Joe Lyman Last Of Brother Trio On Midland Team

Fremont, Neb.—Last of three Lyman brothers, who have loomed large in Midland college athletic history since 1931, Joe Lyman of Wakefield is back in the Midland fold and expected to play a big part in the Warriors' drive for the Nebraska College Athletic conference football title this fall.

Following his brothers, Silas and John to the Fremont school, Joe was regular halfback at Midland in 1934, but dropped from the athletic picture after an injury in 1935. Fully recovered, he returned this fall expecting to have a big year but shortly suffered an injury while holding down the same coal-hauling job with which brothers Silas and John had paid their college expenses. Now he's well again and intent on closing holding down a halfback berth regularly during the last half of the season.

Silas Lyman, a 1934 graduate, is now director of athletics at Corning, Neb. while John, a 1937 graduate, is director of athletics at Hay Springs.

Wayne Wildcats To Meet Unbeaten Southern Normal Team

Wayne-Kearney Battle To Tie

Bradford Races '68' Yards In First Quarter But Later Threats Fail

Wayne Teachers' hard-fighting eleven almost had a conference victory in the bag several times last Friday night at Kearney as repeated scoring drives fell short by inches, but the Antelopes matched Rusty Bradford's 68-yard touchdown dash early in the game with a marker in the second period to knot the score at 7-7.

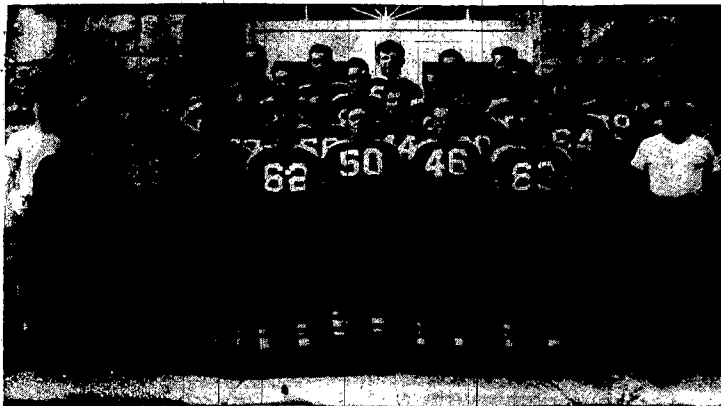

Chadron beat Spearfish Normal 20-6 last Friday, showing the real power which the men possess. Chadron meets Wayne here in the homecoming game, October 30.

Outstanding Last Week.
Rusty Bradford, Wildcat full-back, who received the following tribute in the writeup of the Wayne-Kearney game by Mickey McConnell in the Kearney Hub:

"Bradford's outstanding all-around play was the feature of the evening, his running, passing, pass catching and defensive work being of a high order."

Bigskin Portrait.
Ashley Edsall, big Wayne Teachers tackle, who gives his present address as Eldorado Springs, Mo., is completing his third and final year on the Wayne team. He has been one of Coach Hickman's steadiest and most dependable linemen, starting at center as a sophomore and later being shifted to tackle. It is reported that the 190-pound griddle made the Iowa high school all-state team while playing at Toledo, Iowa. A bruised shoulder in the Kearney game will not keep the husky tackle out of the Pointer battle, it is hoped. Edsall is at home with books as well as football. He has worked in the college library for three years.

A want ad in the Herald will bring the best results.

Undefeated 1937 Southern Normal Squad

Springfield, S. D.—Special.—The 1937 Pointer football squad at Southern is being heralded as one of the best Coach V. E. Montgomery has had in four years work with the Teachers. Though small in number this outfit has a host of fine boys. In timed plays that really click, their work has been marvelous. Though faced with a tough schedule from here on in the Pointers are being considered as one of the leading outfits of the conference.

Wayne High Loses To Wakefield, 13-0

Mud, Rain and Cold Check Blue Running Attack Last Friday.

Wayne high's speedy offense bogged down on the muddy Wakefield gridiron last Friday while Bob Johnson, Trojan backfield star, galloped through the rain and sleet to lead his mates to a 13-0 victory. It was the first defeat of the season for Coach Morris' Wayne high eleven and also the first conference setback.

A final Wildcat bid for a winning touchdown faded on the 1-yard line in the last quarter. With only a few inches to go for the score and two downs in which to make it, a reverse lost three yards and the last plunge was short by a yard.

Kearney had his rallies, too, threatening the Wayne goal when poor punts gave the Antelopes the ball in scoring territory. But each time the attack sputtered and died short of the last stripe.

Two Wildcats Hurt.

Bradford and Gatewood did a good job of halting the offensive thrusts of Kearney as well as plunging through for consistent gains. Warren, safety man, handled every Antelope punt in a clean manner despite the wet weather.

Wayne High Plays Allen Here Friday

A Homecoming parade is scheduled for 2:45 p. m. on Friday afternoon preceding the Allen game. It will form at the depot and march four blocks north. Each high school organization will be represented with a float. Among them will be the four classes, the Girl Reserves, the Pep club, G. A. A. Pep band, and the grade school drum and bugle corps.

Wayne high's football team will attempt a comeback against Allen here Friday afternoon after their first loss of the season at Wakefield last week.

Allen is another of those traditional rivals who always make it a hard-fought contest, and the game is certain to be a thriller. Coach Morris is hoping for a dry firm field on which his speedy backs may function against the visitors. Last week the mud proved a real handicap.

Coach Morris may shift Orval Graham, halfback, to an end position to strengthen his defense. With this change, Wayne should be able to check the Allen offense more effectively.

Allen has a fine record this season, having taken the measure of several good teams in this section. The game will be played on the college field, beginning at 8:15.

Mattley Is Victor Over Kearney Star

Gunc Mattley, Wayne Teachers Star, Came Home a Good Hundred Yards Ahead of Kearney's Ace

Burney Rapp, to take first place in the cross country race held at Kearney Friday night. It was the first defeat for Rapp this season.

Mattley's time of 8:07 was good in view of the cold and wet weather. Team results gave Kearney a tie with Wayne, a Kearney runner finishing third and Sherm Terry of Wayne fourth.

Mrs. Levin Johnson went to Kearney Tuesday to attend Rebekah assembly.

Season's Record Favors Pointers

Improved Wayne Eleven Primed For Tough Dakota foe Friday Night.

Wayne's Wildcats will have an opportunity here Friday evening to hand Southern Normal of Springfield, S. D., its first setback of the season. The unmarred record of the Pointers should furnish an extra incentive for Coach Hickman's club, which is always at its best against tough opponents.

On paper Coach V. E. Montgomery's eleven appears stronger than Wayne, but the way past accomplishments have been ignored on gridirons of the nation this season, a prediction of Friday night's outcome could hardly be based on games played.

Southern Leads Loop.
Southern is leading the South Dakota conference with three victories, no defeats and no ties. Last week the Pointers defeated Eastern Normal with a last half rally, 6-0. Earlier in the season the Southern Normal team vanquished the South Dakota School of Mines, 13-7, and the School of Mines swamped the strong Chadron Eagles 18-0. If scores do mean anything, this bodes no good for Wayne.

Other wins are over Worthington college, 12-0, and Spearfish Normal, 7-0.

Pointer Backs Flashy

Southern boasts a flashy backfield which uses an open style of play with a variety of line smashes, end runs, passes, laterals, reverses and spinners—in fact everything. Deception will likely play a considerable part in the Pointer defense.

Bill Montgomery, son of Coach Montgomery, is the center of the offense at his quarterback post. Despite his small size, Bill is an adept ball-carrier. Supporting him are Fitzgerald, Stowell, and Salter in the backfield.

Led by Capt. Ernest Hladik, tackle, the line features House at center and Exon at guard. The probable starting lineup for the Pointers will find the following men in the game: Ends, Farrell and Grosshuesch; tackles, Hladik and Baxa; guards, Exon and Wood; center, House; quarterback, Montgomery; halfbacks, Fitzgerald and Stowell; fullback, Salter. In two games played between Wayne and Southern Normal each has won one. Southern Normal triumphed 7-0 in the first and Wayne ran away with the next encounter a few years ago, 26-0. A dry field, for a change, would certainly aid the Wayne style of play which features speed, deceptive plays and forward passes. The Wildcats have been especially successful via the air this season. With their play in the last two games much-improved in every department, Coach Hickman's squad is in good condition for the battle tomorrow. Edsall and Red Johnson, injured in the Kearney game, should be ready for action again, and the roster as a whole will be nearly complete.

FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1937. NUMBER TWENTYEIGHT

Eastern Trip Is Of Interest To Wayne Travelers

Eastern mountains were in a gorgeous array of colors when Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gildersleeve and Miss Helen Gildersleeve drove through last week on their return from Dover, Del., where they spent two weeks with the Glenn Gildersleeves. The Wayne folks were gone six weeks and arrived home Wednesday evening last week.

Enroute east the three stopped in Albion, Mich., where Miss Gildersleeve had been employed at the college. They went to Niagara Falls and stepped at several points in Pennsylvania.

Gildersleeves visited Washington, D. C., Mt. Vernon and many places of interest in the east while at Dover. On their return they took the skyline drive through Virginia and came through Kentucky and Missouri.

The Gildersleeves drove 4,700 miles through 15 states. They report crops abundant, especially apples.

American Legion Meets Wednesday

At the American Legion meeting Wednesday evening plans were discussed for the Armistice day dance. The committee in charge is A. L. Swan, F. G. Dale and Ross Jacobs. The membership drive was also discussed.

Receiving Treatment.

Alice, 2, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Bentback, is receiving medical care in a local hospital.

Suffers A Stroke.

C. E. Youcum suffered a stroke last week while at Burke, S. D., and was taken to a hospital there and will be brought here as soon as he is able, probably the last of this week. Mrs. Youcum, Mrs. Eugene Steiner, Miss Savilla and Miss Elaine Youcum went to Burke last Thursday. The first two remained and will accompany Mr. Youcum home. The last two returned Friday.

Class Confirmed At Wayne Church

Bishop James H. Ryan Is Here Friday To Hold Special Service.

Nineteen were confirmed Friday at St. Mary's church by His Excellency Jas. H. Ryan, bishop of the diocese of Omaha, who is making his annual confirmation tour. Rev. Nicholas Wenger of Omaha, secretary to the bishop, Dr. Emil Zepf of Hubbard, Father Thomas Walsh of Battle Creek, and Father M. T. Kelsher of Laurel and Rev. Wm. Kearns assisted with the services.

Following confirmation Bishop Ryan gave a sermon for the parish in Latin, "Come Holy Ghost." He was accompanied by Miss Marcella Hunter, Benedictine of the Blessed Sacrament and a song by David Sanders concluded the service. The altar was decorated in gold and purple, the bishop's colors, yellow gladioli and lavender chrysanthemums. The girls who were confirmed were dressed in white with wreaths and veils.

A dinner for the visiting priests was given at the parsonage Friday.

Those confirmed were: Jimmy Fox, Jean Nuss, Clarence Wurdinger, Mickey Gillespie, Joe Lynch, Donald Hogan, Donabelle Kroger, Elizabeth Renard, Cleo Heine, Katherine Thompson, Mary Smoliski, Jean Smoliski, Wilma Reimers, Lois Finn, Richard Finn, Dorothy Nolle, Jean Ann Spahr, Mrs. Leo Jordan and LeRoy Hersched.

Crops Spotted Through South Part of Canada

Crops in provinces of southern Canada have been spotted this season, according to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Oman who arrived home Thursday from Clarkson, Wash., after driving through that section. The Omans were in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and part of Manitoba. They drove as far east as Winnipeg before coming south through Minnesota.

East of the Rockies in that part of Canada which is north of western Montana wheat crops have been good this season. To the east near Lethbridge is a settlement of Mormons who irrigate their land and they have realized good yields of sugar beets and alfalfa. Farms there look prosperous, buildings are well painted and most everyone seems to have new cars. Still farther east, in Saskatchewan, farmers have realized no wheat crops for 10 years. That part of Canada, north of North Dakota, has had such prolonged drought that the sod appears as though it had been plowed. Many farms have been deserted and windows are boarded over. Persons who have remained are being helped by the government. Trainloads of turnips are shipped from the east. Farther to the east, in Manitoba, French Canadian and Belgians realized 60 bushels of wheat to the acre this year. Moose Jaw and Regina are beautiful cities in that region. Near Winnipeg the Omans found some land swampy.

Roads through Canada are not good, the Omans found. They are mountainous in the west and the remainder of the distance they are surfaced with loose gravel which makes for slow travel. Towns are far apart and filling stations few. The trip through Canada took the Omans six days with exception of a half day spent in Winnipeg.

Coming south through the Red River valley of Minnesota the Wayne folks found excellent wheat and potato crops.

Canadians were most friendly, the Omans found. One Canadian expressed the belief that the reason the Duke of Windsor is coming to the United States is that people of this country want him for president.

The Oman's daughter, Mrs. H. Lynn Tuttle, in Clarkson, Wash., whom they visited nearly a month, is director of the Methodist choir in Lewiston, Idaho. The Tuttle children are all in school.

The Omans plan to go to Bridgeport, Neb., this week to visit the Jason Gors family.

Snow And Frost Visit Vicinity

Temperatures Takes Dip Earlier This Month Than Year Ago.

Frost, snow, rain and high and low temperatures have played their part in the weather of Wayne county the past week. Saturday morning people woke to find the ground covered with a fine layer of snow. Rain before the snow amounted to 1/8 of an inch Friday night. It continued Saturday, Sunday and Monday, making a total of 1.77 inches.

The first killing frost this season was Wednesday night last week when the temperature dropped to 16. The temperature did not drop that low until October 22 last year. First snow last year was October 20.

Temperatures from October 1 to the 15 comparing the year with last, as recorded by J. S. Horney, are as follows:

	1937	1936
October 1	44 52	35 53
October 2	43 65	43 62
October 3	48 73	48 72

London Letter

Alfred Larson To Write From London For New Feature Appearing in Herald

This issue of the Herald marks the beginning of a new feature, "London Letter," written each week by Dr. Alfred Larson, who is spending a year in London, England. He is the son of Fred Larson of Wakefield, Neb.

Dr. Larson is a graduate of Wakefield high school, '28, and received his M. A. from the University of Colorado. After one year at the University of Chicago he took his doctor's degree at the University of Illinois. He had taught for one year in the history department of the University of Wyoming.

Since arriving in London last summer Dr. Larson has had one paper accepted by the "English Historical Review." It will appear in the January or April issue of the journal.

After some persuasion Dr. Larson has consented to write a weekly letter to the Herald, discussing various topics such as the wage scale, child labor, transport, Hyde Park, the bobbies, the Black Shirts, Green Shirts, English attitude toward Americans, toward Roosevelt, and so forth.

My brother, George, of the Herald staff, recently suggested that I should undertake the task of supplying a weekly letter detailing some of my impressions of England and Englishmen. My first thought was to refer him to Canto 5, octave 52, of Byron's "Don Juan":

"I won't describe; description is my forte.
But every fool describes in these bright days
His wondrous journey to some foreign court,
And spawns his quarto, and demands your praise—
Death to his publisher, to him 'tis sport;
While Nature, tortured twenty thousand ways,
Resigns herself with exemplary patience
To guide-books, rhymes, tours, sketches, illustrations."

Unfortunately I knew that Byron's opinion of what is fit to print would not be accepted as final. A few years ago in arguments I could silence George with a few cuffs, but he has outgrown me. I have yielded; but I shall promise no thorough examination of my environment since I am putting in long hours at the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and the University of London Research Institute of Historical Research and consequently have time only out of the corner of my eye.

Greater London today has a population of almost eight and a half million in an area of 693 square miles, which is roughly equivalent to putting all the people of Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, and Kansas into a circle with a radius of fifteen miles. At the center of Greater London the old city which dates back to Roman times occupies 677 acres on the banks of the Thames which is perhaps 300 yards wide at that point. Most sight-seeing Americans naturally give most of their attention to this old section where are concentrated almost all of the principal buildings and monuments. If one looks at a line-map of the 10,000 streets of London, he may think that he is viewing the web of two drunken spiders working at cross purposes with themselves and with each other, but sobering as they get farther out, the streets run in all directions; many of them curve; many of them are no more than a hundred yards in length. Naturally the Londoner has no occasion to use the term "block" in the sense we use it, and he is amused when I say with malice aforethought that I am going to go three blocks west and then turn north. He would say merely, "Take the third turning to the right"; or if it happens to be the end of the street, he would say, "Turn right at the bottom." He seems to use bottom and top interchangeably, at least when as is often the case there is no appreciable slope.

The London County Council is busy widening streets; but even so one can still apply Washington Irving's description written more than a hundred years ago: "Divers little alleys, and elbows, and dark passages with which the old city is perforated, like an ancient cheese, or a worm-eaten chest of drawers."

The city has no skyscrapers. A London County Council by-law forbids habitation above the seventh story. The new twenty-story University of London tower rises above all other buildings. Books will go into the tower. From it or from the Stone Gallery of St. Paul's Cathedral one can on a clear day get a good view of London's vast sea of chimney tops. Batteries of tile chimneys bristle on every housetop because the Englishman has a fireplace in every room. It is with considerable reluctance that he is putting gas fires in his fireplaces or adopting central heating.

The University of London tower which is almost completed is by the way an imposing monument to American philanthropy. A large signboard gives a long list of the English contractors and sub-contractors who have furnished the materials. No doubt somewhere inside there will be mention of Rockefeller who furnished the money. Yesterday's papers announced that Cambridge University, which is sixty miles north of London, has raised the balance of $1,145,000 needed to qualify for a $3,500,000 gift from the International Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. Thus Englishmen who are wont to scorn American worship of the almighty dollar on occasion can find use for the American dollar.

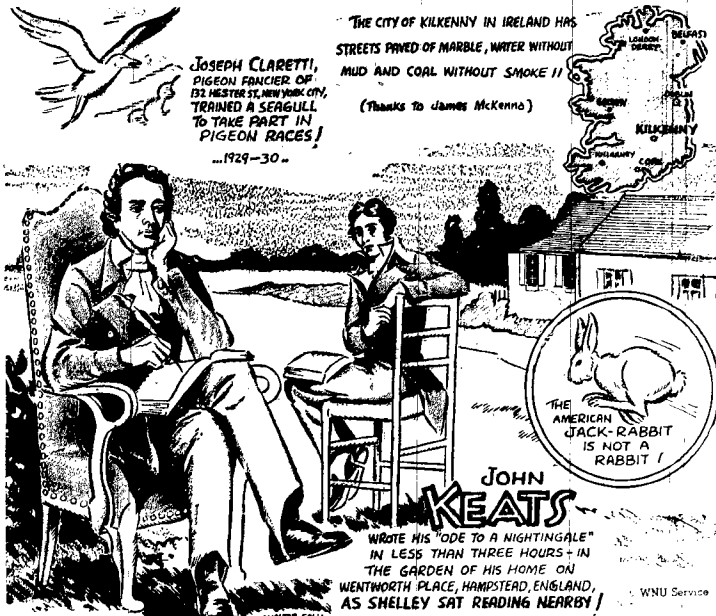

LOCAL

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Gordon of Omaha, spent the week-end here in the W. E. VonSoggen home.

Miss Marjorie Noakes, teacher in Sergeant Bluff, was here to spend the week-end in the Geo. Noakes home.

Miss Jeanne Wright, who teaches at North Bend, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright.

But It's True

Kilkenny uses marble for its streets because it's so plentiful in that part of Ireland. The matter of the mindless water is due to hardness of the soil. The smokeless coal has never been fully explained. The American "jack-rabbit" is really a hare.

Contrasts Customs In Countries of Europe With Those In America

Contrasting the sale of liquor in Sweden with the way it is sold in America Miss Lenore Ramsey, who spent part of the summer in Europe, commended the manner in which it is handled by the Swedes. Beer is sold at any time, but wine is sold only from 12 to 15 o'clock in small quantities. From 15 to 24 o'clock greater quantities may be sold to men, but women are restricted to the smaller quantities. Spirits are sold only with meals.

Long ago Sweden instituted a pension system, designed to take care of the problems which social security aims to solve in this country. Parents begin to pay taxes on children when they are babies and this system has provided for people so that there is practically no relief. The government sells homes to its citizens according to the size of the family and the income. These are purchased in such a way that they are paid for as rent. The original cost of a house is very small. The government also has a warehouse where merchandise is bought and sold at cost.

Stockholm, according to Miss Ramsey, is a beautiful city—another Venice. One may take a boat around the city and ride for two and one-half hours. Following the trip around the city, Miss Ramsey with her tour, wanted to stop at a typical street cafe. However, the time was midnight, and the street cafes were closed. They entered a cafe which had a large statue of Christ at the back and all around the walls were statues of saints. Colored lights and glass added to the unusualness of the cafe.

Four days were spent around Leningrad in Russia, where Miss Ramsey, a keen observer, studied Russian people and conditions. Going through the customs was a long and tedious process, where many travelers were excluded from the Russian trip. Miss Ramsey was admitted and one of the first sights to meet her eyes was women pounding stone for highways and sweeping streets. It is common to see women driving buses and street cars all through Europe. All the time Miss Ramsey was in Russia, she never saw a Russian man smile and only once a Russian woman, who smiled at her child. They are a dejected looking people and in the territory where Miss Ramsey was traveling, they were not especially clean.

Russian food is not very delectable, consisting mainly of sour cream cabbage soup and black bread, also sour. Miss Ramsey tried to visit a Russian school, but the term was closed. Another of the party tried to visit a hospital, but was delayed by the attendants until it was too late to go. However she learned from one of the members of the party who visited a Moscow hospital, that it was unclean. Flies in the babies' ward were flying from the babies with sore eyes to those with good eyes.

Many of the Russian churches have been turned into potato storage places. The state comes first but if a group can support a church they are permitted to have it. The "Church of Blood" was visited by Miss Ramsey, who remarked that it had a lovely blue dome with gold mosaic figures. She peered into the windows and found that it had been looted. Four old women were inside the church, "apparently seeking consolation."

Living conditions are very crowded around Leningrad. Miss Ramsey commented on a large room in a home which had been divided into four apartments with a central kitchen and dining room. Large families were living in these small apartments, sometimes with seven and eight beds in a room. Churches are also being used to house people. This condition, they hope, will be adjusted when the new apartment houses which are being built, are completed.

Wages are reported to be high, but Miss Ramsey was dubious of the reports. Living conditions are excessive and a pair of shoes costs about $42. Consequently one sees many people wearing flat rubber-soled shoes. Women seldom wear hose. One member of "the party" brought some dresses to a Russian woman for a friend of hers. The lady was very disappointed because she did not bring a pair of silk hose instead of a dress.

Much of the dissatisfaction in Russia is a result of suspicion of the people for each other. When a person is under suspicion he is taken immediately to headquarters. Traitors are shot.

Divorce is difficult to obtain in Russia and with each divorce which a person gets, the cost increases. Miss Ramsey visited the palace of the Czar and Zarinna "who have been exiled to Siberia." Many of the intimate things of the two exiled people are still remaining. Family pictures, the newspaper which the Czar was reading when taken by soldiers are still in place in the palace.

To Miss Ramsey the whole effect of the territory which she visited in Russia, was very depressing.

Upon reaching Paris, Miss Ramsey went to the A. A. U. W. house, which is located in the Latin quarter. Houses in this section are built flush on the walk. Streets are very crooked, not built on the square as here, and one can easily become lost. The house is an attractive boarding house for American students studying in Paris. It is used for tourists during the summer. Accommodations are excellent, according to the Wayne college teacher. The house has a large library, cleaning and pressing room and the attendants plan trips for a traveler. Breakfast consisting of orange marmalade, hard bread and coffee is served in bed.

French bread is very hard and is baked in very long loaves. It is seldom wrapped when sold but one sees it carried under the customer's arm and sometimes in a carrier which resembles an umbrella.

From a French A. A. U. W. house to London, Miss Ramsey again sought a room in an A. A. U. W. house. The house opened onto the Thames and the dining room was once the dining hall of Lord Crosley. It had been moved from the Lord Crosley castle to the A. A. U. W. house. Originally the people sat on benches but chairs have replaced the benches. Breakfast is served from a warming table and one serves himself.

London is also the headquarters of the English Speaking Union, an organization of all colonies of England and citizens of the United States. The Union makes arrangements for study for its patrons anywhere in Europe.

Throughout her travel, Miss Ramsey was interested in the difference in manners of the people. In Germany when one ordered fish, it was served with two forks—one to hold the fish and the other to remove the meat from the bones. In England one is served fish with a knife similar to a butter knife and fork. The knife is used to remove the meat from the bones. In one country in which Miss Ramsey had dined she was served a fork with which to eat the fruit and a large spoon with which to eat it. Another country served a knife and fork with cantaloup—the knife used to cut it and the fork for anchoring and eating it.

While in Scotland, waiters became quite concerned because Miss Ramsey did not use sugar in her coffee. One of them brought brown sugar to her, which is one of the choicest of sweets in that country.

Tipping is customary all through Europe, but becomes quite complicated when one has two or three waiters hovering around when eating.

Miss Ramsey was very much impressed by the cleanliness of the Scandinavian countries, but does not care to return to Russia for at least 25 years.

BLACK FEATHER By Harold Titus

He opened at the hand and she winced honestly and, shocked at his own ruthlessness, he let her go. She laughed, then, and swung into Rickman's arm and off into the new dance. He searched for her in the crowd when the fiddles stopped again and out into dark hallways. He stood in the front doorway, and called again and out of the black silence heard the barest echo of a teasing laugh and light words: "Not before this dawn, sire!"

"I No Longer Ask," He Cried, Overtaking Them.

Lester Lutt's Grand Champion Beef Sells High

At the Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H baby beef auction in Omaha, described by livestock men and packers as the best such sale ever held in this country, Lester Lutt's grand champion Hereford sold Friday to Dick Kitchen of the Paxton hotel, Omaha, for $1.60 per pound. The calf weighed 920 pounds and, counting 3 percent shrinkage, the animal brought its owner $1,427.20. The 320 baby beefs sold for about $50,000.

This year's grand champion, Diz, named for Dirty Dean, was a Hereford bred by Hoffman brothers of Winside. Feed and incidental expenses for raising Diz amounted to $146. Lester won $49.50 in prize money on Diz at the Wayne and Omaha shows. Bidding for Diz started at 40c per pound and in three minutes reached the peak. Many business firms and individuals were on hand and bidding was spirited. Raising steers has proved profitable for Lester. Last year's prize winner netted Lester $1,295 and of the amount the 14-year-old youth still has $900 which he will use for buying more calves and attending college. The profit from this year's calf, will be added to the sum. Lester's voice broke as he bade Diz goodby. His request for the hide of Diz will be granted by the Paxton hotel. Lester wants to keep the hide of his prize and pet as a memento.

Spanish Dancer Tells of Escape In Native Land

Internecine war in Spain was repugnant to the artistic nature of the dark-haired handsome Velasco, dancing partner of Sarita, world famous Spanish dancer, so he chose to make his escape from Spain despite efforts to restrain him. In an interview preceding his appearance at Wayne State Teachers College with Sarita, Friday evening, the dashing young Velasco was reticent about his experiences in leaving Spain. When he explained, it was expected that he take part in the conflict. But he could see no purpose in the terrible slaughter of his fellowmen. Failing by legal means to leave Spain, Velasco resorted to illegal methods of escape. He was captured once and held prisoner, but he outwitted his captors to make good his escape across the border into France. "I would be perfectly willing to fight for my country against a foreign foe, but there is no justification in such a horrible internal war," was the way Velasco summed it up. Again he apologized for not being able to describe in more detail his narrow escapes in leaving his native land. An invitation to join the rest of the company of artists closed the interesting talk with Velasco and led to a delightful 15-minute visit with Sarita, Velasco and Romero, the last named the talented composer-pianist. How thrilling it was to laugh and talk with these gracious Latin folk who were soon to appear in their beautiful Spanish dances and musical numbers before a large and appreciative audience in the college auditorium. They were perfectly at ease as they discussed light topics and exchanged words of banter. Sarita, the lovely, vivacious Spanish dancer, was charming off the stage as well as on, and Romero, a bit more shy, supplied humorous conversation to the visit. Sarita and Velasco, both having studied English in their native Spain, spoke very clearly. Romero had difficulty in expressing himself in English. All laughed heartily when Velasco good-naturedly jibed Sarita because she mistook corner specks for hay on their auto trip from Omaha that day. It was the first trip into the midwest for the company. All had been surprised at the large size of Omaha, for they had expected to see a much smaller city. Sarita expressed surprise at the interest taken in football in the United States. She hadn't seen a football game, but she wanted to see one. Romero's hobby, collecting road maps from each of the states, was the object of much joking. "I want one from each state, so I'll know where I'm going," explained Romero as he flourished the latest addition to his collection—a map of Nebraska. After enjoying the most gracious hospitality of these three artists, the evening performance was even more delightful. The fact-moving Spanish and South American dances were punctuated by the emphatic and sparkling interpretations of Sarita and the graceful movements of her handsome partner, Velasco, as he danced with her or presented typical dances himself. The extremely beautiful and striking costumes, designed by Sarita, added much to the performance. Romero, the gifted South American composer-pianist pleased the audience with his polished playing. An appreciative audience braved the cold rain to applaud enthusiastically and call the entertainers back again and again.

Omaha World-Herald — At the age of 14 Lester Lutt of Wayne has made an enviable start as a successful farmer and stock feeder. For the second time he has produced the grand champion 4-H baby beef shown at the Ak-Sar-Ben live stock show. As a result he will return home for the second time with more money in his pocket than many a farmer earns from a year of hard labor. Lester's windfall was not of course the normal return from first class beef. It came about because out of the many hundreds of animals shown by 4-H baby beef club boys his was the top of tops. At auction sale it brought $1.60 a pound with a top market price for prime beef of 18.5 cents and a top for baby beef of 17.75 cents. Other good premiums were won by near winners. The reserve grand champion brought 50 cents a pound and winners in the Angus and Shorthorn divisions 24 and 23.5 cents respectively. Many of the non-winners earned their exhibitors 20 cents a pound or better. While the 4-H baby beef club activity has proven profitable for most of the boys who engaged in it we dare say they have gained in experience quite as much of value as in actual cash.
