The state having taken over the job of finishing the carrolt, as an-nounced during the past week, the northwestern part of the county may feel confident that the im-provement will be completed this year. Connecting that area with a passable highway in wet weather has been the most painfully pro-longed public groiget within mem-ory of the proverbially oldest in-habitant, and it is high time the suspense were ended and the need realized. Many uselssi things have been done to create jobs, but some important things to meet public de-mand have been reglected, and hard-surfacing in outlet for northhave been neglected, and surfacing an outlet for north-Wayne county is one of them.

For Mental Health. Dean H. H. Hahn of the college raining school, urges that a child's nental health should be stressed juite as much as his physical icealth. He mentions women's clubs levoled to looking out for bodily devoted to looking out that maladigate care with too little attention to habits that influenced the mind. The dean points out that maladigate ments in youth are likely to stätch-stick to the serious disadvaptage of maturity. The best way to establish health habits of both mind and body is in the home. It is up to bady is in the home. It is up to bady is in the home. It is up to bady is in the home. Our Congressman Karl Stefan has probably attracted more at-tention to himself and to his dis-trict in two sessions of congress lhaa did the entire succession of previous congressmen from the time the Third district was or-ganized. His latest ground for dis-tinction lies in his move to have the suicide-promoting song. "Gloomy Sunday." banned by ac-tion of congress. Stefan will have the song tried out on himself and other congressmen, and if it makes the song tricd out on himself and other congressmen, and if it makes them feel sad—makes them feel like jumping into the murky depths of the nearby Potomac—he will take steps to impose congressional interdiction

He was satisfied with last 'ear's crops, and an unusual mount of moisture the last few nonths encourages confidence in his year's prospect, Mr. Henriksen s generally against the New Deal het-up. He thinks the guarantee of set-up. He thinks fite guarantee of banks is a valuable contribution to financial security, and that the còm-loan plan was a stroke of good fortune in view of the drouth that followed. But he does not like the idea of having farm operations planned by Washington theorists, and thinks the farmer would fare better and be better off if he were heart free from interference.

Ages For HOW persons above 65 and those below 18 could be kept Work from employment, if they should, as proposed by President Rooseveli in his Jefferson day speech offers a provelet quite in harmony with the late NRA's im-practicabilities. The president would keep young persons in school until they are 18, —a desirable practice,—but many boys and girls would have to have government help if they could not hold part-time jobs. And if they had government help, very likely they would not be tempered or fit-ted to assume the responsibility of private jobs after 18. iobs after 18.

jobs atter 18. The average oldster, stripped of the privilege of earning his way and compeli-ed to look to the government for support, would not be satisfied. Work with reward is a tonic to both young and old, contri-buting important values to the human fiber that the government should not at-tempt to overthrow.

The president presents a pleasing theory in an endéavor to increase employ-ment bétween the ages of 18 and 65, but it involves so much 'government pater-nalism that it would probably do more harm than good. Rewards for ambition cannot safely be removed. In time, with give jobs to those willing to accept them, and then the reduced number of idlers may continue to depend on public relief with-out surrendering pride and without inter-fering with the country's traditional work-ing privilege.

Main Issue NARK Sullivan thinks republican leaders are not getting over to the people the real significance of the coming presidential campaign. As he points out, it is not an ordinary election with the drawing of party lines in the us-ual way. Sullivan seems to doubt whether the president himself fully understands the drift to the left and the lurking dangers of fascism, nazism or communisim—con-sidered separately, but all equally destruc-tive of our democracy. The president's radical advisers, however, understand what they want and think they know how to bring about what they want. Sullivan is not unmindful of the difficul-ty in making plain the trend of political events—the tendency' to regiment activi-ties of are unwilling to believe that what has happened in Europe could happen here, though, as a matter of fact, only the supreme court prevented a considerable stride in that direction during the past few years. Youthful OF course 18-year-old Lloyd Plagiarist could not expect to be paid for originality that he did not possess. He entered Eddie Cantor's contest for the best for originality that he did not possess. He entered Eddie Cantor's contest for the best article on ways to keep out of war, and he found what proved to be a winner in a magazine article written by Dr. Frank Kingdon, president of Newark university. The boy said he did not know what plagiarism meant, but it does seem he should have known it was wrong to try to win on false ground. He was properly found out, and the $5,000 college educa-tion quickly vanished. Persons high up in official positions of-ten hire brains to write their speeches, but they do not enter a contest in which origin-ality is vital, doubtless excusing themselves on the ground that they are too busy. The boy's easy way of getting something for nothing shows his need of higher train-ing in something besides scholastic lore. If, as he says, he could see no fault in of-fering another's article as his own in com-petition, he has some loose screws in his mental anatomy that need tightening. mental anatomy that need tightening.
Revelations often dispute Windy Farsley's confidence that Nebraska is safely tentrenched in the Roosevelt column. Last week the Nebraska Farmer announced results of a poll of 3,249 farmers touching the New Deelay. On the question. "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt New Deal?" the vote stood 1,873, (57.6 percent) against, and 1,301, (40 per cent) for. On the question, "Were you in favor of the AAA?" the vote was 1,836, (56.5 per cent) against, and 1,365, (42 per cent) for. If this result is a fairly accurate expression of feeling among farmers of the state, the New Deal is not so popular as its believe.

Travelers tell us Wayne is Travelers tell us Wayne is in better shape than any town of its size in the state —that it has weathered the depression storm with less loss, has done more improv-ing despite untoward times and faces a more reassuring future than other places of its class. It is noted when a group takes hold of a public function, usually large and satisfactory results come along apace. However, the community could undoubted-ly build faster and bigger if there were closer and more general cooperation.

The fact that Senator Borah's name

the only one of a trepublican presidential candidate appearing on the Nebraska pri-mary ballot lends no importance to the re-sult. It was no test of the relative strength of presidential candidates. If given a chance, Nebraska republicans would, ac-cording to indications, undoubtedly regis-ter a majority for Governor Landon of Kansas.

As long as people are compelled to go hungry in China or any other part of the world, it does not seem right to eutabl food productions. Some way should be found to feed the hungry everywhere, and a system that limits food supplies would seem more complicated and more expen-sive than one that is wholly unrestricted.

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy. But delvers ought to know better. For, the fact is, it's way down the list.

The big items of car economy are low cost, low up keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile, Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor Lower cost for repairs and service. Long life. Slow depreciation.

Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost
