

NEB. ST. HIST. SOC. JAN. 1937
 FIFTY-SIXTH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1937.

NUMBER THIRTYFIVE

REPORTS GIVEN ARE INCOMPLETE

Statement Of Profits Made
 By College Cafeteria Is Misleading.

Report of W. H. Pansing, state accountant, that Wayne college cafeteria showed a profit of $7,231 in the 25-month period from August 20, 1935, to October 31, 1937, is incomplete, according to investigation of figures submitted at various times to the Wayne Herald. Heat, water, light and new equipment costs are not reported in the statement.

The cafeteria, according to an interview published in the Wayne Herald a year ago, is a big business which is managed most efficiently. The proceeds in a 25-month period would be approximately $48,000. About 250,000 meals served in that period of time average a cost of 18c to students. Profit on each meal is figured at 1 1/2c. The profits, as they accumulate, are used for needed equipment and replacements, this being in accordance with the policy established by the state normal board a number of years ago.

If, at the time the audit was taken, costs of light, heat, water, gas and equipment had been taken into consideration, it is likely the report would have shown much smaller profits.

The college authorities aim to serve meals to students as nearly as possible at cost, keeping in mind certain replacements to be made from time to time. Through strict economy and careful buying the price has been kept down to the approximate average of 18c, which is lower than in other colleges examined in recent checkings. In face of higher food prices, the cost of food to students was reduced September 1st this year, and thus the average price per meal has been kept down to that of the period previous.

The Wayne cafeteria employs four regular helpers, Mrs. Lillian Miller, manager, Mrs. Vivian Klopping, assistant, Mr. Pye, the chef, and Mr. Johnson, pastry maker. The cafeteria also employs about 30 students. These young folks earn their meals and they receive payment comparable with other student help at the college.

The food at Wayne cafeteria is of excellent quality, and is prepared with utmost skill and cleanliness. Careful management enables the institution to provide this important service to Wayne students.

Grocer Norris Case Revived

Deposition Is Taken Here
 For Defense In Pending
 Federal Case.

Shades of the widely-publicized "Grocer" Norris case of 1930 were revived in Wayne last Saturday when the deposition of Mrs. Esther Petersen of Wayne was taken for the defense in a subsequent libel case pending in federal district court in Baltimore, Md.

Robert H. Lucas, former republican national committee man, is suing A. S. Abell Co., owner of the Baltimore Sun and Frank R. Kent, editor, for libel in connection with articles appearing in that paper concerning activities of Lucas in that 1930 Nebraska campaign.

The deposition was taken before W. R. Ellis, court reporter, and E. D. Addison, Wayne attorney. Attorneys Charles S. Reed, Omaha, and Fred S. Berry, Wayne, appeared for the plaintiff and the law firm of Perry Van Pelt and Marti of Lincoln appeared for the defense.

Mrs. Petersen was secretary in 1930 for Victor Seymour who was directing the republican opposition to Senator Norris at that time. Mrs. Petersen's testimony deals with such prominent figures as Seymour; W. W. Stebbing, former state treasurer; Frank Marsh, former state secretary; and former Governors A. J. Weaver and Samuel McKelvie.

Both Seymour and Grocer Norris of Broken Bow were convicted of perjury and sentenced to terms of imprisonment. The case dragged out over a long period and attracted nation-wide attention because of its unique nature.

MANY FARM SALES
 HEREABOUTS RULED
 BY SHARP DEMAND

MORE farm sales than usual are being held, and results are reported satisfactory. For several years the farm sale business lagged. We recall a time when 20 sale ads. appeared in one issue of the Herald. That was in 1920. Later the farm sales reduced, and during depression years the numbers were almost nil. Few farmers were turned to make changes while the country was flat. Whether conditions have improved or not, many farmers have evidently decided not longer to postpone decisions to retire or put off making other changes. The readiness with which farm implements and animals are bought reflects healthy and encouraging demand. Farmers are thus taking hold of their business with renewed grip and determination despite discouragements of the past few years.

SANTA TO GIVE CHILDREN RIDES

Popular Pony-Drawn Sleigh
 Will Be In Wayne
 Candy Treats Planned.

All children who come to Wayne Saturday this week will enjoy Santa's pony-drawn sleigh. The rides, so popular with little folks last year, will start at the city hall from 1 to 9 p. m. Santa's sleigh is much larger than the one he had last year. Candy treats are also arranged for children Saturday.

Another special treat for children is planned at the Wayne municipal auditorium for Saturday afternoon, December 18, from 1 to 5. A "kids" show will be staged with program and games that will delight every youngster. Each rural school is invited to add some number to the features already arranged, and all will join in a community sing. Women and girl scouts will be on hand to care for the little folks. Santa will appear and distribute treats.

Feeds and candy treats are scheduled for next Wednesday, December 15, and also for Wednesday, December 22.

Contests for store and home decorations are being staged by the Young Business Men's club and judging will be done the week before Christmas. Those entering are asked to register with M. L. Ringer.

Wayne business firms offer exceptional trade opportunity this season.

 SUNDAY NIGHT

Rites For E. A. Surber Are Held At Residence Here
 On Wednesday

E. A. Surber, resident of Wayne county more than half a century, passed away at his home in Wayne Sunday evening about 9 o'clock following a long illness, aged 76 years, 8 months and 26 days.

Funeral rites were conducted from the home Wednesday afternoon at 2 with Rev. W. F. Dierking, Presbyterian minister, and the Beckenhauer service in charge. Shariy Sprague sang. Burial followed in Greenwood cemetery.

Enoch Anderson Surber was born at Norwalk, Iowa, March 9, 1861. When a small boy he moved with his parents to Prairie City, Iowa, and at the age of 15 he went with his family to a farm near Silver City in Pottawattamie county, Iowa.

Mr. Surber married Miss Minnie V. Rath of Treynor, Iowa, December 27, 1883, and they would soon have observed their 54th wedding anniversary. In the spring of 1884, shortly after their marriage in Iowa, the Surbers came to their farm four miles northwest of Wayne and resided there until 1914 when they built their home in town.

Mr. Surber was baptized in the Christian church when a boy, and during his residence in Wayne he attended and supported the Presbyterian church. He was one of the county pioneers for whom many friends held highest esteem.

Mr. Surber is survived by his wife and four children, Maude, now Mrs. Elmer E. Galley, Carl (Continued on page two.)

 BROAD RELIGION

Modern Idea Of Religion Is Narrow — Should Include All Culture.

Describing the present idea of religion as "too narrow" in a changing world, Dr. F. M. Gregg of Nebraska Wesleyan, speaking in the Wayne Methodist church Sunday morning, urged the enlarging of the church's functions to include all phases of culture.

"We have been dominated by forms and ceremonies to the exclusion of the real objectives of religion exemplified in the religion of our Christian forefathers," asserted Dr. Gregg. If the church is to compete successfully with the other activities in a modern world, it must itself adopt more attractive methods and must spread out into the lives and interests of the people it seeks to influence.

Dr. Gregg pointed out that "we are falling behind the ideals of the early Christian leaders of America." In their time the church functioned even in guiding the political ideals and ideas of the day. Democracy actually had its birth in the early church groups, for democracy is based on human brotherhood as first taught by Jesus.

"Must have society," "We must have society as well as the individual," said Dr. Gregg, "and the church should appeal to the individual to help in raising (Continued on page two.)"

Learn By Doing Is New Method

Dr. F. M. Gregg Is Speaker
 At Meeting Friday Of School Group.

Dr. F. M. Gregg of Nebraska Wesleyan, was speaker at the Four-County School Men's dinner and program Friday evening at the college cafeteria. Wives and friends were guests of the school men.

"A Working Philosophy of Education" was the subject of Dr. Gregg's address. He pointed out that modern education is a process of learning by doing in contrast to the old method of learning and reciting. Dr. Gregg approves the modern way for he explains that one learns only by doing. He also contrasted rugged individualism with social learning.

An open forum followed.

Supt. E. W. Smith and James Lockart were in charge of the Friday program.

To Provide Milk
 For Two Schools

Organizations Are Asked To Fill Christmas Baskets
 For Families.

Reviewing the survey of underprivileged school children in Wayne, conducted by the Kiwanis club, the Red Cross, at a meeting Thursday evening, decided to provide milk each morning until the first of the year to undernourished pupils who otherwise would not be able to have it, in the grades of the two Wayne schools. The report shows that 33 children need this food. The Red Cross will cooperate with the community committee coordinating the aid for needy children.

Because the Red Cross feels that underprivileged children need help through the year rather than just at Christmas, the chapter decided to leave the matter of Christmas baskets to organizations. Each club or other organization wishing to provide a basket for a family is asked to call Mrs. A. C. Thompson at the relief office and she will assign families to be helped. This will avoid duplication. It is hoped that about 30 baskets will be furnished by groups. If individuals wish to contribute something for Christmas, any gifts may be left at the relief office and these will be distributed to worthy families.

The welfare office is greatly in need of clothing of all kinds, especially shoes, stockings, underwear and coats. Persons having garments to give are asked to notify the welfare office or leave them at the court house.

Reports on the Red Cross drive, though not complete, show that the membership roll call will bring over $800 into the chapter treasury. Mrs. A. C. Thompson, chairman, has received $38 from Winside, $27.60 from Carroll and the rest from Wayne.

Supreme Court Morals Needed

Public Needs Protection Against Propaganda In Opinion Given.

"A supreme court of morals made up of 20 or 30 fine typed men and women is needed to defend us against propaganda," suggested Dr. F. M. Gregg of Nebraska Wesleyan, Lincoln, in an address on "Propaganda and Its Control" at the Kiwanis club Monday noonday meeting. "We need someone to trust so we can tell what is right and wrong."

Dr. Gregg explained that there are several viewpoints as to what propaganda is. One is that it is a promotion of an idea by a combination of methods. Another is that it is the control of attitudes of groups of people to put across a truth. The idea is accepted critically.

The professor continued by saying that propaganda rests on the psychology of suggestion. Among the instruments of suggestion are newspapers, radio, moving pictures, pamphlets, bill boards and public meetings. It is justifiable as often as it is unjustified.

"We must fight for time to think," said the speaker, "to protect ourselves from propaganda." The government sends out quantities of propaganda. According to the Saturday Evening Post, the amount distributed in one year would have cost $32,000,000 to mail at the regular postal rate. The agriculture department puts out new ideas by this method. The finance department promotes such plans as social security in this means.

Most large companies and stores have a public relation man. It was through such a person that Rockefeller gave public popularity. Propaganda is the method employed for the promotion. Propaganda can be either good or bad. Eleanor Bentback, Carla Wright and Richard Sala had 100 percent.

Welfare Director Speaks To Club

Mrs. A. C. Thompson Explains Assistance Program As Being Maligned.

Speaking of the work done in Wayne county for underprivileged children, blind, crippled and others who need assistance, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, county welfare director, addressed members of the Business and Professional Women's department of the Wayne Women's club Monday evening.

"The most encouraging factor in welfare work," stated Mrs. Thompson, "is that we the people of the United States have developed a social conscience which requires the provision of public assistance and service to those in need, on a basis, at least roughly, comparable to a minimum standard of living."

Mrs. Thompson discussed the emergency program which has been set up in the United States which provides for the old age, dependent children, blind and crippled. Eligibility for old age assistance requires that the recipient must be 65 years of age, have no income, and if he does have property, no income can be derived from it; eligibility for aid to dependent children requires that the mother is a widow with no means of support or that the father is incapacitated to the extent that he is not able to provide a living for his family. Orphan children must be living in the home of some relative before assistance may be granted. Crippled children are given care at hospitals in Omaha and the orthopedic hospital in Lincoln. Blind are provided for as the aged.

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 5 Wayne, Neb., Thurs., Dec. 9, 1937. No. 35

The past two days have shown us that winter is really here. A full coal bin will save a lot of worries.

A guy down in Kansas stole a fur coat to square himself with his girl. The least she can do now is to bake him a cake with a saw in it.

Mountaineer: "Doc. I want you to look at my son-in-law. I shot at him yesterday and took a piece out of his ear."

Doctor: "Shame on you, shooting at your son-in-law!"

Mountaineer: "Huh! He wasn't my son-in-law when I shot at him."

We have storm door papers on hand to fit any door.

If you are in doubt as to what kind of stoker coal to use, try our Harco prepared coal. It won't go out, is low in ash and absolutely dustless.

A guy down in Kansas stole a fur coat to square himself with his girl. The least she can do now is to bake him a cake with a saw in it.

We have just unloaded three cars of coal. When you want the best, just call 147 and it will be delivered promptly.

Now is the time to install that stoker and start saving on your present fuel bill. We will install it in a few hours even in this cold weather. Ask about our easy payment plan.

Hotel Guest (phoning down from room): "Is this the night clerk?"

Clerk (sleepy and in a bad humor): "Well, what's biling you?"

Hotel Guest: "That's what I want to know."

If you want a furnace coal that will hold fire and give you the most heat for the least money, ask for our Blackhawk at $9.75 per ton.

The speaker concluded by saying that under the pressure of the past ten years, public welfare services have been expanded in scope and made available to a large number of people.

C. L. Pickett, manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone office, showed some motion pictures.

Miss Theodora Carlson and Miss Celia Richards reported on the shoe fund and Miss Coral Stoddard gave a report on the children's story hour. Problems of Car Accidents In Need Of Attention In Homes and Schools

"We have been too slow in attacking the problem of accidents," stated Dr. J. T. Anderson, president of the Wayne State Teachers college, when speaking before the Wayne Woman's club Friday afternoon on the subject of "Safety".

The speaker pointed out that most people are horrified at the thought of certain contagious diseases such as poliomyelitis, and exercise every precaution to keep them out of their homes, whereas more deaths actually result from accidents than from any known disease. During the ages from 5 to 14, a child is twice as likely to be killed from accident as he is to die from any disease. The increasing waste in sacrificed lives, disabled bodies and property loss during recent years is appalling to every thinking man, woman and child.

"While accidents are usually caused from many sources, such as those caused by motor vehicles, those in industries, in public buildings, in agriculture, in the home and in the school, the one that challenges our most serious consideration at the present time is the one named first. The automobile accident is our most menacing problem in any safety program," declared the speaker.

Statistics which Dr. Anderson used showed the following situation: 105 persons will be killed tomorrow in the United States by automobiles; 37,000 persons will be killed during the year; one person is killed every 15 minutes; more than 1,000,000 people will be injured many for life; more people were killed last year than were killed during the World War in a like period of time—almost as many as were killed during the 18 months that America was engaged in the war; during the last 15 years more people have been killed by automobiles than in all our wars since 1776 to the present time; automobile accidents are increasing approximately 15 percent each year; one car in every 20 will be responsible for an accident causing injury or death during the year; economic loss due to automobile accidents during one year equals $2,500,000,000, a sum greater than the cost of public education in the United States; and economic loss—more than one-half the cost of all the agencies of federal government.

The speaker remarked that the automobile as a vehicle of transportation has come into being so rapidly that people have been unable to keep up with the problems involved in its use. Causes of accidents which he pointed out were defective eyesight, defective hearing, ignorance, lack of training and judgment, emotional instability, carelessness, thrill seekers, visiting and radio, speed mania, and greed for financial gain such as

Alpha Psi Omega To Present Play

Popular Comedy Drama Will Be Produced By College Students Soon.

Alpha Omega, national professional dramatics fraternity, under the direction of Miss Lenore P. Ramsey, cast sponsor, presents "First Lady" December 17, at the college auditorium. This is the second recent Broadway success to be staged by the group within one year. "Men In White," a Pulitzer prize winner, was produced last April.

"First Lady," as a play, is as delightfully amusing as "Men In White" is dramatic. The former has its setting in governmental Washington, and deals with the attempts of Lucy Chase Wayne, wife of the secretary of state, to dabble in politics. The story reaches its climax when poor Lucy discovers herself about to be trapped by an impending political avalanche, for which she alone is responsible.

The dramatics fraternity feels especially fortunate in securing production rights, since the play had its premiere on Broadway just two years ago, when Jane Cowl starred as Lucy Chase Wayne; and since the play itself was written by Katharine Dayton and George S. Kaufman, the latter of whom is well known for his Broadway successes, particularly "Of Thee I Sing."

Those having leading roles in "First Lady" are Margaret Jones, who plays the role of Lucy Chase Wayne; Muriel Hanson, who appears as Irene Hubbard; Robert Sutton, as Stephen Wayne; and Robert Brome, as Justice Carter Hubbard. These young people head a cast of 17 principal players. In the entire cast there are 26.

Other characters and those playing them are as follows: Sophy Prescott, Margaret Bruner; Emmy Paige, Betty Sue Okerlin; Belle Hardwick, Helen Peterson; Mrs. Luella May Creevey, Lorine Schulte; Senator Keane, Carroll Peterson; Ellsworth T. Ganning, David Sanders.

The role of Charles, butler in the Wayne household, is to be played by Werner Welchert, that of Mrs. Ives, by Irene Bastian; Ann Forester, Lorraine Cornell; a congressman's wife, Betty Wright; her friend, Donna Rae Kohls; the baroness, Ruby Surber; Senator Wega, Elster Link; a general, Gilmore Sells; Mrs. Davenport, Dolores McNatt; Tom Hardwick, Arthur

Popular Orchestras Secured For Dances

Popular orchestras continue to play engagements at the Wayne City auditorium and young people of this and surrounding communities seem to be enjoying the excellent dance music. The floor is superb, say the dancers, and large crowds are turning out each Wednesday.

Next Wednesday, Nat Towles and his orchestra, 14 southern gentlemen, will play. They come direct from a long run at Denver's largest ballroom, the "Rainbow." Conductors of the dances has been the very best under direction of Carl Nicolajensen.

the average income on a farm of 100 acres is $1,205, on 300 to 340 acres it is $3,439, and on 340 to 420 acres it is $3,183.

Since the quality of beef has improved and the price is no higher, Prof. H. J. Gramlich of Lincoln, urges greater consumption of this food. The average per capita in the United States is 50 pounds of beef, 70 pounds of pork and 6 pounds of lamb a year.

To secure a corn loan the producer first goes to the county agricultural conservation office to apply for a loan and ascertain the eligibility of his corn and the probable eligibility of his storage. An official sealer is sent to the farm, inspects the corn and crib, secures a sample of the corn, makes a corn loan work sheet, seals the crib and gives the producer a warehouse certificate. The county committee sends the corn sample to the state committee for a moisture test. When the moisture is reported the committee decides if the producer is eligible for a loan. The county committee then checks the producer's sheet, prepares a note and agreement, checks the consumer's warehouse certificate and insurance certificates. The note and the sealer then certify note and loan agreement and producer sends them to the Community Credit corporation to his money. The corn is then under the jurisdiction of the state; the note is taken up or repaid delivered. The producer responsible for the corn and subject to loss from damage to the corn unless the damage covered by insurance.

Need Of Thinking

DR. ROBERT M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, in the first of a series of articles published in the Saturday Evening Post, expresses doubt over the adequacy of present-day education in American schools notwithstanding multiplied efforts in that direction.

Dr. Hutchins' idea is that too many non-essentials, obeying the whims of incompetent advisers, have supplanted courses pioneered, considered necessary by the pioneers. Students have not learned sufficiently to think and reason, according to Dr. Hutchins.

Virtue In Work

"THE Abundant Life" which visionaries expect to provide for everybody by legislative fiat, is treated in an article in a current magazine. The author says: "We work hard that we may play hard."

"What is more soul-satisfying than an abundant life earned by work? What knowledge is more basic than knowledge wrung from bitter experience?"

"Hard work and high intelligence are still the basis of a prosperous country. No law can be devised which will kill individual enterprise without killing all enterprise.

Lowering of the business cycle is likely due more to the uncertainties of legislation, adding to already large burdens, than to anything else.

Every passenger boat that leaves American shores contains those who have made enough money here to tour the Old World, and every incoming boat contains stowaways seeking to gain entrance to the American haven in violation of the immigration quota for the country from which they fled.

In a recent speech, H. C. Filley of the rural economics department of the University of Nebraska, pointed out that everybody helps pay under present social security legislation in increased commodity costs.

An encouraging note was sounded in the house this week when the compulsory provision of the farm bill relating to wheat was defeated. Congressman Coffee, who is convinced farmers would resent compulsion, proposes similar action with reference to corn.

Some editors have lately advised Col. Lindbergh that if he wishes to avoid popular attention he should do less shying from it. If he would mingle with people as one of them, not trying to escape reporters and photographers, he would soon be left alone as he wishes. We all like Lindbergh.

but we wish he would quit appearing incognito—quit fleeing to cover when anyone looks at him.

This is a good time to try Wayne as a shopping center. In gay holiday array, stores are offering an abundance. Persons who have had experience are convinced that one can nowhere do better. There is ample warrant in the growth and extension of this town's trade area.

A grand sight, comparable to an ocean sunset, but something permanently and doubtless painfully withheld from natives of southern California, is the galaxy of sundogs appearing on an extra frosty morning—notably yesterday morning.

Efficiency is no test of political popularity. If voters selected official leaders as they select persons to fill niches in private employment, the government would be run more practically and sensibly, and there would be no serious depressions.

Santa Claus. Nation's Business: Few of us outgrow the thrill that Christmas brings. It is our most joyous holiday. In addition to its religious significance, its theme of "peace on earth, good will to men," it gives us colorful decorations, inspiring music and, above all, the expectation of gifts.

And in receiving gifts, most of us are children at heart. From the toddler who goes to bed in wide-eyed anticipation of Santa Claus' visit, through childhood, into maturity, there is a peculiar pleasure in receiving something for nothing.

The joy of the boy pictured on our cover, through the courtesy of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., is not dimmed by the knowledge that "Santa Claus is just his father dressed up." The mother's pleasure in receiving a gaily ribboned parcel on Christmas morning is not lessened by the knowledge that the January bills will be larger because of it.

The Right To Work. Lincoln Journal: John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., says that a citizen of the United States has a right to live. If the corporations which control American industry fail to provide work for American citizens he holds that something should be done about it.

Gold as Stimulant. Cold weather, an extra touch of which was experienced in this area the past week, arouses a lot of human resistance. When an Arctic blast feels around until it finds one's marrow, it stirs up action, and action is good for healthy blood streams. It prods the naturally indolent to extra effort—even a WPA worker—and that is one big reason why citizens of the middle west are unsurpassed physically and mentally.

With Little to Sell. Economists who thrive on figures, announce a considerable increase in the cost of manufactured commodities and also in the cost of farm products. This is eminently satisfactory in areas where farmers have surpluses to sell.

Hope In Immigration Problem. Omaha Journal-Stockman: The dire thing that would happen to the United States if we had no immigration problem and the whole world were free to come and live with us, is shown by Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business. One hundred million foreigners, he declares, would start for America within 24 hours after our immigration laws were scrapped, if there were boats to accommodate them and money to pay steamship fares.

On the other hand, while every civilized country presents an immigration problem to the United States, the United States presents no such problem to any foreign country. The idea being that foreigners want to live here, but we don't want to live there.

Every passenger boat that leaves American shores contains those who have made enough money here to tour the Old World, and every incoming boat contains stowaways seeking to gain entrance to the American haven in violation of the immigration quota for the country from which they fled.

And that leads to this thought by Editor Thorpe: "While we raise immigration walls against the individual, we have no quota restrictions against alien philosophies which are vastly more dangerous than the immigrant himself. We embrace foreign theories of government and reject individuals seeking to escape from them."

Brought Down By Hand. To the cheers of a thronged arena, a loyalist soldier at Valencia brought a bull down by hand. The animal is to be examined for Italian markings.—Senator Soaper in Los Angeles Times.

Wearing Divorce Rings. Paris introduces the wearing of divorce rings. Hollywood darling will have to copy the much-medaled soldier and wear a divorce ring with bars.—Toronto Star.

Only A "Scrap of Paper". The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger observes that the Brussels declaration is "a scrap of paper." When an international agreement is reached that nobody regards as in that category, that will be news.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

RELIGION.

While the arbitrary rule of dictators in important European countries has sought to check development of Christian belief, it is doubtless true that innumerable subjects still have faith in the teachings of the humble Nazarene. Whatever inhabitants of dictator-ridden nations may be forced to express, it is inconceivable that the rank and file have abandoned in thought the most precious consideration in life—hope in eternity and a square deal at the end of human bondage.

it would be a desirable community acquisition. Mayor Ringer visited the camp at Madison last week, and he was impressed by the orderly groups of boys who are giving valuable service while gaining important training. It seems to be public policy to permit communities to take turns in having camps, and the mayor thinks it is now Wayne's turn.

Is Ill in Hospital.

George Roberts was taken quite ill this week and is in a local hospital.

FARM BILL.

It would seem the most practical and satisfactory farm legislation would be storing crops under government loans without imposing adherence to a program that would amount to regimentation. Forcing a farmer to accept what he does not want at an expense to the government in order to gain loan benefits to be returned to the federal treasury does not make sense, and it is surprising that congress can be led along in that direction.

Like Historical Names.

William McKinley shot Robert E. Lee in this town yesterday. They are both Negroes and in jail. They gave those names. There are a lot of "George Washingtons" and "Andrew Jacksons" among the 200,000 members of the colored race who live in Washington.

Use Foreign Corn.

Now that the easterners tell farm members that the "farmer is in clover" and that we have a gigantic corn crop and "big prices," the farm members are asking the easterners to do something about stopping the gigantic receipt of foreign corn which keeps on coming to America to compete with and undersell the American raised corn.

Fancy Price For Sandwich. Meats cost a lot of money in Washington. The cafes and hotels can buy fish cheaper. So they are featuring fish on their menus.

Use Streets As Garage. The people in this town have started a campaign to get car owners to keep their cars off the street at night. Most of them keep their cars on the streets all night.

Want to Vote.

The Washington people are also starting a campaign to get their vote. They feel that they ought to be given a chance, like other American citizens to at least vote for president or vote for the people who spend their tax money.

Veteran Not Given Preference Here.

Congress passed a law some time ago under which preference is supposed to be given to veterans of the war when they take a civil service examination for rural mail carrier jobs. One member from Michigan claims something is happening to the veterans in his state because they don't get that preference.

Another Scrap Of Paper?

To kill time, the house has been listening to speeches about war in Spain and China. The minority asked that the administration put the neutrality law into effect in the far east. The majority defended the stand of the administration that no legal war has yet been declared in the far east and that so far as Uncle Sam is concerned no war exists there.

Washington. The cafes and hotels can buy fish cheaper. So they are featuring fish on their menus. One cafe here charges 75 cents for a roast beef sandwich.

Southern States Becoming Our Agricultural Competitors. The National Foreign Trade convention has just concluded its twenty-fourth annual session. Among their declarations they made this statement which is of great interest to Nebraskans:

"Cotton, our principal export, has lost its premier position in our foreign trade because tariff policies and government restrictions on production have caused foreign countries to increase their production to the serious detriment of the American farmer. Should cotton lose its export markets, the southern fields will of necessity, be turned to the production of food and feed, the sale in competition with the west and north."

In reply to that it should be known that already the southern farmers are being in strong for alfalfa, for milk, butter and cheese and have hired many dairy experts to develop big dairy herds. They can feed livestock more months out of the year in southern states than we can in Nebraska.

Farm and AAA News

From the County Agent

Farm Bureau News.
Dr. Wm. Crane Johnstone of George Washington University, will discuss "Shanghai Problems" at the meeting of organized agriculture in Lincoln December 6 to 10. Dr. G. E. Condra of Lincoln, will talk on water and soil conservation.

Trojan and Flynn varieties of winter wheat, oats and barley were the high yielders in the 1937 small grain tests conducted in this state. The varieties are high yielding and smut resistant.

Community meetings for election of agricultural conservation committee men and to provide farmers an opportunity to discuss current farm problems and objectives of the 1938 program will be held in Wayne county soon.

The nursery section of the soil conservation service has collected 7,500 pounds of seeds from grasses used in erosion control plantings in the state. Tests are being made to find grasses of most value for feed production and erosion control. These will be planted in gullied areas next spring.

Champions in all lines of 4-H work went to Chicago November 27 for the national club congress. So far Wayne county has not had club members eligible for the Chicago meeting but Agent Moller predicts that it soon will have if club work is continued as at present.

The value of grain sorghums for livestock feed will be determined in tests to be conducted at Lincoln for cattle, sheep and hogs.

Clarke-McNary forest tree seedlings will be available to Wayne county farmers next spring with application blanks now available.

Hybrid corn is reported to have withstood dry weather better this year than other corns and to have outyielded them. Grain and forage sorghums are taking the place of corn in an increasing degree, in Nebraska, reports show.

"Life and Living" is the theme of organized agriculture program at Lincoln December 6 to 10. Rural electrification, pump irrigation, and soil conservation will be among the topics considered.

With larger feed production this year, it is estimated that more cattle will be fed than for several seasons. The high of $19.90 in Chicago in September was exceeded only by prices paid in the winter of 1918-19.

The college of agriculture in Lincoln is breeding sorghum to find an early maturing strain. Much sorghum is being produced in place of corn.

The long-time sheep outlook is favorable, the farm bureau reports, and most Nebraska farmers can well afford to keep a few sheep.

An experiment in feeding corn and sorghum to cattle is of interest at the Lincoln college. The test will be completed next spring.

Nebraska farmers received one-sixth of their gross income in 1936 from dairy products and poultry flocks.

A protective cover of grass will stop soil losses by erosion and at the same time produce a profitable feed crop.

Supplementing silage, fodder and wild hay with some high protein feed will pay in wintering stock, according to the bureau. The aim is to keep animals thrifty with the minimum purchase of grain. Alfalfa has been thought of as the protein supplement needed with rough feeds. Experiments show that one pound of cottonseed cake, linseed meal or soybean meal will take the place of about three pounds of alfalfa in cattle and sheep ration.

Worship in Swedish at 11. English services at 7:30 p. m. Mid-week service this Thursday evening 7:30.

Sunday school children will practice Saturday afternoon at 2 for the Christmas program.

Young people's meeting next Thursday for the annual business meeting.

Conference Realignment?

Chadron is leaving the N. I. A. A. and plans next year to enter the Rocky Mountain conference. Her location so far from the other conference schools has made this advisable. So now Wayne, Kearney and Peru remain in an athletic group which has always been too small anyway. How about the future? What hope is there for a realignment of colleges in Nebraska or including colleges in surrounding states?

This Saturday, December 11, the officers and coaches of the N. I. A. A. met in Lincoln. In addition to conducting routine business, they discuss what is to be done in regard to the future of the conference. They will likely consider several possible setups, for the members of the N. I. A. A. are all anxious to belong to a lively group with enough schools to make it interesting.

One frequently mentioned prospect in realignment would include seven Nebraska colleges from the two conferences, the N. I. A. A. and the N. C. A. C. They are Midland, Hastings, Nebraska Wesleyan and Doane of the church conference and Wayne, Kearney and Peru from the Teachers' college group. This would be a very suitable setup, but there is a likelihood that some of the church schools will not willingly agree to a realignment. We can see no plausible reason for any objection. Such a group would certainly be an improvement over a four-school conference. The teams now are evenly matched in football and basketball and the increased membership would add to the interest in loop games. No better grouping could be found from the standpoint of location with respect to one another. The schools are similar in other respects, too. So that seems to us to be the ideal realignment—if it can be arranged. Hastings is highly in favor of such a conference, while the attitude of Midland, Doane and Wesleyan is not definite.

Another Possible Conference. President Kime of Western Union at LeMars, Ia., suggests, in a recent letter to Coach Hickman of Wayne, that the following setup is a logical one and would be satisfactory to the schools concerned: Western Union and Buena Vista of Iowa, Augustana and Sioux Falls college and Yankton of South Dakota, and Wayne and Midland from Nebraska. He writes in behalf of several interested schools, pointing out that at present the schools must travel across whole states to play conference opponents. This arrangement might be easier to promote than the one previously discussed, though it might not be as desirable in some respects. The distance between schools would be suitable and the members would be of about the same strength.

At any rate something should be done as soon as possible to revive intercollegiate rivalry which has been slumping and will continue to do so unless some new conference is formed.

New Scoring System.

At last the man who passes to the man under the basket is to get the credit he deserves. This season Coach Hickman plans to keep a chart recording the passes which make possible setups and set shots for the man who does the scoring. Thus the cager who helps make the baskets by his timely passing will receive a part of the credit for the score. This, hopes Coach Hickman, will encourage less shooting from any position and more passing to the man in position for an open shot. Coach Hickman has used the system successfully in previous basketball coaching at Billings Polytechnic institute in Montana. This column will keep a week-to-week record of the points scored and assists made.

Wayne High Drills For Stanton Game

In the first real scrimmage session of the season Wayne high's cagers opposed the College prep five for an hour Tuesday afternoon at the city auditorium. Ragged basketball, typical of early season play, was noticeable as the two teams skirmished on pretty even terms.

Coach Elwood Morris of Wayne high observed that his squad need to sharpen their scoring eyes if they are to drop in the basket regularly later on. Practice so far has dealt mostly with the fundamentals—few set plays on the menu.

A couple of sharp-shooting forwards are gifts Coach Morris could certainly use for Christmas. In fact, he could use them right soon with the Stanton game coming up next Thursday, December 16, on the local floor.

However, Wayne high has some cagers who have both experience and speed which may carry them a long way. "Red" Berry and Lyle Seymour, freshman and sophomore standouts, are coming along well and will fill in handily as reserves.

President Roosevelt has ordered that the stock market must be reorganized or be regulated drastically.

Wayne College Cagers Meet Omaha On Friday

Hickman Five To Have First Test Of Season Tomorrow; Meet Midland Today.

Coach Ray Hickman will know more about the championship possibilities of his 1937-8 cagers after their first taste of action against the Omaha University Redbirds on the home floor this Friday night at 7.30 p. m.

Next Tuesday night the Wildcats clash with Midland here. With four lettermen on the starting team—three of them all-conference selections of the past two years—the team is well-spiced with veterans. But their success also depends on how well they function as a combination working in for the necessary baskets. It is fairly certain that the starting whiff will find Marshall and Cunningham at the forward posts, Red Lingenfelter at center and Ervin Retzlaff at one guard. At the other it is likely that Rusty Bradford will get the first call. Other men whose performance in practice give them an edge as reserves are Huntemeier guard; Kingston, center; George Lamson, center or guard; Whitmore, forward; and Bader, guard.

Scrimmage Frosh 1 am.

Scrimmage against the 1 seconds and against the strong freshman team has supplied the bulk of the drill the past week. Out of bounds plays have been given special attention instead of the usual practice on center tipoff plays. Abolishing of the center jump makes the latter unnecessary. In early scrimmage sessions, the first string has performed in off and on style.

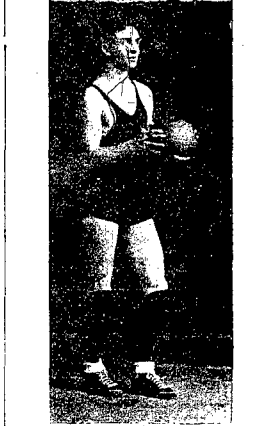

Coach Johnnie Baker has been drilling his Redbird squad with one determined aim: To conquer the Wayne team which whipped his boys twice last year. Omaha had four lettermen who will no doubt start: Stroehlein, guard; Wolf, center; and Kersenbrock and Boldenow, guards. Grob, former Benson high star, is slated for the other guard.

Wayne will be battling to gain revenge for a beating administered by Omaha U in the recent football campaign. It should be a fast and thrilling encounter with the new rule changes in effect. Speed and more speed is said to be the result of the elimination of the center jump except at the start of halves.

"Red" Lingenfelter, Center.

Ervin Retzlaff, Guard.

Bradford Selected On All-Star Team

"Rusty" Bradford, Wayne's flashy fullback, received a special honor when he was placed on the all-Nebraska college first eleven announced in the Omaha World-Herald last week. In state college circles it is generally agreed that "Rusty" was one of the greatest backs of the grid season.

The following bouquet was handed "Rusty" in the World-Herald: "Climax runner of the group, Rusty Bradford of Wayne, wowed the customers with lengthy gallops in every contest." Honorable mention was awarded Lingenfelter, tackle; Johnson, center; and Murray, halfback; all of Wayne.

The first team: Ends — Richendifer, Hastings, and Greenhouse, Peru. Tackles — Howard, Doane, and Jensen, Midland. Guards — Christian, Chadron, and Hester, Kearney. Center — Bakeslee, Hastings. Quarterback — McLaughlin, Hastings. Halfbacks — Lewis, Kearney, and Green, Midland. Fullback — Bradford, Wayne.

In Local Hospital. Miss Ruth Porter of Wayne, is in a local hospital for treatments.

Wayne Boxers Lose In Preliminaries

Fighting game battles against tough opponents, two Wayne Teachers boxers lost their preliminary matches in the Sioux City Golden Gloves tournament last Friday night.

Bud King, middleweight, a freshman from Oakdale, started fast but weakened to lose a verdict to Joe Azure, Flandreau Indian. The first round was a slugging match, but Azure outlasted King despite the latter's game attempts to land a winner.

Cecil Richards, Decatur, a senior at Wayne, went down for a ten-count in the second round against Vivian Johnson, bruising Sioux City Negro. It was a fly-weight bout.

Proceeds of the bouts will go to the Goodfellow Christmas fund. Preliminaries continue December 9 and 10 with semi-finals later.

Wayne Places Men On All-Northeast

Gildersleeve And Graham On Journal Second And Third Elevens.

Two Wayne high athletes, Freddie Gildersleeve, flashy back, and Orval Graham, ball-carrier placed at an end, gained positions on the second and third All-Northeast Nebraska football selections announced by the Sioux City Journal Sunday. The teams were picked by a vote of coaches and officials of this section.

On the honorable mention roster was listed Kenneth Peterson, stellar Wayne center.

Gildersleeve earned honor of being one of the best backs in northeast Nebraska by carrying the brunt of the offensive drive of the blue and white all season. His shifty, twisting gallops have provided numerous thrills for spectators for many seasons. Graham was a dependable plunger and his defensive work helped get him a place at end this year instead of in the backfield.

Coach Walden's Lyons team and Coach Gast's Walthall gridgers monopolized the first team with three men each. Bloomfield, under Don Rasley, earned two positions. Bob Johnson, Wakefield's ace ground-gainer, was given a backfield job because of his sensational runs.

One of the surprises of the selections was the omission of Mahon, Ponca super-grinder for the first team lineup, for the Ponca laid certainly demonstrated his string. Coaches and officials, however, decided the lineup.

Wayne Preps Play Allen Here Tonight

Three Games On Program At College Gym As Cage Season Begins.

Opening the season against Allen tonight on the college floor, Wayne prep will give basketball fans of this community their first chance to see the game played under the new rules—without the center jump.

The first team clashes with Allen in the headliner of the evening. Two more games are also on the program. The Prep seconds meet the Allen reserves and the Prep junior high cagers play the Wayne public school junior high team.

With less than three weeks of drill behind them, Coach Bloss and his squad are counting on a fine opportunity to learn what the chief weaknesses are. Inexperience perhaps is the biggest handicap since the Preps have only one member of their great 1936-7 team back.

Different Brands of Publicity.

Omaha Journal Stockman: Now the governors of Maine and Idaho are arguing, for the benefit of the press, over their ability as potato "picker-juggers," the spud being a well advertised product of both commonwealths. Next we'll probably hear the executives of some of the southern states steaming up competition as to which can grow the best cotton.

At that nobody can blame them for trying to grab off some front page notoriety in this publicity-mad age. But we still favor the kind of glory Nebraska has been getting from ribbons taken by its producers of live stock and other farm crops, and the high rankings given its college judging teams and club demonstration groups in competition with representatives of other commonwealths. After all, as our grandmothers used to remind us, actions do speak louder than words and there's no boasting that will take the place of actual accomplishment.

Tremendous Strides.

Omaha World-Herald:—Germany, under fascism, has made tremendous strides in the last 10 years," Count Richard Roussy de Sales, American correspondent of a Paris newspaper, assured an Omaha audience the other evening.

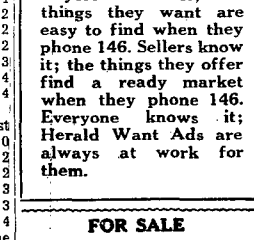

In the same issue of The World-Herald reporting his talk was a report from Berlin. It told that the German government will take children from the custody of their parents in the future if they are not brought up as good nazis.

"The law," decreed the court, "entrusts German parents with the right of bringing up their children only on the condition—which is self-evident even though not explicitly stated—that parents exercise this right in the manner the people and the state have a right to expect." They must be trained in "the belief and the conviction... that they are bound together with their racial comrades, by likeness in essential views."

Failure, refusal, means the children will be taken from their homes and reared as wards of the state, in the straitjackets the state elects to impose.

Undoubtedly this is a tremendous stride toward anything like liberty of mind and conscience. But it is a stride truly tremendous, toward mental and spiritual as well as physical serfdom.

"I'll Say There's A Santa Claus," Says
Handicapped Man As Break Comes

"I'll say there's a Santa Claus," declared Bennie Kay, 27-year-old Wayne young man, a victim of infantile paralysis, as he related the odd circumstances which have assured him of the opportunity to complete his education and secure a good position. About next Feb- ruary first, Bennie will enroll for the course in business administra- tion in the School of Commerce at Lincoln. Tuition and all except living and personal expenses will be provided by the State Department of Vocational Education, Divi- sion of Vocational Rehabilitation.

As another Christmas gift—it still seems like a dream, says Bennie—he will receive a new pair of braces. He will go to the Iowa state hospital at Iowa City some- time between Christmas and New Year to have a set made, and they'll be paid for by the same State Department of Vocational Education. Bennie needs the braces badly because the old ones are in bad shape, and he'll be able to get around much better with new ones.

How and why did all of this good fortune smile on Bennie at this time, seemingly out of a cloudy sky? Well, Bennie says he was lucky. And after years of pain and hospitals and discouragement, followed by more years of scrap- ping along trying to get an educa- tion and doing a variety of jobs to earn a livelihood, he's as tickled as a boy with a new bicycle.

Here's the way it all happened: On the day before Thanksgiving Richard W. Cockburn, field agent for the State Department of Vocational Education, while stopping at the Stratton hotel, was speak- ing to E. O. Stratton about the work of his department. Mr. Stat- ton suggested Bennie Kay as a deserving candidate for education- al aid.

Thanksgiving was really a day of thanksgiving for Bennie. Mr.

California custom, said Thomas, judging from the stack of dealer plates in possession of the officials. Mr. Thomas, accompanied by Pete Petersen of Wayne, was in Las Vegas, Nev., on business, from there the two continued to Albu- querque, N. M., where Thomas visited his cousin, Raymond Cur- tis. Youngest Member of Byrd Expedition To South Pole Praises Rear Admiral Realizing a childhood desire, Raymond Mercola, who traveled to the auditorium Thursday morning to attend the Wayne public schools, is the youngest member to accompany Byrd on his expedition to the Antarctic.

Mr. Mercola was just returning from a long trip which took him to many countries and was on his way to Chicago, his home, when he chanced to read about the expedition being planned by Rear Admiral Richard Byrd in 1939. He was 17 years old at that time, but it was determined to make the trip. By the time his application was sent in, there were already 9,000 applicants and it was reported that all applicants be 21.

Regardless of the age requirement, Mercola applied, passed the examination but failed when officials asked to see his birth certificate.

Determined to join Byrd, undaunted, Mr. Mercola was

"Eleanor Bolling." He assumed the name of Mr. Dobson, gave his age as 25, and secured a job. He was now a member of the Byrd expedition and the youngest member of the group. He concealed his secret until he returned to the United States.

Upon joining the expedition, each person had to sign four contracts, which required that he receive a penny a month; he have no cameras as Byrd was under contract to National Geographic magazine, give out news only to the New York Times which paper was helping to finance the trip, and nobody was responsible if a life was lost.

Ate Concentrated Food.

The expeditioners ate concentrated food and practically all the meat available was white meat and seals. About five days out on their long expedition they were caught in a storm and their water became mixed with salt water. For days they were forced to drink lime water. They met some whalers and traded food for drinking water. At "Little America," they melted ice and snow for drinking water.

Soon the explorers' compass began to show they were nearing the South pole and they approached the ice pack. There are only two months in the year, January and February, when the ice is broken enough in that section to cross. It is many feet thick and there are high walls of snow. They went ashore and rather than a place suitable for establishing Little America, on a huge ice pack, 150 miles from land.

Huskies or dogs were used for carrying the supplies to the camp, "Little America." The party had to remain for almost a year until the ice broke so they could begin their return trip. The coldest temperature reached was 72 degrees below zero. When the thermometer dropped to 80 degrees below the men put grease on their faces to prevent cracking. The glare of the sun was so great on the snow that they were forced to wear colored glasses.

Six Camps Established.

The camp consisted of six divisions, 32 men, two radio towers and several dogs. Tunnels were built from camp to camp so the men could communicate with each other if the weather were bad.

During the six months of darkness at the South pole, time hung heavily on the hands of the men, so Admiral Byrd organized schools of aviation and other formal classes for the men. Entertainment depended upon the radio with which the men could communicate with their parents, and a Victrola. Victrola records at the beginning of the journey were many but by the time they reached "Little America," all were broken but "California, Here I Come," a record which almost drove the men crazy.

Finally conditions were favorable for Byrd's flight over the South pole. He took three other men and the flight took three days. During his flight he kept writing Florida to establish and verify statistics, particularly when he flew over its pole.

All Return Alive.

It was difficult on the return journey to break the ice and get through, but after a slow, tedious journey, all men returned to the United States alive. Two planes were left behind and were picked up when Byrd made his second expedition.

There is no life at the spot where "Little America" was established except for black and white penguins and seals.

Mr. Mercola cannot speak too highly of his faith in Admiral Byrd. He recalled how Byrd died into icy waters for one of the men who fell from the ship during the unloading. He also commented on the fact that all men would be unafraid to accompany the great explorer on another of his explorations.

London Letter

By ALFRED LARSON,
LONDON, ENGLAND.

London newspapers within the past few weeks have devoted much space to the Anglo-U. S. trade treaty which has been discussed in official circles for almost two years. I note in the New York Times that the interest is not confined to Britain. A few observations with reference to the British point of view seem to be in order.

I venture to say that rarely has the British lion looked toward America with so much pining. The government appears eager to effect some kind of an agreement and to plead with the dominion governments to fall in line.

A few discordant coterie are heard from little lions who feel that too large concessions will be made. Objectors cite figures showing that in 1935 Britain imported from the U. S. duty-free goods worth twice as much as the duty-free goods which the U. S. imported from Britain, and that last year the value of all U. S. exports to Britain was more than three times as great as the value of British exports to the U. S. In view of such figures they deplore that there is so much discussion of what Britain will have to concede and so little of what she can get.

The government and the press reply in sentences such as these: "Such an agreement . . . cannot fail to have effect . . . far transcending the immediate material benefits to the contracting parties," and " . . . it is believed that important political results might ultimately follow the conclusion of a treaty binding the two countries more closely economically."

In a new book, "Together We Stand," Leonard J. Reid affirms that Anglo-American co-operation will provide "the key to prosperity and stability," and insists that America must not be permitted to drift back into complete isolation. Given such isolation, he asks " . . . would Britain be altogether happy in facing a Europe where the dictators are keenly watching the financial impotence of France

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for December 8, 1921:
Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury, language instructor at Wayne college for 20 years, died December 5, 1921, at the home of her brother, Dr. B. N. Kingsbury, in Ithaca, N. Y.
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dale December 5, 1921.
Wayne Woman's club cleared $600 from a bazaar and supper. The money will be used to help pay for the opera house.
Miss Hattie Crockett resigned as Wayne grade teacher because of ill health.
When Miss Helen Blair was going into a home at Norfolk she was robbed of money by a stranger.
Miss Whitney of Carroll, lost $100 when in Norfolk. The money was taken from the streets.
Wayne city council is considering a proposition to pave law with John Erhardt of Stanton.

Harry Tharp writes that his regiment has gone into winter quarters in Vermont after serving in the Spanish-American war.
Thomas Hayes and Miss Emma Sala were married in Wayne December 2, 1921.
R. H. Johansen is pumping water into a large artificial lake.
From the early history of Dixon county published by the Ponca Journal, December 3, 1881: In 1856 when the first company of adventurous spirits located here the Indians were not present in such numbers as to render themselves dangerous.
Among those who came in 1856 were John Stough and his brothers, C. H. Putnam, E. Arnold, John McKinley, Michael and William Gillan, Patyick Dailey, Robert McKenna, Dan Donlin and John Pashal.
In 1859 N. S. Porter, C. W. Todd, E. M. Bisbee and a few others arrived. Then Dixon county had about 100 whites and Ponca was a thriving city of 20. Dixon county, first a part of Dakota county, was organized separately in 1858.
Settlement was slow for a few years afterward. The Indian outbreak of 1862 drove some away. However, after that settlement developed fast.

Basketball Game Played On Friday

Winside and Carroll Bands To Present Musical Program Here, Thursday.

Winside high school basketballers will play the lid off the 1937-8 season Friday night when they will journey to Hartington for a game with the Holy Trinity quintet. Hartington has a veteran team and the visiting team will need to play their best if they expect to bring back a victory.

Coach E. T. Jordan has indicated that Winside's probable starting line-up will include Don Weible and Arnold Nurnberg at the forward positions, Hansen at center, and Waldron Weible and Don Wacker at the guard posts. The reserve teams will also engage in combat, so that a total of 12 to 15 boys will accompany Coach Jordan on the first trip of the season.

The Winside boys will feature a short-pass offense coupled with a modified zone defense. The new rules will do much to speed up play and give the spectators more action during the course of a game. Incidentally, it will also necessitate that players be in first class condition for play.

The Winside and Carroll music departments will present a joint concert this afternoon at 2 o'clock and this evening at 8 in the high school auditorium.
