

As Facts to Flight — To Battle Undernourishment — Gives Up Throne — Nebraska's Education Lags — Imitating Russia.

People are inclined to believe reports. They are more disposed to tell a bad than a good story about an individual or a community. No matter how many times parents insist to a child that the boy's story of an existing goblin is false, the tormenting belief still persists. The Chinese are believed to believe a terrible monster is devouring the sun during an eclipse, and accordingly they make a lot of noise to scare it away, and the sun reappears unharmed. The winter efforts. When the winter ice came along, as was the usual habit, ancient Romans were afraid darkness would permanently envelop the earth, and that thing would grow. The festival Saturnalia—the god whose job was to look after seed sowing—was held in December to celebrate the end of short days, besides giving natives an excuse to get drunk and stay that way through the days of licensed high jinks. The year is a terrible enemy to peace and often an almost insurmountable barrier to freedom will. So, when a few cases of disease appear in a community, the massive imaginations run wild. The number of cases and the dangers involved are magnified far beyond what they are. When a strike holds at works fast and usually without due reason. A community is unwittingly hurt by exaggerated reports. A story goes out in a fairly mild form only to turn distorted and enlarged by word of mouth. Thus, habits of fear—seeing things all out of proportion to things of fact—still interfere in a modified way. Most troubles are imaginary—most fears are unfounded.

Milk for Children. Serving milk daily to school children to guard against undernourishment is to be undertaken again, according to late action by the Red Cross board. Providing milk for young students who need it, was followed for a few years, with eminently satisfactory results. Children must have enough of the right kind of nourishment to be kept healthy and strong. Improperly or inadequately nourished, they cannot do their best at study. The daily milk provision, started by the Business and Professional Women's club a few years ago, proved one of the best investments that could be made in public service. We believe the public will be pleased to know the good work is to be resumed.

King's Abdication. Abdication of the king of England is not a local matter, though it started up much local interest. People here as everywhere had their radios tuned in to hear King Edward's retiring speech, and their good opinion of his qualities of mind was materially strengthened by what they heard. He was bored by restrictions imposed in the course of royal custom, and when they interfered with his choice of a wife, he refused to surrender. He is evidently a "commoner" at heart, and he wanted to be a "commoner" in the enjoyment of liberties guaranteed to others. In his travels as Prince of Wales he was known as an ambassador of peace and good will, doing incalculable good in preserving solidarity among widely scattered English colonies. The retiring monarch's knowledge of world affairs, his human sympathies, and his popularity with the masses lead one to suspect he is not going into permanent exile—that he will some time return to leadership, perhaps as president of England. If that nation should decide to junk its crown and throne and become a democracy in name and practice, the retired monarch would qualify most acceptably for leadership.

Schools Suffer. By a bulletin of the Nebraska State Teachers' association we learn that Nebraska, which used to be among the foremost states in education, is now lagging behind. It is pointed out that while total costs of education in this state decreased from $31,200,710 in 1925-26 to $18,343,160 in 1934-35, the total expenses of other branches of government increased during the same period from $15,982,215 to $19,775,334. Schools are reported hampered by curtailed expenditures while other lines of public service have had the advantage of greater financial support. The bulletin suggests a commission to study tax problems and figure out an improved revenue system that will be fair alike to education and to other objects of public expense.

Communist College. According to Liberty magazine, an investigation, prompted by aroused people of Arkansas, revealed existence of a communist college in that state. Inquiry into the school's policies showed no respect for religion or the American flag or marriage laws, and showed an expressed preference for the government of Russia. The wave of popular indignation stopped flow of funds from the government—the very government against which the college's policies were directed. (Continued on page four)

Cut Relief Rolls To Original List

In accordance with federal instructions, all farmers were taken off WPA rolls Tuesday this week and as a result much of the road work in Wayne county has stopped. The WPA list is now back to its original number, 17 in Winside and Carroll and 26 in Wayne. At Carroll the workers are employed on the road project east of town, and at Winside steel is being erected for the bridge south of that town. Wayne men are placing curbing on Windom street from the college south to Seventh, the work starting this week. They just completed curbing from the high school north to Seventh and the streets will be graveled by property owners if they so choose. A new project approved in Wayne is a sewer from near the college on Main street west to Bressler park.

About 500 men and women attended the various meetings of the Legion and Auxiliary that day. Pender was chosen place of next year's convention. JOHN L. SOULES DIES THURSDAY

Funeral Rites Are Conducted Sunday Afternoon At Baptist Church.

After being in failing health for some months, John L. Soules passed away at his home in Wayne Thursday night, December 10, at 11:30. RED CROSS ROLL CALL COMPLETED

Milk For School Children And Christmas Baskets Are Arranged.

Wayne county Red Cross roll call for this year brought in a total of $374.88, according to report of G. A. Renard, roll call chairman, presented by J. C. Carhart Friday evening at a meeting of the Red Cross board. The sum is about $1 more than last year's total. Mr. Renard reports $315 from Wayne, $59 from other towns in the county and 88c miscellaneous contributions. Half of the amount, $187.44, remains here and the other half goes to the national chapter for relief work. The matter of supplying milk in the Wayne schools to children who need the nourishment was favored by the board and it was voted that Mrs. A. C. Thompson make arrangements as she finds them necessary. The Red Cross will provide Christmas baskets for needy homes where there are children. Mrs. Thompson reported that all families are being provided with necessities through WPA employment, old age assistance or dependent children's aid. The aim will be to give candy toys and some special foods for the Christmas time. The baskets will be packed the day before Christmas at the relief office in the court house. Persons wishing to contribute toys, candy, canned goods, cookies or anything else for gifts are asked to bring them to Mrs. Thompson's office or call her at 497. Mrs. R. W. Ley, Mrs. E. E. Gailey and Mrs. E. W. Huse will help pack the baskets, and C. M. Craven, J. C. Carhart and C. G. Dale will help distribute them. The chapter gave $15 for Christmas gifts to disabled veterans in hospitals.

UNION OF EFFORT NEEDED TO SCORE IN FACE OF ILLS

THE INVENTOR with an abundance of talent fails to score because he is unable to make his product suit practical needs. The artist does wonderfully well in an amateur class, but through lack of training or hard application to details, he falls down in supplying necessary finishing touches. The foot racer neglected to develop endurance, and so he made a good start, but a poor finish. A community has all the essentials to steady growth. It is just ready to be born into an enlarged sphere of popular service when indifference or petty rivalries pull with instead of against drouth handicaps and hinder deserved progress. Every business or other investment in a community should be awake to the need of pulling together and ahead. Every dollar earned by anyone helps the advantage of all. The effects of drouth or any other calamity should be modified by redoubled efforts. Every obstacle must be overcome as far as possible, not passed by as something insuperable. What helps one, helps all, and a united front to neutralize inequalities and score the greatest advantage in the face of unfavorable winds is supremely important. Unflinching determination to surmount difficulties holds ground needed later when the going is easier.

CONSIDER PLAN IN THIS COUNTY

Rural Electrification Plan Is Favored By Farm Group Tuesday.

About 100 Wayne county farmers, who attended a meeting at the court house Tuesday, voted to form a temporary organization to hold educational meetings and see if a feasible rural electrification project can be set up here. Present meetings will be held, these to start next week, to organize precincts and make a survey of available users of current. The findings, together with application for a loan, will be submitted to officials in Washington for action. G. J. Long of the rural electrification administration in Washington, and Wayne Thurman of the agricultural college engineering department at Lincoln, spoke. Mr. Long explained the electrification set-up and how it operates. Mr. Thurman told of Nebraska laws which permit districts to organize and requirements for setting up a district. On feasible projects, Mr. Long explained, the federal government makes interest-free loans at 1-2 percent interest for a 20-year period for construction of electric lines. As the users pay for current they also pay 5 percent on the principal and 2-1-2 percent interest each year. The loan pays for transmission lines and distribution lines past the farmer's place and 450 feet from road to the house. In most cases this will take the line to the residence. Power is secured from municipal plants, public power lines or from a government project. In Wayne county it is thought the local plant can furnish the supply. It is estimated that electricity and payment of interest and loan will amount for about $5 a month for each farm. R. S. McGuire is county chairman. Present leaders named Tuesday are: Leshe, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Puckett; Hoskins, Lyle Marotz; Hancock, H. J. Podoll; Chapin, Harry Denesha; Garfield, Jack Swagard; Sherman, Scott VanSlyke; Deer Creek, Gus Paulsen; Wilbur, John Grier; Strahan, Matt Finn and Otto Gerleman; Hunter, Lou Lutt; Logan, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Borg; Brenna, F. I. Moses; Plum Creek, Ernest Greenwald; Agent Walter Moiler will conduct meetings here before Christmas as follows: Hoskins, Monday afternoon; old post office; Strahan and Hunter, Monday evening; court house; Plum Creek and Brenna, Wednesday afternoon; Reinhardt school; Logan, Wednesday evening, voting place.

OF WAYNE

Rollie W. Ley, President.

Has His Chance.

Lincoln Journal: Albert—now known as George VI—has his chance. He has always been considered more adapted to the task of ruling than his brother David. Even David—also Edward—said so. He said so right up to the time he took over the duties relinquished by his father, George V, when the latter died last winter, after a long and successful career of conscientious service.

George V, father of the two men under discussion, was not a brilliant man. No one pretended that he was. But he had an unflinching sense of duty. He was sincere and conscientious. The English were satisfied with him and he tried to live up to their expectations. He was admired, fairly worshipped, in England and in the dominions. George V was what the English want in a king.

Edward was not like his father. He did not want responsibility. He shunned it. He was a good warrior, a brilliant playboy, a jolly good fellow, popular with men and women the world over. But he did not want to sacrifice the remainder of his life to duty. He could not see himself leading the life his people expected him to lead. The thought of abdication has been in his mind ever since he became king.

Albert is like his father. He is not brilliant, but he is trustworthy, dependable. He will make every sacrifice the English people demand. He will serve them conscientiously, dutifully, until he gives up his last breath. And since the English do not look to the throne for leadership but for stability, they may be satisfied with Albert's service.

Albert has no simple task at that. If sitting on the lid and holding things together promised to be difficult for Edward, it will be even more so for Albert, for this crisis cannot have made England any less uneasy and restless. But Albert has his chance. His job is to make good on the throne.

WORLD EVENTS.

Great Britain informed the United States that it had to default on its war debt again December 15.

New industrial legislation being considered in Washington is aimed to provide the following: Federal commission to regulate wages and hours, federal ban on trade practices that are "unfair," voluntary agreements to regulate wages, hours and trade practices, modification of anti-trust laws and federal financial aid to small enterprises through reconstruction corporation.

Representatives of the United States, Brazil and Argentina, meeting in the peace conference at Buenos Aires, Argentina, signed a joint resolution Friday for peace and security. Others then signed the pact. The pact provides for conferences, collaboration and consultation among 21 nations of the Americas in the event of a menace of peace to the American republics from any source, a menace to peace on this continent through interference of American wars and a menace from any war outside this continent that threatens the peace of the Americas.

Dust Storm Origin. Nebraska State Journal: Minnesota rebel. It doesn't like charges cast at it following recent dust storms that spread a new western states. The soil didn't all come from Minnesota. A little from test comes from the Dakotas. The soil spread out thinly over half a dozen states was not all raised by the wind in the Dakotas. Like denials may come from Wyoming, and Colorado and Oklahoma. Maybe, after all, the dust was raised in the air largely in the states in which it fell.

Some things about recent dust storms can be stated with definiteness. The dust dropped from the sky. Much of it was so high that it was carried over this state, although enough fell to make it unpleasant for all. The ground under here came from the north and northwest during the storm, but so far we have had no records of wind directions in the stratosphere regions.

For all we know some of the dust may have come from the red soil country of Texas or Oklahoma or New Mexico. Much of the dust that dropped here had a reddish cast. Maybe a ground wind in the southwest lifted the dirt high in the air and a contrary wind in the upper regions reversed directions and floated it north over the mid-western valley states.

High School Teams In Norfolk Debate

Pre-Christmas Program Is To Be Given On Monday By Students.

At the forensic debate held in Norfolk Saturday Miss Leola Belle Hall's A team of the Wayne high school composed of Gerald Wright and Bob Wright won three out of four debates. The B team made up of Jim Kingston and Wayne McMaster lost two debates and the C team of which Leslie Drenst and Beverly Canning are members won one debate. Saturday, December 19, two teams will go to Emerson for debates.

A pre-Christmas program was given at the assembly Monday. A freshman sextet sang "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" in English and in Latin. Beverly Strahan accompanied them. Miss Theodora Carlson read the Christmas story from the Bible. Mrs. Grace Welsh Lutgen told an original Christmas story. The string quartet played three numbers. Mrs. E. W. Smith and the eighth grade were guests at the program.

Wednesday the pep club sponsored a program before the game with Pilger. It consisted of a melodrama by the teachers. A floor show was also held at the basketball games in the form of a ball fight by students from the junior high.

Wednesday before vacation it is planned to have carol singing and review the histories of Christmas carols.

The following committee decorated the Christmas tree located in the assembly: Dorothy Heidenreich, Mildred Ringer, Barbara Pelber, Marcella Frevert and Franklin Simonia. A Christmas tree is also decorated in the first floor corridor.

Christmas Vacation Dates. Christmas vacation begins December 24 and school resumes January 4.

The first division of the freshman English class has been studying the origins of Christmas carols in preparation for a Christmas program to be presented early next week.

Christmas trees and the Christmas spirit are much in evidence throughout the school just now. The giving of Christmas presents and treats is reserved for family, church and friends. Many teachers are making contributions to local institutions and agencies which are in position to minister to the underprivileged on a basis of Christian charity and need and with the best likelihood of duplication.

H. E. Ley spoke on banking Wednesday before G. B. Child's class in business economics.

Junior High Notes. The seventh grade geography class has been working on maps of South America. The eighth grade history has been studying the industrial revolution.

The seventh grade history class has completed a unit on the Roman empire. Gail Dunning, Marjorie Fitch and Jean Berry are leading in the library book chart.

Sixth grade pupils have been telling original stories on the how and why of nature. They are also making a study of the way in which one should read poetry. Dorothy Nelson is leading in library reading in the sixth grade.

Grade Notes. A new clock has been secured for the fifth grade room. Carolin McClure and Lila Mae Reibold are housekeepers this week. Marjorie Berg and Lois Lindsay have put the most ornaments on the Christmas tree for receiving the most 100's in spelling. John Phipps has reported the most books on the book chart. Fortynine uses were found for glass by the students in the fifth grade following the study of that material.

The fourth grade pupils have

We have notice from the paint manufacturers that paint prices will advance soon. Nails, barbed wire and kindred steel products advanced $4 per ton Dec. 8. Some items of lumber advanced as much as $8.00 per thousand Dec. first. We are dead set against higher costs of merchandise, but we are powerless to prevent it.

Interior of the Globe Theater, California Pacific International Exposition, San Diego, Calif. Headquarters of the Old Globe Players 1935 and 1936.

The outstanding dramatic event of the 1935 season in Chicago was the five months' engagement of the Old Globe Theater company at the Century of Progress exposition. This same company is being brought to Wayne on the evening of January 7 by the State Teachers College for a complete performance of Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

In order to give the people of Wayne and vicinity an opportunity to see and hear this distinguished company, the play will be held in the municipal auditorium at the nominal admission price of 50c. There will be no reserved seats.

Description Of Life In England Given By Teacher

Houses of grey stone line the streets in Huddersfield, England. Here Miss Margaret Schemel is exchanging professorship at Royal Hill. All houses are three-story. My room has bed with blankets and eider down pull, blue denim bread, pinkish rug, wardrobe with glass, dresser, mantle with as glass, table, easy chair, straight hair, bookcase and rack for towels. Window has a deep shelf as it recessed. Bathroom has an electric heater (very unusual for England) and hot water all of the time (comes from the tank adjacent to the coal grate in the kitchen, although the cooking is done on a gas stove.)

dered along a road flanked by pretty medium-priced suburban houses, each with quite a garden spot. Turned and came back to New North Road via an old general cemetery where the graves are very close together and the graves very much present in the memories of the living, to judge from the vast number of flowers on nearly every grave. It all looked like an immense garden, except for the grim reminders. Noticed the prevalence of the names 'Haigh,' 'Dyson,' 'Sykes,' 'Holroyd' and 'Glenhill' which they tell me are most common in Yorkshire.

John A. Willard plays the title role with distinction. His Hamlet is a scholarly young man, high-kicked and intense, who is crazed with grief at the death of his father, and haunted by the suspicions that he had met an untimely end at the hands of the brother who filled his place as king and husband all too soon.

Aggricultural Notes
(By Walter L. Moller)

Nebraska's outstanding 63 4-H club members competing in the National Club Congress at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago brought home their share of major prizes. Similar champions competed from 44 states. Nebraska judging teams won four fourths, one seventh and one ninth. Canning club members won major honors and brought back $160 in prizes. The Perkins county team demonstrating the prevention of bruised meats placed second. Nadine Brittell of Kimball county, Nebraska's healthiest girl, won a red ribbon in the national health contest. Marjorie Hanson, Lancaster county's state style champion, placed in the red ribbon group at Chicago. Clothing and girls' rooms exhibits took red ribbons.

Two Nebraska agricultural leaders, W. H. Brokaw of the agricultural college in Lincoln, and Fred Wallace, Gibbon farmer, have been chosen on a national committee to study the land-tenancy problem and make recommendations to improve the situation.

Nebraskans have shown a great interest in the desirability of solving the land tenancy problem. R. A. Stewart, agricultural agent in Merrick county, has something tangible started. The county pasture committee is going to study the records of farmers in the 1936 statewide contest and formulate some recommendations for pasture land improvement. Several prominent landlords will be called together with their tenants for a general discussion on the landlord-tenant problem in an attempt to work out more satisfactory pasture leases. Stewart believes pastures are the "key" to the entire problem.

Feeding low-grade roughage to horses without needed additional feed is causing some fatalities from impaction in Nebraska. No losses are reported in Wayne county. Dr. L. Van Es advises adding a protein supplement or grain to the ration. Alfalfa or prairie hay helps. Giving horses some salt to make them thirsty also helps. Adding a couple handfuls of linseed meal per day per horse is another means of helping the situation.

"I believe in better farming of less acres and turning the remainder back to grass," says J. B. Weston of Beatrice. "It is very necessary to have a protective cover on the land if we expect to conserve the soil and moisture."

Wayne county farm people are invited to Lincoln January 4 to 7 for the annual Organized Agricultural meetings. Miss Barbara Van Heulen of Washington, appears Tuesday on "Family Cooperation in the Farm Financial Program." M. P. Jardigan of Georgia, and Dan Stephens of Fremont, are headline speakers Tuesday. The former speaks on relation of southern and middle-western agriculture. Prominent speakers appear each day and many farm problems will be considered.

The public is cordially invited: The Golden text: "Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundations of the earth; and the heavens are the work of thy hands."

A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from 1 Corinthians 8:5, 6: "For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "The universe, like man, is to be interpreted by Science from its divine Principle, God, and then it can be understood; but when explained on the basis of physical sense and represented as subject to growth, maturity and decay, the universe, like man, is and must continue to be, an enigma." Second Victory Is Gained By Players

Wayne College Basketball Team Goes To Omaha This Friday.

Wayne Teachers College basketball team added a second victory to its record Saturday evening by defeating Omaha university here by score of 28 to 21. Wayne won from Midland last week in opening contest of the season.

Both teams played a hard game Saturday night. Wayne gained a lead early in the game and only once early in the second half, was the local team's advantage threatened. During the last few minutes Wayne players made a rally that gave them a safe margin.

The local team won the Nebraska Intercollegiate basketball championship last year and the team hopes to repeat the record. Omaha was the only team to defeat Wayne last season.

Ervin Retzlaff, Wayne guard, was high point man of the game with 12 points. Red Lingenfelter, last year's all conference center, was captain. Score:

Plan to Complete Program For Year

Payments Are Not Expected Until In January For County Farmers.

Wayne county agricultural conservation committee is working to complete the 1936 program, and word came this week that the new 1937 federal program has been worked out after a series of the county. Details of the meetings of farmers in all parts program are still lacking.

Wayne county expects to have all work on the 1936 program completed by the first of the year, but it is not expected that any payments will be received within the county until some time in January.

The general outlines of the 1937 program are like the 1936 program with changes recommended by farmers designed to meet changed conditions. Payments will again be made to farmers who meet specified conditions for shifting up to 15 percent of the acreage in their soil-depleting basis from soil depleting to soil conserving uses and for carrying out approved practices.

Fred Wallace, chairman of the state committee, this week indicated that some state conferences of district representatives will probably be called by Washington administrators soon. In all probability, according to Agent Walter Moller, community educational meetings explaining the new program will not be held until after the first of the year and after the 1936 program is finished.

About ten counties have now either received payments or will get their checks within a short time for their participation in the agricultural conservation program this year. Several other counties are about ready to submit their

Problems in Changing World Need Solution By Young Folks Today

Most problems will not stay fixed. Those in which people are most vitally interested are continually in the solving and thus children must be taught so that they will be prepared for solving problems in the ever-changing world. So writes E. E. Lackey of the state university staff in Lincoln, former member of Wayne High School. Excerpts from Dr. Lackey's article on "New Geography in New Schools," appearing in the December Journal of the National Education Association, follow:

"One of the most frequent and the whole perhaps one of the most justifiable criticisms of the public schools today is that they are failing to give children practice in finding and attacking the social problems of present day living. These problems may be of local, state, national or international concern. Living in a democratic society is based on the assumption that every individual should share responsibility in solving the problems and making the decisions that are of mutual concern."

"In every community there are problems in which all the people are mutually interested. Perhaps certain highways in the community need improving or perchance taxes are relatively higher than formerly, or maybe there are possibilities for new enterprises of an industrial or commercial nature that the local community should be sponsoring. Should the school encourage teachers and children to find such problems and devise methods of attacking them? Do children need practice in thinking about present-day problems?"

"A part of Nebraska is in the sandhill region. This is a grazing land with a sparse population. One of the problems in which all other people in the state as well as those living in the sandhill area are interested, is that of equalizing educational opportunities for Nebraska children, because the social and economic welfare of all the citizens of the state is involved."

"A large amount of land in the United States that once was cultivated is now lying idle. Yet there is agitation in many quarters to reclaim cutover land, drain swamp areas, and irrigate dry lands. The welfare of every citizen of the country is involved in this problem. It is certainly one of mutual concern. Should all the citizens in our democratic republic share in the attack on this situation, or should it be left to politicians and demagogues?"

"Only a small percentage of the sugar consumed in the United States is produced in our country. Yet the sugar producers of Java and of Cuba must climb over our tariff walls in order to supply our needs. This matter concerns the taxes, the food supply, and the general welfare of every United States citizen. Yet there are determined efforts in some quarters to maintain the tariff wall, with all of its implications for international discord and for inequalities in tax burden. Should the schools in a democratic society be expected to give training in finding, analyzing, and solving problems of international concern?"

"These four types of problems—local, state, national, and international—vitality concern the welfare of every citizen of the country. They are ever-present and never solved, but are continually in the process of being solved. In a world in which the elements entering into nearly every problem are variables this must of necessity be true."

"For the purposes of this discussion, there are at least two important elements in the school situation. The first is the plastic, modifiable human organism—the child—and the second is the ever changing and partly controllable environment. The new schools are those that today are recognizing the ever changing nature of the environment in which the individual lives. And recognizing this, they understand that opportunity must be provided to develop abilities that will best enable the individual to continue to reconstruct his experience to fit into the rapidly changing scene in which we are living. Today we are living in an industrial age that has come upon us so suddenly that we do not yet recognize what has happened to us. The patterns of thought of the agricultural age still dominate much of our thought and action in dealing with the new problems of the industrial age."

"The materials introduced by the school into the child's experience for reconstruction have been all too often dragged in from the dead past, and consequently the reconstructed patterns of thought have turned out to be merely the old patterns handed down by authority."

"The new school, however, does not propose to discard the experience of the past in the educative process; it does not propose to eliminate problems of geography that deal with the past or with the status quo, but it does propose introducing the crucial problems of the present into the experience of the children so they may begin to reconstruct their patterns of thought with the ever changing present taken into account."

"The new geography for the new schools takes all the foregoing principles of education into account. It recognizes: (1) That the human organism is modifiable; (2) that its modification comes largely through its reaction to environmental contacts; (3) that it learns what it practices; (4) that it learns by the continuous reconstruction of experience; and (5) that new patterns of thought are contingent upon the nature of the materials introduced into the reconstructive processes."

"The new geography will give the child practice in finding the significant problems of the present. Since he learns what he practices, we want the school to give him practice in finding significant present-day problems."

"For example here are a few typical problems to illustrate the point of view:

"Brick and tile are used very extensively in construction work today. An organization with some money to invest is seeking a location for a manufacturing plant of this kind. What are the advantages and disadvantages of my community for an enterprise of this kind?"

"What can be done to prevent the disastrous floods in the lower Mississippi Valley?"

"How may the resources of Mexico be developed so more of the people will share in the benefits derived from the exploitation?"

"The new geography, therefore, will lend validity to the idea that problems will not stay solved, that in fact, most of the problems in which we are vitally interested are those that lie continually in the solving. Since learning is the continuous reconstruction of experience, we want to have the crucial elements of present-day living introduced into the reconstructive process."

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for December 30, 1920:

Mrs. Linda Carpenter, 81, died December 30, 1920, at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Kate Carpenter.

The body of Antoine Bastian, who lost his life in France during the World War, arrived in New York and is being brought to Wayne.

When Wm. Sund, 74, was hunting rabbits, some of the shot struck and rebounded, hitting him in the face and resulting in minor injuries.

Clifford Arthur of Columbus, and Miss Maude Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Richards of Carroll, were married Christmas day, 1920.

Wayne Nelson and Miss Hazel

Francis of Carroll, were married December 28, 1920.

Wayne firemen will have their annual masquerade ball at the opera house. Proceeds will be used for new fire equipment.

At the close of the Christmas program at the Methodist church the sum of $205 was given for needy children in Europe.

Mrs. Mattilda Swanson, 80, died December 29, 1920, at the home of her son, Ced Swanson, near Wayne.

Fred Ash entertained Wayne high school graduates of 1916 at the Charles Ash home. The group of 16 met at the Clyde Oman home and rode to the Ash's in a bob sled. The quiza board furnished entertainment.

A group of young ladies planned a Leap year party New Year's eve, going to the F. G. Phillee home for entertainment and the Mrs. Ray Reynolds home for refreshments.

Olwyn Jones of Carroll, underwent an operation in the Winside hospital.

Rev. G. Press, minister at Winside for some years, died at Denver December 26, 1920.

One of the big events of the season in Winside was the Christmas tree sponsored by the Danish Brotherhood at the opera house.

Frank Travis sold his barber shop at Wakefield to Frank St. Clair. Mr. Davis plans to go to California. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Clinkenberg of Wakefield, December 24, 1920.

Mrs. J. L. Stive, wife of a former Wakefield Christian church pastor, died in Ohio December 12, 1920.

Perry Branaman of Concord, and Miss Vera Hurley of Wakefield, were married Christmas day, 1920.

From Wayne Herald for December 27, 1888: Wm. Harrison will be president after March 4. . . LaPorte folks challenge the Tyro society to a debate. . . Senator Manning and Representative Ley go to Lincoln soon. . . Prof. G. W. Frazer and family are new residents of Wayne. . . J. C. Crawford has been appointed special agent for the Omaha Indians. . . J. W. Powell bought the R. E. Templin feed and livery stable. . . There will be a partial eclipse of the sun Tuesday. . . Mrs. Nelson, mother of P. N. and Ole Nelson, died December 24, 1888. . . Next term of Wayne academy will open January 2 over the Harrington brothers store. . . Efforts to buy back headwaters near Emerson from the Winnebagoes have caused great commotion in the tribe. . . Wm. McMillan and Miss Minnie Oman were married in Wayne on Christmas day, 1888.

From Ponca Journal for December 30, 1880: Christmas was a joyful day but it was horribly cold. The mercury stood 20 below zero. . . Two eclipses are to be visible this month. . . All elements of winter have pooled their issues and are trying to make life as uncomfortable as possible. Notwithstanding the snow, wind, frozen toes and ears, aching hands and noses, Ponca continues to be a rushing town with prosperity in all its lines. Stores are crowded with multitudes of customers who groan under the immense quantities of goods they carry away. But the most interesting topic to older folks is whether the coal company will be able to get the drill out of the coal hole. . . Among the many attractions in town were the Christmas programs at the Presbyterian and Lutheran churches. The day was never more heartily observed. This seems to be a good indication (as observance of this holiday of Christendom is a sign of good in social and religious considerations. The spirit of the season should carry through the entire year.

advances into 1937 with the

and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines. 85 horsepower for maximum performance. 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success. Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase — to the same advanced design — with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes — but only one car and one purpose — to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

STANDARD RED CROWN GIVES ONE-SECOND STARTING

...WITH THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE WINTER MILEAGE

Strictly speaking, Standard Red Crown is not that fast. But it does start an engine in good condition, in one second, at zero. And it gives even speedier warm-up than last year's Red Crown which gave 35% faster warm-up. That means it gets you under way without stalling.

And, with all its speed, Standard Red Crown gives the highest possible winter mileage.

GET IT FROM YOUR STANDARD DEALER!

Suggestion: This Standard Red Crown gasoline starts an engine so quickly and gets you under way so speedily that the proper light grade of winter oil is advisable. Standard's ISO-VIS "17" motor oil, in the special winter grades, does the trick nicely.
