

Cannot Afford to Relax Constructive Effort - Agricultural Extension Support Up to Voters - Where Reason Loses Control.

Wayne must not be satisfied with what it has accomplished. It must keep up a constructive, forward course to justify existing investments and maintain present incomes. It is so much easier to obstruct or tear down through indifference or misrepresentation than to build and hold ground gained that farseeing citizens cannot afford to lose courage or relax effort. Farm communities that have accepted Wayne as their home town have reason to expect it to become increasingly attractive as a trade and social center. Any policy that negligently sacrifices pennies is bound to cost dollars.

For Farm Bureau. A proposition to support agricultural extension work in Wayne county is to appear on the ballot at the general election November 8. As we understand it, the purpose is to pay other expenses than the agent's salary which comes from state and federal funds. Incidental expenses are now met by farm memberships which do not make an equitable distribution of the burden. Figuring the assessed valuation of the county, the cost of maintaining the service would impose a tax of ten cents on each $1,000 worth of property.

As explained, the farm bureau has proved of much value to the county's agriculture. Notably, it leads in the work of 4-H clubs of which there are 170 members in this county. Also in the work of women's project clubs with 268 members. The bureau makes corn and sorghum tests, and is active in getting rid of grasshoppers and other farm enemies.

The fact that more than the necessary signatures were secured to place the question of county support before voters, for decision would indicate general and favorable interest. The agricultural extension bureau seems to be a clearing-house for farm ideas. It takes leadership in constructive farm activities. If farmers believe its service is worth the trifling cost, townspeople, wishing to cooperate with rural districts, will consistently be for it.

Named Officer In Fair Group. W. E. VonSeggern Is Elected When Northeast Circuit Convenes Here.

More than 100 men who are interested in fairs gathered at Wayne Methodist church parlors Tuesday evening when Wayne county fair association entertained at the annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Fair association. Visitors were from Cumby, Douglas, Saunders, Thurston and Washington counties.

Mr. Cooper of Douglas county, was elected president for the coming year. W. E. VonSeggern of Wayne, is vice president, and Chet Marshall of Arlington, is secretary-treasurer. Next fall's meeting will be in Wahoo.

Reports were given on fairs held this season in each of the counties. A few of the associations reported a very good year but most of the counties had only an average return. Allen Cook reported for Wayne county. Though the local reports are not yet complete, the Wayne county fair will do the same as in most counties, "break even."

A. D. Raun of Walthill, president the past year, presided and called on several speakers. Among them were Conrad Johnson of Mead, and Bert Miller of Arlington, present members of the state fair board, and Charles Graf of Bancroft, ex-member of the state board. Mr. Graf explained why he is opposed to pari-mutuel races at fairs. He resigned from the state board because of the pari-mutuel. Perry Reed, state secretary, was unable to be present.

At round table discussion suggestions were made for fair programs. One of these, which will be followed, is a suggestion that a committee be named to arrange for shifting of fair talent from one program to another so that changes may be had each day. Each association will appoint one representative to make up this committee.

POWER PROJECT BEING CHECKED

Plan Is to Start Building Lines in Wayne County Yet This Fall.

Wayne county's rural power project application, now under consideration at Washington, has passed several divisions of the rural electrification administration. Final approval of the entire project is expected in the near future, according to Henry Moeding.

The proposed project consists of 178 miles of lines to serve Wayne county areas. Funds for the work were allocated some time ago so that they will be available as soon as final approval is given on the project.

The plan is to start construction this fall, and Mr. Moeding states that farmers who have signed up for the electric current will be hired to do the labor on the construction.

Man Is Killed In Car Accident

John McGill Loses His Life When Auto Plunges Through Rail.

John McGill, 35, farmer living seven miles northwest of Wisner, was killed Saturday evening when the car in which he was returning home from Wisner went through a bridge railing and down a 15-foot embankment, turning over and pinning McGill beneath the machine. The body was found about 11 o'clock by a neighbor, Harvey White, who with Mrs. White and Mrs. Sherman White were going to the home of last named.

The Whites returned to Wisner to notify officers. McGill, who was alone in the car, suffered a crushed face and several broken bones. McGill had three narrow escapes from death before. His clothes were torn from him in a tractor accident. He was injured in a runaway, and a month ago was severely hurt when kicked by a horse.

Another strange coincidence is that Saturday afternoon a car driven by Mr. McGill's father, Patrick McGill, and one occupied by Charles, Ralph and Vernon White, brothers of Ralph White, collided on the same road in loose gravel, both cars going into a ditch and the machines being damaged.

Mr. McGill leaves his wife, parents, three brothers and three sisters.

Construction of Building at Wayne College Will Start in January.

Gordon Shattuck of Grand Island, was selected architect at the State Board of Education meeting in Lincoln Sunday and Monday, for the student-faculty activities building at the Wayne State Teachers college. Early Settler Of Wayne Has 80th Birthday

Celebrating his anniversary quietly in his shop under Fred Berry's law office, W. K. Heister passed his 80th birthday Tuesday October 25. Mr. Heister proudly boasts that he would be two days older than Theodore Roosevelt had he lived. Mr. Roosevelt was born October 27, 1858.

On April Fool's day, 1882, Mr. Heister came to Wayne from Ida Grove, Iowa. He was born in Burkes county, Pennsylvania, and went to Iowa when a young man, coming to Wayne three years later. Wayne had been started as a village in 1881 and in no way resembles the present Wayne. All of the buildings were wooden and the first cement sidewalk was laid in front of the new Citizens bank in 1885. Mr. Heister recalls the fire in 1892, and the erection of the Boyd hotel in 1892.

Mr. Heister worked in the German store 20 years and in the J. P. Gartner furniture store for 12 years. He has had his own furniture repair shop for 11 years.

There, there was an injunction suit brought against the city when the auditorium was built. Believing that public opinion was overweighing in favor of this improvement, and that further delay was costing the city money, a small amount of the objectors' costs was paid to compromise and dismiss this suit. However, as a result of this suit, another letting was necessary, and the auditorium cost the city $2,600 additional because the bids at the second letting of the contract were that much higher because of the advance in building materials in the meantime.

It is true that the city testing station, also known as the safety lane, is not a self-supporting proposition at the present time. However, its construction was made necessary by a state law, and it was only undertaken by the city.

The reclaiming of used oil will effect a saving in fuel costs. Bids on the filter, which will cost about $800, will be opened November 7.

The refunding of $24,000 in bonds at 2 1/2 per cent interest was completed at Tuesday's meeting. The refunding will effect a saving to the city.

Costly Injunction

There, there was an injunction suit brought against the city when the auditorium was built. However, as a result of this suit, another letting was necessary, and the auditorium cost the city $2,600 additional because the bids at the second letting of the contract were that much higher because of the advance in building materials in the meantime.

Need To Keep American Plan

Dr. Wm. Zimmerman Chief Speaker for Kiwanis Program Monday.

"If we keep our American system of government healthy, there is no need of fearing that anything will break out here," was the idea that Dr. Wm. Zimmerman of Fremont, governor of Iowa-Nebraska district, left with the Kiwanis club, their wives and guests from Norfolk Monday. Dr. Zimmerman addressed the group following a dinner at Hotel Stratton at which 121 were served with 27 couples here from Norfolk.

The Kiwanis club must do its part in keeping the country in a healthful condition, confided the speaker. "We hope to preserve this life we are enjoying, not in bottles in museums but by continuing to live as we have. People in Europe envy us in being able to have meetings such as this one Monday evening."

Dr. Zimmerman mentioned the changes in the constitutions. One of the amendments is the short ballot. This would be changing Andrew Jackson's ideas of having all offices filled by election. With the short ballot the voting could be compared to buying a bunch of asparagus. The political scientists say that the shortened ballot is the people's ballot, stated Dr. Zimmerman. Need To Keep American Plan man. Fewer offices are to be filled by election and the men may be studied before voted on. In other words the voter does not vote as blindly. The few men elected are held responsible for the other people in offices.

Many people stay at home on election day because they feel they are not well enough read or educated along those lines to vote, the speaker continued. It is the duty of the Kiwanis club to overcome this apathy among its members. The club should invite people to get together and discuss such things. "If we don't guide the thinking of the unthinking people, we will have to entertain the American people rather than have them think for themselves."

Another charge Dr. Zimmerman mentioned was the lengthening of the governor's term from two to four years. With that length of term the people must be sure of the man.

Kiwanis club enjoys intelligent and aggressive citizenship.

J. E. Brittain of Wayne, was toastmaster. He explained the purposes of the Kiwanis club which gives supremacy to the spiritual values rather than the material.

"Kiwanians are seekers of truth, beauty and godliness," Mr. Brittain also welcomed the Norfolk club members and wives and the ladies from Wayne.

Ed. Hiebenthal of Norfolk, responded to the welcome.

Nebraska already has a law providing for old age pensions. The present problem is to raise sufficient money to pay the old age pensions which the legislature has provided for. If that is to be done, it can only be done by the legislature; the governor of the state can't do it. This is the matter facing Nebraskans today, according to an explanation made by F. S. Berry.

For many years Nebraska law has provided that aged persons without property or means of support must be cared for by children or other relatives, if any of them have ability to support them. A statute passed in 1937 provides that a person 65 years of age or over who does not have an income of over $360 a year, has no relatives liable for his support and has lived in the state five of the past nine years, shall be entitled to $30 a month pension. If the applicant has an income less than $360 a year, the amount shall be deducted from the pension. At the applicant's death, a claim may be filed against property of the estate, if there is any, for the amount of the pension, half to go to the county general fund and half to the federal government.

Funds for the state's old age pension are raised from the $2 paid by each man and woman between the ages of 21 and 59, taxes on gasoline and other motor fuels, taxes on liquor and other thrives as the legislature may provide.

Taxes so raised go to the old age assistance fund, part of which is used for the

Common Sense
PINCHING along on WPA or other relief work in the absence of private employment based on merit, is emphasized in a quotation from Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for governor of New York, reproduced in the Omaha World-Herald. The quotation, which will be recognized as apt by informed observers, follows:

"Living upon WPA or relief doesn't give a family enough money to be real consumers. The way to increase consumption in this country is to get business to give people productive jobs, steady jobs, at good wages. Jobs are made by the investment of money in new factories, new machinery, new housing, new ideas. That growth is the thing that has stopped. Idle money makes idle men. But threats won't bring it out of hiding. Abuse won't put it to work. Business men have been scared. No business man knows today what the rules of business will be tomorrow. Who, I ask you, is going to risk a cent of money who is going to invest his money and create jobs for the future that the next day he will be abused for doing it? The answer is that he won't invest it in production. He will put his money in government bonds instead of putting it to work to make real jobs pay real wages. Then you and I will pay taxes to pay interest on his tax-exempt investment."

Threats to Competence
MOST persons are willing and anxious to help those who are needy, to aid deserving oldsters who have lost their means and are unable to support their own wants, but those who have lived industriously and frugally to sustain themselves in declining, helpless years, do not relish being reduced to poverty in supporting indiscriminate benevolence that encourages improvidence. A widow whose family worked and saved in order to be secure in old age, finds herself beset by obligations to support those who wasted time and neglected opportunities. Not all in need are so, but enough to threaten the competence earned through a long period of toil and self-denial.

Manifestly, unfortunates should be helped, but their needs should be determined and met carefully and without sacrificing the rewards of another's lifetime of industry and painstaking economy. There must be a premium on meritorious endeavor—conceded goals for genius and pluck—if fine citizen metal is to be retained and developed.

Proposed Amendments
FOUR proposed constitutional amendments will appear on the ballot November 8 for approval or disapproval. The one to legalize slot machines makes a specious plea to benefit charity, whereas its operation would encourage the gambling spirit and reap a harvest of small change from persons who could least afford to lose. Its evil influence would prove hurtful to society. Plainly, there are other ways to aid the needy without sacrificing the young and unsophisticated in doing it. An overwhelming negative vote would reaffirm the state's fine citizenship.

There are three other proposed amendments: One would shorten the ballot by authorizing the governor to appoint certain state officers, now elected. This centralization of power would perhaps mean more efficiency at the sacrifice of the democratic principle. Another would lengthen the governor's term from two to four years. Still another would decrease the liability of state bank stockholders.

Tuesday's report stated that after the wage-hour law had been in operation twenty-four hours, eighty thousand persons had been thrown out of employment. Most of the resulting idleness is reported in the south where wages are comparatively low and living demands are relatively small. Noting the employment trend in the wrong direction, President Roosevelt issued a suggestion that employers join hands with the government in making the law work. Administrator Elmer F. Andrews demonstrated an ugly mood in expressing the belief that those reduced to idleness by industrial shutdowns would find employment in plants operated by "decent" employers who were willing to comply with the law.

People in rural communities often wonder why Washington officials are able to exercise so little sound sense in dealing with economic problems. It would seem evident to anyone that trying to remake habits of business and industry ahead of sound recovery threatens defeat of both purposes. Bureaucratic advisers have so many experiments to try out that they seem unable to await opportune times.

Discussing the influence of federal funds on elections, David Lawrence concludes: "Local contests and local personalities will make some difference in the result, but, in the main, the government itself dominates elections through its quasi-military capacity to organize the beneficiaries of its own paternalistic policies. That's the new technique in national politics today."

When economic conditions are out of joint, people are more easily irritated. Faults are magnified, and the disposition to iron out differences—usually trivial—is often snagged on imaginary grievances. The wholesome course is to cultivate the good, paying so much attention to one's own knitting that he has no time nor inclination to pick flaws in the other fellow. Anything constructive done in a community makes everybody's values more secure, and helping instead of hindering a competitor or a fellow-citizen gives one more courage to look into a mirror and approve of what he sees.

Senator Norris is quoted as saying PWA projects that had been encouraged by government authorities, with accompanying cost of making plans and holding elections should not be turned down in Washington. Someone who is supposed to know, expresses the belief that needed school improvements will be given preference. According to both lines of reasoning, Wayne should be favorably considered.

Those who saw Father Flanagan's "Boys Town" in motion pictures here this week were doubtless wishing there were more Father Flagnans in the world. If a Father Flanagan could be found in every great center to rise to the need of reclaiming neglected and downward boys, society would reap priceless benefits. There would be fewer crimes and less misery.

By consulting existing Nebraska statutes, it is found we already have a fairly adequate old age assistance law, and it is a fact worth noting that no governor can change the law or pass a new one without action of the state legislature. It is up to the lawmaking body, not the governor.

The Farm Security administration advises farmers and others not to pull up stakes and move to the western coast with the expectation of finding employment. A serious surplus of laborers is reported in Pacific coast states.

Candidates are on the home stretch, and extending acquaintance and inviting support without trying to discredit rivals speak well for the quality of the Wayne county campaign.

Our Big Supply of Rough Feed.
(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)

Occasionally a farmer drops into the office to complain that he has too much hay or other rough feed to look after this fall. The AAA program forced the cutting down of corn acreage and the ground was put into cash, soy beans or some other forage crop. As a consequence of the favorable season for these crops, some farmers are complaining that they have a burdensome supply of hay.

They forget, however, that no stock farmer ever had too much hay as insurance against seasons of shortage. All a man has to do is to think back two or three years when he had to resort to all kinds of rough feed to carry his stock through the winter. At that time many farmers formed a resolution never to be caught in the same predicament. That's the way nature works, feast and famine crops, and it is up to us to go along with nature and in good years prepare for the lean years that are sure to come.

A burdensome surplus of hay and ensilage? There is no such a condition possible.

WPA Specialists.
(Norfolk Daily News.)

Organized WPA is going in for specialization of jobs. New York strikers, who walked out on a ditch-digging job the other day, insisted that a shovel man was a specialist and must not be asked to wield a pick axe. If the shoveler came to a hard place in the ground which would not yield to his implement, he must not be expected to grab a pick and keep on working. He must stand aside while a pick man is called to the job. They didn't get away with it this time, but wait.

The specialists have support in present WPA policies. The man who insists he is an actor in spite of the fact the theater-going public doesn't think so to the extent of going to see his performance, is entitled to a WPA job as an actor, under the regulations. If WPA recognizes the right of actors, artists, musicians and others to stick to their specialties, why not extend the privilege to lesser fry?

Why shouldn't a man be allowed to choose his WPA career as shoveler, pick axe man, or grass cutter with an obligation resting on Uncle Sam to take care of him if he can't find work at his "specialty"?

Bad for Everyone.
(Detroit Free Press.)

"Sit-down strike ended." This headline appears and reappears in Detroit newspapers with disturbing frequency. Almost as soon as one sit-down strike ends another starts. The effect of this stop-and-go production on wage-earners and on the community is bad.

Whether the Motor Products sit-down this week was to make a show of strength, to raise more dues for the union or to serve a more legitimate end, there can be no question that the method of calling it was undemocratic and unwarranted.

Automobile companies are trying to reduce the price of cars in order to sell more of them and thus provide jobs for more workers, but if production is to be constantly interrupted by strikes, they may be forced to increase the price instead.

REGIMENTATION.
In Liberty magazine, Bernarr Macfadden reviews a warning against the dangers of regimentation—the dangers of enslavement that would follow enforcement of demands for centralized control over human activities. Macfadden warns that the Wagner law and the wage and hour law, believed to help labor, may lead to the abolishment of unions and all other forms of labor protection. In supporting the Washington demand for control over unions and industry," says Macfadden, "labor has endorsed a system of governmental control that will ultimately be extended to all our citizens. They have forged the links of a chain that will be the source of their own enslavement. An election is not far away, and every intelligent citizen should carefully examine the records of the candidates for whom he votes, and forget all about political parties. Vote for a candidate who does not belong to the rubber-stamp crowd of new-dealers—the various states should be respected; one who caustically condemns the efforts of the federal government to control the activities of the citizens."

Wayne

der the guise of help, increased restraints and enlarged individual burdens. The healthiest thing for the country would be for governments to attend more to things for which they were organized and less to the affairs which citizens are expected to handle and the shaping of which keeps individual initiative alive and habits of industry aroused.

What Could Be Fairer?

According to an Oregon report, this really happened: For years the editor had given a certain organization a liberal amount of space for club news. One day the editor learned that the head of the organization had placed a $17 quantity order with a job shop. Upon question as to why the newspaper was not given a chance — came the reply — "Well, I'll tell you," said the club president in all seriousness, "we've been giving you all of our news for several years, so we decided it was only fair to divide up and let the other fellow do the printing."

Students Assist In Radio Program

Radio station WJAG, Norfolk, through Manager Arthur Thomas, expresses appreciation to Wayne students, Supt. E. W. Smith, Principal G. B. Childs and Herman Baehr for assistance given in compiling information for the broadcast of the Wayne county drum husking contest Monday.

Erwin Baker, who served as editor and roving reporter, showed initiative and a sense of news values. He was assisted by Dale Meyer. Each reporter was assigned to two wagons and made a report every eight minutes, first on one wagon, then on the other. Each reporter had a copy boy who took the reports to the broadcasting truck. Half way through the contest, these boys changed places so they each got to report on their own wagon. The reports were made on a staggered schedule, previously prepared, so that there was a report from the field reaching the radio announcer every minute during the contest.

This system of reports from the field is original with WJAG. The reporters used a printed form specially prepared for the occasion and were instructed in advance of the broadcast by Mr. Thomas. The reporters were: Van Bradford, Richard Claycomb, Wilbur Bruns, Alden Dunikau, Henry Hachmeier, Everett Hale, Dale Lessman, Don McEachern, Quentin Preston, Dick Lucders, Allan Splitterger, Harold Johnson, Don Sund, Donald Quinn, Wilbur Wieland, Leonard Roberts.

Mrs. Minnie Strickland was in Omaha Saturday evening to attend a business meeting.

WAGNER LAW.

Mark Sullivan, columnist, says of all candidates to be voted on for the United States senate and house November 8, there is one of surpassing importance — Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York. He is author of the Wagner act from which sprang the national labor relations board which is charged with favoring John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization which is believed to bear strongly in the direction of communism. The C. I. O. is father of the sit-down strike—the communist way of applying force. The N. L. R. A., creature of the Wagner law, upholds the sit-down strike contrary to court orders and in defiance of peace officers. Sullivan urges that Wagner be put on record as to his present stand on the enforcement of the law which he wrote and had enacted. It is still believed the law is a fair instrument to aid the settlement of labor differences; voters of New York should be so informed. If he thinks the law is just and needs no amendment, voters will need the future welfare by electing the other fellow.

Officials Explain City Transactions

oil after it was requested to do so by the business men and service clubs of the city, including the Young Men's Business Club, the Kiwanis club, and others. When the state finally enforces this law and requires all cars to be tested, this project will undoubtedly become self-supporting. The reason that the lot upon which it is located was purchased, was because of its close proximity to the municipal light plant and more ground will be needed in the future. The location is also much more accessible to the public than any lot owned by the city. The cost of the operation of this station at the present time is $125.00 per month.

False Notion Exploded.

The statement that Homer Scade and the mayor are now trying to establish a swimming pool in Wayne was probably made through misinformation as they have no such idea. When the city purchased the acreage tract in the east part of town it was understood that we should make a WPA project out of it and the WPA people requested that we send them a drawing of the park. Prof. Hunter was good enough to make some blue prints (at no charge to the city) showing the park and he simply outlined a possible location for a swimming pool if it ever would be desired. Someone evidently saw this blue print and jumped to the conclusion that the plan was about to be carried out. No such project has ever been presented to the park board and any improvements that are made there will have to meet with the approval of this board and be authorized by them in the first instance. However, a WPA project has been approved to the extent of $18,000.00 and government money in this amount is available if the people of the city through their council should deem it advisable to make use of it. These charges that the city is about to spend money for a swimming pool were arrived at by someone jumping to an unwarranted conclusion without ascertaining facts. The reason why such blue print was made, the fact that WPA pays all labor costs and in addition will allow $7.00 per man month for any materials used on a project. So for every man that works a month on this park project there will be available from outside sources the sum of $7.00 for materials to be used.

Robert Dale Is New Eagle Scout

Awards Are Presented by Omaha Executive Here Tuesday Night.

Robert Dale received the Eagle Boy scout award at the Court of Honor held Tuesday evening at the city hall. The troop from Laurel was also present. Robert is a member of the Wayne college high troop of which Prof. A. E. Gulliver is scout master. Field Executive Weiges of Omaha, was here to make the awards.

Other awards received by Wayne scouts were: Life, Herbert Welch; star, Homer Scade and LeRoy Anderson; merit badge, Herbert Welch in life saving, swimming, pioneering, personal health, public health and athletics; Willis Noakes and Warren Noakes in metal work and leathercraft; Burrill Hughes in photography, metal work and leathercraft; Rex Johnson, leathercraft, metal work and handicraft; Bob Hickman in life saving, and LeRoy Anderson in athletics, pioneering and scholarship; Jimmie class, Billy Orr; second class, first class, Morris, Burrill Hughes, Warren Noakes, Willis Noakes, Lloyd Noakes, Jack Dale and Rex Johnson; tenderfoot, Mickey Gillespie.

Each troop presented a skit. The Laurel troop did signaling and the Wayne prep scouts presented a skit, "Columbus Discovers America."

delinquent paving installments. This is the first money that has been paid for taxes on this property for years. The council felt that the price for the lots was reasonable and that a greater amount would not be realized. Unless someone is willing to pay a greater amount than this, who has been hurt or damaged? Is it not better business for the city to dispose of such properties to individuals who will make some use of them and pay the taxes on them in the future? Property upon which taxes are permitted to accumulate year after year, becomes dead property. This is a matter of general policy with the council and no particular case was shown, and no special procedure was followed in this particular instance. Mr. Wightman assumes the paving installments for the balance of the term, and when Mr. Wightman finally has them paid, the lots will have cost him more than $2,000.00 which is generally considered a very good sale.

In Conclusion.

The last matter which I wish to discuss is the statement that I, as mayor, write most of the insurance for the city. The facts are that I have only one policy for the city of Wayne. That is for one-third of the insurance on the auditorium for $19,000.00 on which the premium is $99.00. I have no other insurance on any city property. If there is any valid objection to it I am certainly willing to cancel it at anytime.

Trusting that this information will clear up any misunderstandings that may have arisen and regretting that such a statement is necessary, we are,

Very truly,
Mayor
WALTER S. BRESSLER,
City Clerk.

PAVE ALL STREETS WITH CONCRETE!

7 good reasons why —

- Concrete is quiet. It greatly reduces the tire rumble set up by rapidly moving vehicles.
- Traffic markers are built-in. Joints running the length of the pavement serve as lane markers without costly and impermanent stripe painting.
- Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
- You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications!

Nebraska municipalities have built the equivalent of more than 130 miles of 20-foot concrete pavement during the last 10 years. Many towns are now making use of Federal funds and each year are continuing their street paving programs using concrete, the standard by which all pavements are judged.
