FIFTYSEVENTH YEAR

College Commencement Speakers Are Chosen

Calendar Is Arranged Here
For Graduation Week
Last of May.

Dr. W. Earle Smith of San Francisco, Calif., will be baccalaureate speaker at the Wayne college exercises Sunday, May 22. His topic will be "Laying the Keel of a Great Ship." Dr. Joseph A. Soren of Norman, Okla., will give the commencement address Thursday, May 26, speaking on "A Teacher's Influence."

Dr. Smith is a native Nebraskan, having spent his early childhood from 2 years up to 16 on his father's ranch between North Platte and McCook. Later the family resided at Fremont where he received his B. S. degree from Midland college.

Dr. Smith became pastor of South Park church, Los Angeles, in 1909 and later was pastor of the First Baptist church of Ontario, Calif., for eight years. For the past 10 years he has been executive secretary of the San Francisco, Bay Cities Baptist Union. He has wide experience as director of young people's work and will bring a vital message to the young men and women of this year's graduating class.

Dr. Soren was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and received his early education in the public schools of Covington, Ky. After completing high school he had eight years of successful experience in the banking business. His desire for further

WAYNE BOY MAKES GOOD UNDER FORCE OF DYNAMIC MIND

HAROLD Croghan who was here this week for a brief visit with relatives, spent his youth in Wayne. He was graduated from Wayne high school in 1916; and during his high school days, he served as janitor in the Herald plant, and that experience seemed to fuse into his blood a liking for the printing business. He remembers one impossible requirement—burning waste paper in a screened contraption parked in the center of the street without permitting embers to blow in every direction. Without power to command the wind, the papers could not be made to lie still. Waste papers were generally burned on principal streets in the earlier days—an annoying practice which in time authorities had the good judgment to stop. In an inspection of the Herald plant as it is today, he found none of the equipment familiar to him twenty years ago. Harold was unaided by a silver spoon, but he had a precocious, resolute assortment of brains. He was graduated from the Wayne Teachers college, and later completed an advanced course in the University of Iowa. His teaching experience took him to the West Indies where he developed a knowledge of Spanish. He is now teaching Spanish in a Chicago high school. In connection with his school work, he supervises an educational publication. If there were more Harold Croghans in the world there would be more self-reliance and fewer economic troubles.

Cornhusker State Boys Selected

Three From Here to Attend
Meeting at Lincoln
Middle of June.

Three Wayne boys will attend Cornhusker Boys' State, sponsored by the American Legion, which will be held on the campus of the University of Nebraska in Lincoln June 11 to 18. Local clubs have cooperated in financing the three boys. Leroy Corvell is being sent by the Woman's club and Business and Professional Women's departments. Roy Larson, Jr., by the Kiwanis club and Henry Welch by the Young Business Men's club. Boys' state is an effort on the part of the Legion to bring to Nebraska boys a knowledge of the fundamental principles of government through actual practice and control of the city, county and state offices for the period of boys' state.

The Cornhusker Boys' State is limited to 200 boys. Upon reaching the campus the boys will be divided into cities and counties and the entire assemblage will become the mythical 49th state which will function for eight days, according to the laws of procedure of the state of Nebraska. The boys elect their own city and state officials with their own unicameral and city councils where they present and argue their own bills.

An adequate staff of adult counselors and leaders will be present to aid in the program. Among the board of directors for boys' state are Dr. C. F. Dienst, formerly of Wayne, Gov. R. L. Cochran and Theodore W. Metcalfe of Omaha.

Additional boys were selected from Wayne, but because the number was limited were unable to attend.

The local committee cooperating with the Legion included Supt. E. W. Smith, Prof. E. J. Hunterner, Rev. Wm. Kearns, E. W. Huse and Homer Smothers.

On Thursday, April 28, at 2:30 p. m. the corner stone of the boys' new dormitory at the State Teachers college will be laid. Governor R. L. Cochran as well as a number of other out state visitors will be in Wayne to assist in the ceremonies. It is important that the business people of Wayne show their interest by attending this service and for that reason all business firms in Wayne are requested to close their business places for the period of one hour, from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., so that they and their employees may attend.

Pass Resolution To Request Grant

State Normal Board Favors
Activities Building At College Here.

A resolution was passed at the state normal board meeting in Lincoln Monday, setting up machinery which empowers Wayne to build a student-faculty activities building on the campus provided a federal grant can be secured. A similar resolution was passed for Chadron to build and equip housing quarters for faculty members on that campus.

All bids on the Kearney dormitory were turned by board members because work from the federal government indicated that the federal funds applied for more than five years ago would be available soon. Plans for the men's new dormitory at Peru were also postponed in order that application might be made for federal funds. Chadron is unable to share in the funds for the present dormitory. Wayne never made application at that time.

Body of Flood Victim Is Recovered Near Wayne

Chelsea Thompson And Son
Make Find At Goshorn
Farm Near Wayne.

The body of J. H. Lohmann, 68, of Hastings, drowned in flood waters west of Winside the evening of April 14, was found a week later, last Thursday morning at 9:30 in a branch of Logan creek, about 160 rods south of the Logan proper, on the John Goshorn farm, three-fourth mile west and three-fourth south of Wayne. Chelsea Thompson, WPA worker, and his son, James, 13, made the discovery. Falling of the water, a foot and a half lower than the day before disclosed the body lying face down in the creek bed. The head submerged but the body and feet above water. The body had caught in a tree growing in the south bank of the creek. Washed by the waters, the tree was lying on the side and almost uprooted.

The body was taken to Gaebler & Neely parlors at Winside, and a Hastings undertaker, firm look it to Omaha for cremation. Masonic funeral rites were conducted in Hastings.

The spot at which the body was found is about 10 miles across country from the scene of the accident. Sheriff J. H. Pile is of the opinion that the body traveled twice that far because flood waters would roll it from one side to the other along the creek bed.

Lohmann's body was in good condition considering the fact that it had been in water for a week. Facial features were easily identified by Fred Miller, secretary of the Sons of Herman lodge at Winside, who knew deceased. The body was badly bloated and caused with mud. Cold water is believed to have helped preserve it.

The vest was full of money. At the home of the drowning it was reported he had removed his shoes. A watch with fine gold chain and a fountain pen in his vest pocket were unbroken.

In Mr. Lohmann's pocket was $185 in money. Mr. Lohmann's suit $300 found last week Tuesday by Gilbert Westgath in a pasture near the creek about two and a half miles east of Winside, contained $1,100 worth of bonds. (Continued on page two.)

ANOTHER FALL OF MOISTURE GENERAL OVER MIDDLE WEST

ANOTHER rainfall covered Nebraska the past week. This precipitation was comparatively light in the northeast part of the state, around a half inch falling here. Twelve hundredths of an inch was reported at Norfolk. Others reported: Wakefield, .56; Laurel, .92; Randolph, .54; Pilger, .25; West Point, one inch. Rains were rather heavier in south and southwest parts of the state. Lincoln had nearly an inch. Hastings had .85 and Grand Island, .35. McCool received 1.45. Over the line in Colorado a four-inch rainfall delayed train service on the Burlington. Moisture varied, but no section was neglected, and the promise for old-time harvests continues to rise. There is no absolute certainty until crops are gathered in the autumn, though every condition indicates return of the abundance so much needed.

Mr. Thompson had searched three previous days for the body, accompanying Sheriff Pile to Winside to help in the hunt Sunday last week. He said he "had a hunch" he would find the body Thursday so he did not go to his WPA work and he kept James out of school for the purpose. With lunch baskets and coffee packed for the day and with long sticks in their hands, the father and son set out early Thursday morning. They began at the Logan at Wayne and started to walk along the banks toward Winside. Mr. Thompson took one side and his son the other side of the creek. The body was on the side of the creek being probed by Mr. Thompson. At first the body looked to Mr. Thompson like a stove pipe. But further investigation proved otherwise. Mr. Thompson remained beside the body while his son went to Goshorn's and telephoned to Sheriff Pile. The latter and County Attorney Burr Davis viewed the body and made arrangements for its removal. Uses Reward For Family. Sheriff Pile paid Thompson $25 he had offered for finding the body. Wayne Man Finds Engineering In West Interesting

Marvelous engineering feats of man impressed A. L. Diagon who arrived home Monday after spending five months on the west coast. Men are busy now making an island in San Francisco bay for the 1939 world fair. Mr. Diagon saw dredge boats with their huge suction pipes through which sand is brought from far out in the bay and deposited to make the island site. The construction of Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco also is marvelous engineering. The giant cables holding the bridge are eight-foot steel pieces. Mr. Diagon traveled from San Diego to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Stockton, Chico, Woodland, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver. He liked Portland, Ore., and Vancouver, Wash. the best.

Conflict in Thinking IN ORDER to make us understand how edifying thousands in great centers feel as they struggle from hand to mouth...

Instead of finding fault with one's own shortcomings or with frequent fallacies of government tinkering, we conclude from our question that workers on job hunters in metropolitan centers put in idle time...

It is different in farm areas. Here we applaud one who has succeeded beyond the average. Anyway, we have no great fortunes to excite emulation.

Conflict of Views GREAT minds are in conflict as they mull over problems in economics. Jimmie Roosevelt, eldest son of the president and basking in reflected light as heir-presumptive...

Green says relief through government spending is but temporary at best and that for enduring prosperity jobs must be found in private industry for the eleven million unemployed men and women.

Green advises cooperation between labor and capital to safeguard the country's future. He cautioned: "No organization, either of employers or employees, which exercises autocratic or fascist control, can have any permanent place in our country."

Spending what is necessary to relieve sufferings should be accompanied by workable plans to restore the tide to private employment. Jimmie's idea of dishing out millions to reconstruct the economic order is a mere continuation of text-book speculations. Green's idea is more practical.

Foreign Opinion AXEL Winner-Gren, Sweden's leading industrialist, said in an interview in New York that America's latest depression is economically unwarranted. He attributes our troubles to "crippling taxation, which discourages business from expanding; mutual distrust of capital, labor and government; under-selling of America to her own citizens."

address to improve morals in self-government, and do a thorough cleanup job, explaining that men "haven't done much of late" in that direction.

General Motors employees threaten to strike because of the way former fellow-workers were let out of jobs. Whether a worker strikes or is fired, he adds to the unemployed army, and increases the burden on society.

A drive through the countryside reveals an intensity of green unequalled at this time in several years. Seasonal moisture and warmth have started off vegetation luxuriantly. Springs and streams have normal water supply.

It is complimentary to the American press and reassuring to the American public to read what Wm. A. Eddy, president of Hobart college, said in regard to the newspapers in this country.

We judge from Mark Sullivan's analysis of the Roosevelt mind that he thinks if a dictatorship threatens it is due more to unwise moves than to real intention.

The Omaha Journal-Star sees in the electrification of farms and ranches removal of a serious drawback to farm life. Making electric light and power as common in the country as in the city is an encouraging prospect.

Another Roosevelt. (Saturday Evening Post.) It is a gloomy report on Washington that John W. Owens, editor of the Baltimore Sun, makes of his paper.

Paralleling the destruction of Mr. Roosevelt's intellectual leadership of Congress is a condition throughout the New Deal of intellectual fatigue, so definite as to suggest intellectual disintegration.

The extraordinary and intensely illuminating fact Mr. Owens reports, is that Lt. Col. Jimmy Roosevelt is the "center of the attention that used to be given the latest importation of collegiate wisdom."

Russian "Prosperity." (From The Boston Herald.) "To carry a pound of butter the unskilled worker in Moscow must labor almost two days. His wages will be 150 rubles a month, a ruble being 20 cents."

These comparisons, however, make no allowance for the deductions from the wages of every toiler. He will have to work many more hours and days for his butter, shoes and clothes because one ruble in every five goes for trade union dues, association subscriptions, taxes and loans, all of which are collected under compulsion.

The writer holds that the technique of production somehow must be mastered before long or else the very existence of the Soviet system will be jeopardized. What is happening is what may be expected to happen anywhere when private initiative is abolished.

Former President Herbert Hoover appeared to women of the nation in a recent address to improve morals in self-government, and do a thorough cleanup job, explaining that men "haven't done much of late" in that direction.

BARTON PROPOSES. Bruce Barton, well known writer and member of congress from New York, is asking for an amendment to the corrupt practices act to prevent influencing the votes of those who receive government funds.

Without Experience. The inability of Secretary Henry Wallace to push out his chest and point with pride to his own successful experience at farming does not seem to abash him in the least.

Pioneer Courage. Old-timers who braved hardships in taming the Nebraska prairies, make us wonder why we cannot capture the spirit of the pioneer in regaining lost ground.

An Easter Blizzard. Recalling tough times endured when the state was young and raw is a story in the Geneva Signal giving an account of a blizzard that swept the state on Easter Sunday, April 13, 1873.

To Kiwanis Meeting. Rev. and Mrs. Carl G. Bader and Fred L. Blair went to Fremont Tuesday. Mr. Blair went on to Omaha where he led singing for the charter presentation to a new Kiwanis club in north Omaha.

WOMEN. Are girls and women growing as broad wings and keepers of household exchanges? As showing an increasing tendency, we notice all the powers of superstition are more often directed at women than men.

Admitted to Hospital. Lela Nielsen of Hopkins, was admitted to a local hospital Monday for treatment of a septic sore throat.

Snow Plentiful In Mountains For Irrigation

Western mountains have more snow than for some years and this insures plenty of water for irrigation, according to Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Hess who arrived home Sunday after visiting their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Drake, and family in Greeley, Colo. Greeley is an irrigated section and excellent crops are growing.

Mr. Drake, who is district agent for the Northwestern Mutual Insurance company, likes his work in Greeley. The family is favorably impressed with the city because of its schools and other opportunities.

While Dr. and Mrs. Hess were in Greeley a district music contest brought about 5,000 students there. Art Convention Is Attended By Wayne Teacher
The theme of the Western Arts association 44th annual convention at Milwaukee, Wis., which Miss Matthea Pierce of the Wayne State Teachers college attended last week, was "Art at Work in Education." In the Western Arts education takes in places west of Pittsburgh to the mountains and south through Tennessee. Membership is made up of leading workers in art, industrial art and home economics.
Officers of the association are Miss Jane Betsy Welling of Detroit, Mich., head of the Wayne university art department, president; Prof. Wm. Varrum, head of art department at the University of Wisconsin, vice president; Harry E. Wood, director of art and industrial art at Indianapolis, secretary. Alfred G. Pelikan, superintendent of Milwaukee schools, was host to the convention.
The convention was marked by collection of exhibits from leading schools and college departments. The collections were not intended to show off their excellence, according to Miss Pierce, but rather to give to the visitor's new trends in art education throughout the country.
The art department from the University of Wisconsin furnished moving pictures showing the new way of teaching students by outdoor trips, watching the growth of trees, the flow of water, thus teaching rhythm, balance and harmony.
The art institute of Chicago showed photographs of students at work. Other photographs were shown from the Alcon, Ohio schools, exhibiting photographs of art exhibits.
One of the notable addresses during the convention was given by the superintendent of the Des Moines public school, Dr. Frank E. Baker. Dr. Baker remarked that whereas formerly art was called upon by geography, history and other teachers to assist in making the subject more interesting to children, it is now necessary for arts to be the core of the project and through art other subjects are taught. Art is an integral part of civilization.
Another speaker was Miss Ruth Reeves, American textile designer of New York City. Miss Reeves made a textile design before the group, taking the design from an old Pennsylvania Dutch chest.
Frank Lloyd Wright, American architect well-known for his advanced views, spoke on architecture, the fundamental art. Mr. Wright is the George Bernard Shaw in art, and his talk created much discussion among members.
The New Vision. One of the most interesting discussions, according to Miss Pierce, was given by Prof. Laszlo Moholy-Nagy, director of the new Bauhaus at Chicago, speaker on "The New Vision." Prof. Moholy-Nagy is an Australian and was one of the instructors of the Gernart Bauhaus. The purpose of the study is to develop creative imagination in designing for practical machine made things. He founded the school in America. After Hitler had closed the school and ordered the instructors out. The University of Chicago and Allied Arts association arranged for the work in Chicago. The Marshall Field mansion was presented for the experiment. The speaker used moving pictures and showed the development by means of personal activities of the young people who came to Bauhaus for training. This is an entirely new trend in art education, making use of the sense of touch as well as vision. An instructor from Bauhaus will speak at the Nebraska art to be held in Lincoln Saturday.
One of the interesting features of the banquet was a cappella choir from the Milwaukee high school.
A feature of all the exhibits shown was the increasing attention given to fine art in crafts. All sorts of materials are being used to make clay, wood and metal objects. Many glass show cases had samples of the work. Paintings and drawings showed the interest being taken by children. Most of the children's drawings, according to Miss Pierce, were on large sheets of paper, painted with large brushes, using lots of color with a bold, free and happy expression.
One exhibit by a sixth grade showed that children had had access to a museum with many large, pre-historic animals as a complete set-up of forest had been made with clay animals from two to three feet high. Another model was of a village with cardboard houses, church and stores, placed around a village green. Flower beds and gardens were also evident.
At the business meeting Miss Gilmartin, superintendent of art at Toledo, was elected president.

Kiwanis Leader Stresses Peace

Friendly Relations Will Be Theme of Meeting in California.

United States and Canada have dispositions to be reasonable, so we need have no fear of the long border on the north," said Lieutenant Governor W. F. Zimmerman at Fremont, in addressing Kiwanis club Monday at Hotel Stratton. "We don't know how fortunate we are to have this friendly relation with Canada. The countries are also friendly in club relationships. The disputes we have had with Canada have been peacefully settled. There is a feeling of confidence with each other."

The Nebraska-Iowa Kiwanis district elected a peace ticket for the peaceful relations with Canada. The theme of the international convention of Kiwanis at San Francisco will be peace.

Mr. Zimmerman reported on the work of the club in this district and asked the Wayne group to stress attendance, increase in membership and activity in the community. The Omaha area has been influential in starting three new clubs in this district.

The directors of Wayne are considering having some meetings during the months of July and August.

Wayne club was invited to the North Omaha club's charter meeting Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Blair attended from here.

This club is invited to the 15th anniversary dinner at Norfolk May 2.

Food Preparation Contest

Wayne county 4-H club girls are among the first to have an opportunity to compete for college scholarships and other awards in the nation-wide 4-H club food preparation contest which is to be supported for the fourth consecutive year by Servel, Inc. It has just been announced by H. B. Hachmeyer, dealer for Servel Electric Refrigerators in this vicinity. The contest is conducted by the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Clubwork, of Chicago, through the agricultural extension service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mr. Hachmeyer explained.

"This year Servel, Inc. will award four scholarships to national winners as well as kerosene-operated Servel Electric refrigerators to both the national and sectional winners," he said. "State winners receive an expense-paid trip to the annual 4-H club congress in Chicago, and county winners are awarded gold medals of honor."

"Cooperation with 4-H club members participating in the food preparation contest will be carried on through local Servel Electric dealers, collaborating with 4-H club leaders."

Local 4-H club girls are urged to take advantage of the early acceptance of the food preparation contest by the Nebraska leaders so they may plan for a record-breaking participation at the state fair as well as in food preparation demonstration and records." Mr. Hachmeyer said.

Stock Farms Are Best Farms

Omaha Journal Stockman—It is generally true that the older agriculture is, the higher the value it puts on live stock production. One very good reason for that is the need for restoration of soil fertility, which is most easily accomplished through an intensive system of live stock production. As the soil wears, and improvements go down, people come to see, by contrast, the well being of communities that put first emphasis on live stock. Everyone interested in agriculture has observed that when driving through the country, they go to live stock areas which are recognized even before the animals themselves are seen. The buildings are in better repair, the fences are in place, while stables, stacks and barn man all testify to large crop production.

The observation often is made that no farmer ever went broke raising good live stock, which, so far as we know, is true. Plenty of people have failed in the live stock business, but their failure has been due to speculation rather than production. A good sound system of live stock farming, maintaining herds and flocks of quality, keeping them healthy and feeding them well, is the best and safest business in the whole world. It may not make a man very rich, but by the same token it will never land him in the poorhouse. This idea should be passed on to the young fellows getting started. For security no less than for an interesting life's work, the well stocked live stock farm just can't be beat.

Trouble With Farm Labor.

(Omaha Journal Stockman)
Most of the strikes and labor disputes at this time are confined to industrial plants while farmers have been more or less immune to these difficulties. Their time is coming, however, as labor organizers and communist agitators are now looking upon agriculture as a promising field of operations.

A message from San Francisco declares that organized labor and organized farmers stand at a crossroads in California. Labor seeks to increase union ranks and win greater power with the enlistment of farm workers. Farmers equally are determined to prevent regimentation of workers in agricultural areas.

Naturally the sharp rivalry of labor leaders and organizations comes into the picture and both the C. I. O. and the C. F. O. seek control of the proposed organization of farm workers. Organizing this including union of farm laborers and serving as the voice of the agriculturalists is the Associated Farmers of California, Inc., one of the strongest farm bodies in the nation and a professed deadly enemy of unionism and radical and communistic organizations.

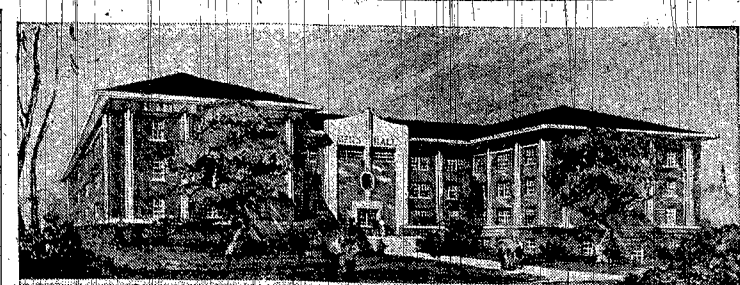

In their refusal to deal with organized labor, the farmers declare they are paying their hands all they can possibly pay and survive. The average farm labor wage is 30 cents an hour. In every argument against labor, the farmers always come back to the threat of communism.

On account of the seasonal character of much of the agriculture on the Pacific coast, fruit and vegetable farming, as well as owing to the migratory habits of farm help there, the agitators have been able to make some headway and strikes and labor difficulties have become rather common. Government relief plans also tend to encourage these labor troubles as going on a strike has become synonymous with going on federal relief.

In the agricultural Middle West the efforts of labor agitators and communists have not been meeting with much success but the very fact that threats to organize the farm hands are being heard and the attractiveness of federal relief arrangements for strikers afford every reason for the belief that sooner or later corn belt farmers will be having labor disputes in addition to their other troubles.

To Protect Buttermilk Producers.

The reciprocal trade commission is now working over the proposed trade agreement with Canada. Some members of the house who represent districts where butterfat is an important farm commodity are making a joint effort to induce the commission not to lower the tariff on milk, butter and cheese. They fear that the farmer who milks cows for a living may be forced into competition with the foreign butter kings. Ten of these members were selected to call on this commission where they made their pleas. They also asked, at the same time, some tariff protection to the farmers who grow rye.

The members told the commission that the American butter market is very "sensitive." The commission was told that the arrival of a boatload of foreign butter in any of our ports always results in lowering the price of butterfat in every state in the union. It is admitted that by their diversification methods the milk farmer in New Zealand can lay down butter in England and America cheaper than English and American farmers can produce it. That even includes the price of shipping the butter by boat, many miles from New Zealand.

The commission appeared sympathetic but indicated that in the long run by taking a little to foreign farm produce America gets more customers in foreign lands. One member of the commission told the congressman that more American exports have begun as a result of reciprocal trades. Members believe that the present increase in American exports is due to wars in Spain and China. Soldiers must eat and wars are won by well fed soldiers. So they have been buying a little more American farm products. Anyway that's the viewpoint of the men who talked to the reciprocal trade commissioners.

Foreign Oil Comes In Free.

America's largest whaler with 9,000 tons of whale oil has just sailed into a New York harbor. The oil is valued at one million dollars. This whaler although operating with an American permit is more than 75 percent owned by foreign stockholders. Every whale captured and processed to make up this big cargo was caught and killed by Norwegian crews in Norwegian killer boats. The tax on this whale oil at 3 cents per pound would amount to $694,800.00, but Uncle Sam will not get it because of a ruling of the treasury department. All efforts up to this time to collect this tax on the ground that it is foreign oil have failed. So it comes in duty free to compete with American fats and oils.

Previous cargoes of oil made on board this same ship from whales caught by foreign whalers, killed and brought here, duty free amounted to 28,500 tons. The tax which has not been paid, would have amounted to $1,579,200. Recently the house passed a bill to start an investigation as to the extent foreign oil is coming to our shores to compete with American fats and oils.

Committee Kills Train Limit Bill.

Many inquiries have come to the district office regarding the fate of the train limit bill. These can be answered by stating that recently the house interstate commerce committee voted not to report the bill out. That means that this congress will not get this legislation about which there has been an exceptional amount of correspondence by those for and against the bill. In 1937 the senate passed this bill which would have limited the length of freight to 70 cars. The six-hour day bill for railroads and the full train crew bill is still pending before the senate and house committees, but present indications are that there may be no action on this proposed legislation during this session.

Road Program Not To Be Curtailed.

The house committee on roads which had planned a big fight against proposals to drastically cut the appropriations for federal aid for highways during 1939 has won its fight without the necessity of floor debate. Word came to the committee members that the leadership will accede to all the demands of the road boosters so the 1939 program as outlined in the authorization will remain status quo. This assurance came following the president's message on plans to increase relief expenditures.

The house had been debating the 1939 agricultural appropriation bill in which the road money is carried. The bill had cut the road

Unemployment Forces Expenditures.

The president's message to the congress and his press release that about the unemployment problem are topics which members of the house and senate are discussing, with unusual interest. With about 15 billion already spent to solve the problem and the proposed expenditure of about four billion more, the legislative situation threatens to keep the congress busy for another sixty days. Many leaders admit that their original plan to end this session by May 15 must be changed. Members on both sides admit that the unemployment problem must be solved and because no other real solution, except to spend in order to create more buying power, has been suggested, the new relief legislation may have no serious difficulty in passing. The fight to "demark" the proposed new relief funds has already started.

May Not Get Wage and Hour Bill.

Whether or not a new wages and hours bill is to be offered to the house and senate is problematical. Most members seem agreeable to a modified bill which would call for a 44 hour maximum week and a 25 cent minimum wage. But there are certain definite signs to indicate that perhaps the wages and hours legislation may be deferred for some time.

I. O. U. In Security Fund.

The most recent figures available for a fourteen month period show that the federal government has collected from wage earners and employers the sum of $1,666,000,000 for old age and unemployment insurance; has disbursed less than $100,000,000 in benefits; and the balance of over 1 1/2 billion dollars has been borrowed by the government and spent miscellaneously. This means that the federal treasury during this past year was borrowed from itself instead of borrowing from banks and insurance companies to the tune of 1 1/2 billion dollars. It means that government I. O. U.'s have been deposited in the social security fund in the place of 1 1/2 billion dollars in cash that has been taken out and spent.

Conservation Is Need Of Present

Prof. Charles Chinn Urges Attention At Once to Save Nature.

"The prairie hen is Nebraska's only native bird," stated Prof. C. R. Chinn in speaking to women at the district convention here Friday morning. "Others are migratory or have been introduced, Deer, buffalo and other wild life roamed the prairie but are gone, and conservation now is the only means of saving other natural resources," Prof. Chinn believes.

"Natural resources are given to us to use while we are here and a penalty is paid by this or future generations when more is taken than necessary. It is not our privilege to squander nature for nature exacts a penalty for transgression."

Prof. Chinn explained that straightening streams has drained the country and lowered the water level. Now something must be done to raise it. Increasing drainage increases dryness. Colorful farming and other means of restoring the higher water level must be practiced.

Reduced working hours, which has come about by modern methods, presents another problem for the nation, Prof. Chinn explained. Crime strikes and accidents are most prevalent during leisure hours. The nation must substitute something for labor during leisure hours or these problems will become greater.

Prof. Chinn urged conservation of natural resources and planning for leisure hours as aids to solve present problems. He also showed the importance of developing individual independence.

Noted Lecturer Speaks In Wayne

Bess Gearhart Morrison Quotes From Writers Of State Here.

The sparkle of sunbeams and dew drops, the beauties of daybreak, the power of a smile and the friendly understanding in a handshake are embodied in a love poem written by a Nebraskan serving life in the state penitentiary. This was from the pen of one of the authors quoted by Mrs. Bess Gearhart Morrison of Lincoln in addressing Third district convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's club and others Thursday evening at the auditorium. "Visits With Nebraskan Writers" was her subject.

Another inspiration comes from Wm. Mauphi who writes that "the greatest vision given men to view is the unfolding dawn when Nebraska fields of blue are burned to green."

Willi Cather was mentioned by Mrs. Morrison as one who ranks with the greatest living American authors. In New York she now secludes herself for writing and has completed 13 volumes of fiction, one of them a Pulitzer prize winner. Willi Cather has done much to preserve the great frontier memories. "She has created beauty in the things about." From the author Mrs. Morrison quoted, "To fulfill the dreams of one's youth. That is the best thing that can happen to one's man." And again, "God often answers prayer suddenly and sharply and thrusts the things we prayed for into our faces."

Area Is Fertile In This Section

Prof. F. G. Dale Explains That State Is Great Monsoon Area.

"Nebraska is a white spot largely because of the activities of women," stated Prof. F. G. Dale in addressing the women's convention Friday.

In explaining Nebraska geography, which bears an important part in the state's monsoon, Prof. Dale showed that the state has three soil areas, low hills, high plains. The low area includes the fertile hills such as are found in the northeast, Nebraska. The state's greatest population is in this area though the fewest are in the greatest region of Scottsbluff county. Nebraska is next to the world's greatest monsoon area, that is, winds coming from one direction part of the year and from another part the rest of the time. The winds bringing the state's moisture blow from the Gulf of Mexico on the south, because eastern Nebraska is nearer the river leading to the gulf, the eastern part of the state receives the greatest rain.

Precipitation varies from 16 to 34 inches a year with 22 an average. Because of the summer winds from the gulf, May, June and July are the months of greatest rainfall and they are the months that are critical in grain growing states. Because "those months bring the moisture and because corn needs the moisture at that time, Nebraska becomes a great corn growing state. Wheat, oats, barley and rye follow in order of importance. Nebraska and California rank first in the nation in alfalfa production."

All indications point to return of normal rainfall, concluded Prof. Dale.

Pageants, Plays And Music Have Important Part

Pageants, plays and music played an important part in Third district convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs here Thursday and Friday, and some of these were the writings of the district president, Mrs. S. A. Lutken.

"Nebraska, Dream of the Pioneer," a pageant by Mrs. Lufken, was presented in the auditorium before a crowd estimated at 1,800. This told the story of the settling of the prairies, the hardships being overcome, and peace remaining as the important heritage to be guarded.

At east of 150 adults and children took part. Another of Mrs. Lutken's pageants, "History of Our Flag," was presented Thursday afternoon for the club month by a Norfolk group. In this was told the history of "Tree Glens" was presented at the city early grounds by college children as an Arbor day feature Thursday. A tree planting ceremony was conducted at the time of the pageant.

The song "Hallelujah, My Native Land," written by Mrs. Lutken, was used in the convention. This is the state federation song. Recently Mrs. Heston sang this for a phonograph recording. It is planned to have the record played over the W.A.G. club broadcast May 3.

"A Child of the Frontier," a play telling the story of the pioneer, Abraham Lincoln in his simple home, was presented Thursday evening by the Clarkson club. Dramatization of songs Tuesday afternoon was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Heston, Old-fashioned songs, "Easter Parade," "Trees," "Mother Machree" and "Hallelujah" were among the selections presented.

Unicameral Plan In State Watched

Time Will Be Needed To Prove Worth Of New Government Form.

Nebraska's unicameral legislature plan, being watched over the nation as an experiment in government, will not prove itself for another ten years," stated Supt. P. Valdemar Peterson of Elgin, in addressing the district women's club convention in Wayne Friday. The plan has advantages and disadvantages, and the attitudes and purposes of men controlling the machinery of government will prove to be the most important consideration.

This state's unicameral legislature, adopted in 1934, has reduced the number of legislators from 134 to 43 and has abolished partisan politics in their selection.

A questionnaire, answered by 23 of the 43, showed that these legislators have the following opinions of the new plan: That 90 percent think the unicameral more successful than the bicameral; 96 percent prefer the unicameral; 70 percent think it easier to get proposals through the unicameral process; none think the unicameral legislators are prone to "railroad" legislation; 90 percent think it easier to fix responsibility in the one house; 80 percent think that "log rolling" is no more pronounced than before; 65 percent favor the present size, the bill providing choice of from 30 to 50; 23 percent think it easier for special groups to get favors; 36 percent think there is no change and 41 percent think it is harder.

The unicameral legislature, it is argued, is more direct and simple, more efficient law making, more easily followed by the public, easier to fix responsibility, attracts more capable men, places more responsibility on the individual, increases dignity of the body and is more economical. The unicameral improved standing committees, providing that each legislator serve on one committee, that public notice of committee meetings be given five days in advance and that committees submit reasons for their reports on bills. One member can demand a record of how each votes. A provision that no bill can be up for passage until it has been before the house five days prevents lots of hurried legislation at the closing session. More care is given in drafting bills, and a research council investigates problems. The one-house simplifies legislation, which is modern.

Opponents of the unicameral plan say that the same reforms in government could have been attained in the two-house form and that the latter has other advantages. They argue that legislators will soon slip back into their same old practices. Opinions of the legislators might have been greatly changed if all had answered. Only a test of time will prove the merits of the unicameral, Supt. Peterson concluded.

Nebraska Is Proved To Be A White Spot

Nebraska has more sunshine than California, pointed out Mrs. Charles R. Kuehle of Leigh, in presiding over the senior banquet for Third district Federation of Women's clubs, attended by 216 at Presbyterian church parlors Tuesday evening. Mrs. Kuehle spoke on several to prove her point.

Advantages to industry as Nebraska, explained Mrs. E. L. Durbin of Bloomfield. Industry can progress if it is not penalized with special taxes. Though the country has suffered loss of life and money because of labor strikes, Nebraska supplied only two-tenths of one percent of the lost man days in six months last year, Mrs. F. W. Nyberg of Wayne, showed.

The world's total 70 percent is directly from the farm and 30 percent from grain, dairy products and poultry. "From brooms to windmills" was the topic for Miss Fannie DeBow of Coleridge. She showed that Nebraska manufactures butter, bakery goods, candy, cement, cereals, clothing, flour, steel, sugar and many other things, and meat packing is a major industry.

Nebraska's character education law has been picked as one of the finest in the country and the women hope to have it adopted in other states.
