WASHINGTON IS GOOD EXAMPLE

J. R. Johnson Urges More Appreciation Of Freedom Found In America.

"We are happy to live in a land where George Washington's principles exist," stated Dr. J. R. Johnson in an opening his Kiwanis club Monday at Hotel Stratton. "We are especially glad when we hear of the dictators and communistic movements in other countries."

George Washington lived in the fourth generation of American history; the period runs from 1760 and 1815. Many important Americans were recognized in that period. Most of the people of that time were interested in politics. The period found America grown up. Leading men were exported from America as well as being imported. The colleges were improved so that the young folks did not need to go abroad for an education. People were also writing and speaking freely.

America, made up of very different people, found groups cooperating. The people were also optimistic. Philadelphia was the place where all came together.

George Washington who lived from 1732 to 1799, had only seven years of schooling. He accomplished a lot for the time he lived. He was interested in mathematics, (Continued on page two)

Travelers Describe Southern Trip

Four tanned and carefree business men drove into Wayne last Friday about midnight, reluctantly leaving behind them a 2800-mile vacation jaunt to Galveston, Texas, and ten days of golf and leisure in that mild climate. W. C. Corryell, Carl Wright, L. W. McNatt and R. L. Larson were the Wayne merchants who played hockey from their business cars for a short winter vacation. Back at their routine tasks this week they re-lived delightful memories of the trip by describing interesting impressions and experiences to friends.

Wright Shoots Ace. Outstanding on the whole trip from the spectacular angle was the hole-in-one garnered by Carl Wright on a Galveston course and the loss of $110 worth of merchandise because two of the Wayne foursome were sleeping at their hotel that morning. The story, as reported in a Galveston daily, is found elsewhere in this issue. The rules of the course state that in order to qualify for prizes given by Galveston merchants, a golfer must be in the presence of a foursome when he makes the hole-in-one. Mr. Wright shot his ace when only Mr. Corryell was with him, which of course made Mr. McNatt and Mr. Larson the goats that morning.

Most pleasant of all, perhaps, was the comfortable climate, ranging from 68 to 75 degrees during the stay in Galveston. Mr. Corryell's observation, "It was elegant!" best fits the sentiment of the whole group on the weather subject. Golf every day on sparkling green fairways (enough to make any golfer the same shade with envy) and sightseeing along the Gulf of Mexico near Galveston provided most of the entertainment. Now that they are back the quartet derive great enjoyment from tempting listeners with details of the southern paradise. Leaving Wayne early Saturday morning, February 5, the men took highway 81 through Kansas and followed number 77 through Oklahoma to Dallas, Texas, arriving there about midnight Saturday night, a distance of 800 miles from home. Mr. McNatt spent Sunday visiting with his sisters, Elsie and Charlotte, of Dallas, while some of the group enjoyed a round of golf.

They continued the journey on Monday through Houston to Galveston where the next 10 days were to be spent. Golf immediately became a daily fixture on the menu of activity, although it had to be enjoyed before sunset because of the fog which obscured the course each evening. Residents expressed amazement at the fact that there had been 12 consecutive foggy days, a record since 1904.

COMPETITION FOR CITY AND SCHOOL OFFICES ASSURED

THE Nebraska law requires that all nominations for city and school offices must be made on the fifth Wednesday before the annual municipal election which comes this year on April 5. Therefore, all nominations this year must be made next Wednesday, March 2. In today's Herald the Citizens' party is advertising a convention for Wednesday when candidates will be named. The plan to organize a new party will be carried out at the city hall this evening, according to a notice published elsewhere in this newspaper. The attendance of at least thirty-five will be necessary to effect an organization. It is further planned for the new organization to hold a convention at the city hall Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of naming candidates for city and school offices, and subsequently to hold ward caucuses to nominate members of the city council. As we understand, electors can legally participate in the proceedings of only one party. Thus, there is promise of two competing tickets in the field, and this prospect ought to stimulate interest in both city and school affairs. But voters interested in competition must attend.

Fund Available For City Work

City May Be Required To Stop Using Creeks For Disposal.

Federal approval was received this week on an application for a grant to help in building a proposed sewage disposal plant for Wayne. The grant is for $20,800. The state game department is active in a movement to prohibit towns the size of Wayne from dumping sewage into creeks. It is thought the next legislature will likely pass such a regulation. Local officials have consequently investigated disposal plants so as to be prepared to meet requirements.

Since WPA grants will likely be discontinued within six months, Wayne made application six weeks ago for federal aid in the matter. Mayor M. L. Ringer received word this week that Wayne's application has been approved. The grant of $20,800 is thus available if Wayne decides on a disposal plant.

A sewage disposal plant for Wayne would cost between $45,000 and $50,000. It is thought that because of the college here the state would provide a substantial sum, probably about $10,000. The remainder would have to be provided by city bond issue.

Engineer Joe Reynolds has been in Wayne investigating the disposal plant matter. If the city decides on a plant he will draw plans.

Tekamah and Schuyler are among a number of smaller cities building disposal plants.

Washington Is Good Example

(Continued from page one) music and drama. He had contacts with the best cultures and had made use of the contacts. Washington was a surveyor, thus his interest in the western lands. His early career was devoted to the army. To Washington, duty was a moral obligation. Few Americans were in the saddle as much and traveled over the country as Washington did.

Colleges were built up in this country, continued Dr. Johnson, because, when Washington saw the youth going to foreign countries to be educated, he feared they would be weaned away from the American principles. Washington contributed generously to cultural institutions.

Washington had unusual ability in keeping an army in the field and also won many campaigns. He had a good grasp of military science. He was a member of both continental congress meetings, also being drafted into the office as the first president of the United States. As president he had to set the federal government on a firm financial basis and make the northwest territory a safe place to live.

Dr. Johnson listed some of the characteristics of George Washington. They are: A sense of balance; he was born into culture, accepted what he was accustomed to and added to it; felt responsibility; at outside he usually failed but always came back and succeeded; had a violent temper but had good control of it, using his temper well and being called a submerged volcano; wonderful power of concentration and coordination; hard worker; he also worried a great deal.

Dr. Johnson closed by saying that "we of the United States still have full faith in our democracy. We are proud and happy for it. Americans would much rather say 'Heil Washington' than 'Heil Hitler.'"

W. F. Wurzburg of Sioux City, was a guest of C. E. Wright at the club meeting.

Emerson Woman Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Clara McLaughlin, 77, of Emerson, died Wednesday evening last week about a half hour after returning to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Barsdorf, after attending a church program. Funeral rites were held at the English Lutheran church in Emerson Sunday afternoon and Mrs. Sarah Haselden and Mrs. Marnie Kagy went from here to attend.

Mrs. McLaughlin had lived in Emerson many years. She leaves her daughter in Emerson and two sons, Dale and Walter, in Sioux City.

Travelers Describe Southern Trip

(Continued from page one.) wax and vasaline on shiny parts. However, this did not stop roses from blooming nor grass from flourishing, commented the travelers. Rain had been plentiful, people were mowing lawns and cattle had sufficient feed in pastures. Rainfall, residents said, is about 45 inches per year.

The group of men was awed by the great herds of long-horned brahma cattle grazing on the Texas plains near Galveston. They are kept on large ranches with little protection supplied in case of stormy weather.

The party visited Port Arthur, an inland port which is connected with the gulf by a canal. Wheat, oil, cotton and cattle are among the chief exports along the gulf. Ferrying across Galveston bay to Port Arthur was a thrilling experience, according to Mr. McNatt, who said the heavy fog made passage rather uncertain. Fog horns aided in establishing position of boats in the bay. Galveston itself is located several miles from shore on an island.

Building Activity Seen. Especially noticeable in southern Texas was the unusual amount of building activity, reported the vacationers. There seemed to be little evidence of depression in that section.

When asked what he particularly enjoyed on the trip, Mr. Coryell expressed a like for the variety of sea foods served in Galveston. Some of them eaten by the men were oysters, lobsters, crabs, trout and flounders.

With considerable regret the hookey-playing business men packed for the return trip and set out Thursday, February 17. They reached Oklahoma City that night, where Mr. McNatt spent some time visiting two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Gray and Norma McNatt, and a brother, Marshall.

A rainstorm struck in northern Texas and southern Oklahoma on the return journey. It became a raging blizzard before they arrived in Oklahoma City. They continued to Wichita and to Wayne by Friday midnight.

Forage Program Is Being Urged

Will Inform Farmer About Plans At Meetings To Be Held Soon.

Plans for a pasture-forage-livestock program for Wayne county as part of a statewide educational movement were announced by Agent Walter Moller after his return from a district meeting in Norfolk February 16. The program will concentrate attention on rehabilitation of grassland, better use of forages and improved livestock. Community and precinct meetings will be arranged to inform farmers of the program.

Outstanding records during the year will be recognized in the fall just as in the former pasture contests. In addition there may be local recognition through cooperation of civic groups and the farm bureau.

Objectives are to encourage and assist farmers in carrying out the following: Meet the present emergency by producing sufficient high quality roughage so that present livestock can contribute an increased amount to farm income; rehabilitate drought-injured grasslands; restore to permanent grassland the more than two million acres now under cultivation which can be used more profitably for hay or pasture; conserve soil fertility and increase the acreage of soil building and erosion controlling forage crops; maintain a proper balance between livestock numbers and forage production; give more thought to proper utilization of forage crops produced, both through placing more emphasis on quality of roughages produced and livestock programs which will utilize forage to greater advantage; build up feed reserves for productive livestock; seek to establish landlord-tenant relationships that will encourage more livestock production on tenant operated farms.

Plans for the coming year include expansion in both Gamble and Gamble agency stores. Many present store locations will be enlarged and store interiors, fixtures and lighting systems will be modernized.

The convention this year was the 18th since the first Gamble store opened in St. Cloud in 1925. The organization was an outgrowth of the parts department of the automobile business in which Mr. Gamble and Mr. Skogmo, founders of the company, were engaged in 1925. From this beginning the company has grown to its present size of 261 Gamble stores and associate stores and 1,378 individually owned agency stores. Merchandise lines have been enlarged until they include radios, electrical appliances, hardware and other household articles, as well as a recently developed mail order department.

Gamble store outlets operate throughout the entire middle and northwestern states, reaching almost to the Pacific coast on the west, Ohio on the east, Canada on the north and Kansas and Missouri on the south.

Mr. Gamble and Mr. Skogmo report satisfactory progress during the past year in both wholesale and retail sales. Sales of major appliances increased materially. The founders of the company also report that present indications make the business outlook for 1928 very favorable. They base this opinion on the fact that sales for the month of January of 1928 were very satisfactory, showing a substantial increase over sales for the same month a year ago.

Interesting and education displays and discussion of various lines of merchandise, especially stoves, batteries and refrigerators were presented.

Shrader of the United States department of agriculture. "Clean range," however, does not mean mere neatness and removal of scraps and refuse. Time is the main "cleaning" factor—and it takes two years to make a range clean enough to be safe. Shrader defines a clean range as "one that has been free of chickens for at least two years and one on which poultry manure has not been spread." In two years, poultry parasites will die for lack of a chance to multiply. A clean range, free of parasites, gives young chickens a chance to grow without a handicap. An ideal range, Mr. Shrader adds, also supplies plenty of shade for the hot summer months and an abundant supply of succulent green feed and fresh water that is not contaminated by parasites. Miss Helen Radtke and Robert Johnson of Pender, were married last week Sunday.

Need of Kindness THE UNJUSTLY abused business man is stoutly defended by Henry Morton Robinson in an article in a current magazine. Robinson says the business man is charged with an all-absorbing quest for money and that he gives thought to no other consideration—human, social or spiritual. He is charged with under-paying and over-driving his help. The writer points out that kickers would do no better. It is probably a fact that kickers would usually do worse. The writer supports his belief in the "pluck, enterprise and hardihood" of private business with this observation: "Without the business the bulk of Americans would still be digging clams along the shores of Massachusetts bay. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to say that the copious fulfillment of the American promise—observed not only in higher wages, shorter hours and better housing, but in the broadest cultural development and loftiest social aspiration that this world has hitherto dreamed—is directly traceable to the American business man." The author attributes unjust appraisal to lack of understanding—lack of kindness.

The writer urges greater kindness as a solvent of most human ills. This cannot be brought about through legislation, but through education and slowly developed understanding. "Let us link kindness with integrity, plant these deep in the soil of the human heart," says the writer, "and a new heaven and earth will blossom, not only for us but for the generations that follow after."

Looking backward, the writer expresses amazement at steeply scaled by mankind in traversing out of the darkness of the past, and exclaims in conclusion: "If, through integrity and love, this much has been possible, what future impossibilities need be feared? If we have come thus far by reason of the strange divinity within us, may we not, impelled by the same peculiarities, struggle yet higher toward the face of light?"

Explains HIS contribution to today's Herald, Congressman Karl Stefan mentions that he and two other members of the Nebraska delegation in the house voted against the farm bill because of its compulsory features. The congressman must have been convinced such compulsion is included, though some take a contrary view. He also says members complain that the bill was rushed through without an opportunity to understand its numerous provisions. Evidently authors of the voluminous measure succeeded in making it beyond easy comprehension even though perhaps not intending to do so. The congressman quotes Senator Norris as referring to the bill in this way: "Perhaps it will not work, but what will work?" Just taking a chance without confidence in the operation of a law does not seem the attitude of wisest statesmanship. Certainly no legislation is better than uncertain legislation, as proved by experience in recent years.

Hitler Speaks DICTATOR Hitler breathed defiance in his speech Sunday, shouting for peace while rattling sabers. He expressed satisfaction over swallowing Austria and praised fellow-fascist countries, Italy and Japan. He threatened Russia for whose system he made plain his utter contempt. He was sufficiently critical of England to stir up profound uneasiness in that country, causing unfriendly Anthony Eden to resign his post as foreign secretary. Hitler declared he was the government of Germany and would stand for no interference. Germany's Hitler, Italy's Mussolini and Russia's Stalin, each enforcing intolerable autocracy—the very antithesis of democracy—are shrieking examples of what self-governing peoples should avoid.

One columnist reminds labor that jobs at low wages are more desirable than no jobs at high wages. A year ago unions were engaged in numerous strikes. Today industry is on an enforced strike because of decreased demand. Now the problem involves more a question of how to multiply jobs than how to increase wages. Early last year unions figured they could jump wages and shorten hours and that industry would have to submit. Loud Noise John L. Lewis led union satellites in the direction of unreasonable demands and thus played an effective role in precipitating the so-called recession which curtailed factory production and threw men out of needed employment. Responsibility rests on the C.I.O. bellwether rather than on those he misled.

"America's White Spot," booklet lately issued by the Associated Industries of Nebraska, overlooked Wayne in making its map to show important Nebraska points. Several places indicated are not so large as Wayne in enrollment at the college, including the college group is always there. Rather, Wayne offers advantages for industries second to none. We invite investigation. Besides, we do not want to be pained again by omission of the town from future advertising or other maps.

Following revival of Lincoln memories, the country turned this week to the birthday anniversary of Washington to gain steady wisdom and courage in a sorely beset world. If the counsel of these two great American leaders is followed, there will be no compromise with any alien form of government—no surrender of the liberties which one forged and the other preserved.

When the price level is believed too low the president says it must be raised, and when too high, he says it must be lowered, apparently assuming the attitude that by merely pulling a lever either result may be accomplished. He does not look at causes so much as at effect, and consequently remedies are but temporary if not wholly futile.

Suggested by the national administration's wabbling state of mind: Make everything one buys low-priced; everything one sells high-priced; boost wages and shorten hours and soak employing industry with all the taxes it can bear and still stay afloat.

For their own ill fortunes, persons will often try to punish others who have had better luck—others who might help if they were not made victims of unwarranted barbs of suspicion and hate. Inscrutability is a tough barrier to overcome.

With Europe hovering over dynamite the wisdom of looking to South America for cooperation and peace is reemphasized.

Reciprocity Has Its Restrictions.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)

In his discussion of the present and proposed reciprocal trade agreements in Des Moines last week Secretary of State Hull appeared to take a purely academic view of the problem, divorcing it entirely from its human aspects. The secretary is an avowed free trader and is apparently little concerned about any effect his trade agreements may have on business, on industry, on agriculture or on labor.

On the other hand, this abstract point of view was promptly challenged by Louis J. Tabor, master of the National Grange, who announced that "the National Grange desires world trade and the promotion of world peace, but will never look with favor on the importation of any commodity from any place in the world if the net result of that importation is to increase the idle acres and the idle men in America."

Professor M. L. Wilson, undersecretary of agriculture, also insisted that "the really important problem is to discover a market for exports rather than to keep out imports. Among our largest markets for wheat the present season have been the Netherlands, Belgium and Sweden, with all of which we have concluded reciprocal trade agreements."

In the abstract, importation and exportation of our products are desirable and even necessary but it is of even more importance that these imports and exports be restricted so as not to unduly hamper the development of the country and the employment of industry. And it was fortunate that the point was brought forcibly to the attention of our secretary of state.

High Wages, Low Prices.

(Sioux City Journal.)

The administration wants wages paid on a high scale but insists prices of commodities must come down to a low level. Which would be as lovely an arrangement as anyone could want, provided an economist came along with a magic formula that would work to bring that about. For, of course, as all economists save those in Mr. Roosevelt's confidence know, high wages always have the effect of boosting prices.

It's as simple a thing as the grade student ever had in arithmetic, even if it has confused some highly placed persons in Washington. For industrialists long have realized that the heaviest overhead expense in the production of commodities is in the pay roll.

However, the suggestion that wages be high and prices be low is tremendously attractive. It could be made more attractive by also demanding shorter hours and the absorption of all unemployment. For that would build up a purchasing power of tremendous strengths, and, because of low prices, there would be a veritable riot of buying in the market places. But, as was said before, a magic is needed to bring this about. We still are living in a practical world whatever its confusion may be.

Mr. Roosevelt On Prices.

(Cherokee, Iowa, Times.)

The president has set a new speed record. He has made a complete circuit of opinions in one week.

At the beginning of the week he was on record as declaring that prices were too high and must come down. Early in the week he reversed himself by declaring that prices were too low and must be moved upward. On Thursday he took a middle-of-the-road position by publicly proclaiming that some prices are too high and some are too low. On Friday he came out with a "limited increase in prices achieved without inflation and without a material advance in the cost of living." (Most people would consider increasing prices without advancing the cost of living something of a miracle, but we are again living in an age of miracles.)

Now there is any group among voters that has not been pleased by some one of these declarations perhaps the president will consent to make still another one to meet the emergency.

THE DIFFERENCE.

One good reason small industries and businesses could not safely observe the short work day proposed by federal legislation is that their employees are not driven at the high speed experienced in large plants. Small industries have leaders—not bosses—and their helpers are not hounded every minute to the limit of production. Demand does not warrant taxing capacity all the time. There are times when effort must be speeded up; other times, with less to be done, the force slows down. Not so in a great factory where every minute is made to count. The matter of wasting electricity and heat and other supplies is not so carefully guarded in a small plant. In large producing institutions employees and supplies are carefully supervised by responsible department heads and greatest possible economy is enforced. Thus, the big industry can carry a load in abridged hours and other restrictions that would seriously burden the comparatively small industry in which less exacting methods are employed. In trying to correct objectionable labor practices, the proposed wage and hour law would impose intolerable hardships on small concerns which, though not pretentious, are numerous enough to mean much to employment.

The window front at the Gamble store will be repaired soon, according to the manager, Orville Tuskind. It is also planned that a new hanging sign will be placed.

REDS ABROAD.

The two opposing governments—communism and fascism—are equally red in the eyes of democracy, and each is as much opposed as the other to America's free institutions. In an interview secured by the International News Service, Feodor Butenko, former charge d'affaires at Bucharest, who escaped by a hairbreadth with his life from Russia to Rome, paints a sorry picture of communism—the socialist ideal which in practice stifles every human right. He says the old Russia in its worst days under the czar was far better than it is now under the iron rule of conscienceless Stalin. Russia is resourceful and its people are shackled to a collectivist octopus without initiative and without hope. Fascism is no more promising. Under it, people have no individual rights. Autocratic authority is final. Communism and fascism command, unqualified obedience, and any opinion or act in conflict threatens to bring an end to the guilty without ceremony. Civilization is, thus equally menaced by both with no assurance of freedom until dictatorialships are wiped out and the liberties of their subjects are restored. A Washington official is quoted as saying: "Hope of ultimate world peace lies in the possibility these fascist powers may destroy themselves before they destroy civilization."

Live Stock Control Is Coming.

Omaha Journal Stockman:—What protection is provided for the live stock producer, the dairyman or the poultry raiser in the new farm bill? Well, whatever it is, it is a bit sketchy, according to students of this legislation designed to aid the farmer.

It is argued by those having an interest in these industries that those forced to reduce their acreages of the specified crops may divert their efforts to increasing their production of farm animals of all kinds, to the detriment of farmers now engaged in the live stock business. An amendment was introduced to prohibit such use of land or the crops grown on it, but it was so modified that its usefulness is left in doubt. It would appear to be left to the Secretary of Agriculture to specify from time to time what protection the live stock industry should have from stimulated competition.

Here in the corn belt we are interested in the hog and cattle business primarily. We have been concerned during the past few years to note the substantial increase in the production of both cattle and hogs in the southern states. We wonder if under this new bill, with cotton and tobacco acreages to be controlled, we may not encounter still greater competition, at a price we can't meet. We feel that what is really at stake is our market for corn. Our use of the soil depends on a dependable outlet for corn, our natural and our most valuable crop.

Some commentators contend that control of all live stock production is only a question of time, that it is inevitable. For when you start the limitation business there is no stopping place short of the end, the end being the control of all kinds of production. You can't control one crop without being forced into the course of time to control all other crops, including live stock.

Whether it will come to that, we shall not attempt to predict. But if there are difficulties along the way, it is to be expected that their correction will be undertaken by the extension of operations.

In Government Service.

(Portland Oregonian.) In 1913 the country was shaken by scandal. It was discovered that the United States department of agriculture had a publicity man on its payroll. Such decadence. The nation was going to the dogs. Congress rushed through a bill providing that no money should be used to hire a publicity man in government service unless the money was definitely earmarked for that purpose.

Today the department of agriculture has a publicity staff of some 70, and the Brookings Institution reports 250 publicity men at work in the District of Columbia, without taking into consideration the big WPA bureau and many who do publicity but manage to evade pigeonholing. The 250 are paid $717,932 a year, and taking into consideration printers and others connected with their work, the annual cost runs into millions. Of 82 bureaus which maintain publicity staffs, 31 were original creations of the new deal.

The news magazine Pathfinder recounts all this (with an estimate of 100 million dollars for the total cost), and laughs all over its front page over discovery that the 1913 act of congress against publicity agents still stands upon the books. But it's probably funnier to those who don't pay taxes.

Some of the colonies with which Britain would appease Hitler turn out to be Portugal's. It's the old duck dinner invitation, and you bring the duck. — San Francisco Chronicle.

Terrace Men Excel At Wayne College

Is there any relationship between the grades that are made by college men and the type of residence they have while attending college? Maybe not, but Allen Cook, dean of men, believes there is.

Dean Cook recently completed a study of the first semester grades made by 222 men students in Wayne State. Four factors were considered in making the study: Quality point average; number on the honor roll, number failing or conditioned in one or more subjects, and the number with a quality point average of 5 or less. The men were placed in three groups according to type of residence: Those living at Terrace hall, those living in their own homes, and those renting rooms about town.

Bellhouse Stalin.

Omaha World-Herald:—War is inevitable, declares Stalin, between red Russia and the "bourgeois" countries. In fact, he declares a lot more. Red Russia's military establishment is to be made the most powerful in all the world. The final victory of socialism can come only on an international scale. Therefore all other countries must be whipped into it, or seduced to adopt it through revolution. And to that end the Russian reds must organize for political help of the reds in all other lands, "in case of military attack."

It is a large order. There is enough in it to make one's flesh creep. Fortunately there is so much of this tall talk, coming day by day from every quarter, that one's flesh doesn't creep as readily as it would otherwise. The world and its people are becoming surfeited with alarms that do not eventuate. The effect of shrieking, red-hot external stimuli on the individual's nervous and mental system is lessening. Which is just as well, if sanity anywhere is to be preserved.

For ourselves we take comfort in believing that Dictator Stalin is not the all-powerful and world-conquering figure he thinks he is, that he has troubles aplenty at home, and that the people over whom he rules with a bloody iron hand are not even, or nearly, as well off as the peoples of free countries.

No country is as safe and happy as it would like to be and should be. In all alike are wronged, reformed, errors to be corrected, reform to be achieved. In all alike there is widespread and deep-seated complaint and criticism; in all alike apprehension of the future, fear of the neighboring countries. And so, naturally, there is bristling talk of war and hastening preparation for it. This doesn't mean, though, that war is "inevitable," and for all of them, including our own. No more does it imply we shall be unable to work our way out of our domestic difficulties. This world of ours has been going on for a long while. On the whole, with whatever lapses and recessions, it has recorded pretty consistent progress. It is reasonable to think this will continue to be the rule—and that it will discover, as so often in the past, that some of its worst troubles never happen.

Stalin's boastful belligerence does serve one good purpose. It affords warning that the reds of Russia are organizing to the reds of other countries. It puts us on guard against our own reds who are not American-minded but Russian-minded; who are conspiring against their own nation and neighbors; who are plotting the violent overthrow of our free institutions as agents of the Stalin dictatorship.

These are not alone secessionists but traitors, to be regarded as such. For disclosing that they do or may exist the thanks of all believers in democracy are due to Dictator Stalin.

Blue Cagers Take Lesson On Fundamentals

The boys are seen taking a bit of instruction on how to catch the leather, one of the fundamentals underlying good ball-handling. Wayne has compiled an impressive record this season with 10 victories and only 5 defeats, while scoring 466 points against opponents' 305.

Bob Wright, high-scoring forward, has amassed 141 points. Other point-makers are Berry, Graham and Fitch with 80, 77 and 71 respectively. Credit for points must go to the other boys on the team as well, whose fine passing made possible setups which resulted in most of the field goals.

Wayne meets Fullerton in the opening round of the tournament. In the meantime they face Bloomfield there tomorrow night and are host to Plainview here Saturday evening.

Pairings Drawn For 'A' Tourney

Wayne High Meets Fullerton In First Round At Norfolk.

Wayne high, selected as one of the four seeded teams in the Class A district tournament, will meet Fullerton in the first round at 4 p. m. Thursday, March 3, at Norfolk. Other seeded teams are Coach Don Anderson's fine Ainsworth five, Coach Kermit Ambrose's Pierce Bluejays and the Norfolk high Panthers, coached by Pat Panek.

Ainsworth, which has a record of 17 straight wins, and Norfolk were first selected as seeded teams. Pierce, Wayne and Newman Grove were then picked and the names of the first two drawn from a hat. These three teams were considered to be of about equal strength. The tournament will be played on March 2, 4 and 5 on the Norfolk high school floor. Wayne is favored over Fullerton in the opening round, but Coach Morris is nevertheless taking no chances and is drilling his team for a tough game.

Favorites in the first round are Ainsworth, Pierce, Wayne, Neligh, and Norfolk with the West Point-Plainview clash also even, and the Madison-Newman Grove game a close one.

Wildcats Topple Wesleyan and Nebraska 'B' for Second Time

Late Drive Clinches 43-40 Win from Husker B Saturday.

It was anybody's game until the last two minutes as Wayne and Nebraska B took turns holding the lead, but a timely rally engineered by Red Lingenfelter and Rusty Bradford gave the Wildcats a victory, 43-40, in a rousing finish of the Ag college count last Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats thus capped their second game in two days from Lincoln fives and ran their victory string to 11 for the season. Credit must go to the splendid play of Coach Hickman's tall boys, Bob Cunningham and Red Lingenfelter, whose underbasket goals were too much for the shorter Husker guards. Bob and Red tied for the scoring honors with Hubert of Nebraska B, each getting 15.

Wildcats Lag. Wayne was slow in starting, with the Scarlet team taking a 10-5 margin before Cunningham found the range for a volley of shots which put the Wildcats ahead, 14-10. Hubert, sharpshooter of Husker guard, was instrumental in regaining the lead for his team, 16-15 at half intermission.

Wayne Ahead in Second. Again in the second half the lead changed hands repeatedly. It was 23-16 for Wayne before long but Hubert again led the Scarlet back in front, 29-28, with nine minutes left to play. Campbell aided Hubert as the Husker drive continued until they led 37-33.

Lingenfelter and Cunningham came through with field goals and a free throw to put Wayne ahead 38-37, with two left. Duncan of the Huskers counted on a one-handed shot to give the Scarlet a 39-38 lead which looked bad for Wayne.

With about one minute left, Bradford put in a long shot and Lingenfelter added a free throw and shortly after a follow of Cunningham's side shot. The score was then 43-38. Wilson, Husker forward, added a fielder to make it 43-40 as the gun sounded.

Marshall and Retzlaff, Wayne forward and guard, played fine defensive ball throughout the contest.

Ladies' League Ends In Tie For The Lead

Teams in the Women's league at the Wayne bowling alleys must engage in playoffs to decide the final standings. Coryell Auto Co. and Karmel Kohn Shop teams are tied for first and the Young Business Women and the Boyd Hotel are deadlocked in fifth place.

Men's teams have two more weeks of play with the Carhart Lumber Co. bowlers leading.

Wayne Prep Breaks Even in Two Games

Wayne prep's spirited rally failed by three points of tying the score as Stanton edged out a 29-26 decision at Stanton Tuesday night. Trailing 11-22 at the half, Wayne came back with a rush which saw them outscore Stanton 15-7, but it wasn't enough.

A small floor hampered the prep floor play and passing, and they looked ragged in the first half.

The Bulldogs finish their regular schedule tomorrow evening when they tackle the strong Pierce club there.

Wayne prep 44, Hartington 21. Wayne prep handed the oft-beaten Hartington high cagers another crushing defeat, 44-21, in a scoring bee here last Friday evening. Coach Bloss used almost his entire squad in subduing Hartington, with everyone breaking fast and shooting accurately.

Don Strahan, shifted to a forward position, looked good as he tossed in eight field goals. Whorlow also counted eight fielders. Hartington never had a chance although they fought hard throughout the game.

Wayne prep completes its regular schedule next week with a pair of games away from home, at Stanton Tuesday evening and at Pierce on Friday.

Six-Week Period Ends. Wayne high school will finish this six-week period March 2. The reports will go out the following Monday.

PERU GAME CHANGED TO TUESDAY EVENING; KEARNEY HERE FRIDAY

Wayne Teachers play two conference games here within the next five days, meeting Kearney tomorrow night and the fast Peru Bobcats on Tuesday evening, March 1. The date of the Peru game, originally scheduled for March 2, was changed to avoid a conflict with the opening night of the Class B district tournament here.

Both contests are certain to be thrilling exhibitions with all three of the teams boasting high powered offenses. Peru has lost only two games, to Doane and Nebraska B. Wayne defeated Nebraska B twice after they lost to the Bobcats at Peru earlier, 35-53. So it appears that they lost to the Bobcats at Peru earlier, 35-53. So it appears that they lost to the Bobcats at Peru earlier, 35-53. So it appears that they lost to the Bobcats at Peru earlier, 35-53.

Coach Hickman inserted his reserves in the second half and they carried on the battle until the last five minutes when a late Wesleyan rally threatened the Wildcat lead. The regulars went in to stem the Plainsmen's frantic effort as the count stood 36-30 for Wayne.

The regulars, playing topnotch ball, at once smothered the Wesleyan drive and tossed in a shower of fielders that put Wayne safely out in front by 11 points as the game ended.

Souders, slight Wesleyan forward, was high point man with 12 counters. Retzlaff, Wayne, had 11, and Bradford, Wayne, 9.

CONGRESS

KARL STEFAN

Congress Hopes For Best.
Three of the four Nebraska members of the house who were present voted against the farm bill conference report because it still contained the objectionable compulsory features. They hoped that the bill might be corrected in the senate. The bill was forced through the house under the terrible gag rule and only four hours of debate were given to this important measure. Members hope that it will result in getting additional benefits to the farmers. The vote in the house was 283 to 135.

For Bigger Navy.
The house naval affairs committee has been holding hearings for many days on the proposed new naval appropriations. Those who are for and those who are against a big navy have crowded the committee room each day. A big fight on that bill is scheduled when it reaches the floor. The navy only recently received 500,000,000 dollars for the next fiscal year. The new bill calls for 800,000,000 more dollars and more big ships. Members of the committee admit that our nation is watching other nations who are rapidly building new battleships and bigger ships and bigger guns, these members say, Uncle Sam will have to do the same thing to protect himself.

Proposed Army Appropriation.
The sub-committee on army appropriations is about finished with its deliberation on the new army appropriation bill. Members admit that there will be no cuts in expenditures for our army service in the far-east although they say there will be no "increases" for our army in the Philippine islands. This, they indicate, means that Uncle Sam is about through with the islands and that there is no present plan to defend them. The fact that appropriations will not be increased would indicate that Uncle Sam is going to carry out his promise and let loose of the Philippines in 1946 as scheduled.

Automobile Fuel From Wood.
Experts before a house committee the other day told congressmen that the United States is not wholly dependent upon oil or gasoline to run automobiles. They say that we have enough wood in our forests to run all the cars we now have. They point out that in Germany they are using a lot of substitutes these days; a wood derivative is used to run cars. Hard wood makes the best gas for cars. These American experts who have been around and who know what they are talking about, also tell congressmen that the American farmer some of these days will have no trouble in solving his surplus problems if he puts farm products to new uses. They agree that the conversion of surplus grain and corn into fuel alcohol is a potentially great contribution to the solution of the surplus problem. Considerable evidence tending to prove the assertion has recently been put into the record.

Urges Bureau To Fine Arts.
The patents committee has been holding hearings on a proposed bill to establish a bureau of fine arts in the federal government. The hearings were attended by some of the most famous artists, composers and writers who believe that if a bureau of fine arts can be established in the government, it would result in giving

Because Friends Slept, Linksman Gets No Prizes

"Because a couple of fellows from Wayne, Neb., overslept yesterday, C. E. Wright lost an automobile load of gifts for making a hole-in-one," according to an account February 15 in the Galveston, Texas, Daily News.

"Mr. Wright, Russell Larson, L. W. McNatt and W. C. Corryell, all of Wayne, for the past couple weeks have made up a foursome at the municipal links. But yesterday McNatt and Larson were held away by the soporific gulf breezes and the other two made their way to the links.

"On the second hole, a par three 115-yarder, Wright teed off, and for the first time in his 18 years of golfing, watched the ball dive into the cup for a hole-in-one."

Afterward Mr. Wright learned that if he had been playing in a foursome he would have received from Galveston business firms the following: Dinner for four at two cafes, a sweater, shirt and tie, $2 in merchandise, six golf balls, case of beer, cabinet smoker, flashlight, quart of salad dressing, five cartons of cigarettes, $10 in laundry, $3 in dry cleaning, $2 in cleaning and pressing, $5 in cleaning and pressing, belt buckle, another case of beer, wash and grease job, crank case of oil, case of ginger ale, bronze medal and three shirts.

Conference Held On Rehabilitation

The conference of the Farm Security administration February 10 and 11 at Lincoln, was attended by Ray L. Verzal, supervisor, Jack M. Jones, assistant supervisor, and Miss Rena Johnson, clerk, the county staff of the FSA in Wayne and Pierce counties.

The general aspects of the program were brought out and the reports of the various workers showed a steady advancement of the program. Many cases of complete rehabilitation were cited by the various supervisors. This is the first time that all of the employees of the FSA in Nebraska have had the opportunity to assemble and discuss the prevailing conditions.

Many speakers gave interesting talks and discussions. Governor R. L. Cochran gave a brief review of Nebraska. L. A. White, state director, discussed the conditions and progress of the FSA in the state, while the regional director, Cal. A. Ward, gave the conditions and progress in the region. Region 7 consists of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. The general rehabilitation in the United States was well covered by Milo Perkins, assistant administrator of the FSA in Washington.

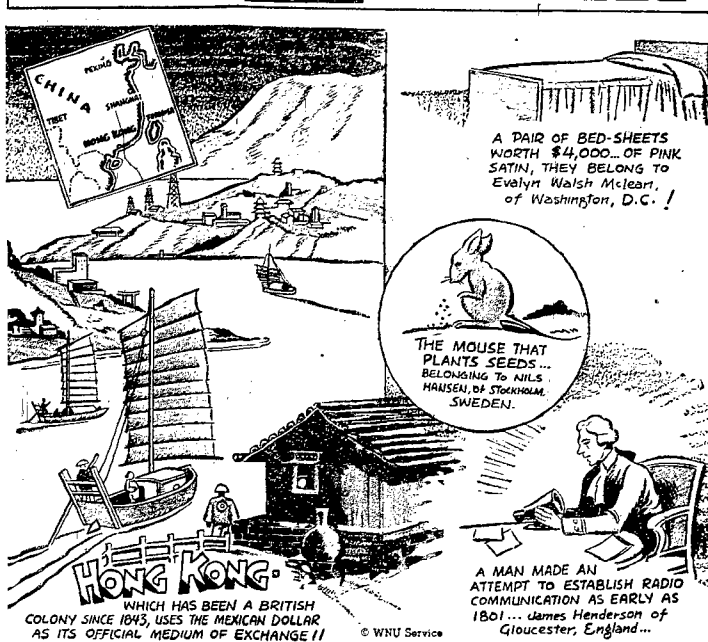

The conservation of the resources of the country were well brought out by the moving picture, "The River." This gave an idea of the benefits of river systems as well as the dangers of the loss of soil through erosion and wash into river systems. Educationally this picture is well worth seeing from the standpoint of the conservation of natural resources.

To Let Contracts On Road Projects

Among the road projects on which the state board will let contracts March 10 is grading, graveling and culverts three miles north of Carroll toward Belden. Other projects on which bids are asked at that time are: Bituminous mat on 5.2 miles between Norfolk and Stanton, 1 mile grading and culvert between Niobrara and Verdell, 1 mile grading, culvert and paving between Emerson and Nacora, 1.8 miles grading, culverts and graveling between Niobrara and Nowata.

Sings Over Radio.
Ralph Gansko, who has been in Norfolk with his father and brother since Christmas, sang from radio station WJAG, Norfolk, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Gansko who was studying voice with Madam Merle Alcock, who once sang in Wayne, and who was singing in a large New York church, came home because of illness. He plans to return to the city in March.

But It's True

Mr. Hansen's mouse was found as a day-old baby in a lawyer drawer. Hansen, a lawyer, trained it, and today it is his constant companion, making its home in his vest pocket. It was taught to make tiny troughs in freshly-filled soil, and to then drop vegetable seeds in the troughs.

Mr. Henderson was considered rather a fanatic by his friends. He believed that if tall iron posts were stuck in the ground, communication could be established if a man talked with his mouth pressed to one pole and another man listened at the other. He was never successful.

Safety Patrolman Appeals To Motorists For Cooperation

Corporal L. W. Fouts, Norfolk member of the Nebraska highway safety patrol, appealed to motorists for cooperation in reducing the death rate on highways, in a forceful talk given at the meeting of the Young Business Men's club at Hotel Stratton Wednesday evening last week. Speaking straight from the shoulder, Corporal Fouts drove home an impressive picture of the work of law enforcement on the highway.

"We are through coddling motorists," explained the patrolman, firmly. The period of leniency during the first weeks of the patrol will give way to more rigid enforcement, he said. Motorists should by this time know the laws and their help is absolutely necessary if anything is to be accomplished in the direction of safer highways. Moreover, it is everyone's duty to cooperate.

The patrol was not created to provide a "personal valet" service for motorists, continued the speaker, although some people seem to believe so. Assistance will always be volunteered when necessary, but the average able-bodied driver should be able to change a tire without help. In an emergency, the highway patrol is prepared to give aid to unfortunate motorists.

40,000 Killed in 1932.
Quoting figures from the National Safety Council report for 1937, Corporal Fouts pointed out that there were 40,000 automobile fatalities last year: 5,600,000 people were injured or maimed for life and the total injured reached the astounding figure of 950,000.

More people are killed in automobile accidents in a year than in any war. A most ominous fact is that the death toll on our Nebraska highways has been increasing at the rate of 12 percent each. Highway fatalities for the last 10 years exceed the total killed in all wars lumped together. "If nothing more is accomplished than to prevent the annual 12 percent increase in deaths, the highway patrol will have been successful," stated Corporal Fouts.

The patrolman reviewed the history of the formation of the Nebraska highway patrol, beginning with House bill 147 which provided for (1) Motor vehicle driver's licenses, (2) Compulsory inspection of all motor cars, and (3) Creation of the safety patrol. The second provision will be effective about March 1; the other two are already well under way.

Eye Test Eliminates 5,100.
In the Nebraska tests for a driver's license, one important requirement was the eye test. Nebraska, said Corporal Fouts, is the only state which requires the eye examination. A 50 percent vision is required before a driver can receive a permit to operate a car. This test eliminated about 1 percent or 5,100 applicants. In this connection was mentioned, also,

Build Or Repair
By Federal Plan

The Federal Housing Administration program under the amended law, signed by President Roosevelt February 3 is designed to assist families of moderate means to obtain adequate and decent housing on the most favorable terms in the history of the country.

In the language of the senate banking and currency committee, it is intended "to utilize the best available means for achieving a sustained long term residential construction program with a minimum expenditure of federal funds and a maximum reliance upon private business enterprise."

It deals solely with projects and mortgages that are considered economically sound. It is designed to be largely self-sustaining through the operation of a federal mortgage insurance system which has been carefully established and successfully operated since 1934.

The Housing Administration is authorized to insure a total of $2,000,000,000 outstanding at any one time and with the approval of the president this amount may be increased to $3,000,000,000.

"This program," said Administrator Stewart McDonald, "should prove a stimulus to the construction industry but too much should not be expected of it at once. The machinery is here for the government to do its part. The success of the program in the long run, however, depends upon the wholehearted, voluntary cooperation of private capital and private industry, by which I mean the lending institutions, the material and equipment manufacturers and distributors, the builders and developers, and labor."

Small Homes Financing.

The total maximum annual carrying charge for an FHA insured mortgage on which a commitment is issued hereafter will be 5 1/2 percent.

On newly constructed houses appraised at $8,000 or less, the minimum permissible down payment or equity requirement will be reduced from 20 percent to 10 percent. Thus, on a $8,000 newly constructed house, the minimum down payment would be $800 and the maximum insurable mortgage would be $5,400, representing 90 percent of the appraisal value.

For Repair Program.

Persons, partnerships and corporations are eligible to borrow money under the modernization and repair credit plan. The borrower must have an assured income, demonstrate his ability to repay the loan, and own the property to be improved or have a lease on it running at least six months longer than the term of the loan.

Amounts up to $10,000 may be borrowed to repair or improve existing structures and amounts up to $2,500 may be borrowed for the erection of new structures.

Repayment of the loans may be spread over a period not to exceed five years for modernization and repair work and not to exceed ten years for the erection of new structures for residential use.

Miss Beryl Slack and Harold Collins of McLean, were married last week.

GARAGE AND WORKSHOP TOGETHER

Our New 1938 House Plans

Present a wonderful variety of attractive homes that will provide the comfort you want for your family and that can be built at very moderate cost. Why not pay for your own home instead of paying rent?

Why not keep all the tools around the home or farm in one spot. The best way to take care of them and the best way to provide a satisfactory place to do home workshop jobs is by planning for the workshop in the beginning.

The most inexpensive way to provide a real workshop is to build it in connection with the garage. It costs very little more to make the garage big enough to provide a shop in which home work is a pleasure.

The shop above is easy to build... We have the plans and will give estimates on the complete job and the material... Ask for No. 3032.

London Letter

By ALFRED LARSON, LONDON, ENGLAND.

Summing up on the question of damages, he said: "You may think that the crucial matter was not that Mr. Ludlow was for a certain time detained in the police station and released only after the events that you have heard, but that in broad daylight, in a crowded street, he was marched from the place where he was arrested to the police station, with an officer holding each arm. I do not want to use epithets, but it is easy to imagine a more gross indignity offered to perfectly innocent, perfectly innocent and respectable professional gentleman? It is a perilous thing when great powers, with the knowledge, it may be, of great force behind, are recklessly, foolishly or over-zealously employed. Was the affront offered an excess of authority? One of our most priceless possessions is the liberty of the subject. If once we show any signs of giving way to the abominable doctrine that, because things are done by officials, therefore some immunity must be extended to them, what is to become of our country?"

The jury had a plain mandate to bring in a verdict in favor of Ludlow, and they soon did. It is refreshing to see such rare solicitude for individual rights.

It might be argued that in England, and in the States, too, the large number of traffic violations has brought about a change in the relations of police and public. The number of police suspects has been increased vastly. In their treatment of suspects, however, it is well that the police are reminded that they can be held answerable for their mistakes. It appears that in London for a while at least police in plain clothes will not allow their zeal to blind them to the rights of citizens.

W.N.U. SERVICE

"So!" cried Rodney. "You men." —to Jacques Rodney. "You men." He has no supporters; I'll have none. He's asked for it, at last! I'll take no advantage... Ashore, now!" They went over the side, frightened, and swam slowly for the reeds away from which he was drifting in the breeze, faces over their shoulders, watching him in a sort of terror. Then Shaw slipped his knife from its sheath, clamped it between teeth and seizing a paddle, face dark with fury, drove forward. Two strokes, three. He dropped the paddle, half rising to lunge and pounce upon his adversary. But Rickman could read the plan of attack as clearly as though it had been written down for him. He waited that pulse beat until Shaw should be poised for his leap and then, cat-like, he shot out a great hand, grasped the moving canoe, shoved it, twisting it and Shaw, upset by the joggling, sprawled with a splash. Grinning, then, Rickman, supporting himself with a hand on the canoe bow, saw the other break the surface, saw him turn and strike out, swimming for him, heard his rattle of rage through the teeth set on the knife blade. "Ha!" he cried, swinging the canoe mightily. "Ha, Shaw! Plans go awry!" The stern swept toward the swimmer, blocking his way as Rickman drew himself to the far side, leering over at Shaw, now lifting a hand for support. Rodney breathed rapidly. The excitement, the unexpected plunge, the quick effort to close, had taken toll on his strength. He began working himself hand-across-hand along the canoe to be at Rickman. But, even as he went, Rickman moved on the opposite side, keeping more than an arm's length between them, laughing, laughing. "Dunce!" he cried. "Dunce! The other end to, I'd have drilled you Shaw! I'd have drilled while you whimpered for fair fight! But now you come?" Shaw swore hoarsely and started working his way around the canoe, but on ahead went Rickman, laughing until, winded, his pursuer rested again. "Our trader loses his wit?" Rickman jeered. "Our trader forgets that inland nothing is banned. He plays the gentleman and... perishes, eh?" One of Rodney's legs cramped and he grimaced in pain. He was breathing through open lips, now, failing to recover strength in this snatch of a rest period. Minutes counted; seconds, even, were precious. Slowly Shaw worked himself along the canoe as Rickman jeered. The man was confident, expecting, and with good reason, to see Shaw relax his grip at any moment, helpless through weakness even to keep his nostrils above water. They were face to face, directly opposite one another. Shaw drew his knees up until they touched the canoe bottom. He spread his feet wide, he shot them forward, he brought his heels together.

Almost before his legs gripped Rickman he saw surprise and chagrin sweep the man's face. He hooked his own elbows over the rail. He crossed his feet and jerked his legs inward with all the might left in them, with all the steel and courage in his heart. Rickman cursed sharply. The man let go the canoe with his knife and stabbed downward to cut the legs dragging at him. His other hand could not hold him safe. In a trice he was under water, direction of the slashing blade going wrong, dragged beneath the canoe, feeling hands grapple for him. Rickman's blade slashed out but Rodney caught the wrist. Rodney's head was under his adversary's chin, now, forcing him backward; legs twined about one of the stern.
