The dream is explained to the wise men, who plan the Indian's life by it. When Black Elk was traveling westward he fell into a trance and was practically dead for 12 days. His vision was for the good of men. 'In the "Song of the Messiah" the author tells of taking the Indian to the Black [Hills, where he had been in his vision; When Black Elk got to the top of Harney peak, he dressed and painted in true In-dian fashion, halled to the four di-rections, and prayed. In his vision the Indian dramend that while he grayed it raihed. This part of high dream was also Irud. Dr. Neihardt remarked that the day they went to the Black Hills was very clear, but while the Indian prayed rain fell for a short time. Another rather uncanny thing about the Indian was his power of recognizing the ability of peo-ple. Although he did not know anything of Dh. Neihardt's gift of writing, he called him "Flaming Rainbow" because he was a "word sender." When Is THE age when a man needs One Old? cussed by the Saturday Eve-ning Post. It points out that in California old age has been cut down from Dr. Town-send's sixty years to the present proposi-tion's fifty years. In the estimation of some employers, the forty-year juncture is the time to quit work. The federal census shows that "more than half of all men be-tween seventy and seventyfive were work-ing: three out of every four men between sixtyfive and seventy; six out of every geven men between sixty and sixtyfive years."

seven meni between sixty and sixtyfive years." It is not easy to determine when a fel-low is old—when he is too old to work and should be shelved. The president's ideas on the subject seem to change. The Post mentions this point: "Seventy was decrepi-tude to Mr. Roosevelt when he was trying to purge the supreme court last year, but introducing' David J. Lewis, new deal can-didate for the Maryland democratic sena-torial nomination, at Denton on Labor day, the president spoke of him as 'now well along in mature middle life.' While we sympathize with employer While we sympathize with employers doing interstate business over impending enforcement of the wage-hour law, we feel relieved to know weekly newspapers with less than 3,000 circulation are exempt. The law goes into effect next Monday! Exemp-tion is fortunate for the Herald-due to depression shrinkage. Even if business were normal, the shortened work week in a newspaper plant would cause hardship because employees could not work for near the minimum wages prescribed by the law. and a newspaper could not afford to and a newspaper could not attord to hip competent help to make up for decrease hours. Small industries employing skilled labor will have their burdens, already in cluding the social security nightmare, con siderably enlarged. Artist Speaks at Meeting. Artist Speaks at Meeting. 'Mi. and Mrs. Don Glassell of the Sloux City air center, were guests at the A. A. U. W. meet-ing held Thursday evening in the Woman's club rooms. Mr. Glassell spoke to the group on Scandinavian art, comparing it with American. The speaker, who was born in Demmark, re-marked that to understand Scan-dinavian art, one had to know the life and people of the coun-try. According to custom in Den-mark he followed in the steps of his igrandfather and after de-ciding to become an artist, he was isent to art school. After graduating from the plaster cast claims to become an artist, he was sent to art school. After graduating from the plaster cast class, Mr. Glassell was sent to a priviate instructor. Scandinavian artists do not learn much from other nations, but their art is 'happy alt and they paint to please themselves with a lyrical quality. The artists look toward nature and do not use human subjects as the Latins did. The American art school has a much freer attitude toward art. Char-acteristics of Scandinavian art are likeness to subject, senti-mentality. Ititle individuality. Dwaine [Dimming played two mentantry, little individuality, Dwaine Dunning played two violn solos, accompanied by Miss Bette Blair. The committee in charge was Miss Lenore Ram-sey, chairman, Miss Mildred Clark, Miss Mildred Piper, Miss
