swedish people from America going to the old country for the summer. There was no lack of amusement on the boat. Picture shows, dancing and deck games made the voyage very short. Crossing was pleasant and Mrs. Nyberg enjoyed the boat trip.

"The title of the plaintiff and the purchaser at said subsequent foreclosure sale in and to the above described real estate, and to have said above named defendants and each of them adjudged to have no lien on or lien on or interest in said real estate or any part thereof. You are required to answer said petition on or before the 18th day of November, 1935.

"Notice of Settlement of Account. In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss. To all persons interested in the estate of Margaret E. Clark, deceased. You are hereby notified that on the 4th day of October, 1935, Rolfe W. Lay, administrator, filed his final account and petition for distribution of the residue of said estate, a determination of the heirs and for a discharge. Hearing will be had on said account and petition at the County Court Room in Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 25th day of October, 1935, at 10 o'clock a. m., when all persons interested may appear to show cause why the prayer of the petitioner be not granted.

"Notice of Special Election. Notice is hereby given that a Special Election to be held on Tuesday, November 5th, 1935, between the hours of 8 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. at the usual voting places in the various wards of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, the following proposition will be submitted to the electors of said city: Shall the Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, issue the negotiable coupon bond of said City, in the sum of $33,000 in denominations of $1,000 each, payable to bearer, bearing interest at the rate of four (4) per cent per annum, payable annually, to become due twenty years from date of issue, but redeemable and optional after five years from the date of issue, for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting thereon a Municipal Hospital and equipping the same and to levy and collect annually upon all the taxable property within said city a tax for the payment of the accruing interest upon said bonds, and for the payment of the principal thereof, when it shall become due, and to create a sinking fund for such purposes.

"The form in which said proposition shall be submitted, will be by ballot whereon shall be printed the above proposition and immediately below the same the following: For the issuance of $33,000.00 bonds to build a Municipal Hospital of said city and to levy a tax to pay the interest and principal thereon. Against the issuance of $33,000.00 bonds to build a Municipal Hospital in said city and to levy a tax to pay the interest and principal thereon.

"Dated this 9th day of October, 1935. (Seal) Walter S. Bressler, City Clerk.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

"Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936? In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine. Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance. The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design. Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families. A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "light" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other. An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers. It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.
