STATE'S MOISTURE GIVES BIG BOOST TO GROWING CORN

Unseasonably cool weather over the last week-end with rains in many parts of the state—some in Wayne county—offered a sharp contrast with the dry, torrid elements of a year ago.

Light rain fell in Wayne early Sunday morning. A half inch at Carroll and more than an inch west of there gave crops in such sections another boost.

Late Sunday afternoon a heavy storm descended on the eastern half of the state, the heaviest downpour falling in Washington, Douglas, Saffy and Cass counties.

Adams county had four inches. The storm north of Omaha was accompanied by hail which did some damage.

Growing corn never looked better. Stalks are big and healthy, and with ample moisture, there would seem assurance of an unusually large yield.

WILL CONTRACT FOUR PROJECTS

Oil Mat And Regraveling For Wayne County Are In August Letting. Contracts will be let by the state board at Lincoln August 12 on four highway projects in Wayne county.

One calls for oiled surfacing for the first 8 miles south of Wayne, the north sector of the new highway from Wayne south to No. 8 east of Pilger. Another calls for regraveling the Wayne-Pierce road, north and south of Carroll, this being 24.3 miles.

A third contract calls for regraveling 17.7 miles on the Laurel-Concord and Wayne-Laurel highway. The fourth is for regraveling the Norfolk-Winside and Norfolk state hospital road.

The state board opens bids July 29 on graveling 5 miles between Wakefield and Pender. Construction on the new highway south of Wayne is making progress.

Engineer W. C. Cunningham reports culverts 82 percent complete, grading 28 percent finished and bridges 28 percent finished in the first 8 miles Saturday night.

Footings for all culverts in the first 8 miles are in. Men are working on a large culvert in the seventh mile, south. The creek channel is being changed in the sixth mile south to make the water run at right angles instead of diagonally to the road. This requires moving 10,000 yards of dirt. An 80-foot bridge will span the creek. The new bridge in the third mile south is complete except for hand railing. Grading is complete in the first two miles and the work is progressing south.

In the south project grading began at the pavement east of Pilger and is moving northward. Two elevator graders and 65 head of horses are used there. Culverts are also being placed in that sector.

RAIN BENEFITS THIS VICINITY

Small Grain Harvest Shows Good Yield And Quality Nearby Wayne.

Wayne county shared in week-end rains, though the precipitation here was lighter than in many parts of the state.

Gauge at the State National bank recorded .05 early Sunday morning. Other light showers fell. Carroll registered .5 of an inch Saturday night. The amount reached an inch southwest of Carroll.

Winside had .17 of an inch, and Wakefield .02. Sunday brought 2 inches of rain to Omaha, resulting in damage estimated at one million dollars.

Sewers and water and gas mains were broken. Pavement was undermined by flood waters. Fields near the city stood deep in water and hail stripped some of the crops.

Sioux City received .67 of an inch of rain Sunday. No damage resulted. Joseph Gatzmeyer, 59, was drowned when a wall of water poured from nearby hills and carried him down a ravine near his farm two miles north of Hubbard.

The body was recovered Monday 20 miles away, in the drainage ditch that empties into the Missouri near Homer. Gatzmeyer and a nephew, Glen West, were attempting to move a hay wagon when the water rushed through the ravine. Both were carried along the valley. It is thought Mr. Gatzmeyer was rendered unconscious when a wagon wheel struck him. Young West grabbed a tree and held on until the water went down. Fifty men divided in groups and searched Sunday and Monday.

Moisture was of wonderful benefit to Wayne county corn which is maturing. The stand is one of the best in several years. Small grain, which has also made excellent yield this season, is cut and threshing is starting.

The grain is heavy and of first quality. Some grain was cut early because of hoppers, and in some fields the pests have reduced the yield. Lloyd Powers, southwest of Wayne, realized a yield of 48 bushels to the acre on rye. Oats thrashed on the James Milliken farm nearby was not quite so heavy.

Arthur Hageman north of Wayne, reports 40-bushel oats. Robert Auker, north of Wayne, realized 25 to 30 bushels an acre on wheat and 30 to 35 bushels on barley. Albert Watson's barley and wheat made only 15 bushels to the acre, the hoppers doing some damage.

Rudolph Kay, east of Wayne, had a yield of 36 bushels on oats. Paul Olson's oats, in the same neighborhood, made 40 bushels. Oats thrashed at the Alfred Sydow farm south of Wayne this week averaged 25 to 30 bushels. C. W. Pfeil's oats in that neighborhood made 30 bushels.

Two hayrack loads made a wagon of grain at the Geo. Wert farm. In the past two or three years the grain was short, five or six racks being required for a load. Grasshoppers caused a loss of about two bushels to the acre.

Rye at Fairacres, west of Wayne, brought 20 bushels to the acre after being pastured this spring.

Open Golf Tourney To Be Held Sunday

Thirtyfive Nebraska Towns To Be Represented At One-Day Meet. The Wayne Country club will be host to a one-day open golf tournament Sunday. About 35 towns have been invited from northeast Nebraska and it is expected that there will be almost 100 entries.

Any boys interested in caddyng for the tournament are asked to contact Jack Morgan and to report at the club house Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. The course has been reconditioned and the greens are in excellent shape for the tournament according to D. H. Larson.

His Tonsil Operation. Lynn Denkinger of Wayne, had a tonsil operation Friday at a local hospital.

VACATION PERIOD RENEWS ZEST FOR HOME ADVANTAGES

The annual vacation period is on in full force, and doubtless its chief value lies in a feeling of greater content when the vacationist gets back home.

Sleeping on the ground in a lakeside or mountain camp is one form of an outing that hardens the muscles and bones, and so when the anatomy is finally brought back and deposited in the accustomed bed, appreciation of home comforts is greatly enhanced.

Being sampled by the business end of a mosquito or having one's undergarments colonized by jiggers or ants while eating astride a log, inspires, when one again parks himself before the family table at home, a sense of relief that can in no other way be realized.

A vacation affords a change of scene with a lot of new faces, and makes a fellow better satisfied with the scenes and faces he sees every day.

Rural School News

BY PEARL E. SEWELL

History of District 58.

The Bell, district 58, was the first school in this community. Early in the year of 1889 some men from districts 6, 13 and 42 petitioned for a school. After having two meetings the school house was built and ready for use that fall. It was painted red. Since it was built, the hall has been added, and it has been painted white. The past year a small porch roof has been built.

The district has had 20 teachers. They are: Alice McGinifis Foltz, Mary Mettlen Candor, Mary Busby Childs, Edna Sewell Agler, Sarah Milliken Elvers, Alice Mitchell Boeckenhauer, Irene Kobmeier, Gertrude McConough Anrasmith, Esther Fransen Bernegston, Laura Dawes Ring, Irene Erickson Felt, Ruth Hanson Johnson, Bernice Hanson Lundahl, Ellen Lundahl, Marion Agler Buskirk, Dorothy Boeckenhauer, John Holtorf, Clifford Linden and Ardath Lund.

While Edna Sewell was teacher a program and box supper were held. The box supper, which was the first in the district, was quite a novelty.

Mrs. Carrie Bard, who now lives in the district, was a resident of the district at the time the school was started.

Alfred Johnson, who was one of the first pupils, still lives in the community.

The present school board members are: Mrs. Mabel Bard, director; C. A. Bard, treasurer; and R. T. Utech, moderator.

Miss Ardath Lund, teacher, and Mrs. C. L. Bard prepared the history.

History of District 62.

In October, 1889, a petition signed by a majority of all the legal voters in district 58 was presented to County Supt. W. E. Howard. This petition asked that a new district be formed which was to be known as district 62 of Wayne county and contain six sections in Chapin precinct.

A meeting to elect officers for the new district was held at the home of G. W. Saunders October 9, 1889. The first school board was: G. W. Saunders, director; C. M. Sundahl, moderator; B. P. Petersen, treasurer.

In December, 1889, work on the school house was begun. The building was located about 40 rods west of the present site. In 1909 the school was moved to the center of the district, its present location.

The first school term commenced January 8, 1890, and closed March 28, 1890. It was taught by Miss Jennie Dobbins at a salary of $35. The first pupils were Mary Harrington, Guy Saunders, Willie Saunders, Henry Petersen, Thomas Sundahl, Everett Sundahl, Hans Sundahl, Willie Sundahl, Maggie Sundahl, Emma Sundahl and Veta Erickson.

The ages of pupils ranged from 7 to 20 years, William Sundahl being the youngest and Henry Petersen the eldest. It is interesting to note that the last two mentioned both reside in the district at the present time.

The second term was taught by Miss Minnie Lillard who received $35 for four months, beginning December 1, 1890, and closing March 27, 1891.

In June, 1892, at the annual meeting it was decided to have five months of school, two months in the fall beginning in September and three months in the winter beginning in December. Miss Etta McVay taught the fall term and Willie Hill the winter term, each receiving $30 per month.

In 1895 the district decided to hold school seven months, two months' fall term, three months' winter term and two months' spring term. Retta Perdue taught the three terms, receiving $35 per month.

It was not until 1906 that school was held for nine months, Miss Annie Ellis being the teacher and $40 the wages paid that year.

The smallest enrollment in the school records was in 1901 with only six pupils. Miss Annie Ellis was the teacher. The largest enrollment was 39 in 1909 when Miss Ethel Prince taught.

Robert Gemmell who formerly lived in the district, served as director for 15 years. Another long record of service is held by David James who served 20 years as treasurer.

Ward Williams, John Petersen and Clifford Francis, former pupils of the school, have held offices on the school board. Ward Williams served as director for a number of years. John Petersen held the office of director and later treasurer. Clifford Francis was elected treasurer in 1936 and holds that office at present.

In the early years the pupils furnished their own text books. Many were out of date and there were about as many different texts as pupils. This made it nearly impossible to organize classes.

Ward Williams tells that the texts used during his school attendance were Robinson's arithmetic, Barnes' history, Swinton's geography and Appleton's reader.

The school room was heated in the early years by a heater and drum which was not so satisfactory because the pupils sitting near the stove were much too warm while those farther away were extremely uncomfortable with the cold.

Several years ago literary societies were held in this district. Many would come several miles with horse and buggy to enjoy the program.

A full basement was dug under the present new building and it affords a fine place for the children to play during stormy weather.

Last year a new furnace was installed which kept the school room comfortable all winter, a marked contrast to the first heating system.

Forty different teachers have taught in this district since its organization. They are: Jennie Dobbins, Minnie Lillard, Sherman Baker, Etta McVay, Willie Hill, W. E. Wright, Mabel Kemp, Retta Perdue, Della Cook, Lauretta Bryar, Nellie Swartz, Lizzie Williams, Mary Pawelski, Ella Williams, Carrie Beckman, Blanche Bell, Elsie Edgar, Anna Ellis, June Payne, Mammie Hughes, Edna Longnecker, Gwendoline Davis, Lizzie Ellis, Mary Coolthard, Ammorette Sewell, Gertrude Phipps, Mary Lovitt, Ethel Prince, Ethel Woods, Louise Wendt, Emily Prince, Marie James, Irene Carpenter, Mrs. Jess Sylvanus, Freda Drevesen, Lucius Dye, Clara Burson, Eleanor Edwards, Nina Wiltse.

The history was written by Eleanor Edwards who taught the school the past nine years.

Walter Lerner went to St. Joseph, Mo., Sunday on business, returning Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Mills and daughters left Sunday for Denver to spend a month.

Miss Doris Madsen visited at Center and Verdige from Thursday until Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnson and family spent Sunday in the A. E. Childs home at Belden.

Of the new designed Vertichord Piano, and the specially designed new type bench.

The latest out. The finest new type piano and new type bench that ever came to Wayne. It will be worth your time to come and see it. And our price is a lot lower than what they are sold for in the big city.

How many people know the difference in the construction of a good piano and a cheap one? Let Voget show you the different materials that are being used, and how much better the Vertichord is built.

Voget will put the Vertichord along side any new type piano made and you will find the Vertichord is the finest. Above all is its unrivalled beauty of tone—smooth, rich, even, free and with ample reserve of power for all requirements.

And almost from the day of its first announcement and display manufacturers began to copy the idea. But all of them have missed the correct proportions of the design, the thing that makes the Vertichord so pleasing in appearance; and certainly none has equalled the musical character of the original.

The Basic Design and Construction is Fully Protected by Patents. Yes Used Pianos Taken In Trade — Also Sold on Monthly Payments.

Misdirected WE suspect the reason some high-up college Scholarship professors become nutty over rearranging economic conditions in order to redistribute the country's wealth, is that they figure degrees in scholarship should lead in amassing worldly goods.

The fellow who knows how to make money is not necessarily smart in other ways, and doesn't care if he isn't. He is thinking in terms of dollars and cents, and he wouldn't if he could soar to the intellectual heights to which the high-brow professor is accustomed.

Thus, the fewer professors given places of authority in the administration at Washington, the sooner will the country get back to a sound basis for reconstruction.

Recovery THE Norfolk Daily News quotes the Railway Age in support of the contention that the country's recovery has been lagging far behind in comparison with the experience of former depressions.

"The slow progress of recovery has been principally due to economically unsound policies intended to change the distribution of wealth and income, the proponents of which have disregarded the seemingly obvious facts that the volume of production and construction determines the amount of wealth and income available for distribution, and that there can be no real recovery from depression that is not based on complete recovery of production and construction."

It is refreshing to note that senators are showing increased backbone sturdiness. One member reminded the president that there are still three branches of the government. Opposition to the threat of one-man rule is strengthened by the firm stand taken by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, against the court remodeling bill. The president and the New York governor have been close political friends, but the latter decided he could not follow the administration's plan to change the supreme court, and thus, as the governor suggests, establish "a greatly dangerous precedent."

A community should do its best to hold its outstanding leaders—those who put force into local activities. Wayne has lost leaders in the past that it could ill afford to lose. Doubtless every community has that experience. At this time we understand some ambitious communities are angling for Rev. F. C. Mills, Methodist pastor, who not only gives depth and breadth to his pulpit, but is a dynamo in helpful community movements.

Wayne county people will be pleased over road work undertaken and planned hereabouts. The highway south which is to be treated to an oil mat, is the major project at this time in this neighborhood, and its width and reduced inclines with obstructions eliminated, remove every possible chance for accidents. It will be a wonderful highway, and according to the decided program, it will be extended north next year. Other highways in the county will be regradeled, and altogether the coming winter will find travel greatly facilitated.

In the name of social security, both national and state laws add to the burdens of persons who are struggling to brush back depression clouds and keep out of the red. We have a suspicion society would be better off if it could be kept free from costly interference until it gets back on its feet and has had time to realize on improved conditions.

The rural school conference in Wayne last week was designed to help county superintendents and teachers and indirectly the children. The country school is the foundation of independent American education. It is where many of the greatest thinkers got their start. Improvement in rural schools means increased efficiency in shaping fundamentals.

William Glenn Voliva, ruler of the bigoted religious sect at Zion, Ill., says flight of Russians over the north pole is proof the world is flat. To anyone whose thinking is not thousands of years in the rear, the feat would prove the contrary. It is quite inconceivable that such leadership could find followers in this country.

Increased demand for farm labor should make it convenient for the government to reduce its WPA payrolls. Besides present farm demands for help, the autumn corn picking season will afford plenty of employment at good wages.

Of the new AAA introduced in congress Tuesday, Representative Eicher of Iowa says: "Like the old AAA, it purchases compliance and under the supreme court decision is unconstitutional."

SUCCESS. Success is not gained by following an easy, rose-bedecked pathway. It cannot be magnetized out of nothing. If a fellow thinks he can make an investment and then go off and leave it on the assumption that it will flourish and pay dividends in his absence he is likely to be disappointed. Neither will cursory supervision with some gestures and a few grandiloquent remarks make any undertaking ride to triumph. Few if any are smart enough to succeed without effort. Edison couldn't do it. Neither could Ford. Both men toiled long hours—one in the field of electricity, the other in the field of transportation. Wherever an outstanding example of success has been achieved—wherever an extraordinary contribution to popular service has been made, there are persons who have had to apply themselves assiduously and determinedly to the task. Success doesn't just happen. It does not tag a cleverly directed nod of the head or wave of the hand. If won honestly and lastingly, it imposes endless hard work—constant mastery of details. Success means more of the spirit of independence—more of the untiring will to win on merit, getting down to bedrock and grappling rather than dodging hard work.

face and liquor on his breath. He tried to dignify begging by offering a pencil for a donation. He asked for money for something to eat, but the evidence suggested he wanted it for something to drink. He said his grandfather fought in the Revolutionary war and his father in the Civil war, and he looked as though he had fought in both wars. He said he was 70, but he looked 80 or more. He gave Boston as his birthplace, but apparently Boston culture had had a violently contrary influence over him. He is going nowhere in particular, but is careful not to stay long in one place, which latter arrangement is most agreeable to any community which he happens to visit. He claims to be the last surviving member of his family, and if he is a fair sample, no one could be honestly disappointed. He expresses no hope for life here or hereafter, has no desire beyond satisfying an appetite for food and drink—principally drink. He is content to be an aimless wanderer without pride or ambition. How such a fellow mars civilization!

RESTITUTION. Hitherto least favored sections of northeast Nebraska in rainfall and freedom from hail and insect infestation are this season blessed with superior good fortune. Cedar and Knox counties and northwestern sections of Wayne county were especially out of luck for several years. In this county the territory around Carroll had suffered from weather ills so long that one began to wonder if Aquarius had abandoned it for all time. It seemed when the hail department got ready to shoot a devastating charge it took careful aim at a considerable stretch north and northeast of Carroll. So far this year that area is the most generously treated part of the county. It has had ample rains without floods, no hail and comparatively few grasshoppers. Small grain is turning out well, and great fields of corn promise unusual abundance. Hay is plentiful, and gardens that looked sick last year, are now yielding rich rewards. Nature seems to have a way of wiping out inequalities, and following rules of just compensation. Abundance that comes after shortage and sacrifice, will be most plentifully repaid.

Iowa Couple Wed In Wayne Tuesday. Geraldine L. VanDeBurg and John F. Wynia, both of Sioux Center, Ia., were married in Wayne Tuesday at the Baptist parsonage with Rev. J. A. Whitman officiating. Bedbugs are really very nice things to have around. If you do not happen to be rather vain. They eat food particles, wool-dust and other contributors to the general uncleanliness of the house. It was in 1909 that the Indian-head penny went out and the Lincoln-head penny came in. The great number of coins was because of difference in incidental markings.

Rural Education Director Speaks

V. H. Culp, Aberdeen, Gives Suggestions To Improve Rural Schools.

"The Rural School Problem" was the subject of one of the addresses given Thursday by V. H. Culp of Aberdeen, in speaking at the rural education conference held at Wayne college.

"The rural school historically was inherited from colonial and pioneer times," stated Mr. Culp. This one-teacher school lasted anywhere from a few weeks to a few months. Though many improvements have been made the problem is essentially the same. It is told that George Washington was allowed by St. Peter to revisit the earth. Modern improvements baffled him. But when he came to the rural school and found his initials carved on the old desk, many happy memories were revived.

Though the rural school does have a great influence in the life of students, it does need better trained teachers. It needs more financial support to provide efficient schooling. Buildings need to be improved to provide better housing for school children. And the rural school child needs socializing influences, aiding him to meet strangers and fit into different environments. The socialization of the rural child is one of the essential aims of the modern rural program. Mr. Culp concluded.

"The Problem of Supervision and Improvement of Rural Schools" was Mr. Culp's second address last Thursday. The speaker stressed the need for a county superintendent to be an experienced rural teacher with special training in administration and supervision.

Needs of the best equipped rural school were listed by Mr. Culp as follows: A telephone, spacious playground with appropriate apparatus, pure drinking water, radio, victrola, piano, modern heating and ventilating plant, reference books, proper light, sanitary floor, translucent window shades, blackboard, bulletin board, stage, dictionary, maps, globe, adequate room, suitable desks, storm cellar, fire protection, sanitary toilets, qualified teacher, full term, first aid kit, flag and pole, road warning signs, provisions for hot lunch, trees on grounds, school records, daily newspaper, some magazines, supplementary texts.

Every daily program in school should provide: 20 to 24 recitations, two adjustment periods, at least four periods for primary reading class, arithmetic classes following each other, two opening exercise periods.

Final allotment of grasshopper bait for Dixon county arrived in Allen last week. Agant Gresh M. Dunn stated that all bait mixing will stop Saturday, July 24, and those who have not received what they want should notify Finkbine lumber company at Allen one day ahead of delivery.

All materials but the acetate and bags were furnished by the government. Charges cover mixing and handling costs. Mr. Dunn lists the charges for bait distributed in Dixon county as follows: Mixing, $191.81; trucking, $35; acetate, $50; sacks, $70.42; equipment, $38.81; mileage, $24.05; water, $3; storage, $3; demurrage, $10. This is a total of $428.09. Farmers have paid $420.27 and the county bureau paid $7.82 of the amount.

According to Mr. Dunn the plan saved farmers of the county about $4,000 on the project.

Mrs. L. A. Fanske went to O'Neill Thursday and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Olson from there to Rapid City for a while.

Personality Topic Of Rural Meeting

Dr. T. J. Anderson Speaker At Educational Conference Thursday Afternoon.

"Are Teachers born or made?" asked Dr. T. J. Anderson, president of the Wayne State Teachers college, in addressing delegates at the rural education conference Thursday afternoon. His topic was "Qualities That Win Success in Teaching Rural Schools." The ideal teacher is well-born and well-trained, he remarked.

Dr. Anderson pointed out several personality characteristics, chosen by three different groups, which spell success as a teacher. A group of school superintendents named the following: Sympathy, personal appearance, address, sincerity, optimism, enthusiasm, scholarship, vitality, honesty and reserve.

A group of 50 high school graduates chose the following: Loyalty, fairness, good listener, cooperation, interest in boys and girls, interest in the community, interest in humanity, willingness to do more than required, service above salary and interest in work.

The following characteristics were chosen by a group of college students as outstanding qualities for good teachers: Sense of humor, confidence, judgment, tolerance, patience, promptness, reverence, good health, pleasing voice and friendly disposition.

Dr. Anderson also pointed out that a teacher should have the right attitude to criticism and the county superintendent should have respect for a teacher's personality.

Completing Work On Year Program

Final performance on the 1937 agricultural conservation program is being wound up as fast as possible, according to F. I. Moses, president of the county association.

Farm reporters will do some measuring of fields differently situated than last year when measured under the program. History of the program of the land participating in the 1937 program will start when the reporters visit the farms. They will also determine the exact use of the land during the current year. The final step in closing the program comes in September and October when individual producers make application for payment. Determination of stands of legumes, trees and grasses will be made at that time.

Aim Of New Art Is Expression Of Life

Miss Martha Pierce Gives Message Of Interest To Educators Here.

"New Trends in Teaching Art" was the theme of the talk given by Miss Martha Pierce at the Rural Education conference Thursday morning.

Miss Pierce quoted Dr. Dewey of Columbia university in saying: "Art is not an outer product nor outer behavior; it is an inner attitude or state of mind which demands for fulfillment the shaping of matter into new and significant forms."

The speaker pointed out that in the last 10 years an almost complete reversal of procedure is used in teaching art to children. "Art can't be taught; it just is," remarked Miss Pierce. Children may be taught, but they are creative, she continued. Children should be encouraged to express personal reactions in their own way.

"In the expression in terms of art, the race has evolved certain modes of procedure: failed principle and technique," stated Miss Pierce. "It is the business of the teacher to give this information to children when needed."

Leaders in the art field everywhere, according to Miss Pierce, are emphasizing the word "Creativity" in speaking of art instruction. They are also stressing the word "integration." A child's experience with a given unit of work should include many different activities and forms of expression. In society, old forms are being broken up and discarded. New forms of architecture, music and poetry and all arts are taking on new form. The old forms are inadequate for a modern age.

"Art in activity and form must be new and have a meaning, for people in the present life," concluded the speaker.

Religious Needs Subject Of Talk

Rev. F. C. Mills Is Speaker At Education Conference Thursday Morning.

Rev. F. C. Mills spoke on the "Religious Needs of Our Nation" at the morning session of the Rural Education conference Thursday.

"It must be recognized that there is such a thing as a need or needs which religion can meet," commented the speaker. "Many ask if religious faith is any longer necessary. Yet, they do recognize the need of some faith or philosophy by which men may live and which will give meaning to life," continued the speaker.

"The religious need of our nation is not plural but singular; namely it is religion," remarked Rev. Mills. Religion must be domesticated to fit religion to life as it is lived. He discussed the following points under this topic: All the problems of life unite to form the true religious problem; people have too much thought of religion as the development of the inner life; they think of it as a medicine or remedy; people have a secularized self-centered daily life in which religion becomes isolated into formalized pious occasion; religion must have something to say and take part in the problems of the home, school, industry, politics, love and marriage in constructive ways.

Rev. Mills also brought out the point that religion of courage and openmindedness should be developed. "Religion ought to emancipate people from the slavery of old forms and any silly passion for new ones," he remarked.

"Our need is for a religion big enough, fearless enough, courageous enough, to tackle our real problems, race, war, social and economic injustices," stated Rev. Mills. Religion is under some obligation to be a social ferment.

The minister concluded his talk by saying that one of the religious needs may be a new crop of outstanding religious leaders. Moses and Luther were more than simply religious men; they were political involved, he remarked. "Perhaps our new leaders may have to combine objectives."

Mrs. J. N. Einung and son, Paul, Miss Clara Einung and Elmo Einung returned to Wayne from Rochester, Minn., Friday where they had been about a week.

Surprise Educator At Meeting Here
 Douglas County Superintendent H. M. Eaton was surprised on his 70th birthday last Thursday at the college rural education conference. Dr. J. T. Anderson presented him with a cake decorated with seven candles, one for each 10 years. Dean Allen Cook was presiding at the program. Mrs. Eaton was with her husband and was introduced by him.

Will Give Address Before Convention
 T. S. Hook leaves Friday or Saturday for Milwaukee to attend the national convention of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance association, about 1500 planning to be there. Mr. Hook, who has done special work in planning insurance sales in rural territory, will speak on "Sustained Effort" at the Thursday morning session. He is the only Nebraskan on the program. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kemp, Miss Kathryn and Harry of Stockton, Calif., who will also attend the meeting, will come to Wayne afterward to visit.

Project Groups Making Plans
 Home demonstration project club agreement blanks are to be in the office of Agent Walter Moller by August 1. All clubs which functioned the past year, plan to continue for the coming year. Any county having 16 clubs is entitled to have two days for leaders' training meetings on each lesson. It is hoped that in Wayne county the enrollment will provide this number so that training meetings may be held each month at Wayne and Winslow.

 The home demonstration project program for the year consists of seven meetings, including six lessons and achievement day at the close. The lessons are the following: No. 1, developing personal charm; No. 2, Christmas gift suggestions; No. 3, patterns and their use; No. 4, fitting the dress; No. 5, shortening the work hours; No. 6, planning leisure hours.
 Achievement day at the close is the "fun" meeting with an exhibit of club work in connection.
 Any group wishing information on project club work may see Mrs. F. J. Moses or Agent Moller.

Dress For Comfort Advises Dr. Fraser
 "The clothes that women can purchase today for hot weather wear are both cool to look at and actually cool to wear," Dr. Robert A. Fraser, chief medical director of the New York Life Insurance company declared in pointing out the importance of suitable clothing for maintaining hot weather comfort and health.
 "The light pastel shades that one sees so much in the summer time," Dr. Fraser continued, "not only look cooler but are cooler. Light colors and white reflect light and absorb less heat, as well as appearing cool to the eye."
 If you are going on a vacation or staying at home through the hot months, Dr. Fraser advises everyone, men and women, boys and girls to wear clothes that do not fit too snugly around the waist or neck, especially when exercising. Loose fitting clothing, that permits complete freedom of circulation, is by far the best, as well as being much more comfortable.
 To the men, Dr. Fraser points out that, in general, suspenders are preferable to a belt, since the weight of clothing is best carried by the shoulders.
 Women would do well to dispense with foundation garments of heavy materials, especially the type of garment that is excessively boned, unless a physician advises to the contrary. Lightweight, two-way stretch materials permit much greater freedom and are not so apt to impede circulation while exercising.
 If you are going away on a vacation, Dr. Fraser suggests that a sweater be included for use after vigorous exercise and as a safeguard against the sudden chill of evening air common in many places.
 Comfortable shoes and hose are extremely important, Dr. Fraser reminds vacationists, "If you would escape being one of those unhappy individuals one sees nursing a blistered foot. Sneakers, while usually required for tennis, should not be worn continuously, particularly by adults. The arches get little support and the whole foot has a tendency to spread."
 "If you swim several times a day, having two bathing suits will eliminate that cold, clammy, uncomfortable feeling that everyone experiences when he puts on a damp suit, and, with a dry suit ready, the possibility of catching cold or becoming chilled is eliminated."
 Dr. Fraser recommends a first aid kit as a good investment to take on a vacation. This may be purchased complete, or made at home, using a white enameled tin box with a tight fitting cover and equipping it with: 2 triangular bandages, 2 roller bandages, 1-2 oz. fresh tincture of iodine (rubber stopper in bottle), 1 small roll absorbent cotton, 1 oz. aromatic spirits of ammonia (rubber stopper), a few safety pins, small scissors, first aid text book.
 Paste a list of contents on the inside of the lid of the box and be sure that the kit is always fully stocked.
 Consult Your Physician.
 Inoculation against typhoid fever and diphtheria and vaccination against smallpox are advisable for members of the family, particularly if an extended tour or a visit to foreign countries is planned, and Dr. Fraser advises consulting your physician about them. It is best to do this well in advance of the date your vacation begins, so that there will be ample time for whatever treatments are decided upon.
 "A knowledge of first aid may well prove helpful to a vacationist," Dr. Fraser says. "Numerous text books on the subject are available in public libraries and book stores. The American Red Cross offers courses for those who would become expert, and information about such instruction can be secured at your local Red Cross headquarters.
 "Everyone, however, should know and remember the four cardinal first aid rules, in order to be prepared for emergencies.
 "They are: First, send for a doctor; second, keep calm; third, keep the crowd away from the patient; fourth, keep the patient quiet.
 "The presence of mind to follow these rules," Dr. Fraser points out, "is frequently all that is necessary when an accident occurs."
 The French frame was cut loose from its gold content limitations last week by action of the French government. The action was taken to deal with a financial crisis. This means that the French gold content is now free.

Reviving Glamour Of Mining Days In Colorado Festival
 In early days Central City, Colo., was a booming frontier city. The large opera house and commodious hotel brought the nation's wealthiest to be entertained in the heart of one of the world's richest mining centers. Years passed and the city dwindled in size, and buildings became dilapidated. In recent years the University of Denver has been successful in reviving the glamour of the mining day boom each summer by sponsoring a play festival in the theatre and accommodating visitors in Teller house which in times past had attracted travelers from far and wide.
 Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pickett, who arrived home Friday after visiting two weeks in the west, visited Central City. They learned that this summer the Denver school will sponsor the play, "A Doll's House," there from July 17 to August 7. All New York stars take roles. Tickets for the opening night were $3.50 and $5 and other performances bring $2 to $5. Accommodations at Teller house, which is operated by the opera house association, are high class and command similar prices. As in the past, visitors come from the corners of the nation for this summer festival.
 The Picketts were also interested in visiting in Denver the museum in which part of the wardrobe of Baby Doe Tabor is on exhibit. It was beautiful Baby Doe who enticed the wealthy mine owner whose first wife divorced him so that he might marry her. Great wealth was dug from the shaft but at his death the miner had Baby Doe promise to guard Matchless mine with her life. She did and some months ago she died in abject poverty in the mine shack where she stood by the wealthy hole. Before her death Baby Doe flooded Matchless mine so it is still inaccessible.
 Baby Doe's wedding gown at the museum is white brocaded satin, valued at $7,000. Other pieces of her wardrobe, pictures and relics which were found stored in her cabin are in the museum. There also hangs a portrait of the miner's first wife whose countenance shows she was kind hearted enough even to give up her husband. Pictures of two daughters are also in the collection.
 The Picketts visited in Fort Collins with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Thomas, the former a brother of Mrs. Pickett. They made trips to gorgeous mountain sights. The party went up Poudre river canyon and over Cameron pass which is 10,222 feet. They saw five deer in the woods but noted that they are hard to distinguish for they are so near the color of the tree bark. They drove over Milner pass and another which was 12,183 feet to Grand lake where they stayed overnight. Mountains were snow-capped, and fires and blankets were comfortable. On their return they crossed Berthoud pass, 11,000 feet high, and went to Idaho Springs and Central City.

 The Picketts drove to the Black Hills from Colorado and found so much rain that they only visited Mt. Rushmore and the needles. The Black Hills country has been flooded by rains the past two weeks. The Wayne folks saw six bridges out near Hot Springs. Crops in northeast Nebraska look the best of any in Nebraska, the Picketts found.

west rarely have the disease because they do not keep old birds.
Better Than Castle.
 A well-planned, modern farmhouse in comfort, protection and convenience can be far ahead of the old-time castle.
 Flies, mosquitoes, rats, mice, fire and decay are still enemies. Much information is available in protecting the farm home from these.
Creep-Fed Calves.
 Calves creep-fed made their best and most economical gains on a ration of shelled corn and cottonseed cake in a recent test.
 After 140 days calves fed the shelled corn and cottonseed cake averaged 8 pounds more than another group fed ground shelled corn and cottonseed cake, 13 pounds more than calves fed ground corn, cottonseed cake and alfalfa-molasses mixture, and 22 pounds more than a group receiving shelled corn, cottonseed cake and alfalfa-molasses mixture.

 Calves from each group, when fed in dry lots for 199 days after weaning, on the same rations that had received before weaning, showed no significant difference in total gains. Those fed shelled corn and cottonseed cake were the heaviest at the end of the experiment although not so well finished as the ones fed ground corn.
