Blaine Gettman Seeks Sum For Injuries Suffered In Car Accident.

In an action filed in district court December 21 by his attorney, Russell Bartels, Blaine Gettman of Carroll, seeks $11,166 in damages from Mervelle Crawford as the result of an automobile accident October 1 six miles east of Carroll. The petition explains that [Mr. Gettman, accompanied by his wife and child, was driving east when Mr. Crawford came from the south. In a collision the Gettman car turned over and Mr. and Mrs. Gettman were injured, the former suffering a broken neck vertebra and head and back injuries. Mr. Gettman claims permanent disability and explains that he has had to hire help in his farm work and that Mrs. Gettman has also hired help for her household work. Mr. Gettman asks $350 for damage to the car, $666 for medical expenses, $150 for miscellaneous expenses and $10,000 permanent disability, a total of $11,166.

Finish Records For This Year

Organization Is Started on New Farm Program In This County.

With final phases of the AAA farm program being written into records, Herman J. Podoll, chairman of Wayne county ACP committee, reports that 85 per cent of the farmers and land owners cooperated in the 1939 program. Earnings of producers and land owners as a result of their participation will total about $450,000 for the year. This includes $147,300 in corn and wheat partly payments and $302,700 in conservation earnings. To these can be added the advantages of commodity loans and crop insurance, Mr. Podoll states. On 1938 corn eligible producers obtained loans totaling $369,000. Some 1939 corn loans will be completed this year, but the major portion will carry over into 1940. The deadline for wheat loans is December 31. Indirect benefits, such as increased market prices, are difficult to measure, Mr. Podoll explained. Work on the 1940 program is progressing.

BIG EXPECTATIONS RISE AS NEW YEAR COMES INTO SIGHT

THE NEW YEAR is just ahead, and as usual we look forward with renewed confidence. In a matter of major importance—crop production—most of Nebraska, including the Wayne area, has not fared so well as usual. Many have been thus disappointed. Short crops have curtailed improvements, decreased big purchases that would have followed the course of a normal year. This section is more fortunate than some and less favored than others. Between extremes, we learn lessons in self-denial—how to make ends meet on less without serious discomfort. In this area no one is rich, and few, if any, are flat without hope. This mid-west of iron courage and moderate desires finds no class goods nor on grandiose display, but, if any, on character refinements and quietly pulsing sympathy for fellow-travelers and wholesome democratic processes. Locally, despite unfavorable crop conditions, both the city school and state college have been treated to substantial improvements. Wayne's coordinated efforts, now developing, give promise of enlarged activity and new growth during the coming year. As the shortcomings and disappointments and modified accomplishments of 1939 are cast into the background of memory, we may well stiffen resolutions to build bigger and serve more unselfishly. As a community we may seek to realize the most from every good prospect or from every friendly advantage.

Meeting Called In Soil District

Some are still interested in organizing another soil district east of Wayne. If requests are sufficient a meeting may be called to discuss the proposal.

Ceiling Burned In Wayne Store

Blaze Tuesday Evening at B. L. Stark's Results In Some Loss.

Fire of undetermined origin burned a hole in the ceiling of the building occupied by B. L. Stark's clothing store Tuesday evening shortly after 10 o'clock. The store was smoked somewhat. The only damage to the building, owned by the First National bank, is the hole in the ceiling at the back of the store and the floor of the storage room above, used by the bank. Insurance protects the loss. Through a back window in the storage room Mrs. R. F. Jacobs, from her apartment in the city auditorium, saw a blaze and notified firemen who soon had the fire out. The loss is estimated as light.

Contract Work Is Near Finish

Kitchen at Cafeteria Is Being Redecorated at Connell Hall.

With the exception of equipment, all contract work on the Connell hall addition is expected to be completed before school reopens next week. Redecorating of the cafeteria kitchen, which has been underway since school closed for the Christmas holidays, will be completed this week. R. C. Hahlbeck, paint contractor, said Wednesday. This work is part of the Public Works Administration project which is providing a students' and faculty activity building in connection with the existing cafeteria building. Installation of the large mirror on the west wall of the main student lounge is awaiting the mirror's arrival, expected late this week. The mirror was included in the original plans but was omitted when the main building contract was let because at that time it was believed that sufficient funds would not be available. However, with the main contract completed and the equipment contracts either awarded or budgeted, funds are available for the mirror. No work has started on the site as yet in connection with the furniture and equipment contracts already awarded and approved by PWA, but it is expected that delivery and much of the installation can be completed early in January. These contracts would furnish and equip the new lunch room adjoining the present cafeteria, a new banquet-dining room and the students' lounge. Tentative awards have been made for furniture for the faculty lounge and several offices to be housed in the new building. The purchase of the air conditioning equipment for the cafeteria, lunch room and special dining room will depend somewhat on the action of PWA on an application for additional PWA funds for this project.

Work Progresses On Organization

Membership committee is working on the Chamber of Commerce drive with a goal of 200. When this is complete committees will be named for various activities. The board meets the last of this week or first of next.

REA Work Halted

Snow this week has halted line construction on the rural electric project.

Miss Genevieve Kingston Is Injured Christmas Day At Edge of City.

Miss Genevieve Kingston suffered injury to her back Christmas afternoon when the Kingston car slipped on pavement near 72nd and Dodge streets at the edge of Omaha where she was going to take a train back to Excelsior Springs, Mo., after spending Christmas here. Friends came for her and an Excelsior Springs doctor found she has a dislocated back vertebra and torn ligaments. She will be obliged to remain in bed about two weeks. Accompanying Miss Kingston to Omaha were R. J. Kingston, William and James Kingston and Miss Elsie Kingston. On the city pavement the car whirled and collided with another machine. No one was hurt excepting Miss Genevieve. One door and side of the car were damaged somewhat. A passing motorist took Miss Kingston to Omaha where she left by train. The others were able to drive the car back to Wayne. Floyd Kingston went to the city Monday evening to help bring the car back. Twenty-four cars skidded in one hour Monday afternoon at the place the Kingston car turned.

AWARDS OF HONOR IN CORN GROWING CONTEST ARE MADE

THE MEETING of winning farmers from several northeast Nebraska counties in Wayne last week to receive awards in the DeKalk corn growing contest was impressive in showing how a combination of quality seed and painstaking effort counts in building production. It showed a wealth of knowledge drawn from study and experience. Growing more and better corn is the object of hybrid varieties, and satisfaction in reaching new goals is quite as great over victory of methods as over promise of increased financial rewards. Selection of seed, condition of the soil and how and when to plant are preliminary to looking out for grasshoppers, cutworms and other crop pests, and then shaping the program best to resist drought and other natural calamities. Understanding, persistence and patience are requisites, and when fruition comes abundantly—and it does unless something unavoidable happens—a deep sense of relief is felt. On account of an unfortunate growing season, Wayne county was not in on the distribution of marks of distinction at the recent DeKalk session. It has high hopes of coming back with a competitive record next year.

Two School Buildings in Wayne and Rural Electrification Are Among Improvements Recorded in Vicinity.

Reviewing 1939, soon to pass into history, the period has brought many changes. In Europe especially the year marks a great struggle between democracy and dictatorship, and as the period closes anxiety as to the outcome still dominates. America is keenly interested in the political struggle, but is able to observe the holiday season of "peace and good will" outside the conflict and hopeful that strife, will soon end for all people. Changes in Wayne county during the 12 months have been numerous. As the year opened, January brought the dismantling of Terrace hall, the last frame on the college campus, also the excavation for the new student-faculty building. Also then the government earmarked $197,000 for Wayne county's new rural public power district. Improvement for highway 15 north to No. 20 was promised. Roe's interest in the meat market, and R. J. Kingsley came from Oklahoma to buy the Wayne News. Dedication of Terrace. One of the Major Bowes units visited the Gay theatre in wintry weather early in February. About that time the thermometer dropped to 14 below. An attempted robbery of the Otto Victor station was halted. Dedication of new Terrace at the college attracted many visitors to this fine new hall for men. Promise was given that the road improvement north would be connected with Dixon and Concord by a good highway. Dr. Walter Benthaack was named to the state normal board. Contract for the new college student-faculty building was let for $399,377. A little theatre group was organized in Wayne. With approach of spring, interest in a farm bureau started and subscriptions were taken for a county agent. District basketball tournament was followed by a music clinic with massed chorus and band and later by the district music contest which brought hundreds of young folks here. In March, too, Irving Anderson of Hoskins, rode Bull Lea to victory in the $50,000 handicap in Florida. Jean Huntermer was picked as one of the candidates for Annapolis naval academy and was later chosen for appointment. Contract for 158 miles of rural power lines was let for $110,144. State Y. M. C. Actual work on the new college building started, and Wayne school board adopted plans for its improvement. Fire damaged Pete Petersen's pool hall. Easter Observance. Impressive Easter service in the college willow bowl was one of the highlights of April. In that month Our Redeemer's church observed its 50th anniversary. Chester Walters was chosen county farm bureau agent. Wayne Women's club held a public flower show in the auditorium early in May. A short time later Grace Lutheran church and others of the Missouri synod observed their centennial there with services attended by 1,200. The county cut its estimate of expenses to $177,604, which was $27,114 under 1938, and Wayne city council placed its estimate at $127,700, which was a reduction of $1,000. Contract for Wayne school improvement was let for $82,972. About the same time a federal grant was received for the Dixon county court house and the question of moving the county seat again arose, but later quieted down. Mrs. W. A. Stewart was in a fatal accident near Fremont. Poppy day and Memorial services brought a fitting close to the month of flowers. Cornerstone Laid. The first day of June was set for laying the cornerstone for the new college building, this being done by Nebraska Masonic grand lodge. More encouraging news to taxpayers was word that the city cut the tax levy from 24.9 to 23.8. Rains made crop prospects promising. Another accident near Chicago was fatal to James Finn, and Rev. Albert Gilbert, Mrs. Mildred Beard and others of Sioux City, were hurt on a slippery road north of Wayne. Excavation started for the city school improvement. M. C.

Bloss was chosen manager for Wayne fair.

Hoskins was the only Wayne county point observing the Fourth, and a big celebration ended with a good rain. Don Fitzh moved to a new store building. C. camp were nearing completion and 86 farmers in Wayne, Pierce and Stanton counties filed applications for soil and moisture conservation work. Contract for improving the road north of Wayne was let for $119,378, to include grading, bridges and culverts. County board pleased taxpayers by cutting the levy from 3.5 to 3 mills. In an accident near Wayne, Howard Marsh jumped to safety just as his team was mired in a creek, and J. M. Roberts made a lucky leap over a fence to escape an enraged bull. Dixon county fair at Concord proved most successful. Wayne county fair in early September also drew good crowds. Dolores McVatt was chosen fair queen, and Lester Lieb for a fourth time took grand champion ship with his baby bear. This college opened with 942 students, the biggest fall enrollment in the history of the school and the largest among the state normals. Clarence McGinn, Mrs. Mary Brinton and Y. K. Kessler joined the county faculty. Connecticut Mill action seeking to force a week stop dumping sawdust in creek running through the northeast. Pete Petersen's pool was again damaged by fire. The telephone company decided to install a dial system in Winside. Loup River power district awarded contract for 15 miles of transmission lines from Norfolk east. Bev. W. T. Chell became the new pastor for Concordia Lutheran church at Concord, and Rev. C. P. Hall for Salem Lutheran at Wakefield. Hoffman's Big Sale. Will Send Sum In Charity Work

College Gymnasium Floor Is Being Refinished During Holidays.

The sum of $15 will be sent by Coach A. H. Morrison to the National Tuberculosis association as the result of the benefit basketball game at Wayne auditorium Friday evening.

The junky Milwaukee teachers' team played over the heads of the small but fighting Wayne men, defeating the local lads 52 to 44. The Wisconsin ball-hawks jumped into an early lead and held a 29 to 20 advantage at the half. One time in the second period they had an 18-point lead.

Wayne's faster but shorter boys couldn't reach Jablonski, 6 foot, 6 inch center, who continually nabbed the ball on the rebound and fed fast breaking forwards of similar stature. Boehler made 22 points for the visitors to lead all scorers. Nitz was high for Wayne with 13. Quentin Whitmore, only veteran starting the game for Wayne, did his usual big part, pouring a dozen counters through the hoop.

The defeat was Wayne's second in five games. THE KNOT-HOLE Vol. 7 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Dec. 28, 1939. No. 41 "How's business?" "That's exactly what I'm baby thinks." "Boy," replied the druggist, "it's so quiet you can hear the notes drawing interest clear down at the First National Bank." You can hear a Will-Burt stoker draw interest on the money invested in it, top. And is that a pleasant sound! It's not often you can in a creature the comfort of living and save money at the same time. When it comes to stoker coal, we have here in the world the ideal fuel. Call 147 and give it a try. You'll never regret it! "Edison once said that four hours of sleep is enough for any man." That's exactly what my baby thinks. You won't lose any sleep thinking about your fuel bill if you are burning Black Hawk. Black Hawk is the coal for any man who wants to make his fuel dollar go as far as possible. For the range, insist on Pinnacle Nut. It's clean; it's hot; it's long lasting. Teacher: "Can you tell me the difference between a stoic and a cynic?" Able: "A stoic is a boid that brings the babies and a cynic is the place where you wash the dishes." All of which is, a little hard to believe, but here's something that isn't. Did you know that by insulating your attic with GOOD insulation you can save about thirty percent of your fuel bill? Think it over! Water softener? Yes, we have a good supply on hand at all times. Only 75c, you know. The young bride was extolling the virtues of her husband to a friend. "George is the most generous man in the world," she declared. "He gives me everything credit can buy."

Norris SENATOR NORRIS is quoted as saying he will not support for president or United States senator anyone who is not "liberal," according to his definition of the word.

In this state, Senator Norris frowns on Senator Burke who has, as announced, decided to run for the democratic nomination.

In harmony with Senator Norris' idea of fitness, his blessing will probably be withheld from Hugh Butler, candidate for the republican nomination.

Local individuals and organizations provided Christmas extras for unfortunates, and no one in need was intentionally overlooked.

Mussolini clanked his spurs and stuck out his chest over crushing the comparatively defenseless natives of Ethiopia, but he is keeping quietly under cover in the presence of hostilities among powerful nations.

The Christmas turkey is a noble bird whose progenitors watched the Mayflower land, and whose attack on hunger is instant and powerfully effective.

The story is told of a program carried out in the town of Barrington, a few miles northeast of Chicago, to talk inhabitants into believing more firmly in the fundamentals of their country.

The story of David and Goliath is being re-enacted in the experience of little Finland against the Russian monster, as suggested by the Sioux City Journal which expresses the observation and wish of all democracies in this conclusion: "Finland is a David, so far, and Russia is a gigantic, stupid Goliath."

Considering conditions, Wayne's pre-Christmas trade volume was generally up to expectations, and it is hoped new customers who got into the habit of coming here, will feel warranted in making this town their business headquarters through the year.

The ancient Christmas festival started December 25 and continued over New Year's, and many moderns have come to observe the primal plan with respect to suspending accustomed routine.

Formal New Year's calls with a series of feasts belonged to an old-time custom. They developed fraternity of feeling, but the eating marathon usually over-charged digestion.

Snow came in the nick of time to enliven the Christmas spirit. Getting into tune with the holiday without snow is like trying to play Hamlet without Hamlet.

When Civilization Flourishes. S. Wells Utley, president of the Detroit Steel Casting Company, is quoted as saying: "Not only our own civilization, but every civilization of which we have any knowledge, has grown and flourished because of the work of the men of industry, and each one of these civilizations in turn has dwindled and decayed when the incentives producing industrial endeavor have been destroyed and the minds of the people turned from the production of new wealth to the distributing of that which already exists."

angle, the Omaha Journal-Stockman explains woman's surpassing power in trade channels in this way:

"If you have ever wondered why the majority of business concerns make sure that the newspapers, magazines and periodicals which carry their advertising have plenty of feminine readers and that the advertising campaigns they sponsor will appeal to women, this may be the answer. A study of insurance statistics brings out the fact that women are the beneficiaries of 80 per cent of all outstanding life insurance policies in this country. These policies made payable to women have the astounding maturity value of $100,000,000,000—yes, one hundred billion dollars—and a present cash surrender value of $25,000,000,000.

The series of motion pictures covering Teachers College activities, prepared by Dr. H. D. Griffin and given by him with due explanation before the Kiwanis club this week, reveals marked skill. It also reveals a wonderfully complete educational institution. It is told that when the pictures were presented to groups in California a year ago, natives concluded the rich campus flowers and foliage had been taken in that state. In gathering and reproducing the scenes, Dr. Griffin contributes a most valuable service to the school.

As soon as the season of good will is safely out of the way, people will choose up sides and start the year's political contest in earnest. Senator Burke, who has arrived in Washington, expresses confidence that the president will not run for a third term—an observance of tradition that would relieve those who are nettled by any plan to blow up cherished fundamentals. The campaign will be less complicated and more friendly if the chief can persuade himself to keep out of the race as a candidate.

Local individuals and organizations provided Christmas extras for unfortunates, and no one in need was intentionally overlooked. Some able to help others at this time may be in need of help for themselves in another year, and some subjects for benevolences now may be able to join the ranks of givers when 1940 has been brought to a close. Material possessions are uncertain, and part of the reward for success may be found in kindly generosity to those who are less fortunate.

Mussolini clanked his spurs and stuck out his chest over crushing the comparatively defenseless natives of Ethiopia, but he is keeping quietly under cover in the presence of hostilities among powerful nations. Like the average braggart who fears more trouble than he can handle, the Italian dictator ducks into his hole until he can decide where to lend his forces to keep his country from being taken apart and redistributed.

The Christmas turkey is a noble bird whose progenitors watched the Mayflower land, and whose attack on hunger is instant and powerfully effective, but its popularity is threatened when the aging residue is brought back after the third day. To perpetuate its supremacy in the minds and stomachs of countless admirers, it should be excused after the third appearance.

The story of David and Goliath is being re-enacted in the experience of little Finland against the Russian monster, as suggested by the Sioux City Journal which expresses the observation and wish of all democracies in this conclusion: "Finland is a David, so far, and Russia is a gigantic, stupid Goliath. May those roles be played to the end."

TYRANT STALIN. On the occasion of his sixtieth birthday, Russia's Joseph Stalin, dictator and brute, had himself praised by the soviet press and outwardly honored by hapless, helpless subjects. To emphasize the importance of the anniversary, Russian planes bombed defenseless Finnish hospitals at Helsinki. On Stalin was conferred the highest national award for making socialists and then converting them into communists, and for consolidating the friendship of the peoples of the union. The way he has put his plan into practice has been to kill those who disagree, and thus those who are left above ground are apparently for him. That is the effective method he employs to insure solid support. The acclaim with which his birthday was observed, concealed the fear and hatred felt by the proletariat whom he professes to help. No mention was made on his birthday of the many leaders and others diabolically slaughtered because they got out of step and failed to accept his tyranny as a righteous contribution to the social uplift. The many who could not surrender every right with evidence of joyful approval, have been quickly dispatched—the protesting minority thus kept down to nothing. It seems Stalin studied for the priesthood, but soon fell from grace—if he ever had any—to become a train robber and bank bandit, which appeared to prepare him for his later role of merciless dictator and mass murderer. When all the facts of his inhumanity are revealed, history may accord him the palm long held by Nero, Roman monster, as the meanest and cruellest ruler the world has ever known. Memory of Nero of the first century will be rearranged to give first place to Stalin of the twentieth century.

Felber's Tavern

Felber, "everybody in that neck of the woods knew he had uttered the unvarnished truth."

St. Helena finally acquired a brass band of its own. A fellow known as the laziest man in town, was given the job of playing the tuba so he could prove, as the instrument encircled his frame, "that he was really wrapped up in his work." The tuba player "has worries" occasionally when the band is on the march and the middle valve of his instrument sticks as tight as a stocking on the well-rounded leg of a chorus girl.

The church, the Sunday school picnic, the church social, hay-rack and bobsled rides, and steamboat excursion were community highlights caught within the sweep of Author Felber's ingenious description.

In a more serious vein the author concludes: "Happy would be the author of 'Felber's Tavern' if Time could turn back fifty years or more and permit him to return as a boy to St. Helena, Neb., to relive those good old days. Happy to see the covered caravans, prairie schooners drawn by clumsy oxen and hot-lathered horses, rocking across the western plains. Happy to see the buffalo herds grazing in the wide open spaces of a progressive state. Happy to see the boys and girls frolicking in the yards adjacent to their crude cabins. Happy to see the bands of roving Indians traveling to and fro on their visits to other tribes. Happy to see the majestic steamboats loading and discharging cargoes at the levee only a half mile from town. Happy to see fearless

QUIT KICKING.

The current edition of the Nebraska Farmer tells the story of the five lately chosen master farmers, among them Mrs. Essie E. Davis of Cherry county, first woman in this state to receive such an honor. Success did not depend on inherited fortune. It was plainly due to persevering energy, frugal management and sound judgment. Mrs. Davis' husband died in 1915, leaving an infant son and an indebtedness of $80,000. Says the report: "Twenty thousand acres have now been bought, all the debts have been paid, a beautiful home has been maintained and a thoroughly equipped ranch is working along modern lines of ranch management." Where but in America with its opportunities could such results be achieved? In the same edition of the Farmer appeared a story of drudgery and privation among agricultural workers under the military despotism of Japan. Farmers there are deprived of use of much they grow because of government rationing and tax exactions to support the military machine. From the average plot of ground the Jap cannot realize more than $75 per year. The writer suggests the average Jap does not think and therefore does not worry—an advantage that makes his life more endurable. Contrast conditions in any country under autocratic rule with privileges guaranteed in free America, and then quit kicking.

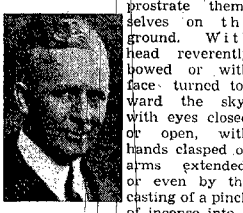

men and women buoyed by their vision, force, imagination and courage. Happy to see the achievements of the early settlers bring to light new wonders out of an ever-amazing wilderness. Happy to see how America needed her trail blazers and, peering far into the future, happy to see how America in the day of the automobile, airplane, radio and television, still would need pioneers—for progress."

THE VOICE OF RELIGION

Current Questions and Answers About Religion, Morals and Personal Problems...

Dr. Weldon F. Crossland Rochester, New York

In what ways do men pray? Prayer, which has been called "communion with God," has expressed itself in myriads of ways as an all but universal effort of men to establish relations with what they regard as the Divine.

Prayers, "the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed," have been silent and wordless, or spoken, intoned, chanted or sung. Sometimes they are extempore, rushing from the soul in a torrent of desire, again they have been read in the measured phrases of some beautiful ritual.

In holy places or under the open sky, in soaring cathedrals or in humble homes, alone or with a praying congregation, men have approached the Object of their worship with hopeful hearts. Some pray with their faces toward Jerusalem or Mecca.

"Prayer by proxy" includes petitions offered by religious leaders, while a most unusual, and to most a rather meaningless method is the Hindu prayer wheel, which is supposed to pray for one, as he gives it a whirl. Printed prayers in many languages have been sent to Jerusalem that they might be pinned to the Walling Wall.

Men have always prayed their God or gods in terms of their needs and their thought patterns. The primitive savage in his dark ignorance and the Christian in his sacrificial devotion are both reaching toward and finding God, the father of course with infinitely more adequacy. I believe that God hears and answers all.

How was the date of Christmas first determined?

It may surprise many to learn that in all likelihood the birthday of Jesus was not observed for a number of decades after nativity at Bethlehem. The early disciples emphasized the life, teachings, and especially the death and the resurrection of Jesus rather than his birth. The oldest Gospel, Mark, and the most spiritual Gospel, John, omit any record of Christ's birth.

Hippolytus, who lived about 200 A. D., was among the first to name December 25 as the birthday of Jesus. He believed that Jesus was exactly 32 years and 3 months old when He was crucified on a certain March 25. This date came to be accepted at Rome and gradually throughout Christendom, though the Armenian Christians still observe January 6 as the correct date. Other dates observed in the early centuries are March 28, April 18, April 19 and May 20.

Most scholars agree that it is impossible with absolute certainty to set the exact date of Jesus' birth. The chief considerations to all Christians is that He was born and that He has so richly blessed the world.

Why are the totalitarian countries so intolerant? Because their leaders fear losing the power they have seized. "Obey or die" are the only alternatives the dictators offer their subjects.

At first these leaders stood for "human welfare," "tolerance," "freedom" and "self-government." Hitler and Mussolini came into power because they were permitted in the spirit of tolerance to speak, to write and to organize.

Once they grasped the scepter of government, they denied these civilized rights to everyone in their nations. Posing once as a friend of the people, the dictator becomes their absolute ruler.

Probably the extreme barbarity of totalitarian states lies in this: They repress or exterminate all free spirits, all capable leaders, who might in any way organize the people to demand again their freedom. In conquered territory, as in that part of Poland now seized by Russia, any who might reorganize Polish resistance are being mercilessly killed.

All Americans, who pay more than lip service to tolerance, ought to see clearly the real charter of both communism and nazism as enemies of political and religious freedom.

Are we sure that Bethlehem was the birthplace of Jesus?

Yes. No other village or city laid the slightest plausible claim to that honor. When one remembers that seven Grecian cities boasted of being the birthplace of Homer, one is impressed by the uniqueness of Bethlehem, whose claim is undisputed.

Long before the end of the first century Bethlehem, "the City of David," was through the Gospels universally recognized as Christ's natal village. Prophecy also had pointed to this lovely place of fields, vineyards and olive orchards as the birthplace of the Messiah. To locate the exact site of the Inn is not an easy task in a land where earthquakes and invasions tumble down or destroy communities many times in 19 centuries. The ancient Inn, however, would most probably be rebuilt on its former foundation.

Little reasonable doubt exists but that the present Church of the Nativity is built on the site of the ancient Inn. This church, erected in 330 A. D., is probably the oldest edifice in Christendom.

Beneath the floor of the church one finds the chapel of the Nativity, where a large silver star in the marble floor bears the inscription "Here Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin Mary."

As one stands there and then kneels in prayer, he overwhelmingly feels that here was somewhere near where Christ was born.

Do you think that America will remain out of the European war? Yes. There is the highest probability that the United States will remain aloof from the bloody, inhuman carnage now laying waste the fair countries of Europe. The chance that any person or any situation may involve our country are increasingly remote, for these reasons:

Reliable polls of public opinion reveal a growing aversion to any involvement in the struggle. These polls have generally shown more than nine to one against participation.

The neutrality law, wisely passed by the last congress, removes many points of friction, such as American ships in dangerous European waters, which might have drawn our country into active fighting, as was the case in the World War.

All but universal conviction is expressed by American citizens that the United States has everything to lose and nothing to gain by taking part. The results of the World War in waste of treasure and futility of result are vividly in American minds.

The growing unity of the western hemisphere in a will to keep out of all war will cause the United States, as the natural leader, to be increasingly cautious of European military adventures.

Americans feel that their country can be of far more value to humanity as a major force for peace after the war than as an active participant in the war.

The growing unity of the western hemisphere in a will to keep out of all war will cause the United States, as the natural leader, to be increasingly cautious of European military adventures.

Americans feel that their country can be of far more value to humanity as a major force for peace after the war than as an active participant in the war.

I believe that only the threatened destruction of the democratic countries of Europe could change the present will to peace in America.

Can each one plan his life for the coming year?

Yes. Successful living in this changing uncertain time demands careful forethought. Men who achieve select desired goals for each year, even for a five or ten year period, and then drive toward them. They succeed chiefly because they plan.

Most people drift. They aim at nothing and hit it every time. They set their changing courses, not by the fixed stars of purpose, but by any pretty cloud that drifts across their sky. And they wonder why they fail!

How can one plan for the new year? By deciding what one wishes to achieve during 1940. By considering the amount of training, resources and energy necessary for success. By careful planning of the first month or two of the new year. By changing any plans that appear impractical while keeping steadily toward the goals.

The planned life is the successful life. (Copyright 1939 by Weldon F. Crossland, Rochester, N. Y.)

ed trophy, the winged ear of corn on a pedestal.
Other champions in this district include: Victor Sudbeck of Hartington, second in Cedar county, 102.36 bushels; Roy L. Andrews of Ponca, second in Dixon county, 104.04; Chris Miller of Pierce, second in Pierce county, 78.19 bushels; Ben Aekie of Pierce, third in Pierce county, 42.46; Ed Kunze of Winnebago, second in Thurston county, 80.33 bushels; Reinhold Leamer of Pender, third in Thurston county, 72.86 bushels; Calvin Hemenway of Orchard, second in Antelope, 37.72 bushels. The award for second place was a leather belt with a gold-plated buckle bearing the winged ear of corn.
Louis Stevens of Hartington, was state DeKalb champion last year. The state winner this year is A. C. Schroeder of South Omaha, who realized a yield of 118.18 bushels for his corn.

More than 100 farmers competed in the DeKalb corn growing contest this year in Mr. Peterson's district, and some who entered were unable to qualify in the contest because of unfavorable weather. Yields were computed as for any test plot, corn being harvested from 25 hills in various parts of the field. Results show some excellent results in the contest.
The noon dinner meeting in Wayne Friday was attended by 32 dealers and contest winners from Thurston, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar, Pierce, Stanton, Antelope and Wayne counties.
Mr. Peterson, who presided and made the awards, introduced each of the dealers and farmers present. He also called on A. V. Teed and E. W. Huse, who were invited guests, for brief remarks.
Mr. Peterson has 49 dealers in the two states and held his first DeKalb meeting here in December, 1937. He plans to continue his group meetings at his headquarters here. He also holds sub-district gatherings in Plainview, Yankton and Vermillion.

Prominent Personages Are Seen
By Wayne Youth in Canal Zone

Seeing Admiral Richard Byrd and his antarctic expeditionary party when they stopped in the Panama canal zone the first of December to refuel and also to take on several carloads of native bamboo poles for trail markers was the thrill experienced by Paul Bernstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bernstein of Wayne.
The North Star, Byrd's ship, is not large but it surely was loaded down when it was in the Balboa Heights harbor. A supply vessel, The Bear, goes straight to its destination enroute to the south pole rather than stopping at different points. "I saw Admiral Byrd several times," writes Paul, "as he was up here to see the governor and also the commanding general several times. I also saw him on the boat and I would have liked very much to have gotten his autograph. However, I did get a book entitled 'Faith of Our Fathers' from Lieut. L. C. Musselman and he autographed it for me as a member of the 'Antarctic Expedition November 29, 1939.' The snow cruiser the party is taking along is as long as the ship is wide and weighs 37 tons. The huge rubber tires are said to cost $1,000 each. On the other side of the cabins was a large airplane, and there were dogs or huskies everywhere."
Another interesting personage whom Paul recently saw in Balboa Heights was Don Ameche, the actor. He and his wife came there on a liner and left three days later by plane on their return to the States. The actor was dining in the club house when Paul went there and the Wayne youth found that one would easily recognize him from his movies. Paul thinks Ameche's wife is not very pretty.
And speaking of meeting people, Paul was invited by Robert Hull, jr., who is employed in the accounting department, to spend an evening at the home of the latter's parents in Balboa. Robert Hull, Sr., is a cousin of Secretary of State Cordell Hull and is chief municipal engineer for the canal zone. The home is beautifully furnished and the family showed the Wayne youth an enjoyable time. Robert, jr., has lived in England, Canada, Hawaii, South Africa and Haiti. He plans a Southern American trip in February.

Group Expresses Its Appreciation

Junior-high pupils of Wayne city school wrote a letter of appreciation to E. W. Huse for the picture, "A Christmas Carol," by Dickens, shown at the Gay theatre December 16 as the Herald's Christmas gift to the community. Each pupil signed his own name to the letter December 18 to Mr. Huse which reads as follows:
"We want you to know that we appreciated the free show that you gave the community last Saturday. It was a fine Christmas present to us as we have recently studied the story in our literature class. The show was even better than we anticipated and we thank you for giving us the opportunity of seeing it."

The results follow: Leoti, 7.7 grain, 5.2 forage; Early Kalo, 30.6 grain, 2.8 forage; Sooner, 24.6 grain, 2.9 forage; Day, 20.5 grain, 2.2 forage; Colby, 16.2 grain, 1.9 forage; Atlas, 6.7 grain, 7.5 forage; Hegari, 20.2 grain, 4.8 forage; Kalo, 23.6 grain, 3.3 forage; Pink Kafir, 27.3 grain, 4.3 forage; Highland, 13.8 grain, 2.2 forage; Cheyenne, 15.5 grain, 3 forage; Black Amber, 10.4 grain, 4.6 forage; Yellow Highland, 23.2 grain, 2.5 forage; Improved Coes, 16.5 grain, 2.7 forage; corn, 1.7 grain, 2.8 forage.

File hall girls enjoyed their annual Christmas party Thursday evening. The musical Christmas service included the following: Processional, candle bearers; Bible reading of Christmas story; Ruth Harris, solo; "The Holy City," Virginia Shelton; violin duet, Florence Barton and Jeanette Snyder; Christmas pianologue, Dorothy Carey; trio, Marie Schulte, Ardyth Rayevich, Marvel Reising. The group sang carols, and gifts were exchanged. Singing, social dancing and refreshments in the recreation room closed the evening. The girls presented Mrs. Lydia Falk with a nice gift.

Is Named to Board.

Hyron Hopper, manager of Norfolk Brown-McDonald store and formerly of Wayne, was named to the board of education in Norfolk, taking the place of Geo. A. Hull who went to Salem, Ore. Hopper will serve the remainder of Hall's term which expires in May, 1941.

Mrs. Mignie Casey, former resident of Laurel, died in Lincoln last week.

Gilbert Hyde of Plainview, died last week.

Visit Old Panama.

"After returning from the dam we went to old Panama, the city built in 1525 which is now nothing but ruins. It is about 15 miles up the coast from the present city of Panama and is full of historic interest. Also went through Bella Vista and San Francisco, residential suburbs of Panama City. Most of the government officials live in Bella Vista, a tract of land which is mostly hills from which the view extends for miles over the city of Panama and the bay. We also visited the market places which have the same smells and stench that the ones in Haiti had."
The Wayne youth visited the Balboa orchid gardens, government operated experiment station from which orchid plants are sent all over the world. He saw some very rare varieties and plans to take pictures of them.
After his first month in the canal zone Paul realizes that he still isn't used to the changed climate. "One sweats too much and the heat is so oppressive. I'm just soaking wet after walking to work. From what others say the dry season is supposed to be here, but you'd never know it from all the rain we've been having. However, the leaves are falling from some of the trees and I guess that's one of the signs they go by. One day it rained seven inches at Gatun and five at Cristobal. A cyclone accompanied the rain at Cristobal, a ship was washed ashore, several hangars were flattened and some people were injured." Paul describes the weather like the first days of summer. During the dry season, he is told, the trade winds blow unceasingly.
Feel Earthquake Tremors.
Earthquake tremors were experienced one night by the Wayne youth, his first such. "I was in bed and awake with a start about 11:30, quivering all over," Paul explains. "It didn't last long although the papers said it continued 10 minutes. The main shocks were felt about 60 miles southwest of here. There are mountains all around here and some extinct volcanoes in the interior. In the morning I could tell that something had happened because my clothes in the dry closet had all slid down to one side and things in drawers were all thrown together."
Though sharks are not supposed to bother one unless they are disturbed, a Panama boy of 12 was seriously injured in a fight with a shark about 30 yards out from shore where he was bathing. The waters are also full of barracuda, which have large sharp teeth that can inflict an almost deadly wound. One of the boys caught a 62-pound barracuda. The warm waters are literally full of all kinds of life from the smallest types to the largest.
Balboa Heights has only two churches, the Baptist and Union. In Ancon there are the Episcopal and Catholic.

Wilbur residence caught fire from a stove pipe and considerable damage was done. A few pails of water halted the threatening blaze. A Ponca merchant was beautifully "taken in" by a Dakota county man. An honest tiller of the soil loaded two wagons with fat hogs and started for market. When he arrived at Covington he met a Ponca merchant who desired to strike a trade and offered $60 for the two loads of hogs. The Homer man first declined and then persuaded the merchant to give him $62.50, pay his ferry both ways and take the lot. The merchant accepted. The Homer man drove to the pork house, unloaded his pigs and waited. Soon the Ponca man came in and asked for the weights of the two loads. He studied the figures and then proceeded to kick himself for he had lost $13.20 on the deal.

Children at the Crossroads

An old tar-paper shack, its tatters the plaything of the winter winds, was the only home Jane, 15, and her two brothers had ever known. Their vagabond father lived with them when he wasn't tramping somewhere about the country, but their mother had died two years previous to the time of our story.

Neighbors reported Jane's plight, and an immediate investigation showed the home conditions to be wretched. The family slept on the floor, their bed consisted of hay and leaves, covered with gunny sacks.

Jane was under-nourished, her skin covered with a bad eruption due to lack of bathing because there were no facilities for bathing.

A relief organization provided Jane and her brothers with necessary clothing. A childless couple offered the girl a temporary home, and other foster homes welcomed her brothers, also.

Six weeks of cleanliness, proper food and clothing passed, and Jane made wonderful progress in physical and mental development. As time went on, other women in the benefactors' neighborhood took an interest in Jane and contributed toward her welfare.

Two years and nine months have elapsed since we found Jane in her tar-paper hovel. Today she is a bright, attractive girl making a fine school record and planning to take nurses' training later. Her foster parents are as fond of her as any parents could be fond of their own children.

Although they have not made quite so brilliant a showing as their sister, the brothers are making progress and are contented, well-thought-of in their new community.

The father, drifting from city to city, sleeping in jails wherever he happens to be, shows no concern about his children.

What might have been the results had not the authorities taken it upon themselves to find foster homes for these worthy children? Suppose we had committed them to orphanages. Society would have been the poorer by three splendid young citizens.
