

In Schoolhouse Improv. Increases Cost to Taxpayers — Plan to Advance Omaha and Nebraska — Sioux City Journal's Notable Edition — To Awaken Patriotic Devotion — Dry Spell Broken — Wayne County Fair.

The effort to block public improvements—needed and popularly approved—unavoidably increases the cost to taxpayers whom obstructionists essay to relieve. That was true in building the municipal auditorium. Delay due to court proceedings is proving more costly in trying to carry forward the plan to remodel and enlarge the city school building. The injunction suit just decided by the supreme court, upholding the legality of Wayne's bond election, still leaves forty days in which to ask for a rehearing.

Contractors usually have their work mapped out for the season, and they are not so eager as earlier in the year to undertake new jobs. So, prices go up. Expense of litigation imposed on the district is also considerable. Getting the work started in time for school in the fall is also a problem. Thus, after the improvement is finally made, taxpayers have to foot increased costs that could have been avoided.

In the decision the supreme court suggested existence of reasonable differences of opinion over the wisdom of the federal government in distributing public funds to assist building programs, but added that its policy was lawful and plainly for the public good. No solid ground for the injunction was found.

Many who disagree with the federal government's spending policy, still think a community which will have to share in the tax load anyway, should share in the benefits. In making an improvement that is necessary to look out for the welfare of the district's school children, Wayne is accepting a trifling fraction of federal funds made available generally to assist different communities. If public buildings were done without federal help, a community would not only contribute to the federal tax burden, but would also inevitably increase its bond load.

Closing school earlier than usual, to permit an early start on construction and thus avoid serious interference with the opening of school next fall may prove of no avail if further delay is to be encountered. Obstructing needed public improvements is no way to build a live, progressive community.

Contest in Ideas. The Omaha World-Herald has launched a contest in which $4,000 will be awarded for best ideas or plans for the development of Omaha and Nebraska. The purpose is to awaken interest in the state's progress along sound lines. Any one with an idea of what would be a good plan is invited to contribute. Out of the big collection of opinions, some practical values are likely to be discovered.

Nebraskans may well look to California for inspiration. Californians have many ideas—mostly imported—and they use them every day for development. Nebraskans have just as keen minds as can be found in California or elsewhere, and they should train them on the good things that may be turned to the state's advantage. Reasons to beban fat and embroidery with black are not usually so great as in some states that seem more favored because they make more noise. The World-Herald's plan is to arouse people to think of their blessings and to propose additional ones.

Diamond Jubilee. The Sioux City Journal issued an excellent 120-page Diamond Jubilee edition Sunday. That newspaper is 75 years old, and its spirit grows stronger and its service better with age. The anniversary number reviews events associated with the development of the Journal and of Sioux City. Pictures show the first train, the family phaeton, horses and buggies. It contains high lights in the evolution of a newspaper and a city from the beginning. Valuable early-day information, especially makes the edition one that should be preserved.

Moisture Arrives. Long-deferred moisture was spread over the landscape hereabouts Saturday night, and though somewhat thin, it did much good. The rainfall was heavier in some spots than in others. The experience dispelled the fear that Aquarius had abandoned this area entirely. Usually when nervous anxiety pitches dangerously high in Wayne county, clouds gather and depart themselves in a way to relieve people's aches and minds.

Coming Independence Day. Ascendancy of autocratic rule abroad makes reemphasis of the privileges of American independence increasingly important, and July Fourth when the colonies spoke out against tyranny, is a good time to revive one's patriotic

Bond Election Is Held Valid

No Question of Legality Is Ruling Made Friday By High Tribunal.

Wayne's election voting bonds for remodeling and enlarging the city school was held valid Friday by ruling of the Nebraska supreme court.

While there might be a "reasonable difference of opinion as to the wisdom of the policy of federal government to assist public bodies in their building programs," the court held that "there can be no question of its legality."

C. H. Hendrickson attacked the validity of the $48,000 bond election last fall, which was approved by 56.3 percent of the ballots cast.

Wayne county district court upheld the validity of the election and Hendrickson appealed to the supreme court. Judge E. G. Kröger of Grand Island, sitting with the supreme court, wrote the following opinion:

"The policy of the federal government to assist public bodies in their building programs has as its object the public good and the welfare of an equal basis. Its purpose is lawful. While there might be a reasonable difference of opinion as to the wisdom of such a policy, there can be no question of its legality, and the courts are only concerned with the latter."

By no stretch of the imagination can it be said that such (Continued on Page Two.)

MOVE TO LENGTHEN TRUCKS SUGGESTS INCREASED DANGER

AT THEIR noonday luncheon Monday, Kiwanians were advised of a bill in the legislature authorizing construction and use of longer trucks, and were asked to write representatives urging opposition if the movement were deemed leading in the direction of greater highway dangers.

The opinion seems to be that trucks are now long enough—sometimes too long—and that shortening rather than lengthening them would be the advisable order. Some one suggested separate highways for trucks, and that plan would doubtless prevent many highway accidents.

White bricklayers will be brought in from the nearest available sources, all of the bricktenders, laborers, helpers and the mortar mixer will be employed from the ranks of Wayne residents.

The building is being financed partly through the aid of a grant of $44,377 from the Public Works Administration, $25,000 of which already has been deposited by the government in the construction account of the State Normal board, in charge of the project.

The payrolls on the job have been increasing weekly since the project started. Brick work alone on this project, not including the partition walls, will take five carloads of face brick, eight to nine cars of common brick, two and one-half carloads of cement and 240 tons of sand.

Despite minor delays at the outset, the work is going along on schedule, Engineer Farrell has reported to Regional PWA Director Radford.

Ask Farmers To Apply for Work on Soil

Camp Youths Here Soon to Do Conservation for Land of County.

Applications for soil conservation on farms in this vicinity may now be made with M. J. Hankins, conservationist, at 420 west 7th street, Wayne, or with County Agent Chester Walters. Mr. Hankins wishes to sign up a few farms at once so that work will be ready for young men of the C. C. camp when they arrive in about two weeks.

A 10-point program of complete soil conservation is featured by the C. C. officials. This, Mr. Hankins explains, includes contour farming, terracing, strip cropping, crop rotation, raising land from cultivation, gulley control, construction of farm ponds and reservoirs, tree planting and forestry work.

The services are available to farmers free of charge, and anyone may make application for conservation work. The farmer furnishes any material which might be needed, though this is a small item, Mr. Hankins explains.

Besides Mr. Hankins, M. L. Hazelrigg, soils man, and Glenn L. Ellithorpe, engineer, plan to move here at once to prepare for the camp operations. About 12 families will come to Wayne county besides 175 to 200 men in the camp.

The camp will be located on the C. E. Benshoof 10-acre tract at the northwest edge of Winside. The young men now in the Beatrice camp will be brought here with (Continued on Page Two.)

Brick Masonry Is Under Way

Construction of Connell Hall Addition at College Makes Progress.

Brick masonry work was under way Wednesday on the $300,000 addition to Connell Hall at Wayne State Teachers college, according to Dan Farrell, engineer in-pector on the project.

Lester Anderson of Omaha, who has been a foreman for John L. Soderberg, the contractor, for many years, is in charge of this phase of the construction. Work has started with a small force of masons but within a week the contractor expects to have eight or 10 bricklayers at work.

White bricklayers will be brought in from the nearest available sources, all of the bricktenders, laborers, helpers and the mortar mixer will be employed from the ranks of Wayne residents.

The building is being financed partly through the aid of a grant of $44,377 from the Public Works Administration, $25,000 of which already has been deposited by the government in the construction account of the State Normal board, in charge of the project.

The payrolls on the job have been increasing weekly since the project started. Brick work alone on this project, not including the partition walls, will take five carloads of face brick, eight to nine cars of common brick, two and one-half carloads of cement and 240 tons of sand.

Despite minor delays at the outset, the work is going along on schedule, Engineer Farrell has reported to Regional PWA Director Radford.

MASS EFFORTS TO EXTEND HERALD TO MORE REMOTE AREA

ENCOURAGING interest has developed in the Herald's subscription-building campaign which started last week. If the ambition of the Herald to gain a largely increased circle of new readers is realized, we will be satisfied despite the large cost. The plan of this campaign contrasts sharply with the old-fashioned contest in which participants worked feverishly for only the final awards. The one winning no prize received nothing. In this campaign every one taking part is paid adequately for his or her efforts anyway and immediately, and winners of final cash prizes just receive extra compensation with of course commissions deducted. Thus, there can be no losers, no one to feel sorry for, the greater the effort, the greater the rewards. It is this fair distribution of pay according to results that made this plan appealing with favor to us as a quick—though necessarily expensive—way to win what we believe to be a deservedly enlarged list. We appreciate the readiness and enthusiasm of candidates in behalf of extending the Herald's circulation, and we feel gratified by the popular response to their endeavors. The Herald will do its utmost to prove deserving.

Jury Is Called On Four Cases In Court Here

Damage Actions and Appeal From County Court Are Principal Ones.

Two damage actions, an appeal from county court, and suit on a note are set for hearing the week of May 22 when district court jury is called by Judge A. E. Wenke of Stanton. The other damage case is that filed by Frank Schutte against Norfolk Packing Co., et al., this being an outgrowth of a collision south of Wakefield last fall.

The case of Carl Victor, jr., vs. Curtis Benshoof will be tried before the jury. This involved trade of a garage for farm equipment. County court found for the defendant and held that the trade was a fair deal. Victor appealed.

Another case set for hearing is that of Mrs. Eliza Puls vs. Carl Strate, et al., a suit on a note. The case in which C. H. Hendrickson seeks to prevent the city's sale of a lot to D. S. Wightman has been set for hearing before the judge following the jury cases. The case of Earl and Glenn Wade vs. Fred Barjels, also that of Home Owners Loan Corporation vs. J. R. Miller will be heard then.

While here last Thursday, Judge Wenke entered several rulings. He approved the sale of real estate in the case of Elma Foster vs. (Continued on Page Two.)

Fatal Accident Occurs on Bridge Approach Near Emerson Monday.

William T. Sherlock, 17, senior at Sacred Heart school in Emerson, was instantly killed Monday evening about 8:30 in a head-on collision between the car he was driving and a truck belonging to the Wayne Ice & Cold Storage Co. at the east approach of a bridge a mile and fourth northwest of Emerson. Marjorie Heaney, 21, John Bresnan and Paul Pryor, all of Emerson, were with Sherlock. Miss Heaney suffered cuts and bruises. Bresnan was bruised and has a possible neck injury. Pryor may have internal injuries, and he was also cut and bruised. Clayton Powers, who was driving the Wayne truck, and Hugo Schroeder, who accompanied him, were shaken up and bruised. Powers had ribs broken.

Sherlock's neck was broken, also both legs and one of his arms, and his body was crushed. He was lifeless when taken to an Emerson doctor by Leighton Maurice, a passing motorist. The others also received care at Emerson.

The Emerson young folks were in a 1937 cabriolet. Sherlock was driving west on a county road a mile north and a fourth west of Emerson. The truck was coming from the west and was practically over a bridge when the collision occurred. The impact tore the side off the car and carried the cabriolet across the bridge and into the ditch at the west side of the structure. The truck turned over onto its side at the east side of the bridge. Both machines were damaged.

The young folks were enroute to a community dance given by Emerson Lions club on charter night. Corporal C. J. Sanders of Norfolk, and Marshal E. S. Gallagher of Emerson, investigated the accident.

William T. Sherlock was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sherlock who live near Emerson. Funeral rites for the youth will be this morning at Sacred Heart church in Emerson.

White is Right!

... just as these little fellas have already learned. Direct from the nation's leading fashion capitals comes word that this year "White Is Right." Never in history has the demand been so in favor of white as a footwear color — for morning, for afternoon, or for night.

In Miami in March, women were buying shoes to wear north for Spring. It seems that they did not quite favor the idea of as vivid colors for footwear as for wearing apparel, so white was proclaimed the season's footwear favorite.

The merchants whose advertisements appear on this page have purchased for you an array of refreshingly cool and modern summer styles for all occasions. Remember, it's the great white way for May, so get the "white" idea and you'll be right.

Winning Editorial

THE Pulitzer prize-winning editorial which was written by R. G. Callvert of the Portland Oregonian and appeared in that newspaper October 2, 1938, dealt with privileges guaranteed American citizenship. The writer emphasizes the things inhabitants of this country do not have to suffer — the restraints of forced military training, discrimination in matters of race or religion, goose-stepping before the mailed fist of dictatorship. "In this land of ours, this America," the writer said, "there is not a bomb-proof shelter, and a gas mask is a curiosity. It is not needed that we teach our children where to run when death hawks darken the sky."

In this country no armed force engenders fear. Peace is felt and manifested, and no nation desiring friendly relations has cause to be afraid. The editorial concludes with this paragraph:

"In this land of ours, this America, we have illuminated the true road to permanent peace. But that is not the sole moral sought herein to be drawn. Rather it is that the blessings of liberty and equality and peace that have been herein recounted are possessed nowhere in the same measure in Europe or Asia and wane or disappear as one nears or enters a land of dictatorship which is dead. This liberty, this equality, this peace, are imbedded in the American form of government. We shall ever retain them if foreignisms that would dig them out and destroy them are barred from our shores. If you cherish this liberty, this equality, this peace that is peace material and peace spirit — when death hawks all your might the American ideal of government."

The duke of Windsor's speech proved so eminently conciliatory that English authorities who in advance regarded it as evidence of poor taste, should feel convinced of blundering uneasiness. Apparently the duke who knows war, wished to contribute his force to the cause of peace.

Repeat of the wage and hour law which conceivably benefits no group — not even the labor unions it was expected to favor — is urged with increasing force. The law has proved a barrier to business and industrial development as wise economists anticipated. It chills initiative, restrains expansion and obstructs free enterprise. It works exactly contrary to the new deal theory, but wholly true to the practical judgment of new deal critics. Congress would perform valuable public service for the country by hastily repealing the law in its entirety, offering no substitute and feeling no sense of uncertainty. In fact, failure of the wage and hour law to function constructively should prompt congress to note and junk some other faulty new deal enactments.

Mark Sullivan says a large majority of the democrats in congress are at variance with President Roosevelt's ideas, but are trying not to antagonize him, so he will not sulk in the 1940 campaign or start a new party. Sullivan thinks the democratic presidential nominee will be a man who has not been pronounced either for or against the new deal.

We have looked in vain for advertisements offering umbrellas for sale. While umbrellas may be out of fashion, they are not forgotten as means of shedding water and preserving the shape of headgear and the symmetry of starched collars. We look wistfully for return of the umbrella which served through many years in keeping one dry and free from colds, coughs and rheumatism.

We understand the friendly black dog that observed the law by looking to this department for the annual tax, is dead, the result of poison stealthily placed by some one who evidently doesn't like dogs. The children to whom this dog belonged, loved him even though they couldn't pay the tax, and they grieved bitterly when they found him in the throes of death and beyond help. This is sometimes a hard world even for good dogs.

The death of Carl R. Gray, 71, draws attention to a distinguished railroad career. At 70 Mr. Gray retired from presidency of the Union Pacific. Fifty-six years ago he began work for a railroad without pay. Though son of a college professor, he did not go to college. He served as head of several railroad systems. Starting at bottom and working to the top, he well exemplified the American advantage of scoring success without the aid of a silver spoon.

Announcement is made that Cuming county plans to invest $24,000 in regreveling its county roads. That county has long enjoyed the advantages of hard-surfaced side roads, thus affording all-year security to farm-to-market travel. Proximity to gravel pits cheapens the work in Cuming county, but nevertheless it would seem Wayne county could make a start in that direction and keep on making headway from time to time in harmony with sound economy.

We are all disposed more or less to hyperbole — the habit of enlarging and decorating a story to suit a purpose or to hold attention. Persons who thus engage in rather harmless exaggeration intend no injury, but want to be impressive, and what a yarn lacks in quality to make one so is supplied by drawing on powers of imagination. Overdone, hyperbole trespasses closely on the heels of the dangerous lie. In moderation and void of evil intentions or of hurtful barbs, hyperbole is often relished.

MOTHER'S DAY

Recurrence of Mother's day which comes next Sunday, finds the world in a state of unrest and uncertainty. Threats of war have undoubtedly keyed up the anxiety of every living mother who hopes and prays for the preservation of peace and the preservation of her family. In totalitarian countries where the mother is forced to sacrifice her sons to the state, we will guarantee that within her secret consciousness she burns with eagerness for freedom from the war menace. Mothers everywhere want peace. The tender solicitude they have felt and exerted in rearing sons cannot be abruptly set aside without sharp pangs of horror. Mothers in free America have more influence in promoting peace and in shaping other public policies. Here only imminent danger to our shores would lead American mothers willingly to send their sons into the perils of armed conflict. No love anywhere is deeper or more enduring than mother love. Mother is always ready with words of sympathy and comfort and courage. Departed mothers — always remembered with sincerest affection — make richest contribution to the joy expected in eternity. Mother's day only emphasizes an ever-abiding love.

feelings. What special plan Wayne will have for the Fourth — if we do not know, but it might be well to do something to reassess the fact that we are still free and intend to stay free.

And Wayne knows how to put on a grand celebration if it is so disposed. The best Fourth of July parade we have ever seen marched down Main street many years ago.

Early Action Important.

Success of the Wayne county fair next fall could be more nearly assured if the management would make its plans known months in advance. Preparing exhibits during the summer is quite as enjoyable as the big show in the fall.

MUSIC WEEK

Nothing like music to pull a fellow out of the dumps. Nothing like music to soothe savage instincts and lift one above his accustomed stratum of thinking. Nothing like music to banish discord and put people in rapport. It fans sparks of bravery if one has any to fan. Music of one kind or another is as old as history. Yipping with tom-tom accompaniment by primitive tribes simulated music and was used effectively in coordinating savage ideas — usually in summing up excuses to fight. The ancient Greeks attached much importance to the art of music. Ages of devotion to the art have developed the marvelously fine qualities in evidence today. This being music week, many special musical programs are appropriately presented. Music is refining and stimulating, and the gift to render or thoroughly to appreciate music is most valuable.

$1500 in Cash To Be Awarded

The Wayne-Herald's big $4,500 Trade Expansion Campaign announced in last week's and today's issues is open to everyone in Wayne Herald's trade territory.

The plan proposes to gather subscription payments from present and new subscribers, and at the same time to afford readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time during the next several weeks. It is indeed a plan worth looking into if you want to turn your spare time into many dollars.

This plan is not the old "contest" type, but purely a business proposition, where everyone who enters can earn a daily salary of 20 percent on every dollar turned in to the campaign department, plus votes on the big cash prizes. The vote schedule protects you as it is a decreasing vote schedule; you receive more votes at the start than you do at the finish.

This newspaper bears the expense. There is not one cent for you to spend. Your time is your own; you can win by simply devoting a part of your spare time. It will be easy you will find to be the recipient of gift.

Now, at the outset, there are some things to make clear. Because there have been "subscription contests" held in the past, the management wanted to make everything clear to know that you really do understand the plan is different. All cards are laid on the table. Everything is fair, square and above board.

No votes can be bought. There is absolutely no way you can secure votes except by getting subscriptions. Subscriptions win—and those alone. If there is anyone who imagines he or she can enter and carry away a big prize by spending money, he or she is advised to keep out. Unless you want to compete in the same fair manner in which the Herald is conducting this great prize distribution, save your energy for some other plan. Nothing but straightforward, honest and fair methods will be tolerated.

Everybody Wins Something.

In some "contests" there have been contestants who worked faithfully as any to win the big prizes and they fell short of the big awards and were left holding the sack. In this distribution "Everybody Wins Something." You win either a cash prize or the cash commission.

In this election you can in your spare time, earn more in the next few weeks than the average family man earns in a whole year. You can earn more than the average man saves in many years. You absolutely increase your earning power—and you do it in your spare time.

Two Districts.
To assure a more complete distribution of the prizes the campaign has been divided into two districts with a separate set of prizes guaranteed to each district. Of course you may secure subscriptions anywhere, but you will be competing only with those candidates in your district.

Campaign Just Starting.
You have been thinking of entering. Today is the day to make your decision. You start today on even terms. The campaign is just starting, it is young, it is not yet under full headway. Get in on the ground floor now.

Read the page announcement elsewhere in this issue. It explains the campaign thoroughly—then the next step is to call, or write the campaign department for full information; an official receipt book, sample copies of The Wayne Herald and details relative to launching an active campaign will be given you.

Office Open Evenings.
Enter your name or a friend's name today. Mail the coupon that appears in today's issue and start making money in your spare time. The campaign office will be open evenings for your convenience. Call, write, or telephone 148, and ask for full information concerning the campaign. The sooner you make your start the sooner your campaign will be in full swing, earning extra money and receiving votes on the big awards. Begin early and reap the harvest. Campaign office open until 9 p. m.

Roller Skating Rink Is Opened
Saturday and Sunday were opening days at the new roller skating rink just west of the light plant, and a large group of young folk, and older people as well, turned out to "skate for health and fun."

R. H. Bugenhagen, who is in charge of the new rink, comes to Wayne from Pender where he has been operating his rink for the past two months. He reports capacity crowds both Saturday and Sunday, and states that never before has he seen such a large group of enthusiastic spectators. Mr. Bugenhagen said that approximately 235 skaters turned out Sunday night for the fun.

The official opening night was Saturday, but due to the rains the crowd was not as large as Sunday. There was also a matinee Sunday afternoon.

Local youths are hired to act as "skate boys," and are employed for the entire time that Mr. Bugenhagen will be in Wayne.

The rink is open every night except Monday, and that night is reserved for those who wish to hold private parties.

This has been the first rink in Wayne for a good many years, and it is evident that several surrounding communities as well as Wayne enjoy the sport.

Removal Petition Being Considered

Dixon county board at Ponca Tuesday last week heard objections to the proposal for removing the county seat present an argument to the effect that the petition for removal was insufficient. The board overruled the objection. The petitioners asked the board to call an election to vote on the issue as no evidence against the proposal was presented. The board also voted again next week to consider the proposition.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS

Last week the Herald announced its big trade expansion campaign. The objects of the mammoth campaign are several fold. Primarily, the purpose is to expand the trade territory of Wayne. Another object is to continue and enforce a strictly PAID-IN-ADVANCE policy on all subscriptions. This means that all subscriptions will be stopped at expiration.

The new policy which we have adopted, necessitated all subscriptions to be paid-in-advance. One subscription in arrears would throw out of line this new system that we are installing.

This policy was adopted in response to hundreds of subscribers of this newspaper who prefer this method of paying for their subscriptions. Readers also point out that all daily newspapers and practically all magazines use the PAID-IN-ADVANCE policy and declare that they like it much better than the credit plan.

For a long time the publisher of the Herald hesitated in adopting this plan, but due to better business conditions and improved farming, it is plainly evident that the need for such credit accommodation no longer exists.

In an early issue the date will be published when all subscriptions which are not PAID-IN-ADVANCE will be taken from the list, sometime before the close of the present drive, with a guarantee to every subscriber that no subscription will be retained on the list that is not paid-in-advance. The policy of this newspaper from now on will be strictly PAID-IN-ADVANCE.

We know that our many readers like this plan, so now we are adopting it 100 per cent.

State Chairman Is Speaker Here

Fred S. Wallace Declares That Success Depends On Control Plan.

Fred S. Wallace of Lincoln, state AAA chairman, in addressing more than 100 at the Wayne county agricultural conservation banquet at the Presbyterian parlors Wednesday evening last week, emphasized the fact that it would be impossible for agriculture to work in a program of abundance and industry in a program of controlled production.

"Possibilities" was Mr. Wallace's subject, and he dealt with possibility for equitable allotments and yields. Any farm program, Mr. Wallace stated, including either payments or marketing privileges would have to be based upon allotments, shares, bases or some portion of the national total acreage or crop established for each state, county and individual farm. To illustrate Mr. Wallace pointed out what industry is doing. He explained that a few years ago a sugar beet factory man came to him and wanted to contract a certain portion of the farm to grow beets. Mr. Wallace agreed to contract the entire farm but the manager of the factory declined, saying he could use but 25 acres and could guarantee $5 per ton for controlled production of beets.

Comparing the sugar beet situation, the present farm program and the farm board of a few years ago, Mr. Wallace made it clear that the government would be able to "peg" prices only when the crops are controlled the same as the manager for the beet sugar factory did. He also explained what happened to the farm board when it tried to "peg" prices without trying to control production. It was not Mr. Wallace's intention to oppose industry's control of production, but his object was to emphasize the impossibility for agriculture to work in a program of abundance when industry works on a program of controlled production.

Fire Dangers Are Made Real

Important Business of Fire Prevention Is Shown By Lecturer.

G. K. Hawthorne, of Lincoln, spoke to an audience of over 600 at Wayne city auditorium Thursday, May 4. Mr. Hawthorne, whose chief interest is fire prevention, travels over the entire middle west lecturing and demonstrating on this vital question.

First aid, work with bandages, rescue work and the effects of different gases were the subjects that Mr. Hawthorne presented Thursday night. He stated that the purposes of first aid are not to take the place of a physician's work, but are rather to relieve the patient until a doctor can be called. Mr. Hawthorne demonstrated many different types of simple bandages that are of value in times of difficulty. He also explained the process of developing artificial respiration.

Using gasoline for home-cleaning and putting pennies in the fuse boxes are two of the greatest dangers in causing fire in the home. Mr. Hawthorne explained that gasoline fumes will disperse themselves throughout the house and cause an explosion by placing less than a teaspoonful into a heated tray in the attic of a model home. The crowd could see the fumes go down the stairs of the three-story home and outside where they were ignited and fire ensued throughout the entire house. To further impress this point upon the minds of his audience, Mr. Hawthorne stressed the power of gasoline by mentioning the small amount of gas consumed in an automobile cylinder each time it fires and the power developed, and then suggested that his audience recall the number of miles family cars get on a gallon of fuel. "Where," asked Mr. Hawthorne, "would you go if you used all of that power at one time?"

After the lecture, two rolls of film were shown. These films were actual cases of disastrous fires, and the realistic pictures left the audience with a clear and impressive idea of how great a part carelessness and neglect play in so many big and costly fires.

Mr. Hawthorne also lectured at both high schools.

PLAN IN BRIEF

The object of the big distribution is several-fold. The plan proposes to gather subscription payments from present and new subscribers, and at the present to afford readers an unparalleled opportunity to profit in a big way through their spare time during the next several weeks. It is also planned to put The Herald on a strictly cash-in-advance basis. So it is a plan that works both ways and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and advantageously, an attractive list of cash prizes has been made for distribution among those who participate most heartily.

Ambition and energy are the main requisites for success. The plan adopted is the fairest and most impartial conceivable. There will be no extra votes given whatsoever, other than as outlined in the Rules and Regulations. Neither will there be any long term subscriptions accepted. The plan of the campaign is straightforward and it is fully outlined in this announcement.

This is neither a "beauty" or "popularity" contest, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women and boys and girls, one in which no element of chance enters. One feature of this competition is the fact that there will be no losers in the race.

An Early Start Means An Easy Finish

The advantages of an early start are manifest. The first in the field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of votes and subscriptions while those who put off entering until a later date will have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do, but pitch right in and show "the other fellow" how to do it.

No Votes Can Be Bought

Every Subscription Turned Into the Campaign Office Must Be Signed, Certifying That Full Subscription Price Has Been Paid.

Women Want Peace But Fear Active Participation in Move

Sentiment concerning peace and women's part in maintaining it were discussed in a letter received some months ago by Miss Stella Traster from Mrs. B. I. Kassuroff of Sophia, Bulgaria. The communication is interesting in view of recent strained relationships abroad.

Sophia is the capital city of Bulgaria; is located in the western part of the country nearly midway between the northern and southern borders. Governmentally, Bulgaria is a kingdom—a limited monarchy. It lies directly south of Rumania, east of Yugoslavia, north of Greece, and has frontage on the Black sea. The country's chief occupation is agriculture, though its products of importance also include hides, textiles, petroleum, metals and machinery.

Bulgaria, as Mrs. Kassuroff expresses it, wants peace, but as a nation, it cannot be as idealistic as we are about the situation which exists. The United States, she feels, can afford to think as it does, since it is so far distant from the real center of strife. Bulgaria, however, is in the nucleus of the quarrel between the great powers of Europe. That condition is true today to an even greater extent than it was a year ago. Now Hitler wants an outlet to the Black sea; Mussolini wants control of the Adriatic and Aegean seas.

Another point that Mrs. Kassuroff makes is that her nation was treated unjustly at the close of the World war. Her letter reads as follows: "We were disarmed and humiliated. The reaction was what you see today in Germany and the other wronged nations. Any action or talk against war, therefore, is considered unpatriotic and anti-governmental."

The Bulgarian woman feels that much can be accomplished through women's peace organizations in Europe and America, if such activity is permitted. The trouble is that in many European countries there is strict censorship. "This is the time," she continues, "to instill into hearts and minds of the children and youth all over the world a hatred for war and a desire for more good will, but no public action can be taken here, individual work in that direction is not effective because there is great ignorance among the mothers."

"Some of us are yearning for a truly Christian world, like the one Kagawa is dreaming of." Women in Bulgaria are doing very little in the direction of peace, Mrs. Kassuroff feels, though the churches and American missionaries have done their bit. "The state church, being under the state, dares not take up a serious action against war and talks of peace in a formal and ritualistic manner. The Protestant community, which is the result of 50 years' work of American missionaries, is more active but limited by outside factors. This group has done a great deal for the spiritual and moral uplift of the people, but unfortunately five years ago the board closed this station on account of lack of funds. Almost all the missionaries left and material aid was cut off. The 40 churches, being very poor, have a hard time supporting themselves. Half of them cannot afford to pay a minister."

The evangelical newspaper in that country has attempted work in this direction, but its editorials are cut by censorship. Even the activity of organizations begun in the interests of peace and liberty has been interrupted by a regulation by which each group has to submit its statutes for a renewed approval by the government!

Mrs. Kassuroff closes with this more hopeful thought: "We are trying our level best to preserve peace in this country and to be a useful and helpful link in the great international chain for peace."
