

Survives as an Example of the Primitive West—Football and Other Athletics Essential to Due Balance—Qualities of a Good Citizen.

Into 3,000 Homes 15,000 Readers

The Devil's Nest in northern Knox county is no bird's nest as a trip to and through it soon convinces one. It probably extends ten miles, and its jumble of hills, knobs and sharp bluffs explains the appropriateness of its name.

A few ranchers in the nest and in the vicinity seem to do some farming, and they have a goodly number of considerable range for grazing with no chance that popular demand will ever cause any dispute over use or possession.

Some miles away is Santee—an Indian community with an Indian school. Indian farmers have scattered themselves over the neighborhood. Buildings look worn from lack of paint. One exception was an Indian farm home, freshly painted and neatly kept.

Aside from starting the town of Lindy, not far from the Devil's Nest in order to honor the great aviator, we could see no reason for it. It is a small huddle surrounded by a sparsely settled area of doubtful trade value.

The Devil's Nest seems to be distinctly aloof from the rest of the state. Its inhabitants apparently have the best and poorest conveniences. We saw one caterpillar tractor and a few latest automobile models. We also saw horses pulling antiquated buggies, and we probably saw the first automobile.

Some people like the frontier—like to get away from society, unobserved and undisturbed by neighbors. As such a retreat, the Devil's Nest should be able to answer every desire.

Balance is Important. While we could not go crazy over football, we believe it has a rightful place in high schools and colleges. It is entitled to a fair measure of consideration, though manifestly it should not be allowed to crowd to the rear intellectual endeavors which constitute the main purpose of institutions of learning.

Like football, social activities are important to keep the spirit from flagging and the student from becoming merely a dull, fact-finding machine. But athletics and social diversions cannot properly be allowed to be the whole show. They must yield a fair proportion to the main job—mind and character training.

And the defeats successively handed to the local high school and college football teams lately would be more discouraging if we did not know these institutions make up in other accomplishments for any football delinquencies. One stranger who witnessed the game between Wayne and Kearney college teams Friday night said Wayne scored high in fine points, but was short in the weight and ages of its players.

An Idea of a Good Citizen. Howard C. Hill, head of the department of social science of the University high school, University of Chicago, sets forth his idea of a good citizen in these words: "The good citizen is intelligent. He knows the history of his country and understands its institutions. He is interested in its affairs. He values expert opinion on technical matters and appreciates trained and experienced public officials."

"The good citizen is open-minded and tolerant. He sees the viewpoints of others. He welcomes new light. He has strong convictions, but changes his mind when evidence shows that he is wrong. The good citizen is courageous. He stands up for what he believes is right. He attacks injustice wherever he finds it. Like Lincoln, he dares to do his duty as he understands it, regardless of personal consequences."

"The good citizen is honest. He keeps his word. He never intentionally misleads or deceives others. He can be counted on. He is trustworthy and dependable. The good citizen is unselfish. He is considerate of the rights of others. He places the welfare of the group above his own welfare. He sacrifices his own interests, if need be, for the common good. The good citizen is cooperative. He is a comfortable companion. He gets along with people. He can give and take. He pulls well in harness, carries his share of the (Continued on page four)

OPEN SEASON FOR PHEASANTS CALLS FOR UTMOST CARE

PHEASANT slaughter starts next Sunday, and we hope no careless use of firearms mars the open season with unintentional injuries. Lives have been lost when many marksmen engage in the pheasant-killing sport. Farm animals have been accidentally killed or maimed. A hunter should have good eyesight and steady nerves, all uninfluenced by alcohol, to insure safety. A hunter must be on the alert to avoid the tragedy of shooting at a pheasant and hitting a fellow-hunter. Permission from land owners is essential. The greatest possible care on the part of all who participate in the open season may keep it free from accidents. We hope so.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Detlef Kai Are Honored Monday On Anniversary.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Detlef Kai of Leslie precinct, was observed Monday when the Kais entertained their children and families, their brothers and sisters and Rev. W. A. Gerdes and family at dinner. At "open house" during the day about 1,000 called and all were served refreshments. Rev. Gerdes presented the Kais with a set of gold-trimmed dishes from St. Paul Lutheran congregation of which both have been members since the church was organized. The children, Ole Svensen and Lawrence Gilster presented the Kais a large studio couch and a big basket of flowers. The daughters baked a four-tier wedding cake decorated in gold. John Meyer of Pender gave a gold plate; Mr. Clyde of Sioux City, candy; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Utecht, bouquet; Wachters, gold-trimmed lamp; Meierdinks, gold and white lamp; Frank Long family, gold-lined cream, sugar and tray set to Mrs. Kai and gold tie set to Mr. Kai; Mrs. T. J. Kirby of Omaha, a pipe; Rudolph Long family, gold brooch to Mrs. Kai and gold watch chain to Mr. Kai; Jensen's, gold lace table cloth; Mrs. Emma Utecht and Mrs. Mattie Fisher, gold velvet table cover; Mrs. Malinda Utecht and Mr. and Mrs. Art Walters, gold linen table cover. Other gifts and many cards and letters were received.

Those from a distance at the observance were Mr. and Mrs. Hecny of Emerson, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Svensen of Newcastle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brieze and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jahde of Albion.

As a surprise for the couple, members of the St. Paul Lutheran Aid near Wakefield and their families went to the Kai home Friday for 6 o'clock basket dinner. A program of talks and music followed. A golden framed wreath bearing the names of the honored couple and a large bouquet of yellow crysanthemums were presented. Mrs. Carl Brudigan, president of the Aid, baked a four-tier cake decorated in yellow and white with a gold "50" and gold bells on the top.

Mr. and Mrs. Kai, the latter formerly Miss Augusta Longe, were married at Wayne by Judge E. Martin October 19, 1886. Accompanied by the latter's brother, Frank Longe, and by Max Brudigan, they made the trip from Leslie to Wayne in a wagon. A reception followed at the bride's home, now the farm owned by Rudolph Longe. The bride's gown was of black made by the late Mrs. Jacob Witte of Pender, and Mr. Kai wore a brown suit.

Mr. Kai had built a two-room house with partition of paper for his bride on the farm where they still reside. Shortly after their return from their wedding trip to Wayne one of the horses belonging to the young farmer died and the loss was severe to one just getting started. The Kais have enlarged their home and added to their acres and other holdings. Their industry and thrift are typical of pioneering Americans.

Seven sons and five daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Kai. One daughter, Mrs. John Gilster, died during the flu epidemic. Mrs. Wm. Jahde, a daughter, lives near Albion and the others reside in the vicinity of the home place. Two sons, Frank and August, are unmarried and live at home. There are 18 grandchildren and two great grandchildren, Romona and Mary Brieze of Albion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kai were both born in Germany, the former coming to this country when he was 17 and the latter when she was 5. During their married life the Kais have watched many changes. They were unable to celebrate their silver anniversary on account of a severe spowstorm. Storms, drought, prairie fires and grasshopper raids have been experienced. One year they could not get the corn picked for cobs so they burned it. This year there weren't many corn stalks but the Kais are confident in the future.

Straw Vote at College. A straw vote taken at the Wayne State Teachers college Wednesday showed 202 votes for Landon and 208 votes for Roosevelt. There were a few other scattered votes.

SOUND PROGRAM IS ADVOCATED

America Will Go Forward If Given Chance, Says Everett Sanders.

"The agricultural program of the republican party opposes a program of scarcity; it opposes limitation of farmers' control by coercive methods; it favors emergency aid during agricultural depression consistent with sound budget balancing; it favors promotion of industrial use of farm products; it favors the protection of the American farmer against foreign importations; it favors ample farm credit; it favors non-partisan control of federal machinery; it opposes reciprocal treaties to the disadvantage of the American farmer; it favors such action as is necessary to make the tariff effective." So the republican farm program was explained at Wayne auditorium Wednesday evening by Everett Sanders of Indiana, former secretary to President Coolidge and chairman of republican national committee 1932-34.

"The American farmer is entitled to the exclusive occupancy of that market at American prices. His home market is now being broken down by the monetary, re-

WINS SECOND IN STATE CONTEST

Warren Noakes Receives Award From Safety Essay Entry.

Warren Noakes, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis D. Noakes of Wayne, and student in the Wayne college training school, placed second from the state of Nebraska in the 11th national safety essay contest. The selection was made by a committee appointed by Dr. Charles W. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction. First prize was won by Virginia Mudd, Washington high school, Red Cloud, Neb. The contest was open to all students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Warren's essay was entered in the contest last spring. He will receive a silver medal and a $10 prize. His notification came Monday in a letter from the Highway Education Board, Washington, D. C.

A copy of the essay follows: "The invention and rapid progress of the automobile has brought both a blessing and a danger to man. It has been a great help when speed is needed but it has caused many accidents also. Most of the accidents caused by the automobile are due to carelessness.

"When driving an automobile, the driver should be in a clear state of mind so that he has complete control of himself as well as the car. Following traffic rules is very important either on the open road or in a town or city.

"Light signals along highways passing through towns are helpful to tourists as well as to citizens. A stranger is not likely to know the local traffic well enough so as to know when to stop and go.

"When passing a vehicle on hills or curves, the driver should observe the rules of his side of the road. Many accidents have occurred in these places because the driver failed to do this.

"Police men are very helpful especially in crowded places where traffic jams are frequent. Clubs have been formed by high school boys as well as boy scouts in an effort to help police men. Crossings near school zones and in business sections are places where many accidents can be prevented by having a responsible person in charge of the traffic.

"Farm animals should not be herded alongside country roads because many times they stray onto the road and in other ways hinder the driver. Pets should be taught to keep off the street or road and not to chase cars. Although accidents caused by the above means are few we should try to decrease even this number.

"Bicycles have as much right of way on the highways as do cars but they have no right to dare the driver to hit them by steering from side to side, thus taking as much room as possible. These boys are only trying to be smart but they have dangerously bad manners.

"Many accidents occur because in the face of danger the car cannot be stopped in time. Therefore it is very important that the owner of a car keep the brakes in good condition. For night driving one of the chief necessities is to have good lights. This means that not only should the lights of the car be bright enough and properly focused so that the driver has a clear vision of the road ahead but must be enough so as not to blind the driver of the approaching car.

"The pedestrian as well as driver has certain rights and duties. In cities sidewalks are provided for him but in the country he should keep to the left-hand side of the road. In this way he has a clear view of the approaching automobile and at the same time is not endangered by cars from behind.

"Let's use this slogan for driver and pedestrian, 'Be courteous and watchful if you wish to be safe.'"

DISPUTING POLLS INDICATE EVENLY MATCHED CONTEST

ANYONE who likes an evenly matched horse race, or any other kind of race, with large stakes, ought to like the presidential race, now less than two weeks to go. Straw-vote totals are so contradictory that closeness of candidates is emphasized. The stakes are heavy, because future government policies are involved, and every voter is vitally interested whether he feels like it or not. He votes his judgment, and he cannot escape responsibility. If he cannot see that the New Deal trend is for centralized government control and planning with individual rights abridged, and if he votes to continue the present course, he will, if he wins, have to accept consequences whether later he relishes them or not. Complaint is made that opposition to the New Deal is too intense. How could opposition otherwise justify itself in the face of the facts and the seriousness of the outcome? If treatment of issues were sugar-coated to suit New Deal politicians, the voter's decision would be less clear and certain. The whole truth should be told even at the risk of displeasing those who want the truth concealed. Drastic means cannot always be avoided.

Farmers Discuss Program Of Year

To Make Recommendations For Presentation To State Group.

Farmers of Wayne county have discussed changes in the agricultural conservation program for next year at a series of seven community meetings. Their recommendations are in the hands of the county conservation committee and Agent Walter Moller who are summarizing them for consideration of a group who have been asked to draw up a county report. The most common topics discussed are use of nurse crops, summer fallow, reseedling of pastures, noxious weed control and methods of establishing bases.

In a group to meet this Thursday to help complete the report are the following: County committee, F. I. Moses, H. J. P. Ford and A. G. Sydow; agricultural agent, Walter Moller; and community committee, Ed. Weible.

W. J. Riggert, Scott Van Slyke, T. P. Roberts, A. P. Borg, Wm. Wechler, Otto Gerleman and Otto Luft. Wayne county will be represented at a district conference here October 24 by the county conservation committee and agent. A report of the group named will be presented. Six other counties will also send representatives and conclusions reached will be prepared for the state meeting in Lincoln October 28.

Over the state as a whole farmers have considered the pasture problem, earlier starting date for conservation practices, less changes in rulings during the year, more restricted use of summer fallow, strip cropping on sandy land, bindweed control, tree planting, payment for maintaining as well as increasing conserving crops and practices, necessary adjustment of 1936 bases, crop insurance and more use of nurse crops planted with new seedlings.

Though attendance at meetings over the state has not been large, officials feel that the problems have been well considered. Nebraska's recommendations are to be taken to Washington for presentation in preparing the national program.

Sound Program Is Advocated

restriction-of-production and trade-agreement policies of the Roosevelt administration. What is the constructive thing to do? Return to sound fundamentals heretofore advocated by both major parties. "The people should call in a new administration, imbued with the spirit of adhering to sound enduring policies of representative government. When this is done waste and extravagance will end, taxes will eventually be reduced, permanent agricultural improvement will be assured, private industry will reemploy labor, liberty and freedom of action will again be restored. And the leader for America is Governor Landon. He has the support of voters heretofore belonging to all parties. They have faith in him and want his leadership. The American electorate must give to him the monumental task of restoring our government to our people and our people to happiness and prosperity.

"In the New Deal many of our liberties are threatened. Recovery has been retarded. Labor wants employment and reemployment can be brought by curbing increasing taxation, encouragement of industry, sound agricultural policies, reduction of tremendous government debt, getting the government out of business, stopping government waste. Give American enterprise a chance and watch America march forward."

Mr. Sanders endorsed Robert G. Simmons for senator as a statesman who is "experienced, honest and courageous."

T. S. Hook presided and introduced Mr. Sanders. Wayne Municipal band played before the program.

A group of men had dinner with Mr. Sanders at Hotel Stratton. J. T. Bressler, J. C. Carhart and D. S. Wrightman met the speaker at Fremont when he was enroute from Hastings to Minneapolis.

Knox Speaks (THIS week Col. Frank Knox, republican vice presidential candidate, toured the middle west, making his major address at Lincoln. In that speech he gave attention to the New Deal's blunders and waste, to Secretary Wallace's suggestion to scrap the constitution, to Prof. Tugwell's idea to remake America and to the president's condescending grant of a "breathing spell" for American business. As a climax to his speech, Col. Knox said this:

"We believe in the American system of free enterprise subject to rules requiring fair play. We believe in the constitution of the United States. We believe in the system that requires the president to execute, a congress to legislate, a supreme court to interpret. We believe that under this system there is a prospect of building in this nation a society in which extortion and oppression and poverty and insecurity will be abolished. We want to see these things accomplished in this land. We pledge ourselves to preserve the American system, to do what can be done to purge it of its injustices. We pledge ourselves to fight the forces of communism and fascism and tyranny in this land. We pledge ourselves to legislate in favor of no class at the expense of all the others. We pledge ourselves to an administration of simplicity, of economy, and of certainty."

Supports Landon GEORGE N. Peek, former head of the agricultural administration and former foreign trade adviser to President Roosevelt, made the following concluding remarks in the course of a speech announcing reasons for supporting Governor Landon:

"Others may say that I am being fooled by republican promises which will quickly be broken. My reply is—I was fooled by President Roosevelt's promises. I believe that Governor Landon is the kind of a man who keeps his promises; that is his record. Further, to question his good faith comes with very bad grace from this administration in view of President Roosevelt's record in this respect. "To both groups I say—I stand where I have always stood, regardless of party, upon the principles of the long farm fight. Governor Landon has taken his stand on those same principles. I credit his sincerity. I tender him my support. I am in politics for agriculture—not in agriculture for politics."

Without Thought SAILING along with the New Deal without thought of the price to be exacted is a good deal like boat riding above Niagara falls without thought of dangers ahead. Exchanging dear-bought liberties for uncertain government paternalism is inviting restraints from which this country has been free for 150 years.

The direction in which the New Deal is taking American society, is stressed by the Saturday Evening Post in this editorial paragraph:

"In not a few respects, the tendencies and consequences of the New Deal have been to eliminate or restrict the rights of local self-government, concentrate power in the executive branch, regulate and control the lives and activities of every citizen through a vast bureaucracy centering in Washington, and penalize the efficient and thrifty citizen. All this, if continued, may bring in its train a distinct loss of individual liberties; and if that comes about, the poor man may be worse off than any other."

Revival of the obstructive NRA was indicated in a recent speech by the president's son at Gardner, Mass., and the president has since been asked to affirm or deny the report. If the son spoke advisedly, he should be sustained by his father. On the other hand, if the son got his wires crossed or disclosed something that was to have been held in abeyance to the public. The NRA was the most conspicuously distressing failure of the New Deal's train of experiments, and it was so much of a burden to the public and such a hindrance to recovery that the New Deal should have felt relieved when the supreme court removed its tentacles and heaved it out the window. That a revised NRA is in the offing, again to harass business and industry, would be unbelievable if the bureaucratic group in Washington had not hitherto proved its exceeding capacity to dare in the direction of wild, unworkable theories.

The president's major disruptions of the democratic party have occurred in Nebraska and Minnesota. In Minnesota democratic nominees for senator and governor were squeezed out of the running to favor the so-called farmer-labor party whose platform is clearly socialistic. In Nebraska administration support comes to Senator Norris who is strong for government in business. Preference in each state is placed in a way to harmonize with past New Deal practices and threats; though in serious conflict with Jeffersonian democracy. Spurning party preference by administration forces clearly justifies party realignments.

Editor F. D. Stone of the Hartington Herald, was in Wayne Friday enroute to his usual winter abode in Phoenix, Arizona, where he journeys each autumn to fortify his health against the rigors of Nebraska weather. Editor Stone does not loaf at Phoenix. Besides literary contributions to his Hartington newspaper every week, he is employed to furnish feature articles regularly to a Phoenix daily. We are willing to loan him to Phoenix for a fraction of each year if the climate out there serves to safeguard his health and prolong his useful life.

The way churches in communist and fascist countries of Europe have been stripped of their independence should make them recoil with horror from any such possibilities in the United States. When church leaders cannot speak what they believe or lead as conscience directs, their power for good goes into lamentable decline, and that is what would happen under either of the two alien forms of government now threatening America. All churches must be free in thought and speech for effective spiritual leadership.

What is called "debunking" the New Deal's attempt to capitalize on Hearst's support of Landon is offered in the words of a correspondent to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch as follows: "Hearst backed Roosevelt four years ago; the du Ponts supported him then; Pendergast supports him now; the so-called 'reds' support him now. Too bad how people fall back and beat their breasts because Hearst changed his mind."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg was cut off the air by the Columbia Broadcasting system because he introduced the president's voice by means of electrical transcriptions to emphasize his broken promises. The Columbia explained that the Vandenberg plan violated the system's policy. Broadcasting rules would seem to prevent liberties still enjoyed by newspapers.

Dickens did not know when he put Uriah Heep into his story of David Copperfield how long the world would remain too unregenerate to cease to have counterparts. Under Uriah's veneer of pious humility there existed an exhaustless supply of unscrupulous rascality.

New Deal politicians are strong in laughing off their mistakes, but they cannot laugh off the fact that after three and one-half years of dizzy government spending there are still 10,000,000 unemployed.

"What disturbs me," says Henry Ford, "is that the New Deal is now making to the workmen the same impossible promises that it made to the business men."

HOOVER. Probably only the sober judgment of future historians will do full justice to the public service of Herbert Hoover. His recent Philadelphia speech in which he exposed New Deal jugglery and pointed out the safe, sound course for the American people to follow, showed qualities of mind that doubtless will be more accurately appraised and more fully appreciated by coming generations — generations removed from the stress of the present. No man in public life could present a greater array of facts or could reason more clearly or forcefully in behalf of popular government. It is doubtful, however, if his utterances are as influential as those of less capable speakers. Mr. Hoover came to the presidency at an unfortunate time—the beginning of a world depression, and any as hard as he could, he could not stem the inflowing tide of paralysis and calamity. And future historians will note that he not only had the biggest depression to head off, but the country's most recalcitrant congress to block every step that he took. Hoover will have to wait to receive the credit that belongs to him.

load, and always does his part. He is a good team-mate. In short, the good citizen is intelligent, open-minded, cooperative, honest, unselfish, and cooperative."

Committees Chosen For Junior Play

"New Fires," the play to be given by the junior class at the training school, November 4, is being directed by Alvin Gies, student teacher under Miss Lettie Scott, Miss Emily Conklyn is the class sponsor. The college dramatics class and the junior class have cooperated on production committees as follows: Producing managers, Janette Cummings, Donald Strahan; stage managers, Edwaine Gramly, Harold Jordan, Kenneth Pierson; art directors, Veva Saase, Marilyn Griffith, Olivia Griffith; electricians, Guy Raff, Alvin Diefenbaugh, Harvey Neely; property managers, Betty Grosvenor, Wilma Flake, Robert Erickson, Bernadine Meyer, Thralia Gramly, Wayne Straight; costumes, Muriel Hanson, Helen Peterson, Larhyla Whitmore, Joyce Miller, Adelaide Bock; press agents, Edith Buis, Verna Carlson; publicity managers, Dorothy Tolle, Gerald Cissna; house managers, Eileen O'Malley, Arthur Gulliver; make-up, Dorothy Brande, Harriet Lamson, Dorothy Kile, Russell Johnson.

The following students are giving advertising talks about the play: Bernadine Meyer, Thralia Gramly, Adelaide Bock, Larhyla Whitmore, Wayne Straight, Harvey Neely, Harold Jordan, Don Strahan, Russell Johnson, Robert Erickson, Arthur Gulliver.

To Hatcherymen's Meeting. Chris Tietgen went to St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday last week to attend a hatcherymen's meeting on Friday. Problems of flock supervision and the hatchability of eggs were discussed. Mr. Tietgen also visited the Purina experimental farm, which is located about 40 miles west of St. Louis, near Summit, Mo. This farm consists of 330 acres of ground, and is used by Purina mills to experiment by feeding a variety of different grains and feeds to animals and poultry. By so doing they obtain the results from each variety of feed, and the experiment enables them to build a feed that will not only "serve the purpose," but will do all that is required of it. This is very educational, and Mr. Tietgen advises anyone who may be interested in the feeding and fattening of any poultry or live stock, to visit and inspect this farm if they have the occasion to do so. He returned Saturday evening.

Miss Arlie Sutherland and Miss Ida Fisher were Sioux City visitors Saturday.

GEN. JOHNSON. General Hugh Johnson, who attacked the NRA after retiring as its chief administrator, and who assailed New Deal groups and the working generally of New Deal policies, has now come out in support of the reelection of the president. How can Johnson be right now in asking continuance of a program, which, following his experience, he roundly condemned? How can he expect the public to be favorably impressed by his conflict with himself? When Johnson was cracking down on business and industry as head of the NRA, he showed all the requisites of a high-powered dictator. If the New Deal is reinstated, and if emergencies, now of course unforeseen, should suddenly require a first-class dictator, who, by experience and training and temperament, could better answer the demand of the hour than Johnson? His savagery in handling the NRA and making defenseless victims squirm under threats, if not prosecutions, proved his surpassing fitness for a full-fledged dictatorship.

Dramatics Class Produces Plays

Subject: Probation after Death. Golden text: Job 17:9. The public is cordially invited. The golden text: "The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger." A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Psalms 34: 19, 22: "Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the Lord delivereth him out of them all. . . . The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate." A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Either here or hereafter, suffering of Science must destroy all illusions regarding life and mind, and regenerate material sense and self. . . . The death of a false material sense and of sin, not the death of organic matter, is what reveals man and Life: harmonious, real, and eternal." (page 296). Making A Choice (Lincoln Journal) Candidates of the major parties for the presidency see in social security a permanent issue. Both have stressed that issue. Both, it may well be assumed, have the same objective in mind. They differ as to methods. Reasonable voters will accord to each sincerity of purpose. At the end of the Roosevelt term the country finds itself plunged much deeper in debt, its expenditures running high and its incoming revenue less than half of the amount required to meet current demands. Out of this financial bungling, extravagance and waste the administration proposes to build a social security that will reach the needy and unfortunate, supply work for those able and desirous of working, and to make it possible for individuals to care for themselves and for business to proceed and grow. Gov. Landon proposes cutting out waste and extravagance, reducing government expenses, lessening the tax rate on the average citizen by making fewer taxes necessary, and carrying on a social security program that will care for the unfortunate, feed the hungry, and give every man a chance to care for himself by finding employment and recompense in productive pursuits. The present administration has spent many millions on "priming the pump," feeding the poor, carrying work for the workless, carrying on work schemes that have benefited only those who draw pay for what is done, building up a great and expensive bureaucracy, and at the same time reducing production and importing what the country needs from foreign nations. President Roosevelt has bent his energies to meet present needs regardless of cost or future results, at times to go beyond meeting needs causing the waste of public funds. Gov. Landon proposes an administration of government much as one would employ in the management of his private affairs, saving money where it can be saved and spending money only where needed results can be secured. The American voter has the opportunity placed before him of endorsing one of the two plans. His choice may greatly affect his future. Which will he choose? Sharply Defined Policies. Excerpt from editorial by Prof. J. Q. Owen in The Goldenrod, Wayne Teachers College newspaper, July 10, 1936. "Usually a presidential election year brings out issues having a vital relation to one's own well being. The present one seems to be no exception to the rule. As a result of the November election returns, we shall be under the guidance of one or the other of two sharply contrasting policies. We should make up our minds after due examination of what each has to offer. "The record of each candidate as keeper or breaker of promises should also be passed in review. Of what good is a pledge unless it is kept? The character of the men, his sanity and judgment, his vision and leadership—each of these things is of consequence. If a horse kicks us once, and we survive, we are likely to lose a fair portion of our confidence in it, no matter how friendly a note may dominate its whinnying. If a pet bear chews off a leg—that is, takes forty cents away from each of our dollars—we dine on bear meat for a time. If a man promises to balance the budget and to reduce governmental expenses, yet adds thousands to the nation's payroll and goes to hitherto unknown extremes of prodigality in rioting along on our money, we are not likely to believe him when he makes other campaign statements." "When was the first lie detector made?" a reader asks. While Adam was in a deep sleep.—Washington Post. "Borrowing money is the same as borrowing trouble," says an economist. Or, no, it isn't. You can still borrow trouble.—St. Louis Star-Times. An optimistic western orator says that in another ten years it will be hard to find a debtor in this country. Well, it's hard right now, too! if he gets tipped off in time.—Boston Herald. Scientists engage in speculation on conditions that will prevail a million years hence. In Europe at present intelligent attention is largely concentrated on what may happen in the next ten minutes.—Washington Star. College Societies The home economics club will meet Monday, October 26. Alpha Psi Omega will have initiation Monday for Laverne Rohning and Robert Brome. A joint meeting of Lambda Delta Lambda and Physical Science was held October 20. After a program luncheon was served. The Y. W. C. A. creative leisure quest group met at the T. T. Jones home Wednesday evening for knitting or other needlework. Alice McGregor gave a resume of aims and accomplishments of the Orpheus club when the group met. Plans were discussed for exchange of college choirs and the possibility of a state charter. A social committee is planning an entertainment soon. W. A. A. enjoyed a "melody" party Thursday evening in the callistheum. Dinner was preceded by a musical spree and initiation of new members. Group singing was to the accompaniment of an impromptu "swing band," led by Top Arends. The following were initiates: Irene Bastian, Eunice Ben-zien, Elva Bunnell, Joyce Carlson, Violet Casper, Mary Ellen Gulli-Moede, pastor) Sunday, English services at 10 a. m. Bible class Friday evening at 8. AROUND NORTHEAST NEBRASKA Mrs. Delphine Benson, who lives in Timber Lake, S. D., used to live in this district. A letter from her indicates that she is rapidly losing her eyesight. Her report is that farm conditions in South Dakota are very bad, and she wishes to be remembered to her many friends in this section. Because the price of butterfat is declining, and is selling for around 29c today as compared with 39c last August, many farmers are asking about the importation of butterfat into our country from foreign countries. A communication has been sent to the chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, the department of agriculture. This information will be passed on to those interested in the near future. Robert Koehler, a farmer living in Pierce, is among those who are finding it necessary to sell off chickens because of the need of feed. He brought seventeen chickens to town averaging over four pounds each, and received for these seventeen chickens a check for just a little bit more than $7.00. An unusual number of chickens is being sold on the farms these days. Farm sales are beginning to attract attention. Some farmers say they are selling out, either to quit farming or to move some place else. Some of them are going to Oregon, but word from Oregon indicates that that state, too, will be run over with those looking for something to do. Mike McGirr, who has been in the pension office in Washington for many years, spent his vacation in his old home town of Greeley, Neb., with his brother this year. Mike used to teach school in Greeley and many of his old students, who are now mature men remember the days when Mike used to spank them. Mike went to Greeley once a year to renew his old acquaintanceships and get the latest stories from the barber shop at Greeley which he takes to Washington to pass on to the Washingtonians. Driving all over Greeley county on Saturday indicates that the conditions around Wolbach, Scotia and Greeley are not so good. There has been little rain around Greeley county, in fact less rain in Greeley than in many other counties of this district. As a result the fall grain is not coming up very fast. Those who like automobile rides on these beautiful fall days would do well to drive over the scenic highways from Scotia to St. Paul, along the Loup river. The squirrel hunting season has opened in the state. Squirrel hunters can be seen footing it all over the district. Discussions about the squirrel hunting will be good this year because it is found that there is an abundant crop of walnuts and acorns. Everywhere hundreds are talking about the pheasant season. There will be an unusually large number of hunters out after this beautiful game bird. Word has been received that Robert Lanik, who was a student in the telegraph class of WJAG has received a position with the Pan American Airways as a radio operator. After graduating from the school of the air he took up radio seriously and graduated from the radio school in Boston where he received a marine certificate. His first official position was on the Clipper ship going to Hawaii and to Wake island a few weeks ago. Occasionally letters are received from other graduates of the old telegraph school of this station who are holding responsible positions in the radio world. Seventyfive farmers living in Boone county have addressed a petition to the president of the United States and filed it in the Congressional office. The petition, asking for relief, reads in part as follows: "We, the undersigned, residents of Boone County, State of Nebraska, all being farmers tilling the soil in said county, having suffered a severe drought and loss of all our crops, find that we are unable to provide ourselves and our families with food and clothing, do therefore petition you to take immediate action at once to provide work relief under the WPA Work Relief program to each of us. We have tried to obtain feed for ourselves and our families. Many of us have sold practically all of our livestock in order to provide food for our families and if we do not receive assistance at once we will be faced with starvation." KARL STEFAN Northeast Wayne. For Alvin Roerber. Relatives and friends were entertained Saturday evening in the Alvin Roerber home for Alvin's birthday. For Mrs. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson entertained at their home Friday evening for the latter's birthday. The guests invited were the families of Paul Lesman, Edward Meyer, Emil Miller, Will Wischnof, Fred Ruser, Ben Hollman and Fred Wolters. The time was spent in games and contests after which the hostess served two-course luncheon. Wilbur News Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Jorgensen and Janice Mae and Berny Darlene were visitors in the H. P. Nelson home Sunday last week. Miss Helga Nelson of Coleridge, spent the week-end at H. P. Nelson's. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pestel of Pilger, who were recently married, were pleasantly surprised at the H. P. Nelson home Sunday evening by relatives and friends from Carroll, Winside and Pilger. Luncheon was served at a late hour. The couple received many nice gifts. Mrs. Elmer Pestel of Pilger, spent several days this week at H. P. Nelson's. Chevrolet News. W. C. Coryell of the Coryell Auto Co., Chevrolet dealers, today confirmed reports that Chevrolet would shortly climax its 25 years of manufacture by introducing a complete new line of cars embodying new beauty, style, safety and durability, and above all, performance capabilities. Mr. Coryell cited official notice from Chevrolet headquarters in Detroit, confirming the report that the new car would be a valve-in-head six, the type on which Chevrolet has concentrated with such conspicuous success. "More than 12,000,000 Chevrolets have been produced in the company's quarter-century of operation," he pointed out. "Of the number nearly 7,000,000 are still in active service; 1,125,000 of the 1936 models have been sold this year to date. According to word from Detroit, the forthcoming models, while new from bumper to bumper, will adhere closely to engineering principles which have helped Chevrolet lead the entire industry in sales seven years out of the last 10." The "balanced" performance of the power plant in the 1936 models is credited with a large share of the spectacular success which that product has enjoyed. Mr. Coryell asserts, "Our 1936 owners," he said, "report not only ample power for every possible requirement, but also durability, and oil and gasoline economy even after thousands of miles. We have it on good authority from Detroit that the 1937 engine will rate still higher in all of these important respects." O221td.

(POLITICAL ADVERTISING) VOTE FOR L. C. Gildersleeve Republican Candidate For Wayne County Assessor O22&29 (POLITICAL ADVERTISING) Let's Talk About Bindweed Control Here is the record of Nebraska's candidates for Governor on the above subject. Dwight Griswold, in his platform, calls for "An Adequate Bindweed Control Law." Governor Cochran, on May 27, 1935, VETOED House Roll No. 645, which would have eradicated bindweed in this state. This shows the difference in their attitude toward Agriculture. Griswold lives in Western Nebraska, his interest is in farming and stock-raising; Cochran's interest seems to be mostly in road-building. Notice To Taxpayers DO NOT BE FOOLED by New Dealers who say you will not have to pay your share of the extravagance and waste of the New Deal State and National administrations. The average citizen always pays the bill, not only in direct taxes but in taxes upon everything his family eats and wears. Only a SMALL part of this staggering tax bill can be paid by the rich, and they will pass it on to the consumer. In the end, IT MUST COME OUT OF YOUR POCKET! FOUR years ago, before he went out, this wild spree of political spending, Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors. Our workers may never see a tax bill, but they pay in deductions from wages, in increased cost of what they buy." That is true today, but President Roosevelt seems to have forgotten it. NOW is the time to stop this waste of your money—before it is too late. ## Seasonal Change Forecasts Invasion Of Game Seekers

Turning leaves, cooler weather and migration of birds remind one that the hunting season will soon be open and the country will be over-run with game seekers.

The hunting season on pheasants this year is from October 25 to November 1, inclusive, in the following counties: Antelope, Arthur, Banner, Boyd, Brown, Cedar, Chase, Cheyenne, Cuming, Dakota, Deuel, Dixon, Dundy, Garden, Grant, Hayes, Hitchcock, Holt, Hooker, Keith, Keyapaha, Kimball, Knox, Lincoln, Logan, Madison, McPherson, Morrill, Perkins, Pierce, Rock, Scotts Bluff, Stanton, Thomas, Thurston, Wayne; all that part of Sioux county south of the Government Kitch, and Pleasant Hill, Goose Creek and Elsmere precincts in Cherry county.

According to the rules issued by the Game, Forestation and Parks commission in Lincoln, the bag limit is four birds, of which one may be a hen. The possession limit is the same. Although the regulations permit the killing of one hen, this is done only to save birds shot by mistake, and all hunters are urged to cooperate by not intentionally shooting hens. Hunters deliberately shooting hens and leaving them in fields or giving them away will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The shooting hours have been set for 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. each day. Along the Platte river "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons except for one-half hour before sunrise and until 12 o'clock noon during each day during the open hunting season ordered by the Game Forestation and Parks commission, to hunt, kill, or capture or chase with dogs any game birds or other birds of any kind or description whatever, or to carry firearms of any kind or to have dogs within the limits of game refuges."

The dates for migratory waterfowl are from November 1 to November 30 inclusive, in all counties in Nebraska except those portions that are within game sanctuaries. The bag and possession limits are 10 ducks, 4 geese and 15 snipe. All persons hunting ducks, geese and other migratory waterfowl must have federal duck stamp priced at $1.00. This is obtained from post offices.

The squirrel season is from October 1 to December 31 inclusive. The bag and possession limits are 10. The bag and possession limits on raccoon and possum are 3. The open season is from November 16 to February 15.

All persons hunting must have a hunting permit. The price is $1.10 for residents and $10.00 and up for non-residents, depending on the state in which they live. For example, Kansas is $10, Iowa, $15, South Dakota $15, Missouri $10 and Colorado $10. The Nebraska law requires the wearing of a badge in which the hunting permit is placed.

No live decoys are permitted for duck or goose hunting. Floaters or other decoys may be used. No guns larger than 10 gauge can be used in hunting game birds. Automatic and repeating gun magazines must be plugged so that no more than 2 shells can be placed in magazine and one in the chamber while hunting migratory waterfowl.

Section 37-501 of the game, fish and park laws of the state of Nebraska reads, "It shall be unlawful (a) to shoot from any public highway at any bird or animal protected by this act; (b) to hunt for any such birds or animals with a spot light or other artificial light; (c) to hunt or kill or attempt to hunt or kill any water fowl from any boat or steam power or from any aeroplane or hydroplane; (d) to use any rifle or swivel-gun or shot gun larger than ten gauge, in hunting any game birds; or to trap, snare, net, or attempt to trap, snare, or net any game bird or birds; (e) to take or needlessly destroy the nests or eggs of any game bird or birds; (f) to hunt or kill or attempt to hunt or kill any game bird or birds earlier than one-half hour before sunrise or later than sunset."

Several Nebraska counties prohibited the hunting of pheasants this year as the birds eat a great many insects, particularly grasshoppers.

Mrs. Minnie Strickland, speaking from a hunter's point of view, feels that when a county has plenty of game, it is all right to have open season. Many farmers complain that the pheasants rob the corn hills in the spring.

A local farmer believes that the pheasants are not as plentiful as in former years and that the season should not be opened. They are also helpful in ridding fields of insects.

University Women Sponsor Interesting Study Groups

Interior Decorating Is New Division For Present Year.

As a special feature of the year's program, American Association of University Women sponsors study groups to which anyone who is interested may belong. This year the association has five groups. They are: International relations, interior decorating, book review, dramatic and creative writing and consumers' research. The first meeting of each group has been held with a good attendance and a great deal of interest being shown.

The interior decorating group, a new study for this year, met with its leader, Miss Josephine Silvers, for a discussion led by Mrs. H. H. Hanscom on various phases of interior decoration. Mrs. Hanscom discussed the importance of having home furnishings coincide with room size. For example, she showed how in a spacious room one expects to find substantial looking chairs. The reverse is also true; a small room may look very crowded with heavy furniture. Color is also of primary importance in room arrangement. Mrs. Hanscom introduced other features one of which will be the basis for the year's study.

Miss Enid Conklyn reviewed the book, "Gone With the Wind," by Margaret Mitchell in the book review study group. The author who is employed on the Atlanta Journal, spent seven years writing the book which is a discussion of Georgia at the time of the Civil war and of the reconstruction period. The author attempts to show the effect of giving the vote to the Negro which required the south to pay an exorbitant price to secure.

Speaking of the dangers of some electrical appliances in the home, Miss Beulah Rundle addressed the members belonging to consumers' research. She stressed the importance of not taking hold of a telephone while running a sweeper or touching an electrical fixture while bathing. It is particularly important that a person avoid getting between two electrical currents so that he will be a part of a circuit. The result is severe shock.

Miss Lenore Ramsey directed the drama and creative writing group in a reading rehearsal of a French drama, "Le Francois Parle." She also reviewed "It Is Delight" by Robert Sherwood, which she saw played while she was in New York last summer.

The tense situation which prevails in European countries and the "sparks that light revolution" were discussed by International Relations group at its opening meeting.

Coming at this season of year the storm caught everyone unprepared and especially those who had sheds to build for their stock, among which there was considerable suffering and some loss. train was four hours coming from Covington to this place and on Saturday it made no trip over the road at all. Sunday an engine and snow plow came up from the other end and cleared the track, and it was supposed trains would commence running again next day. The train did start out Monday morning and when it had gone about two miles the force pump on the engine gave out. The cars were left standing on the track and the engine started to make the rest of the trip alone. It succeeded in getting as far as Summit and was there obliged to lay up. During the day another engine came up from Covington, collected the various parts of the train and towed it in. Since Friday no mail had been received at this place, and on Tuesday, when things were once more straightened around, by some act of carelessness at the other end, it again failed to be brought up so that this town received no mail for six days or until last night.

"Those who have lived in this country 22 years say that never before in their experience has it been visited by a snow storm in October, and on but very few occasions has there been a storm of like severity at any time of year. It was the severest kind of a blizzard, and one of the sort that is read about."

ВИДИТЕ ЧТО ОНА ДЕЛАЕТ (SEE WHAT SHE'S DOING) Everyday use of the telephone by American children would seem strange to boys and girls of Europe—where in proportion to population there are only one-sixth as many telephones and one-ninth as many telephone calls. One reason why Americans have more telephones and make more telephone calls than all the rest of the world combined is that you can get more and better telephone service for your money in the United States than anywhere else in the world. In this country your telephone dollar has been buying more and more each year. It buys swifter, more accurate and more dependable local service; it buys out-of-town service amazingly faster, clearer and more sure at substantially lower cost; it buys service which reaches across oceans and covers almost the entire world. For more than half a century the Bell System has worked constantly to improve and extend telephone service and to keep down its cost to telephone users. Its accomplishments have helped to give the United States world leadership in telephone service. Style -- Comfort Economy All wool top coats -- raglan sleeves, wrap around and belted.
