

Farmers Oppose Open Season on Pheasants at This Time—College Homecoming—Superior Middlewest—As to Persons Changing Places—Wage and Hour Law—Travelers Abroad—How to Acquire New Territory—Football Antidotes War Itself.

The belief that pheasants do more good in destroying grasshoppers than harm in eating grain has led many farmers to trown on the open season at a time when much expense and effort are being spent in trying to get rid of the insect pest. Pheasants are reported not so numerous as usual in this county, and steps taken to prevent shooting on farms indicate a determination to protect the birds as far as possible.

Annual Big Time. We always enjoy the college's annual homecoming-day parade. Numerous school bands from northeast Nebraska towns enlivened the line of march Saturday and added to the thrill inspired by splendidly decorated floats.

Spectators who look on annual activities at the college, have a feeling of regret that they, too, had not been enrolled in the institution at some time during its life.

Wholesome Social Order. Speaking at Norfolk recently, Dr. C. S. Boucher, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, advocated some fundamental changes in the Nebraska school system, and then said that after having lived in the south, east and north, he had found people of the middlewest the most wholesome.

On the latter point we agree. As one reason for this favorable condition we would suggest freedom of schooling. The boy or girl who cannot afford to go to the university for higher training can get it at comparatively small cost in one of the state teachers' colleges. And young persons do not want to be educated just to make a living, but to learn to think clearly and rationally and to fit into the middle-west's wholesome social order by which the chancellor is favorably impressed.

On Being One's Self. College students were asked recently by their instructor if they could think of persons they would rather be than themselves. In such an exchange one would have to accept the bad with the good, the undesirable with the desirable. He would accept all the burdens and responsibilities involved. Any physical defects or mental peculiarities would be included in the deal. If an older would go back to youth he would have to forfeit riches developed through long time. If a young person would prefer the achievements of an elder, he would have to surrender the intervening experience of buoyancy and ambition, of agility and courage. If one would choose to be a man or woman of distinction in the arts or sciences, he would have to adopt all the weaknesses involved and encounter numerous disappointments. If he would take the place of the man of great material wealth, he would have to accept all the anxieties and trials and responsibilities that accompany it. We understand the student's question and do not react favorably to making any changes. They preferred to be themselves, and run no chance of being worse. Thus, there is not so much real envy as some pessimistic individuals would have us suppose.

Requirements Increased. Requirements of the wage and hour law are being stepped up this month, and theorists in control of administration express the belief that some good has resulted. But business and industry do not agree that results are as beneficial as reported, or that they justify the burden. The wage and hour setup is one among other fanciful experiments that impose on productive endeavors at a time when they can least afford to stand the gaff.

Braving War Dangers. Miss Glennie Bacon, teacher in the Wayne high school for a series of years, has been traveling abroad for several months accompanied by her sister, Miss Mildred, graduate of the Wayne State Teachers college. The experience is particularly daring at this time of war hazards, and friends will be glad to know when they have landed safely in the United States. Their study of peoples and conditions in foreign countries will be a source of much value to persons unable or unwilling to take such a trip. What the travelers find out will doubtless convey to many others a higher appreciation of home advantages including American security.

Not the Modern Way. The safest and cheapest way to acquire additional territory was proved by the United States in 1867 when it purchased Alaska from Russia. Apparently Russia has not profited by that example.

Letting Off Steam. If it is true, as believed by Dr. Henry Williams, University of Lawrence Textley Is in Most Critical Condition of Three in Accident.

Lawrence Textley, 34, of Carroll, was seriously hurt, and George Owens and Gurney Prince, also of Carroll, sustained injuries about 5 o'clock Sunday morning when the Owens car struck a culvert on highway 35 about three and a half miles west of Hoskins. Textley, who was in the front seat with the driver, was thrown from the car and struck the concrete tubing beneath the culvert. He suffered concussion of the brain, fractured jaw and other head injuries, sustained a broken ankle and lost much blood. He is in a Norfolk hospital. Mr. Owens suffered cuts on the head that required 18 stitches. He returned home Monday. Mr. Prince, who was riding in the back seat of the car, was only bruised. Ralph Prince brought him from Norfolk Sunday. The car was wrecked.

Red Cross Roll Call Organized

Workers Are Being Picked For Membership Drive To Be Held Soon.

Organization for Wayne county's part in the 23rd annual American Red Cross membership drive, to be conducted between Armistice day and Thanksgiving, is nearing completion. The 1939 quota for this county is $565, which is $125 over last year. Increased responsibilities in relieving human suffering impartially have led the Red Cross to estimate its need as an additional million memberships. Already thousands of refugees in England, Germany, France and other European countries are receiving care, and the usual Red Cross work of relief in disasters, service to veterans, first aid, life saving, etc., are carried on in this country. Raymond Schlotterback, assistant director of first aid, life saving and accident in the midwest area, was here last Thursday and Friday. The need is more urgent (Continued on Page Two)

Head of School Addresses Club

Nominations Are Made for Kiwanis Officers to Be Elected Monday.

Supt. N. F. Thorpe made comparisons of the two types of schools, the formal and the progressive, in addressing Kiwanis club Monday. The formal was used a number of years ago and the progressive uses methods of the other with improvements. A goal must be present in education as well as business. The means of attaining the goal must also be known. Education in the past ten years has lacked objectives; it has just been handed down. A good ideal of education is a preparation for life. The progressive education is not only preparation but it is life. "If we are going to teach the children to live in the future, they must be taught to live today." Taking a child out of the home or social environment and putting him into school is an abrupt change. The school must be made more comparable to the child's everyday life, in the opinion of the superintendent. Changes also have to be made in regard to the discipline, continued Mr. Thorpe. The teacher is not a dictator and may not always be right. Children are human beings and should be treated that way. Pupils should not have to ask for permission to do everything in the (Continued on Page Two)

RESPONSE TO WANT ADS IS SOURCE OF REASSURING HOPE

NOTWITHSTANDING a short corn crop there had seemed a dearth of corn pickers and other helpers. There had also seemed an over-supply of fellows seeking a living without work. But an evident change is taking place. We were encouraged the past week by the number responding to "help wanted" advertisements. Prompt answers indicate an enlivened spirit of independence—an eagerness on the part of many to accept employment as opportunities develop. The condition is a swing in the right direction.

Progress Slow On Final Work

Work was progressing slowly this week on the addition to Connell hall, Wayne State Teachers college. R. C. Hahbeck of Wayne, the painting subcontractor, was finding application of copper foil to columns and pilasters in the student lounge to be tedious, while most of the other contractors were marking time, awaiting final odds and ends of material and equipment. While 24 men worked last week, the report to the Public Works Administration this week will show only 10 men working on the site. The painters were working on the copper foil to the pilaster base, preparatory to the hammering of the foil, which will give the surface a hammered copper appearance. Carpenters Wednesday night had completed the hanging of the decorative window shutters on the front of the new unit and the retrofitted cafeteria. Some hardware was being installed and some corrective work being accomplished on cement floors. College forces were installing the postoffice lockboxes in the postal substation, to be located on the main floor, just to the left as one enters the main door. NYA students were waxing the new main dining room floor for the owner, and the contractor was doing some cleaning. The material shed and the construction office to the rear of the building has been sold and the purchaser already has started to raze the structure. As yet, the specifications for the air conditioning machinery and other equipment has not yet been approved by PWA.

School Calendar Is Established

Board Decides to Purchase Additional Lockers and Floor Covering

Wayne board of education, in a special meeting Monday evening, established the year's calendar. School will be dismissed next spring on May 31. This allows two days' vacation at Thanksgiving and a week at Christmas. The holiday vacation will begin Friday evening December 22, and school will resume Tuesday morning, January 2. The work of Monday, January 1, will be made up on Saturday, January 6. The school has recess this week Thursday and Friday for the teachers' convention, most of the local faculty planning to go to the Norfolk meeting. The board decided to advertise for bids November 7 on additional lockers and floor covering for the city school. Some other equipment was purchased at less than the estimated figure so the board will be able to purchase other needed equipment with funds left. The school has 131 lockers for 300 students, and the board hopes to provide enough so that no more than two students will share one locker. Cage locker system for boys' and girls' athletic equipment will be built. The board also voted to have the glass arch over the east entrance repaired. Supt. N. F. Thorpe expects that some rooms in the new addition will be in use by November 6. Regular board meeting will be held Monday, November 6. High School News. Therefore, the first transmittal should follow in a few days. If the office receives checks for the other transmittals, checks will be mailed to all producers, giving them the schedule of when and where the checks will be distributed. Mr. Podoll asks farmers to wait for their cards.

Chester Lake, administrative field representative of REA in Washington, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Lake's object in attending the meeting is to get a general plan for future development of rural electrification in northeast Nebraska. NORFOLK ASKED TO YIELD TO PLAN OF FAIR RECIPROcity

THE DISTRICT teachers' convention is being held at Norfolk this week, and it is expected registrations will mount to 1,300 before the final session. "Improve Schools to Improve Citizenship" is the theme of the convention, and everyone will agree it is an appropriate one. As the buying power of the teaching group is expressed in liberal fashion in view of impending winter needs, the convention is very desirable for the business district of Norfolk. We note with satisfaction that several of Wayne's educational and musical leaders are scheduled to contribute to the program. Whereas Wayne is the acknowledged educational center of northeast Nebraska, most teachers having gained their mental refinements here, and whereas the Norfolk business district has succeeded in having transplanted from Wayne to Norfolk a major football game in the near future, therefore be it resolved that, on a basis of fair reciprocity, the Norfolk district join Wayne in inviting the teachers to hold their next district meeting here. They would be just coming back home, and home is yearning for them.

Accident Fatal To Archie Mears Near Plainview

Former Resident of Wayne Is Instantly Killed Friday Night.

Archie E. Mears, 47, Sioux City commission man, formerly of Wayne, was killed instantly Friday evening about 8:40 when his car plunged into a ditch off highway 20 a fourth of a mile west of Plainview and then turned over in a field as a result of a tire blowout. Mr. Mears' neck was broken, his chest crushed and a deep gash cut in his forehead. Mr. Mears was alone at the time of the accident. Examination of the car showed that the right rear tire on Mr. Mears' car, in which he was returning home, had been punctured causing the car to swerve in loose gravel at the side of the road and then go off the grade. Brakes on the car were set. The auto passed out of the ditch, sheared off a telephone pole and came to a stop in a field about 200 yards from the highway where it overturned. Mr. Mears' body was found about 90 feet from the car. Dale Watson, farmer southwest of Plainview, saw the lights of the overturned car from the road. He stopped his machine and went to the field to investigate but he was not able immediately to locate the (Continued on Page Two)

Work Schedule Being Followed

Completion of High School Is Expected by Middle Of November.

Construction on the Wayne city school project continues on schedule this week, and indications are that the building will be completed by November 18, according to George Stanley, construction superintendent. However, some items of equipment and any additional work which might be added, might delay the project completion date. The contract completion date, as established by the Public Works Administration, is November 21, but the project completion date, which allows for extensions on the contract and additional equipment, is December 25. Report to PWA showed about 30 men employed during the past week as compared with 36 the previous week. Completion of the terrazzo work, which has been one of the uncertainties, now is expected about November 10. Superintendent Stanley promises to have the rest of the job completed within a week after that date. Since last week the asphalt tile floor has been laid in the two kindergarten rooms. This a checker-board design of 9-inch square tile, mahogany tile and alternating with pearl gray tile with a black border. Covering of the boiler, hotwater heater and tank and the steam pipes with asbestos is about half completed. Ceiling in the activity room has been applied and the construction of the stage is well underway. The fibre board ceiling has recessed light fixtures with wire guards flush with the ceiling surface. Sheetmetal workers and weatherstrippers also were at work Wednesday.

body which was hidden by underbrush. Mr. Mears was lifeless when found, according to coroner Edward Beach of Pierce county. Music Hour Concert Is Given at College

A number of appreciative listeners gathered last Thursday evening at the college auditorium for the opening program of the "Music Hour" concert series. This series of concerts is being produced by the college piano department, under the direction of Prof. Albert G. Carlson, and sponsored by the K.M.K. piano club.

Solo piano selections were played by Eleanor Martin of Allen, Genevieve Lundak of Pierce, Margaret Heglund of Wakefield, and Maxine Mills of Tilden. Five double piano teams were featured, these consisting of Larhyla Whitmore and Dorothy Zimmerman, Orson Jeffrey and Genevieve Lundak, Frances Blezek and Maxine Mills, Dolores Nelson and Eleanor Gustafson, Eleanor Martin and Margaret Haglund. Several out-of-town guests were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Lundak of Pierce.

Prof. Carlson gave a short talk on the theme "The Piano, the Incomparable." Quoting in part he said, "the piano holds the unique position of being the most favored instrument through two centuries of time. The four greatest composers of the 18th century, Bach, Handel, Haydn and Mozart, were superior performers on the instrument. The 19th century produced Franz Liszt, the greatest pianist of all times, Frederick Chopin, great pianist and composer of some of the choicest gems in all music literature. Schubert, Mendelssohn, Weber, Schubert, Brahms and a host of other great composers of the century were pianists. Claude Debussy, French pianist and composer, started the 20th century off with an array of compositions in style unique and revolutionary in tone. He has influenced almost every composer of the present century. In this period we have seen the rise of a generation of notable pianists. Heading the list with the great Paderewski we have such famous performers as Godowsky, Kurbi, Grainger, Hofmann, Hambourg, and among the ladies, Carreno, Zeisler, Elly Ney and Noeva. The piano, besides the organ, is unique in the field of music in that it is a complete instrument. One performer can play compositions in which all the essential elements of musical compositions are produced. We are so grounded in our listening now that our ears demand the chordal and harmonic background to a given melody. We also demand the numerous devices of counter-melodic material so much in vogue at the present time. All of these elements are reproduced by the piano. In all the piano has had and still retains a brilliant place in music circles."

THE WAYNE HERALD E. W. Huse, Editor and Proprietor The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County

Entered at the postoffice at Wayne, Nebraska, as Second Class Mail Matter in 1886 under the act of March 3, 1879. Known office of publication, Wayne, Nebraska.

WE HAVE inspected a musical journal, "Music in Schools," published in London, and note that activities in the musical field abroad have been greatly restricted by the war.

"This section," the letter says, "provides that, upon proclamation by the president of a national emergency, he, the president, may censor or forbid radio discussion of any subject or subjects whatever."

Mr. Gannett, in his letter, urges that congress set up a committee to determine just what powers have been put in the hands of the president. His letter lists nine other powers which can be exercised by the president without consulting congress.

How many other hidden powers was the president clothed with in those days of executive domination of congress? It would be interesting to know. Attorney General Frank Murphy has refused to define these powers at the request of the senate.

Next to pledges to keep the United States out of the European war should be our prayers for a satisfactory and permanent peace before hostilities go so far as to cause widespread destruction of life and property, if not of civilization itself, and after that a world economic disorder, which on top of what already exists will have its repercussions for generations to come.

War brings business booms with advancing prices for war materials which spread to other commodities and create a mad race to reap the rich harvest of paper profits. This vicious cycle of advancing prices nullifies most of the real gain, and hurts more than it helps those groups which are unable to keep pace with the dizzy war markets, and whose prices drop first and farthest in the depression that inevitably follows when wars end.

Another danger confronting nations in the present war hysteria, is to the foundations of their own governments. Those nations which bask in the blessings of a democracy should not lose sight of the fact that war itself is a dictator type of conflict, with the liberties and independence of people very much restricted, and that once such restrictions are imposed in these days of ever-changing political and economic thought, they are likely to become permanent barnacles to our civilization.

In any event war settles nothing, the winner is loser, and the final chapter is written around the conference table, either wisely or wrongly, with words as the weapons. Why cannot civilized nations resort to reason instead of force, and save the world the horrors from this relic of barbarism? That should be the road to permanent peace for which millions are offering their prayers in the present conflict.

Stum clearance is effective, of course, because Uncle Sam is willing to spend money lavishly and can afford to pay ridiculously extravagant prices for the land and the shacks. Unfortunately the slum dwellers are simply left without homes as they cannot afford to pay the rents or conform to the regulations required by the new buildings.

"Government owned housing is not providing improved living accommodations for the underprivileged," declares Morton Bodfish, vice president of the United States Building and Loan League. "It is providing excellent living conditions for a group with established incomes whose situation, in many respects, is better than that of the taxpayers who are footing the bill."

A survey of some federal low cost housing projects has revealed that occuparts of the projects, in many cases, comprise less than 2 per cent of the families in the area cleared for the low cost housing structures. "Clearing of slums should be up to the city government. It means that the city should go ahead with demolition in undesirable areas. New streets should be provided in those areas and sanitation should be improved. Then let these groups with established incomes buy their homes and get them paid for. It is a shocking thing to socialize housing."

Emergency Powers. (Norfolk Daily News) How many Americans know that the president, by issuing a proclamation, could clamp down on this country a censorship of radio as strict as that exercised by Adolf Hitler?

Few, if they have not interested themselves specially in the subject, realize the extent to which the president has been clothed with emergency powers. But, according to a letter sent to several key members of congress, Section 606 (c) of the Communications act of 1934, makes possible a control of radio little short of absolute.

And with the letter, written to Senators Vandenberg, Borah and others by Frank Gannett of the national committee to uphold constitutional government, are included quoted extracts from the law which seem to support that sweeping charge.

Mr. Gannett, in his letter, urges that congress set up a committee to determine just what powers have been put in the hands of the president. His letter lists nine other powers which can be exercised by the president without consulting congress.

The authority to censor radio was contained in the Communications act of 1934, which was rushed through congress as "must" legislation at a time when a majority of senators and representatives were doing Mr. Roosevelt's bidding without even stopping to learn what he was asking of them.

How many other hidden powers was the president clothed with in those days of executive domination of congress? It would be interesting to know. Attorney General Frank Murphy has refused to define these powers at the request of the senate.

EXERCISE. It is strangely out of line with health needs to be eternally on the alert to avoid physical work and to steer away from everything that suggests leg exercise. Muscles were made to use, and if they are not used, they become soft and atrophied. Inventors and self-appointed human caretakers have been so resourceful and active in wiping out toil and providing uninterrupted leisure that the average fellow doesn't get enough muscle action to keep his physique properly robust. Increasing use of motorized equipment in going and coming is fixing people so they cannot pedal along with the sprightliness intended by nature. More walking is important. All forms of physical endeavor help keep the human anatomy satisfactorily balanced and energized.

Omaha history professor, that football helps keep America out of war, everybody would be glad to encourage the gridiron sport. Dr. Williams says we are pigskin-conscious and are able to let our emotional steam without making into foreign troubles.

Anyway, Dr. Williams points out that the European war is not our quarrel and that any notion that a foreign power will ever try to invade the United States is foolish.

THE VOICE of RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers About Religion, Morals and Personal Problems . . .

Dr. Weldon F. Crossland Rochester, New York

Can American stay out of the present European war?

Yes, and I believe America will remain aloof for the following reasons:

First, America today has developed a higher immunity to propaganda than in the last war. Americans know how they were misled by distortion of fact and by untruth. They are wiser now.

Next, the memory of the last war is still fresh in the minds of tens of millions. They remember the losses as well as the unpaid debts on which they are still paying interest. They remember the futility of the peace that came at the war's end.

Then, at Washington governmental power is now in the hands of congress instead of in the hands of the president. The senate and the house of representatives are more sensitive to the will of the people in matters of war and peace.

Assuming that a more stringent "neutrality" law will be dealing with credits and American shipping, fewer points of friction will arise that might involve the United States.

Sentiment for remaining out of the struggle is today overwhelming. While this might be changed by some abysmal brutality of the Nazi regime, such a change seems unlikely.

Why is faith so important today? Because despair over the present and fear of the future might easily plunge mankind into the abyss of another period like the dark ages.

Faith is needed today more than at any period in the last one hundred years.

Faith gives vision, courage and power. All things are possible to him who believes.

Faith increases that hopeful self-confidence, on which success depends.

Faith stirs talents and abilities that lie latent in one's life.

Faith brings the adventurous note into living, so that one discovers a new continent, another flies the ocean, and another wipes out a plague of malaria.

Faith is indispensable to anyone who would do anything worthy of the gratitude of mankind.

Faith creates the dynamic power, which makes the man of faith irresistible and victorious. "Faith is fire," says Browning. Faith is also electric, light and energy.

"Act as if it were impossible to fail" stands as sound psychology and courageous living. Life answers the faith of a believing soul.

Especially in times like these, when most other foundations are crumbling, faith is a necessity whose importance cannot be over-estimated.

Do you think interest in religion in America is increasing? Yes. Men and women today are in increasing numbers turning to religion as the only way out of the desert of war and hate into the promised land of better times.

In a recent sampling of opinion, more persons stated their belief that religion could help more than either business or government in bringing order out of chaos.

Today a larger proportion of the total population holds membership in some religious group than in 1918. Church membership has increased more rapidly than population.

Radio brings the message of religion to every home. Newspapers print more religious news. Americans are more open-minded to the appeal of religion than at any time in two decades.

Religious people are making a more serious attempt to apply the teachings of religion to such problems as war, injustice, and racial hatreds.

Dynamic movements such as the National Preaching Mission and the Oxford Group Movement have received a friendly hearing.

College youth show a growing interest in religion. Booklets of daily religious devotions have increased in circulation until they now number several million.

What can the individual Christian do to keep America out of the European war? One may reasonably assume that the vast majority of Christians who seriously consider the matter would wish America to remain out of the mad mass murder now going on in Europe.

America will never enter the present struggle unless reason, experience and common sense are overwhelmed by a blind, mob-mindedness.

be German, British, Russian, French or Japanese. Hate is the basis of entry into war. Hate and loathing are whipped up by governments, radio, newspapers, motion pictures and speakers until a declaration of war becomes easy. Hatred away now and forever.

The Christian can voice his convictions among his acquaintances and in the groups among which he moves. The individual helps create and determine public opinion. He can color the thinking of a hundred persons if his reasoning is sound and persuasive.

The Christian can write his senators and congressmen his convictions of America's relation to the European war. He should let his public servants from the president down know what he and his friends think about neutrality. A three-cent stamp now may save the citizen three thousand times that amount in war taxes.

The Christian can pray for all the peoples of the world. They need God's help as they suffer, often as innocent victims of ruthless leaders, who have seized control of their government. These nations are more to be pitied and prayed for than censured.

The Christian spirit in individual Christians is the chief hope of the world.

Was a picture of Jesus ever painted while he was alive? Only the word picture preserved in the four gospels. No painting of Him was made during His lifetime, so far as reliable records go.

If one had been the colors, pigments and canvas would not have survived 19 centuries.

One eagerly wishes the world had some authentic likeness of the Master. His eyes, His features, His divine personality, His gracious radiance and His spiritual power would have made a painting or a bust of Him the world's supremest artistic treasure.

The thousands of paintings of Christ, done by artists of many lands and centuries, usually take on the features of the nationality of the painter. Dutch or Italian artists naturally portray their ideal of Christ in terms familiar to them. An African negro painted Christ with negroid facial characteristics, calling his painting "The Black Christ!"

Could any higher tribute be paid to the universal appeal, which Christ makes to all races and colors?

The portrait of the One, Who went about doing good, is found in the teachings and events of the gospels.

What moral issues seem to be involved in the present war? Among the issues having ethical bearings in the present war are the following, stated in question form:

Are treaties made by governments to be kept, or may they be broken at the will and convenience of rulers?

Are the smaller nations to continue to exist as independent governments or are they to become the vassals of their more powerful neighbors?

Do right and justice have places in international affairs, or is military might to be the final arbiter of the fate of nations?

Are the differences of interest between nations to be settled by peaceful conference or by destructive war?

Does the individual citizen exist for the state or should the state exist for the individual?

Shall the truth be told by governments as well as by individuals or shall propaganda know no principles but that of self-interest as defined by the rulers?

While moral issues are involved in the present European war, none of these, under present conditions, and at this time would warrant America in entering the present struggle.

Crippled Team Will Meet Peru

Wayne College Wildcats Go To Play with Stronger Bobcat Eleven.

Wayne State Teachers college Wildcats, although crippled at the two tackles and at end and in the backfield, revealed that they were not ready for the Peru Bobcats this Friday at Peru, but that they would put up a game fight in their first conference game of the season.

Coach Jim Morrison allowed his men to take last Monday off but practices this week have been held with the intention of planning a Wildcat defense that can take care of Peru's delay plays, and with improving Wayne's rather impotent offense. Wayne will go into this game with a new spirit, a spirit that abounds with the "old winning attitude," and all the players as well as Coach Morrison feel that they can whip Peru and go on to take Chadron and Kearney the following two week-ends.

Comparative scores show that Peru should take the measure of the Wildcats, having licked Kearney, 6-0, while Kearney was winning from Hastings, 12-0, earlier in the season. The Black and Gold eleven, however, have no fear of the odds—the only fear in the Wildcat camp is the ever-increasing injury list—and intend to bring back a victory this Friday night. A defeat will almost ruin Wayne's chances for conference honors this season.

Bud Best, shifty running frosh backfield man, has returned to the fold this week as well as Allan Mitchell, regular tackle, who has been out the past two games, to strengthen the Wildcat team. Not since this season, since the opening game, has Wayne been able to put an injury free team on the field and the addition of Best and Mitchell will greatly aid the Black and Gold cause. If Moon Mullins, tackle, out since the opening game, can be ready to go by Friday the weak spots at tackle can be filled. One other injury occurred when Al Killian, who has been playing good ball the past two games, suffered a leg injury that will probably keep him out of the all-important Peru encounter. Stan Juzek, who has been playing a fine game at the tackle post, has been declared ineligible for this game, also.

Wayne defeated the Peru club last season at Wayne, 12-0, in the Wildcat's Homecoming day game. Coach Morrison has not been able to hold any scrimmage sessions for his players this past week. Being afraid of more injuries. At the present time Coaches Morrison and Cherry are learning the players assignments in case they have to fill in for injured players at Peru. (This wouldn't be so bad considering that Morrison was a star lineman for Iowa awhile back—how long he won't say.)

Predictions for this game favor Peru, but we predict Wayne by a touchdown or two.

Coach Jim Morrison announced today that there will be a reserve team game here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the Wayne college reserves clash with the Western Union college reserves from Lemars, Ia. Wayne plays Western Union November 17.

Will Go Forward On Course Fixed

Parity Prices and Parity Income for Farmers Will Be Goal.

Major programs of the United States department of agriculture are going forward along the course outlined prior to the start of the current European war with the exception that sugar quotas have been suspended, it was explained today by Herman J. Podoll, chairman of the Wayne county agricultural conservation committee.

The AAA, Mr. Podoll said, will continue its battle for parity prices and parity income for farmers. "There is plenty of room for increases in farm prices without resulting in injustice to consumers," he pointed out.

"As in the past, farmers who cooperate in the 1940 AAA program may produce all they can sell at fair prices without damage to the soil. That procedure is in accordance with the policy set out by congress in farm program legislation, and it assures continuation of our over-normal granary and soil conservation efforts.

"Acreage allotments for 1940 will represent all that farmers can hope to raise at a fair price," the chairman continued, "and with these allotments and with huge supplies on hand there is time enough to think about increased acreage allotments next year if better demands for farm commodities warrant such action."

Mr. Podoll cited a recent report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to show that American consumers will have an abundant 1940 food larder. The report says that "present indications point to a production level well in line with the abundance of the last two seasons." It points out that meat supplies will be larger than in any of the years since 1934; that if wheat exports should be as large as in the past two years the carryover on July 1, 1940, would be about 200,000,000 bushels; and that sugar supplies are ample for all requirements of consumers.

HOME mishaps kill or injure many more persons than motor vehicles, yet the average householder faces traffic with mowing and repairs at home.

Each year hazards injure more than 100,000 persons engaged in farm work, yet the farmer fails to take safety precautions which the factory worker adopts as a matter of course.

Together home and farm work accidents last year killed 35,400 adults and children and injured the staggering number of 4,750,000 persons.

To combat this annual accident scourge the American Red Cross launched a nation-wide program in 1935 to acquaint householders and farm workers with the hazards coincident with their work and home life.

Accident prevention is a part of the continuing Red Cross program directed against illness, death and disaster. All Red Cross services are supported by the people who join at the time of the annual Roll Call.

Restore Fabric Color With Smelling Salts

When a perspiration stain changes the color of your dress, try smelling salts to restore the color, Miss Helen Rooke, extension specialist at the Nebraska college of agriculture, suggests.

Perspiration causes one of the most common and troublesome stains on clothing. Though it washes easily with soap and water, it often ruins the garment by changing the color. Dry-cleaning may help but not wholly remove the stain or restore the color.

Check of Erosion Now Being Taken

Measures to guard against wind erosion this fall and winter are now being taken by many Wayne county farmers, Extension Agent Walters reports.

One of the most cheering developments in the whole European scene is the creation of a Scandinavian bloc for protection of sovereignty as inimical elements threatened them.

The fact that the United States and the other 20 American republics have risen to indorse the Scandinavian bloc for neutrality and peace, which also envisions mutual protection for themselves if and when the emergency comes, surely is proof that the effort to impress other nations has not been lost entirely.

Finland, of course, was the nation first menaced. The Moscow threat was obvious, for the Finns had seen the political envelopment of three neighbors on the Baltic, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, by sovietism, and they sensed it was their turn next.

Washington's quiet gesture of support and sympathy extended to Finland has had a salutary effect not only upon Helsinki but upon Moscow. No doubt it encouraged Sweden, Norway and Denmark. May the Scandinavian bloc survive and prosper!

Too many of the social reforms now being advocated are the result of muddled thinking. When visionary reformers talk of the government supporting everybody they simply give evidence of their lack of logical and orderly reasoning.

Throughout the past many years there have been advocates of two systems for the United States. One group has repeatedly suggested that we could get to Utopia in almost no time flat if we would adopt one streamlined scheme or another.

One reason for its excellent work and strict economy is the malleable iron construction. Homecoming Is College Feature Parade, Football Game and Dance Make Gala Day Here for College.

A parade of floats and bands, rally in the willow bowl, band maneuvers at the athletic field, football game in which Hastings defeated Wayne 14 to 0 and dance with crowning of Elaine Lundberg as queen featured annual fall homecoming at Wayne State Teachers college Saturday. A number of former students attended the festivities.

Wayne college band, directed by Prof. John R. Keith, led the parade from the depot up Main street to the campus. This group of about 75 musicians wore uniforms in orange and black, the school colors. The homecoming queen followed in a car. Interspersed through the parade were high school bands. Pender players, in red and white uniforms, were directed by Stanley Davis. Wakefield musicians were in blue and white uniforms. W. G. Loebel is their director. Thurston band, with Theo. Allabaugh director, was uniformed in blue and white. Emerson band, with a tiny girl strutter, wore purple and gold uniforms. Harold Davis is director there.

Among about 20 floats and decorated cars the sophomores took first honors. This float was a huge white swan with two little girls, Karen Dekker and Sandra Kingston, riding on its back. The large framework and white featherlike covering represented much work.

Taking second place was the Terrace hall float. This represented a nursery. A car carried a framework which was designed and trimmed like a baby buggy. Several of the Terrace hall students in the buggy were dressed as infants. Another Terrace young man dressed as a nurse walked on stilts wheeling the buggy.

Third place winner was Neihardt hall float which was an Indian scene with a teepee, two Indians and hunting equipment.

Among other entries in the parade were the following: KNU, car decorated with yellow and white streamers. Men About Town, football scoreboard mounted on a truck decorated with green; WAA, a dog house with Hastings in it; KME, football on decorated car; Commercial club, graph showing Wayne's chance of winning the game; Orpheo, gold lye on car decorated in blue and white; Pep club, cheer leaders on car; YWCA, car decorated in red and blue; Latin club, "Trial of the Gods" depicted by characters in Roman garb; Pile hall, college life with scenes of groups of girls washing, ironing, singing, etc.; Home Economics, scene in operating room; International Relations, carrying flags of many nations; LDL, Greek letters on car; senior class, car decorated in orange and black; Newman club, football scene with sign, "Tame the Broncos." Wayne car dealers entered new models in the procession.

After the parade reached the campus, a rally was held in the willow bowl.

The college musicians and visiting bands presented maneuvers on the athletic field from 1 to 2, marching and playing. Between halves of the game the college band presented the skit, "An Apple for the Teacher," playing and marching to form a tree and apple. The massed bands also played white twirlers performed.

A dance in the gymnasium Saturday evening concluded the homecoming festivities. At that time Elaine Lundberg, Red Oak, Ia., senior was formally presented as homecoming queen. She was chosen for this honor in an all-school election held last week under sponsorship of the "W" club. Attendees also presented Saturday evening, were Marion Pape of Sioux City, Marjorie Holm of Neligh, Vivian Fell of Wakefield, Barbara Claycomb of Wayne, seniors; Loreen Lindburg of Essex, Ia., junior; and Joyce Olson of Soldier, Ia., sophomore.

Following a grand march the dance guests formed a double line from the door to the throne. The queen's attendants, in black formal, and their escorts marched to the throne through the aisle. Then the queen, in white formal, entered with Dean Raaz, president of the "W" club. Mr. Raaz escorted the queen to her throne and presented her with a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Lundberg responded. A telegram of congratulation was read from Miss Harriett Hazinski who is teaching in Texas. Chaperons were Coach and Mrs. J. H. Morrison, Prof. and Mrs. F. G. Dale, Prof. and Mrs. Raymond Schreiner, Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Wollenhaupt, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson.

Hastings Topples Wildcats 14 to 0

Injuries Contribute Much to Failure of Wildcats In Contest Here.

Playing before a large homecoming crowd Saturday afternoon at the college athletic field, an injury-riddled Wayne eleven lost to Hastings by score of 14 to 0.

Wayne failed to capitalize on a scoring chance in the opening quarter, taking a weak Hastings punt on the visitors' 28-yard line; but failed to gain and punted over the goal line. Hastings came back after a punting duel and marched 35 yards toward Wayne's goal line. Hastings tried a placekick which was wide by inches.

In the second period Hastings marched 35 yards to score, Garrison skirting Wayne's left end for 20 yards and kicking the extra point. Garrison scored again in the final quarter around Wayne's left side, running 55 yards with good blocking. Garrison also kicked the extra point. Wayne threatened twice but failed to score.

Injuries contributed to Wayne's downfall, but the heavier Hastings team played hard ball. Farnar and Spilchal looked best for Wayne.

Sixty Years Ago

Back in 1879 teeth ached just as much as they do now. And some one discovered one of nature's very effective anesthetics, according to the Northern Nebraska Journal published by Wm. Huse at Ponca. A man suffering with tooth ache had used hot and cold applications with no relief. He tried to sleep but the excruciating pain continued. After suffering tortures of the "doubly damned" he decided to inflate his lungs to capacity and then let the air out forcibly. Pain soon began to lessen, and finally it disappeared. Shortly the man fell asleep and awoke the following morning refreshed.

Children at the Crossroads

Let's We Forget.
His own beloved son sleeps somewhere in Flanders field with many another World War victim. But the irate father, forgetful for the moment of the grief, gunfire had visited upon him, in the darkness of Halloween fired buckshot into the bodies of three small boys who were playing harmless pranks on him. Two previous Halloweens he had threatened them, albeit their mischief was guileless enough.
Brought into court, the man was heavily fined, yet in reality he was not wholly to be blamed. Thoughtless, careless parents who fail to teach their children that in their fun they must have regard for other people's property rights are actually responsible and should be compelled to pay for the damages done.
Each community should provide an outlet for the exuberant spirit of youth who traditionally plays pranks on Halloweens. The boys who seek amusement and excitement on such an occasion are rarely mean and vicious except to some Scrooge of the neighborhood who probably cursed them every time their foot or their baseball touched his yard.
He is the intended victim of a group of otherwise well-behaved boys who do not realize until too late that on Halloween Scrooge guards his backyard privy with a ten-gauge, double-barreled shotgun.
To turn youngsters' thoughts and energies into safer channels several communities have inaugurated attractive entertainment for Halloweens. Schools and churches may do their part by warning against needless destruction of property and irritation of those citizens who have forgotten that they themselves were once children—and probably mischievous.
The three lads' whose Halloween story this is will carry the scars of gun pellets to their graves. Don't take the same chance; boys! You may be next. It isn't worth the risk.

On the chart are small colored books with the title of the book read and the name of the pupil. Each is interested in reading as many library books as possible.
Wilma Alleman, Bonnell Milliken and Adeline Hoeman spent one night with Miss Gemmill at her home in Carroll. Miss Gemmill was an overnight guest in the Oscar Hoeman and Donald Milliken homes.

Many Activities Are in Progress

A drawing of a frog decorates the cover of the four-page school bulletin entitled, The Frogs Croak, issued by district 5, with Miss Rachel Hansen teacher. The school, located a mile and a half east of Altona, is known as the Frog Pond district.
Two of the five girls enrolled are new this year.

Fourth graders have been learning how to make telephone calls. Penmanship classes have shown much improvement and printing is being learned in art.

A Good English club keeps all pupils alert. When a pupil makes a mistake she must have Mr. Bad English on her desk until some other person makes an error. Mr. Bad English is not good company so each tries to avoid getting him.
A personal health and cleanliness chart is maintained and all have perfect records.
In a spelling contest the pupil with the most perfect lessons receives a prize for the month.

A beautiful bouquet of sumac and a sweet potato vine are attractive in the room.
Louva Pfueger had the highest average among pupils the first month.
Spare moments are spent in the reading club or in crocheting rugs and potholders.
The school paper is one of the new ventures.

Safety Education Program Stressed

In the 31 days of July, Nebraska had 30 motor vehicle deaths and 382 non-fatal accidents, according to figures compiled by the state motor vehicle division.
Safety education is being stressed in Nebraska. A large percentage of the accidents are due to faulty attitudes of drivers and pedestrians, inattention and recklessness, lack of knowledge of driving regulations, lack of skill in driving, physical or mental failure and intoxication are also causes.
Part of the program is to show that a car traveling 20 miles an hour can stop within 22 feet; one going 30 miles needs 50 feet; one at 40 miles requires 88 feet; one traveling 50 miles takes 138 feet to stop; and one traveling 60 miles must have 198 feet to stop. It is also economy to drive more slowly. At 30 miles an hour a car makes 18 miles a gallon; at 50 miles it makes 13 miles and at 60 only 10 miles to the gallon.

To Show Pictures In Safety Program

Safety films will be shown for the public at Wayne auditorium with Supt. F. B. Decker sponsoring them. The date has been tentatively set for Saturday, November 4, at 7:30 p. m. Adults and children are urged to see the pictures which show life at the highway patrol training camp, films on highway safety work and a comedy on the subject. Two state highway patrolmen will be present to explain the pictures. The showing is part of the state-wide movement to reduce accidents on highways.

District 54

(Miss Blanche Johnson, teacher.) Windows are decorated with Halloween ornaments made by 2nd graders.
Girls arranged a Columbus program for opening exercises October 12.
Donald Gubbles is making an agricultural map of the United States for geography.
The 7th and 8th grades have finished salt and flour maps of Europe, showing surface features.

Two new sanitary toilets have been built on the grounds.
Pupils sing each morning and have learned some new selections.
Miss Johnson has adjusted the shades to allow the light to enter from above.
Patty Witmore has had perfect attendance for two months. The 7th and 8th grades are beginning a study of the 13 colonies in history.
On a ship with 11 sails, each sail represents a bad habit. If the bad habit is committed a sail is taken. The ship is then robbed and cannot sail.

Better Feeding Brings BIGGER Profits

Profit Begins With The Sow!

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT, the sow is the real center of money-making in the feedlot. Feeders make or lose on what she gives in the litter. If she gives a five-pig litter at weaning time, production costs will be made—and that's about all. But if she gives an eight-pig litter at weaning time—that's a real money-making opportunity.

The time to begin thinking about extra money-makers in every litter is before farrowing. Not only can more pigs be put in the litter, but size, weight and strength of pigs can be increased by feeding them before they're born. As sows are fed during gestation, so will they farrow. Should their feed be short in essential pig-making material, the sows are going to be short on pigs when they farrow.

Take full advantage of what Purina Sow and Pig Chow offers by getting this special feed before sows. Now, with the addition of PURI-FLAVIN, the vitamin G (flavin) ingredient, a factor especially needed for the embryo (unborn) pig, Sow and Pig Chow is better than ever before. Feed it along with corn or other grain during the gestation and nursing periods to be rewarded on farrowing day with litters that have size, numbers and weight.

We're Keeping Our Pledge . . . and Getting Results!

The beer industry in June, 1938, established its first self-regulatory program in Nebraska. It pledged assistance to the authorities with action designed to "clean up or close up" the small minority among beer retailers who flout the law.

Our records show we have investigated 1,200 outlets in most Nebraska counties. We have issued warnings when necessary, and sought revocation of the licenses of a stubborn few who resisted this legitimate industry's co-operation with the authorities and the public.

New Thrills Are Gained on Visit To Points in East

New York is a world in itself. Thus Mrs. Ed. Perry describes that great metropolis which she found provides the visitor with a thrill unlike that in any other city. Mrs. Perry arrived home Wednesday last week after spending three weeks in New York and Worcester, Mass., with relatives and in Washington, D. C.

New York is so huge, such crowds come and go, and yet even the stranger finds plenty of room and has comparative ease in getting about. Striking contrasts and the numerous nationalities also impress one on his first visit to New York.

The 5th avenue shops are so elaborate and have such a gorgeous array of fine things at high prices that they almost leave one breathless. The "great white way" is the theatre district at 42nd street and this too is so brilliant that words fail to describe its blaze of lights in a wondrous array of shapes and colors. Adjoining this elaborately lighted theatre district are the equally brilliant night clubs. Mrs. Perry visited this district early in the evening but she was informed that the parade of gorgeously-gowned women and swankily-dressed men starts about midnight.

Mrs. Perry also enjoyed visiting Wall street where the wealth of the world is exchanged. Wall street is the older part of New York where streets are narrow. From the appearance one would scarcely realize how important a money center this is.

Radio city is one of many elaborate buildings in the metropolis. The statue of liberty gives every American a great thrill, and Mrs. Perry was interested in seeing the Queen Mary, the Normandie and other big ships in dock.

Harlem, poorer section of the city in which colored people reside, and Chinatown, segregated for Chinese quarters, are interesting but not places where one would care to stay long, according to Mrs. Perry. Class distinctions are noted more in the east than the middle west. The white people who are descendants of pioneer families, those of various nationalities and the colored races have their own groups and stay mainly in their own sections.

Great wealth is represented in the eastern point. A trip about that vicinity presents a view of thousands of beautiful homes, many of them old colonial mansions. Living costs are higher in the east. A good one-room apartment in New York rents for $65 to $90 a month and a little larger one costs $100 or more. Food too is high. Steak for a medium-sized family would be at least $1.

Mrs. Perry visited the New York fair one night and was especially impressed with the brilliant colored lights.

Worcester, a city of 190,000 about 40 miles from Boston, and Boston itself, a beautiful old city with narrow, crooked streets, have homes that represent great wealth. That region is gorgeous at this season with rich heavy grass and trees that are turning all shades. Plenty of rain made that area attractive. And that region does not require the rain needed in the middle west for manufacturing is more important than farming.

The east is rich in historical tradition with Concord, Lexington, Plymouth rock and many other points easily accessible. But Mrs. Perry found that easterners are so accustomed to these sights that they pay little attention to them until a visitor comes and wishes to see them.
