Rains and Cool Weather Prove Most Beneficial

Crop Prospects Brightened In Northeast Nebraska By Moisture.

Crop prospects in northeast Nebraska have been greatly improved by rains the past week. Cool, cloudy weather replacing intense heat has resulted in the most possible benefit from the moisture.

Total rainfall for June, as recorded at the State National bank, is 3.88 of an inch, .03 June 1, .65 June 9 and .20 June 12. The rain fell so gently that it did as much good as two or three times the amount in hard rains.

"Who's Who in Nebraska" is to be the title of a well-bound book to be off the press this fall. F. A. Euterfield and W. C. Beebe are in Wayne this week compiling information for Wayne county's section in the volume.

A similar observation may be made in regard to a preacher's work. One cannot lead spiritually if he has to keep his mind riveted.

FAVORABLE CHANGE IN WEATHER HELPS CROP CONDITIONS

IF ANYONE predicted a wet, cool stretch of weather, following an alarming dry spell, he may allow his bosom to swell with the pride of unusual accuracy. The change that came to this part of the world Friday was a veritable godsend—a generous, soaking rain, followed by days of clouds and intermittent moisture. The result revived pastures and boosted growing corn. A report of moisture and crop conditions in Cedar and Knox counties was made by C. E. Carhart who made a tour of that area with Mrs. Carhart and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Craven Sunday. Those two counties have been more fortunate than Wayne county in recent rains, and as a consequence small grain is moving toward maturity with assurance of abundance. Corn looks about the same as here. Unimproved roads in Cedar and Knox counties were impassable on account of mud. Mr. Carhart says there are no grasshoppers up that way, and there should be none here if chilling dampness is an experience they cannot survive. Another kind of crop story comes from the neighborhood of Garden City, Kas. D. J. Nelson of Columbus, who was here the first of the week visiting his sister, Mrs. W. W. Roe, returned recently from Kansas where he says innumerable big-jawed grasshoppers have assisted drought in ruining crops.

Supreme Court Case Regarding Bonds Concluded

Time Limit Is Passed for Filing Motion for Re-hearing There.

Action in the state supreme court regarding the validity of the Wayne school bond issue has been concluded. The mandate of the high tribunal, upholding the legality of the issue, has been returned to Wayne district court and spread on the records. The time for filing a motion for rehearing has passed so that the matter is concluded. Wayne voters last fall approved a $48,000 bond issue for enlarging and remodeling the school. The proposition was favored by 53.3 per cent vote. C. H. Hendrickson filed action to stop the bond issue, claiming the vote should have been 60 per cent majority and also charging that the $39,150 federal grant was used to influence voters. The district court upheld the legality of the issue. F. S. Berry representing the school board, the matter was carried to the supreme court where the legality was again upheld. Forty days are allowed in which to file motion for a rehearing and this time has expired.

Herman J. Podoll Explains Procedure to Follow For Compliance.

In reply to many who have contacted the agricultural office in regard to clipping oats or cutting the nurse crop for hay, Herman J. Podoll advises that oats should be thoroughly headed and in the milk stage before clipped, due to the shortness of the straw. If not headed, the oats may head after they are clipped and still mature gain. North Central Director Wickard classifies all oats hay cut with a binder as depleting. Recheck report as made by Mr. Putzner, working for the state committee, shows that in some instances potatoes have been planted in rows of corn. The rule is that in no instance can corn be destroyed after it has a stand to change classification by planting.

Total Cost Of School Within Sum Available

Work Is Pushed on New and Old Structure by Contractor.

A total of $88,272.80 will be available for remodeling and enlarging Wayne city school. With all contracts awarded, the total cost of the project is within the amount available. The $88,272.80 includes $49,122.80, which is the $48,000 in bonds plus accrued interest and premium paid, and $39,150 outright federal grant from the government. The grant is 45 per cent of the total cost. The $49,122.80 from sale of the bonds is on deposit in a Wayne bank. Secretary Edw. Seymour said he received the bank deposit slip Tuesday. With the district's share in the bank, the district can now make application for $21,750 of the PWA grant. This represents 25 per cent of the approved total cost of the project and five-ninths of the government's total participation. Secretary Seymour and Dan Farrell, jr., PWA resident engineer, are to cooperate late this (Continued on Page Two.)

Postpone Case In Court Here

Case Continued by District Judges To Allow Plaintiff To Be Represented.

The action in which C. H. Hendrickson seeks to stop the city's sale of a lot to D. S. Wightman was postponed Tuesday morning by District Judges A. E. Wenke and C. H. Stewart. A writ from Excelsior Springs, Mo., stated that it would be impossible for Mr. Hendrickson to appear as he would have to receive a train there at least a week. Webb Rice of Norfolk, who had been called in as counsel for Hendrickson, withdrew from the case. H. E. Stiman and J. E. Brittain are attorneys for the defendant.

The judges continued the matter to a later date so that the plaintiff might be present or be represented in court. The case came up for hearing last Thursday when Judge Wenke was here but was postponed until Tuesday to allow Webb Rice to familiarize himself with the matter. The Norfolk attorney later withdrew.

Because of having no counsel for the plaintiff, the judges postponed the case and set no date for its hearing. In the case of the First National Bank of Belden vs. C. H. Hendrickson, Judge A. E. Wenke last Thursday overruled the plaintiff's request for a new trial. Here May 4 the judge had ordered property returned to defendant. Clifford Storey sentenced to a year in the state reformatory for theft from cars, was taken to Lincoln Friday by Sheriff J. H. Pile.

OLD-TIME CIRCUS DAY IS NO LONGER POPULAR OCCASION

A CIRCUS group tarrying in Tekamah recently on its way north in the hope of finding more lucrative fields reminded the Burt County Herald that attractions in the big canvas top have lost old-time drawing power on account of many other things to occupy attention. In comparatively isolated centers in the long ago circus day was by common consent declared a holiday. People stopped work to come to town to see the parade and take in the big performance in the afternoon. Sometimes the circus that visited small communities proved disappointing, but any circus in a rather monotonous existence was better than none. Few circuses have survived modern means of entertainment presented by motion picture shows and by radio. Too many ways afford diversion in these days without the circus that used to pitch its tents in rural communities. The "greatest show on earth," as P. T. Barnum advertised, and as his successors, the Ringlings, justified, is still a major and winning attraction in metropolitan centers.

Wayne Club Sponsors Invitation Golf Tourney

The clubs from these places usually send from two to four players. Some clubs may send from eight to 10. About 80 players are expected to be present.

The tournament had to be postponed last year on account of heavy rains, but in 1937 Fred Dale was the champion. Because Mr. Dale was the last winner, his title will carry over in the competition this year.

Local committees will soon be at work on plans for the meet.

Sustains Injury At Plant in City

Mrs. Hazel Lessman Is Hurt In Steam Explosion at Des Moines.

Mrs. Hazel Lessman of Des Moines, who suffered a wrenched back, three broken ribs and nervous shock in an explosion in a Des Moines office, is here recuperating at the James McIntosh home. She plans to return to the city the last of this week for further examination.

A new steam machine for dry cleaning was installed temporarily for a demonstration in the Des Moines office in which Mrs. Lessman is employed. The steam hose connecting with the machine was not heavy enough to carry the pressure and exploded. The escaping steam struck Mrs. Lessman's limbs and she jumped falling over other equipment in the office and suffering injury. Others were back of the machine away from the steam.

Mrs. Lessman was rushed to a hospital where she received care for 10 days. She came here June 3 to spend two weeks.

Board Votes Wednesday to Refunds Bond Issue at Substantial Saving

Bonds issued by Wayne board of education for remodeling and enlarging the school building were delivered Monday to Burns, Potter & Co., Omaha, purchasers of these last December. The buyers paid $49,122.80 for the $48,000 bonds, the difference over par value including accrued interest, premium and restoration fee.

Provisions of the bond issue remain the same as when Burns, Potter & Co. made the purchase last winter. They are in denominations of $1,000, dated November 1, 1938, and draw 3 per cent interest. According to the plan, the board pays $1,000 November 1, 1940, $2,000 November 1, 1941, and $2,000 each November 1 thereafter to and including 1963; the final payment of $1,000 to be made November 1, 1964. All bonds are payable November 1, 1943; and are payable at the option of the district on any interest paying date.

Burns, Potter & Co. have submitted a proposition to shorten the maturity of the bonds and save the district about $8,000 in interest over the life of the bonds. The proposal is for Wayne board to buy back the bonds and issue new ones, shortening the maturity from 36 to 15 years, the new issue to draw 2 1/2 per cent instead of 3 per cent interest. This would cut the interest from $1,440 to $1,200 the first year, the saving over the life of the bonds being about $8,000. The board last evening decided to refund the bonds as proposed with a five-year option. The plan was also considered.

Work Speeded Up on College Hall Addition

Progress of Construction Is On Schedule for New School Building.

After the usual delay in getting ready to pour the concrete second floor, construction progress on the addition to Connell hall, Wayne State Teachers college, was expected to speed up this week-end to a spurt that should take brickwork to the second floor.

Brick masonry work resumed on a small scale Wednesday after a few days' delay. A smaller force of masons will work off the section of second floor slab poured last week over the present cafeteria kitchen. Meanwhile a force of carpenters is preparing formwork and setting reinforcing steel for the entire second floor slab, on which the contractor is expected to start concrete work Thursday or Friday. When a large area of the floor is poured and the concrete has its initial set, a larger force of brickmasons will be put to work.

The second floor of the addition is in reality the third floor of the new wing, due to the slope of the grade which gives a full story above the ground on the south exposure of the new wing.

Dan Farrell, resident engineer for the Public Works Administration, reported this week to R. A. Radford, regional director in Omaha, that construction progress remained on schedule and that the structure would be completed early in September.

Council Hears Amplifying Plan

Annual Report Is Filed By Wayne Firemen at Tuesday Meeting.

Wayne city council, at regular meeting Tuesday, considered an amplification system for the auditorium. W. C. Swanson explained such a system for the council and will give it a trial at some time when a crowd is in the building. Annual report of Wayne fire department, filed with the council, shows that 16 alarms were answered the past year, 7 in the city and 9 in the country. The largest in town was the Golden Rule store blaze of a year ago in May. The most destructive fire in the country was at the R. R. Smith farm west of town.

Trends in Speech Education Given

W. A. Behl, Instructor at Evanston, Is Speaker For Kiwanians.

Recent Trends in Speech Education was the subject of W. A. Behl's address to the Kiwanis club Monday. Mr. Behl has been instructing in Northwestern University Teachers college at Evanston Ill., the past semester. He formerly taught in the Wayne high school.

The speaker told of two new trends in speech education today. The first is getting away from the student's projecting ideas or from being propagandists, the aim being to develop students who can discover new ideas. Thinkers rather than orators are developed. The other trend, continued Mr. Behl, is that speech courses are being made compulsory in more universities.

In developing the first idea, Mr. Behl said that General Electric company questioned employees and 93 percent agreed that speech activities in high school were the most helpful in the business world. The solution of new problems and developing new ideas are present needs. Teaching is done in small groups of students where panel discussions on problems are conducted, students trying to solve problems rather than stirring up emotions concerning them. This method develops poise and personality, and changes the philosophy in sales. It also gives a person confidence in himself.

The club heard met Wednesday evening for business.

potatoes in the rows. Where the state rechecker finds that the farm reporters have classified such a field as potatoes, it is classified as an error. It is important, explains Mr. Podoll, that all classifications are made according to the instructions in NCR-301, which is the docket for the 1939 program. It is again necessary that farmers produce accounts of sales for seed bought for the reporter or mail this to the county office. For red clover or alfalfa seed, evidence showing where the seed was grown is necessary as southern grown seed will not be approved for this section. Mr. Podoll explains. In case of summer fallow or idle land intended for seeding to legumes, perennial grasses or sweet stalk sorgo after the farm is checked for compliance, it is an obligation to report to the office as soon as such fields are planted to some conserving or non-depleting crops. Mr. Podoll adds. For a new seeding of alfalfa, sweet clover or perennial grasses there may be some additional payment to the total. One who signs as operator should report to the office any additional seeding or change in the land use made.

week in preparing the application for this first grant payment. When the building is 50 per cent completed a progress audit of the expenditures of the school district on the project is made by PWA. If the procedure is found to have been regular, the school district is then eligible to submit another grant requisition, this one for $8,700 in government funds, which, however, is not paid by the government until the project is estimated by the resident engineer to be 70 per cent completed. After the building is completed, last payment by the PWA follows a final audit. Thirty-nine men were working full time on the project Wednesday as the contractors maintained a fast pace in tearing out floors, stairways and partitions in the old building and continued excavating for the new addition. Employment total is in addition to truck drivers hauling material to and debris away from the site. Formwork for a new fireproof stairways was started at the east entrance Wednesday morning. First Homestead Will Become Park
A visit to the Freeman homestead, the first in the United States, was interesting to Prof. and Mrs. O. R. Bowen last week. The place is four miles from Beatrice and is soon to be converted into a public park.

Mr. Freeman was serving in the Civil war when he heard of the homestead act in 1862. He asked for a furlough so that he might file for a homestead under the new law and was first to do so. The land has been unused and has grown to a sort of wild state. Only foundations of the buildings of the place are left. When the place is converted into a park the site will be improved and restored, much as it was originally.

The Wayne folks enjoyed a picnic on the Blue river at Beatrice with the Knox Jones family of Lincoln.

When the Bownens returned Mrs. Bowen's sister, Miss Virginia Beverly, who teaches in western Kansas, accompanied them. After a visit here Miss Beverly plans to go to Colorado.

For Due Progress WE THINK a community may err more in doing nothing than in doing too many things of the wrong thing.

Wayne has made considerable headway in improvements despite purposely interposed barriers, but we are convinced that a few public enterprises turned down during the past year should have been adopted and added to the community's achievements.

Enough extra tuition could have been gained to justify the expanded school service. A government grant to straighten and dike the Logan and fashion the ground into a delightful park could be used here as well as other places.

Wayne's needed school improvement is finally going forward after much costly delay. Taxpayers will either receive less for their money or have their indebtedness increased by reason of the effort to defeat the proposition.

If penny-wise-and-pound-foolish interference with public progress were permitted to frustrate every enterprise, the community would soon become an atrophied and backward-drifting spot on the map.

Lard Is Good Medicine. (Omaha Journal-Stockman) Possibly in an attempt to frighten some anaemic people into using plain, every-day lard in their cooking, the University of Minnesota research department announces some new medicinal qualities in lard that have not been appreciated as they should be.

Summing up the present knowledge concerning the nutritive value of lard, it is now known that lard is important in the diet because:

- It is an excellent source of energy, one tablespoon furnishing 135 calories;
It is 97 per cent digested;
It is utilized with a minimum of metabolic activity;
It is superior for producing growth;
It is a rich source of the essential unsaturated fatty acids, and
It is superior to hydrogenated fats in preventing fatty acid deficiency.

And Sudden Death. (Sioux City Journal)

It was Sunday. Cars were on the highways. Pleasure rides for families and their friends were popular. One car was going east and another was going south. They met four miles from Onawa at what is known as Cooper corner.

This tragedy might as well have been avoided. One second of time, had fate disposed differently, would have been sufficient for the cars to pass the intersection in safety.

Men build and drive motor-cars at high speed. Roads are good, and swift travel is widely practiced. Yet cars are provided with means of control. They can be slowed down, brought to a stop very easily. They cannot be driven in safety over any street or road unless their drivers take account of the fact that there are other cars in the hands of other persons.

Both teachers and preachers are indispensable forces in the growth of intelligent, Christian civilization. Without them society would bog down in the direction of animalism, chaos and black night, and to get best results—to put fire into right motives, and stability and courage into conscience—teachers and preachers should receive compensation they need and earn, so they may think of other and higher things.

Butler to Be Candidate for Senate in 1940

Butler Says Will Fight to Protect Livestock Market For Farmers of U. S.

Hugh Butler of Omaha, prominent business man, civic leader and farmer filed Wednesday as a candidate for United States Senator on the Republican ticket in the 1940 election.

Mr. Butler, who operates two farms in Furnas county near Cambridge, feels that the policy of the present administration is destroying American agriculture and live stock farming. He said:

"The recent statement of the President concerning the purchase of Argentine meat is another sad blow to the American farmer and live stock grower. The meat industry of America is one of our most important. Through the sale of our meat animals, the small farmer gets his income on his grain and roughage. The live stock industry is about the only part of our agricultural program that has not already been destroyed by the new deal administration. It appears that the stockman is now to be offered as a sacrifice in a mistaken foreign policy which would force him to compete in our own home market against the products shipped in from South America."

America First

"The American market belongs to the American farmer and as United States Senator I would fight to the last ditch to see that he gets the protection he deserves. We hold a friendly feeling toward all nations, but charity begins at home, and we must look after our own people before granting concessions which would ruin the most important industry in our nation."

"Like every other farm operator and live stock grower, I have been battling 24 hours a day to make ends meet and I am going to fight every move which would further cripple the stockman and small farmer."

Mr. Butler was born on a farm near Missouri Valley, Iowa. He was five years old when his parents set out in a covered wagon for Furnas county, Nebraska to acquire a homestead.

Growing up on the farm, young Butler won a scholarship in a subscription contest and entered Doane college at Crete. Here he ran errands, mowed lawns, collected laundry, clerked in a grocery store, and came out in 1900 with a diploma in his hand.

Since attaining his majority, he has always been interested in agriculture. Although successful as a business man, he realizes that the progress and prosperity of Nebraska must come from the farm. He is a regent of Doane college and has always taken an active part in community building and civic affairs.

Mrs. C. J. Diel and daughter, Kay, of West Point, spent Sunday in the R. L. Larson home.

Miss Lucile and Miss Mildred Exleben have decided not to go to Boulder, Colo., as mentioned elsewhere in this issue.

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers about Religion, Morals and Personal Problems by DR. WELDON F. CROSSLAND, Rochester, New York

Can American Protestants unite? Yes. They are now rapidly doing so. Within a few decades the major Protestant communions of America will unite to form one great church.

All Protestant churches today are seriously studying inter-church union. Their leaders hold the deep conviction that Christ would have all Christians to one. They feel it their duty to achieve this union.

Their theological distinctions and their language and organizational differences have largely disappeared. The Baptists no longer stress immersion; the Lutherans are coming to use the English rather than the German in their services; and the question of slavery, which once divided the Methodists, has been settled.

The spirit of goodwill and co-operation has made the major Protestant groups, who compose about 95 percent of the more than 40,000,000 Protestant Christians, increasingly one in aim and method. Spiritually they today are a unity.

Since the turn of the century Protestants have with growing effectiveness worked and worshipped together. They now emphasize the scores of points on which they agree and minimize the few unimportant ones on which they differ.

Most important of all Protestants today are actually uniting. In hundreds of communities, one union church has taken the place of three or four competing churches.

The Christians and Congregationalists have united organically; while the three largest churches of the Methodist denomination have just united to form the Methodist church with nearly 8,000,000 members. The Episcopalians and the Presbyterians have made substantial progress in their recent conferences toward union.

Are theology and the creeds important? Yes, though they are not of supreme importance. Following Christ and serving the world in His spirit, as did the early disciples before he had formulated any creed, outrank every theology.

Creeds will always be both desirable and necessary as a statement of what the Christian believes. One must formulate his beliefs about God, Christ, life, forgiveness, immortality and all other things vital to his faith.

The creeds are not his faith; they are only statements of his faith. The missionary movement through the centuries has been faced with the necessity of telling prospective converts of the kind of a God they had come to proclaim.

They already had gods of a sort; but they did not have "God the Father, Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth" or "Jesus Christ, His Only Son."

Intelligent people never deride theology or the creeds. Can a high state of civilization exist without religion? No.

Civilizations have risen no higher than the ideals set by their religions. They have declined when their religious life became formal or corrupt.

Spiritual religion provides the only abiding foundation for a high morality. To be permanent and vital ethics must be intimately related to religion.

True religion exalts man, emphasizes the dignity and divinity of the individual, and makes him an end instead of a means, as do the absolutist states.

True religion holds ideals and hopes before men, giving them the power to achieve the good they see. Though in some ages decadent because of the weakness of evil men, the Christian religion has been the chief inspiration for brotherhood, hospitals, schools, liberty, morality and peace.

Morality, personality and ideals, flowing from spiritual religion, make for strength and permanence in any civilization. (Copyright, 1938 by Weldon F. Crossland, Rochester, N. Y.)

As Russia Views Farming. (Omaha Journal-Stockman) Occasionally an uncensored dispatch gets out of Russia that throws considerable light on that government's attitude toward agriculture. Farming for the state is the Russian idea while farming for one's self is nothing short of criminal.

Over in the soviet nation an independent farmer is a criminal and a Moscow message announces that a drastic decree aimed at "counterfeit collective farmers" was issued Sunday by Joseph Stalin and Premier Vyacheslav Molotov to restrict rigidly the size of private garden plots.

Unscrupulous collective farm members, the decree said, have been resorting to trickery to increase the size of their individual plots. It is said some have devoted their whole time cultivating their own ground to the neglect of collective farm community interests. Soviet Russia's labor discipline drive, which has increased industrial production, previously had been extended to agriculture through specific time schedules for farm workers, and penalties for shirkers.

Some workers, however, were accused by the decree of having been able to grab so much additional land that they have begun selling or leasing it. The new edict made such a practice a crime against the state and provided for punishment of collective farm chairmen and other responsible officials.

We are inclined to sit back and declare that such things could not happen in this nation. Are we sure? When you read of acreage allotments, crop restrictions, permission to sell, orange and blue food cards to people on relief, benefits and penalties, etc., we are compelled to pause and ponder.

Mrs. Jennie Stallsmith was a Friday guest in the Judge J. M. Cherry home.

How Cheap Is Argentine Beef? (Illinois Farmer)

We are astonished and shocked at the news from Washington concerning proposed purchases of canned beef for the U. S. navy. It appears that the president, in April, wrote a letter ordering the navy purchasing department to buy Argentine corned beef instead of the U. S. product, on grounds that it is cheaper and of decidedly better quality.

The navy appropriation bill as passed by the house would prohibit such purchase, and late last week a navy representative had asked the senate appropriations sub-committee to eliminate the restrictive provision. That's where it stands at this writing.

If a cheap price is what the United States wants, why do we maintain a tariff of 6 cents a pound on beef? Why not admit Argentine beef free, so it would be 6 cents cheaper? If it's right for the navy, why not for the whole buying public? Throw down the bars! Forget the American beef producer! Forget standards of living! Buy cheap!

And if cheap beef, why not cheap corn? Take off the 25-cent tariff on corn! If it's cheapness that's wanted, why do we have the 57-cent loan on corn? Why the purchase plans to help sustain the price of butter, why the Triple A?

If we are searching for cheapness, why all the vast government organization to support labor wages, with prosecution for employers who hire too cheap, or permit employees to work too many hours? Why hire American labor anyway, when foreign labor is cheaper?

On the statement that Argentine beef is of better quality than U. S. beef, we waste no argument. Even if it were true, it would be an astounding statement to advertise to the world over the signature of the president of the United States.

We suspect that the real reason for this amazing purchase order has not been stated. The president, supported by a vast number of citizens, is anxious to build a solid fellowship between the nations of this hemisphere. We are for that. Argentina will naturally be pleased. This purchase of beef would doubtless help Pan-American solidarity. If that was the president's motive, then why not a frank statement to that effect, instead of an illogical remark about cheapness, and a slap at the United States meat industry?

We don't like this deal. The idea that our United States beef is not good enough for our United States navy—the idea that Uncle Sam, with one hand tossing out billions to sustain prices and living standards, must beat down prices and living standards with the other hand—to quote Mr. Roosevelt himself from another occasion, "It doesn't make sense."

We hope the senate appropriations committee will keep its feet on the ground—U. S. ground—and refuse to eliminate this restriction against such purchase of foreign beef.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

One member of congress has received in excess of one thousand letters containing suggestions for the operation of the government of the United States. The letters, some of them transmitting voluminous typed and printed formulae, come from nearly all of the states of the Union and from organizations in Canada and lands across the sea. by them. One member who fought on the floor one day against importation of certain foreign competitive farm products was amazed the following day, to get an invitation to attend "tea" at the house of the diplomat representing the country from which that foreign farm product comes. That particular foreigner is noted for his lavish entertainments and his "teas." Never before did this member receive such an invitation. He was so suspicious he didn't accept. But when he asks his colleagues why he was invited, they just laugh and wink knowingly. An "afternoon reception" or a "tea" is usually fancy food and about any kind of drink you can imagine. Mr. and Mrs. Al. Bierman of South Sioux City and Mr. Bierman's mother, Mrs. Sofia Bierman of Dakota City, have been several days, Mrs. Sofia Bierman was honored following the other day, by being allowed to sit in the chair usually occupied by Speaker Bankhead; and from this location the history of the house chamber was told to her. The Biermans plan to visit the fair in New York before returning home. Letters ask why there is so much fighting over sugar in the house these days. There are many reasons. The main one is "money." Sugar may be sweet but it has caused a lot of heartaches, revolutions and bloodshed. More money is spent on sugar lobbying than for any other commodity. Sugar today has a powerful grip on American capital. It has eaten into the pocketbooks of our farmers; it has tapped the public treasury and it speaks with power when it tells American beet growers they can grow only so much sugar beets. American people consume about 6,000,000 tons of sugar a year. Of that amount only 2,300,000 tons are produced in the United States. Of that amount 1,700,000 tons made from American beets and 600,000 tons come from American cane. The rest of it, or 4,300,000 tons come to us from Cuba, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. Cuba sends us about 2,000,000 tons. It sends us more sugar than any other country and we give them about 40 million dollars a year in duty discounts. We give the Philippines about 18 millions a year. American beet and cane growers are told to grow less of sugar cane and sugar beets. These American farmers want to grow more. They can't figure out why, if they have the land, and there's a market here for their product, they should be forced to hold down production. They think they ought to be allowed to grow as much as they want and then let Cuba and others send in the balance. That is part of the explanation of the sugar fights. Members are told by experts that we still have 11 million persons looking for jobs in the United States. Conservative members of the house immigration committee are taking that fact into consideration while listening to pleas of "headline" people to allow 20,000 foreign refugees to come into the United States. This committee concludes its hearing on the bill this week. They heard famous actors ask for passage of the bill. Some of these people are movie actors who flew here from Hollywood. Members of the committee are told that 15,000 foreigners who came here on visiting visas have been given an "indefinite extension of time." They hear of a plan to allow other refugees who are refused admission to South American countries to come here. They are told that the 20,000 refugees affected by the pending bill are only part of a probable 7,000,000 foreigners who want to come here. The pressure on the committee is terrific. Whether the bill will be voted out of the committee is problematical. Many members are against it at this time. Too many of our own people are unemployed now. Appointed to Offices. Don Mears of Omaha, grandson of Mrs. Grant Mears, was appointed testing engineer at Boys' state in Lincoln. Lloyd Mellick of Omaha, nephew of Mrs. L. W. Roe and Miss Harriet Forner, was named tax commissioner. Miss Irene Carpenter of Sherwood, Wis., plans to arrive Saturday to spend a week with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Carpenter, and sister, Mrs. L. B. McClure. World Events. The federal communications commission is asking congress to give it additional control over the six million dollar telephone industry. The German nation is making one of the most gigantic attempts in history to stave off a possible war not only from a military but also from an economic point of view. The British government informed the House of Commons that it is considering possible measures of retaliation against the Japanese blockade of the British concession at Tientsin, China. The French concession at Tientsin is also blockaded. Britain may bar Japanese ships from its far eastern ports. Tiny, secret radio transmitters regulated by time devices and working without human attendance are worrying German police. The speeches broadcast from phonograph records on hidden transmitters were calling on the Czech population to preserve a solid front. Police were tuning in on broadcasts but had little success in stamping out this form of agitation. Sherwin-Williams Family Paint. This paint is a durable and economical oil paint. Agricultural Notes

from the County Agents

Chester Walters, Wayne County Greth Dunn, Dixon County July 1. In order to get the best possible kills. Control measures after that date usually are very difficult. The poisoning campaign is underway. Mixing operations began Tuesday, June 13. Bait material, will be available to all farmers today, Thursday, June 15. Seventy tons of bait is available for immediate use. Poisoning operations should have been begun about June 1 in this county. Surveys indicate that we have the heaviest infestation since 1934. While grasshoppers are beginning to move at the present time, poisoning operations can be successful by continual spreading. Bait for Wayne county farmers is available any day in Wayne. It is distributed Wednesdays and Saturdays in Carroll and Wintside. Wheat for Silage. Wayne and Dixon county farmers will be interested in an experiment underway at the Nebraska college of agriculture where some winter wheat was cut before it matured, run through a silage cutter and put into the silo. The test will determine the value of wheat silage and the practicability of such a practice. From 22 acres of wheat which was headed out and about 18 inches tall were cut 72 tons of forage with a moisture content of 60 to 65 per cent. The crop was run through a silage cutter, molasses added and the forage put into one temporary silo and one permanent silo. Eighty pounds of molasses were used for each ton of forage. The silage will be fed next winter and tests recorded. Keep Farm Accounts. Summary of 800 farm account books show that farm incomes in Nebraska vary from $739 to $2,121 in the counties reporting. To Find New Uses. The department of agriculture has let contract for a research laboratory to be built in Peoria, Ill., for experimenting with new ways to use farm products. Second Period of Drive Ends Soon

Herald's Subscription Campaign Reaches Important Juncture on June 17.

Nine o'clock Saturday night, June 17, the second period of the Herald's big prize campaign comes to a close. Subscriptions turned in by that hour, or mailed to the office by that time, will be credited with the big period votes. After that time subscriptions receive many less votes.

With so few votes difference between the several contenders for the larger prizes it is expected that there will be some unusually large turns-in. When one stops to figure the difference in the value of the prizes—several hundred dollars—it becomes apparent how very valuable just a few subscriptions can be. For instance, if the candidate winning the $400 prize is beaten by a few subscriptions, those few subscriptions cost the loser $200—the difference between the $600 prize and the $400 prize. The same is true of the other prizes. A 50% district prize winner can lose from $200 to $600 by missing the top prize and the difference in votes may represent a very few subscriptions.

Such results occur on most every campaign of this nature. After it is over and the final results are published all candidates admit they could have secured the few extra subscriptions had they tried. The time to get the extra subscriptions and make sure of winning the larger prize is now. Now while there is time and plenty of subscriptions to be had is the time to get the few extra subscriptions that will mean extra hundreds of dollars in cash a few weeks from now. If you want the extra hundreds of dollars get every subscription you can in this second period which ends Saturday night, June 17, at 9 o'clock. It is better to win by a million than lose by a hundred votes.

The candidate who hesitates now is lost insofar as winning a big prize is concerned. The real test of ability is at hand. Candidates who can and will get subscriptions now stand to win the big prizes. What is to be done must be done now before next Saturday evening at 9.

Youth Chosen For Annapolis

Eugene Huntermer Is Given Academy Appointment For Four Years.

Eugene James Huntermer, son of Prof. and Mrs. E. J. Huntermer, passed final physical examinations at Annapolis naval academy in Annapolis, Md., and was sworn in as midshipman in the academy last

Eugene Huntermer

Thursday. He will receive four years of training here in preparation for serving as an officer in the United States navy. For those who show special aptitude an additional two years' training is provided, enabling them to take higher positions.

The Wayne youth, who is 19 and who just completed his sophomore year at Wayne college, took scholastic tests last October. On a basis of these he was nominated by Congressman Karl Stefan among candidates as one of two principals from Third district. His record as a student and also as an athlete in basketball, football and track at Wayne college helped determine his selection. He then passed physical examinations at Omaha. Two weeks ago today he left for Annapolis to take final physical tests. These usually require three to seven days and he passed them in three.

Government figures estimate that $20,000 is spent on each candidate accepted at Annapolis so that selection is based on superior mental and physical qualifications and high character. The boys receive about $2,000 a year but most of this is used for uniforms and other needs. They can usually save about $2,000 by the time they are graduated and ready for appointment. The routine is exacting, and candidates have to maintain high standards in their work to continue. Two foreign cruises are provided during the four years of work. Eugene will go on one of these a year from now. His first furlough will be a year from next September unless he should possibly be granted a few days at Christmas.

Because of troubled conditions in Europe the cruise this summer will take the youths to another continent. Merlin Paddock of Wayne, finishing his fourth year at Annapolis, is one who will be on the cruise.

Annapolis academy, established in 1845, is located on a neck of land almost surrounded by water, close to the city of Annapolis, which is a place of 15,000 population. The one dormitory, which houses 3,000 boys, is the largest in the world, having 40 acres of floor space and three and a half miles of corridors. The dining hall is 600 by 70 feet. Colored people who work in the hall live in house boats on the river. High walls surround the academy grounds.

Car Damaged in Illinois Accident

H. J. Miner of Edinburg, Ill., formerly of Wayne, escaped injury but his car was damaged a few days ago in a collision. Mr. Miner was on his sales territory when the accident happened.

The Miners write that the season has been dry in their part of Illinois.

Spreading Poison Being Stressed

The importance of spreading poison at once to eradicate grasshoppers is stressed by Agent Chester Walters. The hatch is nearly complete. Mr. Walters states, and poisoning now will do much more good than after the hoppers develop wings. WPA labor is provided for mixing the bait which is available each day in Wayne, and Wednesdays and Saturdays at Winside and Carroll.

Two Men Killed

Willis Woodward, 37, and Lloyd Pickett, 45, of Hartington, were killed last Thursday when the car in which they were riding collided at the top of a hill near Hartington with a car driven by Harry Rich, Sioux City salesman.

Howard Townsend Wirephoto Editor On Royal Train

Howard Townsend, formerly of Wayne, and now wirephoto editor with the Associated Press, had the privilege of being one of the few photographers aboard the royal tour pilot train which carried the king and queen of England on their tour through Canada.

Mr. Townsend, son-in-law of Mrs. Jennie Schrumpt of Wayne, was at one time employed by the Lincoln State Journal and from there he went to New York City and has been employed since by the Associated Press with offices in Radio City, New York.

Another incident of interest was the presentation of the quintuplets to the majesties. The camera clicked for several minutes as the little girls presented their flowers and well wishes to the king and queen. This story has been read and re-read in several of the papers; but it brings it just a little closer to the mind's eye when an account is given by one with an entirely different outlook on the occasion.

The many, many different pictures that have been taken are being sent to Great Britain. The people in England are, of course, very anxious to watch the progress of their beloved king and queen. The wirephotos that are sent to the United States are also taken by the Associated Press.

The return address on Mrs. Schrumpt's envelope, which was covered with highly decorative stamps, read "On Royal Tour Pilot Train, Enroute Halifax, Nova Scotia."

According to Mr. Townsend, her complexion can well be the envy of all American women, and her graciousness something that he will long remember.

Kansas Town Growing Fast With Oil Boom

An oil boom has remade the city of Russell, Kan., in the past few years, according to Rev. W. F. Most who returned June 5 after attending a synodical conference in that city where he was ordained eight years ago.

The city of Russell, with about 2,500 population eight years ago, now has 6,000. Beautiful homes have been constructed and building operations can't keep up to the demand. Residents are forced to rent rooms to provide temporary quarters for newcomers.

The government controls the amount of oil that may be pumped or sold, and the wells at Russell have to be kept below capacity because of this. Wells dot residence property and farms. Most of the oil is to be taken by pipeline to Hastings where a refinery is under construction.

Natural gas which escapes with the flow of oil is sufficient to operate the electric engines which pump the oil. Rev. Most was informed that the gas supply is great enough to heat homes for any who wish to connect it on their places.

The Lutheran church in which Rev. Most preached is a handsome brick with seating capacity of 1,000. The oil boom removes any worry about raising the funds. A country church nearby has pumping wells on the church site.

Wheat is the chief crop in that part of Kansas. Dry weather has resulted in only a fair stand this season.

The oil boom makes and breaks many people, Rev. Most was informed. For those who are able to manage carefully, it proves a boom. For others who invest too much on the prospects, it often results in great loss.

Will Elect in July

The election of officers for the Legion is set for July 5. At the meeting of June 7, the nominating committee reported

Most churches have a growing program of Christian education and fellowship. A few give little attention to educational methods and to the application of religious principles to daily life.

While standing staunchly for complete religious freedom, one must candidly admit that some churches are better than others.

Is Nature "Red in Tooth and Claw" as Some Affirm? Not very red.

This glib, graphic, gruesome phrase falsely pictures life as a jungle where the lion tears the tiger and the tiger, the wild boar. "All life's like that," some shallow thinking persons say, and believing it they behave with jungle manners.

But all life ISN'T like that. Only a small part of it is. The jungle forms but one small portion of life—and it is being pushed back, as civilization advances.

Mother love, noble heroism, unselfish sacrifice, high service, cordial cooperation and generous altruism give the lie to the oversimplified half truth that nature is red in tooth and claw. Christ and Lincoln challenge all such brutal pessimism.

Except for a few men—and they are the reddest and bloodiest of nature's creatures as they drive their fellow-men into the shambles of war—mankind at heart is peace-

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers about Religion, Morals and Personal Problems by DR. WELDON F. CROSSLAND Rochester, New York

Is one church as good as another? If you will define what you mean by the word "good," you can easily answer this question.

One's broad Christian tolerance inclines one to say "Yes," as there is a great deal of good in every Church. One's honesty after considering all the facts compels one to say "No."

Most churches stand for the great Christian truths of God, Christ, faith, love, brotherhood, redemption and immortality.

A few emphasize some incidental truth or rite, exalting it to a position out of all proportion to its value in the Christian scheme of values. Such churches are marginal in their teaching.

Most churches are served by a finely trained ministry, competent and informed. A few churches will admit to their ministry anyone who feels he has had "a call to preach," without regard to his education or fitness. Would anyone employ a surgeon to operate or a teacher to teach on such a basis?

In the difficult task of religious leadership adequate training is essential, if the church is to be guided into better service.

Most churches show a broadly tolerant spirit of goodwill. A few are limited in outlook, narrow and intolerant.

While standing staunchly for complete religious freedom, one must candidly admit that some churches are better than others.

Rural School News

Looking Back Sixty Years . . .

Rolling prairie hills — deep grass broken by an occasional trail — scattered dugouts and frame shacks dotting the landscape — small plots of broken ground planted to grain — a few precious trees being carefully nursed to growth — little settlements springing up at LaPorte and a few other points on the stage routes. So was the picture of Wayne county 40 years ago.

When this section was in such a state of development, the Northern Nebraska Journal, published by Wm. Huse at Ponca, relates in the June 12, 1879, issue that "the census returns of Nebraska for the year ending April 30 will foot up to 475,000. If such is the case, the growth of this state is without parallel. About nine out of 10 newcomers have until recently been located in the southern and central parts of the state, and northern Nebraska had but a sprinkling of an increase in its population. At present, however, the tide is turning this way. People have found that there is a good country here, that it is not such a succession of barren sand hills as Omaha land agents have been pleased to report to immigrants, but a country second to no part of the state. Hence there is a rush this way, and as a consequence, with the excellent land and low prices, this part of the state will soon be filled up."

Business is also reported brisk at the land office in Yankeetown where on the 4th of this month 8,000 acres of land were entered.

Problems Similar.
Problems of state were bothering residents six decades ago. The public debt increased $62,500 in a month. What would those folks say if they looked at the figures today?

Another similarity between 1879 and the present was the movement to take value out of the silver dollar. A Chicago paper wrote most critically of the fact that 85c worth of silver bullion was made into a piece of money and stamped $1. "Why didn't they go further and have in the dollar only 15c worth of silver?" the writer questions. "The principal would be just as dishonest. Thus it is proposed to cheat the people of this country out of 15c on every $1 and pay that amount over to the owners of the bullion to be coined. This 15c is a premium offered to speculators to bring here the depreciated silver of other countries and have it coined at a loss of 15c on every $1 to the people of this country."

Memorial day was observed generally over the county May 30 when graves of veterans were strewn with flowers. That night a terrific tornado passed over portions of Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, resulting in the loss of more than 50 lives and much property. The funnel-shaped cloud tore a path of destruction through the territory and then disappeared to the northwest. The heaviest rain ever known accompanied the storm, actually deluging the country. Funds were gathered to help in relief of the stricken people.

Reports of new party organizations in various states indicated dissatisfaction with the way affairs were moving. Dispatches in the 1879 issue relate that the workmen's party was called together in California. Ohio and Maine had greenback party conventions, and Iowa prohibitionists met to outline their program.

Have Troubles Abroad.
Sixty years ago, as today, trouble between nations kept the eastern hemisphere in unrest. Trouble arose between Germany and Egypt over the treatment by the latter of her creditors, many of whom are of German nationality. Word received in London from Cape Town stated that a large force of dissatisfied Zulus had surrendered to the British. The most intimate friend of the Russian czar was murdered, and an attempt to blow up the court at St. Petersburg, Russia, was frustrated. The English judge was insulted in Mandalay, causing great excitement in Calcutta. The Portuguese and British governments concluded a treaty for suppression of slave trade and development of trade in Africa.

Anxiety resulted from a famine which spread over Cashmere, and a dispatch from Rome expressed anxiety because Mt. Etna developed 30 new craters.

Important to Nebraskans.

June 15—This day in 1898 the first Nebraska regiment sailed from San Francisco to Manila.

June 16—This day in 1886 squabbles were reported to be playing havoc in many cornfields in western Nebraska.

June 17—This day in 1855 Colonel Dodge was still conferring with the Indians. A cloudburst visited Trenton this day in 1932.

June 18—At this time the blue grass harvest starts, this being most important in Holt county.

June 19—This day in 1922 Emil Muller unearthed an Indian skeleton six miles north of Columbus. This day in 1871 Edward Rosewater started the Omaha Bee, his main objective being to win favor for his board of education bill. The paper ran for 66 years and was then sold.

June 20—The grasshopper population of Nebraska is estimated at 17 billion. Cornerstone for the new Lincoln high school building was laid this day in 1913.

June 21—This day in 1835 Colonel Dodge met the Grand Fawcett near Osceola. The first constitution was ratified by popular vote this day in 1868. Crooks came to Omaha this day in 1894 to attend the democratic silver conference.

Annual Meeting Of Schools Held

The annual meeting in school districts was held Monday, June 12. Officers elected and other reports made are to be sent to County Supt. F. B. Decker soon.

New Examinations To Be Indugurated

New forms of teachers' examinations are to be used in Nebraska, the plan to be inaugurated in July. Northeast Nebraska county superintendents, who met at Norfolk Tuesday last week, decided to convene again soon to discuss the examination plans. They will gather either in Wayne June 29 or in Norfolk July 7.

Mike McCoy of Cedar county, president, and Miss Genevieve Welch, Thurston county, secretary, were re-elected officers of the district school heads. The aim of the district association is to get uniformity of methods and records, also to discuss common problems.

Supt. F. B. Decker went from Wayne county to the meeting. School heads were present from Madison, Thurston, Cedar, Stanton, Antelope, Boone, Nance, Wheeler, Cuming and Platte counties.

In a spelling contest Ruth Allvin placed first. Patrons served lunch.

Visit of Royal Couple Captures News Headlines

One of the outstanding events of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth in Washington, D. C., last Friday was the placing by the king of a wreath on the tomb of George Washington who about 164 years ago led the American colonies in a rebellion against the rule of another King George of England. The royal couple spent Saturday in New York and then visited the president's home at Hyde Park before leaving this country. The king and queen are the first royal rulers to visit the United States.

Did You Know?

The Mormon hand-cart expedition left Florence, Neb., August 18, 1856, bound for Salt Lake City, a pilgrimage which cost the lives of many of the people who hoped to walk across the plains, rivers and mountains and push loaded carts, besides. There were several of these heroic but ill-fated attempts to cross the prairies on foot. In one expedition of 600 people more than one-fourth died. It took about four months for the others to reach Salt Lake.

Gen. Wm. S. Harney led an expedition of troops from Fort Kearney to Ash Hollow, September 3, 1855, to punish the Sioux Indians for the Grattan massacre. It was so skillfully accomplished, from the soldier's point of view, that less than 10 white men were listed as casualties. The Indians lost heavily and all their supplies were confiscated or destroyed. To the army it was known as the battle of the blue water because it occurred on Blue creek.

Popcorn day is a unique Nebraska celebration. It derives its name from that of the crop grown widely in the North Loup region. The celebration was first held in 1902. It resembles a county fair, but its baseball games and fiddlers' contest suggest an old settlers' picnic, while its parade, stunts and concessions on main street, where popped and buttered corn is served free with hot coffee, are reminiscent of a street carnival.

This plan is followed in a number of other counties and may be used here.

Helpful Service Only Allowed

County agricultural agents are instructed to give courteous, helpful consideration to all legitimate farm organizations, but solicitation by agents of membership in such organizations is a violation of the policy of the extension service, according to instruction received by H. J. Podoll. The matter is brought to the attention of the public because an agent in Alabama was using the extension service influence to secure memberships in a farm organization, and attributed the payments made to farmers in connection with the program of the AAA to the efforts of this organization. Such practices are forbidden and Mr. Podoll warns against them.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Never before in our history have there been so many British flags flying in our nation's capital. Hundreds of thousands of people came to get a glimpse of the royal couple. More than 150,000 federal employees were on hand to greet them. It was a real American welcome. Outside of a few disgruntled society-razed people who were mad because they didn't get an invitation to the garden party for the king and queen, the rank and file of people here thought it was all right to give the visitors a wholesome American greeting.

Everybody here knows that the visit of the king and queen was a combined social and business proposition, with emphasis on the latter reason. The British want to be sure we are going to be good neighbors. They need us more than we need them. From the business angle there is the little matter of war talk in Europe. Britain, of course, wants to be sure we will be on her side. Then, too, there is the matter of trade treaties. England is a great trader and the United States is the world's biggest customer. And, also, there is the matter of trade in Latin-America. Germany, Italy and Japan are not our biggest competitors there. English traders have done and are doing quite a big business with the Latin-Americans. Uncle Sam's traders must be on their toes these days if they want to keep pace with the world traders.

The administration's reply to the unworkable Townsend plan to pay all people 60 or more years of age up to $200 a month is some amendment of the social security act to make larger federal contributions to the needy old people. One movement has started to make the federal contribution somewhat larger than the states' share. There is another movement to clear the way for old age pensions by constitutional amendment. A fight against the Townsend plan is working. The effect of letting the Townsend plan be opposed to the Townsend plan was evident in the house where the bill embracing the plan was defeated; the vote being 97 for and 302 against. Two principal old age pension proposals were submitted to the committee on ways and means. One was the Townsend plan. The other was the plan of the general welfare group. E. A. Johnson, formerly associated with Dr. Townsend, is legislative secretary of the general welfare organization. Many members had worked for a hearing and full debate on the floor for one or the other of the two plans. The Townsend plan follows demands that their bill come out under a "gag" rule which permitted no amendment. The general welfare people claimed that the Townsend bill as drawn, could not be administered. The result was that the general welfare leaders fought the Townsend bill, claiming it would increase unemployment and fail to bring help to the aged. Many members friendly to the principle of old age pension opposed the "sales tax" features of the Townsend bill because of the increased burden that would fall upon poor people. "Gag" rule and refusal to permit amendments cost the Townsend bill some votes. Anyway both plans are still live issues and both the Townsend leaders and the general welfare leaders tell members they will continue their organizations and wage fights in the next political campaigns.

Hearings on both the Townsend and general welfare plans have been held. The committee heard many witnesses since hearings began five months ago. The general welfare bill remains in the committee and no further hearings are in prospect. The fight between the leaders of the two plans seems to be over the $200 a month item. Mr. Johnson of the general welfare group tells members that, the people are not in favor of the $200 per month per person. The Townsend leaders say the $200 per month figure is merely the "maximum" and while they feel many people favor the retention of that figure. Up to this time there has been no compromise between the Townsend and general welfare camps.

A letter comes from Genoa, Nebraska, asking if the king of England is here to pay us at least part of the money we loaned England to help win the world war. The answer to that is that nothing has been said about the war debts lately except there is some gossip that perhaps our foreign debtors are about to ask us to cancel the interest rate and some more of the loans on which they have not yet paid us anything. In the meantime many farmers are urging passage of a bill which would lower the rate of interest on their loans from Uncle Sam.

Band Concerts Open. Pender band presented its first Sunday evening concert at the park there Sunday evening. Prof. John R. Keith of Wayne, will direct the band this summer while Stanley Davis studies at Northwestern university.

Spiritual Aspect Is Need of World

George W. Shaw

Thousands of Christian Scientists, holding their annual church meeting in Boston, challenged a troubled world to change its perspective from a material to a spiritual basis in its search for release from pressing economic and political problems. Geo. W. Shaw, native of Iowa, was elected president of First Church of Christ at Boston.

Looking beneath the surface ripples of troubled international relationships apparent in the world today, the leaders emphasized the importance of keeping alive the vital spiritual truth in connection with home, church, business and government.

Spiritual enlightenment is actively at work today, the need being more fully realized because of turbulent times.
