

Bureau in State of Uncertainty—County Officers Over Nebraska Caught in Ant-New Deal Tidal Wave—Disagreement Over Way to Hold Democracy.

Defeat of the proposal to raise money by taxation to support the farm bureau in Wayne county may have been due in considerable measure to whatever connection it may have with the new deal.

Farmers and townspeople alike have become tax-conscious, largely prompted by Washington's wild excess in federal spending, and whether the amount proposed be large or small, advisable or inadvisable, the inclination is to put on the brakes and shout "No!"

Enforcement of the farm program came through the county farm bureau. Compliance meant acceptance of virtual regimentation. Corn loans—a sound business transaction—have been tied up with duties and conditions which latter has not fitted into a farmer's idea of planning his own production and managing his own business.

Even those who are incensed by the fanciful and costly capers of the new deal, must find considerable merit in a farm agency apart from its duties in connection with the national agricultural program. Long before new deal experiments were conceived, the county farm agency was an established and helpful institution.

The question of maintaining the Wayne county farm bureau in view of the advent of a new county tax is now available for the purpose, and the only way open to continue the service is to depend on memberships or donations.

We want what the farmers want and need. We can see the advantage of a central office to improve and safeguard farm interests. We are mindful of the importance of the town and country working together without either imposing on the other.

Functioning in behalf of the farming business, notably leading in promotion of 4-H club work, and keeping costs down to a reasonable minimum, it would seem a central office, employing a farm agent, could be made a desirable investment.

Fale of Many County Officers. Many of the state's county offices, held by democrats who captured public plums through the new deal tidal wave of recent past years, went down to defeat November 8 through reversal of popular judgment.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Idea. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke to students of the New York State Teachers college on Armistice day, and she stressed the idea that dangers of communism and fascism lurked in the failure of people to elect officers who are willing to accept the responsibility of government.

HERALD PUBLISHES DAY EARLIER THAN USUAL NEXT WEEK

THANKSGIVING day is one of the few holidays which the Herald observes by suspending accustomed activities, and as it comes next Thursday, this newspaper will next week push ahead publication one day.

Therefore, advertisers and regular correspondents and other news contributors should furnish copy one day earlier than usual. When we contemplate oppressed peoples in foreign lands where some leaders have substituted pagan tyranny for Christian mercy and hope, we have more evident ground than ever to feel grateful—grateful for a country which free speech, free press, free worship and free enterprise are still guaranteed.

The plan is to have an evening green wreath on each wall, and holiday bunting will be hung from the buildings to the electroluxes. Colored lights will be hung across the streets. At each of three intersections will be electric candles and four lighted discs on which are painted Christmas scenes.

The plan to have competitive home decorations is being considered.

The entertainment committee, with Dean Allen Cook as chairman, has been divided into the following sub-committees: Purchase and distribution of candy, W. R. McEachen and C. C. Sturtz; pictures and program for youngsters, Prof. L. F. Good, W. A. Hiscox, Dr. R. W. Casper and Rev. W. F. Dierking; parade, W. C. Coryell, Orville Tuskind and J. G. Carnart; platform acts, Carl Niemi and Prof. John R. Keith; Christmas carols, Prof. John R. Keith, Fred L. Good and Rev. W. F. Dierking; special awards, W. A. Hiscox, Orville Tuskind and Carl Niemi; competitive displays, C. A. Renard, J. C. Carlson and Walter Bressler.

Notice to THE Chamber of Commerce Slow Up of the United States regards results of the late election as a mandate to the national administration to slow up on reforms.

The president expresses the belief that the election would not hinder development of his policies, and a Texas representative says no coalition between republicans and democrats would keep the latter from going along with the program.

Early in his conversation as chief executive, President Roosevelt said if his experiments were found unworkable, he would abandon them.

What Would THE Norfolk Daily News tries to clear the mind of Edgar Howard, Columbus editor, of the notion that all relief measures would preemptorily cease if republicans were in control.

One-Man DECENTRALIZATION of Power White House power is of chief importance. Whatever may be the president's intentions, the trend of government has been in the direction of totalitarianism.

Shocking news comes from the mistreatment of Jews in Germany. The way a helpless minority is abused outrages the Christian sense of justice.

With European civilization disguised in a gas mask, London tearing up her parks to make bombproof shelters, the British Prime Minister flying to Munich to feed Czechoslovakia to Hitler at the end of a stick, then appeasement, and everybody emerging to acclaim a new peace, but resolved, nevertheless, to build bigger and more terrible weapons, we were saying: "Europe is mad. Praise be, we have no entanglements with it."

Discussing political events, the World-Herald draws the refreshing conclusion that the United States is a middle class nation. "The ruling class," says that newspaper, "consists of that great mass of ordinary citizens who own little, who work much, who save what they can, who recognize no claims of caste, but who are bound together by the common aim of working toward individual advancement."

The Nebraska State Journal, Lincoln, has entered its seventy-second year, and the occasion was celebrated by an extra edition reviewing development through the years.

Mild autumn days—the rule with few exceptions this season—have aided outside work—importantly, the corn-husking task. The crop is now mostly out of fields and in cribs, and other farm and town activities preliminary to winter have gone forward without interruption.

Of the five Nebraska congressmen—three republicans and two democrats—all have exhibited pronounced opposition to the new deal. Senator Norris, at one time sailing as a republican, is the new deal's only thoroughgoing representative from Nebraska. In the upper house, Senator Burke, democrat, can be relied on to do his own thinking and offer sharp opposition to measures he thinks are undemocratic and ill advised.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman says that while short crops have been suffered by Nebraska in late years, livestock prospects are upward and encouraging. "The signs of the time in this area," says the Journal-Stockman, "are a bit more favorable for those who prefer to look on the bright side of things than they have been for quite a lengthy spell."

We cannot see how a fellow who is honest and prompt, does what he says he will do and does not delay or shirk, can fall even if the odds are otherwise against him. His ability may be mediocre, but if he inspires confidence he is almost certain to prove a winner.

In the failure of John L. Lewis, C.I.O. mouthpiece, to score in the late election, the public must feel a profound sense of satisfaction. The fact that Lewis' star has been sinking of late gives new strength to our democratic institutions.

One does not need much, if anything, in the way of cash or other material possessions to get started in a worthy venture if he has plenty of unbroken credit.

Attention, Church Members.

If the 64,000,000 whose names are on the church rolls of this country were consistent Christians, and were as enthusiastic about it as they are over their politics every church edifice would have to be enlarged, and every worth-while preacher overpaid.

Some Things Money Can't Buy.

We discuss money as if it was the most desirable thing in the world and it does seem to be just that at times. The danger is that we may become ruled by money instead of our being the ruler.

Money can't buy real friendship, he pointed out—friendship must be earned. Money can't buy a clear conscience—square dealing is the price tag.

Money can't buy happiness—happiness is a mental attitude and one may be as happy in a cottage as in a mansion.

Money can't buy character—character is what we are when we are alone with ourselves in the dark.

Money can't buy sunset, singing birds and the music of the wind in the trees—these are as free as the air we breathe.

Money can't buy inward peace—peace is the result of a constructive philosophy of life.

Continue the list yourself. You'll agree that among the things money can't buy are some of the most valuable treasures life has to offer. It is a good thing to check up now and then to be sure we are not missing these things.

Our Debt to Europe.

With European civilization disguised in a gas mask, London tearing up her parks to make bombproof shelters, the British Prime Minister flying to Munich to feed Czechoslovakia to Hitler at the end of a stick, then appeasement, and everybody emerging to acclaim a new peace, but resolved, nevertheless, to build bigger and more terrible weapons, we were saying: "Europe is mad. Praise be, we have no entanglements with it."

What do we mean when we say "entanglements"? We mean, of course, political entanglements, such as might involve us in war we should never understand, any more than we understood the World War when we began to ask ourselves afterward why we got into it. But we go on entangling ourselves with European ideas, adopting and transplanting them here, full size, not as if they represented other people's experiments and were evolved by growth, but as if they could be understood separately and made to work anywhere, like self-evident mechanical principles.

The president sends a distinguished commission to Europe to study its labor laws, especially to report on the English way with labor disputes. What we forget is that the English way with labor disputes has an English background. It is like one piece of a jigsaw puzzle. It may fit perfectly in the English puzzle and not at all in ours. And it is so with all European ideas. They belong in Europe. They may work there; it does not follow that they would work here.

Along with the ideas, we borrow tags and word signs, such as right, right wing, left, left wing, bloc, front, and the use of the noun capitalist as a hateful adjective, until at last our political speech is an international jargon, and unlike any other in the world, because the European nations do make and wear their own political clothes. And that is the only idea we might still do well to borrow.

STRIKES.

The president and the governors of different states have no reason to fear lack of popular support by stopping serious strike interference with industry and business. Sitdowners who have taken possession of property to prevent operation, have clearly violated the law. No justification can be found in the law anywhere for strikers to injure property or threaten peaceable citizens. People who want to work should be permitted to do so, as well as those who do not want to work, should be allowed to remain idle.

Farm

when the American people elected the new deal on a platform that was almost unanimously repudiated. We would suggest that voters have begun to do what Mr. Roosevelt advises—elect officers who will preserve democracy and not flirt with policies that bear alien taints.

If people keep right on going in the opposite direction from that charted by CIO's John L. Lewis who has pledged fealty to the new deal, democracy will escape the tentacles of foreign isms. If Mrs. Roosevelt thinks highest responsibility of government rests on electing rubber-stamps, obedient to White House commands, she is plainly mistaken.

YOUR PUBLIC POWER.

To the Herald:—The Wayne county rural public power district is an organization belonging to the farmers of Wayne county. This district, with the assistance of the Rural Electrification Administration, will extend economical and dependable electric service as rapidly as possible to Wayne county farms.

This district is organized as a corporation under Senate File No. 310, 1933 session laws of Nebraska, a statutory provision for the distribution of electric energy by cooperative associations. A public power district formed under this law does not have the power to levy taxes or to issue general obligation bonds. It may only pledge its earnings and mortgage its physical property in order to borrow funds.

The sixth graders have been working on a class newspaper as an English activity. It has required considerable time and study but will be published this week. Mark Sullivan, columnist, interprets late election results as meaning that people, long deluded by fanciful promises, are returning to sound realities. Diseases of the era are found in unbreakable stand-practical tests. Extravagant pledges to elderly individuals have been revealed as unsubstantial, often designed to capture popular favor.

The third grade is having a subtraction tournament. Pupils have selected one child from each row to help those who need practice. The helpers are Dewey Reikofski, Don Fryzen, Bob Bathke, Elaine Colson and Rosella Nelson. New pupils enrolled are Kurt and Lowell Fleming. The pupils are learning Indian songs and dances. Second and third grade rhythm bands practiced together Wednesday for the first time. There are 60 children in the group. Three directors will be chosen by the pupils after several have tried out. Many library books have been read lately. Twenty-five book reports were given Tuesday.

School Choir Joins Messiah

Basketball Schedule for Season Is Arranged at Wayne School.

Wayne high school a cappella choir will assist in the presentation of the "Messiah" this year, singing in a body rather than individually as in previous years. A beginning orchestra of 15 members was organized Monday. Russell Widge expects membership to increase to 20 by the beginning of second semester.

Tryouts for the junior class play were held this week. Full selection of the cast has not been completed but rehearsals will begin probably the last of the week. The play, "Growing Pains," by Aurania Rouverol, portrays the many family problems facing the home in which there are two young persons going through the trying stage of growing up. The play, a dramatic group, will have charge of staging and production. The play will be presented December 15.

Doctor Elected Head of Legion

Dixon County Posts and Auxiliary Units Are Here for Day.

Dr. L. J. Kilian was elected Dixon county Legion commander at the meeting Friday in Wakefield. Mrs. Floyd Clough was elected president of the Dixon county Auxiliary units several weeks before. The joint meeting of the posts and units in Dixon county is an annual affair on Armistice day.

Dean Allen Cook of Wayne State Teachers college, was the main speaker at the morning program which was held in the high school auditorium. He especially addressed the children in the audience and stressed democracy.

Wakefield and Allen bands and the American Legion members paraded to the football field in the afternoon. Wakefield team won from the Allen boys by 7 to 6.

About 125 attended the banquet in the evening at the high school auditorium. The P.-T. A. served the meal. Coxa Christiansen of Allen, county commander last year, was present. Representatives from the other posts were: Amel Peterson, commander of Floyd Gleason post at Emerson; McEntaffer Ryan post at Emerson; Oscar Tanner, adjutant of Linn, commander of Antone Bokenper post of Wakefield. The ladies from the Auxiliary units were: Mrs. Marie Clough of Wakefield, county president; Mrs. May Huffman, president of Wakefield unit; Mrs. Emma Pierce, president of Ponca unit; Mrs. Muriel Warner, president of Allen unit; Mrs. Mable Bachman, president of Emerson unit; Mrs. Gladys Plantenberg of Emerson, president of Third district Auxiliary units, was also present. The commanders and presidents were introduced at the banquet.

Two War Widows In Wayne County Early Settlers

Mrs. Catherine Dilts who lives about a mile and a half south of Wakefield, in Wayne county, is one of the few widows of Civil war veterans still living. She is also a daughter of a Union veteran. It was through her tireless efforts that the Wakefield tent of the Daughters of the Union Veterans was organized in August, 1917, at her home. Mrs. Dilts was the first president and is known as the mother of the tent. About 20 ladies who were daughters or granddaughters of Union veterans were charter members.

Mrs. Dilts came to Nebraska from eastern Iowa in December, 1882, and she and her husband, Levi, located south of Wakefield on the farm where Mrs. Dilts still lives. Mrs. Dilts died in December, 1915. They had six children, two daughters and four sons. The daughters have passed away, one dying in infancy and one, Mrs. Maggie Turner, died in 1926 in Bakersfield, Calif. Guy of Stillwater, Minn., Carl of Cleveland, Ohio, and Ray at home.

Remaining in her own home, Mrs. Dilts rents the farm lands on the place to neighbors. Although she will be 80 years old February 19, she is active in church and social affairs.

In July, 1917, Mrs. Dilts organized 20 ladies in her home into a group to make helpful articles for the soldiers.

Aglers Came Early.

Mrs. Emma Agler of Winside, another Civil war veteran's widow, has spent many years in Wayne county.

Mrs. Agler, nee Roberts, was born in New Jersey March 25, 1853, so was 85 years old last March. Her daughter, Sadie, and husband live with her.

Mrs. Agler is active and takes a keen interest in world affairs.

Mrs. Agler's husband, the late Joe W. Agler, died June 14, 1924. He had enlisted in Company K, 75th Illinois infantry and served three years in the Civil war. After his honorable discharge, he returned to Paw Paw, Ill.

The Aglers came to Nebraska in 1874 and settled near LaPorte. Their first home in this county was a dugout, and they experienced

Wayne County Case To Supreme Court

Lincoln — The supreme court was asked to reverse action of the Wayne district court in denying Fred Bartels a deficiency judgment against Carl Meyer in a foreclosure proceedings. The trial court held that as it had not been asked for and was not provided for in the order directing foreclosure, the demand comes too late. Bartels insists that he followed court procedure and that it is the duty of the court to enter the deficiency judgment.

did considerable damage to the Chicago and Northwestern depot Saturday night. The fire was discovered in the warehouse about 10 o'clock and firemen were soon able to get the blaze under control. Harold Meyer, fireman, suffered a badly cut wrist when a window was broken and the glass struck him.

Freak Fire Burns Interior of Room

Wisner, Neb., November 16 — When the Clarence Stugensmith family, living on the John Bowden farm northeast of Wisner, left for town Saturday evening, they made sure that the fire in the kitchen stove was out as they blew out the lamp. Upon returning home, they heard the sound of shattering glass as they opened the door, and upon lighting a lamp, found the interior of the kitchen burned almost to a crisp—woodwork charred, curtains and shades burned from the windows and the paper from the walls. They found the exploded lamp on the floor. The sound they heard was caused by glass falling from the windows.

They think that somehow when they blew out the lamp, the flame was not entirely extinguished and burned down into the lamp and then exploded, evidence of the oil being visible on the floor. They are of the opinion that lack of air saved the house from being burned to the ground. Repair work was begun Monday.

Homer Cumings, attorney general, has resigned his position in Roosevelt's cabinet. It is reported that Daniel Roper, secretary of commerce, may also resign.

The United States has protested against the mistreatment of Jews by Hitler and the American ambassador has been recalled to report on anti-Jewish violence. A scheme for a mass exodus of Jews from Germany is being considered by other nations.

Secretary Wallace announced that farmers must not plant more than 275 million of their 365 million cultivated acres to cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, rice and other "soil depleting" crops next year if they are to obtain subsidy payments authorized by congress.

Madison Hotel Man Hurt in Accident

Madison, Neb., November 14 — George Kozlow, proprietor of the "Host" hotel here, late Friday afternoon suffered two broken ribs and a wrist bone in his right arm when the table on which he was standing while working collapsed. When asked about the accident, Mr. Kozlow good naturedly said that "two knockouts in one week are quite a test for my patience." He lost last Tuesday as a candidate for the county clerkship.

Collecting Seeds In Middle West

Lincoln—Emergency relief labor is being used to collect 235,000 pounds of tree and shrub seed in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Assistant Regional Forester D. S. Olson reported. Seed collection will extend through most of the winter and into the spring.

The seed crop was the poorest experienced since the planting of the shelterbelt was begun. Twenty-six varieties of seeds are being collected in various amounts to meet field shelterbelt requirements.

The seed will be cleaned and stored in warehouses, to be planted next spring at forest service nurseries which furnish most of the stock for field shelterbelt. It is expected this year's seed will furnish enough stock for up to 6,000 miles of shelterbelt.

Review Negotiation In Truck Strike

Omaha—Representative of the association and the general drivers union renewed negotiations Tuesday toward settlement of the Nebraska Commercial Truckers Omaha truck strike, now in its 10th week.

Both local and over-the-road contracts were under discussion. Neither side would comment. The conference opened on the heels of renewed violence Monday night.

Walter Petersen, son of the owner of the Nielsen-Petersen Transfer Lines, Omaha, was cut on the head when he said tricks were hurled through his truck windshield twice in Douglas county en route from Grand Island, Neb., to Omaha.

Another trucker told police a railroad spike was thrown through his windshield. A transfer company window was broken by a stone.

Wages and Hours. (Omaha Journal-Stockman.) It is too soon to properly appraise the worth of the new wages and hours law that went into effect October 24. The experience of business men with the provisions of the measure, however, make it appear that the law was intended to correct some employment evils that existed in the east and was not drawn up with any appreciation of industrial conditions in other sections of the country.

According to the administrator there has been a genuine effort on the part of employers to adjust their business to the new law but the impediments in this way have been many. The law was never drawn to cover industrial conditions in the middle west and its enforcement will be difficult and burdensome. The law's provisions for 25 cents per hour minimum wage and a 44-hour week are the least of the troubles encountered by employers. So much red tape will have to be unwound that it may be a long time before people understand the law and adjust themselves to it.

There does not seem to be any particular antagonism to the principles of the new law here in the west but many of the provisions and penalties were plainly not intended to meet conditions here. "No doubt the law is needed in many places, where wages have been pitifully low and hours exceedingly long," says the Atlantic, Iowa, News Telegraph, "but the correction of the evil in such instances creates another evil on the other side, and a good many honest, hard working, and kindly employers are right up against a tough proposition. They want to do the right thing by their employees and by the law, but their diminished returns from their businesses make it hardly worth while to keep going."

In short, general sentiment seems to be that the congested industrial centers in the east need a law of this kind to correct abuses that have been found but that the law, as written, will have to be considerably revised to meet conditions in other parts of the country. Apparently the authors of the measure did not realize that there were any other parts of the country.

New Deal Rebuked. (Lincoln Journal.)

Analysis of Tuesday's election results reveals a striking rebuke and setback for the new deal. Its permanent effects cannot be forecast now, although it seems certain that the future of the new deal will be largely guided by a limit to which it may go, set by the voters themselves.

In Iowa, where Secretary Wallace had appealed to the voters in behalf of his farm policy, the state house population was changed from democratic to republican, the re-election of Senator Gillette was imperiled and support of new deal policies was withdrawn. The same is true in Kansas and South Dakota and Nebraska.

In Nebraska the striking survival of the new deal army of candidates was Gov. Cochran. The governor can give thanks to Omaha and Douglas county for his reelection. With only an even break in that county the governor would have been defeated. The surprising support for Charley Warner in outstate counties, that in the past have given democratic majorities, would have wiped out the governor's hopes for serving a third term.

In the east returns indicate reversal of voter opinion on national policies. Pennsylvania, sickened by Erie and Guffey and their political machine, nauseated by the misuse of federal funds, made a striking turn to the right and emphasized their disapproval of the president's choice. They administered a rebuke to the president for interference in state elections. In Ohio and Indiana and Illinois a similar trend toward republican support was made plain. In Michigan, where administration forces had done all they could for Murphy, Murphy was defeated.

Little was to be looked for from the solid south. It is slightly democratic. The rebuke to the president administered in the primaries in the Carolinas and in Georgia was made more effective by the success of candidates the president had opposed for nomination.

Even the democratic victory in New York reflects no great amount of glory on the administration. Or course the president had supported Gov. Lehman. That was his only choice. New York is the president's home state, and naturally he was expected to speak. He could speak for no one but the man who had broken with him on important new deal issues. That man was elected by the preponderance of supporters in New York City, a number sufficient to overcome the republican upstate vote. In the rural districts of New York the sentiment was anti-administration and anti-Lehman.

The new deal will find little to cheer in 1938 election returns. It was a disastrous battle, fought over issues forced forward by the new deal. The plea for support of the new deal because of its laudable objectives, and in the face of its striking failure to reach those objectives, was not effective. Reduced to cold figures Tuesday's election gave to the republicans 11 governors, 8 or more senators, and 70 congressmen, possibly more. This is merely preliminary to the real tug of war two years ahead of us.

Mr. Ickes' Idea. (Sioux City Journal.)

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, whom one journalist described as "the Donald Duck of the administration," has an idea, mayor of the administration. It has an idea, mayor of the administration. It has an idea, mayor of the administration.

Which shows how little Mr. Ickes knows about practical politics. Little men from Mars may yet come down to blast the daylights out of New Jersey; but getting Franklin D. Roosevelt convinced that he ought to ask for a third term in 1940 is considered an utter impossibility. Mr. Roosevelt, in spite of grave political mistakes he has made, notably in the primary purge efforts, is too much the politician to attempt that. He ought to tell "Honest Harold" to forget it.

A Boost for Higher Learning. (Omaha Journal-Stockman.)

Higher education received a left-handed compliment from one of the west coast's film colony commentators recently. Remarking on the fact the current crop of young luminaries of the celluloid drama includes fewer outstanding personalities than in former years, the writer in question advanced the rather odd theory that this was due to the fact that the majority of them are college graduates.

Great stars of the past have owed some of their acting ability, he goes on to argue, to having carried into adult life their childhood emotionalism, and this more than made up for their lack of brains and technical ability in comparison with the modern players.

Here, he believes, is where advanced education comes into the picture. College training stresses control of the very emotions which an actor should let loose if he or she is to portray a part realistically, hence the college-bred person acts more with his head and less with his heart than his less literate brethren who have not had the advantages of sitting in the halls of advanced learning.

True or not, it makes an interesting theory. But while a college education may lessen a person's chances to shine as a star of stage or screen, as the writer in question professes to believe, that does not alter the fact that the prizes will continue to go to those who have been trained to control their thinking and their emotions. Hence, instead of being a knock to advanced learning, such a yarn as this really is a recommendation for a few years spent in college, at least to anyone except perhaps a person who is aiming at a movie career.

Boy Scouts Accept 35,857 Acres in Kit Carson Country From Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips

Boy Scouts of America will enjoy wilderness camping on the new 35,857-acre tract in New Mexico's Kit Carson country, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips of Tulsa, Okla.

A GIFT from Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips, Tulsa, Okla., of 35,857 acres of land a few miles northwest of Cimarron, New Mexico, and $50,000 to be used in improving and developing the land for camping purposes, has just been accepted by the Executive Board of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

When he made this announcement Walter W. Head, President of the Boy Scouts of America, said, "Mr. Phillips offered the property without any restriction whatsoever save that it is to be used for the benefit of members of the Scout Movement. As a matter of fact, he specifically stated, 'If this proposal were being made to any other organization, whose rating was inferior to the record of service made by the Boy Scouts of America, I would be inclined to be more particular in outlining the program, to be assured that the property would be put to full beneficial use as I visualize it.'"

In accepting his gift the National Executive Board has in mind the establishment of a Boy Scout reservation for the development and furtherance of wilderness camping."

Kit Carson Country

Before formally proposing that the Boy Scouts of America accept the ranch property Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and their son, Elliott entertained a party of Scout officials at Philmont Ranch near Cimarron, immediately adjacent to the new Scout Reservation. The party included, besides President Head, Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, and Arthur A. Schuck, Director of the Division of Operations. The entire group was greatly impressed by the scenic beauty of the area and its usefulness for Scout camping purposes.

Much of the property is virgin territory and under the careful management characteristic of Boy Scout camping those small parts which have been grazed recently will quickly be restored to their natural conditions. Mr. Phillips has proposed, in accordance with general Boy Scout practice, that the property immediately be designated as a game preserve. In a statement issued to the Executive Board, Dr. West described the reservation in this way: "The property is in the Rocky Mountains, all above an elevation of 7,000 feet and rises in spots to at least 11,000 feet. It is the Kit Carson territory and the old Santa Fe trail passes through it. There are nine main canyons on the tract converging either at the Cimarron River or the main branch of the Ponill River, which later flows into the Cimarron."

Older Boys' Paradise

"Each of the canyons is of the same general make-up, flanked on one side by ever-changing vistas, rock palisades, timber growth, and with smaller canyons in endless numbers fingered out from the main ones. There are also several high land meadows or mesas, offering excellent additional camping areas. Bear Canyon, Dean Canyon, and Turkey Canyon have an extensive amount of timber growth, comprised, principally of western pines, Douglas fir, balsam, quaking aspens and cottonwoods. It is the natural habitat of deer and while on the property we saw mule deer, wild turkeys, and dozens of beaver dams and many evidences of bear."

Wilderness Camping Popular

George W. Olmsted, Chairman of the Camping and Activities Committee for the Boy Scouts of America, reports great need in the Rocky Mountain section, for facilities for Troops from far away which seek wilderness camping. The Estes Park Council of Colorado Springs, Colo., last summer had requests from New Orleans, Shreveport, Toledo, Chicago, five towns in Texas, four in Kansas, and many individual requests for camping places in the Rocky Mountains. They were able only to help one Troop from Kansas and this demonstrated that there is great need for a place where these Troops can have adequate facilities for mountain camping under proper supervision.

As an evidence of the magnitude of this problem and how the Waite Phillips property would help to solve it, he adds that in 1937, 200 touring permits were granted by the home office of the Scouts with a total mileage of 155,354 miles averaging 776 miles per tour, with 4,201 Scouts and 674 Scouters in attendance. To date, in 1938, 338 Touring Permits have been issued with an estimated attendance of 7,088 Scouts and 1,115 Scouters. Eighty-nine of the tours during 1938 traveled more than 1,000 miles. Thirty-six traveled more than 2,000 miles.

live within a 600 mile radius of the property. From this group will come those who use the property most frequently, although Scouts from all parts of the country will need for it on roving tours under adequate leadership and according to provisions laid down by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Before reaching a decision to accept the Phillips gift the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America sought advice from the local Boy Scout Councils in the area to be served by the reservation. Forty such groups indicated that they would begin to make use of the spot in the next camping season and many evidences of enthusiasm and offers of active cooperation in the development of the property were received.

Prof. K. N. Parke Chairman
Of Roll Call to Secure
400 Memberships.

Members of the Wayne county committee in charge of the annual Red Cross roll call met for a 6 o'clock luncheon at Stratton hotel Thursday with a full attendance of the Wayne, Winside and Hoskins workers. Twentyfive were present. The drive opened Armistice day and continues until Thanksgiving.

Mrs. E. W. Ley reviewed the past history of the local Red Cross chapter which was begun and first sponsored by the D.A.R. organization. Mrs. Frank Heine, who sold the most memberships in last year's drive, gave a short talk. The out of town guests were introduced by Prof. K. N. Parke, chairman of the roll call, with Mrs. Ed. Winter of Hoskins, and Mrs. L. W. Needham and Mrs. H. H. Huffaker of Winside responding. Mrs. E. W. Huse, chairman of the Wayne county Red Cross, spoke on the work of the local chapter.

Supplies were distributed and each worker was urged to do her part in helping attain the county goal of $400.

City School Gives Program For Club

Demonstrations Here Friday
Feature Education As Conducted Now.

A most interesting and comprehensive picture of the work of the school is presented when the Wayne city schools offer demonstrations showing new trends in education in a public program Friday afternoon. The program, sponsored by the Women's club and a feature of national Education week, was given at the city auditorium.

The program opened with a panorama, showing the various phases of a child's life—his home life, his recreation, his hobbies, his health interests, his creative interests, as art and music, his school life—almost every situation with which a child comes into contact. In former years the whole idea of education was to teach the child reading, writing, and arithmetic and the rest of his life and education would take care of itself. But today the educators realize that the whole child goes to school and that all his possibilities and his talents must be developed. Thus there is need for instruction in home relations, in recreation, health, creativeness, vocations, hobbies and every other phase of the child's life. The later demonstrations brought out how these needs are met.

Sup't. E. W. Smith was introduced by Mrs. Hobert Auker and explained the significance of the changing education methods and the new steps being taken in the Wayne schools. He made a brief statement of explanation and introduction before each demonstration.

Music as taught in the third grade showed how rhythm and natural musical talents are developed. Miss Hazel Reeve, grade school music supervisor, was in charge of the demonstration. A reading demonstration, under Miss Coila Potras, was given by the first grade. This explained how the story was reduced to phrases, the phrases to words and the words to sounds in order that the child might more quickly learn and be able to recognize them in other situations.

The junior high school presented a demonstration in cooperative research and study. The history class, under Miss Helen Tassemeyer, began a study of the colonial period of American history. Miss Gretzell Hackenberg's English class began a study along the same line, putting work in themes and reports. The art department, under the supervision of Miss Maude Curley, contributed with art work, reproducing the colonial schools, homes and church. In this way a project was developed, made up from contributions from all departments.

Study through the laboratory method was demonstrated by a science class under the direction of Mervin Feddersen. This class showed how a general need was found, research work started and summarized, and general conclusions reached. In this way the pupils learn enterprise, self reliance, responsibility and gain experience in doing things for themselves.

Education has progressed much since the days of the three R's and the results are highly gratifying. Wayne schools have made many steps in the direction of the newer trends in education and are hoping that the future will show a correspondingly high increase in better methods.

Plan Club Benefit.
A regular business meeting of the Women's club was held just prior to the program. A committee of Mrs. E. W. Smith, Mrs. W. F. Dierking, Mrs. Clarence Wright, Mrs. James Brock, Mrs. Walter Bressler and Mrs. Fred Berry, was appointed to investigate a community benefit. Mrs. R. B. Judson gave candles and flowers to the club before she went to Chicago. Mrs. Hobert Auker, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

College Wins Chadron Game

Wayne Shares Conference
Title With Kearney.
As Season Ends.

Wayne State Teachers college moved in to share a tie for conference title with Kearney when the team defeated Chadron by a score of 13 to 6 Friday at Chadron. Wehrer crossed the white line for a score in the third period following a series of plunges and passes which placed Wayne on Chadron's nine-yard line. In the last period, Bradford wrecked the Chadron Eagles' air attack by intercepting a pass and running 35 yards to a touchdown. By a series of long-end runs and passes McGinnis of Chadron, made the lone score for that team with only 45 seconds left to play. Chadron is accredited with nine first downs to Wayne's two, getting 168 yards to 98 and completing nine passes for 47 yards to one by Wayne for 12 yards.

Wayne plays Morningside at Sioux City this Saturday to close the season.

Walter L. Moller Speaks To Group

Wives Will Be Guests at December Dinner and Program Soon.

Reserve officers from seven towns attended the November meeting of the Elkhorn Valley chapter of the Reserve Officers' association of the United States in Norfolk Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the Perry hotel and had one of the largest groups for the past two years in attendance.

Pres. Huber D. Addison of Wayne, presided over a brief business session immediately following dinner. County Agent Walter Moller of Wayne, a second lieutenant in the infantry reserve, had charge of group school lesson on aerial photograph reading, using several pictures of Wayne county taken from the air in connection with the AAA survey.

Wives of the members will be guests at a dinner in Norfolk at the next meeting, December 8. All northeast Nebraska reserve officers and their wives, whether or not they are members of the Elkhorn Valley chapter, are cordially invited.

Reserve officers from Columbus, Niobrara, Bloomfield, Wayne, Stanton, Winside and Norfolk attended the meeting Thursday.

Library News

Two articles in the October Atlantic, "Justice Holmes Defines the Constitution," by F. Frankfurter, and "Faming of Power," by R. Russell, are well worth the time of reading.

Have you visited the children's library on the lower floor of the library building? If you haven't you'll find it an inviting and interesting place to spend a few minutes.

The upper walls are well lined with interesting figures. Simple Simon, Mary and her lambs, Jack Sprat and his wife, and tucked into another corner is a captivating Puss-in-Boots. The lower walls support a series of shelves, caring for over 3,000 volumes selected specially for young readers. Bulletin boards show attractive covers of the newest books, giving inspiration and aid in selection of reading material.

The various tables hold copies of seven children's magazines, all bright with shiny covers and lovely illustrations. These tables and magazines put out such an appeal that it is almost impossible to resist sitting right down and looking through every single copy.

The children's library has been built up with care and consideration, the selection of each book being with the children's need foremost in mind. The room is comfortable and inviting. You'll enjoy it, just as every child who visits there does.

Mrs. Grace Cavanaugh is in charge of the children's reading room.

Program Is Given In Wayne School

Twentieth Anniversary of Armistice Day Is Observed Here.

The 20th anniversary of Armistice day was observed at the high school Friday morning with a special assembly program. All veterans of foreign wars were guests. Carl Nicholson, local commander of the American Legion, presided.

The program was opened with the presentation of the colors and the singing of "America the Beautiful." The salute to the flag was performed by two eagle scouts, Wilmer Ellis and Kenneth Peterson. At 11 o'clock a moment of silence was observed, followed by the sounding of taps. Ruth Damm read "The Spires of Oxford Town" after which Prof. K. N. Parke spoke on the "Meaning of Armistice Day."

The activities of the American Legion have one purpose in mind, Prof. Parke pointed out, and that is the creation of a deeper appreciation on the part of Americans, and especially on the part of the younger generation, of the privileges which they as Americans enjoy. Such appreciation is developed through the Legion's participation in such movements as Education week, the boy scouts, junior baseball teams, young citizens' contests, and the latest, Boy's state. As every Armistice day comes the value of the principles of freedom of speech, freedom of worship and the opportunity of enjoying a fine educational system become more apparent and each ex-serve man hopes that these principles will be fully appreciated and carefully maintained by the coming generations.

Following Prof. Parke's address Roy Coryell and Ray Larson gave reports on their activities at Boys state which they attended this past summer.

The program was concluded by the singing of "America" and the colors being retired.

Mrs. Donald Turek bought the Salk cafe in Pierce.

But It's True

Emma Willard sang whenever the opportunity presented itself. She claimed that her voice was the highest-pitched in history. But her famous song is now used by all men who believe they are possessed of unusually deep basses.

American Freedom Appreciated By Contrast With Dictatorship

"To become 100 per cent American and to be able to appreciate conditions in this country, one has only to travel for a while in Europe," stated Mrs. Marian H. Gobiet of Omaha, as she spoke before the Wayne branch of the Association of University Women Thursday evening at the Women's club rooms. Mrs. Gobiet spent the last 11 years in Europe and lived in Germany for the last five and one half years. She presented a vivid picture of living conditions in a country ruled by a dictator.

Because of the years she has lived in Germany, Mrs. Gobiet was able to give a comprehensive picture of the conditions there today. She explained how such conditions came about by explaining situations there just after the war. Germany then was a down beaten and a discouraged country, its people torn between many political ideas and having no real guidance in any. Hitler, with his strong will, his forceful ideas, his commanding personality came to the front, came at a time when the things most needed was a leader. He had a program to restore the self confidence of the nation, ideas to build Germany, to regain her former standing as a world power, and whatever else Hitler has done, he has kept his promises to the people. He threw over the Versailles treaty, regained Germany's lost territory, annexed Austria, and more recently, Czechoslovakia. In this way he is able to bend the people to his will and to keep them steadily to his purpose—that being to reunite all the German speaking people of the world.

System of Regimentation. Hitler's striving toward his purpose through a highly organized and greatly complicated system of regimentation. Such organizations, as the secret police, youth movements, the radio and the schools are entirely devoted to spreading favorable propaganda and to maintaining the rule at home. The spy and denunciation system are at their height in Germany. People can not be too careful about what they say or to whom they say it because there is no way of detecting spies. Any chance remark may be held against them later if someone chooses to denounce them. This is especially true in the totalitarian system where the totalitarian system is used under threat of punishment. Children may, and do denounce their own parents for any remark which is unsympathetic to the socialistic state. As a result family life in Germany is being undermined and ruined because no longer are parents free to express opinions or carry on discussions before their children. Hitler has the full support of the youth of Germany; they are back of him and feel that he is their salvation. He is confident of his success in his program because the youth is for him and his enemies, the older people, are dying off, stated Mrs. Gobiet.

Militarism Pronounced.

The spirit of militarism in Germany is like that in no other country, unless maybe Italy. The schools, the streets, all meetings—everywhere there is this spirit of militarism. Parades and demonstrations are common. All groups of persons, such as the labor camps and youth movements, are organized on the socialistic basis. The schools are organized and regimented through party control. The caliber of the students and the educational standards are much lower than formerly and stand out as especially low when compared to schools and standards of other countries.

News and Radio Censored.

Newspapers are purely party organs and with the radio, one of the most effective means of propaganda. The public reads only what Definite Food Shortage.

Mrs. Gobiet substantiated the report that there is a definite food shortage in Germany, and has been since the spring of 1936. Many foods are rationed out. Fats, in any form, are very scarce and are delivered on purcheled basis. Mrs. Gobiet was allowed only two and a half pounds of butter a week for a family of five, and just recently that has been cut down. Eggs and cream are scarce, cream being available only when deemed an absolute necessity and then only on a doctor's prescription. Even those who raise cows are not allowed to use milk or cream except as rationed by officers. Going on the assumption that people eat more bread when it is fresh, the government has decreed that its fresh bread may be sold—only bread that is at least a day old is available to the public. The food is high in price and low in quality, making it a difficult task for the housewife to maintain her home and feed her family. But German housewives are very patient and quite submissive, not alone from fear, but because they feel they are helping the fatherland to gain back its place in the world.

No Waste Allowed.

Not a thing is wasted in Germany. Mrs. Gobiet related how each week she sorted out her garbage, all tin foil, toothpaste tubes, old clothes, everything. This was all gathered up by the youth groups and taken to various places where it was converted into other materials and put to other purposes. There is a lesson in thrift in Germany.

Radio Is Controlled.

The radio in Germany is carefully controlled, just as the press. It is very much against the order of things even to listen to a station in Moscow. To enforce this precaution a station is maintained to create static making the reception of Russian stations almost impossible. Reception of other stations on the continent is very poor so the possibility of outside influence is very small. Most entertainment, the movies, plays and State President Speaks.

Mrs. Bert Wallace, state president of the Association of University Women, and Mrs. Oscar Drake, state publicity chairman, both of Kearney, were also guests at the meeting. Mrs. Wallace gave a short talk on fellowships, their purpose and their place in the educational system today. The meeting was the annual fellowship meeting and $18.75 was taken toward the fellowship sponsored by the Northwest Central unit, of which the Wayne branch of the association is a member. Mrs. D. S. Wightman is chairman of the local fellowship committee.

The meeting was preceded by a turkey dinner, served at the Women's club rooms. Mrs. G. W. Costerian, president of the Wayne association, and Mrs. J. T. Bresler, jr., introduced the guest speakers. The committee in charge such as propaganda vehicles and soon become very thriving. Jews Are Not Wanted. The Jewish question, one of the most discussed and most important today, is probably one of the foremost in the minds of the German peoples. However, there are only about 400,000 Jews in Germany today, these being centered in the large cities. The paradox of this situation is that while the Jews are not wanted in Germany it is practically impossible for them to get permission to leave the country. Jews are not even registered as human beings, but are taxed heavily. In fact taxes take about 88 per cent of every person's earnings.

All unmarried women must spend one year in a labor camp. This is rigidly enforced especially with those women who are seeking opportunities to attend the universities or to carry on special studies. In these camps the women are given training in the Nazi theory, have physical training and gymnastic exercises, and then work in the peasant homes and in the fields.

Mrs. Gobiet remarked that the conditions in Germany are a result of the present government. The country itself, its beauty, its cleanliness, its fine people have not changed, only the idea of nationalism has grown, almost out of proportion. The democratic principles of this country make such conditions look pretty bad and it is hard for a freedom-loving people to understand how such controlled conditions are tolerated. It is known that here are fascist organizations in 13 of the major cities of this country. The immediate danger is not too great but thousands of persons can be contacted by such organizations and it does give something about which to think.

Mrs. Gobiet, formerly Miss Marian Howe of Omaha, has been in this country since May and after her experiences in Germany she hasn't yet been able fully to realize the completeness of her freedom nor the extent of her liberties here.

Early Days In Wayne County

Early days from the Wayne Herald for November 16, 1922. Water from the new city wells was connected with the lines. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ellis November 13, 1922. A son was born November 13, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Sprague. Wayne college is offering prizes for the best alma mater songs. Rain followed by the first snow of the season fell. Wm. Myron Pierce, and Miss Henschenke of Wakefield, were married November 16, 1922. Miss Mary Ellen Brown of Lincoln, who was here to address county teachers, met with the fair board about organizing young folks into clubs for raising chickens and pigs. The fair board will have three new buildings erected on the grounds at a cost of $10,000. These will be for the fine arts, chickens and pigs. Mrs. Gus Will, 60, died November 15, 1922. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wymore Wallin of Concord, November 10, 1922. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Jensen of Wakefield in November, 1922. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Swenson of Wakefield, in November, 1922. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs.

Walter Herman near Wakefield, in November, 1922. R. H. Morrow, Winside, was in Omaha for an operation on his eyes. Laying of brick on Wakefield's pavement has started. E. A. Froyd of Sall Lake, Wyo., formerly of Wakefield, was elected representative. K. E. Alexander, 42, former resident of Wakefield, died in Minneapolis November 13, 1922. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Langenberg of Hoskins, November 12, 1922. Mrs. Fredericka Schroeder of Hoskins, died November 8, 1922, at the age of 86. From the Wayne Herald for November 20, 1902: M.W.A. lodge is planning a Thanksgiving ball. Hoskins people have secured a well known harpist to furnish music for the Thanksgiving ball. Joseph Conover returned from North Dakota where he took a homestead. Robert Mellor is building a house and barn on his farm four miles east of Carroll. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wheaton went to Astoria, Iowa, where they will make their home. Farmers are busy husking corn these nice fall days and the yield is larger than was anticipated. F. H. Jones sold his residence to Wm. Wright for $3,500 and Mr. Jones will build a new home. Citizens of Wayne will meet November 25, 1902, to open a public library and each person is asked to bring a book to start the collection. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder moved from Wall Lake, Iowa to a farm near Hoskins. Magnus Paulsen has been transferred by the railroad from Wayne to Oakland. A horse belonging to Will Will, one of the mail carriers, was quite badly hurt when it ran into a wire. The Wm. Fleetwood and E. A. Johnson families moved to Wayne from Ripley, Iowa, where they had resided 20 years. Mrs. A. P. Chason died November 17, 1902 at her home northeast of Wayne, aged 60 years. Drs. Scruggs and Scruggs have located in Winside and have purchased the building in which were Harry Siman's law office and Charles Shaw's barber shop. Neils Wendell of near Wakefield, suffered a broken leg and was bruised and cut when his limb caught in a wheel as he was getting out of the vehicle. From Ponca Journal for November 21, 1878: A son of M. E. De Witt killed a fine large deer. In the east people are sloshing around in snow up to their knees while roads here are as hard and dry as city pavement. Extensive prairie fires raging in Silver Creek precinct were quenched by rain which prevented much damage. St. James in Cedar county is rapidly improving and if the railroad reaches that point the town will become one of the most thriving in northeast Nebraska. Some of the sidewalks in town need repairing badly. Many are so full of holes and warped that they will hardly stay in place. The little son of Treasurer Hurley fell from a pony and broke an arm. The town took on a most animated appearance when horses began to rush into town. Don't be fooled by this fine weather. Any time a regular old he blizzard will come smothering down from the north and if you haven't got the chinks in your shafty stopped up you'll be apt to be mad at yourself. We speak for the benefit of those who have not passed a winter in Nebraska.

Bachelor brothers, 57 and 59, living alone, each on his own farm in Illinois, were found dead in bed last Thursday.

A wheat field, the only one within the city limits, will be on exhibit at the New York world's fair. The quarter acre field is part of a baking company's exhibit.

The marriage certificate of an Illinois couple was missing after last spring's tornado. Recently the certificate was returned to them. It had been found 37 miles away from their home.

Millionaire Sportsman Hertz gave an all-day picnic for hard working city horses. Prizes were given for the oldest, prettiest, etc. Oats and carrots were important parts of the banquet.

Robbers burned their way with torches into the vault of a South Carolina bank, toled away 28 bags of money and later found each contained $26 in pennies. They had overlooked $700 in currency.

An Indiana man to a hospital. Sent him back to kill the snake, the man started to remove the rattles for a good luck charm when the rattler wriggled and bit him.

The horse and buggy days returned for certain in Missouri on election day. The county committee made arrangements to take many to the polls. Snow prevented use of cars so the voters were given horse and buggy rides.

Mrs. Berryhill, 69, will soon retire after 40 years as traffic chief for the department of agriculture. She can reel off air, mail and ship routes all around the world and explains that she wrote everything from cattle to bugs.

A North Carolina candidate listed his campaign expenses as 75c for gum drops, $75 for mirrors for ladies, $150 for a voter who wanted to go to his grandmother's funeral, $12 for 500 cigars, $5 for hymn books and $2 for Chinese relief.

A salesman in Indiana could get from a customer one a promise to try a five extinguisher. A few minutes after the salesman left a man dove up in a burning fire and called for an extinguisher. The customer decided to buy the extinguisher.

About 50 acres of forest trees were burned in Arkansas as the result of an elderly man's attempt to find his way out after being lost six days. A crew battling the fires was greeted by the 77-year-old man who said he set fires to attract attention.

Investigation proved that a Los Angeles woman, working on a relief job at $94 a month on ground that she was supporting herself, parents and others, showed that she was helping her husband buy a yacht. The husband is a technician getting $22 a day.

A woman sent a quarter to a Philadelphia news stand to clear her conscience for what she took from the stand when a child. Now the owner of the stand has his conscience bothering him for he can't find who owned the stand when the lady was a child.

An Illinois pool manager gave Mrs. Cambrian, 79, permission to use the pool, thinking she wanted to wade. The manager was astounded when the woman jumped off the diving board and swam away. She had learned these water sports when she was 59.

A 4-year-old Buffalo girl is a problem runaway. When she was 3 she would often be found down town by policemen. Now the problem is more difficult because she lows herself away on buses and ferries and is located in Niagara, Canada or other cities distant from home.

The United States has 323 women among the 32,988 rural mail carriers and they agree that they have to be ready for anything from fighting a blizzard to calling a doctor. Mrs. Ruth Kenyon of Monroe, Neb., who retired after 30 years, is Jean among women in this service.

Ringling brothers' circus will be streamlined and air-conditioned, according to plans of the president, John Ringling North. Lighting and harmony will be beautiful, the portable theatre, and air-conditioning units will be arranged beneath the seats. Elephants, sawdust and peanuts will still remain.

A shaggy dog's appetite for seal meat took him on a 250-mile ocean cruise on a hunk of ice. When the dog went hunting with his master he stayed to eat some meat. The ice broke and the dog was stranded. The cake carried the dog until the ice jammed up against land and the dog was saved.

One child in the family of an Indiana farmer broke an arm and another was hurt in a car accident. Cholera killed hogs belonging to the farmer. A tornado took the roof off the barn and lightning damaged the building. But the man thinks he is pretty lucky for "the hay and other stuff in the barn was wet and wouldn't burn."

Approach of Thanksgiving Recalls Early Days Here

As the period of Thanksgiving holidays draws near it is only natural to recall the first Thanksgivings, especially those here in Wayne county. Sometimes the full significance of the day is lost in the hustle and hurry of the day, getting ready for a big dinner, having to last a minute details. Too often a day is taken to think why such a little started, or really to spend a little time being thankful. After all, even in these times when conditions seem pretty bad, it is only necessary to look back on those first Thanksgiving days in order to appreciate present means, scant as they may be.

In the early years, times were pretty rough. Quoting from the History of Wayne County, the task of getting the sod in first class condition for crops was a difficult one in the pioneer days. The settlers burned the heavy grass off the land and then plowed the sod. It was customary at first to plow three furrows, then drop the corn and plow another furrow to cover the corn. Thus the corn grew through the lapping of two furrows and was called sod corn. The corn planted thus usually brought a yield of 10 to 15 bushels to the acre. In 1871 the first crops were planted on plowed ground. The settlers used their tools to open holes on top of the plowed ground, placed in them a few kernels of corn which was carried in their pockets and then pressed the earth down with their feet. Ten acres produced 200 bushels of corn. The following year oats and wheat were also planted. Oats yielded 75 bushels to the acre and wheat 35. The grain was of excellent quality.

About two blocks west of the present site of Wayne depot was a bog filled with lumps of earth on which one might walk. Prairie chickens and ducks were hunted in this slough, the fowl for Thanksgiving dinner, possibly being bugged right there.

Game was rather plentiful on the early prairie. In the winter of 1880 and '81 Peter Mears killed 13 deer. The deer were of the variety known as "white tail". Wild prairie chickens and other small fowl were easily found in the tall grass and wild ducks were in the sloughs. But, even with hunting being rather good, the severe snow storms would cause great loss among the game and so seldom was there too much.

Crops of corn, barley, and wheat were generally pretty good when not destroyed by grasshoppers or by prairie fires. At times during the winters, fuel would be so scarce that corn might be used. But too often the people had only the necessary corn and could not afford to burn it. Butter, however, was plentiful and cheap—selling for five cents a pound, so often it was used for greasing wagons.

In 1882, on the day before Thanksgiving, John R. Morris and Henry Evans of Red Oak, Iowa, came to Wayne county to make their home. They spent Thanksgiving day in Wakefield and later settled there.

A Thanksgiving that stands out in the minds of many, was the one in 1891. A fire Thanksgiving night destroyed buildings in a half block on Main street in Wayne. The blaze took six frame structures on the west side of Main street from Third street south.

The corner structure was occupied by a Sioux City man known as "Fankie" Taylor, who came to conduct a hotel. P. L. Miller's two-story frame to the south housed the Andrews clothing store on the first floor and Newt Hoguewood lived above. Dr. Love's office was third from the corner. P. L. Miller's grocery was fourth to the south; Gumble and Lindley had an office south of Miller's; and I. O. Wolston's general merchandise store was on the alley.

The blaze is thought to have started from a cookstove left unwatched. The fire spread rapidly and consumed the six structures before it could be controlled. Thirty barrels of salt from Miller's grocery were used by the fire fighters.

To have such conditions recalled to mind serves to make the present day conditions look pretty good. Thus can the manifold blessings of 1933 be appreciated and the real significance of Thanksgiving day become more apparent and better observed.
