The line of battle is now drawn. Ful-iniations of the Philadelphia convention vill count little as facts of the past three dars are thrown on the screen. Issues will e made clear as the campaign develops inless our judgment is terribly twisted, eople will revolt against one-man rule, gainst the threat of collectivism. Tulees Unless our judgment is terrioly twisted, people will revolt against one-man rule, against the threat of collectivism. Unless we are greatly mistaken in appraising hu-man qualities, nurtured in a free and lib-etty-lowing land, voters will in November reclaim America for Americans, and Ne-braska will do its full share.

WAYNE HERALD as producing a more abundant life and greater social security are manifestly shap-huse, Editor and Proprietor. Huse, Editor and Proprietor. follow — increased government paternal ism or restored personal liberties. Here is one excerpt from his arraignment of the

New Deal: "Greed for political power, ambition to stand forth a to stand forth as the 'greatest president of the last president,' susceptibility to cheers from th crowd, and the obsequious agr ment of swarming political parasites, had their effect. And there arose $\mathbf{a} \mid \mathbf{q}$ had their effect. And there arose a qua dictatorship with loose-thinking libera and parlor pinks lording it over freeme with a doughty general cracking down And there arose a quas loose-thinking liberals because they dared to exercise dom guaranteed them by the const usiness and to tion, with unctuous fireside talks, with a poultry professor dictating our monetary policies, with demagogism of the cheapest kind flowing from the capital, with the d flowing from the capital, with ongest appeal to class hatred ever p d in America, with the conntying ward politician taken to high place eriod in our history over which we period in our history over which we a ur children will learn to hang our hea

It would gratify partisans to fasten bad motives on the Omaha World-Herald's notes of alarm over the dangers to the American system of government that lurk in the background of the New Deal. That World-Herald speaks from conviction should be apparent to every careful read of that newspaper. If it is selfish, it broadly so—selfishness that wishes to p serve a free press, free speech and free opportunities. It was undoubtedly sincere in supporting the New Deal when the latter started out to remake our social and b ness order, and it is just as sincere now opposing an evident drift away from funda- Placements Made mentals and into centralization reaucratic control whose end would wreck the democratic structure and make everybody equal-equally nary up, equilibrium services. Like all responsible publications with sense of duty, the World-Herald has too much influence body equal--equally hard up equally to treat it lightly or in any way use it to misdirect the public or hinder the popular welfare.

Liberty magazine takes a swipe at the false notion that 4 per cent of the popula-tion own 87 per cent of the country's wealth. On the contrary, it shows that 95 per cent own 80 per cent of the wealth and that 5 per cent own the remaining 20 per cent. Liberty also emphasizes the poor policy of trying to soak the rich in order to solve unemployment problems. "What intelligent workers want every-where," says Liberty, "is not a distribu-tion of wealth, but a distribution of the op-portunities that create wealth."

The Saturday Evening Post has been The Saturday Evening Post has been demanding a government survey to deter-mine how many of the "destimated 24,400.-000 benefiting by relief really need relief." The government's excuse that the cost of such a survey would be too great does not harmonize with the waste of public money in other directions. The Post says Ameri-can citizens are softhearted, but not soft-headed, and that they do not relish being taxed unnecessarily. They will join with Post in wanting to know the facts.

ENCOURAGING The e spirit of help ag students of the among students of the state university has again been dem-onstrated to us. It is our ob-servation that ho church or lodge or other group enters so wholeheartedly into the busi-ness of pulling for the advant-age of fellow-members. A va-cancy in the Herald brought a docon trained applicants acche dozen trained applicants, each eager for the job and each en thusiastically boosted by mem bers of fellowship organizations bers of fellowship organizations. We found students profoundly in earnest—anklous for practi-cal work and a chance to make good. In the fever of anxiety we heard not one hint that would heard not one hint that would discredit any rival. Only good words were spoken for those in the race for preferment. That shows the right metal. We are glad to learn that hearly all graduate students. from the journalism department have found employment. This is enng. Most en couraging. Most encouraging is the fact that students are not looking. for soft berths, not afraid of too much work or too little pay, and that they reflect the spirit of independence which means everything to the future of our social order.
