

High School Boys Lose Two Games

Team Meets Wakefield On Thursday And Norfolk On Monday.

Losing the first conference start in two years, the Wayne basketball team lost another close one to Wakefield last Thursday night, 20-17. Some good and some ragged ball was afforded the spectators, but all in all it was an exciting evening.

The Wayne boys led at the half 11-10, but relinquished their lead late in the game to trail 20-17 at the final blast of the whistle. Harry Robinson, ex-Wayneite, led the winner's attack along with Nuernbecker, both boys tallying six points apiece. The Wayne scoring was evenly divided.

The Wayne seconds were victorious 20-18. Monday night the Wayne team journeyed to Norfolk and came out on the short end of a 24-15 score. The game until the fourth quarter was anyone's ball game. However, Norfolk scored eight points while the locals failed to connect, and as the gun sounded McCauley sifted one through for a 24-15 count.

In a preliminary battle the Wayne seconds met their masters in the Norfolk reserves to the tune of 26-9. Plainview plays at Wayne Thursday night, February 27. This will be the last home game and incidentally will be a conference ball game.

Dramatics Class To Sponsor Contest

The dramatics class of the Wayne State Teachers College will sponsor a one-act play contest to be given in the college auditorium April 17 and 18. Letters of invitation to high schools are being sent this week and letters of acceptance are to be postmarked not later than March 15. Miss Florence Drake is college dramatics coach.

The contest sponsors will find it possible to accommodate 18 plays. The names of the plays to be presented, casts, time and place of play as contestants desire it to appear on the programs, also stage floor plans and lighting requirements must be submitted by April 1. Thirty-five minutes will be given to contesting schools for rehearsal on the auditorium stage before the actual performance. Free lodging will be furnished contestants who find it necessary to remain in Wayne overnight at the time of the contest.

The college dramatics class will present the play, "Cinderella Married," for the entertainment of guests.

Gayle McGee, debate and declamatory student, will judge a declamatory contest at Wajusa March 2.

All-Crop Harvester To Be Demonstrated

Grain shocks will soon join the grade and hand bundling as obsolete phases of harvesting if predictions of 150 Allis-Chalmers machinery retailers materialize. A new all-crop harvester, little larger than the combine, was introduced to machinery dealers at a two-day meeting in Omaha recently. The new harvester will be demonstrated in Wayne Saturday, March 7, when Carl Granquist, local dealer, and factory representatives plan a free motion picture and demonstration at the city auditorium that day from 12 to 4.

Motion pictures show the new harvester in operation cutting and threshing nearly every kind of crop except corn. Soybeans, timothy, wheat, oats, clover, rice and barley are among the crops harvested in one operation by one man. The harvester weighs 2,700 pounds and is powered easily by the Allis-Chalmers "WC" light tractor with power take-off. Though the machine cuts only a five-foot swath, it operates at high speed and will harvest 20 to 25 acres of grain per day. It features a full foot rubber faced cylinder and cutter bar adjustable for entangled or lodged grain.

The harvester is advocated for individual ownership by the farmer, having a minimum of 175 acres of small grain or beans. It is anticipated that in areas of still smaller scale farming, two or three neighbors can own it cooperatively.

Contest In March. Wayne county spelling contest will be held for grade pupils at the court house the last of March. Miss Pearl Sewell is making arrangements.

Junior High Will Present Concert

Junior high students of the Wayne city school will present a concert in the high school assembly this Friday evening beginning at 7:45, under direction of Edwin Melby, music instructor.

The junior boys' glee club will sing "Blow the Man Down," an American sailor chantey; "Just Smile" and "Nocturne" by Moore-Parks. The following numbers are selections by the third grade: Verse, Jacqueline Wigman and rhythmic band; "Jolly Coppertsmith," band; "Minuet" from "Don Juan," orchestra; dance, minuet; "Glow Worm," xylophone solo; dance, Lynelle Shuck and Marilyn Stratton; "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," band.

The sixth grade music class will present: "Lady April," Moore; "On the Levee," American folk tune; "A Trip to Egypt," Manney. The fifth grade harmonica band will play: "Home, Sweet Home," Bishop; "Oh, Susanna," and "Old Folks at Home," by Foster.

The junior high school boys' trio, Wilmer Ellis, Lyle Seymour and Billy Hawkins, will sing "Fishing" by Parks and "Boots and Saddles" by Samuel Whitecup-Powell. The junior high girls' glee club will present the following numbers: "Ojibway Lullaby," Indian Cradle Song, Hazel; "The Cuckoo Clock," Grant-Schaefer; "Maybells," Johns and "The Evening Star," Spencer. The public is welcome and there will be no admission charges.

State School Head Answers Questions

Supt. Rufus Cauwe received a letter from State Supt. C. W. Taylor of Lincoln, which answers questions at this time. The first question was, "May school be closed due to severe cold weather or impassable roads, so that schools having less than 176 days may still be permitted to share in the state apportionment?"

Supt. Taylor's answer is "yes." The second question was, "Shall teachers be paid for days when school is closed by order of the board of education due to severe cold weather or impassable roads?"

The answer is also "yes." Schools are entitled to collect free tuition for school tuition for weeks or fractions of weeks during which school was closed on account of severe cold weather or impassable roads?"

The answer is "yes, provided the teachers have been paid in full time."

Mr. Taylor further says, "Realizing that the present winter has been unusually severe, we will say that we believe reports may be accepted for less than 176 days of actual school, but such reports must be accompanied by a sworn statement signed by the secretary of the board of education setting forth definitely the reason for closing the school for additional days." This procedure is set up for 1935-36 only.

Wakefield Team Defeats Wayne

The Wakefield Trojans made it 5 wins in a row Thursday night when they defeated the Wayne high team 20 to 17 on the Wayne court. This win placed Wakefield and Wayne on even terms in the conference as each has lost one game.

At the end of the first period the score was tied 4 and 4. Wayne was leading 11 to 10 at half-time, but Wakefield had tied them 14 all by the end of the third quarter. However, the Wayne team could not equal the pace set by the Maroons the last quarter and the final score was Wakefield 20; Wayne 17.

Nuernberger and Robinson were tied for high point honors with 6 points each. Ahern, Nelson, and Bornhoft made 4 points each for Wayne.

The Wakefield seconds dropped the curtain-raiser to the Wayne seconds, 20 to 18, in a fast game. Hansen, with 7 points, with high scorer for Wakefield; George of Wayne collected 6 points.

Army Head Unhorsed

THE summary action of the administration in relieving Major General Johnson Hagood of his command in the United States Army because of his unfavorable criticism of the way WPA money had been passed around has aroused vigorous defenders of the officer. The general had not offered careless and uninvited comments on the WPA. He had been asked to testify before a congressional sub-committee and had been told to feel free to speak fully and plainly. He did so, and the result was a White House kick that landed him outside his official breastworks.

The general was nettled over the expenditure of WPA funds for things of little value and the difficulty experienced in obtaining funds for needed improvements or needed supplies. He expressed his best judgment as requested, and as a result he was unhorsed on the president's order.

Relieving General Hagood of his command is just another proof of the intolerance of administration forces in Washington. They want support even in conflict with honest conviction, and if they do not get it, they do not hesitate to exact revenge. Withdrawal of the marine band to fill an engagement before a patriotic gathering some time ago, because a speaker at the meeting had criticized administration policies, was another example of an intermittent fever of resentful pettishness.

New Deal Assumption

THE Saturday Evening Post deplores the disposition of New Dealers to arouse class hatreds, and to assume an attitude of superior righteousness. The president's suggestion that multiplied instruments of power, accumulated in the last three years by the Washington bureaucracy, might in other hands shackle human liberties, does not promote confidence. The administration's record of broken pledges is sufficient to justify suspicion. In its comment, the Post offers these concluding paragraphs:

"Indeed, the president's calm assumption that progress and civilization began in March, 1933, and that his mere assertion establishes what he has to say as a settled fact, are disquieting and disturbing statements to judicious people.

"Government is a complicated, piecemeal business, requiring infinite patience. Its practitioners, even the highest of them, should show a semblance of humility. The conviction that every criticism is dictated by unadulterated greed and selfishness, a superb belief in one's own complete righteousness, and similar delusions—these are surely not the mental attitudes and equipment which, in the long run, make for public welfare."

Simmons To File

ROBERT G. Simmons who made an unsuccessful race for the United States senate two years ago against Senator E. R. Burke, has announced his intention to file again.

J. H. Kemp Stops In Wayne Enroute To Stockton, Calif.

J. H. Kemp of Stockton, Calif., stopped in Wayne a few days this week enroute from Chicago and Milwaukee to his home in the west. Mr. Kemp attended a conference of general agents of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company in Milwaukee. The four-day conference was arranged as a contact between the home office and agents throughout the United States.

Mr. Kemp reports that his company is very optimistic over the progress made in the last two years, business showing substantial gains. The same is true in the state of California where business conditions have been gradually growing better, showing a healthy permanent recovery from the depression. Many Stockton merchants have found business in 1935 much better than in 1934; Christmas holiday trade in 1935 was better than any year since 1929.

There is still a great deal of Townsend sentiment in California. Mr. Kemp finds, but not so much as a year ago. The former Wayne man feels that in the impractical Townsend plan, the supposedly intelligent are deceiving the less well informed in an actual betrayal of the confidence of elderly people.

Stockton has had a very agreeable winter, says Mr. Kemp. Thermometer has been down to 28 or 30 above zero and the country had a few light frosts but no ice. Mornings and evenings have been quite foggy and rains have been normal or a little more than is usual. Hardy flowers have bloomed and winter wheat is prospering.

for the same office pitting himself against any who have similar ambition. In a statement which he has issued, he says the course of national government since two years ago justifies the position he took at that time, and concludes:

"I believe that we can solve the complex problems of agriculture, revive business, re-employ labor, care for those in need, restore our citizenship to real prosperity and maintain the forward march of liberal and humanitarian movements, all within our system of constitutional government. I shall strive for the solution of our political, economic and social problems upon a basis that will preserve to the individual citizen his liberty of thought, action and opportunity. To that end I pledge to fight side by side with an aroused and aggressive citizenship."

The doubtful advisability of holding one convention for nomination of city and school officers, preliminary to likely endorsement in April, will be reemphasized in Wayne on Friday evening of this week. Those who wish to participate in naming officers must necessarily attend the convention, or later get out petitions in lieu of a competing convention which latter must spring from a duly authorized source. If dissatisfaction follows action of one convention, the only way to express disagreement is through the circulation of petitions, for which there is ample time before the filing date is over.

Revealing the names of fellows who have written distinguished individuals' speeches is something new, and it leads one to believe extra value would attach to a speaker who is not dependent on leased brains. As a supplemental qualification, a political candidate or a fellow who essays the role of influential leadership should be mentioned as a writer of his own speeches. It is disappointing to hear one talk and then find out that some less conspicuous light had prepared his speech.

Inhabitants along the Bloomfield railway branch may well be thankful that they are not to be discontinued the line had not been carried out prior to the recent snow blockade. The railroad furnished fuel and other supplies when they were acutely needed. If railroads are to be discontinued there would have to be ample preparations to tide over periods of impassable roads or an arrangement with the weather to quit blizzarding.

The lives of both Washington and Lincoln have been liberally used to bolster up both sides in the conflict between New Dealers and anti-New Dealers. In any event, Washington gave himself over to the task of fashioning a democratic form of government and Lincoln led a tremendous struggle to preserve what had been fashioned.

In discussing prominent republican presidential candidates, Mark Sullivan thinks Borah's tendency to radicalism makes Landon and Knox seem conservative, whereas the records of both the Kansas governor and the Chicago publisher are at least very progressive.

Every city and county figures that since federal relief funds are available, it should manage to get its full share. It is assumed that what one does not get, another will get. And this policy of wholesale grabbing increases the total cost and piles higher the burden of taxes.

The tough winter which the country has endured, inspires anxiety for an early spring, and if prolonged severity is any indication of adequacy, this feeling ought to be realized.

If the story surrounding the dismissal of General Hagood is true, the "Square Deal" should be substituted for the "New Deal."

When Mr. Kemp came through February 15 but he did not particularly notice the abrupt change. The city of Stockton has a population of about 65,000 and has a deep water port despite the fact that it is situated 70 miles inland from the coast. The San Joaquin river was deepened and widened to form 90 miles of canal leading from Stockton to San Francisco. This port is a rapidly growing project, jointly financed by the federal government and the local community. Freight transportation to the coast via the canal has far exceeded the most optimistic hopes and the project has brought many industries and factories to the city. The growth of Stockton has been of the steady, healthful type, and not of the mushroom variety. The port is a small lake and dock facilities have been found entirely inadequate in the past few years, as have the warehouses and railway terminals.

"Fright going out of the Stockton harbor comes from as far as Oregon to the north and Bakersfield in the southern part of California. Commercial products are shipped out of the city at a great freight saving. The city is located in the San Joaquin valley and agricultural land is devoted to the production of dairy products, livestock, fruits of all kinds and nuts. Cotton and rice are shipped out of the Stockton harbor, the rice coming from the Sacramento valley and the cotton from farther south, near the Bakersfield territory.

Fruits raised in the Stockton country the past season brought excellent prices. Mr. Kemp states that livestock and grain prices are also higher.

Miss Kathryn, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Kemp, is now teaching in the Stockton schools, in the same building in which she took her practice teaching work before attending Pacific college. John Kemp is employed in his father's office and devotes some time each day to his music and cartoon work. Harry Kemp is a student in Pacific college.

Mr. Kemp now has the agency for all of the territory extending from the Oregon line as far south as Bakersfield and between the Coast range borders. His work takes him away from home a great deal of the time owing to the size of the territory.

Has Leg Cast Removed.
Paul Bertson has had the cast removed from his leg on which he had an operation some weeks ago. An infection had developed inside the bone. Paul has a brace on the member and will be obliged to use crutches for some time. He and his father, Carl Bertson, returned Sunday from Lincoln where they went Friday to see a specialist.

Wayne Hospital.
Larry Cople of Rosalie, surgical patient, was dismissed Friday.
Mrs. Alfred Nordstrom of Wakefield, was admitted Sunday for medical care. She was dismissed Tuesday.
E. Telander of Wakefield, medical patient, was dismissed Saturday.
Mrs. John Ulrich of Wayne, medical patient, is improved.
Miss Valetta Fredrickson of Carroll, who had an appendicitis operation Monday, is getting along well.
Mrs. Kate Fox of Wayne, is improving.

ROOM AT TOP.

There is room higher up for everyone to be usefully employed, according to an editorial in a recent issue of the Journal of the National Education Association. "Personal excellence and attractiveness are important as a foundation for employment of any kind," says the Journal, in enumerating requisites. In the teaching field, the demand for thoroughly competent leadership is never over-supplied. For more individuals of vision and integrity to lead in the solution of public problems. By proper functioning of "high-minded men and women," suggests the Journal, politics could be lifted to "one of the noblest and most appreciated callings." Higher standards of journalism are stressed as a demand which invites talented and ambitious youth. The writer points out plenty of room at the top for one to find ample reward in exchange for effort in behalf of the public good. Growth of co-operative movements in fields of agriculture encourages youth so inclined to look that way with high hopes. Servicing our millions of motorists with assurance to automobiles with moderate cost offers an increasingly big field for employment. Efficiency and good faith in every line of endeavor—in every responsibility undertaken—are stressed by the writer as ways to satisfy increasing demands and solve problems of unemployment. The writer is convinced that the top is always beckoning and is never satisfied.

Wayne Defeated By Nebraska B

University of Nebraska B team defeated the Wayne State Teachers College players in a basketball game Monday afternoon at Lincoln by a score of 35 to 30. The Lincoln team led at the end of the first half by a score of 20 to 10.

Late in the second period the Wayne team pulled even with the Lincoln boys with score 26 to 26. In the last 20 seconds of play Carl Hopt of Lincoln made two baskets winning the game for the B team.

Miss Dewitz Directs Chapel Program

Miss Esther Dewitz, physical education director for women at the Wayne State Teachers College, had charge of the chapel program yesterday morning. College and training school groups gave folk dances. Prof. J. R. Keith directed the quarter in selections at the opening of the chapel period and again at the close.

The following program was arranged: Highland schottische, college girls; shoemaker dance and Danish dance of greeting, first and second grades of the training school; newsboys' clog, fifth and sixth grade boys; Dutch couple, college girls; "Carousel," third and fourth grade boys; "Peas Porridge Hot," third and fourth grade girls; "Crested Hen," third and fourth grade boys; tap, third, fifth and sixth grade girls; "University High," fifth and sixth grade girls; "Lili," college girls in costume.

CRITICISM.

Complaint is made that abuse of the New Deal may react to the strength of the administration. Three years ago the president invited constructive criticism. Pointing out violations and other weaknesses would seem to be "constructive." If that sort of criticism treatment hurts, it may be construed as abusive by the victim, though highly necessary to warn the public and escape future trouble. When the president in his annual message on the "state of the union" harangued the nation on "intrenched greed" and other alleged evils—attacking those who have dared to uncover serious defects in Washington planning—he took the lead in expressions of bitterness which his satellites are disposed to capitalize as the campaign opens. Of course, ugly invectives or unsupported insinuations should be avoided by both sides, though neither side should accept a revelation of damaging facts as abuse—as unwarranted attack. In a campaign with our form of government at stake, facts—often astounding facts—will not always be handled in the gentle, neighborly fashion which the president urges and relishes if it is manifested in his behalf.

Four Girls Are Chosen In County

Wayne D. A. R. chapter and faculty members of four high schools in the county selected the following girls for competition in the state Ruth Bryan Owen good citizenship contest: Wilma Jones of Carroll, Clair Timlin of Sholes, Geraldine Gamble of Wayne high school and Marilyn Glenn of Wayne Training school.

Selections as made by students of the high schools of the county included the three most outstanding girls in the senior class, final selection of the most representative of the three being made by faculty members and the Daughters of the Revolution.

Students' choice in the four high schools was as follows: Wilma Jones, Lorraine Frances and Lucille Rees of Carroll; Clair Timlin, Elvira Bortling and Gladys Tietgen of Sholes; Geraldine Gamble, Peace Kingston and Marian Jean Dean of the Wayne high school; Marilyn Glenn, Mattie Seace and Eleanor Owen of the Wayne Training school. Winside superintendent declined invitation to make selections from that school.

Final selections were sent to Lincoln by the D. A. R. chapter, competitive drawing to be made later. The winner will be given a free trip to Washington, D. C.

Wakes Long Drive To Serve At Rites

Funeral rites were held at Pierce Saturday and burial was in Allen Sunday for Mrs. R. N. Johnston, nearly 31, who died Tuesday last week from pneumonia at her home in Pierce. Mrs. Floyd Kingston and E. J. Way, cousin and uncle of Mrs. Johnston, and Miss Zula Johnston, sister of Mr. Johnston, went to Pierce from Wayne and remained for the funeral and committal. Floyd to serve as pallbearer. To make the 100 miles between Wakefield and Allen he was obliged to drive 165 miles, going from Wakefield to Omaha, Oakland, Rosalie and South Sioux City. The Wayne folks returned Sunday evening.

Mrs. Johnston, whose maiden name was Miss Mable Way, was born at Waterbury, Neb., April 12, 1895. After finishing high school, she attended Nebraska Central college where she was graduated in 1925. She was married to Roy N. Johnston May 24, 1927. They moved to Pierce in 1933. Mr. Johnston has been in Wayne much as Pierce agricultural agent and Mrs. Johnston visited her often.

Deceased leaves her husband and three children, Willard, 5, LeRoy, 4, and Leonard, 2, also her father, F. N. Way, of Waterbury, and one sister, Miss Frances Way, who attended Wayne college first semester of this year.

Making Of Flag Given At Library

Pupils of the second grade of the city school gave a play presenting the story of the making of the first flag Saturday at story hour in the library. Miss Ruth Ross was director and announcements were by Elizabeth Bonawitz. Characters were in colonial costume. Jack Fitch was George Washington, Elsie Benthaek was Betsy Ross and Norman Lee Rockwell was Robert Morris. Others taking part were Lynette Shuck, Lorraine George, Jessie Lou Pile, Jeanne Longe, Cleone Heine, Johnny Hawkins, Charles Surber, Virgil Stolze and Leland Asay. About 120 attended. Next Saturday at 1:30 stories for older children will be told by several college girls.

Transfer Bank To State Head

ent are fictitious. Dismissal of the suit would dismiss the confusion, he stated. The Hoskins bank liquidation could be wound up in a month. Luikart's salary from this bank is only $2 a month. Attorney's fees and other expenses for transfer would be much more costly, running into several thousands of dollars, he stated.

The legislature created judicial receiverships to localize the liquidation and thus work for the interests of the bank creditors. Mr. Radke cited several other court decisions to show that the court has judicial discretion in the matter, changes not being made except for some misconduct or other cause. No such was charged against Luikart. The court makes the most competent appointment advisable. With political elections at intervals, the possibility of changing agents is not for the best interests of the banks, Mr. Radke argued. Under judicial receivership one responsible person has charge until the bank affairs are concluded.

The banking board has always existed, Mr. Radke continued, the only change being in name. If the receiverships were thought best managed in the judicial system before the new banking procedure, he argued, the same is true now. Courts have held the judicial plan the best for the creditors in many instances and the Hoskins case is parallel, he concluded.

For Banking Department.
Presenting the case for the state banking department, Robert Moodie of West Point, special counsel employed by Attorney General Wm. H. Wright, argued that the attempt is not to cloud the record of Mr. Luikart and not to play politics, but that the state banking department, created as it is now by legislative act of 1933, is to act as supervisor for going banks and as a receiver and liquidating agent for failed banks. People of Nebraska believe that the state is responsible for these banks. Mr. Moodie thus argued that since the law intends the department should have control and since the people hold the department responsible, the administrative department should have charge.

Mr. Moodie also contended that the state department could save money on the receiverships. "It would save the salary of receiver. It also saves duplication of bonds for the judicial receiving agents and banking department. It often closes up liquidation actions when usually more could be realized for creditors by not forcing action too soon."

"Two families can't live under one roof successfully," Mr. Moodie argued. Jealousy, inefficiency and excessive cost would cease, Mr. Moodie stated, with the state department in charge, and interest of the depositors would be served best.

Mrs. George McEachen went to Bancroft Saturday afternoon for the funeral of her uncle, Ott Cople. Mrs. McEachen returned to Wayne the first of the week.

Rites Yesterday For W. E. Bruner

Last rites were held here yesterday afternoon at the Beckenhauer chapel for W. E. Bruner, brother of Mrs. J. H. Spahr of Wayne, who passed away in a San Francisco hospital February 18 after a long illness. Masonic committal was made in Greenwood cemetery.

At the time of his death, deceased was aged 59 years, 5 months and 1 day. In the early nineties he came to Nebraska with his parents from Taylor, Iowa, and settled on a farm near Wayne. A few years after the death of his father in 1900 he and his mother moved into Wayne. He went to the west about 30 years ago.

He was married November 18, 1909 to Miss Cordia Kinney of Masonic, Calif. His wife passed away the following March. Deceased was called to Wayne in January, 1921, by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Carrie Bruner, who passed away March 18 of that year.

Mr. Bruner leaves two sisters, Mrs. Maude Spahr of Wayne, and Mrs. Edna Perkins of Des Moines, two brothers-in-law and a number of nieces and nephews.

Brother Of Wayne Woman Dies February 18 In California

stitutional convention met, paying-living was land poor, unable to pay his debts nor collect from his debtors and forced to sell his land to meet his obligations.

"The supreme court is fair," Mr. Berry went on. "The moratorium law of Minnesota is unconstitutional. While the AAA did a great deal of good for the country, it was a dole, and there is nothing in the constitution giving congress the right to regulate agricultural growth."

Mr. Berry gave an example of regulating the making of automobiles, stating that if the constitution stands in the way of progress and administration of justice, it should be adjusted. The people have already given executive power and the government the right to tax them as it desires. "The situation in congress today," he said, "is that power feeds on power, as it always has. Congress desires to please people and give them what they want. In the last 100 years 62 laws have been passed out of 2,500 submitted and of the 62, 20 have been declared unconstitutional."

"People of the country must be careful to observe the saying 'When things go wrong, don't go wrong with them.'" Mr. Berry suggested: "We must keep our feet on the ground, study things and find the correct answers."

sired his country to be democratic. The states then elected delegates to the country's capitol and wrote a new constitution, ratified by the people.

"Half of the men at the assembly were college graduates and the mass composed of men from every walk of life—men who knew the country's history, its strength and its weakness. They knew the articles of confederation and they also knew that the government needed more power than was given it by these same articles. They knew the weakness of a pure democracy and wanted to strike a medium between two extremes. The assembly gave the government just power enough to function. The new articles established a postal department, a bureau of commerce, provided for an executive to enforce the laws and established a judiciary department," Mr. Berry explained.

"The finished constitution was accepted by the assembly and later submitted to the states for ratification. The states had had their own constitutions before the country was formed into the United States. Articles appeared in magazines and newspapers giving reasons for and against the adoption of the constitution. When the con-asked for $10, saying he wished only enough to partially help relieve his children who sacrifice to care for him. The county board recommended $25 for him. Mr. Gabler is especially keen and was able to fill in every one of the many dates requested on the application. He is active and is down town each day even in coldest weather. He is independent and likes the assistance so as not to burden his family.

All persons receiving pensions are 65 years or over. Wayne county board took into consideration any income of the applicants when making recommendations for pension. These ranged between the two extremes of figures. The average of the first group of 21 in Wayne county was $19.85. The recommendations of the county board divided the monthly amounts as follows: Two for $5, one for $12, fifteen for $15, one for $18, twentytwo for $20, two for $23, seven for $25, one for $27, six for $30.

Pensions here go to widows, widowers, invalids, persons who have had financial reverses and those who have been handicapped by illness. They bring smiles to eyes filled with tears in most cases.

The first pension application approved by the state board was that of George Schneider, 77, of Arapahoe, who gets $16.25, says he will pay his "honest debts" with his pension money.

Ben Hafer, 79, of Geneva, was the first Nebraskan to receive a pension check. He got $17.50 last Saturday.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, March 1. The Golden Text is from Isaiah 9:6: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder." A passage from the Bible in the lesson sermon is from Isaiah 42:1: "Behold my servant, whom I uphold; mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my spirit upon him: he shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles." A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Jesus was born of Mary; Christ is the true idea voicing good; the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness. The Christ is incorporeal, spiritual,—yea, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth, and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease, and death." (page 332). St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. Wm. Kearns, pastor) Sunday, March 1: Mass at the Wayne, church at 9 a. m. Catechism after mass. Services in the evening at 7:30. If preferred, dinner may be taken in the evening and the light luncheon at noon. 4. When meat is permitted, flesh meat and fish may be eaten at the same meal. 5. The use of eggs, milk, butter and cheese is allowed at the principal meal and at luncheon or supper. Drippings and lard may be used in the preparation of all food. 6. The law of fasting binds under pain of mortal sin all Catholics who have completed the twenty-first year, until the completion of the fiftieth year. 7. The following persons are exempt from fasting: (a) young people, who have not reached their twenty-first birthday. (b) Aged people, who have reached their fiftieth birthday. (c) Persons performing severe and exhausting physical or mental labor. (d) The sick, convalescents, persons in delicate health, pregnant women and mothers nursing infants. (e) In general, all persons whose health would be impaired by fasting, or whom fasting would render unfit to perform their ordinary occupations. 8. The law of abstinence prohibits the eating of flesh meat and broth or soup made of meat; it does not forbid eggs, fish or cheese; nor does it forbid seasoning with the fat of animals. 9. The law of abstinence is of obligation for all Catholics who have completed the 7th year of age, until death. 10. Reasons which may justify exemption from the law of abstinence are: Sickness, delicate or feeble health, convalescence, exceptional conditions of labor and honest inability to procure meatless fare. 11. On Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during Lent, except Ember Saturday and Holy Saturday forenoon, the use of flesh meat is permitted, but once a day, namely at the principal meal. 12. On Sundays there is neither fast nor abstinence; hence flesh meat may be taken by all at all meals. Those excused from fasting may eat meat more than once a day on all meat days. 13. By special indult of the Holy See granted to the Bishop of Omaha, we permit working people and their families, who cannot easily observe the general law of the Church, to eat meat at one meal on all days of the year, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday of Holy Week, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and the Eve or Vigil of Christmas. This does not include exemption from the obligation of fasting, except as mentioned in number 7. Persons excused or dispensed from fasting may, however, eat meat more than once a day on the days exempted from abstinence by this indult. (Indult June 13, 1932. 14. Soldiers and Sailors actually in the service of the United States, whether in the field or barracks, as well as their families, if living with them, are permitted to eat flesh meat on any day of the year, except Ash Wednesday, the Eve or Vigil of Christmas, the Vigil of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, Good Friday and the forenoon of Holy Saturday. When in doubt as to their individual obligation of fasting or abstinence, the faithful are directed to consult their Reverend Pastors, who have the power of dispensing in particular cases (Canon 1245). Our attitude towards the law of fasting and abstinence should be

MAN IS KILLED BY SNOW PLOW

County Officers And Rail Officials Give Opinion After Investigation

Circumstantial evidence leads to the conclusion that Seth McAlexander, Carroll section man, met death accidentally Tuesday afternoon, February 18, at about 2:45, according to County Attorney Burr Davis, acting as coroner, and Sheriff J. H. Pile, who arrived home Thursday morning after investigating the scene of the accident. Railroad officials are of the same opinion, the county officers state. No inquest was made.

According to opinion of the officers, McAlexander was walking northwest, facing the wind, and had his head well buried up because of the intensely cold weather. He was on the north side of the track and was near an open place, there being no deep snow on either side. The snow plow was also going northwest and had just broken through a deep bank of snow before reaching the scene of the accident, so it is likely, the officers state, that the plow was covered with snow and that the air was filled with the flying snow as it came to the place where McAlexander was walking. McAlexander was thrown 20 feet ahead and 20 feet to the right of the place his footsteps were last visible. He was lying in a ditch which was filled with snow to the level of the ground when the passenger train crew and a searching party found him at 9 o'clock in the evening. His skull was fractured and a leg broken, resulting in instant death. Mr. McAlexander's feet and hands had frozen.

Deceased had left Tuesday afternoon about 1 o'clock to walk on the track toward Sholes and on his return to clean off the railroad crossings after the snow plow had passed over the line. He was near the end of his trip west, about a mile and a half east of Sholes, when the fatal accident occurred. The passenger train brought Mr. McAlexander to Wayne the night of the accident. The Hiscox service took the body Friday afternoon by car to Carroll where it lay in state until Saturday afternoon at 2 when services were conducted at the Methodist church with Rev. J. H. Fowler in charge. Burial was in Carroll cemetery.

The church double quartet sang "The Old Rugged Cross," "Saved In Grace" and "Sweetly Resting." In the group were Supt. and Mrs. C. L. Jirank, Neal Grubb, Miss Jean Williams, Miss Evelyn Gaskill, Miss Susan Love, E. J. Davis and D. L. Hiller. Mrs. Tom Roberts was accompanist.

Pallbearers were Clifford Hulbert, Jerry Frahm, Robert Rinehart, Lawrence Cook, Chris Peterson and John L. Laurie.

Many relatives and friends gathered at the church to pay tribute to Mr. McAlexander who was highly esteemed in the community. Mr. McAlexander had been employed on the railroad for nine years and had been located at Carroll for eight years.

Seth McAlexander, son of Sherman and Cora McAlexander, was born May 27, 1902, at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and was thus aged 33 years, 8 months, and 21 days. In the year 1917 he came with his parents to a farm east of Carroll. Here he grew to manhood and in 1923 he married Miss Gladys Beaton. To this union were born two children, Lois, 12, and Phyllis, 6. Besides his wife and daughters he leaves, the following sisters: Mrs. George Young of Magnolia; Mrs. Clyde Thomas of Omaha; Mrs. Wade Conkling of Buda, Ill.; Mrs. Lewie Uhler of Omaha; Mrs. F. W. Delozier of Auburn and Mrs. Leonard Young of California. One sister, Mrs. John Sayers of Stanton, preceded him in death.

School At Sholes Has Good Record

Through the stormy weather of the past few weeks the Sholes school has been able to have school all but two days, this being due largely to faithfulness of patrons in bringing their children to school by sled and horseback. Supt. Willis Jekler and Miss Martha Crockett, Miss Beatrice Tift of Carroll, Miss Myrnie Larson of Randolph, and Miss Edna Tuning of Allen, members of the Sholes faculty, were home Saturday and Sunday this week, the first time in a month that they had been gone for the week-end. They went by train.

Miss Crockett is preparing an operetta to be presented in Sholes school in three or four weeks.

Ted Shawn Dancers Stopped By Drifts

Snow-drifted roads prevented arrival of the Ted Shawn dancers, scheduled to be in Wayne on the college lyceum course Wednesday evening last week. The company reached Wisner by car at 5 o'clock and started to Wayne, reaching within 12 miles of Wayne. They were obliged to turn around and go to Norfolk where they tried to get a special train to come to Wayne. The budget committee arranged for the dancers to come in May.

Frozen Members Show Improvement

Doctors will be able the last of this week to determine whether or not it will be necessary to amputate the toes on one of Murray Powers' feet which were frozen week before last while he was doing snow shoveling. Improvement is shown but the flesh will have to replace itself on the frozen toes. If this takes place without blood poisoning setting in, it will not be necessary to remove the toes.

Blow Torch Causes Fire On Thursday

The use of a blow torch in thawing water pipes at the Rev. J. A. Paddock home on East Sixth street was the cause of a fire which broke out in the kitchen of the home about 10:30 Thursday morning. Firemen had to cut through a wall in the kitchen to put out the blaze which had started between the walls. No damage was done to the house other than that in the kitchen.

Ordinances of Bygone Days Care For Emergencies In City of Wayne

The first county board meeting was held in Wayne February 18, 1884 when the board of trustees appointed by the county commissioners February 2, 1884 met at the office of the county clerk and were duly sworn in according to law. The following were present: R. B. Taylor, James Brittan, John T. Bressler, and A. B. Slater; absent, Henry Meyers.

A. B. Slater was on motion elected chairman; A. P. Childs was named as clerk; A. A. Welch, corporation attorney; Thomas J. Steele, treasurer, all to serve without salary. Ordinance number 1 passed by the village board fixed the time and place for holding meetings.

City clerk was directed to buy a record book. The board decided that all ordinances be published in the Logan Valley Herald at the March, 1884, meeting Charles Johnson was named to fill a vacancy caused by the absence of Henry Meyers.

Ordinance number 2 is entitled "An ordinance to license and regulate shows and traveling entertainments in the village of Wayne." An ordinance passed March 21, 1884, provides for a system of licenses for peddlers, vendors of goods or other valuable things, for auctioneers and fixing a penalty for violation thereof.

Thomas J. Steele and 19 others appeared before the board presenting a petition for sidewalks. The board authorized the building of a sidewalk four feet wide of inch fencing to be laid upon three 2x4 stringers.

Trustees of the town were named April 12, 1884 as follows: A. B. Slater, John T. Bressler, L. C. Dearborn, E. R. Chace and Charles Johnson. At a following meeting Frank M. Northrup was named to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. T. Bressler.

On April 19, 1884, ordinance number 12 was passed regulating license and sale of "malt and spirituous liquors" within the limits of Wayne to prevent the giving or selling of liquors to persons in an intoxicated state and the sale of liquors on election days and Sundays.

On November 1, 1884, John O'Hara was named as street commissioner at a salary of $9 per month and also city marshal at a salary of $1 per month.

Treasurer's report of April 18, 1885, follows: Received $2,376.69; paid out vouchers, $2,371.24, leaving a balance of $5.45 in the village treasury. Tax levy in 1885 was fixed at 10 mills.

J. D. King was the village clerk in 1886. John Connor and Thomas Wachob proposed an ordinance November 6, 1886, for the better observance of the Sabbath in Wayne.

Trustees named in April, 1887, were: W. J. Perry, Henry Ley, W. N. Love, F. A. Dearborn and W. H. Linn. The city entered into contract May 1, 1887, to dig three wells on Main street. On June 3, 1891, the city voted to issue bonds in the sum of $18,000 for waterworks, these to come due in 20 years at the rate of 5 per cent.

Ordinances passed by the city council of Wayne in years gone by have all, at one time or other, met a definite need though some of them today are amusing. In a little pamphlet entitled "Ordinances of a General and Permanent Nature Governing the City of Wayne," Printed and Published by Authority of the Mayor and City Council of the City of Wayne, are assembled ordinances which are still in effect.

Ordinance 256, the first in the pamphlet, has to do with "Animals Running at Large," making it unlawful for any person to allow, permit or suffer any horse, cow, steer, sheep or other domestic animal to run at large within the city.

Another is: "Any person riding, driving or coasting in any vehicle, baby carriages excepted, on the sidewalks of the city of Wayne, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." Likewise "any person spitting or expectorating upon sidewalks or upon the floor of any public building within the corporate limits of the city of Wayne shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor."

Under nuisances is included the following: "Snow, ice or other accumulation upon the sidewalks of the city of Wayne, shall be declared a nuisance."

New York Players Are Here Friday

About 600 attended the play, "Accent on Youth," presented Friday evening by Ethel Barrymore and an all-star cast from New York at Wayne auditorium. The club's share of proceeds amounted to $52.44 and the club's expenses were about $56. The federal tax amount was $21.40, and the players share was $209.76. The total proceeds were $283.60. The company came from Lincoln Friday by car and left Saturday morning for Kearney where they played that evening.

Rev. Mills Speaks To Business Club

Addresses Young Men On Life Of Kagawa, Noted Japanese Christian.

Rev. Faye C. Mills, pastor of the Wayne Methodist church, addressed the members of the Young Business Men's club last week Wednesday evening on the life and work of Kagawa of Japan, one of the world's leading contemporary authors, labor leader and social workers of the Orient. Kagawa is also a Christian evangelist and is referred to as the greatest Christian of the day. The Japanese was in Omaha and Lincoln recently on a lecture tour.

Kagawa became a Christian after attending an English Bible class in an American mission high school in his native land, later attending a seminary in America. When Kagawa first began preaching in Japan, government officials were very suspicious of his motives and detectives were constantly on his trail, attending his meetings and watching his every move. The Japanese government finally woke to his true worth, and the work he is doing in America on medical cooperation and health insurance, is now partially financed by Japan. Kagawa now stands as a bulwark against the communist movement in Japan through the Consumers' Cooperative and through his Christian work. He is an anti-violence man, much loved by the poor, the lower classes and the submerged of his country.

The spirit in which Kagawa works is vastly different from the communist trend. When he preaches in Japan the crowds are so great that the churches, charge admission, the sums realized used for assisting the poor.

Rev. Mills told of the writings of Kagawa stating that his books are always best sellers in Japan, so much so that by a gentleman's agreement, book merchants release them at a certain hour only. His writings deal with sociology, fiction, religion and philosophy; his newspaper articles are syndicated throughout the country. His first book was written as a student in a little fishing village where he had gone to recover from tuberculosis and was an autobiography of his own life. The book was published several years later and immediately became a best seller, going through 300 editions. The book was a novel rather than a treatise. His latest book is called "A Grain Of Wheat." Much of his work has been translated into the English by his secretary, Kagawa's first important book was called "The Psychology of Poverty."

Recently Kagawa became interested in getting his government to pass a slum clearance bill in Japan, this to be effected in the five largest cities of the country. Kagawa, himself, is at the head of the social settlement work in three cities of Japan any one of which would be a larger job than an ordinary man could care for.

Kagawa came of a wealthy and influential Japanese family but was brought up and disinherited by his parents when he threw aside the traditional religion of his ancestors to become a Christian. He could be a man of great wealth today from his book sales and through his lectures but his money is used for the poor of Japan. Kagawa shares all with his people and during his early slum life once shared his bed with a beggar, contracting trachoma from which he has suffered since, at times almost blind. "His title as the greatest Christian of today is earned through his absolute unselfishness," concluded Rev. Mills.

Young men of the club had a discussion of business and preliminary reading of a list of names for club membership. Merrill Mulready of Norfolk, college student played piano numbers.

District Judge Mark Ryan issued a permanent injunction restraining the Jackson school board from interfering with the federal farmstead children's going to the Jackson public school.

Among the road projects being considered for this spring is grading and graveling of the road north of Dixon connecting the old No. 20 route with the new No. 20 pavement. The three miles will cost about $25,000.

College Teacher Prepares Program

Wayne High School Enjoys Specially Arranged Events In Week

A patriotic program prepared by Miss Verna Elefson, history instructor at the Wayne State Teachers College, was given in the city high school assembly Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Miss Elefson talked on the characteristics of some of America's great leaders—the versatility and practical side of Benjamin Franklin; the progressive side of George Washington, his courage and his willingness to listen to the opinions of others before arriving at sound conclusions; Thomas Jefferson and his high ideals, his appreciation of the rights of American citizens; the great depth of sympathy of Abraham Lincoln, his fearlessness in carrying out his convictions.

Miss Elefson read a letter written by Lincoln five years before he became president of the United States, speaking of the problems the leaders of the country would have to solve. Miss Alice McGreggor sang an early American song written by one of the country's first composers, "My Days Have Been So Wondrous Free." She also sang one verse of "America" and the French national anthem. Miss June Barta gave a talk on Kagawa, Japanese Christian leader. Miss Barta described Kagawa's personal appearance and told of his devotion and sacrifice for the needy of his country. She explained his theory of the cooperative system for world peace.

Pep Program Given Thursday

A pep program was given in the assembly Thursday afternoon before the Wayne-Wakefield game. Members of the third grade gave a stunt featuring Jacqueline Wrightman, Marilyn Stratton, Nancy Mines and Preston Hancock, the first named giving a rhyme and the others assisting with drums and chimes. The stunt was completed by the group playing Yankee Doodle. The high school pep band played selections and students practiced new yells. Bethel Brown, was chairman of the Thursday program. Coach Robert Gibb announced the game captain, Budd Bornhoft, and gave a short talk regarding the evening's game.

Before noon dismissal Friday Gayle Childs had charge of an advertising campaign for the annual to be published in the spring, Marian Jean Dienst, chairman of the annual committee, presided at the meeting, giving a short talk on why students should purchase an annual. Mrs. Childs emphasized the educational value of all in that it is first to be published by the school and on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the institution. He also stated that the project has the financial support of the local board of education.

Class To Have Tourney

The Morningside debate scheduled for the latter part of last week at Sioux City, was postponed until in March. The high school debate group of the Wayne school is working out a tournament for the class to be held all this week. Teams were arranged as follows: One, Marjan Jean Dienst and Franklin Simonin; two, Junior Nelson and Durward Sevy; three, James Kingstow with Durward Sevy or Budd Bornhoft; four, Budd Bornhoft and Beverly Canning; five, Joe Smolsky and Wayne McMaster; six, Gerald Wright and Robert Wright. The teams chosen names Monday and rounds also began that day.

Last Friday Coach Robert Gibb and a committee of high school students listened to a vocational guidance radio program broadcast from the St. Louis, Mo., convention. Reports were given in the assembly Tuesday with the civics class in charge. Round table discussion of the program followed. Miss Nell M. Bloodgood, in charge of vocational guidance for the Nebraska NYA, was one of the speakers on the radio program Friday.

Eighth Grade In Debate Work

A debate tournament was started in the eighth grade Friday, youngsters using the topic, "Resolved: That Lincoln Was A Greater Man Than Washington." Marguerite Eining and Margaret Larson had the affirmative and Jack Pennhollow and Darrell Johnson, the negative. Joe Smolsky and Franklin Simonin of the high school debate class judged the debate and offered criticism. Decision was given to the affirmative side. Marjorie Thompson and Marjorie Reuter debated Monday with Billy Burnham and Harold Eitch on "Resolved: That Country Life Is More Beneficial Than City Life." Winners of the debates held this week will compete for first place.

L. B. McClure spoke to the eighth grade arithmetic class on stocks and bonds the first of the week. Sixth graders drew pictures of scenes from Hiawatha on the board with colored chalk last week. Myla

June Thomas, Paul Peterson and Jean Berry were the artists. Pupils in the grade are making covers for their Hiawatha booklets.

Write Letters to Other States.

Fifth graders are writing letters to other states, children drawing for names of states. The letters were written in connection with the communication project. Monday Bobbie Chan Meyer, Bob Wright, Jimmie Allen and Thomas Johnson made a trip to the telephone office to procure first-hand information about this means of communication. Dorothy Jean Casper, Nancy Nicholaisen, Dorothy Nelson and Elaine Benthaek went to the telephone office for information.

Evelyn Sorensen, fifth grader, returned to school Monday after an absence of five weeks.

Fifth graders who had perfect spelling grades last week were: Robert Lass, Willis Lessman, Doris Jeag Rockwell and Elaine Benthaek.

Begin Transportation Project

Children in the third grade are taking up a project in transportation. Work the first of the week was on the history of the different modes of travel. Boys are making model airplanes for the project.

Third and fourth grade rhythm band will play in the high school assembly Friday this week.

Thomas Sanberg of the first grade, had a birthday party Monday treating his classmates to candy. Herbert Reese observed his seventh birthday last week Wednesday and had candy bars for the room.

Donna Sorensen was back in the first grade Monday after recovering from a tonsil operation. Jimmie Thompson was also able to be in school after recovering from a cold.

Miss Garwood's News.

The room gave a play Thursday for the rest of the grade pupils. The name of the play was "An Enemy, Yet A Friend." This play was made up by the fourth grade and was a story of a little boy lost in an African jungle. Freddy Loebbeck was the white boy and with him were two white men, Donald Anderson and Francis Nelson. Betty Lou Weible, Louise Weible and Ann Norene Loebbeck were the native women. Milton Martin and Walter Gaebler were the king's guards. Norris Hansen and Gilbert Martin were the guards of the hut.

CHURCHES

Immanuel Reformed Church. (Rev. Chas. Riedel, pastor) Preaching services at 9:45. Sunday school at 10:45. (These services will be held if road conditions and weather permit.)

Trinity Lutheran Church.

(Rev. W. F. Most, pastor) English services at 11 o'clock. Sunday school and Bible classes at 10 o'clock. Junior choir Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Senior choir Friday evening at 7:30.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

(Rev. H. M. Hilpert, pastor) Saturday, March 7, Saturday school at 1 p. m. Sunday, March 8, services in the English at 9:30. Sunday school at 10:40. Services in the German language at 11. Note: Due to road conditions St. Paul's congregation will not have its regular German Lenten services Thursday evenings as has been the custom in the past, but instead will have English and German Lenten services every Sunday morning beginning next Sunday, March 8. Note above schedule. You are welcome to all our services.

Methodist Church.

(Rev. A. E. Fowler, Pastor) Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. World Day of Prayer will be observed this Friday at 2:30 at Trinity Lutheran church. Let us remember that this day is being observed in all nations. The program used this year is prepared by Senora Laura H. Jorquera of Santiago, Chile. A special subject for prayer is world peace, as well as the triumph of Christ's kingdom. All women of the community should endeavor to be present. The backbone of winter seems to be broken. We hope all of our people will take advantage of better weather conditions and be in Sunday school and church. You do not have to bring your own warming pans and worship in an unhealthy building as our fathers used to do. Drifted snow made no difference to them. The spark of devotion is kept alive in the world by those who care enough to sacrifice. We are indebted to this group.

Highways and other roads, blocked by recent snows, are being opened as fast as possible this week. The Carroll-Winside road has been kept open to afford the town an outlet, and men were working the first of the week on the highway toward Randolph to give a north outlet. The snow plow and a group of shovelers are at work. The two highways east have not yet been cleared. The snow has melted considerably since Saturday when temperature moderated.

Notwithstanding the cold weather "fishin" is good. About 200 Washington families have had fish for supper nearly every day during the cold snap. They catch them by making holes in the ice at the vital basin around which are planted the Japanese cherry trees. The fish are shad and are fine eating fish. About 5,000 of these fish have been snaggd out of the basin this week. The basin connects with the Potomac river which is starting to break up. The Washington fishermen after these shad don't use bait. They use bare hooks on lines which they whip through the water until they snag a fish. A lot of the people who are fishing appear very poor and they stand on the ice without shoes, their feet thickly swathed in burlap sack and tied with ropes.

Believe it or not, the government now rents over 118 buildings in this town. A list of these buildings shows over 2,610,000 net square feet and the rent 90 cents to $2.50 a square foot. The taxpayers pay $2,564,834.25 rent. All the buildings owned by the government are occupied and now they are talking of moving some of the departments to Baltimore.

They have started putting state papers and records into the new $8,000,000 Archives building and some experts say that this process is expected to take 100 years to finish. The agent of the archives, Mr. Conner, has surveyed more than 1,500,000 cubic feet of public documents which are now ready to be classified and placed in air conditioned vaults. It is believed that much of this will have to be photographed in ageless film, so the space will not be used for several hundred years. So you see it is a hard job to make records and properly file government documents which accumulate so rapidly. Some of the documents which are first being brought will be those of the NRA and others the War of 1812, Mexican, Civil and the War of Revolution. Later on the records of the Continental Congress may find their way into the vaults.

Congressmen are now talking about new taxes and both the republicans and democrats seem to be worried about that. New taxes, these congressmen say, will not help them in a campaign year, and some of them tell new congressmen that there may be no new taxes at all and the new members are wondering what is going to be needed? Inflation talk is pretty much general in the gossip going around in the cloakrooms on both sides of the house.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt held a reception for representatives and senators Monday night. It was very cold and the crowd was estimated at 1,200 compared with 3,000 a year ago. Both the president and his wife looked in excellent health and seemed in very good spirits. They chatted pleasantly with most everybody who came along in the line to shake hands. The president especially looked quite healthy notwithstanding his tremendous task. The result of his daily swims in the pool, which is about the only exercise he can enjoy, was reflected in his very healthy color. He didn't seem half as tired during this reception as he was last year when he had such a tremendous crowd to shake hands with.

Yesterday the president sent to Congress a message vetoing H. R. 4178, which had been previously passed and called for the relief of the international manufacturers sale company of America who wanted $9,000,000 in claims against the government for losses in 1918 and 1920 when they were engaged in furnishing articles to Siberia. The company claimed it lost money because of inability to exchange Russian rubles received from the sales into American dollars, because of a ruling made by the federal reserve bank, which prohibited the exportation or importation of rubles or the transfer of funds for their purchase in the United States. The president stated the direct cause appeared the action of the soviet government in over-taking the assets of the banks in which the claimant had deposited its funds. So the president felt that the tax he collected as a revenue measure and paid into the treasury so that the tax can remain in effect. It is estimated that nearly $250,000,000 has been saved for the American producer since the tax went into effect. The soap trust has started a campaign against members who have fought the coconut oil imports.

The Washington fishermen after these shad don't use bait. They use bare hooks on lines which they whip through the water until they snag a fish. A lot of the people who are fishing appear very poor and they stand on the ice without shoes, their feet thickly swathed in burlap sack and tied with ropes.

Believe it or not, the government now rents over 118 buildings in this town. A list of these buildings shows over 2,610,000 net square feet and the rent 90 cents to $2.50 a square foot. The taxpayers pay $2,564,834.25 rent. All the buildings owned by the government are occupied and now they are talking of moving some of the departments to Baltimore.

They have started putting state papers and records into the new $8,000,000 Archives building and some experts say that this process is expected to take 100 years to finish. The agent of the archives, Mr. Conner, has surveyed more than 1,500,000 cubic feet of public documents which are now ready to be classified and placed in air conditioned vaults. It is believed that much of this will have to be photographed in ageless film, so the space will not be used for several hundred years. So you see it is a hard job to make records and properly file government documents which accumulate so rapidly. Some of the documents which are first being brought will be those of the NRA and others the War of 1812, Mexican, Civil and the War of Revolution. Later on the records of the Continental Congress may find their way into the vaults.

Congressmen are now talking about new taxes and both the republicans and democrats seem to be worried about that. New taxes, these congressmen say, will not help them in a campaign year, and some of them tell new congressmen that there may be no new taxes at all and the new members are wondering what is going to be needed? Inflation talk is pretty much general in the gossip going around in the cloakrooms on both sides of the house.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt held a reception for representatives and senators Monday night. It was very cold and the crowd was estimated at 1,200 compared with 3,000 a year ago. Both the president and his wife looked in excellent health and seemed in very good spirits. They chatted pleasantly with most everybody who came along in the line to shake hands. The president especially looked quite healthy notwithstanding his tremendous task. The result of his daily swims in the pool, which is about the only exercise he can enjoy, was reflected in his very healthy color. He didn't seem half as tired during this reception as he was last year when he had such a tremendous crowd to shake hands with.

Yesterday the president sent to Congress a message vetoing H. R. 4178, which had been previously passed and called for the relief of the international manufacturers sale company of America who wanted $9,000,000 in claims against the government for losses in 1918 and 1920 when they were engaged in furnishing articles to Siberia. The company claimed it lost money because of inability to exchange Russian rubles received from the sales into American dollars, because of a ruling made by the federal reserve bank, which prohibited the exportation or importation of rubles or the transfer of funds for their purchase in the United States. The president stated the direct cause appeared the action of the soviet government in over-taking the assets of the banks in which the claimant had deposited its funds. So the president felt that the tax he collected as a revenue measure and paid into the treasury so that the tax can remain in effect. It is estimated that nearly $250,000,000 has been saved for the American producer since the tax went into effect. The soap trust has started a campaign against members who have fought the coconut oil imports.

Notwithstanding the cold weather "fishin" is good. About 200 Washington families have had fish for supper nearly every day during the cold snap. They catch them by making holes in the ice at the vital basin around which are planted the Japanese cherry trees. The fish are shad and are fine eating fish. About 5,000 of these fish have been snaggd out of the basin this week. The basin connects with the Potomac river which is starting to break up. The Washington fishermen after these shad don't use bait. They use bare hooks on lines which they whip through the water until they snag a fish. A lot of the people who are fishing appear very poor and they stand on the ice without shoes, their feet thickly swathed in burlap sack and tied with ropes.

stopped at the chute to let them off and they made the rest of the way home on foot. Most of these travelers carried supplies in gunny sacks. Alvin Osborne who attends college and Helen Osborne who is in high school at Wayne, came to the chute by train Friday, this being the first time in several weeks that they could get home. Mrs. Elhardt Pospisil and infant daughter came Thursday from Wayne hospital to the chute where Mr. Pospisil met them and took them home by wagon.

Regular dinner and business meeting of Lions club was held Tuesday evening at the Stephens cafe.

Charles Friedenbach of Sholes, has taken the place of the late Seth McAlexander on the railroad section here.

Mrs. A. C. Thompson and Milford Wright were here from the Wayne relief office last Friday between trains to take applications for old age assistance. Fourteen applied that day for the assistance.

Carnegie Endowment Sends International Volumes To Library

The Wayne city library recently received the current installment of the "International Mind Above" from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, New York City.

The latest installment includes the following volumes: "The Red Abyssinia," by C. F. Rey, is a study of Ethiopia made by the author through ten years spent in that country.

"My Country and My People" is a book about China written by a Chinese author, Lin Yutang. The author is a distinguished member of the literary world and has written his book in English with which he is thoroughly conversant.

"A Tender of Peace" is by John B. Clark, and presents clear-cut views of a man who has spent his long life in the study of the subject he discusses; while teaching at Columbia University the author gained an international reputation as an authority on political economy.

"Other Books Received." A number of other books have been received at the library and include both fiction and non-fiction.

"Song of the Messiah" by Nebraska's poet laureate, John G. Neihardt, is the last of a series of narrative poems dealing with the cycle of the west. Material for the poem is gained from a study of the last phase of the Indian resistance on the prairies and the scene is in western South Dakota, south of the Black Hills.

Kathleen Norris has a new book in the group in "Shining Windows." The story is of an American family who is reduced from luxury to living on a ranch in California.

their trials and their new happiness. "Eastern Shore" by Warren Howard, is an old-fashioned romance of a brilliant, modern young girl on the eastern shores of Maryland, world of water and hand-built ships; setting for the story is the historical house, "Third Haven."

Rosemary Rees, English author, has a new book which she names, "Home Is Where The Heart Is." This is the second book Miss Rees has had published in America, her first being "Dear Acquaintance."

The book, "Exploring Today," by Lincoln Ellsworth, is complete with photographs and maps. It tells what an explorer's job is, how to prepare for it and its value to mankind.

Dr. S. Parke Cadman's new book, "Adventures for Happiness," sets out to combat the prevailing spirit of pessimism and to discover the sources of happiness in a troubled world. Dr. Cadman is also the author of "Ambassadors of God."

"The Voice of Bugle Ann" by MacKinlay Kantor, has music, dignity, tragedy, humor and the rural has turned to modern, rural United States for his material. Kantor will be remembered for his "Good-bye, Mr. Chips" published in Atlantic Monthly.

"We Who Are About To Die" is by David Larson, convicted of murdering his wife and sentenced to hang by a California court. Larson was imprisoned at San Jose and was sent to San Quentin just before a mob broke into San Jose penitentiary, lynching two inmates. He spent 13 months at San Quentin in "Condemned Row" and the supreme court of California reversed its decision. His second trial began in February 1935.

"Deep Dark River" is a novel of a rare and exciting quality and is written by Robert Ryker. Sigrid Undset, one of the greatest living writers, has a new book for her public in "The Longest Years." She will be remembered as the author of "Kristin Lavransdatter."

"Man, the Unknown," by Julian Huxley and E. Andrade, outstanding scientists, covers a range of modern science and explains it in the simple language of the layman. The book is written with great clarity and requires no background of scientific knowledge.

"Silas Crockett" by Mary Ellen Chase, is the story of a new England family through four generations, the setting at Saturday eve and the people, a seafaring family. In answer to thousands of letters received by Kathleen Norris, asking her advice in work, home, love and living, the author writes to them in the story, "Hands Full of Living."

SYNOPSIS

As Alan Garth, prospector, is preparing to leave for his mining claim in the far North, a pine lands at the always emergency station. In it are Burton Ramill, millionaire mining magnate; his daughter, Lilith, and a young Huxby, out and mining engineer. Believing him to be only an ignorant prospector, the men offer to make an air trip to Garth's claim, although they refer to his samples of platinum-bearing ore as "the monkey's business." Lilith Ramill, who is in love with Huxby, shows her contempt for Garth. Through Garth's guidance the plane starts on its flight. Huxby, Ramill, and Lilith, after making several tests, assure Garth his claim is richly valued. Garth is willing to take a chance in investing a small amount. Sensing treachery, Garth secretly repairs a part from the plane's motor. Huxby and Lilith taunt Garth with his "gullibility," but their tonks explode when they try to start the crippled plane. Returning to shore they try to force Garth to give up the missing part. Garth sees the danger and, to save the current carries it over the falls. He points out that he is their only hope in guiding the plane through the wilderness. Garth begins preparing for the long journey. He insists that the others help. Ramill and his daughter must be hardened for the hardships ahead in their toll-come trek to the outpost on the mountain. Garth, with the plane, stole the tea and sugar he has been saving for emergencies. He makes no objection, simply pointing out the danger of the plane. Huxby refuses to help, and works on the mining claim. The long journey begins.

CHAPTER VI—Continued "Easy!" Her blue eyes glistened with an odd light. "You carried Dad back to camp that day. But it was down-hill. Now—to pack this frightful load all the way up here! Alan Garth, you're a man!"

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the descending. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat."

The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod. She started briskly off up the gap. Garth's steady climbing brought him to the top of the pass a few paces behind Huxby and Mr. Ramill. Lilith was sprinkling salt on slices of the raw meat.

The pass was barren even of caribou moss. The meat had to be eaten cold or uncooked, or not at all. Six hours had passed, since the party left the camp in the valley bottom. After the long, hard climb, even the girl was hungry enough to have eaten rawhide.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more.

All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start. There would be no more slugging-up-hill, with lungs howling for air. One would only have to hold back.

But that was the rub—the holding back. The south side of the pass was far steeper than the north, and there was no glacier to offer stretches of smooth footing. The bed of the sharply tilted granite was the steepest in the small cliffs. Between these high ledges were slides of frost-shattered rocks. Patches of ice here and there made the footing doubly treacherous.

Garth himself was ready to quit when, in the twilight, he came down to where the steep pitch eased off on a small patch of tundra. He opened his pack and spread the blanket on the dry gravel. In a hole under a pile of boulders, he at sight of the fat with the caribou meat. The others wakened almost too stiff to move. But at all managed another big meal of the meat. To top it off, Garth had Lilith hold a little tea in the water from the melted ice.

After the hot drink, even Mr. Ramill managed to hobble down the now fairly easy slope. The exercise gradually warmed and relaxed stiffened muscles.

The end of a long day's hike at last brought the party down the miles of tundra slopes to the edge of timberline.

Garth predicted they would reach camp, water on the way, dry. But during that morning Mr. Ramill turned an ankle. Even after much soaking in a cold spring and tight bandaging by Garth, the sprain held the millionaire down to a slow hobble. An Aspen staff enabled him to travel slowly until the noon meal. After that the pain overcame him. He refused to move. Garth looked doubtfully at the pack. It was a large supply of food that was left. His pack now weighed little more than the platinum alloy in Huxby's wolfskin knapsack. He had allowed everyone to eat without stint. That had been necessary in order to keep up the strength of the chuchukos. But as he had foretold, the country was too much meat left in his pack. "I can't carry on, Mr. Ramill."

"Alan Garth, You're a Man."
