Justly FARMERS in the great drouth area, too seriously afflicted by Helped shortened crops to make the grade unaided, will justly be given construction jobs by the government...

The government's idea that a surplus is a symptom of dangerous capitalism is proving as fallacious as its policy of planned scarcity...

What To SAID Col. Frank Knox in his acceptance speech: "The people know that with the election of a new administration next November the dammed up forces of recovery will burst forth in a magnificent prosperity..."

It is fear of what may happen that has retarded prosperity. It is fear that industry and economy will be penalized instead of rewarded. It is fear that attempts to plan the lives of 120,000,000 people...

It is patent to thinking persons that threats to employers do not encourage expansion and extend employment. Confidence is needed to find private jobs for an army of 10,000,000 unemployed...

Political SPEAKING of national convention ballyhoo, especially designed to influence radio listeners, the Saturday Evening Post inserts this paragraph in an editorial treating the subject:

"The president came to Philadelphia, hard on the heels of the adoption of the platform and his nomination. There, before one of those tremendous political gatherings that are new to America, but a commonplace in the Europe of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini, he delivered his speech of acceptance..."

Logan Valley

(By Mrs. Albert Anderson) The Emil Halstrom family visited at Henry Bartling's on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Will Borg and family were Friday evening visitors at Henry Bartling's...

whole, the plans and policies of the candidate will need little further clarifying to anyone who listened carefully to his speech and caught its implications...

The war between the socialists and fascists in Spain threatens to involve all of Europe. Democratic governments looking on may regard both contending forces with equal horror...

Even in a country supposed to rank highest in the world in civilization some almost unbelievable outrages happen. Crimes of children against parents and parents against children cause normal persons whose ties of relationship are tender and sensitive...

Rexwell G. Tugwell, idea man for the present administration, and Col. Edward M. House, filling a similar role in the Wilson administration, are contrasted in a magazine article...

The American Institute of Public Opinion comes forth with the result of a poll to determine popular judgment in regard to the probable drift of the administration in the direction of a dictatorship...

The Nebraska City Press seems to be another Nebraska newspaper that notes the screaming incongruity between administration policies and Edgar Howard's warehouse plan...

Col. Frank Knox, republican vice presidential candidate, is naturally outspoken and direct in what he has to say. He knows his subject, and he is well able to handle it without conveying any doubtful meaning...

In considering mortgages, it should not be forgotten that widows and orphans have often invested legacies in mortgages and are depending on the interest to live.

James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, is quoted as saying this: "Mr. Roosevelt will not allow himself to be defeated." Just what is meant by that?

There is something wrong with the fellow who becomes indifferent to a political organization which has favored him with office.

termoon, July 28, at Wayne helping Mrs. N. J. Juhlin celebrate her 80th birthday. Arthur Veese and Edell and Mrs. Nels Lundahl, Dorothy and Doris left Wednesday morning for Stanton, Iowa, for a week's visit with relatives...

1910-1936

Twenty-six years ago this week we became owner of the Wayne Herald. At that time the plant had average equipment and both its earnings and expenses were meagre...

Farmers

led to unprecedented suppression of lawlessness and the routing of undesirable characters, and the city became a safer and better place in which to live.

When a fellow has a selfish or unsound reason for grievance he often tries to justify himself by taking refuge in a lot of strange and untenable imaginings.

Many Towns Celebrate. Many towns over the state, just becoming fifty years old, are planning to celebrate, pointing to the things they have accomplished...

Grace Church Has Festival Sunday. Grace Lutheran church of Wayne, of which Rev. H. Hopmann is pastor, plans its annual mission festival next Sunday at the Wayne fair grounds...

Suffers Broken Arm. Robert Eddie of North of Carroll, sustained a broken left arm above the wrist and severe bruises Monday when his team ran away and threw him from a wagon.

County Board. Wayne, Nebraska, July 27, 1936. Board of Equalization met as per adjournment. All members present. No further business completed.

ON EVOLUTION. The clash between William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow over evolution in a Tennessee court some years ago is explained in a recent magazine article...

For that fencing material, we have a stock that will take care of your needs. Our prices are reasonable, too.

Insulation should be considered a necessity. In a climate of extreme temperatures, cold and heat are both problems. Rooms too hot in summer to be used or houses too drafty in winter...

Will Name Groups To Help In County. Precinct meetings are planned in Wayne county next week to select three committeemen from each to act as an advisory group for helping the county committee make decisions in the seed and feed loans and WPA projects...

Northwest Wayne

(By Staff Correspondent) J. H. Spahr was a Sunday morning caller at Frank Spahr's home. Simonin spent Friday and Saturday with Carl Alvin Haas. Miss Lottie Bush spent the week-end in the Ray Perdue home...

Two Injured In Auto Accident

Mrs. Edna Rubeck and her uncle, J. P. Morgan of Hagerman, N. M., were injured in an automobile accident Tuesday evening about 6:30. The couple, accompanied by Mrs. Rubeck's son, Leonard, were returning from Pender where they had been attending the celebration...

Approval Given To Aid Projects

Wayne County Is Eligible Through Designation as Drouth Area.

A telegram from Washington, D. C., Friday approved the placing of Wayne county in the drouth area. Dixon, Stanton, Knox, Dakota, Thurston, Pierce, Madison, Cumming and other nearby counties have also been designated. Wayne county was requested such designation. W. H. Brookway and A. E. Anderson of Lincoln, state that the entire state of Nebraska will likely be so designated.

Exchanges

Mrs. L. M. Mohrman, 83, died at Pierce Wednesday last week. Plans are going forward for Stanton county's fair and race week of August 18-21. Farmers State Bank of Rosalie paid a 10 percent dividend, making a total of 50 percent paid.

folk in October has been postponed a year because of drouth conditions in Madison county. Petitions are being circulated in West Point asking that the city promote a plan to build a municipal swimming pool. Fire thought to have started by spontaneous combustion destroyed the railroad coal chite at Emerson Wednesday last week. Peter Clausen is chairman and Harry Nicholas secretary of the Stanton county organization promoting rural electrification. A prairie fire destroyed two stacks of hay at the Herman Kueser farm and three at the Elroy Salmon place near Pilger. Cedar county fair board is making plans for its exhibit of September 8 to 11 which will be curtailed somewhat because of drouth. Mrs. Arabelle Fegley, resident of Allen for 52 years, died Friday. She leaves her husband, James O. Fegley, three daughters and three sons. Fire destroyed half a section of pasture and hay on the Fred Baumert, Wm. Billawa, Harvey Brown and Frank Koch farms near Stanton. Cedar county board has appointed Jack Dwyer of Randolph, as county clerk to succeed Joe B. Larson who was killed in a car accident. Joe Simmons of Emerson, was cut about the head and arms Sunday last week when he fell asleep while driving his route to deliver city papers. His car went over an embankment near Randolph and he was thrown against the wind shield. Northeast Nebraska road projects contracted by the state board include the following: West Point, west 2 miles, gravel, $1,189; West Point-Scrubner, 6 miles paving, $125,635; Norfolk-Pilger, 8.7 miles paving, $208,147; and Herman-Tekamah, 6.4 miles paving, $146,185.

ENGLISH PAPERS DIFFER

In marked contrast to the papers of the United States come two English papers sent to the Wayne Herald by Mrs. H. C. Caspey who is spending the summer in England with relatives and friends. The London Times, is known throughout the world as one of the most conservative of newspapers. The first four pages are made up of legal notices and want ads. News of sports and parliament follow and in the middle of the paper current news can be found. In the particular issue sent here, the news of the attempted assassination of King Edward is run on page 14. It carries only a two-column headline and is written very conservatively. Mrs. Caspey attended the presentation of Colours by the King in Hyde Park, the day on which the attempt was made on his life. The style of writing is very interesting. Quoted from the Times: "The presentation of new Colours to six battalions of Root Guards by the King, their Colonel-in-Chief, in Hyde Park yesterday was a superb display of soldierly pageantry. It was something more. The King's address to the troops was couched in terms which, especially in the closing passage—"You will find in peace opportunities of duty and service as noble as any that bygone battlefields can show"—lifted it out of the ordinary."

ALMANAC

- A man proud of his money has little use to a friend of. AUGUST. Electric chair is first used for executions, 1889. Maine enacts first United States prohibition law, 1856. The cane, the birch rod or other similar implement of punishment was an indispensable article of school room equipment. Text books might be few and dog eared, blackboards rusty and cracked, school desks rickety and unreliable, heating, lighting and ventilation poor, but a good reliable stick for cowing mischievous little boys was always at hand. Pretty generally we have discarded the idea that discipline of little boys and girls can be maintained only by an exercise of brute strength. The modern schoolmaster governs by finesse. Caneing has become the rare exception. Occasionally a teacher is driven to it by desperation and finds, however mildly it may have been administered, a community up in arms about the matter and trouble brewing in the school board. These Pennsylvania parents are evidently a hold-over of the old Spartan type. They believe literally in the soundness of "spare the rod and spoil the child." No whipping, no educational progress. We wonder what the children think about it.

1936 Versus 1934. Nebraska Farmer: Frequent comparisons are being made of this year with the drouth year 1934. There is little comparison. The drouth of 1934 started early, pastures and small grain in many regions never got started—that made almost no feed at all. There was a very limited carryover of hay and rough feeds. The only helpful thing was a considerable carryover of corn. This year gave promise of good crops. Pastures came on early and were fully normal, there was a good first crop of alfalfa, small grain made a good early growth and though the yields are small, there is a good deal of feed in the straw. This year's wheat crop was generous. The increased income from it alone amounts to more than all of the benefits received from the government under AAA in 1934—more than $0 million dollars. There was a good carry-over of rye, oats and barley from last year's crop, and more hay and roughage in the stack than we have seen in this state in many a year. With a fairly good crop of wild hay in northwest Nebraska and lots of straw there will be plenty of rough feed for livestock. So farmers are very much better situated this year than they were in 1934, regardless of what may happen to the corn crop. Livestock farmers will find it difficult, especially with hogs. Fattening feeds are high priced, and hard to get. But those who must sell will be favored with much better prices than they were obliged to get two years ago. We would not for a moment minimize the seriousness of the drouth nor underestimate the great hardship which it imposes on thousands of farmers ill prepared for it, but we do say that Nebraska is fortunately situated compared with 1934, and with states to the north and west of us.

Crop Insurance.

Nebraska Farmer: With each recurring drouth there is agitation for crop insurance. When better years come, as they inevitably do, it is forgotten. The subject is not a new one. From a practical standpoint the forehand farmer always has provided his own insurance in a substantial carry-over of the things he produces on his farm. Unfortunately that practice has not been so well observed with the progress of time. More and more, farmers are inclined to sell their surplus at or shortly after harvest time.

Storm of Tragedy.

(Hartington Herald) "Marjorie Sanders, 13-year old Sioux City girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Sanders, 113 Seventh street, was killed about 10 o'clock Saturday night when the automobile in which she was riding collided head-on with a car at the top of a hill eight miles west of Hartington on state highway No. 84.

"Five other persons were injured in the crash, three of them critically."—The Hartington Herald, July 16. "A vacation trip to Minnesota, planned by County Clerk Joe B. Larson, Mrs. Larson and their twin daughters, Lorayne and Virginia, of Hartington, ended in tragedy early this morning when their automobile collided with a livestock truck near Allen, causing death for Mr. Larson and the two daughters, and critical injuries for Mrs. Larson."—The Hartington Herald, July 23.

The above two clippings taken from successive issues of this newspaper tell the same old, awful, heartrending story. "And then—sudden death!" "Tragedy No. 1— A 13-year old girl, pretty and vivacious and bubbling over with the joy of living, was on her way from Hartington to Bloomfield with some other lively young people to be week-end guests of friends when the car in which they were riding collided with another car. She was killed and five other persons were injured, three of them, perhaps, fatally. A gay party was turned into a scene of horror.

"Tragedy No. 2— A happy family was leaving Hartington early in the morning for an outing among the cool lakes of Minnesota. As they were driving along the highway in the vicinity of Laurel and Allen, their automobile collided with a truck and three members of the family were killed. The other member of the party is in a hospital bed in a precarious condition. It is doubtful that she will live, if she does, what has she to live for? There is nothing ahead but loneliness and painful memories.

Two clippings from successive issues of The Herald, telling the same old, awful, heartrending story of tragedy—of swift and fearful death at the wheel. The story might be duplicated a thousand times. The newspapers are full of just such tragedies every day. The number is steadily increasing in spite of safety campaigns and similar movements. Death rides at the wheel and the highway is beset with danger. No parent, husband, wife or child can be sure when other members of the family start forth on an automobile trip that they will ever be seen alive again. In a few hours, their dead and mangled bodies may be in a mortuary and a wrecking car towing in another battered and twisted wreck.

Ghastly reminders of the need of stricter traffic regulations, more rigid enforcement and greater caution on the part of every driver. Strange Complaint. Omaha World-Herald: It is a strange complaint which the parents of a Pennsylvania school district make against their teacher. She refuses to whip the children or give them home work to do. Parental hostility toward teachers has generally been for quite another reason. Usually they have thought her too much a martinet and inclined to expect too much study by her charges. The old-fashioned schoolmaster was a stern disciplinarian. His pupils had to toe the mark or else,

Mr. Second Century

John D. Rockefeller and the other youngsters in the nineties may advise one how to live the first century but rules for the second century are altogether different.

Believing that people keep young by being active, men and women in St. Petersburg have organized the Three-Quarter Century club, requiring that all members be 75 or older.

The club also maintains a chorus of 65 voices. You'd be surprised at the wonderful voices these 'young' men and women have.

Do things—keep active—stay young. So Mr. Reed advises those who are climbing the second half of the first century ladder.

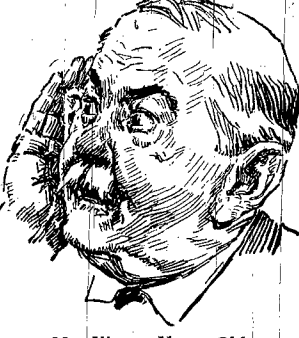

Live in Washington. The Reeds live in Seattle, Wash., but you won't find us there much," adds the early Wayneite.

See Famous Quintuplets. A year ago the Reeds traveled through northern states and to Canada before going down the eastern coast to Florida where they spent the winter.

Searches Family History. Another interest which Mr. Reed has followed in his many travels is that of securing bits of data for a history he is preparing of his family.

To Wayne In Eighties. Mr. Reed's father, who was born in Pennsylvania in 1814, moved to Mexico, Ohio, and there in 1856 was born James Boyd Reed.

Rules for Living the Second Century aren't the same as you youngsters of Ninety Years use," is the advice of Mr. Second Century to Mr. Ninety Years Old.

Mr. Ninety Years Old and about 200 other spectators.

Interest in Caverns. When most people travel extensively they find some special formation of nature that is of greatest interest to them.

See Scenic Drive. Ray caverns in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia are wonderful also, Mr. Reed reports.

Reservations Far Ahead. The Reeds hoped to stop in Cleveland during the republican convention and wrote in April for hotel reservations for June but all rooms had already been taken.

Good Times In Early Days. The early settlement was full of life, Mr. Reed remarks. When the frame in which a bank was to be opened a block and a half north of the depot was nearly complete a community dance was staged.

Is Engineer In West. Mr. Reed and Gene Dearborn left Wayne in a blizzard in February, 1883, both going to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiemers and family of Laurel, were Sunday dinner and supper guests last week in the L. G. Koch home.

Daughter Is Born. Mr. and Mrs. John Wood of Haskell, Okla., have a daughter born July 18.

For Two Occasions. In honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Petersen's 26th wedding anniversary and Donna Mae Shinaut's 4th birthday, last Wednesday evening guests in the Don Shinaut home were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Petersen and son, John, Mr. Ploughman of Chicago, Mrs. Marie Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Petersen and Patricia Ann.
