The Real Czech Tragedy.

(Omaha World-Herald.)
Gradually it becomes clear that the tragedy of Czechoslovakia lies not only in loss of territory but in a grievous harm to the spirit of liberty.
This island of democracy in a continent of despotic Europe gave the rest of us hope and good cheer while it remained Czechoslovakia. Here, at least, was one place where men still spoke what they liked, printed what they pleased, governed themselves by discussion and by votes.

Library News

"Mandrake Root," by Martha Ostenso, is a new book which has recently been received at the Wayne city library. The story is of contemporary life in the middle west. It is a story of a human problem written with sincerity and human understanding.
Other new books include a mystery novel by Mary Roberts Rinehart, "The Wall." This is a powerful story of human emotion and character—a story of divorce and the evils of alimony.
An author who has been hailed as a logical successor to Sherlock Holmes is Ellery Queen whose latest book, "Four of Hearts," has been accessioned at the Wayne library.

The Public Also Has Some Rights.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)
Administrator Andrews, in charge of enforcing the new wages-hour law that goes into effect October 24, declares that he means business but is going about his task cautiously. A committee of 20 members has started in on the textile industry in which there are approximately 1,300,000 workers. What the committee is trying to do is to get out the wages and to the workers without also raising prices to consumers for the products of the textile mills, thus reducing consumption and throwing many people out of employment.

Arming America.

(Sioux City Journal.)
When proposals looking to greater preparedness are considered in congress it is certain that the proponents of heavier armaments will meet stiff, determined resistance. Some legislative elements would have to see the enemy landing or find themselves dodging bombs from the air before walking up to the fact of its necessity. People are like that, and legislators are no exceptions to the rule.

Lean Years Are Over.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)
Shows and fairs often are spoken of as the display windows of the livestock and agricultural industries. In reality they are all of that, and more, for in addition to giving farmers, ranchers and breeders a chance to display their fancy products, these exhibitions also serve as guides to trends in types and, last but not least, as a barometer to general conditions within the business world.

Farm Practices Abroad Differ From Those Here

Pictures depicting farm life, farming practices and livestock raising in connection with hay and pasture lands in England, Wales, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and France were featured by Dr. F. D. Klein, chairman of the department of agronomy at the college of agriculture in Lincoln, at the Farm Bureau party held Friday evening at the municipal auditorium. The colored motion pictures were taken by Dr. Klein at the national grass congress in Europe in 1937.

The speaker compared agriculture in Europe to that in the United States and remarked that more constructive work with pasture and hay crops is done in Europe. Also in Europe, one does not see any old, scrubby horses. The quality of livestock in general is better than one sees here. The reason for this, according to Dr. Klein, is that the farms are small and it is not possible to have much livestock but the people take a great deal of pride in what they have.

Farming methods in Europe are antiquated, particularly methods of putting up hay. The common practice is to use a one-horse cart. The people have adopted the practice of air-drying the hay, as is now being done in the alfalfa region of the Platte valley in Nebraska.

One of the biggest haymaking problems of European countries is that of curing hay as there is considerable rainfall and the atmosphere is very humid. In Norway and Sweden the hay needs to be strung on wire and put on poles to cure. In European countries, farmers do not make the practice of turning all of their livestock on all of the pasture at one time. They have several small pastures or have movable pens where they tether the animals and then move them on fresh grass each day. This practice gives the animals plenty of good grass and also gives the grass time to grow in between periods.

Herman Podoll talked on "Why Wayne County Needs Agricultural Extension Work." He stated that support of the work should be carried on a tax basis because it would be most equitable for all to support the work. He remarked that Wayne county is entitled to as much as surrounding counties such as Cedar, Cuming, Dakota and others of the 53 counties in the state where work is supported by the general fund in the county. A total of 31 counties in the state are voting on the same question as Wayne county. "Shall an appropriation be made annually from the general fund of the county for the support of agricultural extension?" Following the talk the group voted unanimously for a tax to support the Wayne county bureau.

Walter Moller, county agent, reported on the work of the bureau, remarking that it is the duty of the agent to bring information to the bureau from the agricultural college. He pointed out that membership in the women's project groups has grown from 268 to over 300 this year and 4-H membership has increased from 176 to 192. He also exhibited ribbons which 4-H members have earned this year at fairs. He urged increased membership by boys and girls in 4-H clubs next year.

About 1,000 attended the lecture and dance following. Cookies were furnished by the Home Demonstration project club and coffee through courtesy of the Council Oak store. The city donated the use of the auditorium.

The committee in charge of arrangements was: Mrs. Lawrence Ring, Herman Podoll and Walter Moller.

The Fords Tell Their Plans for 1939

Henry and Edsel Ford, on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company, June 16, 1938.

IF WE KNEW anything better we could do for the country than make good motor cars, we would do it.

By every one doing his best in the job he thinks most useful, this country is going to regain its momentum. We have tried to do our best in our job.

When business was suddenly halted in its recovery more than a year ago, we determined that we should keep going anyway, if not at full-volume motor car production, then at getting ready for greater motor car values that would help future production.

EXPANDING FOR THE FUTURE

We began to build 34 million dollars' worth of new plants and equipment. We felt that if we could not employ all our men building motor cars, we would employ as many as we could building better production facilities.

We were told, of course, that this was no time for expansion, that a wiser business policy would be to "hold everything"—which means, stop everything. But no one ever got anywhere standing still.

Besides, we are not defeatists. We do not believe this country has seen its best days. We believe this country is yet in the infancy of its growth. We believe that every atom of faith invested in our Country and our People will be amply justified by the future. We believe America is just beginning. Never yet have our People seen real Prosperity. Never yet have we seen adequate Production. But we shall see it! That is the assurance in which we have built.

Business is not just coming back. It will have to be brought back. That is now becoming well understood in this country; for that reason 1939 will be a co-operative year. Manufacturers, sellers and buyers will co-operate to bring back the business that is waiting to be brought back.

This construction program is almost completed. It has increased activity and payroll in a number of related industries. It has given us better facilities for building better cars and trucks, and eventually our new tractor which is being perfected.

THIS MEANS MORE VALUE

The current program has provided a new tire plant, which will turn out a part of our tire requirements. . . a new tool and die plant, that will help us cut the cost of dies. . . and a steel-press plant that will enable us to make more of our own automobile bodies. These are in addition to the plants we already had for producing glass, iron, steel, plastics, and many other things.

We don't supply all our own needs, of course, and never expect to. The Ford engine is one thing that no one's hand touches but ours. Of nearly everything else we use we build some quantity ourselves, to find, if possible, better and more economical ways of doing it. The experience and knowledge we gain are freely shared with our suppliers, and with other industries.

We take no profit on anything we make for ourselves and sell to ourselves. Every operation, from the Ford ships which first bring iron ore to the Rouge, is figured at accurate cost. The only profit is on the finished result—the car or truck as it comes off the line. Some years, there is no profit for us. But we see to it that our customers always profit. A basic article of our business creed is that no sale is economically constructive unless it profits the buyer as much as or more than the seller.

Our new plants have helped us build more value into all our cars for 1939. That means more profit on the purchase to the purchaser. We have not cut quality to reduce costs. We simply will not build anything inferior.

NEW TESTING EQUIPMENT

While we were putting up new plants to produce cars, we constructed new equipment to test them. The first weather tunnel of its kind ever built for automobile research went into operation at our laboratories this year.

It makes any kind of weather to order. The weather it delivers every day would take months to find in Nature. Our cars are weather-tested to give you good service in any climate anywhere.

In other tests, every part of the car is punished unmercifully. Then our engineers tear it down to see if they can find abnormal wear or any sign of weakness.

The money we spend on tests saves you money on repairs. And your family car is safer and more dependable when we put it in your hands.

THE NEW CARS

We have two new Ford cars for 1939—better cars and better looking—but we also have an entirely new car. It's called the Mercury 8. It fits into our line between the De Luxe Ford and the Lincoln Zephyr. It is larger than the Ford, with 116-inch wheelbase hydraulic brakes, and a new 95-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine.

We know that our 1939 cars are cars of good quality. We think they're fine values in their price classes.

With new cars, new plants, new equipment, the whole Ford organization is geared to go forward.

BRODECKY IS IN UNICAMERAL RACE

Senator Emil E. Brodecky needs no introduction to the voters of the 16th senatorial district as he has personally met a large number of his electors, many others have heard of him during the years he has served as their senator, and in those years he constantly gained in experience which has fitted him for more valuable service in the session of 1939.
Son of Pioneers
The son of pioneers of the county, and whose father was one of the original business men of Howells, Mr. Brodecky is a life-long resident here and has been honored with many civic recognitions, and for 17 years served as secretary-treasurer of the Farmers Lumber and Grain Co., of which he was an organizer. He has been a member of the Howells band since its organization, and has always taken time to be helpful in all civic movements. He was married in 1908 to Miss Lucy Novak and their family consists of three sons.

Being a farmer, the Senator has first-hand knowledge of the problems and the needs of the agricultural class of the state, and his vote on farm measure is a record of fulfilled promises to his farmer constituency. He has served on important committees in the legislatures of 1933-35-37, and by voice and vote endorsed adoption of progressive legislation. His record is an open book and is a good criterion of what can be expected of him as the people's representative in the coming session of the law-making body at the state capitol. He realizes the importance of strict economy and a reduction of state appropriations without curtailing the proper functioning of our state institutions. His return to the legislature means continued service for the common good of the common people.
He has proven himself an able and active legislator whose integrity has never been questioned, and he can be depended upon to cooperate in the great effort for recovery in the nation, and will work constructively with vigor and courage in his service for the good of his district and state.
His good work in the past entitles him to the consideration of the voters, whose support he merits in the November election.

Hoskins was struck by a train at the crossing a mile west of Winside. The horses became unmanageable when they saw the train.
From the Ponca Journal for November 14, 1922: The herd law is the chief topic of conversation among farmers.
Returns indicate that O. P. Sullivan was elected senator from this district.
Mr. Christopherson, an early resident of Dakota county, was killed when he was thrown from his buggy near Coverington.
Charley Hammond has bought the rights of Dixon and Cedar counties for the manufacture and sale of a new-fangled washing-machine and will soon commence to turn them out for market.
There are at least a dozen candidates for the office of district judge. Among them are Powers, Barnes, McLaughlin and Robertson.

Senator Norris speaks for his friend EDGAR HOWARD

A few days ago, Senator Norris wrote and authorized publication of the following statement:

"I am very anxious that Edgar Howard be elected from the Third congressional district of Nebraska. I have no personal interest whatever in this contest, but I have known Edgar Howard for a great many years. I have worked with him while he served in the house of representatives, and I think I know the viewpoint and the best interests of the man."

"He fought valiantly against one rule and machine control in the house of representatives, both when it was controlled by the democrats, and when it was controlled by the republicans, and when he has ever made his heart was in the right place. He has never been led astray by any political boss nor by any political machine."

"I voted his sentiments."

"He has always voted his sentiments, and has courageously defended them at all times, both in and out of congress. He has always battled valiantly for the advancement of the happiness and the welfare of the common people as distinguished from monopoly and special interests."

"I want every citizen to vote his honest sentiments, which he agrees with, or not. But I have had better opportunities than some of you to observe the work of Edgar Howard in public life, and I think I can better perform my public duty when I say to my fellow citizens in the Third congressional district that in my judgment, he is entitled to the office which he seeks, because he has been the most honest, the most able, and his courage."

"Your fight has been his fight, and your fight will continue to be his fight, if he is returned to the house of representatives."

Edgar Howard
