

For World Peace and for the Spread of Human Liberty Rises in Dissatisfied Over Hitler Dictatorship

Whether justified by coming events or not, we do not know, but anyway, we do feel encouraged by resistance in the German army last week to Hitler's attempt to crush Christianity and spread paganism.

The German people have contributed and still contribute liberally to science and creative industry. They are traditionally religious.

Recent differences in the German army were sharpened and made manifest by the forced retirement of War Minister Von Blomberg because he married a carpenter's daughter.

Probably impelled by the opposition of all religions in dictation-ridden nations, magazine articles have appeared lately in discussing Christian and Jewish beliefs, and usually urging less emphasis on dogmas and rites, and more on a quest for spiritual truths and the way to live to realize them in the highest possible degree.

Playing False. The most despised characters in history and fiction are those that have played false. It is now a common practice in countries ruled by autocrats to employ cunning spies to help crush free expression.

Even in this country, we are told of surreptitious schemes to reveal the working of the human mind. However one may disagree with William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, few are so gross-minded that they can support the interception of his private messages by Washington official circuits a few years ago.

In Support of Conscience. In the course of an article in the Atlantic magazine, J. Donald Adams discusses the "Collapse of Conscience" and he shows how in this country worthy objectives are sometimes sought through methods that weaken human fiber and break down cherished standards.

Farm Course Is Considered

School Board Hears About Agricultural Work As New Addition

L. D. Clements, supervisor of agricultural education in the department of vocational education in Lincoln, addressed members of the Wayne school board Monday evening to interest them in establishing such a course in the local school.

Mr. Clements explained his discussion of vocational agriculture in the school, that the salary of the teacher in a school district is paid by the local district each paying 50 percent. He is on a 12 months salary.

The course in a high school gives practical work to farm boys and such a course, explained Mr. Clements, has been placed in many high schools. It is subsidized by the federal government under the Smith-Hughes act passed by congress in 1917.

Supr. E. W. Smith presented enrollment figures for the school. The grand total for the enrollment to date is 495, throughout the school present enrollment is 452. Due to moving, the number (Continued on page two.)

DENTAL SURVEY RECORD IS GOOD

Cooperation Has Brought Exceptional Results In School Project.

A survey of the Wayne schools Thursday by Dr. J. R. Thompson, director of dental hygiene of the state of Nebraska, revealed that more than 60 percent of the 90 percent of Wayne students who needed dental care, have received it. Dr. Thompson considered this a fine record.

In the Wayne public schools, the total enrollment in the first eight grades is 237 pupils. Care returned to the teachers signed by their dentists indicating that mouth care in a healthy condition number 142. From the Wayne college training school 99 out of 144 students in the first eight grades have returned their cards.

Dr. Thompson commented on the fine spirit of cooperation from the two school heads. Grade teachers are interested in improving the dental condition and are teaching the foods that build and maintain good teeth, mouth hygiene, and the importance of regular visits to dentists. He congratulated the teachers of Wayne schools for their interest.

Interest in dental hygiene for children was begun this year by members of the Mothers' Study club with Mrs. Otto Victor in charge. Mrs. G. B. Sanberg was later put in charge. It was conducted by the Kiwanis club which made a survey of underprivileged children and through donations from various other clubs each child was given opportunity to have dental care.

MOVE STARTED TO TEACH VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE HERE

An increasing demand for a course in vocational agriculture in the Wayne high school was emphasized Monday night when L. D. Clements of Lincoln appeared here to discuss the subject with the school board and others. Under the Smith-Hughes act—now nearly 10 years in operation—the federal government pays half the salary, pledged by a school district, and two-thirds of the gasoline used in traveling through the county. Under the head of this department, a student engages in class work, shop work and home-project work. A boy or girl from the country put into practical use what is learned at school, and the supervisor drives out occasionally to note progress and make suggestions. A three-year course is provided and the work counts in winning high school degrees. Eighty-six high schools in the state support the course and other—notably Wayne's neighbor, Wisner—are planning to install it. Wakefield, Randolph, Ponce, Laurel and West Point are northeast Nebraska towns that invite rural students to the disadvantage of Wayne. The cost is trivial in view of certain benefits, and Wayne, as an educational center, should not hang back in taking a step plainly in harmony with its surrounding area. The course dovetails with 4-H club activities and with the spirit of agricultural progress. Let due appraisal of advantage, government judgment and place the town's school on a par with others of its class.

Approve Plans For New Halls

Old And New Dormitory Bonds To Draw Three Percent Interest.

Contracts for new dormitories at Wayne and Kearney State Teachers colleges will be let March 12 when the state normal board convenes in Lincoln. Specifications have been accepted and the board will advertise for bids which will be opened at that date. Wayne's new dormitory for men, which will be located on the southeast corner of the campus, south of the industrial arts building, will cost $150,000. Chadron's will cost $140,000. Kearney is to have a new dormitory costing $150,000. The state is loaning the money for the three halls, the sum to be repaid from rentals. Interest rate was at first set at 3 1/2 percent, but this has been cut to 3 percent because other dormitory bonds have been refunded at that percent. On dormitories previously built Wayne still has $69,000 indebtedness. Kearney $99,000 and Chadron $64,500. Ane Chadron has borrowed an additional $15,000. These bonds, held by individual concerns, were drawing 3 1/2 percent interest until last week when they were refunded to the same holders at 3 percent. These bonds are being paid from rentals. Indebtedness on Pile Hall, Wayne dormitory, has been reduced from $105,000 in September, 1935 to $69,000 in January, 1938. The Wayne Dormitory association met Wednesday morning, J. L. Brittan is president and L. T. Good secretary.

To Offer Graduate Work

The state normal board at Lincoln Monday decided that teachers colleges of the state will be beginning in the summer of 1939, offer some field of study for graduate students wishing to comply with the new certification law, which goes into effect September 1, 1938. The law requires graduate study for renewal of certificates.

Old Pipe Displayed At Mines' Store

A very old pipe, belonging to L. Gramberg of Wayne, was on display at the Mines' Jewelry store last week. The pipe was purchased by Mr. Gramberg in Germany from a gypsy lad who said that the pipe had belonged to his great, great grandfather. The boy did not wish to sell but when Mr. Gramberg laid a month's salary before him he exchanged the pipe for the money. The pipe is hand carved showing very minutely cut reindeer, leaves and shaded background. It is about two feet long and the stem curves upward. Some of the reindeer's legs have been broken, but for its over century age, it has been very well preserved.

Five Are Named To Honor Society

Heart Sister Week Is Being Observed By School Girls Here.

New members to the National Honor society at Wayne high school were presented by Miss Anne Geisler at convocation Wednesday morning. Senior members are Evelyn Noakes, Roberta Baker, Leland Preston and Mildred Ringer, comprising 10 percent of the class. Each year five percent of the second semester junior class is chosen. Last year Betty Helen Ellis and Jim Kingston were elected. Kenneth Petersen, Margie Morgan and Betty Hawkins were chosen from the junior class this year. Students are elected to the society on a basis of scholarship, service, leadership, character and health by a faculty committee. Supt. E. W. Smith gave a short talk and Franklin Simonin played an instrumental solo. An octet, under the direction of Russell Widdoe, sang a number. Pep club elected the following officers at the meeting Tuesday of last week: President, Betty Hawkins; vice president, Marjorie Harrison; secretary-treasurer, Avonelle Lindsay; cheer leaders, Elaine Rhodes and Billy Hawkins. In the pep club contest in which sides have been chosen the whites are leading the blues. Points are earned by being present at the basketball games, tagging other students present, selling candy, attending out-of-town games, presenting stunts at rallies and games. Captain and secretary of the two sides are: Whites, Mildred Ringer and Marjorie Harrison; blues, Marjorie Hook and Dorothy Lutt. The winners will be entertained by the losers for the pep club party. Have "Heart Sister" Week. Most of the girls in the high school are taking part in "heart sister" week in which each girl has the name of another girl in the school and does something for her each day. Monday night the girls will have covered dish luncheon at which time the names will be announced. The event is being sponsored by the girls in Miss Mildred Barrett's home room with Evelyn Noakes as chairman. Mercedes Parsons, freshman, transferred to West junior high at Sioux City. THE KNOT-HOLE Vol. 5 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Feb. 10, 1938. No. 44. Certain-teed paints are manufactured for every purpose, and there is no better paint sold. Our prices are attractive and we have all kinds on hand to serve you every day wants. We heard of a wife who never started anything she couldn't finish. The other day she started her husband's car and she certainly finished that. Insurance Salesman: "Rastus, you had better let me write you an accident policy." Rastus: "No, sah! Ah ain't any too safe at home as it is." It is about time to start thinking of that spring building. Why pay for dirt and slate when you buy coal? Buy Harco "laundered coal". No dust, no dirt, no slate. It's all pure coal. A householder returning from out of town found a family of strangers occupying his home. It happened in Ohio but it sounds like North China. When you need machinery repairs and if they are made of wood, bring them in and let Carl make you new ones.

Notice of Incorporation. Notice is hereby given that Rollie Ley, John T. Bressler, Fred S. Berry, James E. Brittain, and Leonard F. Good, all of Wayne County, Nebraska, have associated themselves together for the purpose of forming and becoming a corporation under Article 15, Chapter 24, Compiled Statutes of Nebraska for 1929.

FIRST: The name of the corporation shall be WAYNE STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGE DORMITORY CORPORATION. SECOND: The principal place of transacting its business shall be located in the City of Wayne, Nebraska, or on the real property whereon said Wayne State Teachers' College is located, in the County of Wayne in the State of Nebraska.

THIRD: The general nature of the business to be transacted by the corporation shall be to erect, own, lease, furnish and manage any building, hall, dormitory or apartments, lands or grounds for the use of the Wayne State Teachers' College located at Wayne, Nebraska, and to lease from the Board of Education of State Normal Schools of the State of Nebraska such portions of the campus of said College as may be necessary to be used as sites for the construction of fire-proof buildings and for boarding, housing and student activity purposes, and to charge and receive as rentals or otherwise for the use thereof, a sum sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereon of the cost of the construction of said building or buildings, on the amortization plan, the buildings to be constructed to become the property of the State of Nebraska when the cost of construction has been paid; and to do all things necessary, incidental or convenient for the accomplishment of such purposes.

FOURTH: Said corporation shall have no capital stock, and shall pay no dividends or salaries to its incorporators or Board of Directors and Trustees, and its net income shall not inure, in whole or in part, to the benefit of its incorporators, or members, or any individual.

FIFTH: The time of the commencement of the corporation shall be the date of the filing of a copy of its articles of incorporation in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Nebraska, and it shall continue for a period of fifty years, when it shall terminate, unless its corporate existence shall be continued as provided by law.

SIXTH: The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation shall at any one time be subject may equal, but in no case shall exceed the value of the property owned by it.

SEVENTH: The affairs of the corporation are to be managed and conducted by a Board of five trustees, who shall constitute a Board of Directors for such corporation, and they shall have power to fill vacancies that may occur in their Board and shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified, and the original incorporators shall be such trustees and directors of the corporation at the time of its creation. The officers of said corporation shall be a president, vice president, and secretary and treasurer who shall be chosen by the board of Directors and who shall hold their offices for the period of one year and, until their successors shall be elected and qualified. The secretary and treasurer may be one and the same person.

In witness whereof, the undersigned have hereunto set their hands this 9th day of February 1938.

The Lincoln Character

THE FINE Lincoln character looms as the anniversary of his birth approaches. His public service in a great national crisis was free from malice or narrow self-seeking.

"Ours is a situation which calls for the magnanimity, the charity, the humorous tolerance which Lincoln displayed in the dread ordeal of an actual Civil War. It is a situation, too, which offers the democratic statesman a magnificent chance for his permanent place in history.

Encompassing A SERMON by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick

On "The Mystery of Life" sent to us by a friend, supports experience by the suggestion that life's mysteries deepen as years multiply.

Science and reasoning have removed many old superstitions and cleared some mysteries, but unfathomable mystery still remains and still baffles the sharpest intellects.

Senate Surprise

MARK SULLIVAN, columnist, has figured out that the senatorial prospect in the democratic party is turning just opposite from what was expected a year ago.

New Visitors At Capitol

THE SO-CALLED little business men who were in Washington last week, on invitation, to tell the president what ails the country probably didn't follow the rules of Washington diplomacy very closely.

Walter Locke, some years ago on the editorial staff of the Lincoln Journal, now editor in Dayton, Ohio, wrote recently of the growing popularity of Senator Burke of Nebraska as a leader in the democratic group trying to head off New Deal follies.

finds one Nebraska senator, a democrat, opposing a so-called democratic administration, and the other, a nominal republican, supporting the administration.

According to J. Edgar Hoover, authority on crime, this country is making criminals faster than it can cure them, and he points out that the tender age at which crime habits are manifested, shows main efforts at a remedy must be early applied in the home.

Dr. Ernst Antevs of the Carnegie Institute, Washington, has figured out a severe and long-continued drought for Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Idaho and California, but leaves the middle west out of the stricken area.

On proposed farm legislation, it would appear fair and reasonable for senate and house members from industrial centers to listen to representatives from agricultural areas and be influenced by them.

An understanding of America's superior opportunities for young persons and its high living standards should persuade anyone to resist the taint of either fascism or communism.

The recession will probably be just as effective as the depression in stimulating willingness to enter the political arena for public jobs this year.

Business Prospect.

American business will continue to move cautiously toward the still distant goal of prosperity, as long as full play of its resources is qualified with the disturbing variables of "politics."

If the Congress asserts its traditional prerogatives business will have substantial reason to hope for clarification and settlement of the great issues now before the country.

With leadership in every economic field forced to compromise with circumstances quite beyond its control, the charge that business has failed to rise to its opportunities is valid only when it is squared with the burden of doubt and fear to which it has been subjected.

An open mind contemplating what business can do within the framework imposed upon it by Government would immediately see the limitations to the full scope of activity. Regulation in ever increasing formalism is the order of the day.

The longest look ahead can reveal no solid expectation of gains in the indices of production and distribution which does not rest on the need for stabilization of public policy.

Records We're Not Proud Of.

A quarter of a century ago no one would ever have believed that this country would become an extensive importer of food.

Time brings changes, however, and according to the Department of Commerce, the statistics show that total meat imports for 1937 were at a new all-time record of 94,713,705 pounds or more than 8 million pounds in excess of the previous peak imports.

During the month of December imports of pork were 5,241,489 pounds, also an all-time record. The greatest corn and hog-producing country on earth became an extensive importer of pork products in the later months of last year.

Our foreign business for last year disclosed one very favorable feature, however, this country exporting 136,978,110 pounds of lard which was the largest amount sent out since 1934.

DROUGHTS.

History singles out 1864 as the worst drought year known in northeast Nebraska. For fifteen months—beginning late in the fall of 1863 and continuing until the spring of 1865—no rain fell.

UNSELFISHNESS.

Though unavoidable depression storms—aftermath of the war—were unjustly used to discredit Herbert Hoover when he retired from the White House, many still believed in his fine fibre and high purposes.

A thousand "little business men" met with President Roosevelt at Washington to discuss how to end the recession.

Farm Legislation.

Sam R. McKelvie in Nebraska Farmer:—We shall not renew our membership in the Farm Bureau this year. This is a matter of regret to us for several reasons.

We will find ways to help and work with our county agent and our neighbors just as we always have but it will not be under the banner of an organization that does not speak for the best interests of farmers.

The compulsory provisions contained in that bill are what we have been predicting for quite a long time. We have not enrolled under any of the AAA bills and our reason for it was that we have felt from the first that they could lead to but one thing: regimentation.

Industry Aids Humanity.

Omaha Journal Stockman:—In these days when it has apparently become popular to charge business and industry with deliberately bringing on the depression and increasing unemployment it is refreshing to have education and science come to the defense of commerce.

Nor has the invention and use of labor-saving machinery operated to the disadvantage of humanity. Machines have been mainly responsible for cutting down the working day to eight hours or less and in answer to charges that machines have thrown men out of work, the doctor cited statistics for the 60-year period from 1870 to 1930.

Without the aid of business men in all ages much of the cultural and humanitarian progress of mankind could never have been achieved or maintained and the man of affairs is entitled to his full share in the credit of these accomplishments.

The issue today is not between conservatism and liberalism, radicalism and reaction, young and old. The issue is between straight and crooked thinking, between workable and unworkable policies, between realism and meddling.

There is very little disagreement between honest and intelligent Americans, regardless of party, on the social and economic objectives the nation needs to reach. The only question is to find policies that will bring us to these objectives instead of evaporating in campaign promises.

Funeral Rites Held Tuesday

Emil O. Anderson Dies At Wakefield Home Saturday Night.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 from the Hypse funeral home and at 2:30 from the Salem Lutheran church for Emil O. Anderson, 74, who died Saturday evening at his home in Wakefield. Rev. A. L. Peterson was in charge. Interment was in the Wakefield cemetery.

Emil O. Anderson was born in Christala, Sweden, March 20, 1858. At the age of 3 years he came with his parents to America. They settled at Andover, Ill., where they lived until 1885. They then moved to a place near Wayne, Neb. In 1891 they came to the vicinity of Wakefield.

Mr. Anderson married Miss Helen Anderson at Oakland, Neb., in 1896 and they have made their home in and near Wakefield since. To this union were born five children, one son, Adolph, dying at the age of 3 years.

Deceased had been in failing health for several years, but was able to be about until last March. Since then he had been confined to the house, although able to be up most of the time. Deceased had reached the age of 72 years, 11 months and 15 days.

He is survived by his wife and four children. The children are: William Anderson of San Diego, Calif., Myrtle, now Mrs. Walter Haug of Waco, Texas, Alice, now Mrs. Forest Hansen of Oakland, Neb., and Miss Ruth at home. There are also seven grandchildren.

Mr. Anderson was a faithful member of the Salem Lutheran church, having joined here in 1892. He will be missed not only in his home, but also in the community.

Relatives from out-of-town for the services besides the children were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Weber of Lincoln, Rev. and Mrs. Victor Weber and Mr. and Mrs. Vagn Ekberg of Omaha, Sidney Anderson, Vernie Linder, Julius Hansen, Mrs. Lillian Bell, all of Oakland. The children from Texas and California were unable to come.

Pallbearers were Irwin Stronberg, George Eichhoff, Oscar Bloomquist, Emil Rodgers, Ed. Gustafson and John N. Johnson.

Farm Bureau News

(By Walter L. Moller.)

A saving of 25 to 40 percent on tractor fuel is reported by Hermand Link of Buffalo county, who farms fields on the contour. The even pull, always on the level, puts less strain on equipment too, he thinks. And additional stored moisture on contour fields helps in dry times.

Further light on the comparative value of grain sorghum and corn for hogs will be divulged February 22 at a farmers' gathering at Franklin.

With meat prices lower than in months past, a nationwide "eat meat" campaign starts this week. In addition to lower prices there is an abundance of high quality meat on the market, due to excellent feed in 1932. This made possible a good finish on animals marketed. High quality meat and reasonable prices are definite advantages to the consumer.

Many are now considering the advisability of using native shrubs for planting about farmsteads for beautification. They are also thinking of hedges to protect home gardens from destructive winds. Native shrubs are hardy and attractive.

sawdust, commonly used to substitute for part of the bran, must be shipped long distances.

In government ball supplied to farmers, the proportion of bran to sawdust has been one to three. Raymond Roberts, entomologist, mixed mill-run bran in the proportion of one to seven of ground cornstalks. He did the same with ground cornstalks and sawdust. In addition he tried bran alone, ground cornstalks alone, ground cornstalks alone and sawdust alone. The usual amounts of arsenic and amyli acetate were used.

Bran alone proved best, ground cornstalks and bran mixture second, ground cornstalks and bran third. The three produced satisfactory kills, thus demonstrating the value of ground cornstalks and cornstalks. Entomologist Roberts points out that stalks without leaves are most suitable and may be collected and ground in the spring.

CONGRESS
AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

A Billion for War Preparation.
In answer to many questions, there was no record vote on the 550,000,000 naval bill. That bill was passed by a voice vote only. In his national defense message to the congress the president has asked for an authorization of a 20 percent increase in the projected limits of the fleet, fangling from battleships to submarines. He requested authorization for expansion of the navy's aid strength by over 1,000 planes.

The war department shared with the navy in the president's proposed program. He urged an immediate start on building up an enlisted reserve of 75,000 men and immediate appropriations for anti-aircraft material, ammunition and toolings to permit prompt conversion of factories into munition plants when needed.

The total cost of the combined program would be well over $1,000,000,000 but immediate appropriations would amount to approximately $400,000,000. The president also requested the enactment of legislation to prevent profiteering.

The army appropriation subcommittee has started meeting on the new army appropriation bill. This bill calls for about five hundred million dollars. The "Panay" incident and the war in the far east helps the naval and army lobbyists. Members of appropriations committees dealing with army and navy appropriations had hoped to make big cuts this year. They admit now that most any kind of a cut "is all off."

To Fight or Not to Fight.
The defeat of the Ludlow anti-petition has not stopped a movement in congress and over the nation to do something about helping Uncle Sam out of foreign wars. Louis Ludlow, Indiana congressman, whose resolution was defeated recently has written every member of the house who supported his resolution that he has not given up the fight and that the advocates of this resolution have merely lost the first skirmish.

He feels the close vote on the measure to bring the resolution up for debate was more gratifying than he had any reason to expect under the circumstances. He feels that it has been demonstrated that the people are overwhelmingly in favor of some legislation that will give the masses who have to do the fighting and dying and who must bear the burden of war, a right to say whether we will enter into wars thousands of miles from our shores. Following this Ludlow resolution campaign, now comes a campaign for the universal service act which is being backed by the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary.

Postmasterships Still in Politics.
A year ago the house passed a bill putting all the postmasters under civil service and keeping them permanently in their jobs as long as they are giving efficient service to the postoffice patrons. But returned the senate side of congress reported a bill putting the fourth class postmasters under civil service, but continuing patronage and senate confirmation in the first, second, and third classes.

This means that whenever there is a change of administration, postmasters who got their jobs through political favor will go out and the new party names will get new patronage postmasters. Uncle Sam's most important business branch continues as a political football. Some congressmen say that they are helped by getting the chance to say who will be the postmaster in their home town. Others say that it hurts them. One said the day, "I get lots of applications from my friends asking me to name them postmaster. I name one and then he becomes an ingrate and those I didn't appoint become enemies. I wish I didn't ever have to hear about it post-mastership."

Present Road Program Popular.
New road legislation is coming. The house committee on roads has about finished holding hearings on the bill to make appropriations for the fiscal years 1940-1941. Since 1916, the federal government has been giving money to state highway departments. The present bill is an effort to balance the budget. It suggested that a contribution to these expenditures start with the 1939 appropriation.

The house committee on roads has nothing to do with the 1938 funds. This committee made no authorization. It's up to the appropriation committee and congress to decide what is to be done with the 1939 funds. The states have made the appropriations for 1938 and many have programs started for 1939. The committee's job is with the 1940-41 authorizations. Indications are that there may be a slight cut made in the new authorizations, but in general the present road program seems popular with the committee.

According to Dr. N. C. Nelson of the American Museum of Natural History, human beings have been hanging around this planet for two million years. And they still haven't the faintest idea of how to run the thing—Howard Brubaker in The New Yorker.

Wayne High Cagers Add Three More Decisive Victories In The Past Week

Blue Team Registers Eighth Win In Beating Hartington, 45-18

Coach Elwood Morris' band of basketball jugglers gave spectators a dazzling exhibition of passing and dribbling as they outmanned a stubborn Hartington five, 45-18, here Tuesday evening to win their eighth game.

Hartington managed to score five fielders in 32 tries, most of them wild heaves from out on the floor. Wayne's defense made a habit of pouncing on their opponents' passes and reversing the floor for an offensive burst which occasionally netted a stop on a fast break.

The regulars ran up a 19-3 score before substitutes went in the first half. At half it was 19-9. In the third quarter the first team again began a basket parade, shuffling the ball around too fast for the Hartington defense.

Wayne Preps Drop Two Cage Games

Wayne prep dropped its second game in a week by bowing to Coach Carl Gist's talented Walthill high cagers, 22-46, here Tuesday night.

Surprisingly enough, the prep performed much better in the second half against the Walthill regulars as they shook off their fear of defeat. They scored 17 points while Walthill added 26.

Loss To Laurel 18-16. A small floor and an extremely low ceiling hampered Wayne prep's efforts as the team fell before Laurel 18-16 at Laurel last Friday night.

Wayne Team Rumps Over Oakland And West Point Fives

Wayne high school's smooth-passing team produced field goals with surprising ease and regularity to roll up a 28-17 triumph over Oakland in a well-played contest at the city auditorium last Friday night.

The victory boosted Wayne's record for the season to seven wins and three defeats. Marked improvement over previous games was very evident in the Wayne team's performance.

Def't passes that snapped the ball around the court with a speed which baffled the Oakland defense paved the way for numerous setup shots. Forward Bob Wright and guard Harold Fitch flashed past Oakland defenders for 13 of the baskets.

Wayne ran up a 13-4 lead in the first quarter, lengthened it to 21-7 at the half and was safely ahead 27-9 when the third period ended.

Following their disastrous road trips the Wildcats prepared this week to face the strong Nebraska cagers here tomorrow evening in the college gym.

Defeat West Point 28-19. Fast-breaking forwards and a tight defense were Wayne's high's best allies in a decisive though hard-fought victory over West Point, 28-19, on the West Point floor Wednesday night.

Rob Wright and "Red" Berry did the bulk of the scoring on clean setup shots under the basket. West Point gave considerable trouble during the opening half pushing the blue and white 4-5 and 10-13 as the first and second periods ended.

Switching from a zone defense to a man-to-man defense, the Wayne team bottled up the West Point scoring threats during the last two periods. Summary: Wayne (28) West Point (19)

Chadron Jolts Wayne Twice In NIAA Games

Eagles' Late Rallyes Win By Scores Of 50-41 And 46-45

Whatever hopes the Wayne Teachers may have entertained for a share in two more severe jolts last week-end when the Chadron Eagles swept through to a pair of thrilling last-minute victories in two rip-roaring games played at Chadron.

In both contests the Eagles capitalized on convenient breaks as two Wayne key men were ejected on fouls in the latter part of the game.

In the first game Friday night the teams battled evenly until the last five minutes. The half-time score was 25-25. With five minutes to play and Chadron leading 41-39, Bradford and Retzlaff, guards, left the game with four personals each in the final three minutes, to aid Chadron's late drive.

Armstrong, Chadron, led the scoring with 15 points. Cunningham of Wayne counted 13. Wayne (41) Chadron (50)

Scoreboard for Chadron vs Wayne. Chadron 50, Wayne 41. Statistics for both teams including field goals, free throws, and fouls.

Wayne Leads In Second. The second game on Saturday evening was an even closer affair, the Wildcats leading by one point with only 15 seconds to play when a corner field goal by Guard Clark of Chadron gave the Eagles the game, 46-45.

Wayne was ahead 45-44 until Clark made his shot after Bowman, forward had missed a long one, the ball coming into Clark's possession off the backboard.

LOCAL NEWS C. C. Stirtz was in Kansas City on business from Thursday to Saturday. He accompanied Van Hatton of Lincoln.

Bud King Is Only Winner In Fights

Wayne Boys Lose Four Close Decisions Wednesday At Columbus

Wallace "Bud" King, Wayne Teachers college freshman from Oakland, supplied the only Wayne victory of the evening in the Knights of Columbus boxing show a week ago last Wednesday.

King, who hasn't done much fighting until this year, continued his good work with a shifty attack. He closed Syslo's eye with a blow in the first round and had the better of the bout all the way.

Mario Valdez, the other Wayne boxer, was on the wrong end of the decision in a battle with John Wilczynski of Columbus in the fly-weight section.

Chief Hays, former Wildcat basketball player, outboxed Marvin Kreitman of Madison in a middleweight go.

All bouts were three-round affairs. Accompanying the Wayne boxers were Dr. J. C. Johnson and Jack Meister.

Warm Weather Most Unusual In California

"California has been experiencing unusually hot weather and orchard growers are wishing it would cease as fruit blossoms are beginning to unfold prematurely," according to Miss Laura Lyons who writes from Long Beach January 31. Rains came January 29 and 30 and snow could be seen on the mountains 25 miles north-east, so they feel better. The snow took many skiers to the mountains for the thrilling sport.

Miss Lyons writes of seeing a remarkable model of "Old Ironsides" made of 20,000 small pieces of wood by Captain Loring A. Wood of Sutherlin, Ore. It required four and a half months to construct the 25-foot model. Fourteen kinds of wood were used and some of the pieces had to be soaked 90 days to make them bend properly. The ship will be exhibited at the 1939 exposition in San Francisco.

Long Beach auditorium tile mural was dedicated recently, according to Miss Lyons. This is the largest cut-tile mosaic in the country and perhaps in the world, measuring 37 feet, 9 inches by 32 feet, 8 inches. It depicts Long Beach recreational activities. Forty artists who worked on the mosaic used more than 466,000 pieces of brilliantly glazed tile set in waterproof cement on the reinforced concrete wall of the facade. The picture can be seen for two blocks.

Mrs. A. A. Welch is enjoying her winter in California, Miss Lyons writes. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Spahr have been in Sacramento. Mr. and Mrs. John Larson, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Huffaker called on Miss Lyons. They told Miss Lyons that Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Strahan planned to stop in Encinitas to see Mrs. Alice Ley before they returned home. Lillian Beckman, former N. N. C. student in Wayne, recently arrived in Long Beach. Perry Lute of Flag school neighborhood in Wayne county spent several days in the Lyons home.

Funeral Service Held At Hoskins

Funeral services were conducted Monday last week at Hoskins Trinity Lutheran church for Mrs. Henry Heberer, 61, who died January 27. Rev. Im. P. Frey had charge, and burial was in Hadar cemetery. Pallbearers were Herman Puls, Gus Schmidt, Herman Buss, Herman Neitzke, R. G. Rohrke and Ernest Pfeil.

Mrs. Heberer, whose maiden name was Miss Clara Hemmeltta Christine Helen Brauer, was a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Theo. Brauer. She was born March 17, 1876, at Clark's Fork, Mo. The family moved to Elkport, Iowa, where her mother died in 1885. Deceased was confirmed in the Lutheran faith in Wisconsin.

Deceased was married to Henry Heberer May 11, 1897, and the couple came to Nebraska in 1902. After living at Norfolk, Bassett, Long Pine and Ainsworth, they came to Hoskins in 1910.

Mrs. Heberer is survived by her husband, two daughters, Miss Margaret and Mrs. Elenore Sweigard, and one son, Theodore. She leaves one brother, Rev. J. R. Brauer of San Francisco, and three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Pufahl of Norfolk, Mrs. Oscar Brausch of Pierce, and Mrs. E. E. Briscoe of Hadar.

London Letter (By Alfred Larson.)

January 28

London has its share of beggars, but it seems to be conventional that they shall do something in return for their alms—sing, draw pictures, or play some musical instrument. Once in a while a panhandler who does not recognize the convention sides up with a request for aid in getting a cup of tea, but he is much more rare than the coffee-seeking panhandler in American cities. A few blind persons also collect alms without any display of talent. Otherwise the beggars perform in one way or another so as to excite mixed emotions in the breasts of the passers-by. Quite a number of them draw pictures in colored chalk either on the sidewalk or on pieces of cardboard which they lean against a building. They depict flowers, animals, or prominent people of the day. Few of them do not succumb sooner or later to the temptation to present portraits of the duke and duchess of Windsor. This would appear to indicate a tendency to appeal to the lower classes, since good conservative upper-class supporters of the government conceivably would prefer that the artists exercise their talents in portraying someone other than the duchess. To be sure, an artist always has half a dozen pictures on display, and one can look at those he likes. A cap of cup is located conveniently for the copiers of those who wish to encourage the artists.

Other beggars sing for their alms. Often one sees soloists standing at the curb, wailing plaintively and not always with ability. One wonders whether the average passerby sympathizes more with the one who sings well or with the one who clearly is not enjoying himself and would prefer to be doing almost anything else. Sometimes street singers go about in groups of four, five, or six. One of the ablest groups consists of Welsh miners. Edward VIII acquainted the English with the distressed conditions which exist among the Welsh miners and lent eloquence to the placard "Distressed Welsh Miners" which the singers carry.

Wandering musicians appear to be most active in the evenings. Usually they play violins or accordions, or they grind organs, although trumpet solos are not unknown. Sometimes their musical equipment consists of a portable phonograph which they place on the sidewalk at the curb.

In the evening many of the street singers and musicians devote their attentions to public houses. In fact a stranger could probably find the nearest pub by picking his ear for the sound of music. The musicians stand outside the swinging doors, or even right in the doorway, and presumably are willing to grant requests. Organ-grinders sometimes grind out music so furiously and loudly that they get both coppers and requests that they move on.

Foreigners when first in the city may wonder what is the significance of the placards inscribed "Old Contemptible" which a number of beggars display. It has nothing to do with the age or moth-eaten appearance of the beggar. Back in 1914 the Kaiser referred with a sneer to what he called England's "contemptible little army." Members of the 1914 regular army were pleased with the phrase and organized the "Old Contemptible Association," which is still quite active today, though presumably most of the 1914 regulars did not survive the war. The beggar who has an Old Contemptible placard therefore is proud of it and furthermore hopes that it will aid him to survive the horrors of peace.

War Outlook Is Black Abroad, Speaker States

Major Is Guest Of Wayne Group

Urges That United States
Take A Middle Course
To Stay Out.

War conditions are black in Europe and this country needs to know the situation so as to avoid any possible entanglements, stated Major W. G. Utterback of Nebraska City, in addressing 120 following dinner at Hotel Stratton Monday evening. Everyone hates everyone there and each nation is preparing for war. Major Utterback believes that England's policy of maintaining an even course in the middle of the road has so far kept the nations from a war that would embroil all Europe.

Sufferings caused by the World war are still so real in the minds of the English that they do not talk about them, the major found. Men who have suffered greatly carry on in their work and try to take a man's part. The youth situation in England is not good, the speaker found on his visit there last summer. But it is England that has kept peace abroad to date.

In France, Germany, Italy and other countries on the continent Major Utterback found great preparation for war. Caverns are dug to house as many as 30,000. Roads can be mined and cut off with barbed wire on short notice. Guns are mounted on the borders. Labor camps are conducted to develop young men of strong physique. But the major is worried about how their minds are being trained.

This country does not want war and should do everything possible to stay out, the speaker continued, but he believes that youths should be trained so they can protect themselves if need be. In the World war the officer saw 17 fine young men who never had held a gun sent into front line trenches and only one returned. Major Utterback believes that young men should have some training to prevent such wholesale slaughter.

The speaker visited enough homes to know that propaganda in countries under dictatorship is ironclad. Persons can't whisper any criticism of Hitler's regime in Germany without being arrested to appear before officers. Often the offender does not appear.

The World war, which was supposed to be a war to end war, was a mockery from which everyone is still suffering. Major Utterback predicts that a world war now would practically do away with civilization. He urged the United States to keep to a middle course and stay out if possible.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Helen Eppler, president of the Business and Professional Women's department of the Women's club, sponsors of the meeting.

Preceding the address Miss Bethel Andersen sang "By the Bend of the River" and "Rosalie." She also led group singing. Miss Hazel Reece was accompanist.

Prof. J. R. Keith's string ensemble furnished music during the dinner.

Tables were decorated in red carnations and red, white and blue candles.

Mrs. Minnie Strickland and Miss Eppler were co-chairmen of the program. On the decorations committee were Miss Florence Drake, Miss Mary Walker, Miss Elaine Yocum and Mrs. Esther Thompson.

Blacksmiths Modernize Their Trade To Keep Up With Improved Methods

The familiar village blacksmith, extolled in Longfellow's famous poem, has all but passed from the American scene, but in his place is the blacksmith of today who has risen simultaneously with the development of machinery on the farm.

Scarcely 10 years ago the village smithy with his forge and hand bellows was practically an American institution. The brassy-smithed and most of his work by hand and shaping horses was his specialty. The idol of the wide-eyed children who peeked into his shop, the smith plied his trade with well-earned pride.

Then the machine wrought a sudden transformation on the farm. The result was the decrease in horses and the steady increase fashioning implements and fitting shoes on horses. The forge has withstood time and is still an important part of the blacksmith's shop. But in other respects there has been a vast transformation.

Specialized machinery and developments such as acetylene welding have brought a great change. Complicated machines perform tasks which require split-hair accuracy. Woodworking machines, the lathe, milling machines, shapers, press drills and other mechanical men have made the modern blacksmith a manufacturer, in a small way. He must be almost that in order to repair the modern machines which are brought to him from the farms. Besides this work he still must sharpen the tools used in farm and factory.

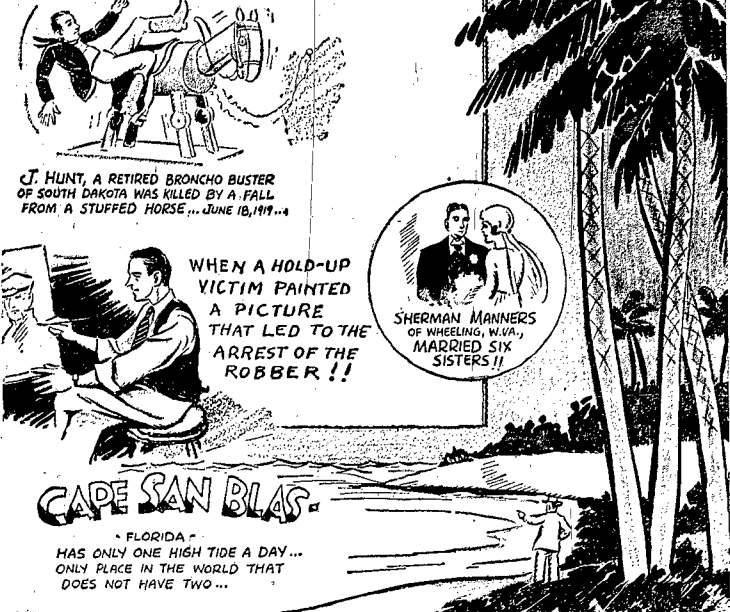

In short the city-type machine shops have moved to the country along with the machines themselves.

Blacksmiths and welders of Nebraska meeting in Omaha several years ago caused a metropolitan newspaper to publish a feature story expressing surprise that the blacksmith still existed at all. In Nebraska today the Nebraska Blacksmiths and Welders' association numbers 250 members and is an organization 32 years old. It is still growing, hoping some day to include most of the blacksmiths of the state.

One purpose is to exercise influence in seeking legislation favorable to the members. At present the group desires licensed shops. Other purposes are mainly social with good will and neighborly cooperation the object.

Officers of the organization now are John Nelson, Rogers, president; Jens P. Jensen, Ashland, vice president; and Maurice Grant, Wayne, secretary-treasurer.

Substantial Activity In State Makes Einungs Glad To Return

Oil wells, coal mines, zinc and lead mines were of great interest to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Einung, who arrived home last week from a two-weeks' tour of the southern states.

At Pittsburg, Kan., the Einungs visited several open coal pits, in which the coal is found only a few feet below the ground. There is little prospect in mining this coal, which sells for $3.00 a ton. Further into Kansas, one finds deep coal mines.

The largest zinc and lead mines in the country were found at Picher, Okla. This is a typical mining town in which many of the town buildings have large wooden awnings.

Mr. and Mrs. Einung visited the state capitol building at Austin, and loyal to Nebraska, could not see that it in any way compared to the Nebraska building. Most of the houses in Austin are built on open foundations and Mrs. Einung remarked that they did not look solid.

San Antonio was very well liked and while Mr. and Mrs. Einung were there the temperature was very mild, but very unusual for Texas at that time. Mostly the temperature stayed in the 60's.

San Houston and Randolph Field were among interesting ports seen by the Einungs. Both are located near San Antonio; Randolph Field is a military aviation school.

The beautiful city of Tulsa, Okla., impressed the Einungs by its cleanliness and newness. It has grown up in the last few years following the discovery of oil in that community.

Beautiful Church At Tulsa. The beautiful city of Tulsa, Okla., impressed the Einungs by its cleanliness and newness. It has grown up in the last few years following the discovery of oil in that community.

Visit Cascade Cavern. "Cascade Cavern" is located about 29 miles from San Antonio. This cavern is a cave which developed since 1931. A charge is made to enter it which is to help defray the expenses of lighting this natural cave.

Hand Plows Used. Enroute to San Antonio, the Einungs saw many plowing with walking plows. Most of the labor was done by Mexicans and Negroes who were working in the cotton fields.

Early Days In Wayne County. Early Days from the Wayne Herald for February 2, 1922: The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tobias of near Wayne, died February 4, 1922.

A daughter was born February 1, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong of Sioux City. Mrs. Armstrong is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch.

Henry Tarnow and Miss Bertha Hanson of Wakefield, were married February 2, 1922. George P. Thompson cut one hand badly when chopping wood.

Mrs. S. B. Scaze, 72, resident of Wayne for many years, died February 2, 1922, at Kimball, Neb. She was the mother of Mrs. C. K. Corbit and H. S. Scaze.

Edward, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, suffered injuries when his sled ran into a tree. Mrs. J. V. Harper of Belden, the sister of H. J. Felber, died February 2, 1922.

Mrs. Al. Dragon fractured a hip when she slipped on an icy walk and fell. The prospect of finding oil at Wakefield is causing excitement.

Winside people hold a mass meeting to consider a community hall. Walter Gaebler, G. A. Mittelstadt, H. E. Siman, Art Auker, Henry Brune, Chris Nelson, Thorvald Jacobsen, Mrs. Mittelstadt and Mrs. Auker are on the committee in charge.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas of Carroll, February 4, 1922. Jones brothers have moved their hardware store in Carroll to the building used by the Harry Nye theatre.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sundquist of Concord, February 3, 1922. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carlson of Concord, February 1, 1922.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Voets of Hoskins, January 28, 1922. Mrs. Chas. Madden, 52, died at her home in Wayne February 2, 1922.

Edward Owen, son of Mrs. Edward Owen, jumped the wagon in which he was riding. One of the horses had to be killed. Andrew Parker and Miss Esther Holt of Winside, were married February 8, 1922.

From the Wayne Herald for February 13, 1902: A new beneficiary lodge known as the "Prateral Union" will be organized in Wayne. Chas. Chace of Stanton, bought the Newberry ranch near Cody, one of the largest and best game ranches in the state.

From SOUP to NUTS

A New Mexico man, 19, is serving seven years because he was married four times in seven months. When four children in a Nevada home took the mumps, their dog began to swell up. He too had the mumps.

A New York girl, 10, climbed to a fifth-story stair railing. She fell to the first floor, landed in a baby carriage and was unhurt. A 3-year-old New Jersey girl can name and locate capitols of various countries and rattle off historical dates with ease.

On a dial telephone system in Pendleton, S. C., where there are only 52 subscribers, 1,000 calls went through the board in three hours. A woman driver disobeyed all warnings and signs, driving her car right into a train. Twenty windows in the train were broken. The woman was unhurt.

In 47 years as a railroad engineer, Wm. Chambers of Philadelphia traveled thousands of miles but never left the city limits. Now that he is retired he is going to travel. A young man who started to hold up the owner of a Milwaukee cafe lost his nerve. Instead of taking anything from the cafe the young man left his gun and holster and ran away.

Mrs. Ryan of Spokane, lost her wedding ring five years ago down a drain. The city sewer department could not find it. Now the workers have found the ring and can't locate Mrs. Ryan. When physicians could not remove a paper clip from the throat of a little girl, they ordered her taken to a hospital. As the child rode in a car over bumpy roads, the clip was dislodged.

A St. Louis man was having trouble identifying a suspect whom police caught on charge of robbery. The suspect became impatient and helped the man by saying, "See, I'm wearing the same suit." In Salt Lake City 800 adults are enrolled in a class on "how to keep home fires burning without smoke." The instructor predicts that the city's smoke pall will be reduced 50 percent by proper firing.

A 4-year-old boy was climbing a ladder in Utah. His pet kitten, following him, stepped on the trigger of an air rifle which was leaning against the ladder. The shot penetrated the boy's cheek and broke a tooth. A bull in the window of a vacant Chicago store building caused many to stop and look. The owner of the animal explained that he put it in the window until he could get a taxidermist to fix its horn. The animal was stuffed.

A cafe owner in New York woke up out doors one morning and found two freight cars in his cafe. The cars got loose while being switched and ran into his cafe. The impact threw the owner out of his apartment above the cafe. "We've caught the boy who has been stealing your chickens," telephoned an Illinois sheriff to a farmer, who was asked to come to town and sign a complaint. When the farmer arrived at the sheriff's office he found his own son. There was no prosecution.

In 1909 an Alaskan came to Seattle to propose to his childhood sweetheart, but he got cold feet. Afterward each married and reared a family. Later the mates of both died. Then the Alaskan didn't trust his tongue. He wired a proposal and the two were married. Read the Herald Want Column.

As DIFFERENT as NIGHT and DAY Yet Essentially ALIKE! LINCOLN "The Great Emancipator." Both faced seemingly insurmountable adversities but conquered them with a display of courage and steadfastness of noble design which lives more brightly than ever today. Representing two widely separated types in early American society, leaders each in a trying period of American history, these two great statesmen and leaders exemplified in their deeds the kind of citizens which can make our nation endure each crisis as it comes. COUNTY BOARD

Wayne, Nebraska, February 1, 1938.

Board met as per adjournment. All members present. Minutes of meetings held January 18, 19, and 20, 1938, read and approved.

On motion the bond of A. L. Swan as Member of the Soldiers Relief Commission for a term of three years is hereby approved.

The following Old Age Assistance warrants for January have been cancelled because of death:

Warrant No. 69, drawn in favor of Mrs. Katherine Jones Hornby for $12.50, allowed January 18, 1938.

Warrant No. 192, drawn in favor of Mrs. B. W. Wineland for $27.00 allowed January 18, 1938.

The following Rules and Regulations in regard to Disinfection are hereby adopted to correct and replace Disinfection and Fumigation Rules previously adopted by the County Board on January 11, 1938.

DISINFECTION

The word "Premises" used in this section shall mean all places where it is necessary to disinfect.

DISINFECTION INCLUDES:

(A) Concurrent Disinfection.

(B) Terminal Disinfection.

CONCURRENT DISINFECTION: Is required during the existence of any of the following diseases:

Chickenpox, Diphtheria, Influenza, Measles, Meningococcus meningitis, Mumps, Pertussis, Polymyositis, Rubella (German Measles), Scarlet Fever, Septic Sore Throat, Smallpox, Tuberculosis (Pulmonary), Typhoid Fever, and Whooping Cough.

CONCURRENT DISINFECTION: Is collecting of the communicable discharge of the patient during the course of the disease, the burning of same, or the application of a disinfectant solution to render same inert. Concurrent disinfection is of the greatest importance, for the organisms which cause communicable diseases are for the most part parasitic and depend upon their residence in the human system for their propagation.

TERMINAL DISINFECTION: It is now generally accepted that terminal disinfection is much better and in more accord with modern scientific research than fumigation.

THEREFORE, FUMIGATION IS NO LONGER REQUIRED IN THE FOLLOWING DISEASES:

Chickenpox, diphtheria, influenza, measles, meningococcus meningitis, mumps, pneumonia, polymyositis, rubella (German measles), scarlet fever, septic sore throat, smallpox, typhoid fever, and whooping cough.

When a Board of Health having jurisdiction is satisfied that a person who has suffered from any of the foregoing named diseases is no longer a source of danger to others, it shall see that the following procedure as to terminal disinfection is carried out before such persons, or premises, is released from placard or quarantine.

First. The patient and those in contact shall be bathed with an antiseptic solution. This should be done by bath of warm water and soap, then washing of the body with a mild antiseptic solution. Bichloride of mercury in strength of 1 to 5000 is recommended for this purpose, care being taken that patient does not get the same in mouth or eyes.

Second. Everything in the sick room or that has come in contact with the patient and that is of no special value (papers, magazines, clothes, wooden toys, etc.) should be burned.

Third. Before removal from patients' room, washable clothing, linens, used by patient and by those in contact shall be immersed in a 2 percent solution liquor cresolis compound U. S. P. 5 percent solution carbolic acid, or an equivalent disinfectant, and remain in such solution for half an hour, then boiled for half an hour.

Fourth. Blankets and other articles presenting free surfaces and not too thick can be made safe by exposure in the open air to direct sun rays for three or four days, or sufficiently long to get fully twenty-four hours of direct sunshine. Such articles as rugs, carpets, etc. treated in the same way should, in addition, be brushed with a 2 percent solution liquor cresolis compound U. S. P., a 5 percent solution carbolic acid, or an equivalent disinfectant.

Fifth. Thorough washing of the wood work, wood and metal furnishings with hot water and soap, combined with disinfection through the use of a 2 percent solution liquor cresolis compound U. S. P., or a 5 percent solution carbolic acid of door knobs, open crevices, and such room furnishings as may have come in direct contact with patients' hands or hands of attendants, may be relied upon to protect against reinfection from the room. The need of repapering, calcimining, painting, etc., is left to the discretion of the board.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE: The County, City or Village Board of Health within the jurisdiction of which the premises are, is primarily responsible. The Board may use its discretion as to permitting this to be done under the supervision of the attending physician; provided, that in all cases the Board within whose jurisdiction the case is, has the right to supervise the disinfection.

COST OF TERMINAL DISINFECTION: This is to be borne entirely by the people who reside in the premises.

NOT NECESSARY TO DISINFECT PREMISES FOR THOSE IN CONTACT: Whenever anyone is to be "quarantined out" after having been in contact with a communicable disease it is not necessary to disinfect the premises at that time; provided that the disease still exists in the premises. In these cases, disinfection is only necessary when the patient is to be released from quarantine.

The following claims are on motion audited and allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the respective funds as herein shown. Warrants to be available and ready for delivery on SATURDAY, February 12, 1938:

Shaw's orders. Shaw had banned talk of the girl. He could not reason behind that command. On such disabilities, at times, do destinies hinge.

Slowly, as one in physical pain, Annette made her final preparations for departure. She prolonged each small operation as one will when loath to leave a place behind and it was near dusk when she finished and closed the small chest and with a deep sigh tossed her head.

She turned, then, to Rodney's table and, taking ink and quill and paper, sat for long, writing slowly, painstakingly, weighing each word she inscribed. Finished, she folded the paper and left it there and, dusk having fallen, she told her boatmen to be ready an hour before dawn and until the appointed time she lay staring at the glowing logs in the fireplace, numb and resigned.

During her weeks at Fort Shaw she had thought now and again of Rickman's menace. She was not particularly concerned, not afraid. Still, she had chosen such an hour for departure because none would

A great lethargy settled upon Annette. She had no hope; she was hurt and bruised beyond hoping. Neither did she have resentment because, she reasoned, nothing that she ever could do would offset the injury she had brought to Rodney.

So she stayed on, not because hope lived in her heart, she told herself, but because she was inexpressibly weary and the thought of embarking for the long homeward journey—with nothing for her when she reached her destination—was too much to face.

Almost daily canoes linked the trading post with the camp where Rodney Shaw recuperated. He had been sitting up, came the word; he had stood on his feet, later. He had walked a few steps. He was eating as a man should eat.

Basile came, an uneasy light in his eyes.

"The trader may return any day," he said, watching her face.

"What delays him, Basile?" she asked pointedly.

"My firmness. I plead and argue. I invent delays. For a week he has been going about from lodge to lodge, gaining strength rapidly but, as well, gaining impatience to return here. I must prevent that return until . . . until the place is as he left it. . . . But, mademoiselle!—quickly when she swayed as from a blow. "He has forbidden mention of you! Such a man! One does not know. . . . One knows he is in your debt. . . . One feels he should not think such thoughts. . . . But what does one do?"

Yes, what did one do? Too long in the forest, this Basile, to determine the strategy which would have brought him and these others peace. He was in distress. He knew the hotness of young blood should not frustrate the longings of young hearts. But how to arrange such matters, how to temper prejudice and arrange better understandings, he did not know.

A word to her would have sufficed; the repetition of Shaw's declaration that he had seen her cloak in Burke Rickman's quarters, and way to the goal would have been achieved. But he had not the fineness of perception, the insight into the complexities of youth to realize that. He was accustomed to obey

"It is said that both Flaming Hair and the little trader want her for a wife."

"She has the sign of running away."

"She has that sign."

The woman in the stern chewed tobacco rapidly.

"Flaming Hair would welcome word of her."

"It is so."

"And with only two skins of rice to trade, he may open his hands wider if we give him that word."

"You are swift of thought, Wabegum. Let us go faster!"

"Yes, it will be good. My thoughts are like spring water."
