DEMOCRACY IS WORTH DEFENSE

Importance of Heritage In Free America Stressed By Rev. J. A. Whitman.

"Give God thanks for a glorious America made possible by the price of patriots' blood and the devoted loyalty of true citizens," concluded Rev. J. A. Whitman, Baptist minister, Monday morning in his Memorial day address on the subject, "What Mean Ye By These Stones," at Wayne auditorium.

Rev. Whitman prefaced his address with a history of Memorial day. Greeks followed the custom of twining flowers around grave-stones in memory of their dead.

On certain days the Romans closed their temples and decorated graves of soldiers. As early as

Seek Rehearing In Suit On Tax

Wakefield Land Owners Ask Lower Valuation In School District.

Fifteen Dixon county land owners near Wakefield, in asking for a rehearing by the Nebraska supreme court of their school tax suit, told the court last week that their recent opinion denying them reduced valuations would discard "actual" value as a basis for assessing farm real estate.

Counsel for the farmers urged that if the opinion is permitted to stand, the standard will be "actual" value as the farm lands would have if they were not subject to other taxes.

The land owners sought reductions in their real estate valuations to make their tax bill more in line with that of their neighbors residing outside the Wakefield school district.

SAFETY COUNCIL IS ASKED HERE

Prof. A. V. Teed Is Named Chairman of Local Arrangements.

E. F. Stephens of Lincoln, who is with the state highway department and a representative of the Nebraska Safety Council, spoke to Kiwanis club Monday at Hotel Stanton and asked the cooperation of that group in planning a public meeting for the organization of a local safety council.

S. A. Hemple Resignation Referred To Committee

SHARE IN FEDERAL SPENDING TO HELP SAFEGUARD YOUTH

AS we understand, there is no suggestion to wreck the present high school building and replace it with a new one, as sources of misinformation report. The need is for modernization and more room, and those who know advise, and it is up to the school board to figure out ways to provide both.

While Washington is passing around funds, Wayne should get a share for permanent betterments rather than having it wasted with other tax money in expenditures of doubtful worth.

for instance, building the canal in Florida. Many government grants have been made for school improvements. Why shrink from participation merely because we do not believe in an orgy of government spending?

The needs of the children of the Wayne school district should not be neglected just as a protest to Washington.

We should take our share, for we will have to pay, and we should contribute our share, and thus we will look out for the future of coming citizens who are entitled to present advantages.

Hoskins Lady Dies At Home

Mrs. William Schulz Had Lived in County Over Half Century.

Mrs. William Schulz, resident of Wayne county since 1886, died Thursday, May 26, at her home in Hoskins, aged almost 94 years.

College Outdoor Theatre To Be Lighted by City For Use of Band.

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, S. A. Hemple resigned as superintendent of the city's electric plant, and the matter was referred to the light committee.

Mr. Hemple has held the position for about ten years during which time the plant has been greatly enlarged and its service improved. It is understood that N. H. Brudge, long in the service of the city, will be advanced to the post thus vacated.

Hins Sandahl was reappointed street commissioner on recommendation of the street and alley committee.

The council decided to light the outdoor theatre on the college campus on the understanding that it is to be used by the Wayne Municipal band for concerts during the summer.

Curbing and graveling the safety lane which is off the paving, will precede use of the improvement July 1. It is reported that all safety lanes in northeast Nebraska towns will start administering service at the same time.

The matter of providing a suitable disposal plant was discussed, and it was accepted as an unavoidable improvement for the not distant future. A committee is scheduled to visit Waverly, Iowa, next week to inspect a highly recommended disposal plant at that place.

A year ago the council contracted to have an annual audit, and this will be done again soon.

The council discussed paving obligations, and noted that all payments will be due in 1940. In passing, the council observed that bonded indebtedness of $835,414.33, mainly due to paving, was reduced in sixteen years to $353,000. The total of $482,215.23 paid off the debt was largely realized from individual payments on paving obligations.

asked Rev. Whitman. In answer to this question of present-day youth, he replied that "they remain of the horror of war, death, disease, broken homes, broken hearts are the ever deepening toll of the war-god. Distress, poverty and famine follow in the wake and the horrors of past wars are nothing compared to future ones with air raids of poison gas and death rays."

In answering modern youth's question, Rev. Whitman further replied that "these gravestones symbolize the blessings of peace." Sweet is the father of peace and love. During times of peace the goodwill is increased in the world and race hatreds begin to die. Education, art and beauty have their chance to develop.

In a third answer to youth's question Rev. Whitman stated that "these gravestones memorialize those who recognized the value of their national heritage." Why did these patriots pay such a costly price? It is because, they realized the heritage of an American citizen—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. When any of these privileges are jeopardized by an aggressor nation all men with true blood of patriots in their veins will rise as one man to demand justice.

"Grave international problems have arisen since the World War," continued Rev. Whitman. Three positions taken today in regard to citizenship were named by the speaker as pacifism, internationalism and peaceful nationalism. The pacifist declares he will not take up arms under any circumstances. "The heritage of our citizenship is worthy of our service even though that may mean our lives. Pacifism is not the answer." Internationalism "remove all restrictions or checks on the powerful aggressor and that will cause the big brother nation to love the little

Are Wed Sunday In Church Here

Miss Hanson had a corsage of Tahitian roses and purple sweet-peas.

Mr. Johnson and his brother, Wallace Johnson, wore the conventional dark suits with carnation boutonniere.

A reception for both families was held at the Dean Hanson home following the ceremony. Pink ice cream with blue bells, a three-tier wedding cake, decorated in pink and blue flowers and miniature bride and bridegroom, were served. The couple left on a trip north, Tuesday night they were in Spearfish, S. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will live at 1108 Main street on their return to Wayne.

Mrs. Johnson was graduated from the Wayne prep school and the Wayne State Teachers college. She taught in the Ponca high school the past year. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of the Wayne prep school and attended the Wayne State Teachers college. Mr. Johnson is in business in Wayne.

Prescribe Treating Of Sorghum Seeds

The farmers intending to plant sorghum for grain or forage should treat the seed for smut according to information received from Walter L. Moller, agricultural agent.

Treatment can be made with copper carbonate dust at the rate of 2 to 3 ounces per bushel of seed, or using New Improved Ceresan, 2 percent dust, at the rate of 1/4 ounce per bushel. Each will effectively control the smut and often improve field germination. These dusts may be applied to the seed with a treating machine, barrel churn or by shaking the seed and dust together in a closed can. Seed treated with copper carbonate may be stored indefinitely, but when treated with New Improved Ceresan it should be planted within four weeks after treating as otherwise the germination may be injured.

Copper carbonate and mercury (New Improved Ceresan) dusts are poisonous to man and to farm animals.

Library News

Outstanding articles appearing in the June issues of magazines received in the Wayne library are the following: "Supreme Court Today," M. W. Childs, Harpers; "City of Fallen Angels," C. J. Taft, Forum; "American Way," C. Lundauer and "Future of Our Higher Education," J. B. Conant, Harpers; "Wm. Butler Years," L. Bogan, "Farewell to Austria," J. Barber and "Love in America," R. DeRosier, de Soles, Atlantic Monthly.

Interesting things occurring in libraries in other localities include the puppet show being sponsored for Junior Guild readers at Kansas City, Mo. There are 15 children's rooms in this library and interesting things go on in every one of them. The puppet shows have been very popular. The heads were modeled by the librarians, who knelt behind a screen to make the puppets talk and move.

Since school has closed more children will have time for reading. The Wayne library offers a fine selection of books for children and reading is a worthwhile recreation for idle moments.

The April circulation for the library totaled 767 in the junior department. The adult circulation was as follows: Fiction 669, non-fiction 303, periodicals 378. Total for the adult was 1,350 and for the total library 2,127.

Mound Builders Lived Here

(By Ray E. Colton.) In primitive state was also one of the contributors to the pre-historic of what is today Wayne, Dixon, Cedar and adjoining counties. Archaeologists during the past two years have unearthed much evidence of primitive north-eastern Nebraska man. In this exclusive article, the writer reveals additional information on what has been learned by a study of the artifacts, skeleton remains, etc.

Mound Builders from Asia. Recent developments both in the field of archaeological research around Ponca, Martinsburg, Fordyce and including the area around Wayne and Laurel, and in research at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, reveal that other forms of man besides the Nebraska race once inhabited some years ago by the Richard Gillet of Omaha, inhabited this part of Nebraska in the dim past. There have been many forms of primitive mankind coming from the arctic north, through the Neanderthal, Pithecanthropus, Cro-Magnon and others, but as these forms of mankind did not possess the cultural ability which the race who once inhabited what is today north-eastern Nebraska owned, and further, in view of the fact that some of these forms of mankind are known to have never inhabited Nebraska, they will not be discussed in this article.

The finds made especially around Ponca, reveal peculiarities in skull, bone and other formations, and two distinct cultures are represented, namely: Mound builders who were of Mongoloid racial extraction, and the later American Indians who are believed to have been the direct descendants of the mound builders. It is noted in a study of the skulls, several of which are now found around Ponca, Martinsburg, Fordyce, Laurel, Belden and other points, reveals that the works of the mound builders in this respect show a decided superiority over those of the latter-day Indians, such as the Santees. While anthropologists have definitely established beyond any reasonable doubt that the American Indian descended from the Asiatic mound builders, it appears that he, the Indian, failed to assimilate the cultural ability which his ancestors bequeathed to him.

Stone Axes, Pottery, Scrapers. In the stone axes found around Ponca, many designs are noted. Some of these axes correspond to similar works of the ancient Norsemen, while others are crude in manufacture and are evidently of recent Indian manufacture. Pottery taken from burial sites reveals many odd shapes and designs, some of which corresponds to works of the ancient Mayas and Aztecs of Mexico. A stone smoking pipe found on the farmland bordering the west bank of the Missouri river, three miles south and east of Ponca, was found to be the design of the Feathered Serpent God of War of the Mayas. This find makes it appear that the mound builders had trading operations with races to the south, and that these relics came up to what is today north-eastern Nebraska during these trading operations before the times of the white pioneers.

Summing up the information which has been gathered from a study of the artifacts, skeleton remains, etc., which have been unearthed around Ponca and other points in Dixon, Cedar and Wayne counties, it appears that this whole area was once the scene of a glimmering civilization which possessed the cultural ability to perpetuate its works.

Walters Leave for Europe. With the tourist season opened in earnest here in the east, many Nebraskans are beginning to appear in the nation's capital. Among the interesting Nebraskans here this week are Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Walters of Columbus and their daughter, Virginia. These Nebraskans are enroute to New York to board a new Holland line steamer on her maiden voyage. They will take their automobile with them and will tour England, Germany, Austria and other countries and expect to remain until next fall.

Rally To Support G-Men. Crippled by lack of funds, the nation's crime-smashing federal bureau of investigation is being drastically slashed to half strength. From a financial standpoint, the bureau of investigation has been a decidedly profitable investment. Last year it operated on a budget of approximately $6,000,000, and reported to the government $41,133,400 in fines, savings and recovery of stolen property. The fact that the F. B. I. is "bad medicine" to the underworld is already known to the nation. The records show that in the last four years Hoover's men have apprehended 16,000 dangerous criminals. The forces of the F. B. I. have been thrown into 129 kidnapping cases and of these, 122 have been solved. The figures show that kidnappings and bank robberies are on a steady decline. All in all, Uncle Sam has been served well by this law enforcement body. Members in the house got together and started a campaign to give the F. B. I. relief. The result is a recommendation from the executive that the funds be made available for the G-men and now it is hoped that "everything will be all right."

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN. Pass Relief Bill With Hope - Also Fear.

With passage by the house of the new relief bill, members of the house are now looking to the coming of the new wages and hours bill which the committee tells them they can expect not later than this week. An effort to get the bill out sooner has failed thus far, although those who had once objected to bringing it out have stated they are willing for earlier consideration. There was not as much controversy over the new relief bill as had been predicted and the overwhelming vote in its favor is proof of that statement. The house members who voted for the bill hope that it will accomplish its objective - renewed business activity and increased employment. Fears are expressed that this method of meeting the question of what to do with 10,000,000 unemployed is merely temporary rather than a permanent remedy. Advocates of the measure admit this fact and so, today, Washington sees many experts working over the unsolved unemployment puzzle.

Nebraskans Help Beautify Capital. Nebraskans play a leading part in helping our nation's capital to become a beautiful city. Among them is Everett C. Crites of Central City, Neb., who is one of the important committees of the Washington board of trade. In the list of members of this local organization are names of other Nebraskans, equally active, but very few of them, are so outstanding. These Nebraskans, as well as citizens from other states, declare that they are on these local committees for patriotic reasons, and especially because they feel that the District of Columbia and the city of Washington really belongs to all of the people of the 48 states and that it is their duty to help make the capital of the people beautiful. Crites represents one of the interesting research associations which deals especially with new uses of cement and his work brings him in close contact with the future builders of not only the city of Washington, but of all the cities of our nation.

Try to Revive Big Projects. By hook or crook the Florida ship canal advocates say they are going to finish that project. They are in Washington, set to stay until they get the money from the government if it takes all summer. They are giving parties and elaborate dinners to members of congress and they are using pictures as an argument that the canal is necessary from the standpoint of national defense. One of the Florida lobbyists says that the canal was the issue in the recent senatorial election in that state and that Senator Pepper was nominated on this issue alone. He was for the canal and his opponent who lived south of the canal side was against it. Those on the south side say that if the canal is dug it will ruin their drinking water and the water they need for irrigation. Engineers have both upheld and repudiated this contention. In the meantime the canal loggers are using all kinds of tactics to educate members who have voted against the proposed spending of federal funds for this canal. There is some talk now that the gigantic Passamaquoddy project in Maine may be revived. Some elaborate houses and buildings were constructed there but the original project was about aban-

The Iowa Primary
A LIVELY primary battle is being waged within democratic ranks in Iowa, and the voting will take place next Monday. It is a contest between radical and conservative Democrats, between those who have bowed obedience to every presidential whim and those who have balked at left-wing experiments which repudiated pre-election pledges.

Senator Gillette, incumbent, and candidate to succeed himself, is a victim of administration reprisal because he opposed the president's scheme to remodel the supreme court a year ago. Against him is pitted Congressman Otha Wearin who drew his salary as a rubber stamp from first to last. He fashioned his convictions, if he had any, to fit the New Deal's changing pattern. Gillette is not built that way. He responded to his judgment as to what he deemed best for his constituents and the country, and in doing so he violated the idea of a one-man government.

While Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins has indignantly declared against influencing WPA workers according to their pay checks, he has endorsed the Wearin candidacy and is said to be using his relief power to win support at the polls. We no sooner hear of a command from inner administration circles to keep WPA helpers and other government employees free from partisan pressure than we hear of efforts to persuade such voters what to do when they reach the polls.

Tells How ROGER Babson, economist, is reported to have offered this program to insure economic recovery and national stability:

- 1.—Amend the securities and exchange act so that reputable bankers could offer new issues, repeating in users for new capital.
- 2.—Invest social security money in private industry instead of using it for government expenses.
- 3.—Sell to labor the idea that prosperity of labor depends on greater production.
- 4.—Attack monopolies of prices and wages and encourage competition and free trading.
- 5.—Continue the Roosevelt foreign policies, staying out of foreign alliances, but going along with Great Britain in building up armaments.
- 6.—Cut federal aid only when it is matched by state and municipal funds.
- 7.—Develop new industries.
- 8.—Check habits of liquor and gambling.
- 9.—Work for a coalition of republican and democratic forces in 1940.
- 10.—Pass the unemployment problem to churches and work for a spiritual revolution.

Babson spoke this to the northeastern district meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.
President Roosevelt did an unusual thing in view of his positive nature—allowed the revenue bill to become a law without his signature. The bill did not contain enough business reform to suit him, and he did not want congress to overthrow his veto which it doubtless would have done. Another possible mental curve: He may have figured his patient too nearly exhausted to stand additional reform treatment until more economic strength had come back and he couldn't retreat from his reform notions and still look himself and Thomas G. Corcoran, adviser, in the face. It is believed the new tax measure, modifying burdens on industry and business, will help restore confidence and be a stimulus to prosperity.

People must run risks if they would live in independent ventures. Whether one engages in farming or merchandising or manufacturing, chance for loss must be taken into account. There are always unfavorable as well as favorable winds, bad and good seasons, unavoidable accidents, variable markets and leaks through erring judgment or faults in performance. But zest is imparted by hazards, and the imagination is enlivened and effort is redoubled as barriers appear and uncertainty increases. Only in a democracy, like America, where the lockstep of collectivism is unknown, is free enterprise given full reign, and accordingly, the spirit of independence enhances the enjoyment of living.

Schools are turning more and more to character education. It is just as important for students to know how to behave in their attitude towards society—how to treat one another in the world of affairs—as it is to learn how to be efficient in tasks to be undertaken. Development of fine character weighs so heavily in the scale of successful employment and respected living that it fits harmoniously into any school or college curriculum.

The next holiday is July Fourth which like Memorial day, comes Monday. If it is time for Wayne to celebrate, the matter may be referred to the Young Business Men's club which has the spirit and ability to carry such an enterprise to gratifying triumph. The best Independence day celebrations we have ever witnessed were put on in Wayne. The determination here to give the public more than expected has established a winning reputation.

This country never looked better or more promising. Frequent rains have benetrated the sub-soil and returned the safeguard of reserve moisture. This and neighboring states have been soaked, and every part thus refreshed helps every other part. Plenty of moisture and rich vegetation far to the south west give insurance against hot winds and dust storms when temperatures ascend. Everything indicates that we are entering a cycle of seasonable rains and abundant crops.

In contrast with drouth years, we know of no experience more profoundly satisfactory than that of seeing green pastures and luxuriant fields and beholdng increase in new chickens and pigs and calves. It is comforting to know plenty of hay and grain will warrant multiplying creatures of the barnyard and feed lot, that none will go hungry, that none will fail to grow fat. The Nebraska farm scene right now holds more of promise and joy than anything else.

Wayne has rare opportunities to make progress. It has a rich neighboring territory, a large and substantial start as a trade center, and it has the advantage of an excellent college and high school. Citizens are usually of fine fiber and appreciate what has been accomplished. But dangers lie in the wake of too much satisfaction. We must not feel content. We must not lie down. Eternal vigilance and eternal pulling are necessary to avoid slipping.

In a Memorial day speech, at Gettysburg, famous Civil war battleground, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, said those who would trade liberty for security might lose both. He warned: "In our America we sink or swim together. United we stand; divided we fall. We cannot pull the lower one-third up by pulling all three-thirds down. America is a partnership between 130 million people."

Greenwood cemetery always looks its best on Memorial day. Graves are covered with the season's richest blossoms which add resplendent touches of beauty to a landscape of green. On every hand rise stately sentinels of marble. The quiet solemnity of the place is deepened by the Memorial day observance.

The death toll in the United States from accidents over the week-end including Memorial day reached a total of 250, mostly due to automobile wrecks. Appalling as the record appears it shows fewer fatalities than a year ago when 356 lives were snuffed out.

Roger Babson, economist, says people have been overfed on New Deal fallacies, and are now ready to face about. They are ready to junk most New Deal policies, revive confidence, put their shoulders to the wheel and start over.

The Saturday Evening Post emphasizes growing scarcity of living quarters—growing need of house-building. And starting a long delayed building boom will give powerful impetus to employment and generally better times.

We notice one commencement speaker admonished students not to die on third base. He doubtless meant not just to start but to finish—not to steam up with great plans and then peter out before the final goal is reached.

Cultivating good will rather than hurtful hatred bears its own liberal reward. One cannot feel around for something to dislike in another without suffering serious loss.

Over-simplified.

(Omaha World-Herald.)
With his gift for exposition, President Roosevelt in his speech to the high school graduates at Arthurdale almost made the subject of taxation interesting. Unfortunately, however, his explanation of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes erred on the side of over-simplification. Thus he said:

"For a great many years America as a whole has accepted the principle that taxes ought to be paid by individuals in accordance with their capacity to pay. To put it in another way, it has meant a graduated tax on a man's increase in wealth. For instance, a poor man or poor family whose increase in wealth in a given year is below a certain figure pays no direct federal taxes at all, when the family gains more than $2,500 in a year, the family pays a small percentage on these gains. The error lies in that little phrase, 'To put it in another way...'"

It simply is not true that America has for a great many years levied taxes according to the individual's increase in wealth. America has levied taxes on income; but income is certainly not the same thing as increase in wealth.

Every high school graduate, at Arthurdale and elsewhere, ought to know that a man may have income without increasing his wealth. He ought to understand, too, that the federal government's soundest principle of taxation is to levy on income, not on wealth. If an individual possesses a certain fortune, and lives on his capital, eating up little by little, he is left in the end with nothing at all, neither wealth nor income. And so it is with government. Its tax policy should encourage the increase of wealth, the creation of capital. Instead of living on the nation's capital and discouraging the increase of wealth, the government ought to derive its revenues rather from the income accruing from that capital.

It was because this principle had been violated in the administration's tax policy that a widespread demand for revision made itself felt in congress. The undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax had discouraged the expansion of industry, the financing of new enterprises, the creation of capital. As a nation we moved toward doing so when it enacted the tax bill of 1938.

HAPPINESS.

Some one accosted recently by a radio announcer in Omaha was asked what he most desired, and he said return of his little boy who had passed away. A young woman expressed surprise when we concluded her suggestion that we must be happy. Yearning for a dear object of love does not make for happiness. It is numerous families would prefer to lose every material possession and start over if by so doing they could restore broken ties. We were refreshed by the philosophy of a Wayne sojourner who mentioned with deepest regret the passing of the president of a mercantile organization, and added that his anxiety for the wholesome development of his sons—happily realized—far out-weighed interest in accumulating houses and chattels. Our merchant-philosopher points out values that may be derived from the character burnishment administered by severe losses. He accepts inevitable pain as a re-creating and reconditioning force—a refining of human qualities away from hurtful self-seeking. Suffering without destruction leads to exultation. The fiery crucible separates the gold from the dross. Hard experience involving irrefragable loss may enrich the soul, but it is a counter influence for happiness which seems reserved mostly for light-hearted and care-free youth.

heads. In the meantime, city advertising agencies will feel disgusted.

To Destroy Pest.

New Mexico is reported engaged in a fierce battle against hatching grasshoppers. It is proposed to extinguish them before they are able to fly and wreak ruin. In the north the grasshopper worry will come later if at all. All kinds of weather would seem to have settled the "hopper" question here, though if they haven't, there should be plenty of vegetation this year to satisfy the marauders without invading valuable crops.

PATRIOTISM.

Not conflicting public utterances, but carefully guarded secret meetings upholding alien policies, are the forces that threaten our democracy. Two rival groups, fascism and communism, both equally inimical to Americanism, and both working subtly in this country, are the evils that must be watched. The fellow who gets up and blows off steam in behalf of one form of crazy radicalism or another makes known his position and therefore offers little ground for fear. The quiet, cunning political intrigues boring from within are the ones that endanger the regular order. Commenting on the words of Secretary of War Henry H. Woodring in his advice to youth, emphasizing the needs of patriotism, the Sioux City Journal concludes with this warning: "There never was a time when patriots were needed more. The enemies of American institutions are well entrenched. We have professional politicians who seek power more than they seek solutions of problems, we have an increasing debt, we have higher taxes coming, we have a dangerous and audacious paternalism to overcome, we have threats to free speech and a free press, and we have unemployment. Surely all these are foes that menace American youth. The young people of this country need all the patriotism of which they are capable."

Soldier of Fortune Recalls Old West On Visit in Wayne

Seen on the streets of Wayne Monday was an unusual character wearing black patent high heel boots and carrying a cane. Capt. Jack Lloyd, 69-year-old adventurer, stopped in Wayne enroute to the northwest county where he plans to take part in the pioneer celebrations held every year. He is clean cut looking individual with gray hair hanging to his shoulders. Capt. Jack, better known as "Burning Daylight," reports that he has been independent since he was 7 years of age, the only living person from a wagon train in which occupants were massacred. He recalls many frontier adventures. He made trips to the coast during the gold rush and followed many other rumors for prospecting, traveling in 57 countries of the world. He wrote copy for more than 6,000 newspapers and in mining camps he established his own newspapers. He reports that he used to "hit town, throw down two guns on his desk and announce that the town had a newspaper."

If this long gray-haired veteran carried a gun today, it would have 67 notches on it, for that is the number of men that were too slow on the draw against him, reports this traveler, yet in each instance it was either defense or as an officer of the law.

Captain Jack served in the French Foreign Legion, in Mexico under the late Pancho Villa, in Nicaragua under Augustino Sanguino, in Cuba, in China with Wu Jung Cau, in India, in the World war on the British side, in the Boer war, in the Spanish American war with "Teddy" Roosevelt, and he served with the Legion of Death in the Russian and Japanese affair.

"There ain't no more west," remarks the veteran. "They herd their cows now with Model A's and T's; they ride the range with high powered cars; fence riders cover more ground in four hours today than they could 'back when' in two weeks." He also urges that people watch the great midwest especially close to the Missouri river. Industries are commencing to move west as well as south and this section should benefit from future development.

For the past few years, Captain Lloyd has been telling the story of his adventures over the air, appearing over Lincoln and Omaha stations of KFAB.

Personal Property Values Assessed

Personal property assessment in Plum Creek is the largest so far completed in Wayne county. The tangible property totals $212,545. Intangible class A $50,900 and intangible class B $290. August Erxleben is assessor. Hancock, reported by S. H. Rew, has $117,925 tangible and $5,450 intangible class A. Hoskins precinct, with E. O. Behmer assessor, has $106,735 tangible, $9,475 intangible class A and $300 intangible class B. Hoskins village, also reported by Mr. Behmer, has $13,500 tangible, $10,600 intangible class A and $10,845 intangible class B. Chapin, Wayne and Winsdel are yet to be completed.

Nine in County Enlist in Program

Nine Wayne county farmers have enlisted in the pasture-feeding-livestock program for this year. They are John and George Owens, Worthy Beneshof, E. L. Pederson, C. H. Morris and Iruen Graves of Carroll, Harry Samuelson and G. C. Sellon of Sholes, and George McEchen of Wayne.

Second Allotment Of Poison Made

The first allotment of grasshopper poison will be distributed in Wayne county by June 3 and the second distribution will start immediately. All precincts have turned out well for the bait and in most cases have used the entire amount. Effective poisoning can only be done while the "hoppers" are small and still inhabiting fence rows, uncultivated fields and waste areas. One hundred pounds of bait now will do as much as 1,000 pounds after the "hoppers" spread to fields.

The second distribution, as planned to date, will be as follows: Deer Creek, June 3 from 8 to 12; Sherman, June 3 from 11 to 5; Chapin, June 4 from 11 to 5; Garden, June 4 from 8 to 12; Hoskins, June 6 from 8 to 12; Hancock, June 6 from 1 to 5; Plum Creek, June 8 from 1 to 5; Leslie, June 8 from 8 to 12; Strahan and Hunter, June 7 from 1 to 5; Brenna, June 7 from 1 to 12; Logan, June 9 from 8 to 12; Wilbur, June 9 from 1 to 5.

Deeds Are Filed.

Property deeds filed in Wayne county include the following: Jacob Waide and wife to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., May 25 for $5,484.28, W 1/4 of NE 1/4 of 33-26-2.

Oscar Reinhardt, et al., to Carl J. Erxleben, May 27 for $3 and other consideration, two acres in 29-25-4.

Geo. Miller and wife, et al., to E. H. Welch, May 27 for $3 and other consideration, north 75 feet of lots 19, 20, 21 and 22, block 4, original Winsdel.

Woman's Club Reviews Work Of Past Year

Being hostess to the Third district convention in April and sponsoring the famous lecturer, Mary Sue Wigley were some of the outstanding projects of the Wayne Woman's club the past year, according to the annual secretary's report as given by Mrs. Willis Noakes at the club meeting Friday. The club also sponsored an iris show last week which proved so successful that it will become an annual project.

Other outstanding activities of the club were the entertaining of the business and professional department with Mrs. M. S. McDuffie, state director, and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, district president, as honored guests; entertaining of teachers and pupils of the rural schools who had participated in the yard beautifying contest; dinner for husbands and friends.

The club has actively participated in many community projects. From the proceeds of the Mary Sue Wigley lecture, books on the United States constitution were purchased for each school and library in the county. The club allowed $25 for the dental and eye care for under-privileged children in the community as well as furnished four filled baskets for needy families at Christmas time. At this time checks were sent to Father Flanagan's Home, Nebraska Children's Home Society, Child Spaving Institute and Minerva Cottages. Local boy and girl scout troops also received donations from the club.

The club with the business and professional department sponsored the sending of one boy to the Boys' State in Lincoln this month. The three boys being sent by Wayne clubs appeared at the last club meeting. These boys are Leroy Coryell, Ray Larson and Herbert Welch.

The membership in the club is 165.

Now is the time to get those hay tools in repair. Delays caused by faulty and broken parts are costly. Our shop will duplicate any wooden pieces on your stacker and sweeps. Examine those sweep teeth. We have them in both eight and nine foot lengths.

Entirely satisfactory screens should be especially fitted to your house. Either ready built screens or those sturdy screens that Paul makes—we'll be glad to get your special screen measurements and quote you the cost. Let us tell you just how little it will cost to turn your porch into a delightful summer living room or sleeping porch. We carry a full stock of materials for screen repair—screen wire, molding, paint, and brads.

A lattice enclosed garden or lattice for a garden corner or individual vine supports—we can help you with both designs and their construction.

We carry a full line of roofings and roof coatings, and cedar shingles in two grades. For old, temporary buildings we do at times advise a second grade shingle. No. 1—5X Canadian shingles properly laid can be expected to last 40 years with satisfactory service. Come in and get further information.

Marry Wednesday At Beemer Church

Miss Janet Afflack Is Bride Of Glenn Karlen at Pretty Service.

Miss Janet Afflack, daughter of Mrs. Ida Afflack of Beemer, was married Wednesday afternoon in the Congregational church at Beemer by Rev. Cox of Wisner to Mr. Glenn Karlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Karlen, of Wisner. Miss Afflack is a former student at the Wayne State Teachers college and has taught in Winside for the past two years.

The bride wore a street length chiffon dress of ashes of roses with which she wore blue accessories and a corsage of tea roses and forget-me-nots. Miss Ardis Karlen of Omaha, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride and wore yellow sheer dress with blue accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses.

Mr. Karlen wore a gray suit. He was attended by Donald Afflack, of Robinson, Ill., brother of the bride, who wore a brown suit. Each had gardenia boutonnières. Max Buhk, Marilyn Engelhorn and Jared Bryngelson of Beemer were ushers. The church was decorated with spring flowers.

Miss Eulalie Brugger of Wayne, played Lohengrin's wedding march for the professional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional. During the ceremony she played "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Refreshments were served from a long table which was decorated in pink and blue spring flowers and centered with a tiered wedding cake baked by the bride's mother. Waitresses were Miss Hazel and Miss Opal Fleming, and Miss Arlene Nellor of Beemer, Mrs. Howard Fassus of Norfolk, and Miss Eulalie Brugger of Wayne.

Following a wedding trip the couple will live on a farm near Wisner.

People Need A Rest.

Norfolk Daily News:—It is suggested that congress recess for two weeks so that members might discuss pending legislation with their constituents. But it is a question whether congressmen are any more confused as to what they should do than the people back home. Too many unfamiliar problems of legislation have been dumped on the people all at once. The people themselves need a long recess to consider them.

World Events

The bewildering amount of propaganda with which the minds of the people are assailed has attracted the attention of some of the leading educators in the hope that a way may be pointed out for the public to find where truth lies.

They think that in the schools can be found the only answer to the problem. There they find that the difficulty is that most of the teachers are not sufficiently informed themselves. Yet it is apparent that unless they can find and teach the truth we are merely adding another to the mouthpieces of misinformation.

A magazine article printed not long ago said that the biggest propaganda machine is conducted by the federal government, and that 250 press agents spent $750,000 a year preaching the virtues of the new deal by magnifying or distorting governmental activities. For years the government has employed writers, but their chief concern has been to write pamphlets giving the results of scientific experiments, along with suggestions on domestic questions. It was not until the present administration that this has been developed into a propaganda machine.

So long as the products of propaganda are confined to a presentation of facts as seen from the viewpoint of the writer, the reader may benefit, because, if he is intelligent, he can give proper weight to the claims or statements made by considering the percentage of self interest contained. Most modern propaganda is argumentative in character, and argument leads very readily and naturally to vituperation, which is nothing more than an appeal to the emotions and not to reason. Man, being an emotional animal, is more apt to be swayed by picturesque epithets and charges than by facts, which are mainly prosaic.

The statement is frequently made that calling names is a poor substitute for argument. The correctness of this conclusion may well be challenged. Every time that the president has been cornered in an argument or by circumstance he has got out of his dilemma by calling names, and if we are to believe the polls of public opinion he is the most popular public man.

The Blessing of Rain.

(Omaha Journal Stockman.)
Perhaps the suggestion comes a little late, but farm boys casting around this spring for subjects for school essays might well have chosen the topic "What a difference water makes." For in all probability they may never again see quite such a sharp contrast in agricultural conditions between dry and rainy years as the last few seasons have furnished.

First, they've observed that pastures, which appeared to have killed out completely, still have some grass in them, the growth, apparently having sprung from roots and seeds that were merely waiting for moisture. No doubt they've noted too, that the same ground which refused to produce grass, grain or anything else when the moisture was insufficient is apparently trying to make up for lost time this spring by the abundance of growth which it supports.

The effect of a normal season of rainfall on the livestock surely has not escaped their attention. Pigs and calves that have been given a reasonable amount of care never looked more thrifty, nor has the parent stock been as prolific in a long time as it was this spring.
Lastly, and perhaps more important than all else, is the change in the attitude of farmers themselves. Even though they have done their best during the dry years, there's a new vigor in the manner in which they tackle the season's tasks this spring, and a sparkle in their eyes as they look out over fields and talk of harvest prospects. No farm boy, consciously experiencing the thrill of things growing well for perhaps the first time in his life, can have missed this change in outlook.

Perhaps such an essay has no practical value just now. But wouldn't it be fine to have for one's children and grandchildren to read and draw new hope and courage from when the next drought comes along?

Recipes

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Cut a thin slice from the stem side of tomatoes, either green or ripe ones may be used. Scoop out the center, discard the juice and part of the seeds. Dice the pulp. Mix with a little left-over corn off the cob, a little minced onion and a diced green pepper. Restuff in the tomatoes, top with a small lump of butter, season with salt and paprika and bake in a moderate oven till tender.

Maple Cake.

Cream one cup shortening with one cup of granulated sugar and one cup maple sugar. If the latter is soft—all right—if hard you must grate it. Sift three cups cake flour with three teaspoons baking powder. Add to the mixture alternately with one cup milk. Beat well. Flavor with one teaspoon vanilla. Beat stiff, but not dry, the whites of six eggs with a little salt added before beating. Fold into the cake mixture. Bake in a moderate oven—this makes 3 layers. Put the layers together with maple fudge frosting and frost top and sides with the same. THE FROSTING IS MADE THIS WAY: Put one cup cream, one-half cup maple sugar and two cups granulated sugar into a deep saucepan with a little pinch of salt. Cook slowly until a little dropped into cold water will form a soft ball. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Let it cool to lukewarm then beat till thick and creamy and use. If too thick add a little cream.

The president's plan to reorganize the government has been scrapped for this session of congress.

Priced Too High.
(Nation's Business.)

A business man in Evansville, Ind., wrote recently to President Roosevelt:

"I have a solvent business. I will give it to you for nothing—all you got to do is to pay me a salary for five years, equal to what I now pay in taxes."

The president might well reflect on the implications of that letter. Here is a man who has put into his business two valuable elements—his capital, or savings, and his time. And yet his reward for both is less than that which the government takes for its contribution.

He needs the essential services of government, but it is doubtful if he or the country needs the $2,000,000,000 additional administrative expense—exclusive of relief—now saddled upon him.

count big in terms of dollars to farmers.

"This talk of farmer and labor uniting and farmers voting the same as labor is so much wind," said the manager of one plant. "Every concession forced by labor and the labor board comes right out of the farmer's milk check."

It is in these local plants that the farmer feels directly the dollar pinch. He pays just the same in more distant operations, but doesn't always realize it. If a canner shuts down because of a strike just when the cherries are begging to be picked, the grower of the cherries feels his loss right away.

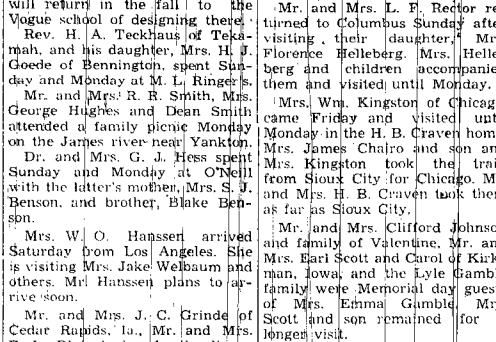

So the politicians are in a pickle. Under this modern political set-up they have done everything they could think of to promote the organization of workers, and it is openly charged, have usually sided with the workers in any labor dispute. At the same time, they have patted the farmer on the back, told him how "downright" he was, handed him a check, and hoped that he would vote right. So which way to jump in this badger row? Agin' labor? Unthinkable. Agin' farmer? Unthinkable. And the issue can't be dodged entirely. How-very, very sorry we feel for these poor officeholders who have tried so hard to do their best for everybody, in every possible way.

William Pfister, Newcastle, and Mildred Dohren, Pilger, were voted by Wayne college students as having the "nicest personalities" in school.

Patty Dawson of Hawarden, Iowa, was voted the prettiest coed at Wayne college this year.

Recipes

Rhubarb Pie.
Combine one and one-half cups rhubarb sliced thin, one and one-fourth cups sugar, three slightly beaten egg yolks, two tablespoons flour, three tablespoons sweet cream and one-fourth teaspoon salt and cook in double boiler until thick. Cool and pour into a baked pastry shell. Top with meringue made from the whites of eggs used in the filling and six tablespoons sugar. Brown in a moderate oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Chocolate Caramel Mousse.
Melt two squares unsweetened chocolate in a double boiler. Add one can caramelized condensed milk and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Beat vigorously until well blended. Cool. Fold in two cups cream which has been whipped to a custard-like consistency and one teaspoon vanilla. Pour into freezing pans. Freeze in freezing unit two to five hours. This can also be prepared in individual paper cups.

Corned Beef Hash.
Boil two medium size potatoes, peel and break into small pieces. Chop fine two medium size onions and a little parsley. Chop the contents of a can of corned beef rather coarsely. Lightly mix them all and season with paprika and salt. Put in a shallow baking platter, sprinkle generously with paprika, stud with small pieces of butter and decorate with pieces of green pepper. Bake in a moderate oven thirty-five minutes.

Hot Strawberry Shortcake.
Sift three cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt together. Cut in six tablespoons shortening. Add one cup milk and mix lightly. Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead gently. Pat into sheets to fit a 2- quart casserole. Butter top of each sheet and put buttered sides together and place in greased casserole. Bake in moderate oven for 40 minutes. Set in warm place till serving time. Separate layers and spread with butter and cover with strawberries that have been cut up and mixed with sugar. Replace top layer and spread with more strawberries.

Free Man.
(Nation's Business.)

The youngster pictured on our cover by Photographer McManigal would undoubtedly rather be playing ball than driving his father's team. No doubt he feels that his life is completely hedged in by parents, teachers, lessons and chores.

It is a privilege of youth to feel repressed, to hate all fetters, no matter how slightly those fetters may gall, to dream of Utopia and distant hills where the grass is certainly greener.

Perhaps this young fellow would not believe that he is lucky. But he is. Because he had the good fortune to be born in a country without classes and without restrictions. Because heathed salute no dictator's photograph. Because, though born on an obscure farm, he may rise to whatever heights of fame and fortune he merits through ability and willingness to work.

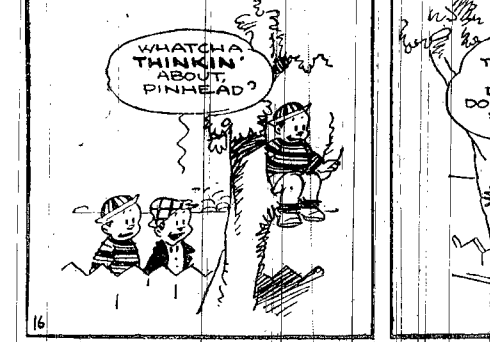

At his age children of other lands are already learning to goosetep through regulated lives. For this youngster, a free country offers the challenge of opportunity. May he have the wisdom to preserve that birthright for his own descendants!

Supreme Court Judge Speaks

Keep Education Growing Is Advice Given By Bayard H. Paine.

"No matter what happens, keep education growing in schools, cities and communities where you are," was the challenge of Judge Bayard H. Paine of the Nebraska supreme court, in speaking to the graduates of the Wayne State Teachers' college Thursday morning in the open air theatre. "Education is the greatest force in the world, and whatever we want, teach the youth that thing," he continued.

In speaking of conditions in the world today, the judge pointed out the rise of dictatorships in foreign countries. Mussolini began by turning scout troops into militaristic troops and organized other movements within the schools. Now youth is infatuated with that form of government. "If the people in this country do not want dictatorship and if freedom of speech and religion is not to be lost, then we must make the young people believe that the government in this country is worth saving," he stated the judge. "If the young people believe that the government is not good, then it will fail."

In giving further advice to the graduates and future teachers, Judge Paine quoted George VI, when he was crowned King of England. The king said, "We will, God helping us, faithfully discharge the trust." The speaker remarked that it is a trust and responsibility to guide young people. He advised that each graduate study his own faults, correct them and attempt what he suggested is that teaching is a matter of co-operation which is a salvation of many things. It is the duty of each teacher to cooperate in the community and take part and assist in community activities. "Don't be mechanical; the main purpose of the teacher is to be helpful; money is secondary," he remarked.

Dr. J. T. Anderson, president of the college, congratulated the graduating class. He announced Miss Esther Coe of Sioux City, Miss Leah Roe of Wayne, Miss Helen Voth of Wayne, and Miss Ethel Lewis of Winnsie, as recipients of the gold cord of distinction as chosen by the faculty committee, for being in the upper five percent in the class scholarship and for citizenship. Miss Margaret Bruner of Geddes, S. D., was granted the university scholarship.

Dr. Anderson conferred the degrees upon the recommendation of Dean H. H. Hahn. The brass choir, under the direction of Prof. John R. Keith, played the professional and recessional. The choir also played a selection, Eric Tu from "A Masked Ball." David Sanders sang a vocal solo, "I Am the Builder." He was accompanied by Milo Henkels. The invocation was given by Rev. Wm. Kearns and the benediction by Rev. Carl Bader.

Elect Directors For Local Club

F. B. Decker and Allen Cook Chosen To Board For Business Men.

FLOWER SHOW HERE SUCCESS

Display Sponsored By Club Will Probably Be Made Annual Affair.

Wayne's first flower show, staged Friday at the auditorium under the auspices of the Woman's club, brought a profusion of beautiful irises and other blossoms and attracted more than 400 visitors. So manifest was the interest that the club will probably sponsor the display each spring.

Iris were judged by Mrs. Fred S. Grouseman, landscape architect, from Omaha, and choice iris roots were awarded as prizes. J. J. Steele had the largest number of winnings, taking three firsts, two seconds and one third. J. W. Jones was close with three firsts and one second.

The awards were made by Mrs. Grouseman as follows: Dark blend, J. J. Steele first, Mrs. Wilbur Spahr second, Mrs. Gus Wendt third, light blend, J. W. Jones first, J. J. Steele second and Mrs. E. W. Huse third; single stalk self color, J. W. Jones first and second, Mrs. Gus Wendt third; light with darker edge, J. J. Steele first, Mrs. Gus Wendt second, R. F. Jacobs third; single stalk variegated, J. W. Jones first, J. J. Steele second; single stalk with greatest number of open flowers, H. H. Hahn first, J. J. Steele second, Mrs. E. W. Huse third; single stalk with largest flower, Mrs. Gus Wendt first, Mrs. F. L. Blair second, Mrs. E. W. Huse third; eight stalks all different, Mrs. Ed. Miller first, H. H. Hahn second, Miss Cordia Petras third; largest collection of distinct varieties, J. J. Steele first, Mrs. F. L. Blair second, Mrs. W. Huse third; best collection of named varieties, Mr. F. L. Blair first, most artistic arrangement with other flowers of choice, Mrs. Gus Wendt first, Mrs. Anna Thompson second, Mrs. F. L. Blair third; most artistic arrangement without other flowers, Mrs. W. B. Vail first, J. W. Jones second, Mrs. J. G. Miller third; best basket of two varieties of iris for color harmony, H. H. Hahn first.

Besides those mentioned, exhibitors were entered by Mrs. M. E. Benson, Mrs. Carl Berntson, Mrs. L. B. McClure, Mrs. Henry Lage, Mrs. Grace Cavanaugh, Mrs. W. C. Andrews, Mrs. John Surber, Mrs. Nettie Call, Mrs. A. R. Davis and Mrs. Clyde Oman.

D. Hall provided an artistic display of various flowers for the show.

Points for Judging.
In judging the exhibit Mrs. Grouseman used the professional scale approved by the National Federation of Garden Clubs. For single specimens the rate is 70 percent for the flower and 30 percent for the stem and buds. Under flower she considered texture, location, mechanical perfection, parity of color. The points under stem were height, strength, placement of buds and foliage. The first flower at the top of the stalk was given greatest consideration. In artistic arrangement 20 percent went to each of the following points: Distinction, relation of flower to container, color harmony, perfection of arrangement, quality.

Mrs. Grouseman, who was accompanied to Wayne by her husband, came to Wayne for her exhibition only. She is interested in beautifying Nebraska and the local club plans to have her return to give a program next year that will help flower growers. Mrs. Grouseman is regional chairman of flower shows in the Rocky mountain region, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota. She is on the national council of visitors from distance.

Visitors at the flower show included many from Wayne and nearby towns. Among those from more distant places were Mrs. D. B. Martin of Genoa, Mrs. Anna Gamble Johnson of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Adelle Titus of San Francisco, Mrs. E. G. Lundahl of Maywood, Ill., Milo Henkels of Hawarden, Iowa, Mrs. John Dennis of Barstow, Calif., Mrs. Vern Larson of Worthington, Minn., Florida Eberhardt of Exeter, Mrs. G. L. Kistler of Oakdale, Miss Bette Atkins of Cozard, Doris Anne Douglas of Clark, Evelyn Boe of International Falls, Minn.

Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Mrs. F. L. Blair, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Mrs. E. W. Huse comprised the committee in charge of the flower show. They had luncheon together Friday noon with Mrs. Grouseman as guest.

The committee wishes to thank all who made the exhibit and decorations possible by their generous response.

CONGRESS
KARL STEFAN
Proposal to Aid Movie Exhibitors.
 The other day the senate passed a bill to prohibit the trade practices known as compulsory block booking and blind selling in the leasing of motion picture films in interstate and foreign commerce.

This legislation is scheduled to pass the house although the "big fight" motion picture trust is in Washington opposing the legislation. It is believed when passed, this bill will affect every modern picture theater in the country. One of the objects of the bill is to obtain for the exhibitor freedom to choose the pictures his patrons desire to see, instead of accepting those which the trust insists be shall buy in blocks if he buys at all.

Children Patronize Motion Pictures.
 Believe it or not, the records show that 77 million American people witness at least one motion picture every week in the year. Twenty-eight million two hundred and fifty thousand of these people are under 21 years of age. Eleven million American children who are 13 years of age or younger, see at least 52 motion pictures every year. In the congested area of one of our greatest cities 17 percent of the patrons of moving picture houses are children under 7 years of age. Independent movie people and many organizations say there is a great need for local freedom in the choice of the films that our children are to see.

Study Shows Pictures Feature Crime.
 One big reason for that is disclosed in the findings of the Motion Picture Research Council. One midwestern town, the council checked the showing of 115 films from week to week, and found that in those 115 pictures, the heroes alone were responsible for 13 murders; the villains and villains were committed 50 cases of felonious assault; 17 hold ups, 21 kidnappings and to say nothing of numerous other crimes. The total deaths by violence was 71. In short, in 115 pictures 406 crimes were actually committed and 43 additional ones were attempted, making a total of 449 crimes in 115 pictures or nearly 4 crimes per picture.

The bill does not prescribe censorship, nor does it prohibit this type of picture, but if it becomes law, it will relieve the exhibitors of the burden of buying them and it is believed that as a result fewer of these pictures will appear on the screen.
Improper Mailing.
 The division of dead letters and dead parcel post held a sale in the post office building here Wednesday. A great room was filled with all kinds of merchandise which never reached its destination and was sold to the highest bidders. Postal employees in charge of this sale said that most of this mail was lost because the senders failed to address the letters and parcels properly or they failed to put on their return address. Even old coins and valuable stamps which collectors misdirected were sold. This is not the only dead letter and dead parcel post sale the government holds. New York holds these sales every month and similar sales are held in half a dozen other cities of the country.

Add Another Bureau.
 The house added another bureau to the many now in the government. This is the civil aeronautics authority to provide for the regulation of civil aeronautics. Nobody was opposed to the principle contained in the legislation which passed but the minority which asked that instead of adding this new bureau it could be worked into the interstate commerce commission which deals with all other interstate commerce commission which the minority felt a new and expensive bureau would be unnecessary and much money could be saved to the taxpayers. The majority, however, argued that the I.C.C. now is overworked and can't handle its present business and they outvoted the minority on the motion to recommit the bill.

Air Mail "Got There All Right."
 Air mail letters spent from various towns in the Third district to the district office in Washington made fast time. Most of the air mail letters commemorating air mail week were stamped "9:00 a. m., May 19" in the Nebraska towns and reached the congressional office in Washington at 8:00 a. m. the following day, May 20. Many of the senders of these first flight, airmail letters requested that they be returned to them indicating that there are many stamp collectors in the Third district.

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for June 1, 1922: Eighty graders completing the rural schools number 142. The annual Wayne high school alumni banquet was held with Miss Elizabeth Minns toastmaster.

Mrs. Margaret Paul, 85, died at Concord May 20, 1922. Dr. D. D. Tobias of Wayne, has been appointed chief of the bureau of animal husbandry at Lincoln.

Mrs. Thomas Sylvanus of Carroll, returned from Texas where she went to benefit her health. Contract for paving the business section in Wakefield was let for $3.45 per square yard.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Meares of Omaha, May 27, 1922. Mr. Meares used to live here. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Simons of near Wakefield, May 31, 1922.

Miss Alina Putnam of Ponca, has been secured by the city as park supervisor. Rev. C. J. Ringer of Council Bluffs, formerly of Wayne, was granted the D. D. degree by Midland college at Fremont.

Daisies were sold by the Legion Auxiliary for rehabilitation work. The Waterbury bank was entered at night and $2,000 taken, besides bonds and savings stamps.

Miss Grace Soderberg who is doing missionary work in China, writes about the building of a new mission school. She also describes the civil war, waging there.

Arthur Burdette of Missouri Valley, and Miss Madeline Stanton of Carroll, were married May 31, 1922. Three women who were making a trip on foot from Los Angeles to New York to win a prize, were in Wayne for a short stop.

Wayne city council decided to extend the sanitary sewer in the east part of town. It was decided to hold the county fair next fall. H. J. Miner, H. B. Craven, W. E. VonSeggern, and H. W. Ley were elected officers. Directors are Wm. Leggsman, Roy Jeffrey, R. G. Rohrkopf, J. J. Ahern, V. L. Dayton and E. F. Shrelts.

From the Wayne Herald for June 5, 1922: J. W. Ziegler has begun a new home on his farm west of town. To date 52 dog taxes had been paid in Wayne. Arthur Tucker went to Cedar Rapids, Neb., where he bought an interest in a bank in which he will be cashier. J. W. Bartlett who has been a member of the Grand Island Baptist college, went there for commencement. Mrs. H. F. Cunningham, 22, daughter-in-law of Burr Cunningham, died at Randolph in June, 1922. Marcus Kroger, and Miss Minnie Leimer were married May 28, 1922, and a reception followed in the home of Fred Volpp.

Wayne high school graduated 18 young folks. Exercises were in the open house and in the center of the stage was suspended a large bell on which was the class motto: "Let the Ropes of the Past Ring the Bells of the Future." In the class were Emma Aditt, Margaret Aditt, Libbie Ellis, Mary Farris, Jennie Gaerner, Layard Lundberg, Eda Myers, Alvie Stringer, Clara Ahern, Jessie Tucker, Elsie Warnock, Blanche Young, Gayle Jones, Edna Relyea, Georgia Terwilliger, John Bell, Frank Gerton and Edward McCay.

From Ponca Journal for June 1, 1882: "Anyone who may ride through the county in any direction from Ponca cannot fail to be impressed by the beauty of the scenery and the substantial signs of thrift and prosperity which everywhere meet the eye. In all the state of Nebraska we doubt if any county can be found that excels our own in natural resources as well as eternal beauties of nature. Northern Nebraska has like the great and rich states bordering the Mississippi, passed through her fiery ordeal, and civilization has made this area her home. The fields have been broken by the plow, groves have been planted, thriving villages established, industries of all kinds have sprung up, and a career of prosperity begun which bids fair to endure as long as the union itself, which will we trust prove immortal."

Children in Oregon complained that an unsociable "doggie" ran under a barn. The father shot the animal and collected $25 bonus for a six-foot cougar.

An Oregon man's dog had fits so he had it shot. A few days later the dog reappeared. The shot had only creased the dog's skull and the dog no longer had fits.

A bridegroom collapsed in a faint just after he said "I will" in a wedding ceremony in England. Water revived him so the ceremony could be completed.

A Boston terror appeared at the city clerk's office in Seward with a dollar bill in his mouth. He paid for his license, took the receipt in his mouth and returned home.

An Indiana WPA worker became a father and grandfather the same day. A daughter was born in his home the same day that a son was born to his son and daughter-in-law.

Outfielder John Brubaker charged himself with an error when he dropped a fence in his zeal to snare a fly in a Grand league baseball game at Yaltima, Wash. He landed in an irrigation ditch.

Workmen tearing down concrete fence posts which were placed in Indiana in 1921 saw a black object in one post. The object proved to be a flattened toad which revived and hopped away after being doused with water.

Holdup men in Cleveland fired their victim's heart and the man staggered and fell. The robbers ran. Their victim was able to stagger home and it was found that the bullet had only bruised him. A cigar case saved him.

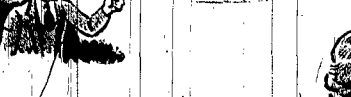

A man is as old as his legs, claims a Pittsburgh man who hikes a mile for each year of his age on his birthday. It meant a 51-mile hike on his last birthday. The man has been a walking fan for 33 years and has hiked a quarter million miles.

A 76-year-old farmer in Tennessee, made a coffin from a walnut tree back of his house and will hold a funeral preview June

Outfielder John Brubaker charged himself with an error when he dropped a fence in his zeal to snare a fly in a Grand league baseball game at Yaltima, Wash. He landed in an irrigation ditch.

Workmen tearing down concrete fence posts which were placed in Indiana in 1921 saw a black object in one post. The object proved to be a flattened toad which revived and hopped away after being doused with water.

Holdup men in Cleveland fired their victim's heart and the man staggered and fell. The robbers ran. Their victim was able to stagger home and it was found that the bullet had only bruised him. A cigar case saved him.

A man is as old as his legs, claims a Pittsburgh man who hikes a mile for each year of his age on his birthday. It meant a 51-mile hike on his last birthday. The man has been a walking fan for 33 years and has hiked a quarter million miles.

ENGINES WILL BE WORN LESS THIS SUMMER

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get from your change to OIL-PLATING. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from your Mileage Merchant's station can give you engine OIL-PLATING. Other oils can't. No matter how they're refined they cannot surpass the correct refining of Germ Processed oil. But refining only takes things out, while Germ Processing adds in the patented made substance that forces oil to "join up" with the working parts, keeping them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, you have permanent OIL-PLATING. Like all plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear away and it never drains down nor waits for the oil pump! Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING will lubricate! Hence no "dry starts" with your engine OIL-PLATED. And plating don't fly off at Summer speeds, or fizzle away in the heat. So the heat indicator stays on the safe side, and the gauge-stick says "Full full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" Have your Mileage Merchant OIL-PLATE Your Engine. Continental Oil Co.

Memorial Day Service Held

Memorial day was observed with community services Monday afternoon at 2 in the hall, Attorney F. P. Voter of Laurel, being the speaker. The Carroll band, directed by Arvid Davis and the Welsh sextet furnished music. Rev. C. E. Fredrickson gave the invocation and benediction. Lions club was in charge.

The Legion Auxiliary had charge of decorating graves of veterans buried here, 14 being in Carroll cemetery and four in Bethany. A few years ago the women made white crosses on which they placed in black the words, "Let We Forget." This year they made wreaths in the poppy sale. A poppy wreath was hung Memorial day over each of the white crosses. Mrs. W. C. Wroble was in charge and the wreaths were placed by Peggy Murrill, Miriam Roberts, Betty Winterstein and Cleo Mae Davis.

The Auxiliary women also decorated the hall with flowers and flags for the services.

Methodist Aid served dinner at the church parlors at noon.

HOLD EVERYTHING

If You Like a Bargain.. If You Want to Save..
Don't Miss Coming to Wayne This Week!

Brown-McDonald's

Starting Thursday, June 2
Ending Saturday, June 11

Brings an Opportunity of Opportunities

As many of you know, fire of undetermined origin swept our store early Monday morning, May 23d. Starting in the northwest corner of the store it entirely destroyed our women's ready-to-wear stock and goods adjacent show the effects of fire.

Due to the efficiency of the Wayne fire department, goods are not water soaked or water damaged. Smoke smell clings, of course, but does not affect the intrinsic value of the merchandise, some of which looks as fresh as when newly received.

Every Item On Our Main Floor Sacrificed at FIRE SALE REDUCTIONS

Regardless of condition, every piece of goods in stock is price-sacrificed with the one aim in mind of quick disposal in order that the room may be turned over to the contractors for remodeling and refinishing as soon as possible.

The sale starts Thursday morning, June 2, continues for nine days ending Saturday, June 11. The scale of the price reductions is based upon the condition of the damage, but all prices are so low as to jam and pack the store to capacity.

All Shoes

Men's, women's and children's in summer styles, white included, most of them without a mark or smudge, good as new. Also all work shoes marked way down!

Clothing

Men's wool suits without damage whatever except for the slight smell of smoke which will soon vanish when garments are worn or cleaned, all at cut prices.

Furnishings

Men's dress shirts, socks, ties, underwear, belts, suspenders, all straw and felt hats, most of the items as good as new, but all to go at fire sale prices.

Overalls

Sodbuster, Money-bak and Oshkosh overalls, men's work shirts, work suits (matching shirt and pants), work clothing of all kinds included at sensational savings...

Wash Goods

Buy yard goods now, sew and save. Percales and wash goods of all kinds, silks, rayons, acetates, wool goods, in a sale that insures savings seldom to be had.

Silk Hose

Corticelli silk hosiery, our famous Bekco silk hosiery, cotton and rayon hose, women's and children's cotton anklets for summer, most of the items without damage except for smoke smell, are going at deep price reductions.

Underwear

Women's lingerie, rayon undies, somewhat the worse for smoke or water damage which a trip to the wash tub will probably remedy, marked for a quick clean-up at prices to do the trick.

Straw Hats

Get your summer straw hat now at a saving. Dress straws in sailors and pinch crowns... work straw hats in a number of styles, all apparently as good as new. Come early for choice.

Our Plans For The Future . . . .

Immediately following adjustment with the insurance companies, our plans were crystallized. Following this nine-day sale which takes place in our old, and now fire damaged store room, we will open temporarily in the smaller building formerly occupied by the Betty Jane Shop west of the State National Bank. Our Main street building will then be remodeled and when completed, reopened with entirely new fixtures and a complete new stock of goods. Come now and save!

Open Evenings This Week

In order to give an opportunity for those who cannot be here during the day, our store will be open until 9 Thursday, Friday, Saturday nights.

Every Sale Must Be Final

Because of the tremendous reductions please do not ask for exchanges, refunds or layaways on fire sale goods. All sales considered final.
