

To Hold Meeting. District bankers' meeting will be held in Norfolk April 22 and most Wayne bankers plan to attend.

Land Owners Vote On Soil District

(Continued from Page One) problems. Means of saving soil and water, increasing the soil fertility, planting trees, etc., are included. A soil district was formed at Spalding, Neb., recently with a 100 per cent favorable vote. Iowa has just favored a new district by vote of 211 to 11. The Blair, Neb., district, which was visited by Albert Watson, Ed. Grubb and Bernard Spittler, has about doubled in size, additional farmers joining in the plan by petition.

To Join by Petition. Already a number in Wayne county hope to join the proposed district by petition. These petitioners plan a meeting at Wakefield next Monday evening, April 22, when M. J. Hankins and Chet Walters have been invited to explain the plans and show pictures of soil work. Other parts of Wayne county are expected to join in the conservation work.

Five Polling Places. The election on the soil district in Wayne county will be held Monday, April 29, from 2 to 8 p. m. Five polling places are fixed: School district 48, four miles north and three west of Wayne; district 37, one mile west and a half north of Altona; district 73, six miles east and two north of Altona; district 53, five miles south and a half east of Winside; barber shop in Hoskins. Each land owner in the area is entitled to a vote.

Dan Leuck has been appointed district election officer. He will name two other eligible voters and the three will serve as the election board. Petition passers meet this week to elect judges to serve at each of the five polling places. Mr. Hankins and Mr. Walters invite those who have any questions regarding the soil district to see them.

To Observe Anniversary. I.O.O.F. was founded April 26, 1819, by Thomas Wilde, and to commemorate the anniversary Wayne Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their friends plan a program and covered dish luncheon April 29 at 8 p. m. in the lodge hall. Rev. C. G. Bader will speak. Luncheon will follow and each is asked to bring a covered dish and service for his own family. Some lodge members plan to attend a district meeting at Ponca today.

Card of Thanks. I wish to express sincere appreciation to the friends who sent flowers, cards and remembered me in other ways during my recent stay in the hospital.—Mrs. John Dunklau.

Omaha Lawyer Dies on Friday

David Fitch, 57, whose wife is the former Gertrude Stodden of Wayne, died Friday afternoon at his home in Omaha from effects of a heart attack he suffered a couple of days earlier. Funeral rites were conducted in Omaha Monday morning, and Mrs. Minnie Strickland attended from here. Mr. Fitch was a lawyer in the firm of Brown, Fitch & West in the city. He had built a spacious home for his family. Deceased leaves his wife, a daughter and three sons. Three children of Mrs. Fitch's sister, Lucille, have been in the Fitch home since their mother lost her life in a fire in the city about eight years ago. Dr. Frank Stodden of Sioux City, brother of Mrs. Fitch, attended the rites.

Packwood of Hartington, Robert Clements of Madison, L. A. Rutherford of North Bend, Dr. J. T. Anderson and Prof. K. N. Parke had charge of the local arrangements.

Calf Club Meets. Beat-Em-All calf club met April 10 in the Carl Meyer home. Leland Herman gave a report on Short-horns. Plans were made to take a tour to see calves of members later. Robert Meyer and Lester Lutt had charge of entertainment, and refreshments were served. The group meets May 8 in the Walter Herman home and Dean Meyer will report on the Angus.

Taken to Hospital. John Ulrich entered the veterans' hospital in Lincoln Wednesday last week for emergency care. Herbert Lutt took him to the city.

Marry in Wayne. Roy Lawrence Wright of Ewing, and Miss Lorraine Elaine Jeffries of Clearwater, were married by Judge J. M. Cherry Monday.

Card of Thanks. We wish to thank those who helped us during the illness and at the time of the death of our beloved daughter and sister.—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Meyer and Valerius.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hanks and children of Blair, spent the weekend in the Prof. A. F. Gulliver home. Robert Gulliver was here from Ponca Sunday.

Food Stamp Plan Near Certainty

(Continued from Page One) gram. Of some 700 applications about 70 places have secured the plan. The objective is to increase the purchasing power of relief dollars and also to reduce surplus food products. Wayne Chamber of Commerce has been active in the movement which it is estimated will bring an additional revenue of about $4,000 monthly to Wayne county.

Sixty Years Ago

After traveling 470 miles through Dakota territory, climbing rocky hills, wending one's way through miles and miles of pine woods and going along beautiful valleys with streams of clear running water, one arrives in the Black Hills, according to a dispatch in the Northern Nebraska Journal published at Ponca 80 years ago by Wm. Huse. The hills have more timber and of better quality than one would expect. One tree that was cut measured 30 inches in diameter at the base without the bark. It had a diameter of 20 inches at a height of 80 feet and 10 inches at 100 feet. Many trees would make timber 80 feet long, straight as a line and in all sizes from three feet in diameter down. Gold mines are more plentiful and are richer in ore than most persons suppose, but a great deal of capital is required to develop them. A Californian reported that it would be necessary to put $500,000 into a mine before one could realize $1 in return. Some get rich and many others fail. All kinds of crops are cultivated in the hills. Rust is reported to have damaged the wheat. Sheep graze extensively in the hills. Some roads are good and others are wretchedly bad in the hills. The writer compares the hills with those in Nebraska. Put three or four of the biggest hills in Nebraska on top of each other, with sides almost straight up and down—just so a wagon would not tip over endways—and then gather all the rocks and stones in Dakota and Dixon counties and put them in the hill with sharp edges sticking up and scatter among them all the small stones possible between the rocks. This would give some idea of the Black Hills.

First Aid Units Are Established

Striking at the nation's annual car-accident death toll of 32,000 lives, the American Red Cross has established 5,737 highway first aid units in the past five years, according to Harold E. Enlow, national director of first aid and accident prevention service. The highway first aid program, Mr. Enlow said, was started in 1935, as a long-range project eventually to provide emergency first aid facilities at all highway danger spots in the country. He pointed out there were two types of highway units embraced by the program—mobile units manned by drivers of large fleets of trucks and delivery cars and stationary units operated by service station attendants and employees of other roadside businesses. Qualifications for unit volunteers, it was explained, are dependent upon graduation from standard Red Cross First Aid classes. Each unit is provided with a First Aid kit and other necessary equipment, including splinting materials. Units regularly are inspected for the maintenance of high standards of readiness.

Parity Payment Rules Explained

To be eligible for parity payments under the 1940 AAA farm program, farmers must not exceed their allotments for corn and wheat, according to H. J. Podoll. If a farmer has a corn allotment of 50 acres and a wheat allotment of 50 acres, he plants 50 acres of each crop. As a result he earns parity payments of 50¢ per bushel on the normal yield of his corn acreage allotment and 10¢ per bushel on the normal yield of his wheat acreage allotment.

If a farmer has the same allotments as mentioned, 50 acres for wheat and 50 for corn, and plants 50 acres of wheat and 60 acres of corn, he draws no parity payments because the total of his plantings exceeds the 100-acre allotment.

If a farmer's allotments are 50 acres for corn and 50 for wheat and if he plants 45 acres of wheat and 55 of corn, he is not eligible for the corn parity payment but he is eligible for wheat parity payment because he seeded within his wheat allotment and did not exceed the total allotted acres for the two crops.

Wheat parity payments will be made before corn compliance is checked. A farmer who draws his wheat parity and then exceeds his total allotment by overplanting corn, will be required to refund the wheat parity money, Mr. Podoll explains.

Science Fair Is Scheduled Next Week at School

Former Champion Typist Is Here for Demonstration At Wayne High.

The inner workings of a slot machine will be among the interesting features for Wayne high school science-mathematics fair to be held in the laboratory April 26 from 4 to 11 p. m. This demonstration, which shows what happens inside such machines and which proves that chances are based on mathematical expression, is in charge of Stanley Gamble and Duke Derry. All members of science and mathematics classes will have exhibits. Demonstrations for the fair: Mathematics, general science, biology, chemistry and physics are the divisions planned. Chester Soucek, former world's amateur champion typist, demonstrated his ability Thursday morning for typing classes. His official record is 134 five-stroke words a minute for one hour. "Accuracy," said Mr. Soucek, "is the most important objective of typing. Speed gradually comes after one achieves accuracy. Proper posture, rhythm and concentration are important." Mr. Soucek presented different types of exercises, starting slowly and adding speed. Typing while spelling words, typing with a coin on one wrist, writing 134 words in a one-minute test and writing 126 words in 30 seconds were shown. From here Mr. Soucek went to Minneapolis to speak at a convention of commercial teachers.

Plan Pest Control For Dixon County

Dixon county supervisors have approved pest control emergency work, this action being prompted by many inquiries from farmers regarding grasshopper control. Grasshopper egg infestation, is said to have increased 50 per cent over last year.

Vern Jones of Allen, was appointed head of the emergency service. It is the board's wish that people be advised of the pest possibilities and the control program at county and township meetings.

As Dixon county has no agricultural agent, the program will be done by cooperation with Dakota county, the state and federal departments.

The Two Leg Test

Try this one on your mirror. Put on an ordinary pair of silk stockings on one stocking on in the usual way (ribby side out) and the other reversed (smooth side out). My! What a difference!

Silhouette
TURN-TEX
SILK HOSE

Actually knit inside-out! The soft, smooth beauty of the stocking is on the outside—where it belongs. Glamorously dull, bringing out the nature-tones of your skin, seems smooth and finished "sheer as mist" look, yet sturdier, hand-somer, run-resisting stocking that makes legs look slimmer. Kingless, pure silk, in subtle new shades.

Christian Science Services
"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 21.

The Golden Text is: "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For it, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement" (Romans 5:10, 11).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through the magnitude of his human life, he demonstrated the divine Life. Out of the amplitude of his pure affection, he defined Love. With the affluence of Truth, he vanquished error. The world acknowledged not his righteousness, seeing it not; but earth received the harmony his glorified example introduced. Who is ready to follow his teaching and example? All must sooner or later plant themselves in Christ, the true idea of God" (p. 54).

Predict That Airplanes of Tomorrow Will Make Flights in Stratosphere

Strato planes are the "ships of tomorrow." This is the opinion of flying experts who have been making tests with Pan-American's "Flying Cloud," the largest land plane in existence. Miss Evelyn Larsen, who is employed in the Pan-American office in Washington, D. C., had the unusual privilege of riding this strato-plane April 5.

"Flying Cloud," the 22 1/2 ton land plane, is bigger than an army flying fortress and has the general contours of a whale, blunt-nosed and tubular. Imagine sighting a whale at an altitude of 30,000 feet!

Captain F. I. (Fish Eye) Jacobs explains that when "you go that far up, the atmosphere becomes so rarefied a man becomes slightly intoxicated, for lack of oxygen. A chap then thinks he is doing everything in perfect shape but he is quite likely to make grave mistakes without realizing it." To offset such danger to pilot and passengers, a system of air-compressors is provided to supply air to the hermetically sealed cabin. The rarefied upper air is packed down to the same density as sea level atmosphere by pumps attached to engines.

Great advantages of high-altitude flying is less air-resistance, giving added speed and greater mileage per gallon. The "Flying Cloud" got 1.3 miles per gallon at 17,000 feet. Another important advantage is smooth weather, far above clouds and storms. It is explained that rain and snow are encountered at 5,000 feet, squalls and storms at 10,000 feet, winds and bumps at 20,000 feet and clear, smooth atmosphere at 30,000 feet.

Prediction is that strato-planes will later fly the Atlantic non-stop or to South America so high that passengers will feel like reaching out and grabbing handfuls of the Milky Way or the Southern Cross. So far as is known, no aircraft in the world, either military or commercial, has the combined long range, high-speed and load carrying ability of the "Flying Cloud." This ship has a top speed of 300 miles an hour, normally cruises at 250, has a range of 2,500 miles, carries 33 daytime passengers and 25 night passengers in capacious berths for the latter.

At Double Height.
"Flying Cloud" is the first four-engine transport in actual service in this country. Her 1,250-horsepower engines will lift her to altitudes of four and five miles, about double the present operating heights. Superchargers on the engines make flying at these altitudes possible. They compress thin stratospheric air to sea level densities before it enters the carburetors for "engines, like people, work better when they are sober."

A crew of six smartly uniformed men fly the silvery whale. Trips for Miss Larsen and Mrs. Bradley were arranged by Mr. Fay of the Pan-American office. They arrived at the field at 3:30 p. m. so as to be sure to be on hand when the plane took off at 4:15. They watched the huge ship land and refuel from a gasoline truck. The steward checked the list of names with the tickets to see if all passengers scheduled for the flight were present. Exactly at 4:15 they boarded the plane and names were cancelled as passengers prepared their tickets. Miss Larsen writes that she secured a seat to the rear of the wing so she could look out the entire length of the wing. The steward gave instructions to passengers to strap themselves in and the plane started to move. It went the entire length of the runway, turned around, paused a minute while the motors seemed to be racing, then started a take-off. Before passengers realized, the ship was off the ground.

"At first we didn't get so terribly high," writes Miss Larsen, "then the huge plane started to climb higher and higher and it was a most peculiar sensation. There was no regular motion but I could feel the movement as it seemed to climb, then go evenly, climb again and so on until we were above the clouds. I am so glad it was cloudy as I'll never forget the sight as long as I live. It reminded me of my first look into the Grand canyon as the clouds were sort of misty looking and when we looked down it appeared as if it were a mist similar to the haze that hangs over the canyon. Then in the distance were the banks of white, fleecy clouds and they looked exactly like mountain peaks covered with snow as I looked down upon them. I was wondering if we would get into them and we did as I looked up the sky was as blue as the ocean, without a cloud, and there below was the white bank of clouds. Then the plane banked for a turn. As we went over an opening I could look through and see the earth which was two and a half miles below at that time."

"As we were racing at 250 miles per hour, the steward served. I took pictures of the clouds and some of the plane. The experience was thrilling but I doubt if I'd enjoy traveling a long distance at this height for the altitude bothered my ears. The air-compressors furnished plenty of fresh air, each seat having a small opening through which air is blown into the cabin. We were in the air exactly 45 minutes, landing at 5 p. m.

Plane Is Comfortable.
"On the left side of the plane as one enters are nine single seats with a window by each, and these seats are in blue leather upholstery. To the right side are four compartments of six seats, three on each side facing each other, and there are two windows on this side right together. These seats are upholstered in blue and beige brocade material, and the floor is covered with a blue rug. The seats are very comfortable and beside each one is a bell to call the steward and a light switch. The walls are of a creamy brocade material upon which the map of the world is interwoven. All in all the fittings of the entire plane are satisfying. The pilot let us enter the control room and the whole thing looked pretty complicated. There are two pilots, the flight engineer and radio operator."

Miss Larsen's ride in the huge plane came just a year after she had seen the Yankee Clipper and its dedication. The ride was a real treat but she believes not quite so thrilling as her first plane ride, plane traveling now being so comfortable.

A second strato-plane is ready for delivery and a third is being built. The first pair will go into South American service to compete with new German and Italian planes which recently leaped into that field. The third is earmarked for high altitude airmail flying to Europe.

Today, those American delegates who fell in love with Norway and the Norwegian people, better understand many of what until now have been inexplicable utterances of delegates who came from all parts of the world to talk with one another in Oslo eight months ago. Some of these delegates are not surprised that the English laid mines in Norwegian territorial waters, but they seem surprised at the successful secrecy with which the Nazis completed their reprisals so rapidly following the allies' movement.

What happened to Norway had its echo in our own nation's capitol. People here didn't pay much attention when Austria went. But since then, they have become more sensitive. Representatives of what was a nation, a country, a government, yesterday, became people without a country over night. Diplomats who presided over impressive negotiations or embassies were without homes in the twinkling of an eye. Diplomats who had the privileges of the country and rank-

Washington, D. C., April 10, 1940

Only eight months ago, we sat a few feet from King Haakon and Crown Prince Olaf in Oslo, Norway. Together, we stood and sang the Norwegian anthem, reading the words from cards, especially printed in English. There were cards printed in French and Norwegian. We were the delegates to the 50th meeting of the inter-parliamentary union. It was the opening day of the conference. Around us sat the delegates from 22 other countries. Later we shook hands with the king and crown prince and then went to the Storting or Parliament house where we listened to delegates from all over the world pleading for world peace which never came.

Beautiful Norway! It captivated the hearts of the American delegation who felt so much at home in the fjords and mountains of Norway. We found the people interested in America and Americans. They were democratic and eager to exhibit the progress which has been made in the beautiful little country and they made it plain how much they loved their king and their crown prince. We watched the crown prince with a yacht race, watched his son manipulating his own boat in one of the most exciting contests on water ever held in the Oslo fjord. We accompanied the Norwegian officials to the museum where the Viking ships are on display and we heard the stories of the wonders of the early Norwegians in their desperate battle to eke out an existence from the waters of the sea and the mountains. We listened with awe at the adventures of the Norwegian sailors during the World war, during which time, in spite of their neutrality, they sailed the mine-infested waters and sacrificed thousands of lives and hundreds of ships in the effort to keep Norwegian trade and commerce alive. The names of these Norwegian heroes are engraved in bronze in the Norwegian capitol.

Eight months ago, Norwegians never dreamed that they, too, would become involved in a terrible war and would become the victims of aggressor nations. While delegates from nations all over the world were talking of peace in their Oslo capitol, the citizens of Norway made it plain that no matter what came to the world, they would remain neutral. They took no part in arguments on international affairs with the exception of expressing hope for world peace. They took no part in the desperate attempt of former delegates to the inter-parliamentary union to be seated and they sympathized with the Czechoslovak and other delegates who could not be seated because they no longer had a parliamentary government to represent. They looked with some misgivings upon the independent meetings of Nazi officials who assembled openly in public places in Oslo.

Now, after eight months, American delegates who watched these things in Oslo, realize that under the blanket of innocent peace talks in Norway, there were undoubtedly many important programs being hatched which very few of the official delegates realized. It was the old European custom of secret maneuvers which emerged eight months later when the Nazi ships of war sailed into the beautiful fjord of Oslo.

Here in Washington, there is unusual excitement due to the course of events. In scores of speeches made recently, Norway, Sweden and Denmark have been held up as strictly neutral nations. The great advancement in those small countries in reference to cheap electric power, dairy cooperatives, social security and shipping, has attracted large numbers of visitors. In many debates on the floor of the house, Norway, Sweden and Denmark have been frequently referred to as setting an example in world progress. Americans who love liberty so much are praying that the world will again become peaceful and that freedom will eventually come back to all people.

ed salute and special attention, became just other human beings. They usually represent a sort of bewildered people and nearly always their first objective is our own state department, where they get their first information. It happened like that to the Norwegian diplomats who are here. It happened to the Albanians, the Austrians, the Czechs, the Poles, and no one seems to know who will be next.

The Norwegians and Danes here got their first word of Nazi invasion from our state department. Our own representative in Oslo apparently scooped the world on the news which she flashed to our state department around midnight Monday. Nobody else here seemed to know about it. Special notice had to be flashed to the president and secretary of state. The lights in the great stone state department building burned all night. There was quite a little excitement among the people in the executive offices across the street. Officials of both countries met on the steps of our state department and passed, unnoticed, the representative of the German government, who by strange coincidence, had also called to talk to our state officials.

The Danish embassy is in charge of a young man named Povl-Bang-Jensen, who told friends that the Danish flag and arms would remain under the Danish legation. The minister, Mr. Kauffman, was out of town when news came to his office that the Nazis had invaded Denmark. The building in which the Danes live here was bought by them from Germany. It was once occupied by the Austrian legation.

Next door to this Danish building is the Czechoslovak legation in charge of Minister Hurban who refuses to give it up. The Czech coat of arms and the Czechoslovak flag still adorn that building which is now too large for the limited activities. Mr. Hurban tells friends he would like to sell the building and move to a smaller place. The work is kept up by contributions and the Czechoslovakian legation continues by the grace of our state department and the hope of Czechs that some day, again their republic may be restored.

Minister Morgenstjerne of Norway is one of the most popular diplomats here. He and his very fine family moved into a new building a few years ago. It is about ten blocks from the Danish legation. The Norwegian flag was flying over the building the morning after he received the news of the invasion of his country and while he talked to Undersecretary of State Welles in our building, he indicated his sadness over events. While he was shaking hands with Mr. Welles, Secretary Hans Thomsen, in charge of the German Embassy, was introducing a new German commercial attaché to American officials in the same building. Norway may be a little better off than a lot of other countries taken over by aggressors. Norway in the last dozen years has gone in strong for the tramp steamer business. Norwegian ships which never go back home, can be found on the waters all over the world in tramp steamer freight trade. The receipts go back home and many of the Norwegian sailors go back home only after long periods of time. She depends on world trade for her existence. Her many mountains do not yield the farm produce which is so abundant in Sweden and Denmark. It is this rich food — the meats and fats — plus the iron ore which the war-like nations are after.

Care Needed for Healthy Chicks

Since the lining of the intestinal tract of the baby chick is very sensitive during the first weeks of its life, anything that may upset its digestive system will quickly manifest itself in bowel troubles.

Bowel trouble due to pullorum disease can be largely eliminated by removing the carriers of the disease by testing with pullorum antigen, for it is known that the organism can be passed on to chicks through the egg. If the disease has been present in previous lots of chicks, or is present in the adult flock when the new chicks arrive, a thorough disinfection and fumigation will help to eliminate the possibility of infection from that source.

As a further precaution against the possibility of infection from some source that may have escaped your sanitation program, it is advisable to use a good drinking water medicine right from the first day and continuing for at least two weeks. Use a reliable preparation that will inhibit the growth and spread of disease organisms in the drinking water, and carry on the work in the digestive tract.

Excessive dryness is apt to prevail, especially in a well built brooder house, and this is often a predisposing cause of either bowel or respiratory troubles. The lack of humidity causes irritation and inflammation of the respiratory passages, removing the moist, protective coating against infection and allowing easy entrance to disease organisms.

Frequent spraying with a stimulating, antiseptic solution mixed with warm water will help maintain the desired humidity, especially under the hover and relieve the irritation and inflammation of the respiratory tract. The antiseptic will kill the germs on contact, before they may have become lodged in the breathing system, thus reducing the possibility of more serious complications, such as pneumonia.

At three weeks of age, chicks are or should be about three to four times as heavy as they were when a day old. At this time the feeder space should be doubled, or supplied two inches per chick; and add another water fountain or supply about one-half inch watering space per chick.

Chicks should be taught to roost as soon as possible. When chicks are three or four weeks old, strips may be set up for them to roost on. About a one-inch mesh wire netting should be placed beneath the strips so that chicks cannot get under the roosts into the droppings.

Some poultrymen have their roosts hinged to the side of the house, eight or ten inches above the floor.

Sweetbread and Mushroom Casserole.
Soak 2 pairs of sweetbreads in cold water for 1 hour. Drain and remove the membranes. Simmer them in 1 quart of boiling water to which has been added 1 tablespoon of vinegar for 20 minutes. Then drain for 20 minutes and plunge in cold water to keep white.

Melt 6 tablespoons butter in a frying pan and add 1/2 pound fresh or 3/4 cup canned mushrooms, sliced. Saute for 3 minutes. Remove from pan. Blend 4 tablespoons flour with the butter in the frying pan, add 1 1/2 cups light cream stirring until smooth.

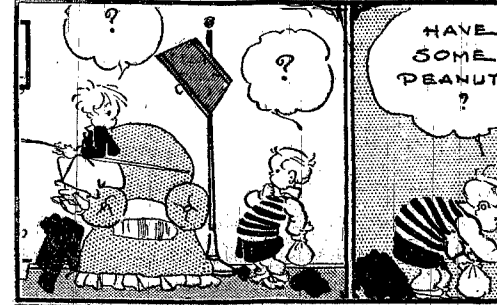

Add sweetbreads and mushrooms, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons sliced pimento and 1 cup chopped celery. Turn into a greased casserole and sprinkle with 1 cup buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderately hot oven until heated through and browned—about 30 minutes.

Missionary Group Convenes in Wayne

Northeast Nebraska Missionary meeting, held at St. Paul church here last Thursday, was attended by 89 registered delegates from nine churches. Miss Ruth Jaram of Philadelphia, promotional secretary and editor of the Lutheran Woman's Work, Mrs. O. L. Sturtevant of Lincoln, state treasurer, and Mrs. Geo. H. Haase of Emerson, state officer, were principal speakers. Next year's meeting will be in Homer. Mrs. Wm. Hanson of Emerson, was chosen president, Mrs. Raymond Larson of Dakota City, vice president, and a Ponca woman, secretary-treasurer.

To Recruit for Navy.

A navy recruiting officer will be in Norfolk April 18 and 23 to take applications for enlistment in the U. S. navy. Examinations will be given at the city hall there from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. The aim is to strengthen the navy to 145,000 by July 1.

Gardens Are Part Of Home Program

Gardens are important both to health and to economic status, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, home management supervisor for FSA in Wayne county. Planting a garden is part of the home management plan for FSA borrowers. Not only do the gardens provide an important part of the family summer diet but they furnish foods for canning to help in winter.

Exchanges

Dwight Burney is building a new home on his farm near Hartington.

Claude Sellon, formerly of Randolph, married Miss Violet Johnson at Fargo, N. D., April 2. They will live in Sioux City.

Mrs. LeRoy Riley of Pender, suffered back injuries when the car driven by her husband was struck by one from the rear as the Riley car stopped on the pavement east of Pilger to let a third car turn north to Wayne.

Former Residents At Second Picnic

Number of Wayne Countians Gather at Long Beach For Good Time.

The picnic for former Wayne countians, held at Long Beach, Cal., April 7 was well attended, a larger number being present than the previous Sunday when rain fell. Weather was ideal this time. Ben McEachen, president, and Miss Laura Lyons, secretary, were reelected at the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Miner and children, who recently moved to a new home at 816 Cordova, Alhambra, were among the guests.

Harry H. Zeimer, instructor in the Lynnwood schools, Mrs. Effie Forbes Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ellis, Blaine and Joe Ellis, Mrs. H. H. Hickman, Ralph Hickman, Mrs. H. E. Ellis, Mrs. E. B. Michael, L. W. Alter and daughter, Eva, and the latter's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hahn, Charles Swartz, Clarence Behrend, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Erickson, Anita Lessman, Miss Linda Hank, Alice Newman, Donald McEachen, Edna Hollman, Helen McEachen, Harold Barnett, Virgil Goshorn, Muriel Booth, Mrs. Elizabeth Goodyear, Mr. and Mrs. Bon Goodyear (nee Eva Crain), Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Ferrell and W. R. Olmstead were in the group. The last named said he was glad to drive the distance from Bakersfield to meet friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown, who have moved from Wilmington to Long Beach, attended. The former helped get signatures for the register. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ingham were present and the former took motion pictures of the entire company as well as individuals and small groups. Among others were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bell (nee Elsie Porter), Grace Bell Chapman, Florence Williams Tanner, Flossie Williams Clayson, Mrs. Nettie Williams, Mrs. Glenn McCay and Patty and Marilyn and Mr. Schacht. Lloyd E. Rohrke, on leave of absence from his teaching in Chicago, brought his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Rohrke of Hoskins, the three having been visiting relatives, the Wm. Sonnekens, in Los Angeles.

Paul Rethwisch and Marlin attended but some of the family were ill with mumps. Among others were Mrs. Anna M. Roberts of Alhambra, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jensen of Colome, S. D., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morgan, Mrs. J. G. Mines, Nathan Chace, Lillian Townsend, Charlotte Larson Jensen, W. O. Mrs. Allan Boock, formerly of Wayne, underwent a major operation last Thursday in Lebanon, Ore. She has been seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr., were in Sioux City last Thursday.

Program Is Given For Women's Club

Many Books Are Bought for City Library With Fund Earned at Play.

A unique program on "The Club Woman," official magazine of the Federation of Women's clubs, was presented for the local Women's club Friday at the club rooms by Mrs. Clarence Wright. It was explained that the magazine was first issued in 1922; it took its present form in 1927; and was made the official journal in 1930, now having 23,000 subscribers. The 1892 convention was in Chicago and Nebraska's only club, one at Weeping Water, was represented.

Mrs. Wright then pretended that she was Miss Winter, editor of The Club Woman, and she added the supposition that she also had a dress shop. Mrs. R. J. Kingsley served as model while Mrs. Wright cut parts from the magazine and placed them on the model. Advertising furnished the foundation. Clippings were placed on the parts of the body where they had special significance. Literature was the hat, being close to the hair, youth department was the collar, showing frequent change, movies were on the arms as sleeves; music and art were the sash, representing decoration; the breast pin was the picture of the president, who holds the whole federation together.

Reports of the district meeting at West Point were given. Mrs. L. A. Fenske told of Rev. Kessler's address; Mrs. E. S. Blair, of the golden jubilee; Mrs. J. T. Anderson, of Mrs. C. R. Caley's address; Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, of the pageant honoring past presidents; and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, of the pageant on the seven ages of women. Mrs. E. E. Gailey told of a convention she attended in San Diego. Austin Creamer presented Wayne high school boys' octet and quartet in numbers. Ruth Damme was accompanist.

The women voted to provide about $3 worth of shrubs for planting at school district 15. They gave $2 to cancer control fund. Arrangements to have the club room used by the Auxiliary were discussed.

Mrs. E. S. Blair reported on the books bought for the library with the $100 from the Wayne Players production last year. These books are the following: The Grapes of Wrath, John Steinbeck; Wickford Point, John Marguand; Treading into Maine, Kenneth Roberts; Theatre Guild Anthology, Harry E. Fosdick; The Patriot, Pearl S. Buck; A Good Home With Nice People, Josephine Lawrence; Theatre for Children, Winifred Ward; Bitter Creek, James Boyd; American Earth, Carlton Beales; I Want to Be an Actress, Katherine Cornell; A Player's Handbook, Samuel Seldon; Autobiography With Letters, William Phelps; Make-up, John Baird; Continental Plays, Thomas Dickinson; Black Narcissus, Rumer Godden; American Mid-passage, Charles and Mary Beard; Not Peace but a Sword, Vincent Sheean; Inside Asia, John Gunther; Days of Our Years, Pierre Van Passen; Step by Step, 1938-39, Winston Churchill; The Web and the Rock, Thomas Wolfe; Adventures in Good Eating, Duncan Hints; A Life With Men and Books, Arthur Bostwick; Wind, Sand and Stars, Antoine de Saint Exupery; April Was When It Began, Barry Benefield; The Revolt of Nihilism, Hermann Raushnig; Maud, Richard Lee Strout; The Nazarene, Sholem Asch; A Treasury of Masterpieces, Thomas Craven; Abraham Lincoln, the War Years, Carl Sandburg.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilbur Spahr, Mrs. Harvey Meyer, Mrs. L. W. Roe, Miss Pearl Sewell, Mrs. A. W. Ross, Mrs. G. L. Rogers.

Youth Bound Over To District Court

Harry F. Johnson Enters Plea of Not Guilty at Preliminary Hearing.

At preliminary hearing in Wayne county court last Friday, Harry F. Johnson, 18, of Sioux City, facing five charges of breaking and entering Wayne firms, through his attorneys entered a plea of not guilty. After his arrest last week Johnson had confessed to entering the Mines jewelry store, Safeway, Sala station and the Standard Oil station, the last named twice.

Johnson was bound over to district court with bond fixed at $2,000. Unable then to furnish bond, he was kept in custody.

O. T. Naglestad of Sioux City, and George W. Learner of South Sioux City, are attorneys for Johnson.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

To all persons interested in the estate of Nels E. Erickson, deceased, both creditors and heirs:

You are hereby notified that on the 3rd day of April, 1940, Raymond Erickson filed his petition in the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska, alleging that one Nels E. Erickson died on the 27th day of March, 1938; that said Nels E. Erickson, deceased, was at the time of his death, a resident of the county of Wayne and state of Nebraska, aforesaid; that he died seized of an estate of inheritance in the following described real estate, to-wit:

The North Half (N½) of the Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Two (2) Township Twentyseven (27) North, Range Three (3) East Wayne county, Nebraska, and the North Half (N½) of Lot Twenty (20) and all Lot Twentyone (21) in Block Nine (9) of Copcord, in Dixon county, Nebraska;

That said Nels E. Erickson, deceased, left him surviving his widow, Selma Erickson, who departed this life intestate at her own home in Wayne county, Nebraska, on December 29, 1939; that the fol-

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Reeker

Admission: Free.
Mr. E., the father of four children, ranging in age from 10 to 16 years, appeared in juvenile court and stated that an organized group of six youngsters was continually harassing his children on the way home from school.
His complaint was serious enough to justify citing the parents of all the children involved, including Mr. E.'s, into court.
The two sets of parents of the youngsters charged with the assault professed ignorance of the occurrences but promised to take steps to correct the unhappy situation. The 10 youngsters were all of haughty, ill-mannered disposition.
We excused the children from the conference room but detained the parents. Among other things they revealed that the children did not attend church or Sunday school.
"Why?" we asked.
"Because we are too poor to make contributions to the church," they declared.
"What recreation do your children enjoy?"
"Well, they go to the movies two or three times a week," a parent replied.
"But no church charges an admission fee or requires a contribution for attendance," we pointed out. Then we listed their church preferences and afterward notified the pastors of the various churches of our findings.
With church attendance declining 30 per cent during the past four years and general benevolence, 29 per cent; with movie-going increasing 41 per cent; the sale of whiskey, 220 per cent; beer, 317 per cent; and cigarettes, 48 per cent; more attention must be given to the influence of the church and other character-building groups if the number of delinquent children appearing in juvenile court is to be reduced.

Three small girls with an umbrella over their heads represent the window decoration for the month, a reminder that "April showers bring May flowers." The blackboard border consists of butterflies, pansies and small yellow chickens. Pictures about the room are appropriate to April.

In a health campaign started, small bars of soap were given to pupils, also small health charts. Each week a gold star is given to each who has perfect health record. A perfect record for four weeks entitles the student to a health pin. Those earning gold stars the past week are Carroll Weich, Herbert Kleinsang, Donald Dreds, Marvin Kleinsang, Donna Miller, Lester Kleinsang, Delaine Buss.

Donna Miller and Delaine Buss have most perfect speech in a Good English contest.

Change now to OIL-PLATING ... and "the old gray engine seems more like she used to be"
At birth her cylinder walls were almost like mirrors. The more of that polish you want to keep the more you want your engine OIL-PLATED by changing now to patented Conoco Germ Processed oil.
OIL-PLATING in your engine, like chrome-plating on bumpers, stays constantly PLATED UP. For an apparently magnet-like attraction comes to Germ Processed oil from its man-made extra ingredient, so that engine parts are surfaced with OIL-PLATING... drain-proof.
Remaining fully PLATED UP in the highest-speed engines, OIL-PLATING keeps Wear from doing Summer "business as usual" OIL-PLATED cylinders long keep the roundness of youth, and that makes your Germ Processed oil keep. Change today to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company.
