

Civil War Veteran To Have Birthday
A. J. Hyatt, Wayne county's only Civil War veteran, will be 92 years old February 1. Until his health began to fail about a year ago Mr. Hyatt was well and active. Many younger persons marvelled at what he could do. He walked from his home near the college down town once or twice a day, even in cold, stormy weather and usually wore only a suit coat.

Mr. Hyatt has lived in Wayne since 1881. He had enlisted in the Civil War service from Iowa and was in the infantry until the close of the war.

Mr. Hyatt's wife died about eight years ago. He has two sons, Bert of Wayne, and Alvin of Omaha, Ia., and one daughter, Mrs. Dolly Seagrigh of Seattle, Wash.

Peculiar Growth Of Corn Raised
Walter Meyer found a peculiar corn ear when husking at his farm northeast of Wayne this fall. Outside of a fully developed ear of corn was a second layer of corn from the base up around the ear about half way. The second layer of corn seemed to be a different variety from that on the cob.

To Move To Concord.
Harry Stapleton who plans a farm sale in February, with Roy E. Johnson in charge, will move into Concord.

NUMBER FORTYTWO

Record Of Labor Conditions Given
Wayne county has 200 unemployed, 108 working on W. P. A. and 159 partly employed, according to a report from Lincoln. Nearby counties have the following: Dixon, 247 unemployed, 110 working on W. P. A. and 231 partly employed; Cedar, 223 unemployed, 128 on W. P. A. and 260 partly employed; Cuming, 230 unemployed, 76 on W. P. A. and 186 partly employed; Pierce, 216 unemployed, 182 on W. P. A. and 208 partly employed; Stanton, 171 unemployed, 101 on W. P. A. and 138 partly employed; Thurstun, 373 unemployed, 431 on W. P. A. and 217 partly employed.

Is Transferred To Burt County
M. B. Surber, who has been in charge of the work division of the W.P.A. projects at Pender, has been transferred to Burt county with headquarters at Tekamah. He and Mrs. Surber will maintain their residence in Pender until spring.

Northeast Editors Elect New Officers
New officers of the Northeast Nebraska Editorial association chosen at the winter meeting in Norfolk last Friday are: President, Boyd Von Seggern, West Point; vice president, J. E. Haug, Meadow Grove; secretary-treasurer, Guy Spencer, Pilger; directors, Ted Buerkle, Plainview, and Byron Murray, Pender.

Army Lieutenant To Go To Islands
Lieut. George W. Childs, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Childs of Belden, formerly of Wayne, has been ordered to the Philippine islands early next spring. Lieut. Childs was graduated with honors from West Point academy last spring and is now stationed at Fort Houston, Texas.

Card of Thanks.
I wish to express my appreciation to my many friends and neighbors for the flowers, gifts, and cards sent during my recent illness.
Mrs. Cloval West.

Students In Home Mechanics Show Art Possibilities
The possibilities of making a small investment grow with the home have been demonstrated by Prof. E. J. Huntermer, instructor of industrial arts at the Wayne State Teachers college. Prof. Huntermer took his class in home mechanics through his home Friday morning pointing out to the girls what can be done with a small investment. The Huntermer residence has been remodeled almost entirely by Mr. Huntermer.

The instructor stressed the importance of using a certain period and carrying it through. The Huntermer home has beamed ceilings and Mr. Huntermer has tried to make furniture which is in keeping with the period. Open bookcases which flank either side of the fireplace are contained in a heavy material. Furniture is in keeping with the beamed-ceiling period.

The downstairs bedroom is furnished in walnut with a vanity dresser, bed and desk all made by Prof. Huntermer. Leather furniture is used in the den. A unique feature of the leather davenport which was made by Mr. Huntermer is the manner in which the back can be let down and the piece of furniture converted into a bed.

Unique Bedrooms.
The envy of almost any girl is the room of Miss Marcella Huntermer. The furniture is of black cherry which formerly was used in the fixtures of the Citizen's National bank. The features of the bed and dresser are very unique. Two large drawers have been cut into the foot of the bed, and the head of the bed is designed for a bookcase. The dresser resembles a chest of drawers with a large mirror in the front. The secret of the design is the manner in which the mirror can be raised, a sliding shelf pulled out, and the chest converted into a very convenient dressing table. A novel design has been worked out which is used in the bed, desk, chair and dresser.

Mr. Huntermer pointed out that great care must be taken in converting old wood into new articles. The pieces must be matched and glued very carefully and all holes filled.

Another room, the furniture of which is still under construction, is being designed especially for Jean. It is a typical boy's room with its very modern desk, and modernly designed furniture. One part of the desk may be swung around, making a convenient typewriter stand. A bookcase cut into the wall also revolves showing a storage closet back of it. A fireplace, very low modern bed and another bookcase have also been constructed of latest design for the bedroom.

An antique alcove in the hall on second floor reveals a beautiful old table which was the first parlor table of former President U. S. Conn of the Wayne State Teachers college, and his wife. Three small and graceful looking chairs were former possessions of Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury, former German teacher at the college. An old organ adds to the beauty and simplicity of the alcove.

The upstairs rooms have all been designed by Prof. Huntermer. It has all been done in the last 15 years, having originally been an open garret.

Of interest in the dining room is the old radio cabinet which has been converted into a china closet. The top lifts, revealing a shelf for silver ware.

Kitchen Conveniences.
The modern kitchen illustrates

Brenna Meeting Is Held In School
Brenna get-together at the school in district 81 last Thursday evening was attended by about 150 who enjoyed the program presented. Victor Knesche presided and the numbers were as follows: Guitar solo, Marian Frabm; numbers by rhythm band from district 81, with the teacher, Miss Lucille Erickson sponsor, Nadine Baird director and Arlene Sodine accompanist; song, "My Baby's Kiss," Dolores Harper, accompanied by Miss Beth Whistman; readings, "Junior's First Date," Bonnie Jo Martin; musical reading, "My Rheumatiz," Kenneth and Nadine Baird accompanied by Dorothy Baird; one-act play, "School Days," young folks of district 57, Archie Wert, Mabel and Albert Gamble, Edna Baier, Ruth Wert, Harold and Pearl Thompson; concertina music, Fred Smith; guitar solo, Maylan Frabm; one-act play, "The Remnant at Paradise Hall," by B. C. project club, characters taken by Mrs. Charles Martin, Mrs. Fred Baird, Mrs. Harry Baird and Mrs. F. I. Moses.

Agent Walter Moller showed films on terracing and tree planting. He conducted an election of an advisory committee to act with the farm bureau. On this are Mrs. Earl Wade and Wm. Woelker. Alfred Sydow explained the program the farm bureau sponsors.

Refreshments were served by the Brenna soil conservation committee, 4-H leaders, project leaders and Mrs. Moses.

The plan is to have each precinct hold a get-together before February 15 to select an advisory committee to act with the farm bureau in the soil conservation program.

every household convenience. Clothes chutes, dual chutes and an indoor incinerator are a few of the foot saving aids. Ample cupboard space has been provided.

Basement Living Room.
The basement living room or "cavern" with its rustic fireplace is a very cozy room. Many oddities and antiques find a resting place in the Huntermer cavern. An old gun has been wired, making an interesting lamp with a soldier's helmet for a shade.

The center ceiling light has been transformed from the switch bottom which was used by T. W. Moran. Other curios include elk and buffalo horns which were picked up near O'Neil, Lincoln, basket formerly belonging to Dr. J. J. Williams, coffee grinder once used by John G. Nebelard, and a cow bell which was in the possession of Prof. I. H. Britell.

Prof. Huntermer has a picture of his father's birthplace in Wisconsin, taken 80 years ago. Several years ago the Huntermer were in Wisconsin and visited the family home. The home was still standing but the roof had been removed. Mr. Huntermer took a picture of the home as it was, then, showing the change which time has wrought.

Prof. Huntermer has one wall of guns which he has collected. Among them is the gun of former President Conn, and another from Germany which belonged to Dr. Valentine Huntermer.

For people who dislike getting out of their cars to open garage doors, Prof. Huntermer has perfected an automatic system of opening which occurs when the bumper of the car touches a lever on the outside of the double doors.

Nearly all of the furniture in the home has been made by Prof. Huntermer. He has also done all of the floor and wall finishing.

Rural Routes Out Of Wayne Are To Be Reorganized Soon

Old Railroad Bond Received At Dixon Bank
A 20-year $1,000 bond issued in 1876 by Dixon county to the old Covington, Columbus and Black Hills Railroad company was received at the Bank of Dixon county Monday of last week. This is the same railroad company that built a grade to LaPorte which was never completed.

The bond, number 49, was sent for possible collection by the First National bank of Mansfield, La. As originally issued it was to draw 10 percent interest and 16 of the 20 $50 coupons are still attached to it. Interest was payable at the first of January and July. The paper is signed by E. M. Bisbee who was then county clerk and W. H. Clark at that time chairman of the county commissioners. It was certified and audited by the secretary of state and was paid to the C. & B. H. R. R. and in turn was assigned by the president, A. N. Hubbard, to the holder.

The history of this early railroad dates back to the discovery of gold in the Black Hills. With the rush of people to that region the agitation for a railroad through Dixon county took on new vigor. At a meeting of the county commissioners held November 24, 1875, a group of Sioux City and other groups headed by J. B. Hubbard of Manitoba, Minn., agreed to construct a railroad into Dixon county if the county would make them $87,000 in 20-year, 10-percent coupon bonds, $29,000 of said bonds to be paid when the grading of the right-of-way was completed to the center section line of range 5, the remainder to be paid when grade was completed three miles into the county and thence running, all work to be completed in 15 months.

A narrow gauge railway was built and the $87,000 in bonds were turned over in September, 1876. The service on the railroad was poor and the county claimed that it had been willfully defrauded by poor and non-standard equipment and in 1876 payment was stopped on the coupons. Action was brought against them in U. S. circuit court and finally carried to the U. S. supreme court where in 1884 a decision in favor of the county was handed down. Previously Cedar and Knox counties had burned their bonds.

Appoint Committees For New Club Term
Committees for the new term were announced by L. E. Brown, new president, at the Young Business Men's meeting Wednesday night of last week. The secretary, E. B. Dwyer, gave the report of the last term. The Christmas committee also reported on the season's activities.

Dr. W. A. Emery was present as a new member.

Dinner at the Hotel Stratton preceded the meeting.

Estimate Is Fixed.
Dixon county board estimated expenses for the year at $92,002. This is $9,000 higher than the year before.

This route will be 40 miles in length. On it are 139 patrons.

Route Two, to be carried by W. J. Thielman, goes south 2,625 miles, east 1 mile, south 3, east 1, south 1, east 1, north 1, east 1, north 1, east 1, south 1, east 1, north 1, west 1, south 1, west 2, north 3, east 1, north 1, east 1, north 1, west 1, south 1, west 2, north 3, east 1, and south 375. The route is 44 miles long. It has 164 patrons.

Route Three, with Albert Eastman as carrier, starts north 1,375 miles to the VonSeggern corner, north 5 miles, north 2, east 1, north 1, east 1, north 1, east 1.

Wayne To Enter Speaking Events

Wayne is one of 22 schools which will have teams entered in Midland college's 12th annual forensics tournament, scheduled to open at Fremont Thursday afternoon and continue through Saturday morning. Each school will be represented by two teams.

Subject to debate will be "Resolved that the several states should enact a system of unicameral legislation." The winning team will receive a silver trophy, while the outstanding speaker in the championship contest will receive a $200 scholarship to Midland.

Silver trophies will also be awarded winners of the after-dinner and impromptu speaking contests to be held in connection with the tournament. "Table Etiquette" will be the theme for the after-dinner contest, while the impromptu contest for the extemp event will be "The High School Student's Opinion."

Improving Slowly.
Mr. Albert Anderson of near Wayne who has been ill since before Christmas with scarlet fever and arthritis, is improving slowly.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to thank all of those who showed us kindnesses during our recent illness.
Norma and Vernelda Meyer.

Their Training IS IMPORTANT TO YOU

It is important to you as a telephone user, that telephone employees receive thorough training in doing their jobs skillfully, efficiently and courteously, and in meeting the needs and wishes of telephone users.

Telephone employees are carefully selected and trained for all the many jobs which together provide telephone service.

The 18 men who are presidents of the various Bell System companies throughout the country received such training. They started telephone work in such jobs as clerk, repairman, night operator and cable splicer's helper.

In furnishing you telephone service, this Company combines the advantages of being part of a nationwide telephone system with the benefits of home-grown management and home-town employees. Such a combination enables us to serve you better and at less cost than otherwise would be possible.

WATCH TWO NEW FORD CARS

Go By

• Ford was the first to give you economy in an automobile.

Ford was also first in giving you V-8 performance at low cost.

For 1938, the Ford Motor Company gives you still greater value with two new Ford V-8 cars—each specially designed to meet a particular need.

The new De Luxe Ford V-8 lifts low-price motoring to new levels of luxury. De Luxe in appearance and appointments. De Luxe in performance, too, because of its 85-horsepower V-8 engine. The longer sedan bodies have more room and more luggage space.

The new Standard Ford V-8 is built on the same 112-inch wheelbase as the De Luxe Ford. Newly designed. Choice of two engine sizes—85 horsepower or 60 horsepower. More than 300,000 people have purchased the thrifty "60." Many owners reported 22 to 27 miles a gallon. See your Ford dealer for a demonstration.

London Letter

By ALFRED LARSON,
LONDON, ENGLAND.

January 17, 1938.
The London police, familiarly known as bobbies, excite much favorable comment from foreign visitors. If visitors are asked what impresses them most about London, they will probably say the bobbies. This pleases some natives and amuses others. Some are led to speculate about a person's sense of values when he gives such an ordinary answer to such an ordinary question. Whatever the native's reaction to a foreigner's comment may be, it is clear that Londoners are universally proud of their admirably efficient police force. Possibly they appreciate the bobbies the more because foreign comment suggests that they are for some reason better than police in foreign cities.

Various attributes explain the bobby's popularity. They are unfailingly courteous. They give directions and answer all sorts of questions with never a suggestion of impatience. There is no forbidding reserve about the London bobbies. Particularly noticeable is their youth. Probably there are some elderly policemen in the various stations about town, but the policemen on duty on the streets are all young.

The recurring ages for both city and metropolitan police are 20-25. The city, as I explained in an earlier letter, is the ancient section of London, about a square mile in area. City police recruits must be six feet tall, have a chest measurement of 37 inches, and weigh 154 pounds. The metropolitan police have jurisdiction over all the rest of London, and are consequently far more numerous than the city police. City and metropolitan police look alike except for their wrist bands: red and white for city police, and black and white for metropolitan. Both wear dark blue uniforms and helmets. The metropolitan police have a height minimum of five feet nine inches.

Fat policemen are extremely rare. Before the war city policemen averaged between 210 and 225 pounds, but they are slimmer now. Various explanations are offered. It is said that there are more lecturers on the force now. Another suggestion is that recruits of the present day were war babies who began life on rationed food.

London police are retired on pension at the end of 30 years' service. They begin regular work at $15 a week. At the end of 30 years they are drawing between $23 and $25 a week. They are then pensioned at two-thirds of what they were drawing at retirement.

London policemen do not carry guns. They are given guns only at rare occasions when they are sent to arrest someone who is known to have a gun. Without guns the police of course cannot stop a fleeing person with shots in the air, as American cops sometimes do. London police rarely have to contend with criminals equipped with guns. Firearms are extremely highly guarded and are carefully registered. This helps to explain why last year the U. S. with three times the population of Great Britain had six times as many violent deaths.

A bobbie does carry a substantial club, called a truncheon, out of sight in a special pocket under his coat tail. Communists who last autumn tried to break up a fascist march learned that a few thousand bobbies with bouncing bilies are a formidable force.

Strapping policemen are seen on west end streets. Rumor has it that they are much feared by certain types of women lawbreakers.

No doubt the largest single task of London policemen is traffic regulation. There is far too much traffic for the narrow streets, and many bobbies are needed to supplement the traffic lights.

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for January 25, 1922.
Charles Lindt, 64, died at Wakefield January 21, 1922.
Leo Reinhold and Mrs. Hazel Embree of Atlanta, were married January 18, 1922.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Felber January 24, 1922.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hollman January 21, 1922.

A radio concert presented from the Wayne college campus was heard as far distant as 100 miles. Miss Fernie and Miss Frances Omsang, and Prof. W. C. Hunter and a string quartet played. Pierce, Neleigh and Norfolk reported that the concert came in well.

Dr. U. S. Conn, Prof. Chas. Chinn and Prof. John Gray had the privilege of listening to church services from Pittsburgh over wireless phones. President Harding was listening to the same service.

John McFarland, 70, former resident of Wayne and husband of Minnie Gamble, died January 15, 1922, in Cleveland, Ohio.
Charles Goueham and Miss Ruth Hanson of near Pender, were married January 19, 1922.
Walter Maas of Hoskins, underwent an operation in a Norfolk hospital.

Miss Leontia Eckert and Ernest Machmuelier of Hoskins, were married in January, 1922.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chet Miller of Spokane, Wash., January 10, 1922.
Miller is the former Miss Nettie Jones of Carroll.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Reinhold of Wausate, January 21, 1922.
Mrs. Mabel Holcomb was burned on the hands and face when some gasoline she was heating in a pan of hot water exploded at the hotel in Wausate.

Rachel Bard, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bard of Wakefield, died January 17, 1922.
Delbert Laxson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Larson of Wakefield, died January 20, 1922.

From the Wayne Herald for January 30, 1902: The heavy fall of snow is ideal for sleighing. . . A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hufford January 21, 1902. . . An exhibition of wireless telegraphy will be given at the college chapel. . . An effort will be made to have a post office established at the new siding between Carroll and Randolph. . . D. L. Chambers, 71, died near Laurel, January 18, 1902. . . A. G. Hausman died January 23, 1902. . . Hiram Oman died January 24, 1902, at the age of 34. . . The three mail routes will have 150 patrons and W. H. Hoguewood has a handsome new wagon to use on his route. . . Fire started near the stove in the C. W. Long drug store at Wakefield, burning a hole in the floor and letting the stove fall through. . . The home of Peter Eich in Bruma caught fire on the roof. Mrs. Eich was alone so she ran to the school and with the help of Miss Anna Ryan, teacher, and pupils carried water up a ladder and put the blaze out. . . W. E. Brown, P. L. Miller, B. F. Swan, J. H. Pingrey, J. G. Miller and J. W. Bartlett were elected officers of the Wayne National bank.

From the Ponca Journal for January 30, 1879: A number went to Sioux City to hear Bob Burdette lecture. . . The roads are dry, hard and first rate, making travel a pleasure. . . The herd law was debated at Powder Creek school and the general opinion opposed such a law. . . S. J. Jones of Silver Creek precinct sowed 30 acres to wheat this week and others are doing the same thing. If the weather remains favorable the crop will be sowed in two weeks, and eastern people are going around on runners.

PUR-A-TENE ON THE BAG
MEANS MORE EGGS IN THE BASKET

WHEN you buy laying feed this year, look for the words "containing Pur-a-tene" on the bag. This means that your feed has been stepped up for more eggs, for healthier hens and increased poultry profits.

Pur-a-tene supplies the vitamin A that has long been lacking in poultry rations. Experiments have shown that where sufficient vitamin A was furnished, egg production was increased 15 per cent over pens that did not receive sufficient vitamin A. Enough Pur-a-tene has been added to each bag of Purina Lay Chow and Purina Layer's to step up 2 1/2 times in vitamin A activity. Think what this means in increased egg production and improved health!

Step up your poultry profits this year by feeding Purina. See us for today's prices!

Funeral Rites Held On Monday

Mrs. Harry L. Hornby Passes Away Friday Following Short Illness.

Funeral services were held Monday at 1:30 from the home and 2 o'clock from the Methodist church for Mrs. Harry L. Hornby who passed away at her home here Friday following a three week's illness. Rev. A. E. Fowley of Belton and Gaebler & Neely were in charge. Music was furnished by the Methodist quartet composed of Mrs. Alva Neely, Mrs. Edwin Ulrich, Iva Morris and C. L. Imel. Mrs. A. T. Chapin was accompanist.

Katharine Irene Jones was born at Trenton, N. Y., November 1, 1861 and passed away January 21 at the age of 76 years, 2 months and 20 days. When six years of age she came with her parents to Leon county, Ia., and while there her mother and only brother passed away.

Mrs. Hornby came with her father to Winside in 1892 and shortly after her arrival she joined the Methodist church. She was married September 26, 1904 to Harry L. Hornby. The couple lived on a farm 3 1/2 miles south of Winside, and it was there that her father passed away December 5, 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Hornby later moved Venango, Neb., where they remained for nine years before returning to Winside where they had lived since.

Deceased is survived by her husband, five sisters, Mrs. Mary Long of Huron, S. D., Mrs. Maggie Jones of Emerson, Ia., Mrs. Anna Jones of Carroll, Mrs. Tillie Griffith of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Eunice Jones of Omaha. One sister, Mrs. Sue Wilson, preceded her in death. She also is survived by many nieces and nephews.

All of the sisters were here for the funeral except Mrs. Long of South Dakota. Other relatives here were two nieces of Kansas City, Ed. Long and Mrs. Millie Davis of Huron, S. D., and two nephews from Red Oak, Ia.

Funeral home was C. E. Needham, Herman Floor, G. A. Mittelstadt, H. C. Trautwein, Fred Miller and Wm. Brune.

SEMESTER IN HIGH SCHOOL IN PLACE OF CIVICS

Thirtyfour students have registered for the class which is being taught by E. L. Jordan.

Grades Seven and Eight.

The eighth grade made maps of Winside showing the paving districts, names of streets and important buildings.

The hygiene class made drawings Tuesday showing how well water could become polluted.

The eighth grade English class took tours over different parts of the United States Tuesday and Wednesday. Merlin Benschhof discussed Arizona; Jack Neely, the "Golden State"; and Irene Christensen, "Ten Thousand Lakes."

Jack Neely and Billy Cary are the leaders of the contest teams for the first six weeks of the second semester. In the history ball game Monday, Billy Cary's side won 10 points and Jack's, two.

Mrs. E. P. Wendt visited the seventh and eighth grade room Friday morning.

The art class cut out baskets and filled them with red apples. James Miller visited classes Thursday afternoon.

The seventh and eighth grades are having a ping pong tournament. First rounds were played Friday night.

The eighth grade English class made models of four kinds of shelter tents Thursday. Short illustrated talks were given, using graphs, relief maps, diagrams, magazine illustrations and pictorial maps.

The Hobby club met Friday afternoon with the new president, Merlin Benschhof, in charge. Minutes were read and approved.

Grades Five and Six.

Francis Nelsen was absent a day and a half last week, due to illness. Ann Noreen Loeback was absent also.

Both grades made birds of construction paper for art class last week.

LeRoy Wittler brought scales to school Thursday so students could check their monthly weight.

The sixth grade finished reading the story of "The Lost Poacher" the middle of last week. Each pupil drew a picture of the ship, "Mary Thomas," as a part of the exercises at the end of the story. Walter Gaebler and Freddie Loeback made excellent drawings.

Both the fifth and sixth grades had tests in arithmetic Thursday and Friday. The sixth grade is learning the four operations with decimals while the other grade is working fractions.

The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades are learning the "Swiss Song" in music class.

Jolly Worker's club met Friday with the new officers in charge. President LeRoy Wittler named the following monitors for the ensuing week: Walter Gaebler, Louise Weible, Norris Hansen and Lauretta Mae Fisher. The editors for the next Jolly Worker's magazine were named as follows: Editor-in-chief, Louise Weible; secretary, Betty Lou Weible; treasurer, Walter Gaebler; art and music, LeRoy Wittler; cartoons, Norris Hansen; jokes and puzzles, Lennie Mae Boring; sports, Freddie Loeback; library notes, Betty Lou Weible; club reporter, Arlene Cary; interesting news, Ann Noreen Loeback; school news, Lauretta Mae Fisher; news-boy, Francis Nelsen; advertising manager, Walter Gaebler and Arlene Cary.

Third and Fourth Grades.

The fourth grade studied about "Pablo," a boy who lives in the Philippines. They also have studied about coconut trees. Jackelyn Wendt brought a coconut for the boys and girls to see and gave each a sample of the coconut meat.

For opening exercises the pupils are reading a book about Chester Gump in the "Pole to Pole Flight." Jack Swanson brought the book for reading.

Mrs. E. P. Wendt and Mary Ann visited the room Friday afternoon.

Primary News.

Thursday and Friday the second grade reviewed all the stories which have been read in the reading book.

Mrs. E. P. Wendt and Mary Ann and Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Hilpert visited the room last week.

First graders are memorizing poems in language class.

Second graders are learning to write and count from 100 to 200.

CHAPTER IX—Continued. So, the boatmen, arguing in whispers. Start above them, river mist enshrouded them. "Hold! I see!" Basile, standing, could catch the boom of the lodge against ghostly birch trunks. "Ay! We arrive!" The canoe grated the sand and it was Annette's foot that first trod the bank. "Rodney?" Her voice, that pinched and shrill, like the cry of some hurt bird. It made the men mutter. "Rodney... Oh, Rodney!" Her call caught in a sob as she went forward, and then she gasped, "Here! Basile!" She was on her knees beside him, as they pressed about, her palms on his cheeks. "Rodney! Rodney! We have come! Can you not hear? ... Oh, he lives!" She sat there, feverishly chafing his wrists as the remains of fire were found, as lusty breaths blew life into the ash-covered coals. Shaw turned his head and moaned heavily. "We cannot all return with him," Basile mumbled. "Return? With him?" Annette, hands busy with Shaw's shirt, questioned in contempt. "When the spark in him is duller than the spark was in the fire? You'd carry those coals back to the fort to bring life? No... Here! I know. From my aunt, I have learned much." She taught them much, those awed and bungling men. They brought boughs and built a bed. They carried robes from the Indian lodge to cover it. They pegged a blanket to the ground and secured its other edge to a pole held lashed to two saplings to shelter him; on the opposite side of the fire they raised another blanket to throw the heat against his couch. This much they knew how to do. Rocks were rolled into the fire to warm at Annette's order, his leggings and moccasins stripped off and hard hands set to chafing the flesh, as cold as the flesh of the dead. But he was not dead; not yet. From time to time he moaned lightly. Carefully, tenderly, Annette soaked the bloodied shirt from his skin and bared the gaping wound on his back and its companion close to where neck and chest joined. She straightened, still on her knees. A hand went within her gown, in against her bosom. Her fingers twined and she tugged, ripping out tatters of soft cloth, soft and clean from washing, clean and warm from her clean, warm body. She pressed them against the wounds, holding them close, calling out to him that she would stay the ebbing life, that she had arrived in time. For an hour she sat so, Shaw's head in her lap, pressing the cloths that had been her garments against the bleeding wounds. Then, satisfied, she bound them close and turned him to his back. Heated stones were wrapped in skins and placed at his feet and his sides; the fire was kept going with meticulous steadiness. At first Shaw was restless, mumbling, trying to turn, to shove himself erect, but Annette called out to him, held him close, telling him that to move would start the bleeding afresh. He gave no evidence of hearing, of understanding, but sank back and after a time slept heavily. Yes, she remembered much from those heedless days when life was life and there was no death; when her old aunt went about, caring and curing, and muttering betimes because a girl's thoughts could only be of light, inconsequential affairs. Another, that must have been; another to be so heedless. It was she, Annette, her true self, who had remembered what, tonight, stood her so weakly at the moment. Two men put out for the fort to fetch a tent and blankets and utensils and the dozen other items which Annette demanded. And to deliver orders, which were at length by Basile, when they were gone Basile, turning to her, said: "Ma'm'selle must rest. I will watch." "Rest?" — startled. "Oh... rest," — contemptuously as though rest were the least important item beneath the stars. She did not rest. She moved away into the shadows. She was gone for long and Basile, bending to peer beneath the shelter, saw her on her knees under the birches, face uplifted, lips moving as she begged for aid...

CHAPTER X. Days, now, of desperate watching beside that pallet about which hovered the shadow of death. A tent was up, sheltering Rodney, its flaps wide to the fire. Another tent was pitched for the men and the stores but Annette, when she slept, slept on robes beside the trader. From the moment she stumbled on Rodney there in the darkness, she had assumed command. She arranged the camp, she announced the routine. Never before had those engages taken orders from a woman; but never, also, had they encountered a woman such as this. She did not direct them to do this or that without reason. She demonstrated that for such a task she was far better equipped than they, and they obeyed without dissenting look or word. Old Basile, when not thinking about his unconscious master, pondered deeply in his simple way on this girl. She had come to them from the company fort. From no other place could she have come. She had run along the lake shore and insisted on being brought here to serve Shaw when, the last time he had seen her, she was lavishing her arms and lips on Burke, Rickman! It was too much for the old fellow to fathom and he did not have in him the impulse to ask of her the questions which would relieve his perplexity. So long as she was of aid to Shaw, he was satisfied.

She sent men into the forest searching for the herbs her midwife aunt had used. Leaves and stalks to be cooked to pulp and banded over the gaping wounds in Shaw's flesh. (TO BE CONTINUED)
