Meet To Consider Drouth Situation

To Qualify For Federal Aid Designation As Drouth Area Is Asked

In response to requests made, Agent Walter L. Miller called county commissioners, farmers and townsmen of Wayne county to meet at the court house Monday to consider whether or not Wayne county should ask to be designated a drouth area. This was done in an effort to qualify the county for federal loans and WPA projects. The request will be passed on by state officials and then sent to Washington for approval. Director W. H. Brokaw and Statistician A. E. Anderson expressed belief that all Nebraska would be designated as drouth area so that federal funds could help in relief work rather than placing the burden on the county.

The resolutions drawn up Monday assert that Wayne county is in need of assistance.

If the county is placed in the drouth area WPA setups will be arranged to give employment to farmers and those depending on farms for their living. W. S. Conant suggests dams for creeks and such conservation projects to raise the water level. It is thought that quick drainage has been partially responsible for lowering of the water level and perhaps in reducing rainfall. County road improvements on which farmers could be employed are also suggested.

It was the opinion of the group that on account of the crop condition many farmers will need aid to purchase feed to winter their foundation stock. Loans for purchase of such feed will be available if the county is designated in the drouth area.

If the county is placed in the drouth classification each precinct will select a committee to act voluntarily as an advisory group to the county committee to be selected.

A daughter weighing 7 pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Longe of southeast of Wayne, Thursday, July 23.

TWO and TWO ARE FOUR

And if you keep on going you will get up to 140. That is just what you will save; $140 if you buy your Haddorff Vertichord from Voget instead of the Sioux City or Omaha music houses.

You do not have to buy your piano from Sioux City or Omaha houses — You can buy some of the finest pianos right here in Wayne from Voget for less money. Voget sells pianos from the home. Has no rent, salesmen salary and commission to pay. Voget sells the Mason & Hamlin, Chickering, Haddorff, George Steck, Steinway, Bush & Gerts, also the Charles Frederick Stein with the Stein's patented "Harmonic Tone Chamber" and the Julius Bluthner Aliquot pianos, only piano made with the exclusive "Aliquot Scaling" — the world's finest. My brother, Otto A. Voget, says that the Bluthner is the finest piano made in every way and sold in America. Imported from Germany. They have just started shipping pianos to America.

Let me show you how it is built different than any other piano. Voget has three new uprights that he will sell regardless of cost to make room for the new type pianos — the Vertichord Grand — the finest of the new type made. Have you seen and heard it? YOU MUST SEE IT, PLAY IT BEFORE YOU BUY A PIANO. Here is your chance to buy one of the three uprights for only $140 — yes sold on payments and with a money back guarantee. You will never again buy new pianos — regular retail price $425 — for only $140 — my loss is your gain. There are more Vertichords sold than any other new type piano of this kind. Why? Because it has a finer tone and better construction. The only new type piano made that has a tone comparable to a grand. There is only one Vertichord and it is made by Haddorff. The rest are imitations. Let's build up Wayne, instead of tearing it down. All I ask — give me a chance to prove what I say is true. Let us show you one of these pianos. The only new type piano made that has a tone comparable to a grand.

Young Man Finds Much Of Interest In Dearborn Visit

"Four of us drove to Dearborn and visited the Edison institute museum and village," begins a letter to Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen written by Joe Lutgen, who is attending the Ann Arbor, Mich., special X-ray school preparatory to continuing his training at the University of Nebraska school of medicine. "The museum and village have been built by Henry Ford," Joe states. "The exhibits are not only of Edison's inventions, but consist of all sorts of evolutionary developments. The main museum contains several types of exhibits.

"Agriculture—here implements are arranged in their evolution, the displays being placed to trace the growth of a season's crop. Beginning with implements used in preparing soil, the sequence shows implements used for planting seed, for cultivating, for harvesting, and finally, for the actual preparation of the crop for market. There is a reproduction of McCormick's first commercially practical reaper, wooden pitchforks and all wooden and hand-carved grain scoops.

"Textile—the display shows the preparation of the various types of fibers for weaving. There are old models of sewing machines and washing machines, and there is a reproduction of the Eli Whitney cotton gin.

"Steam engines—actual full-sized engines from a reproduction of one of the first small types to a complete monstrous Diesel engine.

"Electrical display—includes an exhibit of over 1,000 early and late model incandescent lamps. There is one large electric light which is one of the largest ever made. The glass bulb measures 20 inches in diameter and the very heavy tungsten filament consumes 50,000 watts. The average lamp used for ordinary lighting is 40 watts; the big lamp consumes about 1,250 times that amount or 67 horsepower. There is also an exhibit of a section of every cable stretched across the Atlantic commencing with the first laid by Cyrus Field. Many of Edison's inventions, such as mimeographs, stencil machines and Ediphones are also housed here.

"Transportation — this exhibit consists of prairie schooners, stage coaches, coaches of all types, an old band wagon, airplanes and autogiros, the Floyd Bennett (the plane used by Admiral Byrd in his flight over the South Pole and which was frozen in the ice for two years). There is an exact duplicate of the "Rocket" which was the first successful steam locomotive built in England in about 1829. There is an old Civil war train with a Civil war engine, the "Sam Hill" which stands at its head. The baggage car has a small laboratory in it with bottles of chemicals such as those Edison used. Edison used to be a candy butcher on an old train, and he had a printing press on which he published a paper called the Herald which he distributed on the train. This press is also here in the car. There is a bicycle exhibit and you can see the largest and smallest ones ever built and used. There is one which has seats for ten people.

"After we had gone through the museum, we went to another building which was the entrance to the model village. It is quite large and covers about 200 acres. We were picked up by an old horse drawn bus which took us to the far end of the village. On the way we passed old coaches of every description. These were horse drawn and were carrying sight-seers. The historical village

Believe It or Not—

Saturday with the temperature soaring to 102, a fellow walked into a local barber shop and sat down to wait his turn. At that moment, two matches in his pocket lighted, burning out an entire pocket in his trousers. The matches were probably quarreling about the heat, and in their excitement, became ignited.

centers in the 'green' as did early American communities. About this spot stand the public buildings—the chapel, the school, the inn, the store, the courthouse and the town hall.

"The chapel of Martha-Mary is a beautiful typical Colonial church and is used by people living in the village. Its interior is a beautiful pure white, and it has a lovely organ. It was named after the mothers of Mr. and Mrs. Ford. The bricks and front doors are from the girlhood home of Mrs. Ford.

"An old Scotch settlement school has the original furnishings. It was in this school that Henry Ford received his early training.

"The McGuffey group consists of log cabins, one of which was the cabin of Mr. McGuffey, that is, the one in which he was born. He was the man who wrote McGuffey's readers.

"The Lincoln courthouse—this is where Abraham Lincoln practiced law. It originally was the courthouse at Logan county, Ill. In this are some of the rails split by Lincoln, the chair in which he was seated when he was assassinated at Booth's theatre, a cabinet which he and his father built, his office furniture, a large reward sign in which the U. S. government offered $40,000 for the capture of his assassin, and a large copy of Edwin Markham's poems about Lincoln. (This is in Mr. Markham's handwriting and was made only a few years ago.) In the old stone fireplace is a log fire which has been burning continuously since 1929 as a tribute or memorial to Lincoln. It was lighted by ex-President Hoover.

In the Menlo park group which is surrounded by a white picket fence are buildings reconstructed from or replicas of those used by Mr. Edison at Menlo Park, New Jersey. Even the soil around the buildings has a different appearance than that elsewhere. This is due to the fact that this reddish colored soil is brought from Menlo Park, New Jersey, and placed about the buildings. The most interesting building in this group is Mr. Edison's laboratory. It was here that the first phonograph, practical incandescent lamp, microphone and telephone transmitters were produced. It has been restored to be exactly as it was in the early days. It contains its original instruments and apparatus, as well as models of many of his inventions.

"The Waterford general store which is 82 years old is a frame structure which has the original counters, old equipment and much old merchandise in it. I got a particular kick out of the red-flannels, bustles, hoop skirts, twist tobacco, old patent medicines, old time shoes and old style hour-glass caskets.

"St. John Bennett's Jewelry shop—for many years a landmark on Cheapside, in the heart of London. The four effigies—Gog and Magog, the angel and Father Time—were historic figures. The original facade has been reconstructed into a two-story building to house the clock and effigies. These figures are man-size and each holds an iron dumb-bell and strikes a bell of different size and tone. The clock strikes every quarter, half, and three-quarters of an hour and of course, on the hour. "We had lunch in Dearborn and wasted time for a while. On our way to Ann Arbor we stopped at Westwood and heard Ben Bernie and his band. I got him to autograph a menu for me.

Joe will return to Nebraska this fall and will return to the Nebraska school of medicine.

Honor Pioneer Wayne Woman On Eightieth Year

The 80th birthday of Mrs. N. J. Juhlin was remembered this week with family gatherings and a party given by St. Paul Lutheran Aid, making the anniversary a happy occasion for her.

Fifty St. Paul women met at the church parlors Monday afternoon to honor Mrs. Juhlin on her birthday of Tuesday. Mrs. W. C. Heidreich paid special tribute to Mrs. Juhlin as a faithful church and Aid worker. Mrs. Juhlin was a charter member of the society and her life has been one of helpful service to others. Readings of 60 years ago and music were presented by Miss Beulah Bornhoff, Miss Georgina and Miss Mildred Eckstrom, Miss Helen and Miss Ruth Heidenreich, Mrs. Robert Roggenbach and Mrs. Jake Johnson. Covered dish luncheon closed the afternoon. Mrs. Albert Bassian, Mrs. Charles Heikes and Mrs. Geo. Bornhoff comprised the committee planning the party. A basket of canned fruits and vegetables was presented Mrs. Juhlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Juhlin and family of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Juhlin and son of Newcastle, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillan were with Mrs. Juhlin Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Juhlin of Kansas City, came Tuesday to spend Mrs. Juhlin's birthday and a few other days with her. The McMillans were also with Mrs. Juhlin on her anniversary.

Mrs. Juhlin came from Sweden in 1884 when Wayne was a small village on a barren prairie. This year's drouth is the most severe Mrs. Juhlin recalls in this country. Mrs. Juhlin has seven children, one born in Sweden and the others here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bjorklund and daughters, Thelma and Regina, of Wakefield, Nels Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson of Concord, surprised Mrs. Anna Juhlin Tuesday afternoon on her 80th birthday. The guests brought lunch.

Merchant Explains Tax On Gasoline

Motorist taxpayers of Wayne county paid their share of state gasoline taxes which cost $9,712,000 in 1935 as compared to $8,500,000 in 1934, according to E. H. Merchant, chairman of the Wayne county Petroleum Industries committee.

State revenues from gasoline taxes were $1,200,000 more than in 1934 due to the one cent per gallon increase in the tax. But the duplicating federal gasoline tax cost the taxpayers of the state an estimate additional $2,240,000. On this basis, Mr. Merchant explained, the two gasoline taxes cost the people of the state $11,936,000 in 1935 as against $10,850,000 in 1934.

Wayne county motorists contributed $70,288.46 in gasoline taxes in 1935. This amounts to $6.65 for each of the inhabitants of the county and $25.99 for each car and truck listed for taxes in 1935. In addition to this there is a federal tax which is added by the manufacturer to the price of your car when you purchase it. This federal tax amounts to about $28 on a Ford V8 coupe, and on all other cars in proportion to their cost.

It cost Wayne county $3253.76 to collect taxes in 1935 or about $1 for each schedule returned. The cost of collecting $70,288.46 gas tax for the county was nothing as far as the taxpayer is concerned.

"It is interesting to note," said Mr. Merchant, "that gasoline taxes alone in Wayne county averaged $25.99 per vehicle while the average assessed value of cars and trucks was $58.55. The gasoline tax amounted to 44 per cent of the assessed value. This does not include license fees, personal taxes, or the federal taxes on the vehicle itself, or the taxes on tires, tubes, battery and almost everything attached to the car or truck. Gasoline taxes," he said, "make up the larger part of the 1935 automotive tax bill in 1935 which amounted to more than $1,000,000,000 in the United States.

"It looks as if the highway users of this county, by paying gasoline taxes on top of all other taxes, are doing their share to meet the cost of roads," said Mr. Merchant. "The gasoline tax has been a good revenue producer, and has been popular where tax rates have been kept reasonable and the revenue has been used for roads. There is considerable opposition, however, to high tax rates, to use of the income for any purpose other than roads, and particularly to the duplicating federal gasoline tax, which should be repealed," Mr. Merchant concludes.

Live Stock Agency To Help In Drouth

Farmers in the drouth area with cattle for sale will be put in touch with persons desiring to buy cattle and those with pastures for lease will be put in touch with persons in need of pastures through the Federal Live Stock Feed agency, just set up in Kansas City. Agricultural Agent Walter I. Moberg advised Wayne county farmers Tuesday.

E. O. Pollock is in charge of the agency which will act as a central clearing house for live stock information. It also advises stock owners in drouth areas in order to facilitate the sale and transfer of cattle from regions where there is a shortage of supplies and water.

"Better Lumber For Less"

No. 27 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, July 30, 1936 Vol. 5

A bolt of lightning that cracked a ceiling at Jersey City, broke up a class of saxophone players. After all, boys, nature knows best, even though Tugwell and Wallace think otherwise.

After all, it hardly pays to let the barn go without it when our barn paint is selling at $1.00 per gallon.

Cash prices on American copper bearing, zinc coated barbed wire, $2.75, $3.00, $3.25 and $3.50 per eighty rod spool.

A Princeton archeologist said a red himself with a razor or 4000 years old. It differs from ours in not seeming 4000 years old.

American steel posts, the posts painted a bright orange color, 5 1/2 feet 26 including fasteners.

The trench silo is probably the best all around temporary silo, particularly as it requires no cash outlay to construct. However, for those who desire to erect temporary above-ground silos we have the slot cribs, wire cribs, and tear-proof paper.

To keep chick and pig troughs clean and sweet in this hot weather a small amount of our double refined lime will help. Priced as low as 10c.

Several Indian reservations are included in the dust storm areas. This makes it easier, as the red man can bite it standing up.

It may not be generally known, but this is extremely hot, dry weather is hard on roofs than cool, rainy weather. It's a good time, while dry, to re-roof. Prices are very reasonable at present.

"Is this the laundry?" you sent me a half dozen old handkerchiefs instead of my shirt. "Then ain't handkerchiefs. Them is your shirt."

We have a few tons left of coal screenings that we are giving away. Now done all rush in at once!

Best grade Certainteed Aluminum paint 90c per quart; $3.10 per gallon.

Machinery paint, any color, 90c per quart.

There is a yarn of a painter who slipped off the roof of a house and into a barrel of turpentine. Another painter was telling of the accident. "Did it hurt him much?" asked the painter. "Dunno," the painter replied. "they ain't caught him yet."

The "Havenots" seem to think that the mounting cost of government will be paid for by the "Havenots." Don't fool yourselves, boys. Hidden away in the cost of the food you eat, the clothes you wear, the fuel you burn, and everything else you use is the tax you do not see. But you pay it just the same.

Edward Pitzer and three children of Pilger, relatives of the Cobbs, were there also. Funeral arrangements are not complete at this time. Sympathy goes out to the relatives. The acceptance speech by Gov. Alf Landon at Topeka, Kan., was more than passing interest to Mrs. George Buskirk, Clare and Arlene, and Mrs. Wallace Ring. In 1925 on their trip south they all posed for snapshots on the capitol steps on June 28. No thought was given then to the possibility of a future president speaking from there.

MODERN TIRES FOR MODERN CARS

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE

CREST first line TIRES are specially designed to meet every requirement of today's high speed motor cars. In the city, tires must be built to withstand the yanking, tearing torture of a "stop on a dime" with wet pavement skids, icy roads, burning hot paving, etc., eating away at the life of the tire. Out on the open road speeds of 60, 70 and even 80 miles per hour are a common thing—that's when you'll need SAFETY in abundance—sturdy, dependable CREST tires that are built to stand up and "take it" for mile after mile of the hardest kind of wear. In CREST you get the following features—

ENTIRE TREAD ON THE ROAD—load is not borne by part of the tire, but by the WHOLE tire.

LUBRICATED CORDS—minimize internal friction and heat.

TOUGHENED RUBBER

MAXIMUM SIDEWALL FLEXING

MULTIPLE CABLE PLEAD—steel piano wire.

FORMIDABLE GRIP POWER—non-skid wear.

Long gone are the days when all a battery had to do was turn over the starter, honk the horn a bit and perhaps keep a few lights on for a short while in the evening. Nowadays with bright head, tail, dome, fender, parking, spot and elaborate dashboard lights as well as radios, heaters, cigar lighters, dual horns, frost shields and many other electrical gadgets, it's easy to realize the terrific drain on a battery's capacity. THE WAYNE HERALD

E. W. Huse, Editor and Proprietor.

Gets Wires Twisted

BY his inability to cleave to facts, Edgar Howard, brilliant editor of the Columbus Telegram, shows an accord with the New Deal that destroys any hope that he could forsake present moorings. While we endorsed his warehouse plan one hundred per cent as a means to store surplus farm products, we suggested that the idea was entirely out of harmony with the program of curtailed production carried on by the New Deal administration. This effort to persuade him to go forward without meeting himself coming back, led him to discharge a spot in this direction without allowing a shadow of consistency to interfere. We are reproducing this editorial as follows to show what a fellow can do with a schooled imagination and few facts:

"He lives in Wayne, the capital city of one of the richest agricultural sections in Nebraska.

"A press clipping bureau reports that during July 85 Nebraska newspapers have editorially approved the Daily Telegram's advocacy of state and federal warehouses in which to store food stuffs for the people during the fat years, thus to better meet the needs of the people in the lean drouth years. Only one among all Nebraska newspapers makes sport of the plan. That one is the Wayne Herald, owned and edited by E. W. Huse, sometimes said to be the wealthiest country editor in Nebraska, and one of the ablest. However, while admitting the ability of Editor Huse, it must also be admitted that he takes first, second and third prize in a prejudice contest. Some time ago Wayne folks wanted a new federal postoffice building, and finally got it. Editor Huse tried hard to rejoice with other Wayne folks when his home town was awarded the postoffice building, but he could not forget that the award was made under a democratic administration, and on one occasion he is reported to have confidentially stated to a friend: 'Of course I shall not oppose the building of the new mail house, but why the heck did it have to come through a democratic administration?' I forgive Editor Huse. I admit that this heat phrase is just as distressing in the editorial sanctum as in the cornfields, but I plead with Brother Huse to get ready to welcome the building of a federal or state warehouse in his home town within near years. Of course it will be built under a democratic administration. I recall a time when it was said that year after year Wayne county produced more corn to the acre than any other county in Nebraska, and how nice it would be to have a federal or state warehouse in Wayne, fill it with corn, wheat, rye, barley, beans and other non-perishable farm products in the fat years, thus insuring a supply of food stuffs for the home folks when a lean year might come along.

"Hon. Martin Ringer, the progressive mayor of Wayne, did more than any other Wayneite to win Wayne's new federal building. I trust he may be pleased now to begin paving the way to win the permission of Editor Huse for the building of a state or federal warehouse in Wayne."

In wielding his editorial rapier, Editor Howard presumes wildly excepting with reference to Mayor Ringer. In his behalf, Editor Howard goes only half far enough. The mayor was also the leading spirit in the movement to acquire a municipal auditorium which was a more useful investment of public money than counting trees or enumerating the records used by county officers or engaging in many other foolish and wasteful enterprises. It is well known that the mayor had the unqualified support of the Herald. The wealth imputed to the Herald is of course a big joke.

Editor Howard is careful not to differentiate between regular democrats and the New Dealers, for the former of whom—candidly shunted to one side—we have the profoundest respect. For the pledge wreckers and fantastic money spenders leading the New Deal, we must confess rather pronounced prejudices. We are sorry Editor Howard is hopelessly set, and that he will continue to be one of the two Nebraska dailies supporting New Deal sophistries.

"That what it understood to be an invitation to cooperate developed into coercion is no fault to be laid at its door. Any one who knew Washington when it was under the spell of inspired NRA baloney knows how quickly the volunteer spirit of trade and industry was chilled with the bureaucratic urge toward compulsion and reprisal. It takes no stretch of memory to recall the beginning of the authoritarian rash which still speckles the body politic.

"To the business man who saw his partnership with government interpreted with the robust lingo of 'crackdown' commissars, the mention of 'economic tyranny' can only seem a grim perversion of the realities. In the bright lexicon of politics, 'royalist' may signify a promotion in odium from 'tory.'"

The torrid wave intensified people's unhappy thought of seared corn by shortening their sleep. After a restless night, people were in no amiable mood to see crops moving in the direction of ruin. So, the average individual with broken rest, has been strongly inclined to blame something on some one, and make liberal contribution to his neighbor's misery. As the weather has modified its heat, rest has been possible, and a better frame of mind meets the inevitable. Inhabitants of this year's dry belt look ahead more philosophically and courageously when the elements cool, confident that things will turn out better than expected. Profound and undisturbed sleep is a wonderfully effective agency in dispelling bad temper and steeling the nerves to unpleasant consequences.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman says the farmer is compelled to face constantly changing conditions and be prepared to adjust plans to them. That newspaper advises an exchange of ideas to solve drouth problems. "It is just such emergencies as this that challenge the resourcefulness of the men on the farms and ranches of the country," says the Journal-Stockman. "By comparing notes and following time-tried methods they are able to turn disaster into victory, and carry on."

Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest, sometimes seems to lose his ballast and run wild. In a recent talk he said the president was a "liar," and many consider this way of telling the president as an unnecessary affront to the dignity of the country's highest office. The priest also veered far away from sound sense when he advised farmers, in the failure of William Lemke's impossible election to the presidency, to repudiate their obligations.

A columnist says there are more snoopers in Washington than ever before. Officials are said to spy on one another—an attempt of one to get something "on" the other fellow. This practice smacks of old-world policies.

fish, bird and game animals amounts to one and one-half billion dollars. "The wildlife crop makes a real contribution to the utilization of low priced sub-marginal lands and supplements the income, value and attractiveness of higher priced lands," reports Mr. Whiplaker.

Erosion control programs benefit wildlife by conserving water and soil, increasing the layer of forests and fields and by encouraging more grass and shrubs which the country has as food and cover.

Ed Sala Returns From Western Pleasure Trip "The west is very dry outside of the irrigated countries," reported Ed Sala who has just returned from Oregon after a sightseeing trip with John Hintz, Elmer and Sam Hintz. The group left July 20 and returned Sunday.

Oregon people remark that the traffic is greater this summer than previously. Lots of people are immigrating to that portion of the country. Most of them are "floating laborers" as not many people are buying and settling in Oregon. The wheat fields and large truck farms attract a great many workers. Oregon has had very fine crops this spring and summer and the valleys are pretty dry green.

Mr. Sala visited the immense irrigation project which has just opened in Ontario, Oregon. The week before the Nebraskans were there 1,000 acres of this new irrigated territory had been sold. The land is watered by a large dam which is 65 miles away and the water is piped to the irrigated region. If no rain fell for two years there is enough water on hand to take care of several thousand acres. The territory is raw land and needs cultivating, therefore it is being sold from $10 to $15 per acre.

Mr. Sala reported that Oregon is a wonderful place to go for a pleasure and sightseeing trip, as the crops are so green and there are many lovely homes and flowers.

INGRATITUDE. A column, written by the editor of the Charlotte, Mich., Republican-Tribune, and reproduced in several Michigan newspapers, is devoted to showing frequent evidences of thoughtlessness on the part of the public in its attitude toward the home newspaper. The story is founded on the action of a well-to-do townsman who stopped his paper on account of taking a daily. The well-to-do townsman died, and the surviving family looked to the home paper for a proper review of the departed's life. The daily mentioned his death in a few lines, whereas the home paper gave it usually liberal report. The home newspaper is expected to go far beyond real news value in detailing community or personal activities, and yet business needed by the local institution is often taken elsewhere. It is strangely true that the service of the home newspaper, given without stint and at large cost, is often too little considered in the awarding of essential business. Stings of ingratitude felt and reported by the Michigan editor are undoubtedly the experiences of editors everywhere.

Grass Roots (Continued from page one) Mr. Gillilan is remembered by many Wayne people. He lectured here as chautauqua and college attraction on different occasions, and his wholesome philosophy and keen wit made him a big favorite.

Mr. Hook says the popular humorist gave the insurance men a feast of ideas touching congress and the administration at Washington. The lecturer's suggestion that congressmen often catpaw with their knives and pour hot coffee into saucers before drinking would seem no censurable reversion to "horse and buggy" days. It is no evidence of mental paucity or character instability even to mow away the day's provender with one's fingers, unaided by modern implements, a la the pithecanthropus erectus. There would appear to be more conclusive grounds on which to base suspicion of vertebral deficiency if not abridged intelligence. As to the president, the humorist said some unbusiness was felt that on taking his ocean excursions he might try to walk on the water.

Increase Is Shown In School Census A comparison of the Wayne public school census of 1936 and that of 1935 shows that there are 722 students of school age, that is between 5 and 21, as compared to the 678 of last year.

A total of 343 families are represented on an average of 2.10 pupils per family. The largest number of children at school age are in the families of Gordon Beckner, A McPherran and John L. Ulrich, each having eight.

W. J. Vath took the census.

Stanton-Hoskins Lead In League Stanton and Hoskins tie for first place in the Big Ten baseball league, each having four victories and no defeats for second half of the season. Pilger places next with three wins and one defeat. Wayne and Wisner have each had two wins and two losses. Laurel, Coleridge, Winside and Wakefield have won one game each and lost three. Carroll has lost the three games played.

Last Sunday Wisner defeated Wakefield by 12 to 9; Winside won from Coleridge by 12 to 5; Hoskins defeated Pilger by 7 to 5; and Carroll-Laurel game was called off.

Next Sunday Wayne plays at Coleridge, Laurel at Wisner, Winside at Carroll, Hoskins at Stanton and Wakefield at Pilger.

LONDON. From everywhere come reports of Governor Landon's mounting strength. People liked his straightforward speech of acceptance. They have reason to believe he means what he says, and that he will try to do what he says he will try to do. He is a man of the rank and file, and he can be depended on to uphold American traditions. Currents of public opinion everywhere reflect his steadily rising popularity. Mark Sullivan thinks the issue in this campaign is more vital than any since the founding of the republic. He says the democratic party has become the New Deal party, and that the tide is running strong enough against the New Deal to defeat it in November. We offer that H. D. Liggett, publisher of the Ord Quiver, who spent several weeks in Minnesota, returns to Nebraska with the report that persons up there who were for President Roosevelt in 1932, are now almost without exception against him. A Wayne county citizen who spent a month in Michigan, reports that he found everybody for Landon. The Kansas governor is the right type to appeal to the masses and to inspire confidence in all classes—an essential to healthy and lasting recovery.

Washington, D. C., July 28—Newspaper advertising will play an important part in a far reaching program to be employed by leading food chain organizations in a nationwide effort to relieve an acute situation which faces the country's live stock producers. The campaign was requested by representatives of important live stock groups to aid a large percentage of the six million cattle raisers throughout the country. Farmers and ranchers, forced by the drought to rush their cattle to the market, combined with the heavy seasonal shipments from other sections are causing a temporary oversupply of beef.

C. B. Denman, of Chicago, president of the National Live Stock Marketing association, stated "the National Domestic Beef Sale was prompted by a serious situation confronting the beef industry. June slaughter of beef was the highest on record," he explained. "The spread in price between choice and common grades of cattle was one of the narrowest on record. These factors caused heavy losses to cattle feeders and were a depressing influence on seasonal market prices for fat cattle as well as for feeder animals. In an effort to stimulate the sale of domestic beef," Mr. Denman continued, "representatives of producers first asked and obtained the assistance of food chain stores. Subsequently independent meat dealers, packers and other agencies joined in the campaign to move a seasonal surplus of beef during the month of August at fair prices to producers and consumers."

Commenting upon the plan to be adopted by retail food chain stores, Hunter C. Phelan of Norfolk, Virginia, president of the Food and Grocery Chain Stores of America, Inc., stated:

"Large national, sectional, and small local chains, operating Food & Grocery Chain Stores of America, Inc., over 32,000 retail chain food stores promptly responded to cattle raisers' request for assistance recognizing in their situation an unusual opportunity to employ the organized forces of retail food distribution to the joint advantage of producer, distributor, and consumer alike. Wholeheartedly the chain grocery industry joined the movement. For the duration of this intensive producer-consumer campaign, special advertising copy featuring beef and beef products at reasonable prices will be run in thousands of newspapers from one end of the country to the other; supplementing this newspaper advertising, unusual sales promotion will be conducted throughout the organizations of all these cooperating retail chain food stores companies and special displays featuring beef and beef products will be made in all stores, windows and markets. Such concerted sales effort will inevitably lead to increased consumption of beef."

"This present undertaking of the food industry is most representative in its scope and includes such prominent live stock organizations as National Live Stock and Meat Board and The Institute of American Meat Packers. Retail chain food store operators are particularly enthusiastic over the campaign for cooperative action, such as is proposed during August, will again demonstrate that, whereas arbitrary regulation of distribution invariably works hardships upon some phase of the complete cycle of production, distribution and consumption, orderly procedure throughout these three phases of merchandising obtains the maximum benefits for all with excessive costs to no one. The retail chain food store industry is confident that the results which will be obtained by this united effort at orderly marketing will represent a forward step in efficient food distribution."

Water Furnishes Relief In Heat Of Summer

It is a well-known fact that water is one source of comfort from the heat. Just how great a relief can be judged only by the amount that is used. According to Water Commissioner Walter S. Bressler, the Wayne pumps have been running approximately 22 hours a day, pumping 400 gallons per minute. One day 522,000 gallons were consumed. Receipts from the last quarter were $3,308.60.

A few years ago people were charged flat rates a year for water. The price depended upon whether there was a bath or sink in the home or a hydrant in the yard. Now everything depends upon meter readings.

The heat also affects the temperature of the water. When the water leaves the pump in the city wells on north Main the temperature is 52 degrees. By the time it reaches the Wayne business district faucets it is about 58 degrees. This is cooler than the residential districts. The reason for this is that the pipes which carry the water are 8 inches in diameter. The pipes which carry the water out into the city are only 4 inch pipes and therefore have more of a chance to heat the water.

Dr. C. E. Condra of the University of Nebraska geology department, believes that Wayne and other Nebraska points may have a water shortage. The reason for this statement is that in the past 10 years the land table has been lowered between 8 and 9 feet.

Bug Lodges in Ear.

Mr. Hook tied honors with one other in the United States in number sold in May, this being 31. Officials honored the Marathon members at a special dinner Tuesday noon.

No Road Building In Two Counties

Wayne and Dixon counties were not benefited through the WPA plan to build farm-to-market roads. In a report issued last week neither county has had a single mile of such highway building. Cuming, Stanton and Knox counties have also been left out of the program. Cedar county had 2.5 miles. Dakota county 9.7, Madison 81, Pierce 8 and Thurston 3 miles. In the farm-to-market bridge building program Wayne and Dixon counties each had one bridge allowed.

Men in the association have been with the railroad 30 or more years.

On account of drouth conditions Wayne county fair board, at a meeting Friday evening, decided to hold only a 4-12 display and school exhibit this fall in place of the usual county fair. The displays will be on Friday and Saturday, September 18 and 19, at the fair grounds and the money the association receives from the county fair purposes will be used to pay premiums in the two divisions.

Entertainment and Recreation Are Provided For Girl Scouts

With a natural campfire throwing soft light on picturesque grounds, the 19 girl scouts who were "roughing" it at the scout grounds southeast of Wayne last week entertained their parents and friends Thursday evening. The girls and their guests were seated around the fire as the young folks presented a program in keeping with their training.

Rolling grounds and plenty of shade trees make an ideal place for the scout cabin which is a home-like two-room house with fireplace. One room is screened and two large tables seat the girls at meal time. Good appetites and good meals made an excellent combination, and the girls responded eagerly at 7:30, 12 and 6 each day when Miss Elsie Johnson rang the gong.

Campfire each evening at 8:15 with songs and other pleasant associations and talks each evening at 9 o'clock to a close a busy, happy day. And when the youngsters retired each found a comfortable cot in one of the three large tents. Seven girls slept in one tent and six in each of the others. Camp leaders also had a tent. Each tent had a floor and the cots were neatly arranged to allow each girl room for her dressing table which was a peach crate with shelves and some with curtains. One would be surprised how neat and commodious a peach crate can be made. The girls had their toiletries and other articles neatly placed on the shelves and some had looking-glasses fastened above them. Each tent was

A character playlet read by Patty Bressler was portrayed by other girls, and a Robinson Crusoe story was read by Miss Kathryn Berry as the girl scouts enacted the skit.

To close the program the campers and other girl scouts present formed a circle and sang songs, a fitting finale to the evening's program.

Miss Nyehaul Whitmore was scout camp leader with Miss Grace Kiker and Miss Kathryn Berry assistants. Mrs. J. M. Strahan is council chairman. Men and women of the council, also parents, assisted at the grounds.

As the girls broke up camp Saturday evening they expressed their delight with the week's outing with these phrases: "The best time we ever had—not homesick a minute—the happiest camp—lots to eat—we had to have covers it was so cold at night—and if they had another week we'd like to stay."

Girls who attended camp last week were the following: Betty Pile, Elaine Benthack, Margie Pich, Dorothy Casper, Catherine Cavanaugh, Beverly Strahan, Barbara Strahan, Patty Bressler, Marguerite Eihung, Mary Lou Milner, Ann, Josephine and Frances Ahern, Evelyn Auker, Carol Jean Nicholaisen, Betty Joe Gildersleeve, Ethel Jean Olson and Leah Jean Cauwue, Dorothy Smolski.

A second week of camping was abandoned as sufficient number did not enroll for the period.

Fire Department of Wayne Provides Modern Equipment

Efficiency in Protection Has Developed From Bucket Brigade Of Fighting.

With bids opening for a new fire truck for the city of Wayne on Tuesday, attention is turned to the first fire protection ever secured. Going into the musty, yellowed, old council reports one finds that in 1885, a motion was made before the town council to appoint a committee to investigate and report as to some protection from fire. A. B. Slater and Henry Ley circulated a petition to vote upon a tax levy and make an appropriation not to exceed $1,000 for the purchase of fire apparatus. In December of the same year it was moved by Councilman Neely that the trustees dig three four-foot wells for the general purpose of fire protection on 1st, 2nd and 3rd streets on Main. Councilmen Ley, Steele and Love were appointed to locate the wells and let contracts. Neely and Slater formed a committee to purchase pumps for wells, hook and ladder trucks, apparatus and two dozen buckets.

In 1887 it was ordered that a proposition to levy a tax of 5 mills be voted upon as a special fund for better protection against fire. On May 19 of the same year, Simmons Brothers were awarded the contract for the digging of the four-foot wells. The council also provided for a pump for one of the wells over which a windmill was built.

Cisterns which were also built were 10 feet high, 11 feet long and 20 feet deep. Pipes leading from one cistern to the other were laid in the middle of the street and were five feet deep.

In July, 1887, the fire company made a request to the council that it be allowed two lanterns and a crowbar.

The engine house was located in the alley running east and west on block 2. Later it was moved to the corner of the Soncken lot. Geo. W. Kostwyt was the first marshal. In 1889 with the installing of Wayne water system, new hook and ladder supplies were bought for the company.

The fire of 1891 was one of the first major tasks for the new department. With such inadequate system the fire destroyed a large portion of the business district. The pump which the city had just bought had two long cylindrical handles. Four men took charge of each handle and pumped the water from the wells and cisterns by hand as the bucket brigade carried water to the blaze.

A new engine house was built south of the depot in 1891 and again the fire department headquarters were moved.

In 1895 J. A. Mines was fire marshal and A. J. Tracy was assistant fire marshal. It was decided to formulate some bi-laws and organize the department but this was not successful. In March of that year the fire department contributed $50 toward a fire alarm.

Three hundred dollars was appropriated for the purchase of a hose cart in 1896 and in 1898 provisions were made for compensating the fire boys when on duty. At this time L. W. Roe was fire marshal.

Bi-laws were formulated by which to regulate the department in 1912. This was the year when the city hall was built. It was provided that the fire department should have no less than 20 men and no more than 75 who should at least be 18 years of age. Officers were fire chief, assistant, secretary and treasurer. George Lamberson was the chief under this new organization.

In 1915 the city of Wayne had its first automobile truck. This was an old Reo which had only one chemical tank. In 1919 the Reo was replaced by an Oldsmobile truck which is still in use. A truck body was bought and E. H. Merchant and Ed Briggs mounted the equipment. This is the truck which is to be replaced.

An addition to the fire department came in 1926 when a chemical truck, a La France Brockway Torpedo, was purchased. This is still in good condition.

Plans are now being made with bids opened Tuesday for a triple-combination truck equipped with a hose pumper, ladder and booster tank which takes the place of chemical tank. This pump is used to get pressure and is particularly good for minor fires.

Wayne now has 34 men on its fire department. They are: Joe Baker, H. W. Barnett, Don Beaman, Frank Beckner, John Bingold, Geo. Bornhoff, W. S. Bressler, N. H. Bruggert, R. W. Casper, H. B. Craven, Burr Davis, A. E. Davidson, L. W. Ellis, E. E. Fleetwood, Frank Heine, S. A. Hemple, Armand Hiscoc, Ross Jacobs, Henry Ley, W. S. Miller, L. B. McClure, Carl Nicolaisen, Willis Noakes, L. F. Perry, Walter Priess, M. L. Ringer, John Soules, Herman Sund, Jr., L. W. Vath, Clarence Wright, Paul Zepin and Paul Rogge.

Visit Virgin Range. Deer, moose and bear range in virgin timber in Chippewa Indian National park near the Canadian border where Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carhart, Charles and Mary of Carhart, spent two weeks. Mr. Carhart reports having had to stop his car suddenly once to avoid striking three deer, and a moose roamed about their log cabin one night. A new regulation just put in force this summer prohibits smoking in the woods or in an automobile. This is to prevent forest fires which have taken much valuable timber this summer.

Elevator Collapse Spills Much Grain

Allen, Neb.—Amid the din of the clatter and ripping of boards, one of the large storage elevators of the Holmquist Grain company here collapsed without warning shortly after 7 p. m. Thursday.

More than 22,000 bushels of oats were scattered for several hundred feet in all directions and the remains of the structure covered the Burlington railroad track. A train from Sioux City to O'Neill was delayed by the accident.

A hasty investigation failed to determine the cause of the crash. Oats stored in the elevator was last year's crop. A second elevator nearby was not damaged.

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

Talk to your local railroad agent. He's full of information about traveling and shipping.

Wear proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

West Attracts Young Women On Summer's Tour

"As we entered the grounds of the Texas Centennial exposition there stretched away before us one of the most beautiful vistas of an Empire on Parade," writes Miss Lavern Stamm and Miss Ann Hoffman who are spending the summer touring California, Texas and other western states.

"When we arrived at El Paso, Texas, we took a sight-seeing bus to Juarez, Old Mexico, which is separated from El Paso by the Rio Grande river. Juarez, being the principal port of entry to Mexico, has long been the most important commercial town on the Mexican border.

"From Texas we went to the Boulder dam which is located in the Black canyon of the Colorado where the river forms the boundary between the states of Nevada and Arizona. The estimated cost of construction is $120,000,000.

"Our next stop was Los Angeles, a city which provides an innumerable variety of attractions," writes Miss Stamm. There we visited the Forest Lawn cemetery park which is the home of Annie Laurie's church.

"Our first glimpse of the ocean was on our trip to Santa Catalina Island on a steamer called 'Catalina,'" continues Miss Stamm. "This large ocean-going steamer accommodates 2,500 passengers.

"At Selma, Calif., we visited with the Merle Shantz family," continues the writer. "Merle, who is assistant manager of the Citizen's Lumber Co. of Selma, will be remembered by many of the Wayne people.

"The Nebraskans visited Earl Hoogers at Kingsburg. The Hoogers live on a raisin ranch consisting of 22 acres, which is an irrigation project.

"Our last extended visit in California was in the Paul Olson home in Turlock. Mr. Olson is a poultry, eggs and feed dealer.

side of this structure. While at Jackass hill we visited Mark Twain's cabin and a gold mine. The miner explained what formations of rock indicate the presence of gold. He also panned gold for us.

"The trip to San Francisco was another thrilling adventure. We crossed the bay from Oakland to San Francisco by ferry from which we could view the famous bay bridge between the two cities.

"The young women plan to take the Redwood highway to Seattle, Wash., and then come home over the northern route.
