Norfolk Position
To Wayne Student

Donley F. Feddersen, Newport, has been elected to the English and dramatics department of the Norfolk high school. Mr. Feddersen has attained exceptional scholarship rating besides being active on the Goldenrod staff, in dramatics, music and other extracurricular work.

Persistent Reporter Finally
Interviews Modest Instructor

George H. Larson in Goldenrod

At last, folks, I've cornered that extremely modest gentleman who lives down at 808 Nebraska and heads the English department on the Hill.

For seven months I've dogged his steps in hope of obtaining an interview, but he absolutely refused to talk about himself. His name is Professor J. Q. Owen. He is sponsor of the Goldenrod.

His father wanted him to be a physician; everyone else thought he should be a preacher. Although his early ambition was to be a seacaptain, he became a teacher and likes all that pertains to his work.

During his entire teaching career Mr. Owen has missed but four days of work because of illness. He has taught English at Michigan State, Colorado State, Montana State, Dakota Wesleyan, and the University of Minnesota. At Minnesota he taught full-time for three years and earned two years of graduate credit at the same time.

Two interesting years were spent as weighmaster for the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company at McGill, Nevada. Here he learned to love the desert, so well that "he wouldn't trade those two years for any other two years of his life."

Favorite author in English class—Chaucer, because he is so readable, because of his humor, and because of his attitude toward life. Other favorites: Browning, Hardy, Galsworthy, G. B. Shaw, and Ibsen.

Asked about his hobbies, Mr. Owen replied that he has a variety of interests. He likes walking and hiking, but lately he says he prefers "full tank of gas and a thousand miles of road ahead."

Other likes: swimming, skating, bicycling, reading, running up stairs, old books that are mellow and dusty with age, spinach, violin music, visiting tombs of famous people. He likes good ghost stories and would like to try writing a few. Also likes red ties, but home influenced checks his fondness for such flaming neckwear.

Exchanges

Miss Burnett, Collins of Laurel, and Kenneth Suter of South Sioux City, were married last week Sunday.

Miss Ruth Otto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Otto of Pierce, and Carl VonSoggen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman VonSoggen of Wisner, were married April 3. They will live at Wisner.

C. H. and Anton Wanner of Wisner, bought a half section of land three miles south of Laurel, this being the property of the late A. B. Clark of Wayne. D. H. Cunningham made the deal.

Carry Potter of north of Dixon, died last week.

James McGuirk, 32, of Dixon, died last week.

Sophus Henriksen of Dixon, who was in Denmark the past year, has returned and will farm the Fred Gartner place near Laurel. The Gartner moved to Norfolk.

At the annual Norfolk district Methodist conference in Pierce last week, Rev. F. C. Mills invited the group to Wayne next spring.

Mrs. Oscar Schaufusman, 38, who was fatally injured in a car accident near Chambers, was buried at Wisner last week. Her husband and two daughters survive.

Miss Angeline Brackeen, 59, sister of T. F. Brackeen of Emerson, died Sunday last week in Omaha where she taught 22 years.

Supt. L. Sandmark resigned as head of the Emerson school to accept a position at Circle, Mont. Harold Horn, Frances Sprague and Wilma Lewis are other Emerson teachers who have declined their positions for next year.

From many northeast Nebraska towns comes the report that geese are flying over in great numbers. Often the "honking" geese have kept persons awake at night.

Henry Hatch, 56, resident of Pierce some years ago, died at Burlington, Kan.

Miss Marie Meyer and Oscar Pilger of Pilger, were married April 3.

Peter Weis, 81, resident of Randolph vicinity 47 years, died at the Otto Pfanz home near Belden April 3.

Modern Americans Need Hobbies To Prevent Fall Of Civilization

Wish to Die Together—Granted Three Sisters—Other Unusual News.

Modern civilization cannot live unless leisure time is employed to advantage, warns Prof. Jay Nash of New York. With increase of labor saving devices, Americans have more spare time. They must keep their minds and bodies active during this leisure to prevent a fall. History has shown that men become "soft" with too much leisure. Prof. Nash advises Americans to adopt worthwhile hobbies to occupy their spare time.

Three spinster sister were buried together in Chicago. They had always lived together and were granted their wish that they should die together. Olga Schoenthaler, 73, died Sunday. Clara, 70, and Joan, 89, died Wednesday.

Mary Dun, 28-month-old girl in Missouri, is a child prodigy. She plays the piano and sings, composing her own songs. She is most precocious in many ways, having her own opinions, about the supreme court, Wallis Simpson, etc.

Red hot coals which singed the feet of five young men in London, did not burn the feet of a young Indian. The Indian prayed before he walked onto the coals.

Quaker funeral rites were conducted for Levi Dillon, 82, Kansas farmer, who had never ridden in an automobile. The man had been to town only twice in 20 years, then walking the seven miles.

Mrs. Wallis Simpson cancelled all engagements last Thursday, including a morning golf round, because her little terrier, a Christmas gift from the Duke of Windsor, died from a snake bite.

America's youngest bishop, in Columbus, Ohio, has received permission to make the one cathedral in his diocese an automobile-trail.

A diet of nails, wife and glass proved fatal to a cow at York, Neb. The animal insisted on eating these things.

A 15-year-old Denver youth who admitted killing his father "because he was mean to mother" was placed in the charge of Father Flanagan at Omaha.

A one-legged Indiana man who set a dynamite trap at his corn crib door for thieves, forgot the trap and opened the door. The dynamite exploded and took his other leg.

Surgeons closed an open safety pin which a 5-year-old Minneapolis girl swallowed. Without cutting the stomach the doctors closed the pin while it was in the child's stomach.

Though a bed was the only piece of furniture in the debris strewn apartment of a Massachusetts man, a fortune of $14,000 was found in the home after his death.

A man with a stolen radio, caught by police in Chicago, wrote a note to explain to the officer that he was a deaf mute. Later the officer wondered why a deaf mute wanted a radio.

E. Moses Relates Experiences Of Early Days in Brenna Precinct

The first person to settle in the Brenna precinct, Wayne county, was E. Moses, now a resident of Pasadena, Calif. Mr. Moses, whose sons, H. S. and F. I., now live on the home place, writes of his early experiences in the county as follows:

"I commenced to make improvements on the Brenna farm in 1878. As I was the first settler in the township the county commissioners allowed me to name the precinct and I called it Brenna in honor of my sister, and the farm given the same name.

"I had had no experience in farming. A friend helped me buy a team, a large span of 7-year-old mules. They were well broke, and I knew more about farming than I have had any time since. I had never had any idea the funny experiences a greenhorn can have. For instance, near the close of the breaking season one of the mules was bit by a rattlesnake. It worried me a good deal for if he should die, it would be difficult for me to find another on account of the scarcity of money. Nebraska did not have a usury law, and very often farmers had to give two percent a month for borrowed money. At that time whiskey was considered the best and only antidote for snake poison, and a quart was kept on hand for such an accident. But how was I to make the mule drink it, throwing the halter strap over his head, then by pulling him as high as possible, I shoved the neck of the whiskey bottle down his throat, and to my astonishment the quart of whiskey went down as readily as with any other liquid. During prohibition I told a man about the incident but the only comment he made was 'what good whiskey.' In a few days the mule was well.

"A young married couple, Mr. and Mrs. James McBurney, rented part of the farm and kept house for me. Their daughter, Mrs. Loomis, was the first child born in Brenna precinct. Mrs. Loomis lives at Montevia, Calif. The McBurneys remained with me for two years and then moved to another farm.

"I had made the acquaintance of a young lady, at Wisner, Miss Johnson. She consented to share my trials and tribulations on a stock farm. The pioneer women of Wayne county deserve great consideration and praise for the hardships they so willingly endured. Neighbors and towns were so far apart that they had no social life at all. During the first years we were married it would be weeks at a time my wife did not see another woman. During the winter months it was more hardship to drive to town over the rough roads than to stay at home.

"Hardly ever had the price of grain been high enough in Nebraska to leave a profit for the farmer. If it was shipped to an eastern market, it took most all the grain to pay freight and commissions. I found freight on wool was much less than on grain, considering the value of the product.

"At this time the manufacturers were importing about nine-tenths of the wool used in the United States. Sheep were the most profitable stock a farm could keep. I would be as convenient and comfortable a place to live as on any of the farms in the eastern states. Wayne county soil is fertile, and if taken proper care of I do not know of any place better for a farm home."

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for April 14, 1931:

Twenty working days will complete Wayne's paving.

In writing on how to make Wayne more attractive, Marion Jo Theobald, fourth grader, said she would clean up the city, keep terraces even and well mowed, keep alleys clean, care for vacant lots, pick up loose papers, organize a band, build a new hotel, put flowers and trees on the depot, put attract birds with feeding bowls and water fountains, build bird houses that are safe from cats, cover unsightly places with vines.

Miss Frances Oman, senior at the state university, has been elected to Alpha Rho Tau, fine arts fraternity.

R. W. Shirey was elected head of Wayne school. Teachers chosen to date are Mrs. Allis Pollard, Miss Mary Goodrich, Miss Elizabeth Kallemeyn, Earl Schroer, O. W. Crabtree, Miss Emma Hughes, Miss Vernie Bevis, Miss Hattie Crockett, Miss Josephine Horney, Miss Florence Holdman, Miss Ruth Phillips, Miss Annie Will, Miss Olga Ponds and Miss Isabelle Derby.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nolte of Wakefield April 9, 1931.

Wayne Evangelical church which has been repaired since being damaged by fire, will be rededicated May 15, 1931.

Lewis Ekeroth of Wakefield, has gone to Portland, Ore., to live.

Gas Fleetwood, Harold Dendel, H. C. Borg, Clifford Busby, Luther Hypse, V. H. R. Hanson, Aug. Fischer and H. A. Bowman are new officers of Wakefield fire department.

Earl Lound of Winside, underwent an operation in Norfolk.

Nels Jensen of Winside, died April 5, 1931.

Ed Krause of Winside, has been a patient in a Sioux City hospital. Mr. Krause had to have one of his eyes removed after a piece of steel from an ax injured the member.

Mrs. C. E. Jones of Carroll, has been ill with rheumatism.

Bert Atkinson, former editor at Carroll, has gone to Stanton to edit a paper.

From the Wayne Herald for April 15, 1897: C. Freburg died April 3, 1897. Miss Erica Thompson, 20, died April 10, 1897.

J. T. Bressler was appointed government director of the Union Pacific railroad at $1,500 a year.

Sherriff Reynolds brought C. K. Rash back from Lincoln, Rash to face trial for murder of his wife and children. The Iowa and Nebraska Telephone company was granted the right to construct a telephone system in Wayne, the work to be finished in August.

From Poncey Journal for April 22, 1880: The prairie fire of yesterday burned the fence around the cemetery. Joe Leach and Rev. Wheeler crossed the river in a skiff during the gale but they won't do it again because there was much spray and fair prospect of moisture in a larger quantity. Dakota City did not hold an election this spring so will not have any government this year.

A prairie fire that was swept by a south wind did considerable damage in the south part of the county. Mr. Parke lost some fine fruit trees. T. B. Hicks lost his stables and much livestock. A. F. Hinds had forest trees destroyed.

Your Spring Oil Change to ISO-VIS "D"

Lasts Longer

ISO-VIS "D" MOTOR OIL

In producing every two quarts of Iso-Vis "D" at Standard Oil refineries, three quarts of carefully distilled motor oil are used. One whole quart of carbon-forming, sludge-forming impurities is removed and discarded by Standard Oil's Propane and Chlorox processes — it's not for sale! The Iso-Vis "D" motor oil which is for sale is nothing but the finest kind of tough, long-lasting motor oil, as a result. You'll find it easier to keep your oil level up and your oil costs down, if you have the Standard Oil Dealer, nearby, fill your crankcase with Iso-Vis "D", today.

Building Activity Is Under Way This Season To Improve Wayne

Spring, the season when the world takes on an appearance of newness, grass is green and trees dress up in new leaves, is also a season of building activity, and Wayne citizens have fallen into the trend of newness with the erection of many structures.

A sunken garden. The improvement on the athletic field east of the industrial building are nearing completion. When this is finished all of the WPA workers at the college will bend their efforts to completing the sunken garden.

Village of Wayne Was Thriving In Early Eighties

"Not less than 20 cars of household goods have been unloaded at this station during the last two weeks," according to a letter written March 6, 1937, by Judge A. A. Welch to S. H. McMakin when the latter lived in Illinois. Mr. McMakin owned land in Wayne county and Mr. Welch wrote to ask him if he would sell his 80 here. Mr. Welch explained that he had a customer who would pay $14 an acre for the land.
