Supreme Court Fixes Hearing In Bond Issue

Wayne City School Case Will Come Up During Middle of April.

Hearing of the Wayne school bond case has been set by the supreme court of Nebraska for the week of April 17, according to word received by F. S. Berry, attorney for the school district.

Wayne voters, at a special election September 23, favored by 379 to 293 the proposal to issue bonds in the sum of $48,000 for remodeling and enlarging the city school.

A federal grant of $39,150 for the project was approved October 29.

C. H. Hendrickson, chairman of the Taxpayers' League, filed an injunction in the bond issue, alleging that the lure of government money constituted bribery. He also contended that the election was held under an invalid law and that the law really applicable called for 60 per cent majority.

In his answer in behalf of the school board Mr. Berry alleges that the charge of bribery is without merit for mere inducement is not sufficient to render any election void, and the government grant was not allowed or made until after the election, so it was not a certainty at the time of the election. The bonds are valid, Mr. Berry states, for the provisions of the law which authorized Wayne district to issue bonds is substantially the law which has been incorporated in the statutes of Nebraska for 57 years. The section of the statute regarding issuing bonds by vote of 51 per cent has come unchanged to the present, Mr. Berry answers.

The injunction was heard in November before District Judges C. H. Stewart and A. E. Wenke, both of whom ruled that in all respects the election was legal. Mr. Hendrickson appealed the case to the supreme court where it will be heard the week of April 17.

Sholes Resident Dies on Friday

Rites Are Held Tuesday at Church in Carroll for Mrs. Alice Gudgell.

Mrs. Mary Alice Gudgell, 78, died Friday morning at her home near Sholes. She lived with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Root, and the Guy Roots. The family heard Mrs. Gudgell moving about her room early Friday but when they went to call her for breakfast she had suffered a heart attack and died.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon from Carroll Methodist church. Rev. Allen Magill was in charge and burial was in Carroll cemetery.

Mrs. Gudgell's only son, Clifford Pettys, died in April, 1918, while in service with the U. S. cavalry on the Mexican border. Her husband died about 30 years ago. Deceased leaves three brothers and three sisters: Albert Marsh of Sholes, Fred and John Marsh, Hammond, Ind., Mrs. Abbie Pace, Bradford, Pa., Mrs. William Nichols, Carsten, N. D., and Mrs. Lydia Root, Sholes.

Construction Started On College Building

Building Committee Makes Final Plans at Meeting Held Saturday.

Construction of the new student-faculty building at Wayne State Teachers college is expected to start this week. The building committee met here Saturday to make final plans, and material for the structure is on the ground.

The building, a U-shaped structure which will incorporate Connell hall as the east wing, will be completed by September. The cafeteria, banquet room, student offices and lounge will occupy the first floor. A faculty lounge and apartments will be on the upper story.

J. L. Soderberg of Omaha, has the general contract for $77,309; W. G. Volkman of Norfolk, has the plumbing and heating for $12,577; and Rapid Electric Co. of Rapid City, does the electrical work for $3,065.

Dr. J. T. Anderson, Fred Anderson of Lincoln, and Dr. Walter Bentback comprise the building committee. Meeting with them here Saturday were Architect Gordon Chattuck of Grand Island, and Supervisor Wesley Nonaecker of Grand Island.

Women Are Guests Of Club at Laurel

Wayne and Coleridge women's clubs were guests of the Laurel club Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church in Laurel, 36 attending from here. A play, reading and music comprised the program. Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and Mrs. Robert Auker of the Wayne group, spoke briefly. Laurel women each contributed a book to their library, and the visitors had a penny march for the library benefit. Tea was served afterward.

Plans Adopted For Structure By City Board

Wayne School Project Bids To Be Opened by Board Last of April.

Wayne board of education, at a special meeting Monday evening, adopted the specifications of the architects, Beutler & Arnold of Sioux City, for remodeling and enlarging the city school building. With some minor changes the plans are the same as first drawn. Eleven alternates are provided, the board being allowed permission to make choice on these during the construction. One alternate permits a choice between new doors and refinished old doors. Another provides that the old stoker may be installed in the new heating plant if it is found large enough. Wm. Beutler met with the board Monday to explain the plans and alternates to be selected at the discretion of the board.

Plans are to start advertising for bids on the project next week. Date for opening bids will probably be set for April 28. Providing no delays are experienced, the board plans to have work on the new addition start about May 5 and the remodeling will begin at the close of school May 19. The work will be completed in early fall.

Dan Farrell is resident engineer for PWA, having charge of the city school and college buildings, also a building at Ponca. He will move to the D. H. Cunningham property here. The school board also plans to have an engineer. The contracts will designate the quality and kinds of materials, also the wage scale, for various types of work. The engineers will specify that the designations are followed.

RIVAL TICKETS IN THE CITY CONTEST TO DRAW BIG VOTE

THE CITY and school election will take place next Tuesday, and with two complete tickets in the field, there ought to be sufficient rivalry to cause the polling of a large, representative vote. Filling places on the school board is not less important than electing men to handle the city's business. Ed. Seymour who is now a member of the school board, and Paul Mines who previously served, are pitted against Dr. L. F. Perry and L. W. McNatt who have had no experience on school boards, but who are keenly interested in education. In the First ward, Walter Miller, long-time member of the city council, proves so acceptable in public service that his name appears on both tickets. In the Second ward Dr. J. T. Gillespie is running against R. K. Kirkman, and in the Third ward Elmer E. Gailey, present incumbent, is opposed by Carl E. Wright who served as councilman some years ago. Duty calls every qualified elector to the polls to register his or her choice.

Location of Camp Likely Not in Wayne

Visiting Officials Do Not Press Acceptance in Face of Opposition.

Wayne is not likely to have a C. C. camp because of local opposition, according to Harry H. Reimund and C. M. Brandon who were here Tuesday. Reimund is educational adviser and Brandon is chaplain of the Nebraska-Kansas C. C. district.

Since it was made known that Wayne could have one of the four C. C. camps to be located in Nebraska, local opinions have both favored and opposed the project.

The officials here this week explain that they do not want to locate camps where any local objection exists. They were here in the interest of clearing up any misunderstanding but not to press acceptance of the camp.

Kiwanians Hear Address by Coach

Coach J. H. Morrison addressed Kiwanis club Monday following the noonday luncheon, telling of the work of the Wayne college basketball team and of the trip to Kansas City in March for the national championship tournament. Teams from both coasts, from Minnesota to Mississippi and Texas participated in the tournament.

The coach introduced eight of the boys who made the trip and each commented on the experience briefly. The boys were Harold Rembold, Charles Wehrer, Aaron Tell, Gerald Wright, Rusty Bradford, Jean Huntmer, Jim Ahern and Quentin Whitmore. Clarence Marshall was unable to attend.

Jury is Dismissed Monday Afternoon After Giving Judgment Brueckner- Wantoch Case.

Attorney C. H. Hendrickson, who entered a plea of nolo contendere last week before Judge A. E. Wenke in district court on charge of criminal libel filed by County Attorney Burr R. Davis in behalf of E. W. Huse, Wayne Herald editor, was paroled to the sheriff of two years Monday by District Judge John W. Yeager of Omaha, who was invited here to pass judgment. On the plea of nolo contendere, meaning "I do not care to dispute it," Judge Yeager found Hendrickson guilty and ruled that he refrain from publishing any vile, infamous or vicious attacks upon any and all persons through the Morning Shopper or any other publication." Costs were assessed against Hendrickson and superadee bond was fixed at $500. Yeager's decision was appealed to the state supreme court. A surprise came late Monday when C. H. Hendrickson, charged by the city with assaulting Attorney H. E. Siman, withdrew his plea of "nolo contendere." Judge Yeager assessed Hendrickson a fine of $10 and costs. The action was prosecuted by City Attorney J. E. Brittain. Settle for Knee Injury. Dr. F. G. Armitage Here to Portray Dickens Works

Dr. Frank Guy Armitage, who will present two separate lecture-recitals on Charles Dickens at the State Teachers college auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, April 4 and 5, at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the entertainment committee, offers a program that combines sparkling entertainment and true literary merit.

Since his extreme youth Dr. Armitage has studied Dickens, has collected one of the world's finest libraries of Dickensia, and has lived and worked for long periods in the surroundings made famous by Charles Dickens. From the rich mine of over 2,000 characters described by the great writer Dr. Armitage selects the most outstanding and in the twinkling of an eye he makes them live and move and have their being once more. Micawber struts his cheerful, philosophic, optimistic way—"confidently expecting something to turn up." Uriah Heep crawls in his slavish hypocrisy. Sidney Carton makes his magnificent renunciation and goes to the guillotine. Scrooge meets the "Spirit of Christmas."

The president of the Dickens Fellowship of New York commented when Dr. Armitage last appeared before them, "No one portrays the humor and pathos of Dickens with such depth of feeling as does Frank Guy Armitage."

Wigs and semi-costumes are used to heighten the effect of the illusion but no grease paint is employed for "make-up." Dr. Armitage achieves his astonishing facial effects by skillful manipulation of the facial muscles.

One of the unusual features of Armitage's program is its wide appeal. He has appeared before high school and college audiences with equal success. One of the largest and most enthusiastic groups ever to receive him was the Chicago Rotary club and he has appeared before many of the outstanding women's clubs of the country. The reason for this wide appeal is two-fold. In the first place the art of Charles Dickens is characterized by its universality and humanity. We know his characteristics in everyday life. And in the second place, Dr. Armitage's personality is one that engages the audience from the very moment he steps on the platform. His is a dynamic, vital force, held in check by a keen and clever mind, but given full play in his imaginative interpretation of immortal characters.

Officers Elected In Athletic Group

Women's Athletic association of the college elected officers for this summer as follows: President, Mattie Seave; vice president, Ruth Leafstone; secretary, Anna Pederson; treasurer, Mary Ramey; social chairman, Irene Swanson; and publicity manager, Irene Carrington. Two Kinds of Liberalism

Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business stresses the two kinds of so-called liberalism in the world today. One kind — the pseudo variety — would rule people unconditionally.

"At those who oppose the whim and favoritism of administrative law, the neo-liberals stick out their tongues and cry 'Tories, Reactionaries.' Vociferously announcing their liberalism, they forget that this nation is great because it has encouraged the growth of the individual, because it has abhorred repression and restriction of the private citizen.

"Here is one test by which you can identify the true liberal: he is one who has faith in the American people, who believes that their minds and hearts and wills are adequate to the correction of their mistakes, adequate to assure their progress and their destiny without surrender of the rights which gave them their envied distinction among the world's citizens."

War Perils

SENATOR Borah of Idaho made a ringing radio speech Saturday night against entangling alliances abroad and the possibility of becoming involved in a foreign war.

An article by Charles A. Beard in the April American Mercury and reproduced in part by the metropolitan press, takes a vigorous stand against the idea of the United States assuming the responsibility of policing the world.

Dictator Mussolini made a blustering speech on the twentieth anniversary of fascist control of Italy, and reaffirmed his belief in a policy of force. He demanded more fighting equipment — the complete militarization of Italy. He believes in peace — after the sacrifice of war — when surviving subjects have been securely placed under the galling yoke of despotism.

of Europe's affairs until Europe comes over to mix into and subvert our affairs. We have no manhood to sacrifice or treasures to waste in trying to straighten out a seemingly hopeless tangle abroad.

An associate psychologist of the Colorado university suggests that Earl Durand, who followed, a bloody trail to his own death in Wyoming, was crazed by forced adjustment to the restraints of modern civilization. Captured for infraction of the game law, he became a murderous outlaw.

In shying around the primary law which nearly everybody thinks needs fixing, the legislature seems fearful of the consequences of proposed remedies. Introducing the assistance of conventions to make voter understanding possible, suggests return of the old convention system which is remembered with some aversion.

A newspaper cannot be satisfied just to make a living for its proprietor and working force. It has community responsibility that cannot be shirked. It must be a builder. It must encourage public and private enterprises to prevent decay and blasted values.

As the weather warms and seed time arrives, it is none too early to begin planning for the annual county fair which celebrates the harvest and puts on parade the year's live stock production.

We wonder if General Franco is big enough to be merciful to the conquered Spaniards. We hope so.

The Fruits of Promised Reward.

Daily life in America has become a series of contacts with the words "patent" and "patent pending." They mark the way of millions of Americans as they turn on a light, shave, drive to work, telephone, write a letter, listen to the radio, occasionally fly about the country, and see motion pictures.

These common but seldom noticed words relate to some part, if not all, of most appliances and gadgets that make possible the modern way of life. They are silent police that warn of the right of the originator to prevent exploitation by others.

Invention is a field of pioneering that remains as a frontier now that our geographical frontiers are extinct. The individual leads on this frontier as on those of old, for more ideas still come from the garrets and workshops of individuals than from the industrial laboratories either large or small.

In the current Liberty magazine, Bernard Macfadden contrasts American buying power with that in European nations and he finds it especially high in comparison with that in fascist and communist countries.

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers about Religion, Morals and Personal Problems by DR. WELDON F. CROSSLAND

What effect will present population trends have on the churches? As evidence that America is steadily becoming a nation of oldersters, population experts offer these facts and estimates:

Births have decreased 25 per cent since 1921. Since 1929 there are 1 1/2 million fewer school pupils age 5 to 13, while 2 1/2 million more were added to the number of those over 65.

What effect will this trend have on church programs and emphases? 1. The churches will gradually shift their major emphasis from the child and youth to the adult.

2. Smaller children's and young people's departments will be noted, unless the churches find more effective ways of winning more of the 18 million unchurched youth of America.

3. Child and youth programs will be more important than ever, though they will occupy a relatively smaller place in the life of the church.

4. New church buildings will provide more adequately for the social and expressional life of adults.

5. As the average age of church membership rises, the churches will grow more conservative.

Why are communists so bitter against religion? First, because communism took form in Russia, where religion was associated in many minds with the czarist regime.

Second, because communism is atheistic. To the communist all religious ideas such as God, faith and immortality are superstition.

Third, because communism is totalitarian, claiming absolute authority over all of every man's life. In Christianity communism sees its greatest enemy in ideology and technique, as is evident from these striking contrasts:

Christianity Brotherhood Love God Immortality Persuasion Tolerance Liberty

Communism Forced Collectivism Hate Atheism Extinction Force Intolerance Absolutism

All religions suffer a common fate under communism. Should one stand on his principles or go with the crowd? One ought always to live up to the highest he knows, whether in a crowd or alone.

Crowds or groups with a few exceptions are lower in morality and morals than the average of the individuals who compose them.

Consider what happens when one "goes with the crowd" in matters contrary to one's convictions. Ideals are lowered. Convictions are surrendered. Integrity is undermined until one loses both his self-respect and the regard of those among whom he moves.

Decline with as much grace as you can command any temptation to lower the bars of your ideals.

A firm but polite refusal always wins respect.

Should we Christianize America before sending missionaries abroad? No, because home missions and foreign missions are inseparable, integral parts of the Christian movement.

In self-defense, if for no other reason, American Christians should endeavor through missions to make the policies and acts of all nations more Christian.

The world today, like the human body, is discovering that the infection of hate and the disease of war flows through the arteries of news and trade to poison all members.

In duty the Christian is under obligation to share his faith and ideals. Through schools, hospitals and churches foreign missions express the altruistic outreach of the Christian movement.

In obedience to the command of Christ, "Go ye into all the world and preach the good news to every creature," the 22 North American Boards of Foreign Missions support 4,146 missionaries in every foreign land except Afghanistan.

Christian missions stand out as the chief builder of goodwill in the world today.

Fire caused when a lighted blowtorch overturned damaged the Laurel high school agricultural department shop last week. Donald Keiser student, suffered burns on the leg when fluid in the torch set fire to his clothing. Pictures in Washington newspapers show senators sitting in barber chairs getting free hair cuts and free shaves. Investigation shows that this is true in the senate but house members pay 50 cents for a hair cut and some pay the same amount for a shave, and a quater for a shave. The barbers, however, get a regular salary of around $1,060 a year out of the taxpayers' purse and also the amount house members pay for their services. They are on the payroll as "laborers" and get their pay whether congress is in session or not. The house even had a financier on the pay roll as a "laborer" until recently when members kicked and her pay was stopped. What goes on in the senate is said to be "taboo" and house members are told it is "unethical" to talk about it. Senators and congressmen who voted against entry of the United States into the war say they would vote against war again. Some of these, however, are of the opinion that there is now greater provocation for war than there was in 1917. At one time during the debate on the war department (military activities) appropriation bill, only 16 members were on the floor. The bill contains items amounting to half a billion dollars for the army. The reason for the small attendance was that in general debate members can talk about most anything—and they do. While this was going on, the senate was listening to the isolationist bloc which warned against foreign entanglements. At the same time word came to members that request for an additional army appropriation was on its way to the hill. The old Ludlow amendment bloc is again starting a campaign for submission of the constitutional amendment which proposes a national referendum preceding any declaration of war save in case of invasion. They have a great fire department in Washington. They have 39 fire stations and the fire fighting equipment is said to be the best in the country. They have 888 firemen who are under civil service. These firemen have training schools of all kinds and one of the best medical clinics in the country. They get from $2,500 to $3,000 a year salary and get retirement pay and all of the usual sick leave and vacations. The payroll exceeds $2,000,000.

Artists Appear With Orchestra

Selected Musicians Play With Violinists Here At Auditorium.

Philip Williams and Mary Becker, concert violinists, appeared before a Wayne audience in the municipal auditorium last Thursday evening, accompanied by an orchestra composed of musicians selected from Wayne high schools, towns-people, college orchestra and neighboring towns.

Lois Kucinski, conductor of the Sioux City symphony, sent some of his best musicians to enlarge the group. Prof. John E. Keith had charge of arrangements.

Thursday's concert featured a brilliant reading of Stoesel's "Suite Antique," the music for which was used by special permission of the composer. The audience seemed to enjoy especially Chopin's "Nocturne in E Flat," the concertos by Mr. Williams including Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "The Cossack," and the unaccompanied duets of familiar semi-classics as arranged by Mr. Williams and played by the couple.

Although Mary Becker is chiefly the piano accompanist, she is a distinctive violinist in her own right.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were guest instructors of the college during the week. They had presented a similar concert to the college group the previous Monday.

The program was as follows: "Symphony in D Major" by Haydn, Adagio and Allegro, Menuetto movements, the entire orchestra; "Symphonie Espagnole" by Lalo, Allegro non troppo, Andante movements, Philip Williams with orchestral accompaniment; "Suite Antique," by Stoesel, Bourree, Sarabande, Aria, Gigue movements, Philip Williams and Mary Becker, the orchestra accompanying; "Nocturne in E Flat" by Chopin and "Scherzo-Tarantelle" by Wieniawski, Philip Williams, violin and Mary Becker, piano; "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven, the orchestra. Prof. H. H. Hanscom was accompanist for the Stoesel Suite.

Orchestral personnel follows: Violin, Ethlyn Flake, Russell Holgenrieder, Florence Barton, Joyce Miller, Jeanette Snyder, Guy B. Dunning, Fern Crawford, James Vandersall, Helen Tapkin, Miriam Walker, Dwayne Dunning, Adele Eddy, Margaret Morrow, Florence Kinder, Frances Hepfinger, Idabelle Chilton, Patricia Bessler, Beryl Nelson, Josephine Ahern; viola, Birdina Hill, Lois Thompson, Susie Souders, Mildred Dawson; violoncello, Gordon Frank, Mildred Ringer, Frank Gamble, Ann Ahern, Homer Sece, Carol Anderson; bass, Helen Hamblin, Vivian Munt, Virginia Lenoir; flute, Everett Timm, Ruth Holstein; oboe, John Hermann, Cyril Mill; bassoon, Harold Wright, Mattie Seace; clarinet, Arthur Gulliver, Elwayne Fleetwood; trumpet, Leslie Walder, Roderick Peck; horn, Leland Flora, Anita Olson, Laurie Axen, Stanley M. Johnson; trombone, Marilyn Griffith, Willis Krutzfeldt, Margie Witte; tuba, Vernon Jacobs; tympani, William Nelson.

The college orchestra gave a reception for the musicians at the Dr. J. T. Anderson home after the concert.

Assessors Take Bindweed Survey

Record of Infested Areas in Dixon County Will Be Kept This Year.

Plans are complete for a comprehensive bindweed survey in Dixon county by precinct assessors in April. County Assessor George Pearson has informed Agent Greth Dunn. This is the first time an attempt has been made to find out the entire infested acreage.

Field bindweed is regarded as the most serious and destructive weed in Nebraska, reducing yields and lowering land values. The state is conducting an educational survey to eradicate and control bindweed.

Agent Dunn will meet with precinct assessors to explain the survey which will be taken when assessors make their annual visitation to farms. The information will be kept confidential as to farms.

Experimental work shows that the first step in eradication should be to remove and destroy surplus weed growth. Then the land should be plowed to a depth of six inches after bindweed growth starts in the spring. From then on infested areas should be cultivated four inches deep every 10 or 12 days during the season. Duckfoot shovels on cultivators have proved most successful, and they should be kept sharp to insure cutting of all plants at each operation. Cultivation at two-week intervals during the second season until the surviving plants may be destroyed by treating each plant with a tablespoon of sodium chlorate is suggested. Two years of cultivation usually kills the weed, but in badly infested areas three seasons may be required.

During the process of eradication the land should have two deep cultivations to bring to the surface bindweed seeds that have been buried below the plow. This will encourage germination of the seeds so the seedlings can be destroyed easily by later cultivations. Plowing each spring to a depth of six inches should bring bindweed seeds to the surface.

son, Bristow, Robert Burkett, Walthill, Leona Amussen, Pender, excellent.

One-act plays, class A, "The Valiant," West Point, "Auf Wiedersehen," Albion, superior; "Mansions," Wayne City, "Goodnight Please," Neligh, excellent. One-act plays, class B, "The Blue Teapot," Hartington, "Riders to the Sea," Wayne prep, superior; "The Purple Rim," Walthill, excellent.

Best actors and actresses were: Dean Graunke of West Point, and Betty Pike of Albion, class A; Jack Solko of Hartington, and Blanche Smith of Wayne prep, class B.

Students rating superior may enter the state contest April 11 and 12, probably at Columbus.

Prof. K. N. Parke was director of the contest. Miss Florence Drake had charge of staging class A plays, and Myrtle Hemenway, senior college student, had charge of staging for class B plays.

Rex R. Gay of Creighton, is president of the district Three association. L. Crow of Pender vice president. Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk, secretary-treasurer; and E. M. Fluke of Stanton, vice chairman of the state board of control for the High School Activities association.

County Contest To Be Saturday

Dictionary to Be Awarded To Champion Speller By School Leader.

Grammar grade pupils of Wayne county rural and town schools will compete in the annual spelling contest Saturday, April 1. It is planned to hold the meet in the court room at the court house. In case court should still be in session, the contest will be at Wayne city school. All indications point to one of the largest spelling bees ever held here.

Eaton's contest speller will be used exclusively for the contest. If a word has more than one spelling, any one of the correct forms will be allowed. Supt. E. W. Smith will conduct the contest.

All pupils will take the written test. The 10 highest in this will compete in the oral. Winner of the oral event will be the county champion. County Supt. F. B. Decker will present a large dictionary to the county champion, and the Omaha World-Herald gives certificates of recognition to the 10 winners in the written contest.

The winners of the written and oral contests enter the interstate meet in Sioux City April 28, and the county champion (oral winner) goes to the state contest in Omaha April 29.

The Wayne county contest is open to the public and any wishing to attend are invited to do so.

The Face of Nebraska.

Marjorie Chauwe, District 26.

Every human face has three main features: The mouth, the nose, and the eyes. Nebraska's face also has three main features: The loess, the sandhills, and the high plains regions.

The main feature and the largest could be called the mouth of Nebraska for several reasons. It is the loess region. It covers nearly half of Nebraska.

The loess region has a loamy soil for the most part. Because of its great size it has a wide variety of occupations. It produces fruit and vegetables for home and table use. The main occupation is farming. Some manufacturing is done.

There are many interesting places in this section. The most interesting is the state capitol building. It is one of the finest pieces of architecture in the world. Ft. McPherson cemetery, Ft. Kearney state park and Massacre Canyon National monument are of historical interest to the visitor, also Stolley state park. The only monitor radio station in the world is located at Grand Island. Arbor Lodge, the former home of J. Sterling Morton, at Nebraska City is a museum. It is near a state park. Bellevue, the oldest town in Nebraska, is located in Sarpy county.

The largest river running through this region is the Platte. It flows eastward toward the Missouri. It is used for irrigation and at Columbus there is a large power plant. There are a few resorts along the river. It is used for boating by many people. The Republican is used largely for power. The Elkhorn is used mostly for pleasure. The Niobrara is used for power.

The nose of Nebraska is the sandhill region. This section is quite important in its main occupation, ranching. The sandhills are too sandy to raise many crops. The secondary occupation is raising sugar beets and potatoes.

The sandhills region is interesting because it has the only real sandhills in the world. This region has 1,200 natural lakes. There are two national forest reserves known as Halsey and the Niobrara. There is a federal bird refuge in Garden county.

The Niobrara river is the largest in the sandhill region. Part of the Loup and Elkhorn are in this region also.

The eyes of the state are higher than the surface instead of lower. They are the high plains region, scattered all over the north and west parts of the state. The largest amount, however, is in the "panhandle".

This is the wheat region of Nebraska. The Box Butte table is chiefly a grazing country.

Lake Minatrea is located in the high plains region. The famous bad lands of Nebraska are in this region also.

Important to Nebraskans.

March 30—Governor Poynter this day in 1899 signed the bill locating the state fair at Lincoln.

March 31—The sun rises at 6:10 a. m., and sets at 6:25 p. m. April 1—Nebraska state parks open officially on this day.

April 2—Palm Sunday. Mexican patriotic holiday. Robert Stuart's company of returning Astorians in 1813 explored the north side of the Platte through Nebraska.

April 3—Start of Holy week. This day in 1924 the first flow of oil from Teapot Dome, Wyo., reached Kearney by pipe line.

April 4—This day in 1861 Dr. Fred Renner began publication of the first German newspaper in Nebraska. John Dillon, Irish patriot and leader, visited Lincoln this day in 1890. This day in 1895 the legislature adopted the goldenrod as the floral emblem of the state.

April 5—Nebraska is 207.5 miles wide and 462 miles long. The area of Nebraska is 77,520 square miles, greater than the combined areas of the New England states.

Wayne Folks Visit Famous Gardens at Mobile During Trip

Twenty miles below Mobile, Ala., in what is known as the deep south, are located the Bellingrath Gardens. This place, a dream of beauty beyond the keenest imagination is in March at the height of the blooming season of Camellia Japonica, Agaveas, Magnolia and sweet olive. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Miller visited this beauty spot on their recent trip to southern states.

These world famous gardens were started in 1918 by Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Bellingrath as a fishing camp and a retreat from business life. During the last 10 years plantings of azaleas, camellias, and other shrubs and trees added to the charm of the place until the fame of its gorgeous beauty spread and people began to flock there from all over the world.

From the entrance an inviting trail leads one along between rows of azaleas, thousands of them in all shades of palest pink, salmon, rose and red. Giant live oak trees draped with gray moss which hangs down like beards of old men, cast deep shadows over the trails. Along the large shaded branches of the trees grow tiny ferns. Over historic flag stones one may wander for hours through a fairyland of beauty. Part of the garden is formal with prim box wood hedges and placid pools, with formal plantings of shrubs and flowers, but most of it is individualistic with winding paths and superb groupings.

Down a natural incline between rock gardens of ferns and training vines, Mirror lake comes to view, bordered by flaming azaleas to the very water's edge so that one can scarcely tell where plants stop and reflection begins. Two graceful swans were floating on the lake near the rustic foot bridge when the Millers were there. Hundreds of varieties of camellias are growing in the different groupings. The camellia is a lovely rose-like flower which grows on shrubs 10 or more feet high. The leaves are stiff and glossy and though the flowers are not fragrant one thrills at the sight of their waxen beauty nestled among the shining leaves.

Other flowering shrubs, gardenias, oleanders, wisteria, laurel, bloom in season. Many evergreens, tropical trees, palms and ferns are included in the plantings. All of the 50 or so acres are beautifully kept with hardly a stray leaf or twig out of place. Workers were busy there and there cultivating, replanting. Negro boys and girls with tin pails were seen in many places picking the wilted petals and leaves from the shrubs and the fallen blossoms from the ground.

Famous people from all over the world have visited the Bellingrath Gardens and have written of their beauty, and have compared them favorably with other beautiful gardens in America, France, Italy, Kashmir and Japan. The mocking birds, red birds and others of the feathered tribe, were singing when the Wayne folks wandered in this bewildering array of beauty; the sun was shining, the air still and sweet. The memory is of a rare adventure.

Teacher Is Elected. Miss Ethel Tibbles, who taught district 68 this year, has been elected to district 11 for next year.

Rabbits Decorate Bulletin of March

Rules for Correct Use of Flag Are Presented for District 28, North.

Two rabbits carrying a basket of Easter eggs adorn the front of the four-page school paper issued March 23 by district 28, North, pupils and teacher, Miss Norma Frese. Beneath the drawing is a poem on "March," written by Duane Brummond and Donavon Heithold.

Verdelle Mae Niemann furnished the upper grade news, Betty Joyce Davis the lower grade items, Ardyth Heithold the social news and Donavon Heithold the jokes for the issue. Ardyth and Vivian Heithold have had perfect attendance the past month.

A study of Holland was completed in 3rd grade when the pupils learned a poem about Dutch children. They are now studying Japan.

A study of the World war is being taken up in 7th grade. Verdelle Mae Niemann brought to school an interesting letter which had been written by her uncle, Edward Roggenbach, and was published in the Wayne Herald at the time of the war. In the letter Mr. Roggenbach discussed the 5th attack which was made against Paris. Many World War pictures were viewed and discussed.

A farewell party was held February 24 in honor of Herbert Niemann and Ruby Fischer who moved from the district. Games were played and each was presented a gift from the teacher and pupils.

Lower grades have had lessons in table manners in hygiene period. Duane Brummond's birthday was Monday last week and he served angel food cake after-pupils played games in his honor.

Pupils are making a list of all kinds of birds seen this spring. The school bulletin has on its back some information all should know about how to display the flag. These are the following:

"The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be hoisted briskly, but should be lowered slowly and ceremoniously. The flag should be displayed on all national and state holidays and on historic and special occasions. However, being the emblem of our country, it ought to be out every day throughout the year, weather permitting. When the flag is in such a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the national colors, but should be destroyed as a whole privately, preferably by burning. When the flag is used to cover a casket, the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground. The casket should be carried foot first. When used on a speaker's platform the flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker."

Elected at Apex. Miss Virgine Mistfeldt has been elected to teach district 21, Apex school, for next year.

DID YOU KNOW?

The precipitation of Nebraska is almost wholly rain; the snowfall averages annually about 20 inches.

In western Polk county and eastern Hamilton county a strip of land some 10 miles wide is known as the hail district. For many years in succession the crops in this area were destroyed by hail.

Many Polish people wear some form of ornament or gem to protect themselves against evil.

From 1860 to 1930 farms in Nebraska increased in acreage and valuation. In 1860 the farm of 226.3 average acres was valued at $1,869. In 1930 the farm of 345.7 average acres was worth $22,687.

More than a third of Nebraska's population now lives in cities of more than 2,500 inhabitants. The right hand of a right-handed person is stronger than the left because it is used more. The left hand is stronger for a left-handed person.

The international day line is an imaginary one cutting the Pacific ocean in two and dividing one day from another as far as the calendar is concerned.

Problems Found in Canada Much Like Those the United States Faces

Canada has its unemployment problem too, according to A. J. Beale of Dawson Creek, British Columbia, Canada, who has been here visiting relatives a few weeks, and the government is meeting the situation through projects and direct relief. A recently published report shows a grand total of relief costs for the past year in the province of British Columbia to be $8,084,172.

The dominion pays part of the cost and the province stands the rest. Of the total mentioned the province provided $5,172,755, which included $3,700,240 for direct relief, $1,454,020 for works and projects, and $18,495 for loans to municipalities. The cost to the dominion was $1,900,000 for relief and $1,411,417 for works and projects.

The previous year the total cost of unemployment was $10,200,000, of which $7,600,000 was direct relief. This shows some reduction the past year.

Police Check Relief. Though Canada does not have WPA, the plan is quite similar, according to Mr. Beale. Persons without work are reported to police officers who investigate their circumstances. If they are deserving they are provided work in summer or direct relief in winter. Workers on projects are paid 40c an hour and half of the amount is held back so they will have funds through the winter. Those unable to work and those who become jobless in winter months, when projects are suspended, are given direct relief. The dominion and province share the costs. Funds for relief costs are raised by taxes and these are mainly on property and incomes. Alberta has a sales tax.

Conditions Only Fair.

Business conditions in Canada have been only fair the past year, Mr. Beale notes. Grain crops brought small returns. The government does not control farm production or marketing in any way in Canada, Mr. Beale explains. Farmers raise as much as they wish of any product.

One Canadian paper brought by Mr. Beale explains new trade relations effective between the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. The removal of a 6c bushel duty on wheat shipped to the United Kingdom puts Canadian and United States wheat on equal footing with respect to duty rates. The greatest reduction was made in the United States duty on heavy cattle, and the tariff quota on cattle was enlarged. In all 202 items in the United States tariffs were affected, covering 83 per cent of Canadian exports to this country. Duty was reduced on 238 items of the Canadian tariff list. The aim is to increase trade between the countries.

Encouragement Settlement. Another project being promoted for building up the province of British Columbia is the encouragement of new settlers. As mentioned in the Canadian paper, the province hopes to bring in 10,000 new families. The plan, as outlined, is for a company to provide land, livestock, tools, etc., at a cost of about $5,000 for each family. Two years after the family is located, payments start and the total will be repaid in 23 years. It is estimated that the move, costing 50 million, will bring 35 million dollars into the province through building material, implements, livestock and labor. If successful, the plan will be extended to all parts of the empire.

Considerable discussion is heard of war threats abroad. No changes have been noted in Canada on account of the unrest, but the general opinion is that the country should be prepared in case of emergency.

Peace River Block Fertile.

Dawson Creek, Mr. Beale's home, is in Peace River block, a fertile farming area of 100 square miles on the east slope of the Rockies, about 2,200 miles northwest of here. Dawson Creek is a town of about 500. Farms vary from 100 to 300 acres. The growing season is shorter than in this region so the main crops are small grain. Wheat grows especially well in the valley. Mr. Beale has pictures of this grain growing to a height of more than four feet. The yield is from 40 to 65 bushels, though the past two years have been dry and have cut the amount somewhat. Barley runs 60 to 80 bushels to the acre, and oats average 80 to 115 bushels and weigh 40 pounds to the bushel. Vegetables also do well in the Canadian valley. Some sweet corn is raised but farmers do not attempt to raise field corn for winter. The weather is not warm enough.

Binders are used in harvest, the ground being too damp for combines.

Winter comes early in that northern region and snows are usually deep, though this winter there was none before Christmas. In mid-winter the thermometer often drops to 70 below for a short time but the cold is not noticed. People expect to be winter-bound part of the season. Snow stays on some mountain peaks throughout the summer.

New Opening Region.

Dawson Creek is at the end of the railroad 500 miles northwest of Edmonton and about 400 miles across the Rockies northeast of Vancouver. The town has train service twice a week out of Edmonton. The highway is improved out of Edmonton about 50 miles but beyond there is a dirt road that is good and bad at intervals, depending on the weather. No road is now open over the mountains to the west but one 130 miles through the mountains is now under construction. Workers have been pushing through the dense mountain forests and over the continental divide, at an altitude of about 3,500 feet there, to begin the new highway which will enable tourists to travel between Vancouver and Edmonton over a highway that will lead to Dawson Creek. Passenger and mail service by plane are provided once a week to Dawson Creek from Edmonton and Vancouver.

Hunting and trapping provide profitable business and interesting sport for many people in the Canadian region. Caribou, deer, moose, mountain goats and sheep, grisly and black bears, fox and martens are some of the wild animals inhabiting the wooded slopes of the Rockies. Lakes and rivers in the mountains have a natural, large stock of fish, especially trout.

Hunt in Parties.

Companies have hunting trips for visitors, providing everything excepting clothing, gun and ammunition. Usually 10 to 15 horses are taken on such a trip. Some are packed and others carry the hunters. A packed horse will carry 150 to 200 pounds, this being tents, supplies, etc. Usually the horses are started out ahead of the visiting hunters who are taken in cars to the end of traveled roads and then join the horse caravan. Each camp has several tents. A cook stays on duty to provide meals, and a ranger watches the horses. A single day trip for one man is provided for $28. The cost is $45 a day for two men and $40 for three. The license of $25 entitles the hunter to one each of the larger animals, moose, deer, caribou and bear. It also provides fishing privilege. The hunter pays additional fees to the Canadian government for trophies taken across the border. A party travels 15 to 20 miles a day, and usually the group makes 75 to 100 miles in the time out. Some of the animals, especially goat and deer, are hard to get. Often a couple of the hunters will leave the party and carry a small tent and few supplies on their backs to get some of these.

Many Do Trapping.

Hudson Bay trading posts are located far out in the mountain region. To these trappers bring furs and trade them for provisions. In winter they come on sleds using huskies to pull these. Trapping regulations are followed carefully in the far north. The government owns the land but sells trapping rights. These are privileges to trap on certain areas which are designated by rangers or hills. Trails specifying trapping lines are usually paths or marks on trees. The game warden keeps a map of lines and sees that trappers observe the rights of others. Trapping regions vary from 50 to 75 miles in length, and, as the advantages vary, their cost also ranges from $50 to $300. This trapping fee is paid to the government. If a person wishes to sell his trapping privileges he may do so, placing the valuation at what he estimates its worth, just as for other property.

and other relatives a few weeks and plans to leave in a few days for California to spend some time before returning to Canada.

Negatives Wanted.

Teachers who have negatives of pictures of their school group are invited to send these to F. B. Decker or the Wayne Herald so that they may be used on the school page. Names of children as they appear in the photograph should be included.

Number of Tests Less Next Year

The law passed by the state legislature last week, reducing from 14 to 9 the number of examinations to be taken by rural pupils before finishing the 8th grade, will not go into effect until next year. The new schedule eliminates drawing and penmanship. It combines bookkeeping and mental arithmetic with arithmetic, and also combines grammar with English composition.

Ground Is Broken For New Building

Ground has been broken for the new school to be built south of the present one in Hoskins. The structure will be a two-story one, 62 by 70 feet.

Has List of Teachers.

County Supt. F. B. Decker has the names of about 25 who are looking for teaching positions for next year. Most of them are new teachers.

News Invited.

Schools wishing to have their news published in this department are cordially invited to send items. These should reach County Supt. F. B. Decker or the Wayne Herald by Saturday to appear the following Thursday.

County Rural School Notes:

District 7.

(Della Giese, teacher) Donald Longe, 3rd grader, is a new pupil, coming from Dixon county.

The 7th and 8th graders are doing extra work in getting ready for examinations. Many have been absent because of measles.

District 25.

(Viva Frederickson, teacher) Two new pupils in the school are Helen Marie Loebe, 1st grader, and Reaume Loebe, 2nd grader, who came from Cuming county. The school now has four boys and four girls, a boy and a girl from each family represented.

New library books received include "More About the Four Little Kittens," "Four Little Bunnies," "A Merry Scout and Other Stories," "Four Little Puppies," "Snow White and Rose Red," "Seeing America," "The Presidents," "Nebraska Memorial Capitol," "Civilized Cricket," "The Grizzly King," and "The Water Babies."

District 28, South.

(Helen Iversen, teacher) Frederick Mann, 8th grader, Virgil Leimer and Mary Alice Wylie, 1st graders, had highest averages respectively in the third quarterly examinations.

The 3rd and 4th graders made Dutch peep boxes when they studied life in Holland.

During art and construction period last Friday the entire group made finger paintings. All enjoyed this new type of work.

Marian Niemann, 3rd grader, has been absent only one day. None of the 12 pupils have perfect attendance records, absences being due to illness and bad weather.

District 33.

(Helen Witt, teacher) Marilyn and Norma Jeanne Test have received diplomas of honor for three years' perfect attendance.

In connection with a study of Dutch people, 3rd and 4th graders have made free-hand posters illustrating the Netherlands. They also made crepe paper tulips and have written stories and designed covers for Holland booklets.

The 1st and 2nd graders made pet booklets in English. Each wrote original stories of the pets he has at home and colored pictures of the pets. Pupils enjoyed reading their stories to other pupils.

Will Take Tests In Towns Soon

Wayne county 7th and 8th graders may take examinations April 13 and 14 at any town school in the county or at Wakefield. The schedule for these is as follows: Thursday morning, arithmetic, mental arithmetic, bookkeeping; Thursday afternoon, history, civics, physiology; Friday morning, grammar, English composition, spelling, reading, writing; Friday afternoon, general geography, agriculture and geography of Nebraska, drawing, mental arithmetic. Only reading, agriculture and geography of Nebraska, drawing and mental arithmetic may be taken by 7th graders.

Lists of Premiums Sent to Teachers

Rules regarding county fair exhibits for schools and the list of premiums were sent by County F. B. Decker this week to each of the schools. Extra copies are available at his office. With these Mr. Decker also sent pamphlets, "A Thousand and One Facts About New York City."

Three Teachers Resign.

Funeral Service Held at Church

George J. 'Joe' Davis Passes Away in City Hospital Wednesday Night.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon from the Methodist church for George J. Davis, 75, who died in a Sioux City hospital last Wednesday night. Rev. Gerald Rosenberger of Winside, and Rev. Albert C. J. Kellow of South Sioux City, were in charge. Burial was in the Winside cemetery.

George J. Davis was born November 18, 1863, in England and came to the United States when he was 17 years old. He first settled in Oregon. In 1909 he settled on a farm one-half mile north of Winside, and lived there over 20 years.

Mr. Davis had made his home with his niece, Mrs. Robert Asher, in South Sioux City for the past two years. After a lingering illness he entered a Sioux City hospital February 28.

Deceased was a member of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Cadwallader of South Sioux City, Mrs. Nellie Hopkins, Mrs. Alice Davies and Mrs. Elizabeth James, all of England, and two brothers, Ben and Frank of England. He also leaves a number of nieces and nephews. Percy Cadwallader of Winside, is a nephew.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. H. M. Hilpert performing the double ring ceremony. After a wedding trip to Denver, the couple will live on the Frank Dangberg farm near Winside.

Mrs. Martin Willers of Stanton, played the wedding March. Miss Elsie and Miss Anna Dangberg attended their sister as bridesmaids. They wore pink all-over lace floor length dresses. Miss Norma Frese, as maid-of-honor, wore a blue all-over lace, floor length dress. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white baby-breath.

The bride's dress was of white satin with a train. Her veil was finger-length and she carried white lilies and baby-breath.

Flower girls were daughters of Ray Anderson and Herman Willers. They were both dressed in white and carried baskets of rose petals.

The bridegroom wore an Oxford grey suit and his attendant, Werner Janke, wore a blue-grey suit.

Miss Talitha Janke and Miss Lore Weible sang after the service. A reception with 125 invited guests was held after the ceremony. Pink, blue and white were used. Funeral Service Held at Church

George J. 'Joe' Davis Passes Away in City Hospital Wednesday Night.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon from the Methodist church for George J. Davis, 75, who died in a Sioux City hospital last Wednesday night. Rev. Gerald Rosenberger of Winside, and Rev. Albert C. J. Kellow of South Sioux City, were in charge. Burial was in the Winside cemetery.

George J. Davis was born November 18, 1863, in England and came to the United States when he was 17 years old. He first settled in Oregon. In 1909 he settled on a farm one-half mile north of Winside, and lived there over 20 years.

Mr. Davis had made his home with his niece, Mrs. Robert Asher, in South Sioux City for the past two years. After a lingering illness he entered a Sioux City hospital February 28.

Deceased was a member of the I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Cadwallader of South Sioux City, Mrs. Nellie Hopkins, Mrs. Alice Davies and Mrs. Elizabeth James, all of England, and two brothers, Ben and Frank of England. He also leaves a number of nieces and nephews. Percy Cadwallader of Winside, is a nephew.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. H. M. Hilpert performing the double ring ceremony. After a wedding trip to Denver, the couple will live on the Frank Dangberg farm near Winside.

Mrs. Martin Willers of Stanton, played the wedding March. Miss Elsie and Miss Anna Dangberg attended their sister as bridesmaids. They wore pink all-over lace floor length dresses. Miss Norma Frese, as maid-of-honor, wore a blue all-over lace, floor length dress. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white baby-breath.

The bride's dress was of white satin with a train. Her veil was finger-length and she carried white lilies and baby-breath.

Flower girls were daughters of Ray Anderson and Herman Willers. They were both dressed in white and carried baskets of rose petals.

The bridegroom wore an Oxford grey suit and his attendant, Werner Janke, wore a blue-grey suit.

Miss Talitha Janke and Miss Lore Weible sang after the service. A reception with 125 invited guests was held after the ceremony. Pink, blue and white were used. The ladies in charge of the kitchen were Mrs. Fred Erickson, Mrs. Wm. Misfeldt, Mrs. Rudy Thompson and Miss Edna Swanson. Waitresses were Miss Talitha Janke, Miss Esther Frese, Miss Virginia Misfeldt and Miss Lore Weible. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Weible, Herman Jaeger, Gotthilf Jaeger and Albert Jaeger sang several numbers.

Mrs. Willers was graduated from the Winside high school in 1936 and has been teaching in rural schools for two years. She will finish the term in district 31. The couple will live on the Frank Dangberg farm. The Dangbergs will live in the John Roll home in town.

Miss Freda Dangberg, who was here from Denver for the wedding, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Willers to Denver.
