Playing Politics WE are amazed at the pained sensibilities of the average congressman. We cannot understand why members cannot avoid dominance of bone over gray matter and subordinate small politics to the ostensible purpose. What is heralded as an impartial inquiry to ascertain facts too often turns into a partisan political duel.

Questioning and trying to humiliate Dr. F. E. Townsend, old-age pension leader, evidently designed more to defeat his plan than to arrive at wholesome conclusions, would react as a serious boomerang if his program were economically sound. Whatever may be the motives of some figuring in the Townsend movement, no one on the side lines questions the purity of his idealism. Lack of practical wisdom on the part of Dr. Townsend does not warrant a sickening fusillade of congressional railery.

People will usually vote against the Townsend plan because it is unwelcome and unwise—not because they doubt the promoter's good motives, and congress would make popular disapproval easier by avoiding a course which smacks of persecution. Constituents expect congressmen to come fairly near meeting the appraisal of judgment presupposed when they were elected.

Stroke of Economy TIE down your emotions before reading this: A few Wayne men who have land in the neighborhood of Sidney and who were entitled to agricultural adjustment payments, were notified to send receipts preliminary to securing checks. That course was all right. But at the bottom of the letter of notification appeared this note: "Please include a legal size, stamped envelope when you return the signed receipt for the association's use in forwarding the check to you. This request is made in an effort to comply with instructions to curtail administrative expenses as much as possible."

Millions spent by the government for often debatable purposes—millions spent for printing and distributing public documents, and yet to complete a transaction it has seemed advisable to ask for a stamped envelope in lieu of the customary frank. The old saying about being penny wise and

-pound foolish would seem to apply with a ton of emphasis.

No private business or industry could or would stand the wildly expensive antics that have marked the course of the New Deal. No individual who promised one thing and did another in private employ, would expect to stay. His conscience would tell him to put on his hat and move out. Not so in politics. In public service, the idea, as exemplified by the new order, is to make employing voters forget broken pledges, forget numerous costly and useless experiments, forget importations of farm products to supply demands created by a policy of home curtailment and scarcity, and forget the unbalanced budget and the mountain of debt, the yoke of which will gall the necks of present and future generations. No such fantastic management would have the nerve to ask for reemployment on a farm or in a factory or in any private activity that had to make earnings equal costs.

Whether the terrorist group, called the Black Legion, lately revealed in Michigan, is rehearsing in the hope of instituting a communist or fascist government is unimportant in lending odium to the movement. Either direction would lead to the same end—overthrow of democratic institutions and ruin of human liberties. According to reports, the black-robed organization moves in stealth and enforces its orders through secret violence. It is unfortunate that a country is menaced by any designing group, operating in the dark, when unusual problems press for attention. Authorities are awake to dangers and are reported acting promptly and decisively.

George Ade, noted writer, now 70 years old, is quoted in an interview as saying he made a mistake when he voted for Roosevelt in 1932, but that he will not make the same mistake again. He says the president's program "is too elaborate and too fantastic," adding that "we're on a jag, a delightful jag." He says in effect that wild flights of idealism must be stopped to save America. Another thing he does not like is the way the industrious and frugal individual is made to suffer while the shiftless and indifferent person is pampered into thinking he cannot help himself. He believes it is high time to adopt and follow a more soundly constructive course.

Although the socialist party in national convention declared the New Deal had failed, its platform bears the flavor of the Roosevelt regime. Declaring in favor of the government taking over basic industries sounds like an echo from Prof. Tugwell, one of Washington's dizzy theorists. Declaring in favor of a congressional appropriation of $6,000,000,000 to continue federally financed public works sounds Rooseveltian. The socialist platform may prove a help to the New Deal resolution writers if coming convention pronouncements and promises are expected to dovetail with past performance.

Corn is showing up in the fields, and rainfall is of sufficient frequency to inspire confidence. As a westerner suggested in writing his congressman, an abundant harvest will do more to help farmers than all the government aids up to date.

EATING.

Albert Edward Wiggam is the author of a recent magazine article setting forth the need of eating more often to conserve strength and increase efficiency. He reviews the results of an investigation by eminent physiologists to show that persons who eat two meals per day lack the snap and efficiency of those who have three meals, but that those who eat five times are alive to their tasks throughout the day. Too infrequent eating causes weakness and irritability. It is not over-work but too long time between nourishment that causes energy and spirits to lag. More food less often would not answer the purpose. It is frequency that counts and renews life and inspiration. The popular notion that the stomach needs rest is discredited by the author who says the stomach rests most when it is kept fairly busy. Says the author in closing: "When you are 'fagged out,' 'blue,' 'too tired to eat'—eat. But don't add the food for your extra meals to your regular meals—subtract it from them."

said the depression forced him out of a job and on relief with his wife and family of children. A year ago last January he managed to capture private employment, and when he got it, fellows in the relief field reproached him with the idea that he would soon be back on relief. He said his pride asserted itself, and he worked faithfully and resolutely, and by getting results for his employer, he finally nailed a district managership for the sale of a popularly known article. That is the kind of human metal that will preserve independence and save our democracy.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial day which comes May 30, reemphasizes the horrors of war. As sanguinary struggles are recalled and eulogies are spoken in remembrance of the patriot dead, the utter inhumanity of war—of mass slaughter—of the terrible sacrifices—burn determination into the heart of the thoughtful American to keep out of the troubles of less sensible Europe and settle our own differences in a merciful and inexpensive court of arbitration. The glory of battle with a harvest of dead and maimed has lost appeal in this country. War sucks into its ugly maw finest sensibilities, and mocks the spirit of civilization. It goes to action contrary to every noble precept. America's sacrifice of men and treasure in the World war is still too keenly felt to be forgotten. Present and unborn generations will pay for going to Europe in an unavailing attempt to save the world for democracy. Less democracy than before taunts America's lofty intentions and appalling sacrifice. No more war to help the foreign spirit of conquest is the demand that sweeps this country from one end to the other. Memorial observance accentuates this demand.

Things to do THIS SPRING!

SPRING...

Is the "blossoming" out of everything.

It is the most perfect time of the year to do those necessary things to make every house a one hundred percent home.

Here are just a few of the spring "touch ups" most homes need.

- Cover old siding or stucco with wood shingles or new siding.
- Replace broken or cracked glass.
- Build new screens and repair old ones.
- Put on shutters all way around to improve exterior aspect.
- Cut additional windows for more light and better appearance.
- Build and install flower boxes under windows.
- Replace old roof with new, decorative one.
- Replace broken, loose, or missing shingles.
- Add new dormer windows.
- Replace broken, loose or missing baluster.
- Replace broken or loose floor boards.
- Redesign and build entirely new porch.
- Enlarge existing porch.
- Build, entirely new, steps.
- Install lattice work to hide spaces under porch and steps.
- Enclose porch with frames and build screens.
- Install built-in seats on porch. Build flower boxes.
- Enlarge capacity of garage.
- Install new set of easy-opening doors.
- Build new partitions for fruit room, laundry, etc.
- Build new shelves, bins and storage area in basement.
- Lay wood floor over concrete for warmth and footstep.
- Build recreation room with wood panelled walls in basement.
- Lay new wood floor over all old flooring.
- Install new, up-to-date front door.
- Build in corner cupboards in dining room.
- Panel living room and dining room in wood.
- Build new battery of kitchen cupboards.
- Build half partition and install breakfast nook.
- Build new and convenient place for electric refrigerator.
- Install casement windows over kitchen sink.
- Build new broom, mop and cleaner closet.
- Repair and refit sticky doors and windows.
- Install new modern wood trim and baseboards.

Fall Is Fatal To Wayne Lady

Rites For Mrs. Ferguson Are Held On Tuesday At Chapel Here.

Mrs. Hannah Ferguson, who suffered a broken hip in a fall March 6, died May 22 in Denver, Colo., where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Vesta Rae. Funeral services were conducted at the Beckenhauer chapel in Wayne Tuesday afternoon with Rev. D. A. Dickey of Norfolk, friend of the family, in charge. Committal was in Greenwood cemetery where Mr. Ferguson is buried.

Miss Hannah Caroline Boyles was born in Terre Haute, Ind., February 12, 1857, the daughter of Cairn and Anna Brush Boyles. On July 4, 1876, she was married at Denison, Iowa, to Elias W. Ferguson who died at Norfolk December 29, 1890.

Mrs. Ferguson was the mother of six children, Will of Hartington, Audera, who died in infancy, Jean of Raleigh, N. C., Fearn of Norfolk, Joyce Crockett of Wayne, and Vesta Rae of Denver, and grandmother and great grandmother to 17. She leaves one brother, David Boyles, of Breckenridge, Texas. All the children were here except Jean.

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Ferguson made her home with Mrs. Crockett in Wayne. The Fergusons came to Hartington in 1892 and to Wayne in 1924 and had been here since excepting for winters spent in Arizona and California.

Deceased joined the old Christian church in girlhood and remained a faithful member. Pallbearers, early friends of the family, were M. L. Sinkey, James Levy, Harry Evans, Joe Schiendler, Dell Jordan and W. N. Jordan of Hartington.

Shoes Store Entered.

The Timlin store at Shoes was entered Sunday and flour, sugar and other merchandise valued at $50 were taken.

Table with columns: Funds, Balance, Receipts, Paid Out, Balance. Lists various city funds and their financial status.

I hereby certify that the following is a true report of the office of the City Treasurer of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, for the period May 1st, 1935 to May 1st, 1936.

Table with columns: Funds, Balance, Receipts, Paid Out, Balance. Continuation of city funds report.

We, your Finance Committee submit the above statement of collections and disbursement of the City Funds, handled by A. T. Cavanaugh as City Treasurer from the first day of May, 1935 to the first day of May, 1936, and recommend that the above report of the Treasurer be approved.

Motion was made by Miller and seconded by Horney that the annual report of Walter S. Bressler, City Clerk, be approved and placed on file. Motion carried. Councilman McClure offered the following resolution and moved its adoption.

And, Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00) Refunding Bonds dated September 15, 1930, due September 15, 1940, optional any time, bearing interest at the rate of five per centum (5%) annually, being bonds Nos. 2 to 5 inclusive for $1,000.00 each, which were authorized and ordered issued by Ordinance No. 361 of said City, which was passed and approved on the 16th day of September, 1930.

That, all of which bonds are the valid and interest bearing obligations of said City; that since the issue of said bonds the rate of interest has so declined in the markets that by taking up and paying off such bonds by an issue of Refunding Bonds of the City a substantial saving in the amount of yearly running interest will be made to the City; that the City has accumulated no funds for the payment of the principal of said bonds, and has no money in any Sinking Fund which may be applied thereon; that notice that the City seeks to take up and pay off said bonds by means of negotiable Refunding Bonds of the City in the sum of Thirty-One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00), bearing interest at the rate of four per centum (4%) per annum, payable semi-annually, this being the lowest rate said bonds could bear and be disposed of at par, as provided in the resolution heretofore passed by the Mayor and City Council, notice was published as required by Statute for more than two (2) weeks in the "Wayne Herald" and the "Nebraska Democrat", the only newspapers printed and of general circulation in the City of Wayne, County of Wayne, State of Nebraska, prior to the date fixed therein on which any taxpayer of the City might file objections to said proposed action; that said notice was duly posted upon the door of the building in which the Mayor and City Council hold their stated meetings, for more than two (2) weeks prior to the date fixed in said notice on which any taxpayer of said City might file objections to said action; that no objections have been filed as to the amount of said bonds or against the validity of such bonds and the date fixed in the said notice on which any taxpayer of said City might file objections to such proposed action has passed and the time for filing such objections has expired.

Section 2. That there shall be and there are hereby ordered issued negotiable bonds of the City of Wayne to be known as "Refunding Bonds," of the aggregate principal amount of Thirty One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00) consisting of:

Table listing bond amounts and dates: $2,000.00 May 1, 1937; 2,000.00 May 1, 1938; 3,000.00 May 1, 1940; 3,000.00 May 1, 1941; 3,000.00 May 1, 1942; 3,000.00 May 1, 1943; 4,000.00 May 1, 1944; 4,000.00 May 1, 1945; 5,000.00 May 1, 1946.

Section 3. Said bonds shall be executed on behalf of the City by being signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk who shall affix the City seal thereto. The interest coupons shall be executed on behalf of the City by being signed by the Mayor and City Clerk, either by their own proper signatures on each coupon or by causing their engraved facsimile signatures to be affixed to said coupons.

Section 4. Said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form: UNITED STATES OF AMERICA STATE OF NEBRASKA COUNTY OF WAYNE CITY OF WAYNE

Section 5. The City Clerk shall

Oman Sisters Tell Interesting Tales Of Localities In Which They Live

Youngsters Enjoy Reunion at Grandparents Home While Parents Renew Old Friendships at School Golden Jubilee.

The four little granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Oman may not have been eligible to attend the golden jubilee banquet Thursday evening but in their own way they held a homecoming that afternoon, which, for exuberance and sheer joy of living and being together, was second to none. "I love a parade," they sang with their grandmother as they marched up and down the living-room in long dresses which were modish in the "teens" when their mothers were "tripping the light fantastic." Clump, clump—went the pointed, beaded slippers as Olive Ann, Francis Lynette and Roxa Ferne Tuttle and Marjorie Ferne Gorst paraded up and down the stairs in search of new dress-up costumes. Aided and abetted in their stage ventures by the grandmother—applauded by their grandfather—occasionally hushed by their parents—the youngsters had the gayest, good time of their young lives. Young John Oman Tuttle had gone to school Thursday with Carla Wright so was spared the dressing up, which being a boy, he might have considered "sissified."

The Jason Gorst of Bridgeport, Neb., and the C. Lynn Tuttle of Clarkston, Wash., arrived in Wayne Wednesday for the high school golden jubilee and a reunion with the Clyde Omans. Mrs. Gorst and daughter came the same day. Mrs. Gorst will be better remembered by Wayne people as Miss Ferne Oman and Mrs. Tuttle as Miss Frances Oman. Many Wayne people and former Wayne college students will remember the delightful musical evenings in the Oman home.

Named For Famous Men. Clarkston, Wash., is a town of about 3,000 population in the southwest corner of the state. Just across the Snake river which divides Washington and Idaho, is the town of Lewiston. The two cities were named for the Lewis and Clark who passed through that section of the country on their famous expedition.

Mrs. Gorst, who had heard the above statement made by Mr. Tuttle said laughingly: "I can't be outdone by Lynn! Lewis and Clark camped on the site of our ranch in western Nebraska in 1804."

"Washington had the hardest winter in years," said Mr. Tuttle. "Lots of fruit was winter killed—an early freeze the first of November froze apples and tomatoes not gathered. We had a long cold spell through February, about the time Nebraska and the rest of the middle west suffered."

Western Conditions Better. The Washington visitors feel that conditions are better in the west than they were this time last year. The change is mostly in the attitude of the farming communities which have gone ahead with spring work and "stopped kicking about condition." The country around Clarkston is mainly agricultural—a long valley runs north and south through this section and is partially irrigated, with soft fruits, such as peaches, cherries and apricots, supplementing the apple crop which was formerly the main fruit raised. Outside the valley, the country rises to a tableland which is given over to wheat. The mountain slopes which rise from the tableland are rich in timber—white and yellow pine, fir and tamarack.

One of the largest single-unit sawmills in the world is located at Lewiston, Idaho, just across the river from Clarkston. The Snake river and Clearwater join at this point and make a perfect location for the mill. A log drive is held every spring when most of the logs are floated down the Clearwater to the mill where they are shipped by rail. A 300-acre mill pond at the base of the log run carries for the vast amount of logs floated down every spring.

Edna Ferber's Novel. Mrs. Tuttle explained that the novel, "Come and Get It," by Edna Ferber, is being filmed at the mill camps of the Weiersheuser family at Lewiston at the present time. The Weiersheuser-Mahon kidnaping case of a few years ago will be remembered by many; Mahon was recently captured in connection with the kidnaping of a small Weiersheuser lad.

Two and a half millions of feet of lumber are cut every day at the white pine capital of the world. The mill has operated every day through the depression, employing 2,800 people at the mill and logging camps. Most of the lumber shipped out is sent to the east sea-coast by rail.

Henry Spalding, a name which is familiar to every native of Idaho, was a pioneer in the state, starting the first saw mill and bringing the first newspaper to the state in 1802. The city of Lewiston recently celebrated its centennial, honoring the sturdy pioneer Clarkston, as a neighboring city in a neighboring state, co-operated with the city across the river in making the event one of the greatest successes recorded in the history of the two states.

much for him and he surreptitiously slipped a good sized stone into his shirt. The sick young fellow was not quick enough for the British guard who, with no argument, took him to the guardhouse. The thief was put on a boat bound for Australia which was then the British outpost for exiles and prisoners. At Sydney the culprit was put up on a donkey with a mounted guard of officers on fast ponies as an escort. As the party approached the jungle the old man told that he noticed how, one by one, his guards fell back and retraced their trail until there was only one left. When he and his remaining guard got well into the jungle he suddenly turned on the officer and pulling a knife from his shirt (the officer didn't explain his possession of the knife) he turned on his companion. Wounding the officer with the knife thrust, the man to be exciled forced the former to dismount and take the donkey, while he sat astride the pony. Leaving the wounded man to make his way from the jungle as best he might, he retraced the fast disappearing trail in jungle wall.

Stows Away On Ship. Reaching Sydney the story-teller said that he gave his horse to a boy to put in a livery stable, paying the lad a dollar he had taken from the wounded officer, and telling him that he would be back for it in the morning. He stowed away on a steamer leaving that night for America and was not discovered until the ship was well out to sea. The captain was much displeased when the stow-away was brought to him but became mollified when the culprit stated that he was a younger brother of Bob Fitzsimmons, just rising to fame as an Australian fighter. The stow-away was treated royally as the brother of Fitzsimmons until Australian officers on a passing ship assured the captain that Fitzsimmons had no younger brother. The irate captain confronted his guest, asked him just who the "farnation" he was. The quick thinking youth hung his head and after much questioning was forced to admit that he was "Leland Stanford, J." He explained that his family, unable to keep him out of difficulties in America, had sent him to Australia; he became homesick after several months of the unfamiliar life and rather than ask his people for passage money had decided to stow-away on the first ship home-ward bound. The captain believed the story and invited "young Stanford" to sit at his table—one of the high honors of all ships at sea. The lad was given the best of everything the ship afforded. When the boat docked in San Francisco, the pseudo-Stanford vanished into the night without a "by-your-leave."

Thus ended the tale of the old-seller of "Klondike Oil." He might have told another story of the Klondike after the exciting tale which he told the Tuttles, but he hadn't the time that day—and since he hasn't returned so it is probable that he has gone on his last, long, trip—alone! The old man, though his story of his adventure may have been purely imaginary, knew the authentic history of the settling of the state of Washington and his versions were accurate and intensely interesting.

Home of Nez Perce Indians. The locality in which the Tuttles live is near the Nez Perce Indian reservation—the tribe among the most interesting remaining in the United States. The name given the tribe means "pierced nose," although before the white man taught the tribe the art of nose-piercing, it was unknown to the Indians according to early history of the state. The streets of Clarkston and Lewiston present a colorful scene when the Indians are in town for their trading. The women wear bright shawls, beaded moccasins, and fancy kerchiefs on their heads. The men wear bandanas under their hats and both sexes wear their hair in long braids.

To illustrate the interesting powwows held at festive seasons through the year, the Tuttle children gathered their "dress-up" skirts about them and humping up their shoulders, circled about the center of the living-room, yelling lustily, "ki-yi-yi-yah, ki-yi-yi-yah," their pointed shoes on too-small feet, clattering on the floor.

Jubilee Visitors Find Many Changes Since Leaving Wayne

"Wayne has changed a good deal since I saw it last," remarked Mrs. W. F. Mallory, who came from Boulder, Colo., for the high school golden jubilee celebration Thursday evening. "There was no paving in the town the last time I was here 19 years ago. I miss seeing the old opera house and the stand-pipe."

Mrs. Mallory and her sister, Mrs. M. O. Cunningham of Omaha, were both here for the jubilee, each having graduated from the Wayne high school, the former in 1904 and the latter in 1930. Both were in the old school and commencement exercises were held in the old opera house.

Mrs. Mallory is the former Miss Ethel Brown, and Mrs. Cunningham, the former Miss Dottie Brown. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, came to Wayne when the town was young; Mrs. Mallory was born in Wayne and started to school in the old ward school building on Main street.

Mr. Brown passed away in 1894 and at the time of his death was deputy county clerk. Mrs. Brown and her daughter, Ethel, went some years later to Boulder where the former was married to M. S. Merrill; Mrs. Merrill still lives in Boulder.

Mr. Cunningham is an Omaha attorney; he is a graduate of the Wayne State Teachers college and well known by local people. He is also a graduate of the University of Nebraska school of law. Mr. Mallory is professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Colorado at Boulder. The Cunninghams have one daughter, Ruth, now Mrs. Frank Martin of Omaha, and the Mallorys have one son, Warren, 16, who is now in high school.
