Shatters Party Lines IN HIS so-called fireside chat Friday night President Roosevelt made clear his intention to support candidates who have favored his policies...

After thinking the matter through, he has concluded that it is his duty to surround himself with like-minded fellows to help him carry out the people's 1936 mandate...

The president has succeeded in splitting the democratic party. The republican party was already split.

Brazen Scheme THE attempt to write into the state constitution an amendment to legalize slot machines has aroused sharp newspaper resentment.

Farther on the World-Herald says. "The effrontery of the scheme is equaled only by the hypocrisy of attaching it to the noble effort to maintain the aged and sustain the schools."

Note of Warning THE editor of Nation's Business sounds a strong note of warning over the drift of public affairs in this country and concludes with this reproof: "So though we may wake up some morning to find life on the American plan completely changed, the discovery will be made to no accompaniment of goose-stepping pomp and circumstance."

Plan Doll Show At Wayne Park A doll show for all Wayne girls between the ages of 5 to 14 inclusive, will be held Thursday, July 7, at Bressler park.

Has Minor Operation. Monte Bomser underwent minor surgery last Wednesday at a local hospital. He was dismissed this Wednesday.

Interest Growing In Canning Foods A marked interest in preservation of home produced foods from early gardens is being shown by farm families operating under loans from the Farm Security Administration, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, home supervisor for that agency in Wayne county.

Hold Rennick Reunion. The Rennick family held a reunion Sunday at the James Rennick home near Pilger. In the group were the families of Ed. Rennick, Lee Jones and Herman Jones, also Geo. Rennick of Pilger.

DECENTRALIZATION. Henry Ford is taking the lead in getting away from centralization in manufacturing. A report states that he has sixteen comparatively small plants located at different advantageous points with eight others about ready to start operations.

People who love circuses—and most people do—will regret to learn that human stupidity and folly have forced the Ringling-Barnum-Bailey aggregation, greatest show on earth, to give up and return to winter quarters.

Edgar Howard, editor of the Columbus Telegram, and former congressman from this district, is being petitioned to mount the hustings for congress against Karl Stefan, present incumbent, and from reports we judge he is willing to run.

The government proposes to permit banks to be more generous in making loans, but consistent with adequate security. If one has plenty of security he is not going to ask for more of a loan for a longer period than his actual needs require.

The small business man is the goat in the whirlpool of reform legislation. Those floating around at the bottom cannot be hurt, while those at the top can probably stand being hurt.

The versatility of our climate has been proved anew the past week—intense heat followed by unseasonable coolness with plenty of rain.

Punishment and reward come along about as deserved, though it would seem the administration had dealt out enough of the former to make us good until we get back on our feet and able to become bad again.

One convicts himself of having but one god—money—when he assumes that no one can do anything that is not prompted by sense of financial gain.

Wayne's enterprise in providing one of the few car testing stations in this part of the state deserves to be commended. It will help the community.

Bayard Pageant Presented Yearly

"The Gift of God," outdoor pageant presented at Bayard each year during the week of June 15, was a most impressive performance.

A natural amphitheatre along the bluffs lying near Chimney rock is filled each night the performance is given.

The cast of 150 is made up of talent from Scottsbluff county. Fifty people are in the choir which represents different churches.

No one takes the part of God, but a minister reads the speaking part. Other speaking parts are taken by characters in the pageant.

Every Biblical detail is worked out to perfection, according to Mrs. Gabler, and the costumes are very elaborate and in keeping with the period.

The attitude of the audience witnessing the pageant is very reverent and there is no smoking throughout the performance.

Wayne Municipal OFFICIAL TESTING STATION on South Pearl Street Is Now Ready To Inspect Motor Vehicles For Safety

There are several matters which should be called to your attention, not only to expedite the service in each station, but also for the benefit of the public in general.

Check your car to make sure that your tail light and headlights are not burned out. Be sure that the lenses on the headlights are not broken, and that they are matched.

Clean the dirt from the motor number and check this number with your registration certificate, and make sure they correspond. It is important that tire inflation is UNIFORM in all tires and the pressure is the usual amount carried in your tires.

In general, check your vehicle and have put in condition any part or parts which you know will not pass inspection.

The Nebraska law requires the owner of a motor vehicle of any kind to have the safety factors of the vehicle inspected and tested at least once each year upon precision equipment.

Board of Equalization. Wayne, Nebraska, June 20, 1938. Board of Equalization met as per adjournment. All members present. Inasmuch as there were several protests on the valuation of land in Wayne County, this Board goes on record as favoring a reduction on all farm land in Wayne County, not including improvements. However, the State Tax Commissioner believes that valuations will be adhered to as they now stand, and the Board is not asking the County Clerk or County Assessor to make such reduction on the assessment records until the State Tax Commissioner or State Board of Equalization certifies Wayne County's valuation for the year 1938 showing approval of such a decrease. On motion the Assessment Roll for the year 1938, after making such changes as ordered by the Board of Equalization of Wayne County, is allowed to stand as the assessment for Wayne County, subject to such 10% decrease, and the County Assessor is to be notified that such is the final assessment subject to such 10% decrease, and that it is now ready for his certification to the State Tax Commissioner or State Board of Equalization. Whereupon Board adjourned to July 5, 1938. Bertha Berres, Clerk.
