

Defense Against the Mud Guns of the Shopper Assaultant - Regrettable Exchange of Words with a Maladjusted Mentality Whose Only Apparent Motive Is to Smear, Discredit and Destroy.

Apologies to the public for the need which compels us again to pay attention to the truth butcher and character assassin whose flings have polluted the local Morning Shopper.

It is unfortunate, indeed, that a town or any public or private institution in it must defend its record against manifest calumnies.

Not content with spreading the poison of deliberate falsehood regarding the editor's treatment of Herald workers, the Shopper editor goes back forty years in the hope of dragging forth by insinuation a dark chapter in the Herald writer's early life.

Present and former employees who read the false accusations, were especially resentful of the outrage. To nail the attempted Ponca stigma, and to ascertain ground for charging Herald employees with hatred for their employer, a group including H. E. Siman, lawyer, D. S. Wightman, object of attack, and Warren Price and Gene Johnson, Herald workers, went to the Shopper editor Saturday afternoon to question him.

Pinned down, the Shopper editor named former Congressman J. J. McCarthy as the Ponca lawyer with whom we were charged with having had trouble forty years ago.

"It having been called to my attention by what I consider reliable authority that I have been accused of inviting you out of Ponca around forty years ago and that you left between two days: In answer to this charge I desire to state emphatically that it is absolutely false and without any foundation whatever."

"You will remember that we were always very friendly, and I have never entertained anything but the kindest feeling toward you, and in my opinion everybody in Ponca feels the same as I do regarding you personally."

"I have lived here nearly fifty years, and have never heard any criticism against you. In fact, all of your former Ponca friends and acquaintances are still for you. "Very truly yours, "J. J. McCarthy."

VOLLEYS OF VENOM DRAW ACTION FROM THE KIWANIS CLUB

WE would say the Wayne Kiwanis club well exemplified the fundamental principles of the organization in a resolution Monday upholding the integrity of the community against unwarranted attack.

The difference between constructive criticism and false charges designed to vilify and ruin—revealing in the hope of hurting people—was made evident in Leader H. E. Siman's exhorting preface on which the club's action was predicated.

"WHEREAS, from time to time in the past articles have appeared in the Wayne Morning Shopper derogatory to different citizens of our town; and

"WHEREAS, an attack upon our fellow Kiwanian, E. W. Huse, was made in the Shopper under date of December 16, and

"WHEREAS, the same appears to be without support of facts and was published apparently from malicious motives, and

"WHEREAS, said article of December 16 appears to be the culmination of a series of abusive, scurrilous and defamatory articles appearing in the Wayne Morning Shopper and in the opinion of the club such articles unjustly reflect upon the city of Wayne and the inhabitants thereof.

"THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Kiwanis club of Wayne, Nebraska, registers its disapproval of such practice and severely condemns the libelous matter contained therein and that the club reaffirms its confidence in the honesty, integrity and public spiritedness of our fellow Kiwanian, E. W. Huse."

RESOLUTION IS PASSED BY CLUB

H. E. Siman Given Applause For Leading in Action Against Shopper.

H. E. Siman presented to Kiwanians Monday a motion denouncing certain defamatory matter appearing in the Wayne Morning Shopper, and asking for authority to prepare a resolution accordingly. A succession of seconds was followed by a storm of approval. A wave of applause honored Mr. Siman's action. The resolution follows:

"WHEREAS, from time to time in the past articles have appeared in the Wayne Morning Shopper derogatory to different citizens of our town; and

"WHEREAS, an attack upon our fellow Kiwanian, E. W. Huse, was made in the Shopper under date of December 16, and

"WHEREAS, the same appears to be without support of facts and was published apparently from malicious motives, and

"WHEREAS, said article of December 16 appears to be the culmination of a series of abusive, scurrilous and defamatory articles appearing in the Wayne Morning Shopper and in the opinion of the club such articles unjustly reflect upon the city of Wayne and the inhabitants thereof.

"THEREFORE, be it resolved that the Kiwanis club of Wayne, Nebraska, registers its disapproval of such practice and severely condemns the libelous matter contained therein and that the club reaffirms its confidence in the honesty, integrity and public spiritedness of our fellow Kiwanian, E. W. Huse."

Messiah Given To Large Group

Sacred Christmas Story Is Retold in Service at Auditorium Here.

Wayne municipal auditorium was crowded to capacity Sunday evening for fifth annual presentation of "The Messiah," sponsored by "Wayne Kiwanis club."

Prof. John R. Keith directed the production and had charge of the college orchestra playing accompaniments. Prof. Russell Anderson and Russell Wiede directed the choir of 150 voices, composed of college and high school students and a few townspeople. Soloists were Delores McNaught, Virginia Shelton, Betty Wright, Elwin A. Fels and Prof. Anderson.

Wearing black robes, members of the choir had places on tiered seats on the platform. Two decorated pine trees, poinsettias leading from the trees to the wings and evergreen bows at the front were attractive setting.

Rev. J. A. Whitman offered the invocation before the sacred Christmas story was told in song.

Lessman Case Is Heard In Court

Insurance Company Appeals From Verdict Given in Compensation Court.

The Lessman compensation case, appealed from the finding in Workmen's Compensation court, was heard before District Judge C. H. Stewart in district court here Friday and the matter was taken under advisement.

Mrs. Amelia Lessman filed action to recover compensation for the death of her husband, George H. Lessman, which occurred December 24, 1937. Her petition alleges that Mr. Lessman, while working on a grader for the county, suffered injuries September 22, 1936, which resulted in his death. The petition sought to recover from Wayne county and from the Employers Casualty Co. of Des Moines, with whom the county insures workers.

One judge of the Compensation court heard the case April 13 and ordered a dismissal of the petition. A rehearing was asked and the three judges heard the matter July 8. These judges ruled September 13 that Mrs. Lessman was entitled to recover $15 a week for 32 weeks, $150 funeral expenses and $109 doctor's bill, which is the maximum granted in such cases.

The Employers Casualty company appealed from the decision of the Workmen's Compensation court to district court. The matter has now been presented to Judge Stewart for consideration.

Motion Is Filed

In the action by C. H. Hendrickson to stop the city in sale of a lot to D. S. Wightman, H. E. Siman filed a motion asking the court to require a showing as to the nature or kind of trade or business the taxpayers' league transacts and what kind of property it owns. Mr. Hendrickson declined to stand in court to have the case heard because of claiming to have a headache. As attorneys for both sides must be present when a motion is ruled on, this matter is under advisement.

Other entries for formal orders.

Jury Term Set

Jury term in district court has been set for January 23. No criminal cases are on the docket.

Wayne Physician Elected Officer

Dr. G. J. Hess Is Chosen As Vice President for Medical Group.

Dr. G. J. Hess of Wayne, was elected vice president of the Five-County Medical association at its meeting in Laurel Tuesday last week. Dr. A. Larson of Homer, is president. Dr. G. E. Peters of Randolph, was elected secretary.

A number of doctors and their wives from the district were served dinner at the Laurel school, the home economics class being in charge. The doctors had their program afterward. Dr. Walter Benckthack of Wayne, was one of the speakers. The women were guests of Mrs. H. D. Miller and Mrs. R. P. Carroll at bridge and luncheon in the Dr. Miller home.

Dr. and Mrs. Hess, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ingham and Dr. Walter Benckthack attended from Wayne.

Our Feelings. (A voluntary statement.) The extremely pernicious accusations against the character of Mr. Huse, which appeared in last Friday's Morning Shopper, seem to us in the Herald employ, to be entirely without foundation and justification. It is regrettable that a man of such unimpeachable character must be subjected to so false and malicious an attack. And it is, as well, an affront to us who have been associated with him from one to seven years.

We are all agreed that Mr. Huse is a most considerate employer—and even more. To each of us he is adviser, counselor and friend. We in turn have for him only the warmest feeling and highest respect.

LARGE FARM SALES UNFAILING INDEX OF HOPEFUL TIMES

SUCCESSFUL farm sales are clearly indicative of improved conditions. Every public auction has been attended by a great crowd, and offerings have been eagerly bought at good prices. Demand for farm equipment, grain and livestock is unusually pressing. People travel long distances in response to sale announcements to pick out the best of the things they need. Interest in agriculture is thus not diminishing. It is a basic industry, and its problems must be solved to insure future development. Despite drawbacks, farmers are taking hold with renewed determination, and their ranks are being strengthened by additions of new blood. Looking about the world for opportunities, many young persons turn to farming in the belief it offers greatest advantages. The spirit of farm communities is encouraging.

G. E. Unkle to Begin Work Friday on Removing Earth for Boiler

Wayne board of education, at a special meeting, Wednesday afternoon, let contract for excavation for the boiler-room and coal bins at the local high school for G. E. Unkle of Fremont. Other bidders were Beckenhauer brothers of Norfolk, and Carhart Lumber Co. of Wayne.

The bid, which was on the unit basis, is 70c a yard for about 275 yards. This totals about $193, whereas the estimate was $220. Removal of dirt is 50c a yard and remainder of the bid covers preliminary work leading up to the general contract which will probably be let early in February.

Mr. Unkle plans to start the work Friday.

Experts who have conferred with the Wayne board relative to location of the addition favor a T-shaped wing extending west from the north end of the school building.

Dr. K. O. Broady, chairman of the department of school administration at the University of Nebraska teachers' college, was in conference with the board Friday with reference to building plans. Prof. E. J. Hunterman has checked over plans this week.

Library News

Education by radio has arrived. It is education that in fun, that entertains, but that instructs just as deeply and thoroughly as the old methods of other days. Some of the new programs along this line are "Americans All—Immigrants All" which may be heard over CBS on Sundays from 1 to 1:30 p. m. central standard time and "Wings for the Martins" broadcast over NBC Wednesday from 8:30 to 9 p. m. central standard time.
"American All—Immigrants All" is a program based, as its title indicates, on the fact that this country has largely been built up by natives of other lands who have found hospitality here. Few have ever stopped to ponder the fact that there is no such thing as a native American, judged by regular ethnological standards. The making of the United States goes on by endless cooperative efforts. "Wings for the Martins" is designed to reach a very difficult audience, the children and their parents. To do this, it must appeal at once to minds both young and mature; it must deal with problems and situations familiar and important both to little Jackie, aged 8, and his father, who won't be 40 again.
United States Pulp and Paper Industry* is a new government pamphlet in the local library.

THE KNOT-HOLE
Vol. 6 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Dec. 22, 1938. No. 34
Two more stokers went into Wayne homes last week. Wouldn't it be a good idea to let us show you how to save money and have automatic heat which is SAFE? Just call 147 and let us give you an estimate. You will be under no obligation to buy. When you heat with a stoker you are positively safe from poisonous fumes which are always present with other fuels.
Blackhawk is still more popular this year as a furnace coal because it is priced right and holds fire the longest. $9.75 per ton.
"What are your glasses wearing your glasses where you are?"
"I want to get a better look at that gal I dreamed about last night."
When you want a clean even burning coal for your cooking, ask for Pineapple Nut. $11.00 per ton.
Doctor: "I don't like to mention it but that check you gave me has come back."
Patient: "Well, that sure is funny, Doc, so did my lumbago."
You can have soft water at all times for only 7c per cubic foot. Our softener really does the job and we have lots of it.
When you buy stoker coal, get it clean and you want it to give you a minimum clinker without flyash. If the coal you buy is high grade sized properly for your machine you will obtain these desired results. Orient 10 mesh stoker coal has all of these necessary qualities. It is sized so as to give you the most possible heat and the best operation. Try a load and we feel sure you will be convinced.
Teacher: "Can you tell me the difference between a stoic and a cynic?"
Abie: "A stoic is a boid that brings the babies and a cynic is the pig whose dishes you wash the."
This yard will be closed Monday, December 26.

Ideologies in Conflict IN A current magazine article, Dorothy Thompson, nationally known news commentator, suggests the Thirty Years' war which ravaged Europe between 1618 and 1648, as reason to hope that the present troubled and torn condition of the world may be succeeded by peace and order. The Thirty Years' war was a religious as well as political war prompted by demand for freedom from autocratic rule. Then groups bent on extending liberty were the aggressors. Now dictators who would spread totalitarian governments, are the aggressors. Democracies wish only to retain what they possess. The conflict between two ideologies in the Thirty Years' war seriously retarded the progress of civilization.

The writer admonishes society on the anniversary of the nativity of the great exemplar of peace and brotherly love to declare a truce between conservatives and so-called liberals both of whom are needed in orderly action to insure balance on the one hand and progress on the other. Conservatives are needed for their "restraining influence, their consideration of tradition, their natural and temperamental caution, just as radicals are needed for their desire to try new paths." Dorothy Thompson says in conclusion: "Both are so essential to any stable society that has progress, and yet does not fly to pieces in all directions, that where one side wholly triumphs, part of the victorious members quickly take on the coloration of their late opponents, in order to keep any sort of balance at all.

"The Thirty Years' war divided the Christian world and brought no permanent or total victory to either branch of it. But it cast a shadow over Christendom that has survived to this day. To remove that shadow and restore peace between the two perennially different sorts of temperament and aspiration expressed in that war is the greatest Christian task now."

Loves Nature AN admirably written appreciation of December and of winter's outdoors is contained in a pamphlet from the pen of A. F. Allen, editor of the Sioux City Journal, and lover of nature in all its varieties and extremes and mysteries. Appropriately he quotes this from Ruskin: "Sunshine is delicious, rain is refreshing, wind braces up, snow is exhilarating; there is really no such thing as bad weather, only different kinds of good weather." The glory of the seasons reaches its height in December—the month of joyous Christmas recollections, the month of quiet snowfall, wonderful sunrises and sunsets, the month of final preparation for the usually severe elements that come with the new year.

Mr. Allen loves the mystery involved in the grandeur of nature. He would not surrender either. Touching mystery he says: "All about is mystery. Mystery is in the breeze, whispering as it passes. Profoundest mystery is in the silence, reminding of the still, small voice." Mystery is in the heavens, reaching out into unfathomable and unthinkable space. Mystery is in the quiet trees that rest after their summer's labor. Mystery is in the rounded hills, ages old, piled up by some inscrutable force. Mystery is in that flat plain, carved out by the rush of waters through countless centuries. Mystery is in the soaring bird, that builds neither barns nor storehouses, and yet is fed and clothed. Mystery is in the heart of man, who can both see beauty and delight in it.

Idle gossip peddlers who feel a fiendish satisfaction in spreading misery, belong to the best known if not the most loathed variety. It is the malicious gossip—gossip conceived from nothing but the depth of malignancy and broadcast in the hope of doing the largest possible degree of undeserved harm—that proves the greatest community menace. Public issues may be discussed fairly, and criticisms offered in good faith, but when anyone substitutes utter falsehood for truth, and then dismisses his attempt at rum with triumphant gestures, the public has reason to feel insecure. If the truth is not good enough to support a contention, there is something hopelessly weak in the contention. There is certainly something wrong with the contender.

George Washington said this to his secretary in 1785: "My first wish is to see this plague of mankind (war) banished from the earth, and the sons and daughters of this world employed in more pleasing and innocent amusements than in preparing implements and exercising them for the destruction of mankind."

Innumerable cards of greeting circulated through the mails and innumerable Christmas gifts bestowed at this season should charge the atmosphere with cordial fellowship that will carry far into the future. Every remembrance bears good will that is not soon forgotten.

Aroused, Wayne shows the fine spirit that came down from the sturdy pioneer stock that uncovered virgin prairie and reared the first habitations. There may be an occasional Uriah Heep, an occasional Judas Iscariot, but the great masses are quick to voice resentment and rise to unmitigated defense when threats hang like Damocles' sword, over a cherished home community. People want to live here, and they want others to want to live here, but they cannot offer to others the security and content they do not feel for themselves in the presence of brazen and unabashed gossip.

Grange Offers Farm Program.

(Grand Master L. J. Taber)
I suggest a simple four-point program for agriculture recovery:
1. Agriculture—"The farmer produces the nation's raw material and is a large purchaser of industrial products. A prosperous rural life is the first step for enduring recovery."
2. Business—"It's time America recognized the fact business must be sufficiently profitable to pay good wages, to pay the increased tax load, provide improvements and pay labor charges."
3. Labor—"Labor must be well paid and enjoy the same privileges of organization that are open to business. Labor on the other hand must recognize its responsibility to business and the public."
4. Consumer—"The consumer is most important, for if he doesn't buy there can be neither recovery nor stability."

A Man's Prayer.

(Davenport, Ia., Democrat)
A greeting card bore a message. It was even more than a message; it was a prayer, a man's prayer, so it said, but it really was a prayer, that all humanity, men and women, young and old, might pray every day. This is that prayer:
"Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces make one pound and 100 cents one dollar. Help me so to live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow and untroubled by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square and that in earning it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who is a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkened shades and the smell of flowers, the tread of soft footsteps and the crunching of wheels in the yard, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simply, 'Here Lies a Man.'"

Our Unlimited Frontiers.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)
In a period when young people are being told that the frontiers are gone and that they are facing a bleak future, it is reassuring to get a glimpse of brighter things. For, according to one great American inventor, our trouble is that we are technically behind the times—that our future should be brighter than anything in the past. We have made great progress in science and invention but the surface has been only scratched.
Speaking of our present trouble he says: "We have today a very unusual condition in this country where we have an excess of materials, an excess of money, and an excess of men. Now, all that can mean to a primitive mind-like mine is that we haven't any projects to work on. It means that we are technologically behind and not technologically ahead."
"We are just learning about steel; we are just learning about rubber; we are just learning about oil. Never were there such opportunities for young men and women of ability as there are today. Never was there such an opportunity to do things, but you can't do the same things we are doing now. We must open up a new field, and here are thousands of new fields waiting."
That we will learn about these things, and adapt them to our daily use, is a foregone conclusion. When this will take place will depend largely on the confidence of those who will finance new industries.

Town and Country.

(Norfolk Daily News.)
Some of those whose memories go back a generation or so commented on the cordial feeling between farmers and business men shown at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon the other day. Time was, not so very long ago, when almost any chamber of commerce was anathema to the average farmer.
The business man probably is as responsible as the farmer for the change. One needn't be stooped and gray to remember when it was considered smart business for the merchant to resort to sharp practices to sell his goods at more than they were worth. The tradesman considered it his sole job to get the money out of the farmer's pocket and into his own till. Now the wise business man feels that if he gets money into the farmer's pocket he is doing not only the farmer but himself a favor. If the farmer has money the business man knows that he will get his share, if he gives honest service.
Chambers of commerce have, therefore, been sponsoring movements in aid of agriculture. The Norfolk body gave a great deal of time and energy to its cow-sow-hen program and to the stimulation of the sorghum planting program, in cooperation with the agricultural extension service. It has encouraged 4-H club work and has joined forces generally with the county agent's office. It supported tax aid for the extension office because it believed in the work the office is doing for agriculture. It is looking forward to the time when it will have a building in which to hold corn and livestock shows.
The changed feeling between town and country is all for the benefit of both. Certainly the community will move forward faster with cordial cooperation between the two, than it did when there was suspicion and distrust.

CHRISTMAS.

Another yuletide is near. The world is still unsettled and civilization is still threatened. The season's cherished spirit of peace and good will is mocked in countries torn by war or led in the direction of war. The star that guided eager footsteps to the Bethlehem manger still lights the pathway and inspires the hope of countless thousands. The pagan ruck encountered by the birth of Christianity two thousand years ago is now revived as a world menace. It is again trying to shackle the souls of men to religious intolerance and autocratic tyranny. In this season of accepted fellowship and gift bestowals, Christian people are awakened to resist anew the attempt to extinguish the spiritual flame that started in far-away Judean hills. In this country of traditional religious freedom, people are aroused to reemphasize and reconfirm their Christian principles. Christmas joy still pervades America. Generous hearts will remember the unfortunate, and no one will be allowed to suffer neglect. That is the way of kindly Christian people, and it is a way that will not be forfeited.

Renewed

Leading farmer writes the Herald in this way:
"I want to congratulate you on your article in the Herald—'Unavoidable.' I have often wondered how long the good people of Wayne would stand for a thing like this. Knowing the background, I think it is a disgrace to Wayne and community."
A state of mind that will blacken citizens without reason—willfully manufacture stories without shadow of truth—apparently gloat over the injury he can do—may charitably be referred to psychiatric investigation.

Operators Eligible For Corn Loans

Every operator in the county knowing himself to have controlled his planted corn acreage within the corn acreage allotment is eligible for a corn loan though he may not have received any benefit payment. H. J. Podoll urges those wishing corn loans to make application with the soil conservation office.

To Give Program.

Board In Session.

County board had regular meeting Tuesday.

SENATOR SMITH.

Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, who survived presidential opposition in the late election with record endorsement, has his fighting legs on and will not soft-pedal any fanciful new deal schemes proposed to congress. At the coming session, according to an article in the January American Magazine, he was marked for defeat because he was not one hundred per cent for the new deal, and he emerged from the November battle with the biggest majority in his political experience. He is an old-fashioned southern democrat, and he tried to go along with the party's presidential choice, but he couldn't do it and at the same time serve his conscience and his constituents. Now he says the battle is off, and he will follow his own judgment rather than that of new deal theorists. As a dirt farmer himself, he is against limiting crop production. He is for fixing prices and disposing of surplus in other countries. He believes in abundance, not scarcity, and he is going to make himself heard in behalf of farm legislation that suits his ideas of solving the problem. He has been elected United States senator in South Carolina six successive times, and he has served longer than any other member excepting Senator Borah of Idaho. Senator Smith expresses the feelings of other democratic senators from the south—and he says he does—the new deal will find the rubber-stamp variety generally washed up and out of the way.

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers about Religion, Morals and Personal Problems by WELDON F. CROSSLAND, Rochester, New York

Are the exact place and date of Jesus' birth known?
Yes, with as reasonable a degree of certainty as other events which occurred 1900 years ago.

Long before the end of the first century Bethlehem, "the City of David," held the undisputed honor of being Christ's birth-place. Prophecy had pointed to this lovely village among its fields, vineyards and olive trees.

Dr. Weldon F. Crossland
To locate the exact site of the inn is not easy in a land where earthquakes and invasions have shaken a city many times. The ancient inn, however, would if destroyed have been probably rebuilt on its former foundations.

There is little reason to doubt that the present Church of the Nativity is built on the site of the ancient inn. This church, probably the oldest in Christendom, was erected in 330 A. D.

Beneath the floor of the church one finds the Chapel of the Nativity, where a large silver star in the marble floor bears the inscription, "Here of the Virgin Mary Jesus Christ was born."

As I stood and then knelt in prayer, I overwhelmingly felt that here, or somewhere near this spot, Jesus was born.

It will interest many to know that most scholars believe that Jesus was born not in A. D., but rather near the end of 5 B. C. in what would be our December.

Dionysius Exiguus is the man, who in 526 A. D. introduced our present Christian calendar which counted the years from the birth of Christ rather than from the ancient Roman calendar. He made an error of a little over four years.

Are extravagant gifts at Christmas undesirable?

Rarely.
A choice Christmas gift, carefully selected and graciously presented embodies one of life's most perfect acts.
Can even the most expensive gift convey all one's love? Can one's deep friendship and affection be fully expressed even in an extravagant gift? One wishes this were possible.

These recession years have developed an increasing sales resistance. One has less to spend and expends more carefully.

The inappropriate is a far greater danger to Christmas giving than is the expensive.

To be perfect a gift should be personal, appropriate and in good taste.

These gifts rank among the most distinctive and beautiful I have ever known: A framed photograph, a personal letter to a wealthy friend, a magazine subscription, a brass bowl from Egypt and three roses. "None of these gifts were costly."

The artistic touch is given when one puts one's self into one's gift by writing a clever personal note, by personally wrapping the gift and by delivering it at a time when one's friend is away.

Long live generous Christmas giving!

What is the number of believers of the world's chief religions? of Christians outnumber nearly two to one the adherents of any other world religion. Though the young of the major faiths, except the Mohammedan, Christianity enrolls 682,000,000 believers most of whom are in Europe and the Americas.

The Roman Catholic Christians number 331,500,000, Protestant Christians 206,900,000, and Eastern or Greek Catholic Christians 144,000,000.

Confucianists and Taoists, mostly in China and Japan, total 350,000,000.

The Hindus reckon 230,000,000 followers, a large majority of whom live in India.

Mohammedans, number 209,020,000, spread over Asia and Africa.

Smallest of the five chief religions is the Buddhist which just totals 150,000,000.

These figures include every possible religion of devotion from the sincerest religionist to the infant born into the faith.

Which contributes the more to happiness—self-expression or self-discipline?
Self-discipline, because it equips one's better self to enjoy across the years the best things of life.

Dillinger is an example of self-expression in terms of one's lower self.
Paderewski, in technique and artistry supreme, symbolizes the self-discipline that creates a personality worthy of expression. Lindbergh in aviation and the Mayo Brothers in surgery outrank in enduring happiness the play boys of Broadway.
Self-expression pitches life on the lower physical and emotional levels. Self-expression and self-indulgence usually come to mean the same thing. Morals grow more, discipline and reason drift. Self-discipline—what is it but the training of one's better self to enjoy and to express the best in truth, beauty and goodness?

Thought and activity steer by the pole star of perfection.
The passing sensation is rejected in the interests of the great future good. One habitually becomes farsighted.
One ought to have little difficulty choosing between self-expression, which means drift, pleasure, sensation, and self-discipline, which brings purpose, direction and creative activity in which are found life's high happiness.

Louise Obst Bride Of C. C. Ruchmann

Miss Louise Obst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Obst, and Mr. Claus C. Ruchmann, son of Marcus Ruchmann, were married Thursday afternoon, December 6, at 3 p. m. at St. Paul Lutheran church in Wayne. Relatives and friends were present for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. W. C. Heidenreich.

Miss Charlotte Ziegler played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the church. She also played the recessional. The bride was attired in blue moire floor-length dress with silver accessories. She carried a bouquet of white roses and wore a bridal veil. Miss Edna Ruchmann, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a pink moire floor-length dress with silver accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mr. Ruchmann was attended by Herbert Obst, brother of the bride. They wore navy blue suits.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ruchmann went to the bride's home where a reception was held, more than 70 guests being present. The bride's colors of pink and blue were used, the table centerpiece being a large cake and pink tapers. Pink streamers and a large blue bell decorated the room.

Miss Helen Obst and Miss Pearl Jugel served. They wore uniforms in the bride's colors. Mrs. Frank Obst, Mrs. Maggie Suhr, Mrs. Richard Jugel and Mrs. Henry Foltz prepared the dinner.

Dancing closed the evening. Mrs. Ruchmann received many gifts.

For Conscience Sake.

(Homer Smothers in Wayne News)
When the right occasion arises individuals who have a conscience will give their full strength to correct a wrong as it should be corrected. Any community which encompasses enough of these individuals who possess a conscience will assert its solidarity to correct a wrong. If you doubt this recall an instance where some dastardly wrong has been committed whether it is of an individual or group nature the response is always the same with the self-respecting. Any case of desertion, of disloyalty or betrayal is remembered with shame. It is difficult to forgive one who sells out for personal safety, or for the sake of false goodness, or for protecting the guilty, or being indifferent to correcting a wrong. Contrariwise any event in which an individual or a group has given his very best in the best of conscience it is remembered unto death with just pride.

The occasion is at hand when individuals and groups who have a conscience should assert it in behalf of a respectable citizen and friend—Gene Huse. This copy is my personal protest against the splotch attack made upon him in last Friday's Shopper. It is a waste of time and space either to point out the unwisdom of this attack or to attempt to defend Mr. Huse. His character and reputation are self-evident. What I write is meant to prick the conscience of the good citizens of this community, to arouse its solidarity to assert itself. In an organized society there must be a way to stop such practices. It has become a blot upon this community and it must be eliminated.

A Prayer at Christmas.
O Giver of all Christmas good,
To Thee our hearts we lift
In love and praise and gratitude
For Christ, Thy dearest Gift.

Lord, be Thou Center of our Feast,
The dear, abiding Guest,
That, in Thy company, the least
May grow toward the Best.

Bless all our friends, the strict and true,
And those who, doubly dear,
Now gather where, beyond our view,
It's Christmas all the year.

Why Not Compromise? (Norfolk Daily News.) S. J. Finnegan of Lindsay, former member of the legislature, believes that the way to revise the primary law is to cut off its head right behind the enacting clause. The law, he says in a letter to the press, has failed in its mission and has fostered worse and greater evils. Therefore the law should go to the block and we should go back to the old system which, he insists, gave the people greater influence in the selection of candidates than the present primary plan.

A good many will agree with Mr. Finnegan. More, probably, will not. Of those who disagree there are two classes: First, those who would like to go back to the old convention, but who believe it is politically impossible to make so radical a change, and second, those who believe there is good in the primary system which can be retained while getting rid of the evil.

It would seem that these two groups, which must form a large and influential fraction of the voters, could get together on a plan which would meet the objections to the present system and at the same time find favor with the people.

Several plans of combining convention and primary systems have been proposed, but the one most talked of would give convention delegates, chosen under safeguards, authority to endorse a candidate for each office, whose name would go on the ballot as the convention choice. The voters could then accept or reject the endorsed candidate, and those voting against him could give their votes to any of the other names on the ticket.

This would concentrate responsibility on the party, and it would give the puzzled voter guidance in marking his ballot. The objection that the voters are hiring employees of whose qualifications they know absolutely nothing would be met, and a higher class of candidates should be the result.

Who's a 'Gracious Host?' (Norfolk Daily News.) The Nebraska City News-Press Editor James E. Lawrence of the Lincoln Star in holding that it is inconsistent for one who criticizes the government spending program to join in asking grants for his home town.

It is indeed true, the News-Press says, "just as Mr. Lawrence indicates, that a man invited to a party by a gracious host and who accepts that invitation is an ingrate and a cad if he criticizes the cost of the food and the service. If he doesn't like that business he should stay at home and have better reason for being a complainer."

What kind of a "gracious host" is Mr. Roosevelt? Who pays for his party? Does Mr. Roosevelt's money go into the entertainment? Is contributing to the cost of the party voluntary? Can you avoid paying if you refuse to go?

Answer these questions and you detect the logical flaw in making an analogy between Mr. Roosevelt's program and a social party to which a "gracious host" invites you.

Mr. Roosevelt spends not a dollar of his own money, as "host." He puts his hand in your pocket, pulls out what cash he can get, signs your name to a promissory note for the rest, sends part of it for "overhead," allows his underlings to use part of it to lubricate administration political machines in New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, New Mexico and elsewhere, and then offers a little of it to the "guests" who have paid for the party.

You have already contributed or will when you come to pay your future taxes. If you want to get a fraction of your money back there is but one way you can do it and that is by getting grants for your community.

Unless you do that your "gracious host," is going to stick you plenty.

Holiday Vacation Begins On Friday

Wakefield school will close Friday afternoon and vacation will extend until 8:45 Tuesday morning, January 3. The teachers who live out-of-town plan to go to their respective homes for the Christmas holidays.

The usual Christmas programs of the lower grades will take place Friday. The kindergarten and first grade have invited some of the other grades to attend their program.

Winnegabo will play the Wakefield team here January 6. The combination programs and business men's ads for the home basketball games at Decatur were observed by those attending the game Friday evening.

Mr. Hodgkin who writes for the R. F. D. column in the Omaha World-Herald and who was guest speaker at the recent Farmers Fun Feed, has had two articles concerning Wakefield during the past week. The first article pertained to the F. F. A. organization and to the activity of the Wakefield chapter. The second article was relative to the type of farming done by the C. H. Leonard family.

Tuesday the elementary grades were dismissed just before noon to take advantage of the free rides so that the rural pupils could enjoy them in the afternoon. The children attended school until 2 in the afternoon. The high school pupils were dismissed an hour before regular dismissal time to see the afternoon activities.

School driving permits for boys under 16 years of age are good only on the usual road direct to and from school. Some of the drivers have exceeded that which is allowed in the permit.

Punctuality is an important trait which should be developed in young folks. Supt. C. H. Madden urges that the pupils cultivate it in their school work.

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers about Religion, Morals and Personal Problems by

WELDON F. GROSSLAND
Rochester, New York

1. Name Five Blessings for Which Americans Should Be Thankful.

1. Freedom. Protected by courts and Constitution Americans freely express their opinions without fear of the firing squad or the concentration camp. They form their unions, join their lodges and unite with the church of their choice. They vote their convictions. Do they in Russia?

2. Fertilized soil. Fertile soil produces more than enough to satisfy the food needs of 130,000,000 people. American genius will find a way to turn the large surplus of wheat and livestock into bread and meat for the undernourished.

There will be little hunger in America this Christmas day. Will this be true of China?

3. Education. Trained teachers guide the studies of nearly 25,000,000 girls and boys in America's public and private schools. Books on every subject are open to them. In this nation education does not goose-step to the bars of the drill sergeant. Does it in Germany?

4. Peace. No war clouds darken America's sky. Broad oceans help protect her shores. Her neighbors are either friendly or harmless. She lives without dread of invasion. Does France?

5. The Press. For two or three cents a day one can secure a very reliable record of the events of this confused world. Through the printed page and radio, newspapers perform a high service in reporting the news.

The free press of America is its chief bulwark of liberty.

2. What Are the Three Chief Problems Facing Young People Today?
1. The Problem of Making a Living. "What vocation shall I choose?" "Where can I get adequate training?" "How can I secure a position?" These questions test the spirit and morale of youth as they compete with more than 10,000,000 people who have no regular employment.

2. The Problem of a Philosophy of Life. "What is real in life?" "What is the meaning of life?" "What can I believe?" "How shall I act?" The answers to these questions help youth formulate a working philosophy of life.

The past ten years have violently shaken youth's confidence in many of the older ideas and values. Youth today seeks a new philosophy of life that realistically deals with dynamic life under changing conditions. Many find this in a restatement of their religious faith.

3. The Choice of a Life Partner. "How can I meet desirable friends?" "How can I discover others with similar ideals and interests?" "What is love?" "How can I find the One and Only?" Youth discusses these questions of love, marriage, home and family with amazing frankness.

Ninety-eight of one hundred normal young people desire marriage and a home. They face this as perhaps the most difficult and important problem of all.

3. How Can One Overcome the Habit of Worrying.

1. Realize what worry is and what it does to one.

Worry is undue concern over an expected difficulty or misfortune. Worry is mental back-firing. It wastes energy and creates tension.

2. Face the matter about which you worry. Bring it into the open. Place it on the table for inspection and study.

Discuss it with some trusted friend. Try to see the assets of the situation.

3. Adopt an adventurous, sporting attitude toward your problem. Act as if it were impossible to fail. Attack the difficulty with assurance and courage.

4. Cultivate the habit of faith in yourself, in life and in God. Faith taps new resources of personal power. Faith removes mountains of difficulty. Faith gives you the victory.

4. Why Send Money Abroad For Missions When It Is Needed In America?

Before offering two churches, let me state that the 210,000 members of American spend seventy-two billions on themselves at home for every dollar they send abroad.

1. The missionary movement reaches helping hands across the seas to heat and to serve.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell labors among the fishermen of Labrador with a spirit that evokes highest admiration.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer operates on illiterate natives in central Africa and they say, "Christ has come among us."

Sam Higginbottom teaches thousands of the people in India how to double the yield of their fields and gardens.

These heroic services are duplicated a thousand times by the missionaries at work today in many lands.

2. The missionary movement builds brotherhood in an unbrotherly world. Missionaries increase good will and understanding among the nations.

Like the Red Cross worker, they always place humanity above race or nation.

Any reader having a question on religion or morals may send it to "The Voice of Religion," Rochester, N. Y.

The Lawyers Confess. (Omaha World-Herald.)

When lawyers get together in groups, as in committees or conventions, they are quick to acknowledge and denounce the faults in their practice which the public also condemns.

But when the individual lawyer tries a case for his client he is often prone to resort to all of the condemned tactics.

So the public, we think, will lift a skeptical eyebrow when it reads the report of the Nebraska Bar association's committee on judicial procedure. It has all been said before, and often—but nothing is done about it.

The committee, headed by Justice Carter of the state supreme court, acknowledges that "it is the delays in procedure, the technicalities of pleading, and the complexities of practice that have heated the hot coals of condemnation upon our heads much more frequently than the actual decisions of the courts."

So what? Well, the committee makes some "recommendations."

And the bar association, next week, will doubtless adopt the report and approve the recommendations.

And then nothing will happen. The same old delays, subtleties, technicalities, will crop up as lawsuits move their painfully slow way through the courts to final adjudication.

And the public will continue to be impatient with a group which constantly makes public confession of its sins—and stops with confession.

Most of the criticisms leveled at courts and lawyers could be silenced very shortly if the courts and lawyers would end the evils complained of.

Judges have a great deal of authority to compel prompt trial, to insist upon prompt filings of briefs, prompt arguments, prompt pleadings in cases. The law itself is extremely generous with its allotments of time, but its legal periods are often, and it seems usually, extended again and again.

After the judges come the lawyers, who also are prone to delays, who plan their court conduct of cases with a view toward making a record for appeal, rather than with the expectation of concluding a case in the lower courts.

The public's impatience with such tactics grows apace. Irritations pile on irritations until the "hot coals of condemnation" so vividly described by Judge Carter are poured out upon the bar.

The hopeful sign is that the bar recognizes these facts. It talks about them all the time. It is in a receptive attitude toward reform.

Let the lawyers put reform into effect then. They are men of character, high professional training, high mental caliber, and some of them, at least, are courageous.

They can sweep out their own Augean stables—if they will.

Fat and Lean Years. (Fairbury Journal.)

J. E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Daily Star, writes of Orange Judd, editor of the Prairie Farmer at Chicago, who made a speech in September, 1885, at the state fair in Nebraska and made the assertion that rainfall would increase in the prairie states as more and more of the sod was broken up and trees planted. We well remember those assertions, made at that time, and that the farmers and land owners believed in them and were inclined to believe their operations in breaking more and more land would make the land more and more valuable as the years went by because the more the land was cultivated the more the rain would fall and drouth eventually would disappear.

Now after 50 years have passed away those assertions are seen to be entirely without foundation, that the planting of trees, the building of ponds, the breaking up of the sod had no effect whatever on the rainfall and that the drouths at intervals and that there would be years of plentiful rainfall and years of good crops as well as years of poor crops. We have passed through the period of dreams and are now resting, we think upon solid, real ideas.

The real truth is that all of this region through a vast territory including parts of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, which were at one time believed to be approaching immunity from serious drouths, is in fact certain to have many years when very poor crops will be raised because of lack of rainfall. And knowing this to be a fact doesn't mean that we cannot farm in these regions. What we must bear in mind is that we have to farm the way Joseph of Bible times did—save what we raise in the fat years that it be used in the lean years.

We must learn to hoard and save and not expect too much in the future but depend upon what is happening in the present.

Fourth Victim Dies.

LeMars, Ia., December 21—James Meade, 21, of Colo. Ia., died early today, fourth victim of an automobile crash here involving Western Union college students who had gone to Sioux City to purchase a class gift for their school.

The car in which the students were riding collided with an Illinois Central passenger train, killing Neva Phelps of Cozad, Neb., and Mildred Menke of Odessa, Minn. Claude Miller of Callaway, Neb., died a short time after the accident.

Vincent Buss of Le Mars, driver of the car, and Mae Ellen Nelson of Hastings, Neb., were seriously injured.

Joint funeral services for Meade and Miss Menke, who were betrothed, will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in Hildreth Memorial college church it was announced today.

Fatal Farm Fire.

Clarkson, Neb., Dec. 19—A farm home fire claimed three lives here today.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Navrkai and their 18-year-old daughter, Annie. The farm home is located eight miles south of here.

Colfax county officials who investigated the blaze could not determine the origin. The six-room farm home was destroyed and the bodies of the victims found inside. Mrs. Navrkai and her daughter were found in a bed. Mr. Navrkai was on the floor near a stove lying face down.

A neighbor saw the burning home and turned in an alarm at 7:15 a. m.

Had Visited Son.

Navrkai, about 60 years old, and his wife were visiting at the home of a son nearby last night, it was learned here.

The state fire marshal's office was asked to rush a man to the scene to aid in the investigation. First reports said there was no evidence an explosion occurred.

Neighbors said only the chimneys remained standing of the once sizeable large farm home.

Bodies Badly Burned.

The bodies were badly smothered and it was impossible to determine immediately whether the victims were in their sleeping garments when the fire started.

The Navrkais had been farming near Clarkson for many years, neighbors said.

Jack Heires, 20, of Bloomfield, has received a $6,000 Rhodes scholarship. He is a student at Yankton.

A coyote and rabbit hunt will be staged December 26 east of Norfolk.

Is Critically Ill.

Miss Ethel Huff is critically ill at her home in Wayne.

Car Turns Over.

Pierce, Neb., December 21—Ernest Nelson, 22, Los Angeles, suffered a bad gash in his head, painful bruises and torn muscles in one leg about 6 o'clock Monday evening, when lights from an approaching car blinded him so that he did not see a turn in a highway and his car went into a ditch and turned over in a nearby field.

A broken ignition key made it impossible to stop the motor and he hurriedly crawled through the windshield after hearing gasoline running.

Despite his injuries he made his way to the road where a passing motorist picked him up and took him to a Pierce doctor who dressed his wounds. After staying all night in Pierce he was able to leave on the Tuesday afternoon bus for Sioux Falls, S. D. to which place he was enroute to spend his vacation with his parents.

The accident occurred on highway No. 81 about five miles south of Pierce. The car, a 1935 model, was a total wreck.

Silver Wedding

About 35 relatives and friends were entertained at the home of Mrs. Amanda Lindberg Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erickson's 25th wedding anniversary. A nice program was given after which a two-course dinner, carrying out the bride's colors of pink and white, was served. The centerpiece on the table was a lovely wedding cake, decorated in pink, white and silver and baked by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Noreen in Omaha. Guests besides the Henry Erickson family were: Rev. and Mrs. Peterson, June and Euphemia, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Fredrickson and family, the Ed. Fredrickson family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson and sons, Mrs. Jess Brownell and Jimmie of Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Lund and daughters, Miss Nina Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Erickson of Newman Grove, Norman Erickson and Judy Marie, also of Newman Grove. The honored couple received many nice gifts. Josie Lindberg and Henry Erickson were married in this home 26 years ago, Rev. J. A. Kraft performing the ceremony. Good wishes for at least another 25 years together are extended Mr. and Mrs. Erickson.

FIFTYSEVENTH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1938.

NUMBER THIRTYTHREE

"Yes, There Is A Santa Claus"

The often published pre-Christmas editorial, written many years ago and published in the New York Sun, in answer to a little girl's query, is refreshingly wholesome and will be re-read at this season with customary zest. It follows:

"Dear Editor:—I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Please tell me the truth.—Virginia O'Hanlon.

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect in intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not to believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view the beautiful which no eye sees, if it is not seen by the imagination.

"No Santa Claus? Thank God! He lives, and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, or ten thousand years hence, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Twentieth Anniversary of Republic Is Marked by Loss to Little Nation

"Therefore, Christian men, be sure of wealth or rank possessing, 'Ye who now will bless the poor, Shall yourselves find blessing.' This was the philosophy of Good King Wencels, whose spirit has brought deepest meaning to Christmas time in Czechoslovakia for hundreds of years.

"But what a cause in a nation crippled and unsupported in critical times?" Miss Vera Kalal of Clarkson, graduate of Wayne college in 1934, thus expressed the feelings of the little nation she and her mother visited this summer.

Loyal Czech patriots were ready and willing this summer to fight to the last man for their nationality. Now with part of their territory gone these people are torn between the uncertainty of war and nationality.

Miss Kalal and her mother visited the latter's mother who lives in a city within the site of the Sudeten territory. The city is a supply base for the frontier with 5,000 troops normally stationed there. Troops started in July and troops were increased to 30,000 in the city. Schools and other available buildings were used to house the men.

Everyone was provided with gas masks. On hearing the siren the masks were donned and everyone hurried for shelter.

Use Census of Language. Maps from 1915 show Sudeten boundaries unchanged, according to Miss Kalal. Hitler pressed his demand that a census determine the possession of the territory. The census of 1910 was one of language and that of 1920 was one of nationality.

Because of working fear of losing their jobs and because of speaking the German language, many Czechs in the census of 1910 were registered as Germans. The 1920 census proved that the 1910 record was based on language, but Hitler continued to press his demand.

The situation grew tense. Curfew enforced September 15 and police would dispel a group of more than two persons were seen together. Everyone was to be at home at 9 p. m. to prevent rioting.

Czechs within a few days had word that Chamberlain of Britain, had gone to confer with Hitler. Czechs were calm and hopeful. Then September 21 came word that Sudeten territory had been lost to the Reich. All were stunned, stated Miss Kalal. Those people love every grain of sand in their country and are willing to make every sacrifice to save it.

Men who had deserted the Austrian army at the time of the World war to help France, put on the uniforms of 20 years ago. Miss Kalal described one in his tattered uniform, both sleeves empty, and shouting, 'I left my arms in France for France. Now that I have no arms, France won't lend me arms.' These men and townspeople walked in processions all night long after the word came that their Sudetenland had been lost.

New hope was aroused September 22. All men between 20 and 60 enlisted within six hours. Barracks were built. Guns on the border were ready to be fired. Women organized Red Cross units. Soldiers were uniformed and marched off, their families happy that they were going to save their territory. Excitement was felt by even the smallest children.

Difficulty in Departure. Miss Kalal was advised to leave immediately. During an air raid earlier her mother had suffered a broken leg so the problem was difficult. Miss Kalal tried to telephone or telegraph and could do neither as all communication was turned over to the army. All trains had also been given over to mobilization of troops. Finally she gained permission from an officer to ride on a troop train, 24 cars filled with soldiers.

Arriving in Prague, the Americans found the city dark except for a few blue lights. Blue lights cannot be seen from planes, in air raids. Gas masks were supplied for all. Gardens were dug up and converted into bomb-proof shelters. After much difficulty the Kalals got on a refugee train to Vienna. One lantern provided, the only light. No food was available and no drinking water. Boys were taking over the duties of men. Wooden planks were crowded and most of the time Miss Kalal sat and slept on her baggage. In this scene, families were being torn apart. Americans who had married Czechs were sent home and others were separated according to their citizenship papers.

The women went to Vienna, then through Switzerland and to Paris. The train was not allowed to cross the boundary. Two trains waited at the line about a block apart, and the passengers transferred. The Kalals had transportation booked on the Aquitain steamer but they were informed that all reservations were canceled as the ship was being sent to the Mediterranean. They were then obliged to take a Canadian boat. The passage required 11 days but the pleasure of getting back was great enough to pay for the delay, according to Miss Kalal.

Word from a Czech friend after Miss Kalal's return here expressed regret that true patriots had not been allowed to save their land. "History doesn't finish today," added the Czech, "and the brave people will rebuild their crippled country."

Czechs like Americans, Miss Kalal found. They give this country credit for having helped them establish their republic 20 years ago in October, an occasion to be celebrated this day with rejoicing. Instead this marks a loss to the Czechs.

In connection with her talk Miss Kalal showed motion pictures of the Czechs fighting rich in ore, lumber, grazing land and streams. Quaint customs of these people were shown, and Miss Kalal displayed beautiful hand work and glassware made by Czechs.

Early Days In Wayne County

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for December 21, 1922. Miss Jane Rindolf of Wayne and James Hammond of Johnston, Neb., were married December 16, 1922. Miss Velma Powers and Albert Milliken of Wayne, were married December 20, 1922. Wayne Woman's club held a bazaar and dinner from which they realized $600. Wayne Good Fellows will provide Christmas cheer for 75 children in Wayne. Dr. A. D. Lewis of Wayne, was elected president when chiropractors from 20 counties met at Norfolk to organize. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Graverhol December 19, 1922. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frevert December 21, 1922. The number of radio enthusiasts in Wayne is growing and additional numbers report hearing music and news over their sets. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schultz of Hoskins, observed their 55th wedding anniversary December 17, 1922. The couple came here from Wisconsin in 1886. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thomsen of Wakefield, December 17, 1922. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Victor of Wakefield, December 14, 1922. Twins, a son and a daughter, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mitchell of Wakefield, December 13, 1922. Herman Utchert, R. G. Hanson, J. R. Feauto and H. B. Ware were elected officers of Wakefield Commercial club. A son was born December 10, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Podd of Hoskins. Walter Ohlund of Hoskins, is in a Norfolk hospital for medical care. Miss Cora Bressler returned to Wakefield after being at Hoskins three months while receiving medical care. Fred Matther of Concord, returned from a Sioux City hospital where he had had an operation on one of his feet. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Luther Thompson of Carroll, December 2, 1922. Geo. Linn moved to Carroll from the farm and the Ernest Haines family went to the place he left. John Laurie and N. P. Christensen of Carroll, went to Los Angeles to spend three months. The former's mother, Mrs. Alex Laurie, went to Albert Lea, Minn., and Rev. E. E. Carter and family will accompany her home. Dan Burgess of Whiting, Kan., formerly of Carroll, will be ordained in the ministry December 28. J. A. Winterstein of Wayne, bought one of the purebred hogs from the John Kern herd at Stanton. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Crawford of Long Beach, December 15, 1922. Mrs. Crawford is the former Miss Roxa Crawford of Winslow. Considerable excitement resulted at Winslow when a traveling man reported an overturned car west of town. Deep ditches on either side led the man to think the driver had met with a bad accident. On investigation it was learned that Oris Sanders broke a wheel of his car when he struck a piece of coal and the car turned over. He left the machine and walked home. Miss Dorothea Needham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Needham of Long Beach, formerly of Winslow, was married to E. J. Marsh in the west in December, 1922. From the Wayne Herald for December 25, 1902: The John Helle family moved to St. Helena. Wm. Meyer and Wm. Lesman attended J. Britton's purebred cattle sale at Sayburn, Iowa. Jesse Bartels and Miss Jessie Harshaw were married December 23, 1902. Wm. Sherwood, the renowned pianist, will give a concert in Wayne December 30. Mrs. W. White, sister-in-law of C. W. White, died December 20, 1902, in Norfolk. Bert Miller and Miss May Thompson were married December 23, 1902. Prof. F. M. Gregg goes to Lincoln to assume legislative duties. D. C. Main has been elected president of the board of trustees of the Methodist church. Mrs. C. C. Brown, resident here since 1884, died December 21, 1902. J. H. Pingrey, 84, died December 18, 1902, following a stroke. F. L. Neely has bought the interest of Charles Craven in the Craven hardware and the firm will now be Craven & Neely Co. Charles Craven will devote his time to photography. From the Ponca Journal for December 11, 1879: If the railroad runs to Martinsburg it is presumed the Ponca depot will be moved across the creek. Postmaster Reynolds went hunting and shot two rabbits and some quail. Those he did not shoot were nearly frightened over their sets. The ferry between Sioux City and Covington has done a sorry time working through the ice. It is likely the boat is frozen fast now for the winter. Wa-hahog-bog and Sne-he-pug-wug, two noted Winnebago chiefs, passed through town with their horses and big droves of cows, mules, oxen, papposes, squaws, sisters, cousins and aunts, enroute to the Santee agency. The St. Paul & Sioux City railroad is splendidly built and does not in the least resemble the little wheelbarrow track and toy wagons of the C. & B. H. All things will be changed shortly and this country can feel fortunate that the St. Paul line is coming through. The river is frozen over but no teams cross as yet. A man tried to cross with a heavy load of green cottonwood lumber and the ice gave way and the horses went down. The driver was able to get them out as the water was shallow at the place. The coal company had a meeting and will lease land for operations.

TRY EVERY BRAND OF GASOLINE I'm safe saying that. My own customers won't do it. That's what they're through doing. Maybe they thought it was just another one of their guesses the first time they drove in here for my Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronz-z-z. Now they know they've got the right one, and every cold morning tells them so, and they're getting swell mileage along with starting that never misses. I've even got one man that always had heat in the garage, but keeps it off now, and saves the expense, and tells me the car never used to start up near as fast as it does on Conoco Bronz-z-z. He's one of the ones that keep sending me in other people, which is a heap sight better than my trying to out-yell all the different brands of gasoline.
