

WHEN
April 1 Was Full of Trick
To Avoid a Boom
Reason for Extra
Jobs
"Clean-up Week"
in Farm Barnyard—Due to Local Efficiency in Colorado Legislature.

Time was when All Fools' day, April 1, was enlivened by a good deal of levity in the matter of fooling one another. There were fewer diversions from dull routines, no athletic contests, no picture shows, no automobiles, nothing to enthrall the senses or make the face curl up and laugh. So, when April 1 came, everybody expected to be fooled, and he was usually caught off guard enough times during the day to have his expectations more than realized. Sewing slices of bread together and substituting salt for sugar were among dining room tricks on All Fools' day, and if a fellow allowed himself to be come-hungry on that day, he was likely to be disappointed or find satisfaction deferred. Every day we are thankful that new and advanced ways of occupying attention have pushed narrow provincialism into the bygone of poor recollections, and that All Fools' day's annoying inanities have gone with them.

Advice Too Early.
In a fatherly manner, Roger W. Babson, economist, advises the country to "beware of a boom." If he includes this territory, he has no reason to be alarmed. We will avoid a "boom" from necessity, if not from choice. Lack of crops has made us powerfully resistant to high-flying or get-rich-quick ideas. When we raise another normal crop which all symptoms suggest as reasonably certain this year, we may need a warning voice to keep us from plunging periously. In the meantime, we must employ all our force to push ahead. We appreciate Babson's danger signals, but he has insisted them about six months too early for this section of the country.

Right Time for Public.
One reason for widespread gratitude is the starting of a coal strike with the introduction of warmer elements rather than with the beginning of winter. Many other uses of coal than keeping warm disturb different fields of production, but do not intensify the battle against freezing weather. A coal strike starting around the middle of November presents a real problem for the public, and it is excessively and regretfully tough on strikers who do not want to strike.

For the Busy Man.
Why is a busy man constantly charged with extra things to do? Why is he invariably turned to for help? Because he can be depended on to do what he promises to do and do it on time. We are thinking especially right now of Prof. K. N. Parke of the Wayne Teachers College faculty, and we wonder how he accomplishes so many things so well with no delays and with no friction. When he came here thirty years ago from Chicago, no band met him and no boasting was made as to what he could do. He fitted into the faculty group without any noise. His force of leadership and fine judgment became apparent as college and community responsibilities were turned over to him. Nothing he undertakes exceeds his ability, and no detail escapes his attention. Most of us take time to exortiate an incorrigible neighbor or to denounce a disagreeable public policy. Not so with Prof. Parke. He has no time—probably no inclination—to hurl shafts of faultfinding at fellow-wayfarers. He fits some of the rest of us handle the world's supply of investives. He works like a horse, keeps his patience and poise and presses undisturbed a rare gift of good nature. If we had a local "hall of fame," he would nominate him for a place in it.

Millions To Be Saved.
A saving of nearly ten million dollars' losses from preventable livestock diseases is the idea in the minds of promoters of the "barnyard clean-up week." Disease germs that infest livestock thrive in filth, and scientists claim a disease germ can live several years in congenial dirt, awaiting a chance to poison on an unsuspecting victim. A foul rack, and mice are partial to rats, and their ranks are expected to vanish before the wholesale clean-up onslaught. Says a bulletin: "With livestock prices at high levels, every farmer should redouble his efforts to protect his livestock from disease and epidemics."

Got Training Here.
Many of northeast Nebraska's high school bands taking part in the late district music contest in Wayne were led by musicians who obtained their training from Prof. John R. Keith of the college, or from Prof. F. C. Reed of the Wayne Municipal band, or from both. The foundation laid and the technique carefully imparted by these two master musicians have developed successful instructors for musically inclined students in many Nebraska schools. Thus, may be noted the widespread musical benefits that are felt as a consequence of competent leadership in Wayne.

Too Little Work Is Child's Task In Small Center

Too Little Work Is Child's Task In Small Center
Word floats in from one outside community that the problem of keeping children busy during the long summer vacation presses for attention. It is considered important in the training of youth not to have too much idle time. Active employment in something worth while is a way to reduce mischief-making or evil tendencies. The difficulty in the average small town in Nebraska is not to safeguard children against work, but to find a desirable outlet for their energies. Nothing but play during three months is believed harmful. A reasonable mixture of recreation and useful employment would furnish a wholesome mean between over-work and over-indulgence.

NATURE AS A SCULPTOR

WHEN Mother Nature, turns sculptor she works on a lavish scale. With the elements, rain, lightning, frost and wind, as her tools she carves her creations out of miles of solid rock and out of whole forests. The Canadian Rocky Mountains contain many examples of her work but none more spectacular than the two pictured here. At the top is Old Man Mountain, the gigantic figure of a sleeping man, lying a-top the Colin Range in Jasper National Park, Alberta, and dominating the Athabaska Valley for many miles. The Sarcee Indians who inhabited the region before the coming of the white race worshipped a legend around him. To them he was the old man who had built the mountains and, having finished his work, had lain down to sleep. In the smaller picture is shown the famous Black Cat of Brude. This is an almost perfect figure of a feline on the loose that is just about to arch its back. It is a piece of wood carving which nature has fashioned out of a whole forest. It covers nearly the full northern side of part of the foothills of the Rockies near Edson, Alberta and it is visible for many miles. It is best seen in the early morning or at twilight when the shadows are accentuated.

We Just Couldn't Stand It. Omaha World-Herald. Joseph Stalin, says a Moscow dispatch, has received notice on his people of his demand for the "merciless extermination" of all enemies of bolshevism.

Believe as we believe, do as we do, conform and support wholeheartedly, or we'll shoot you down like the rats you are. That is the law of absolutism.

How long would a Carter Glass last in the land of the Soviets—or a Dorothy Thompson, who tells the senate committee "it can happen here"? What would be the fate of a Don Baker or an A. W. Jefferson?

In what dank hole would Raymond A. Dodge hide? To what far mountains would Alf Landon and Al Smith and Bill Borah flee to find an unconditional companionship?

Touch luck, that's all, for anyone who dared call his mind and conscience his own. From Berlin, too, comes a dispatch. The Nazi government is preparing to give the German people a radically new conception of property rights. It will have "no room for abstract rights of property, especially with respect to land."

Further, "the old conception of the rights of parents over their children will be supplanted." It is quite logical. When the people become the property of the government instead of the government being the property of the people, such rules are to be expected. The individual is nothing.

"It's not to reason why, his not to make reply," his but to do as he is told or die solely for the might and glory of the state.

Happy homes? Security in peace? Study character, developing—avoid individualism? Forget it! Every man must goose-step, physically, mentally, morally, all the time, every day, every year, as the leader commands.

Fly to the courts for protection? Don't! For the leader commands the courts, too. It's a quite different world from that Don Butler had lived in as a boy and growing more strangely different every day.

Even though Dorothy Thompson, who has been everywhere and seen everything, declares "it can happen here," Americans don't believe it. For, trained as we are in the obvious ways of freedom, we just couldn't stand it.

But one can't help wondering how good a Stalin or a Hitler John L. Lewis would make if the opportunity came to come his way.

Plenty of "Ground Water." Omaha Journal-Stockman. Failure of some surface or shallow wells during the droughts of 1934 and 1936 gave rise to a fear in affected localities at least that underground water supplies in this region had been permanently reduced. Such apprehensions should be allayed, however, by recent statements of Dr. Condra, geologist of the Nebraska university, who pictures the Nebraska sand hills as the most ideal water storage basin in the great plains region.

Constantly feeding an underground flow across the rest of the state. "The amount of ground water here is more than 500 million feet, which is equal to about 500 times the capacity of the Pathfinder reservoir," Dr. Condra says. "This water is recharged by rainfall and is released all year at a uniform rate to the streams and invisible underflow to the valley."

The annual contribution of sand hill ground water to the Platte valley in the area between Bridgeport and Gettysburg is more than the amount stored each year in the Niobrara, Elkhorn, and Loup valleys is equal to three times the capacity of this same reservoir.

Ground water, Dr. Condra goes on to say, is less affected by drought than soil moisture and surface water. "In spite of it all," he states, "the ground water in the state was depleted only about four percent during the most severe part of the drought, all of which means it would require a drought of long duration to reduce our supply an alarming degree." While the statements made here were prepared particularly with reference to prospects for a continuous supply of underground water for pump irrigation, they are of great interest from other angles. Stockmen, for instance, whose existence is contingent on a dependable water supply, will find reassurance in the news that wells which tap this permanent supply will continue to flow. Their problem, then, is simply one of getting enough surface water to produce the feeds they require, and both past history and the conditions prevailing this spring are encouraging in that respect.

Reassuring. Omaha Journal-Stockman. While our weather experts make no claim to being long-distance prophets, one of the best jobs they are doing nowadays is that of reassuring the American public that the weather vagaries of the past few years, including droughts and floods, are temporary occurrences and will not long continue.

As a matter of fact, there are few who actually believe that there is any danger of this western country really becoming, as it was once called, the "Great American Desert." Nor do the inhabitants of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys fear that floods like those of 1936 and 1937 will soon be repeated. They are proving that by their eagerness to put in new crops in both the dry and wet sections this year.

But even when we do have faith, it is nice to be reassured by the weather experts that their studies of charts and graphs made from written records of the past 50 to 75 years and of three rings and similar natural data indicate that such abnormalities as those of 1934 and 1936 occur only once or twice in many years and that good crops and prosperous times are certain to return. In the light of such testimony, we can move ahead with greater confidence.

Faets About Milk. In the ruins of ancient Babylon searchers unearthed carvings in stone believed to be more than 6,000 years old showing a milking scene.

Columbus carried cows on his second voyage, landing at Santo Domingo. Forty years later cows arrived on the mainland by way of the shorts of Florida and Mexico.

When the pilgrims landed at Plymouth in 1620 there were no cows in New England. Many children died before a ship bringing cows arrived from Holland, two years later. These cows were apportioned at the rate of one to every six persons.

There are about 25,000,000 milk cows in America. In one year they produce some 47 billion quarts of milk, which, if placed in quart bottles side-by-side, would reach 60 times around the earth.

Ten years ago per capita consumption of milk in America was 55.3 gallons per year. Today it is around 60 gallons. Scientists agree that nutritional needs of all ages are best served when adequate amounts of milk are included in the diet.

The dietary importance of foods with a high calcium content such as milk is shown by an experiment reported to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. At the end of 22 weeks one rat deprived of calcium weighed 91 grams and a second rat fed on abundance of calcium weighed 219 grams.

The 1936 milk bottle survives an average of 30 to 35 trips compared with 22 trips two or three decades ago as estimated by the Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

This estimate is based on a study of 100 dairies. American per capita cheese consumption was approximately 6 pounds during 1936. This contrasts with the consumption of but 2.9 pounds in 1917. America is still far behind other cheese-eating countries. The Swiss lead the van, with 19.2 pounds per person each year. The French are next with 16.6 pounds; the Dutch 15.4, Scandinavians 10.8, the Danes 10.57, the British 9.69, and the Germans 7.01. John Stotzer, a Swiss dairyman of Tuscarawas county, Ohio, has an imported Swiss bell on each of 40 cows, and the Ohio farmer relates that, in the evenings when they are turned to pasture visitors come to the farm to listen to the melody of the bells which have been harmonized.

Good news for dairy farmers the world over. The almost universal custom of having tea between meals in England is giving way quite a bit to drinking milk in place of tea. This is especially true in the factories.

The beads of perspiration engendered by honest toil seem to be on the way out as fashionable jewelry.—Detroit Free Press.

There's Romance In The Air

You can see "Trouble House" as you turn the head in the rear—it's where "Martha Booth" lives with her adopted family. Thrilling episodes of romance and strife are heard in this dramatic serial on the "Heinz Magazine of the Air" over CBS every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning.

Young love will find a way. "Pearl Murray" is a waitress at the "Busy Bee" lunch wagon and "Ted Booth" just nineteen, is determined to marry her.

Pretty "Sally Booth" once had a broken heart but she has found new happiness in "her" work as a nurse—besides she can tell secrets to "Annie" and "her" little doll.

"Christy" and "Phoebe" have been devoted servants in the Booth family for years and never fails to stir up a "bit of trouble" in the "biscuits" at the "Busy Bee" lunch wagon.

Middle-age romance blossoms in the life of self-sacrificing "Martha Booth." "Clara Allison," the country doctor, has been her admirer for years and never fails to stir up the morning mail.

He loves me, He loves me not, "Nancy" is hopeful but daisies won't tell. "Bill Meigs," the handsomest boy in Bopphville, is all wrapped up in "Sally," who is "Annie's" older sister.

Faith In Original Plan.

Lincoln Journal: A study of current history causes us to recall many warnings from statesmen of the past. One of these warnings was uttered by Woodrow Wilson. He said: "Liberty has never come from the government. Liberty has always come from the subjects of it. The history of liberty is a history of resistance. The history of liberty is a history of limitations, of governmental power, not the increase of it."

One is convinced that this is true as he gives study to current events in Germany, Italy and Russia. In each of these countries the state, or the man who speaks for the state, has become all powerful. There it is not a government of individuals but a government of a supreme power that restricts individuals. Almost every move made by either of these governments is a move toward restriction of individual liberty. It is a state to increase the power of the state and to lessen the freedom of the individual. In neither of these countries does a bill of rights intervene to protect the individual. He is told what he may do and how he may do it. Rules are laid down as to what he may buy and when he may buy it, no matter what his personal needs may be. The church, the school, the press and the public forum feel the restrictions of government. None feels the extension of liberty or freedom of action.

With this knowledge so generally held it is little wonder that the people of this country should regard any encroachment on their liberties, any curtailment of their prerogatives, as worthy of strenuous opposition. They oppose packing the supreme court. There is a great outcry against the control of home government by edict from Washington. There is opposition to the child labor amendment because it would give congress power over the family life of the nation. It is not sufficient to say that congress would not use this power, because the people have seen congress usurp control of matters within the states. When the issue is plainly drawn and the fight made on the issue of home government alone, there can be no doubt as to the final result.

The plan instituted by the founders will be upheld.

Scrap Metal Exports.
Lincoln Journal: The scrap metal business of the nation is assuming enormous proportions. The rapid increase in price has caused a general cleaning up of waste metals everywhere. The junk man is doing a tremendous business.
Very recently it was necessary to close the Boston wharves until a cleanup of more than 200 cars of scrap iron could be moved on its way to foreign countries. The busness has become so heavy and so important at Minneapolis that dealers in scrap iron are having their first labor troubles. So much extra help has been hired and so much has been demanded of the laborer that workers in turn are demanding more of their employers. It is said that Canada in the last year exported more than 2 million 5 thousand dollars worth of scrap metal. The total exports of this commodity from the United States has not been reported, but it is believed that the sum will be vastly greater than for Canada. The trade has been increasing in volume for more than a year, and it was reported recently that scrap steel was bringing $22 a ton on the Chicago market.

In exporting scrap metal this nation is exporting war material. Japan is a heavy buyer. Some of the nations of Europe have been in the market for months. Prices have gone up continually. A war scare anywhere advances the price. Some day some of the metal this country sells may be returned to us in the form of cannon shot.

James McEachen of Lincoln, visited his mother, Mrs. A. McEachen, and his brother, George, here Sunday.

Newest Vessel Described As A Floating Hotel

A magnificent floating hotel is the way one might describe the Grace line's S. S. Santa Paula, newest ship of the United States merchant marine, on which Donald Morris of Carroll, made three round trips from New York to San Francisco since last November. Mr. Morris arrived Friday to visit his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Morris. Enroute here he stopped in Washington with his sister, Mrs. Virgil Brewer. He may return to the ship crew if he wishes but has not yet made his plans.

The Santa Paula is mainly a passenger ship and has accommodations for about 200. The trip from New York to San Francisco through the Panama canal requires from 39 to 42 days. The largest suite of rooms and accommodations cost $1,500 for the round trip. Other rooms are less. All are first class.

From New York the ship travels down the eastern coast and stops in Colombia, in the northwest corner of South America, the nation which is connected by the Isthmus of Panama to North America. The boat stops at the seacoast port of Barranquilla, second largest city in Colombia, which lies back a distance from the shore. The shipmen are not in a port long enough to be allowed to spend much time sightseeing but the seaport proved of interest. There one sees a settlement of thatched-roofed houses for the most part small square or oblong structures of rough boards with the peaked thatched roofs. Square holes are cut in the sides for light and these are protected with bars instead of with glass. Doors are the same. One new frame building seen at the port has lattice doors and windows. Fences are of vertical posts.

In the Colombia port one sees many automobiles, these of American as well as English and German makes. Most of the residents are natives, but some whites are to be seen.

Temperatures in Colombia are said not to vary more than 10 degrees the year round. The climate is warm as the port lies only about eight degrees north of the equator. The country has its rainy and dry seasons. The land is quite mountainous but also has fertile valleys and level land along the seacoast.

Colombia is a prosperous country with coffee the main product. Several of the South and Central American countries raise coffee and the varieties from different countries are blended before they are marketed in this country. Mr. Morris was informed that blending is important in quality coffee.

After the ship leaves Colombia it travels along the isthmus until it reaches the Panama canal. The canal is a wonderful piece of engineering. Mr. Morris finds. Three locks are located at each entrance. After going through the first locks, the ship is lifted to Gaillard cut, a waterway leading to Gatun lake which is 85 feet above sea level. The lake is traveled by the boat for quite a distance and then the ship goes through three more locks to reach the water across the isthmus. The 52-mile trip through the canal requires eight hours.

Many Americans reside in the canal zone, though there are also many Spanish there.

World Events

Britain and France plan a plane building program for 1937 to have enough to match the German aerial army. France will build 1,500 and Britain plans the same.

The Shiloh tabernacle, Zion, Ill., in which Wilbur Glenn Voliva preached, that the old world is flat, was destroyed Friday by fire which Voliva charged was set by enemies of the Zion mission plot. Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion, estimated loss at "easily a million dollars." Consumed in the flames also was radio station WCBD, which adjoins the huge wooden tabernacle. The tabernacle, built about 20 years ago by Dr. John Alexander Dowie, founder of this religious community, burned swiftly. It was entirely of wood and situated in the center of a 160-acre plot of ground.

CONGRESS

AN OBEY BY KARL STEFAN

"Spending" Is Washington Slogan

Letters from home indicate that some of these young men and women drawing $1,200 to $1,600 a year ought to save a little money or send a little money home to the folks who are down and out and need relief. But these young people say that under the Washington racket where every merchant makes it "easy" for them to "buy" and to "charge" and where everything is so high in price a great majority of these young people are broke and many have to borrow a few dollars "until pay day" from their fellow workers.

The government pays twice a month. Payday is sure here. Most of the money goes to the Washington hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses and to the merchants. "Spending" is the Washington slogan.

Debt Burden Foundation for Inflation

The House, without a record vote passed the $121,177,000 appropriation bill for the justice, commerce and labor departments. There was not an audible vote against the bill. Some old time members say the amount was "too small to make a fuss over." Members, however, are beginning to discuss finances and debts and members of both parties are starting to make speeches on the debt and money question. The government's debt burden is growing by leaps and bounds. Talks on "economy in government" expenditures are scheduled for next week by some leaders on both sides. Members gather into small groups occasionally these days and discuss the stock market and the bond market. Some attention is given to the fact that government bonds show some decrease these days. That brings up talk that more inflation is coming. There is also talk that deflation is due. None of the so-called "money" experts agree but most of the liberals in the House tell each other that inflation is on the horizon and that about the best thing in the world to own is a farm or a house and not of actual property.

Easter In Washington

The House adjourned over the week-end because there wasn't anything for members to do. The weather here is beautiful. Jonquils and other flowers are in bloom. Many members who live near Washington went home for Good Friday and Easter church services. A lot of people were at Arlington cemetery for the funeral services which many officials and members of the White House family attended. The churches were practically out of available seats for Easter services as usual. The annual egg rolling contest on the White House lawn was arranged for Washington makes a great display of eggs or festivities and about the same things are done here as at home except on a larger scale and by people who have a lot more money with which to put on these displays. The Easter parade of clothing is one of the high lights in these programs and for weeks the stores were jammed with men and women buying Easter finery. The civic centers here and some of the charitable organizations continued crowded with penniless and jobless men getting free coffee and lunch.

Tourist Season Opens

The warm weather is bringing into town thousands of tourists. Young people in many busses are unloaded at the various places of historic interest and the guides and souvenir salesmen are starting their busy season. The kodaks are in use again with the arrival of sunshine, and employees are everywhere taking pictures.

Appropriate Money for Insect Control

Before adjourning for the week, the House favorably accepted the House and Senate conference report on appropriations for insect control. This carries two million dollars and will give the department authority to use any unexpended balances for this purpose. The grasshopper control committees will soon be busy with the county committees. Many letters from county agents have been received making inquiries as to when funds will be available for grasshopper eradication. The bioweed eradication money in the "noxious weed" bill which the House has passed.

Veteran Aid

War veterans will be pleased to hear that the House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill which will restore the benefits to about 2,000 World War veterans who are sick with paralysis, paresis, blindness or bedridden, not withstanding the "misconduct" question which has often been raised. In the 1933 economy act, these benefits had been removed. Members of the veterans committee, especially John Rankin, the chairman, feel this new bill will aid many veterans who have been unjustly treated. Rankin, who comes from Mississippi, is one of the staunchest friends the veterans have in the house. He plans to introduce another bill if the present one does not take care of many veterans who have suffered as a result of the 1935 act. The House unanimously joined Rankin in his present fight to help these sick World War veterans.

Are Located At Infanry Post For Two Years

Capt. and Mrs. Duran Summers are located at Fort Wm. McKinley, Rizal, Philippine Islands, according to word received by the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ingham. Capt. Summers is surgeon at the infanry post and will be stationed at the islands for two years.

Capt. and Mrs. Summers sailed from San Francisco February 3 for their new station and arrived there February 25. Enroute they stopped at Honolulu to see Dr. M. S. Gibson, nephew of Dr. E. S. Blair of Wayne. They also made a short stop at the island of Guam, Rizal, the location of the army camp, is about seven miles from Manila.

Streets are narrow in Manila, Mrs. Summers writes. All traffic is opposite of the fashion in this country. Drivers use the left side of streets and Dr. and Mrs. Summers, who took their car to the islands, have had to adapt themselves to this and other differences there.

April, May and June are months of summer heat in the islands and schools are closed for the period. The temperature is always much warmer than here and the air is very moist. Clothes do not dry out of doors but they have to be ironed dry.

White persons on the islands have to be careful not to overdo during the hot season.

Schools are dismissed now and will resume in July when the weather cools.

Many foods on the islands have to be used from cans. No fresh milk is available. All meats are frozen. Oranges are 50c a dozen and other fruits which have to be shipped there are also high.

Lithuania Is Adopting New System To Americanize People of Country

Lithuania is Americanizing its people according to a Wayne business man, Barney Stark, who was born and received his early training in that country. At the time Mr. Stark lived there, Lithuania was under the rule of the Russian czar. Since the World War, however, it has become a republic. Lithuania is a very small country bordered by Russia, Germany, Poland and the Baltic states. It has a population of approximately 2,000,000 and the principal industry is agriculture. Mr. Stark came to this country in 1907 when a youth because, as he commonly stated, "America is a land of opportunity." He had relatives in this country who urged coming.

In 1927 Mr. Stark returned to Lithuania for a visit while he was in Europe attending the American Legion convention which was held in Paris. He saw many of the changes brought by the World War. Lithuania was the scene for much of the fighting and huge exiles were still present designating the location of many large lands.

Since the country has become a republic the people are greatly interested in educating the youth. According to Mr. Stark, the educational system is much improved and many of the American policies of education have been adopted. Up to the time of the World War, education was hard to obtain. The government did not want people enlightened. The Russian had preferred to keep his people in ignorance.

Mr. Stark has a sister in Russia

GAMBLE'S CREST TIRES

Here's perhaps the most drastic, startling change in price policy that has been made by anyone in the tire industry in many years.

How can we do it? Here's how. We believe the general public is sick and tired of all the confusion about 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th line tires. For that reason Gamble Stores are now carrying only one complete line of tires—our top grade 1st line CREST—the finest a great modern factory with almost 40 years experience knows how to build. Thus we cut down our stocks, eliminate lines, simplify stock keeping, and speed up turnover. Our tremendous increase in sales will more than make up for our reduced margin. BUY NOW WHILE PRICES ARE LOW!

Human Nature

Human nature offers amazing exhibitions of frailty and bad faith. It often lies in the mistaken belief that a false front serves its purpose better than truth and candor. It often turns its back on a friend who has been a source of favor, on the assumption that said friend has no more favors to grant. It frequently seeks covertly to tear down a fellow who is suspected of not having his full share of barriers to overcome. Ugly twists in human nature cause many of society's major worries and heartaches.

How much better if travelers would encourage and help one another, making the course easier instead of harder. No one is so impecunious that he cannot by good words if not by generous deeds, lighten daily burdens. Even those in relief jobs may well courage and hope into the world's work by expressing appreciation and by manifesting eagerness for steady employment in private fields. The grossly earth-bound policy of getting as much as possible for as little as possible without regard to rules of fair reciprocity or to noble standards of fellowship chalks up more on the debtor than on the creditor side of the ledger.

Advantage In Sticking

THE Omaha World-Herald sees rewards for the farmer who sticks to his farm, and who refuses to cast his lot in other fields. In part it says:

"The most of Nebraska's farmers are not easily discouraged. There has been a hazardous existence in recent years. Season after season they have planted, only to watch fields dry up under withering heat. Yet so great is their faith in the soil that one friendly shower sends them to work again with renewed confidence in a future in Nebraska. They know the richness of our soil. They have faith that drouth is the exception, not the rule. So with quiet courage they cling to their land, many of them living in 'box cars, chicken houses, granaries and churches,' making what shift they can to live while they break ground, plant, cultivate and wait for rain.

"Their courage is magnificent, their faith unshaken. They are maintaining the tradition of the first builders of Nebraska. They are hardy folk, the very salt of the earth they love so well."

THE MYSTERY.

A man comes into the world without his knowledge or consent, and he goes out reluctantly. After running the gamut of tooting, measles, mumps, whooping cough and scarlet fever, he enrolls in the public school to unfold into intelligent and useful citizenship. Every hazard is placed in his way. If he escapes disease, lightning, tornadoes, earthquakes, floods and automobiles, he may step on a rusty nail and die from blood poisoning. He is a child of chance, and the chances are often against him. If he has inherited a feeble constitution or even just one weak organ, the upstream pull is made more difficult. If he devotes all his waking hours to accumulating worldly goods, he is likely to stub his toe and spill everything he has gathered together. If he has the endurance after dodging numerous and sundry perils, he tries to recapture his material fortune, and perhaps succeeds in part. Then when his hard working years are over, and he thinks he is ready to play, he finds he is too old to enjoy the things that appealed in youth. Then if he has given no thought to spiritual values, he wonders what his life has gained in addition to fleeting material substance. He leaves the temporary unreal to face what he suspects is an unending real of which he had given slight consideration. Until the mystery is solved, the plan, with its risks and hardships, lacks both reason and sense. Justification awaits understanding.

neighbor and friend, a personal acquaintance, and attaches to the printed statement and advertisement of the country newspaper far more importance than the dweller in the big city attaches to the statements or advertisements in the big city newspapers. In another part of Brisbane's letter, he said: "It would be a sad day, indeed, in this country if there were not scattered in every little hamlet conscientious, clean newspaper men, willing for ridiculously small pay, to watch and protect the interests of their neighborhood."

According to the Literary Digest, the sex crime wave has spread until law-enforcement officers have become alarmed. Ruthless murders of defenseless girls have aroused determination to solve a growing problem. One young murderer who admitted his guilt, pleaded that he was the victim of an "uncontrollable impulse." One New York officer puts the crime-prevention task up to alienists and psychiatrists. Has not increased moral laxity incited weak and perverted natures to acts of violence?

To Alaska Position.

Miss Ruth Chapman, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Koeper of Wayne, who has been attending college at Rosemont, Montana, for the past three years, was sent by the college to Fairbanks, Alaska, to finish her educational work. While there she was offered a teaching position which will pay her $190 a month. She can come back home any time she wants. Miss Chapman's home is at Polson, Mont. Her mother was the former Miss Alma Koeper.

Has Medical Care.

Mrs. Ben Lass of Wayne, was admitted to a local hospital Friday evening for medical care.

Achievement Day Is Set For Clubs

Achievement day for Wayne county project clubs, planned for April 23, has been postponed until Monday, April 26, at the auditorium.

SUSPICION.

When the family cow draws back its tail and swats the fellow who is milking, across his face, and almost immediately plants a heavily charged foot in the milk pail, it arouses suspicion—foretells a considerable measure of confidence. When there is tucked away in a legislative measure a cunningly devised scheme to regiment either industry or agriculture, people become uneasy lest their representatives will put something over on them altogether at variance with the usual order. * * * The original form of the Nebraska soil conservation bill would have virtually meant compulsory compliance. Farmers protested so vigorously that the measure was largely modified, making compliance optional. But why have to be on the alert to prevent enactment of laws—state or national—handicapping agriculture with strait-jacket requirements? * * * Commenting on the bill, the Nebraska Farmer offers this concluding comment: "There is doubt whether anything more than education and demonstration is necessary to encourage sound and practical soil conservation practices in this state. Our farmers are quick to adopt improved farming methods, and one has only to observe, as he drives along rural highways, the increasing examples of contour farming, terracing, strip farming, basin listing, storage reservoirs, and gully control work to note how quickly they learn. Moreover, the college of agriculture and the federal government, through the soil conservation service and the CCC camps, are demonstrating soil and moisture conservation. With such educational facilities available to farmers, why propose any further strait jacket of compulsion and regimentation to remove all independence in agriculture?"

AHERN'S Offer--
A new group of $7.95 Ladies' Dresses purchased by Mrs. A. W. Ahern while on a buying trip this week. Included are many styles just brought out for warmer weather wear. Chiffons, sheers, light weight silks and silk linens. Sizes up to 48. Come now for first choice.

Special prices on Ladies' Suits. $9.75 for your choice of smart styles in grey and navy with jackets in Swing or tailored styles. $5.00 for your choice of several short jacket suits in mannish tailored tweeds. $15.00 and $19.75 for your choice of our finest suits.

Many of our New Spring Coats are now priced $9.75. Among them are the popular Jigger style coats in colored woollens and swing style coats in grey and tan tweeds.

Many are selecting their Formals now while there is a beautiful selection. Come and have your formal laid away if you are not ready to take it out. A small deposit will hold it.

We are having much success with a Foundation Garment made by Warner Bros., which has a smooth back feature that is particularly pleasing. Two-way stretch material instead of one way stretch is used to create a back panel which does not wrinkle either crosswise or lengthwise. This smooth flat back feature advertised by Warners as "Flatter Back" can be had in both girdles and corselettes. Our customers are very much pleased with them. The price is $3.50.

Copied brown shades in silk hosiery are still very popular. But there is a trend also toward lighter shades for summer wear. We have ordered out some new Munsings to meet this demand in both the 88c and $1.00 chifons. Hosiery prices are being advanced by the manufacturers but we have anticipated this and will still be able to sell you Munsings at the old prices 88c and $1.00. Lace hose promise to have a vogue this summer too. We have them for you at $1.00.

Chiffon is now the popular material for blouses. We have new ones in white and colors at $1.95.

White footwear will soon appear. You can make your selection here from many of the most popular styles at $2.95 and $3.95.

CONGRESS
AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN
Federal Reserve Bank Ownership.
About 100 congressmen have joined behind a bill to make the federal government the real owner of the Federal Reserve banks. A bill to that effect is in the hopper and several meetings have been held by these members to start some strategy which would give the bill real power. The strategy is first to get an organization on the democratic side and then follow up with an organization among the progressives on the minority side. This new movement is soon to get some important publicity.

Favor Anti-Lynching Bill.
Southern congressmen are worried over the anti-lynching bill which the House will get very soon. Southern representatives admit that the bill is embarrassing to them. One such bill passed some years ago in the House but died in the Senate. The new bill will undoubtedly pass both houses this year. The new bill is creating unusual attention and its presence in the House is taking away some of the importance of the supreme court legislation over which the Senate is fighting today.

Side Business Profitable.
The rooming house business is good here. One policeman who directs traffic on one of the prominent streets, receives the largest income from outside source of all district employees. He says this rooming house business brings in $8,000 on the side.

Head Gardener Former Nebraskan
John Bardsee, who traveled around Nebraska and different states as an ordinary gardener, has become the head gardener of the Botanical Gardens here. He is the producer of the American azalea. John has 120 varieties of these azalea on display in the Botanical Garden and they have attracted unusual attention.

Old Inn on Site of House Building.
Just outside the window of the Third congressional office is a plaque which bears this inscription: "Site of hotel of Conrad and McMunn, where boarded Thomas Jefferson and from where he went to be inaugurated President, March 4, 1801." Prior to the time the new House office building was constructed, an old inn occupied the ground space, being torn down when excavation for the present building was started. It was in this inn where many notables in Washington lived. The name of the inn was changed in later years to Congress Hall Hotel, where once lived the vice president of the United States, as well as many congressmen and senators. However, we are advised that it was the original structure known as the hotel of Conrad and McMunn, and from where Thomas Jefferson left to take his oath of office as President of the United States in 1801.

Proposed Public School Aid.
Hearings on the bill to give federal aid to the various states for public school education have taken up most of the week by members of the House Committee on Education. The bill calls for an outright grant of one hundred million dollars to the various states for education the first year, and to this fund is to be added fifty million dollars a year until the total amount has reached three hundred million dollars. Under the proposed legislation, the federal government would have nothing to say about the expenditure of the money except that it go to public schools and be spent by the state governments. The bill is sponsored by the National Education association and many school boards and school teachers. It is given the endorsement of the Nebraska superintendent of public education and many Nebraska educators. The proponents of the measure are here in large numbers and are led by high officials of the N. E. A. Many state superintendents and many educational experts have already testified in favor of the bill. The claim is that many states, especially those in the south, where there is a large negro population, can no longer raise enough money by taxation to meet the needs of education. The committee is giving many hours to hearing the proponents of the bill and the record which undoubtedly will be printed will contain valuable information regarding the educational condition of our entire country.

Distinguished Visitors in Capitol
The British captured Washington today. The Governor General of Canada is here visiting high officials and today he was introduced to members of the House and Senate. He was accompanied by a large number of distinguished Britishers including the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who is interested in the reciprocal trade agreements. For many days the town has been filled with foreign visitors, many of them high diplomats and representatives of foreign industry. Members who spoke among themselves following the Canadian governor's brief talk in the House, wondered if the British are here to talk about paying us what they owe us or whether they are here to open negotiations for larger loans. Several of the foreign nations have made advances recently for American money running into the billions of dollars.

L. Moses, Mrs. Harry Baird; project club officers are: President, Mrs. Fred Baird; leader B. Mrs. Harry Baird; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bernard Spittler; music leader, Mrs. Clifford Lawman; news reporter, Mrs. Chas. Baird; executive board, Mrs. Wm. Wylie and Mrs. Earl Wade.

Capitalizing Human Contrariness.
Omaha Journal-Stockman: Perhaps because they are such contrary beings, humans pay little attention to ordinary warnings. For instance, signs like "wet paint" and "fresh cement" merely act as invitations to the exploratory fingers and toes of many people. And there is something about a highway warning that the speed limit is so many miles an hour that apparently makes a great many motorists want to see whether any-

But perhaps a way has been found to make good use of this unruly streak in us. A new series of articles on "how to get hurt" is being released. Illustrated with pictures, one squib plainly shows how stepping in and out of the bath tub carelessly, hanging the towel too far away or leaving a cake of wet soap on the floor is practically certain to produce serious injury!
Obviously the intention is to capitalize on human contrariness and, by suggesting that the undesirable thing be done, build up a mental resistance that will gain the desired aim of preventing the accident shown.
Any way the experiment will be worth watching and, if it works, the same principle may well be extended to other fields. Possibly, we'll find that instead of setting speed laws and posting warnings, it will be better to line the highways with signboards giving the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the nearest doctors and undertakers for handy reference when the accident occurs.
Mrs. A. Erickson spent Tuesday in Emerson on business.
Relief funds may be cut by Washington officials to provide for other government activities without additional taxes.

Farm Debt Group To Hold Meeting

Rolie W. Ley, chairman of the Wayne county Farm Debt Adjustment committee, announced today that a regular meeting of the committee will be held at the rehabilitation office in Wayne at 10 a. m. April 19. The committee functions as a conciliatory body to assist worthy, debt-burdened farmers in working out new agreements with their creditors to avoid foreclosure or bankruptcy. There is no charge for its services. By applying sound and impartial business reasoning, the committee is often successful in solving difficult farm debt problems, thus eliminating the expense and delay of liquidation and improving the status of both debtor and creditor. The committee is composed of citizens appointed by the governor and serves without pay except for "out of pocket" expenses. The work is coordinated by the farm debt adjustment unit of the resettlement administration. Further information concerning the services of the committee may be secured by contacting the chairman, the extension agent or the RA rehabilitation supervisor. Home From Hospital. J. J.
