Planning Board Proposal Would Revamp System

Recommendations Are Made To Change Educational Setup in Nebraska.

A 10-point plan of revamping Nebraska's school system, presented in a report of the state planning board Monday following a survey which has been conducted over a period of a few months, is of special interest here because of the college. Just how it would affect the Wayne school is not yet determined. The planning board claims that the adoption of its proposals would save the state $1,086,000 every two years.

The plan will be presented to the legislature when it convenes next winter. The matter would have to be submitted to a vote of the state. The legislature might decide to submit the proposed constitutional amendment to the electorate, or the question might be placed on the ballot by petition.

The recommendations, which the board claims will better fit the needs of the state, are as follows: 1. A single board of control for higher education with a single executive officer and a single budget, six of the nine members to be elected by the people, the other three appointed by the governor.

2. Designation of the University of Nebraska primarily as a senior college with emphasis on liberal arts in junior and senior classes rather than in the full four-year course, and with all professional training, all graduate work, all correspondence courses, and the training of high school teachers conducted by it.

3. Designation of the teachers colleges to train rural teachers, elementary teachers, and two-year high school teachers, with one of the colleges also training teachers for four-year high schools.

4. Establishment of a state technical school to provide technical and semi-professional training in the physical plant of one of the four teachers colleges.

5. Creation of a state board for secondary education.

6. Inauguration of six-year high schools in a few of the larger cities, designed to offer terminal courses of a technical or semi-professional nature.

7. Maintenance, in a relatively large number of designated communities, of four-year high schools with curricula in agriculture, home-making, and such other vocations as the area warrants, in addition to general and college preparatory fields.

8. Conversion of small four-year high schools into two-year schools, their pupils to take curricula for the 11th and 12th grades in nearby designated schools.

9. Gradual elimination of normal training in high schools.

10. Merging of small rural school districts.

Scores Board Report. "We are not highly pleased with the report of the state planning board which recommended such sweeping changes in the Nebraska educational system," stated State Supt. C. W. Taylor.

The recommendations would wreck the whole school system, according to Taylor, reports the Lincoln Journal. He also added that the changes would result in increased cost rather than economy. "Nebraska is already nearly wrecked and we have been able to keep the ship afloat by very strenuous measures. We would rather think of the problem from the constructive angle than from the destructive angle. We always choose to work from the constructive angle," Taylor commented.

On the whole, Taylor charged, the planning board is apparently trying to tear down the existing situation such as the normal schools, the university and the state department of education. It would do away with high school inspection and normal training. The state superintendent has a committee working on proposed revisions of Nebraska's secondary educational setup, and some of the proposed changes are already provided by law, Taylor concluded.

Masons Conduct Service at Laurel Judge J. M. Cherry and G. W. Fortney went to Laurel Tuesday afternoon to attend Masonic committal services for Nelson Utter, 74, who passed away at Long Beach, Cal., in February. Mr. Utter was an early settler in Wayne county, moving from here to Laurel 30 years ago and to California later. Deceased was master of the Laurel lodge a number of years ago. Masons from Hartington, Coleridge, Wakefield, Wayne and Laurel attended the rites.

Returns from Lincoln. Prof. F. C. Reed is back from Lincoln where he had undergone operations in the veterans' hospital.

LAST CELEBRATION JULY 4TH HERE ON 50TH ANNIVERSARY

WAYNE has not celebrated the Fourth of July for a long time, and due observance again soon would seem advisable. The last big celebration here was on the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the town, and it included Independence day. This was in 1931, and it is remembered that rain spoiled one of the scheduled three days, so that the celebration was extended an extra day. The additional day pulled the management out of the red. Some public festivities would doubtless be appreciated this year with perhaps elaborately planned events for the sixtieth anniversary next year. It will be in line with the objectives of a live community to celebrate occasionally, and the Fourth of July needs increased emphasis in these critical years.

Disbarment of Lawyer Asked

Special Agent R. M. Kryger Makes Recommendations To Supreme Court.

Recommendation that the name of C. H. Hendrickson "be stricken from the rolls and his admission to the bar cancelled and annulled, subject to a later application for reinstatement on proper showing" was presented to the Nebraska supreme court Tuesday by Ralph M. Kryger, Neligh, who was appointed referee in disbarment charges filed against the Wayne lawyer. The supreme court's action on the recommendation is expected soon.

Mr. Kryger was in Wayne early in February to hear the disbarment charges. According to the Lincoln Journal of May 1 "the report covers many pages and goes into details of evidence presented in support of a half dozen charges, four of which the referee says were proven. One of these related to a physical assault upon Judge J. M. Cherry, 70 years old, which the referee said showed disrespect for the courts and conduct that can hardly be excused.

"Mr. Kryger," continues the Journal, "says that Hendrickson is a lawyer of more than average ability, and that none of the offenses charged against him could be excused because of desperate need. He says the evidence shows Hendrickson to be of a turbulent disposition, and that he made use of a shoppers' publication his wife owns to criticize fellow citizens.

"Several chapters are devoted to Hendrickson's 'bibulous habits,' the report states. 'The referee says the evidence showed frequent intoxication, and that he has been in court on numerous occasions when his mind was filled with the juices that 'make a turtle have wings, give a pauper the estate of princes and beggars kings.'" He says that his clients' interests have not suffered, but ascribes this to the capability of his secretary, Henrietta Hurstaid. In court he has shown a queer humor, referring to one attorney as 'fuzzy wuzzy' and another as 'hot dog.'

"Mr. Kryger," in the Lincoln report, "sums up by saying that reviewing the testimony as a whole and giving consideration to the various things proven, he feels sure that a man with that record, particularly his turbulent disposition, quick ungovernable temper and drinking habits, if an applicant for admission, would be refused. It follows, he says, that such a man should be disbarred."

Federal Housing Loans Explained

Fifty Dealers Convene in Wayne Monday Night To Hear Speakers.

Federal Housing loans for construction of new homes or refinancing were explained at Wayne city hall Monday evening to about 50 material dealers, contractors, bankers, real estate men and others. Holger Heim of Omaha, state director of FHA, and Albert E. Long, field representative, were speakers.

Mr. Heim predicted for Nebraska the biggest building activity since 1929, and expressed the belief that Wayne will do its share of improvement when all understand the long-term, low-monthly-payment plan of FHA. As an example he pointed out that a 25-year loan may be obtained and that on a $3,500 home it is possible to borrow $3,150, making the payments of principal, interest and mortgage insurance as low as $18.81 a month.

Mr. Heim stated that FHA has made $13,000,000 in such loans in Nebraska, and that more than 3,000 people have thus financed purchase of their own homes. FHA has no money to loan, but the organization is set up to encourage banks, trust companies, building and loan agencies, insurance companies and others to loan money on long terms and at low rates. FHA puts the government guarantee back of the loans.

WAYNE COUNTY ON WAY BACK AS SURE AGRICULTURE AREA

WE ARE pleased to believe Wayne county is coming back as an area of sufficient moisture and certain crop production. April which has just ended, brought what seems introduction of a wet cycle. During the month up to Monday, this week, the total rainfall, according to the gauge at the State National bank of Wayne, was 3.29 inches. During April of last year moisture amounted to 1.31. March this year brought a total of 1.12 inches. Total rainfall during March, 1939, was only two-tenths of an inch. Rainfall in some parts of Wayne county has been greater than that in Wayne. Bains have been general over the state, some parts more, others less than here. Depth of the moisture varies according to the quality of the soil. The subsoil is reported filling. It is generally agreed that the crop is starting off more nearly normal and with greater promise than at any time in many years.

Crisis Is Seen By Republicans In Government

Economic and Political Restoration Is Facing Nation Today.

"Realizing that today we are confronted with a task of economic and political restoration that is quite as fundamental, in many ways, as the task of political creation faced by the founders of the republic, we now reaffirm our allegiance to the republican party and its principles." So begin the resolutions passed by Wayne county republican convention which assembled at the court house last Thursday. A. V. Teed was chairman of the resolutions committee, and was assisted by H. E. Siman, Russell Bartels, Ray Dilts, Frank Phillips, Rev. W. A. Geddes, Walter Bredemeyer and Everett Lindsay.

"We deplore the subversive, actively and insidiously foreign influences now rampant in the United States and pledge ourselves to the utmost effort in their eradication.

"Now, therefore, we, the delegates to the republican convention of Wayne county, do hereby resolve as follows:

"As good Americans we do pledge ourselves to support every effort to keep the United States out of war, and we condemn the international meddling of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"It is a fundamental of democracy that ours is a government of law and not of men. Any efforts of Franklin D. Roosevelt to perpetuate himself in office is a flagrant violation of this principle.

New Deal Plans Fail. "The defeatist attitude and reckless spending of the new deal have repeatedly proved their own futility. After seven years of such a program we still have: Ten million unemployed, lower standard of living than 10 years ago, creation of new enterprise at standstill, fewer factories than in 1929 with 7.5 per cent more population, labor troubles which have increased prices to consumers while lowering the annual wage of workers, unsolved farm problem, no opportunity for youth, government expenditures at all-time high, heaviest tax burden in nation's history, national debt more than doubled; doubt, confusion and uncertainty; the new deal still has no clear idea (Continued on Page Three)

Soil District Is Voted in County Election Monday

Land Owners Favor Forming Soil Conservation Area In This Vicinity.

Wayne county land owners, at a special election Monday, favored establishing a soil conservation district, the vote reported at Lincoln Wednesday totaling 133 for and 18 against the proposition. This gives 88 per cent approval compared with 75 per cent required by law. It is expected the final favorable vote will be about 160.

The resident vote in Wayne county was 108 for and 18 against the issue, and mailed votes increased the number. All mailed ballots had to be postmarked before midnight Monday and were sent to Lincoln.

The resident vote at the five polls was as follows: Reinhardt school, 35 for and 2 against; Hoskins, 31 for and 10 against; district 53, south of Winside, 9 for and 5 against; Leslie, 19 for and 1 against; Wilbur, 14 for and 0 against.

The Wayne county district embraces about 80,000 acres, and already an area south of Wakefield is petitioning to enlarge this. The district is the 13th formed in the state and brings the Nebraska conservation areas to a total of 1,283,000 acres.

Wayne county district is in parts of Hoskins, Hancock, Brenna, Plum Creek, Leslie and Wilbur precincts. Petitions asking its organization were signed by 180, and it is estimated that at least 75 per cent of the land owners voted.

The state committee will soon appoint a local farmer supervisor. It will be his duty to get a certificate of organization for the district from the state and see that four other supervisors are elected. Candidates for these supervisory offices will be nominated by the farmers and their names will be (Continued on Page Two) value adversely. Mr. Holm also told of the minimum construction requirements, FHA insisting upon good construction.

Mr. Long brought out points about FHA valuation and construction, and talked on provisions of the national housing act which enables borrowers to secure loans of less than $2,500 for modernization, repair and improvement of residential or business properties. As an example, he told that one may secure a loan of $100 for a new roof. If the bank grants a three-year term on the sum under FHA, the payments would be $3.20 a month.
Mr. Long said that thousands have taken advantage of this plan for making needed improvements. "The owner gets the improvement on the easy payment plan; the dealer gets the money; the laborer gets the work."
Irrigation wells, pumps and stationary power plants to operate the same are eligible equipment for FHA loans, according to Mr. Long. The speaker declared that Nebraska has the greatest possibilities for pump-irrigation development of any area of like size in the world. This, he said, is due to the abnormally thick and heavy water-bearing gravel layers that underlie most of the state. Now 700,000 acres are under irrigation in the state while nearly 4,000,000 acres are available for irrigation due to the lay of the ground and nearness to the surface of water-bearing gravel.

The republican party is still the party of reaction. It is still the party of special privilege and laissez-faire. In other words, it is still the republican party. Try as hard as it would, a republican administration could never go back to what members of that party euphemistically refer to as 'The Good Old Days.' Succeed they would, however, in reducing to a minimum the benefits accruing from the democratic program. The nation would have to learn all over again the sad lesson of 1929. The board of supervisors will request that part of the Winside CCC camp be assigned to the district and will also ask for additional technical help. A soil conservation service office will be established.
Farmers may do as they wish about using camp help. If they wish the service of camp men in surveying, planning or carrying out the actual soil conservation practices, they will apply to the board. The camp will complete its soil conservation agreements signed the past year and its services will then be available to farmers in the area.

You can't do much field work after these rains, but it's a swell time to put in fence. Every time you think of fence, you naturally think of American, for American Fence and Orange Banner steel posts are THE standard. You get them at Carhart's.
"Robert," asked the teacher, "how many natural magnets are there?"
"Two, sir."
"And will you please name them?"
"Blondes and brunettes, sir."
A good paint will last for years, and when re-painting is called for, you will find a surface in ideal condition for the new paint coat. Whether it is house or barn paint, buy Glidden, for Glidden is a good paint and will do everything a good paint should, with a little extra for good measure.

A good many people do not realize how simple and easy it is either to remodel or build new houses the FHA way. If you have any doubts as to the ease of this method, let us explain it to you. We'll be glad to do so.

CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., April 27, 1940.
Some of the local papers are starting to carry Decatur's "Our Country, Right or Wrong," at their editorial mastheads. These newspapers, however, take issue with Secretary of State Hull that we should protect the Dutch East Indies in case Holland should be seized by the Germans. They believe this Dutch East Indies policy contains the seeds of war and if that policy is approved by congress, these writers believe that Decatur's statement will again become the American slogan. Stephen Decatur said this: "Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong!"
By the end of 1940 the United States will be producing airplanes at the rate of 3,000 per month, or 36,000 per year. At present, England is producing 1,200 per month, France 300 per month, and Germany 2,000 per month.

Decatur's statement will again become the American slogan. Stephen Decatur said this: "Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong!"
By the end of 1940 the United States will be producing airplanes at the rate of 3,000 per month, or 36,000 per year. At present, England is producing 1,200 per month, France 300 per month, and Germany 2,000 per month.
The importation of about 3,000 tons of oils and fats per day, which means over one million tons per year, is a matter of concern to nearly every farmer. This flood of coconut oil, palm oil, babassu oil, whale oil, to say little of the linseed, flaxseed and castor beans, upon the prices of cottonseed, peanut and soybean oil, is a substantial factor in the low price of lard and therefore of hogs and corn, and even reaches to some extent toward the price of butter and therefore of dairy products. Taken together, these oils and fats, pouring in mainly from the tropics and jungles where a few cents a day is the reward of labor, are probably our largest import.

Newspapers from home giving the prices farmers are receiving for their products, attract attention here. Those of us who are fortunate in having wives who cook our own meals get quite a kick out of comparing food prices here with the farmers' prices at home. Here is a late list from our kitchen: One dozen eggs, 37 cents; one pound butter, 36 cents; one pound ground meat, 50 cents; half pound bacon, 30 cents; Beef tenderloin costs over a dollar a pound.

Elect President Student Group

Public Is Invited to Art Exhibit to Be Shown At City School.

Wayne high school students, at an election Tuesday, chose Paul Harrington president of the Student-Faculty association for next year. Paul automatically becomes president of the student council to which each class will elect two members in the fall. The new officer, who will be a senior next term, won over Robert Haas. Other candidates, Gail Dunning and Carl Bader, withdrew before the election.

At an assembly meeting Monday evening the two candidates presented their platforms. Short skits were given from the senior play.

Invited to Art Exhibit.

Junior and senior art work from schools of Nebraska will be on exhibit at Wayne city school Friday and Monday afternoons, May 3 and 6. Friday evening from 7 to 9 the exhibit will be open to adults so that those who are unable to attend during the day will have an opportunity to see it.

Besides the art work done by students of Nebraska schools, the display includes some work from the high schools of Cleveland, Detroit, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Oakland, Cal., and Greeley, Colo., all being art centers in the United States. Wayne city school has seven cards of art work in the traveling exhibit, the pieces having been chosen when the collection was made up at Kearney. Work of other local students will be on display at the city school in connection with the traveling exhibit. Everyone is urged to attend the exhibit and to bring friends to see it.

Library Is Popular.

The new library has been one of the busiest spots in the high school this year. Stacks of books are open to students and "browsing" has been encouraged. That this practice has borne fruit in wide reading is shown by records which have been kept monthly. The library subscribes regularly for Time, Current History, Newsweek, Scholastic, National Geographic, Nature, Readers Digest, Scientific Monthly, Health, Correct English, Mathematics and Science and the New York Times. Recent copies are always available on the open rack and back numbers are kept in accessible files. A valuable contribution last week was 33 issues of National Geographic magazine given by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sweet.

"Charm School," the senior play, is to be presented at the auditorium this evening. The boys' octet will sing between acts.

Plans are being made for the Pep banquet May 14. At that time extra-curricular activities will be recognized.

In Sixth Grade.

The 6th graders are studying safety in correlation with other classes. Tuesday each child pantomimed a safety rule.

Art students are busy with poppy posters.

Jean Jones brought a map of Europe as it is today. This helps in geography.

Third Grade News.

Mothers and friends were invited to the activities room Friday afternoon to hear the 3rd grade chorus and rhythm band in a program of music. Bells and saxettes were used in special numbers. Twirlers also gave a demonstration. Piano solos were by Nancy Perry, Claire Mae Simmerman and Phyllis Foster. Carol McIntosh presented a tap dance.

Marilyn Birdsall brought a new variety of salamander, which she showed to several grades. A story was read about the bird.

Pupils are making bird booklets, writing stories and illustrating them.

Music aptitude tests for pupils in the 3rd, through 8th grades were given Tuesday.

Second Grade News.

Pupils used original ideas in making May baskets.

Stories have been illustrated with colored paper. Children are also making health posters.

The room has 19 on the dental honor roll, 9 girls and 10 boys. The two groups have a contest to see which gets all names on first.

Folk Songs Will Feature Program

Life of Stephen Foster Will Be Portrayed Here By Students.

Folk songs grow and live because they express the emotions of the people. The United States had a man who wrote its folk songs, a man about whose life romantic mythology has woven many tales. Stephen Foster, with his struggles, his loves and his successes, is the inspiration for the opera-drama the students of the college are preparing for two productions, May 16 and May 20.

The members of the college choir, 90 in number, will sing all the favorite Stephen Foster songs as only trained singers can sing them. A variety of solo, duet and quartet arrangements will be carried by the principal characters who have been chosen from the members of the choir and the class in dramatics.

The two women soloists are Dolores McNatt and Loren Lindburg who play the parts of Susan Pentland and Jane McDowell (Jeannie). The two men soloists are Werner Welcher and Tom Hopley who portray Andrew Robinson and Stephen Foster.

The parents of Stephen are played by Ruth McClaran and Kenneth Pierson; his brother, William Junior, by Harold Bocher; his sister, Ann Eliza Buchanan, who is married to Rev. Buchanan, James Kingston, by Donna Lou Friedrichs; Dr. McDowell, father of Jane, by Dean Owen; E. P. Christy, the circus man, by Charles Bearce; Olivia, the negro maid, by Marvel Reising and Genevieve Dodds.

Members of the singing school are Betty Ellis, Ruth Harn, Ethel Kautz, Dorothy Nyquist, Ellene Politis, Willetta Waite.

The setting is the home of Foster's parents in Pittsburgh. The costumes are authentic for that period.

Prof. Russel Anderson has been training the choir for several weeks on the Foster melodies. Miss Lenore P. Ramsey is directing the dramatic work. Costuming and stage settings are under the direction of the dramatic class and Miss Ramsey.

Crisis Is Seen By Republicans

of where it is headed and no consistent program, even its friends admitting it has failed to attain its objectives.

"Economic America is not through. American standards of living still demand more goods, and the new deal still deals in scarcity. Only when government retires to the business of government and allows citizens of America to follow the traditional American philosophy of free competitive enterprise, under sensible regulation, will our social and economic problems be solved.

Deplore Foreign Farm Competition.

"Reducing the production of our own farms and at the same time opening American markets to foreign agriculture through reciprocal trade treaties is inconsistent and illogical. Acreage control, is basically unsound. The new deal has failed to solve the farm problem. It has not brought about farm parity. It has not disposed of crop surpluses, and its soil conservation program through crops is a failure. Only when the national economy as a whole is brought to a full and balanced recovery will agriculture regain permanent prosperity.

"The present new deal administration has proved its inability to cope with reality and draft any consistent, though, direct and workable solution to our problems. Instead it has insisted on substituting frantic activity for intelligence and political expediency for honest government.

"Only when we obtain an administration in Washington which will reestablish common sense, morals and intellectual integrity in government, in short, only with a republican administration in Washington, will American democracy survive. To this end we enthusiastically endorse Hugh Butler for the United States senator, Karl Stefan for congressman, Dwight Griswold for governor, E. W. Huse for delegate to the national convention, together with regularly nominated republican candidates.

The convention chose T. S. Hook chairman and Don Wightman secretary. The former appointed David Hamer, Carl Anderson and Mrs. G. J. Hess on the permanent organization committee, Don Wightman, H. L. Bredemeyer and W. J. Ohlund on the credentials committee and those named above on the resolutions committee.

Delegates Are Elected.

Delegates to the state convention in Columbus this Thursday were elected as follows: Burr Davis, T. S. Hook, H. E. Siman, David Hamer, Russell Bartels, Mrs. L. B. McClure, Don Wightman, H. L. Bredemeyer, E. W. Huse, A. V. Teed and F. S. Berry. Alternates are J. T. Bressler, Frank Exleben, Geo. Buskirk, Walter Bredemeyer, Rev. W. A. Gerdes, Frank Phillips, E. O. Behmer, Ray Dilts, Mrs. G. J. Hess, Lawrence Jenkins and Dave Davis.

Mr. Hook will be on the state resolutions committee.

A number present gave short talks.

Bold Plan THE TENDENCY the world over is to centralize power and strip the individual of initiative in planning his future. [The tendency appears that way in the program of the planning board to remodel the state's school system, restrict opportunities for higher education to the state university, diminish the field of usefulness in teachers' colleges and make high schools follow the narrowing blueprints of absentee landlords. While other states are enlarging and extending school curriculums, this state is asked to shrink its expensively wrought teacher-college plants to serve trailing mediocrity.]

It is proposed to have one board of control, and crown the university as the big chief in determining higher training for the young of the state. The idea is to curtail the services of teachers' colleges, and also to cut down certain high school courses from four to two years. Four-year high schools remaining would be asked to serve students belonging to less fortunate high schools. Taxpayers who could not afford to send their children to the university, would have to help pay the way for those who could afford to do so. Natural protection of home life, so essential to early formative youth, would be seriously limited by the proposed arrangement.

Fewer permitted to be educated, fewer teachers would be needed. If proposed economy did not entirely vanish before transportation and other extra costs, manifestly it would not be warranted by straggling educational advantages. If culture is to be sacrificed to the almighty dollar, why not abolish teachers' colleges? Why not go back to the philosophy of Sir William Berkeley, English colonial administrator, who said he hoped this country would never have free schools?

Like many new-dated innovations, cradled in fancy, well-intentioned suggestions and some desirable changes may reasonably be conceded to the planners' plans without accepting wholesale overhauling that would abridge and cripple what should be enlarged in the quest for more instead of less learning and enlightenment. The question will be studied carefully and discussed freely before action is taken. Whatever of good is in proposed plans may be salvaged by the legislature.

Political Differences THE OMAHA World-Herald points out that democrats and republicans are quite alike in fundamental beliefs and noble aims. "Differences are largely as to degree, method and manner of administration," says that newspaper, which amplifies in part as follows:

"These differences are very sharp and they exist within both parties as well as between them. There are the lunatic fringes of communism and hardshell toyism and half-baked, incompetent theorists that disturb and cloud the picture, but its outlines are sufficiently clear."

"The question remains how we are to get what most of us want for our country. The fact is we are painfully far from the desired objectives. Unemployment is chronic. Farm distress is chronic. Private enterprise lags, discouraged and frightened. Taxes and the public debt amount to alarming proportions. Labor is at war with itself and at war with industry. Government seems better able to aggravate than to reconcile their differences, and occasionally cries out, as did Mr. Roosevelt, rather peevishly, 'a plague on both your houses!'"

"Good government calls for efficiency as well as honesty and excellent intentions. It requires that rather rare sort of ability that achieves by conciliation and compromise rather than falls through obstinacy and resentment. It needs a sense of proportion, a practical middle-ground wisdom, and a disposition to be frugal rather than prodigal in the handling of other people's money."

Labor Problem UNEMPLOYMENT still stalks — used by those in power to multiply relief measures and used by those out of power to show the failure of seven years of fanciful and costly experimentation. Setting up new agencies to solve labor problems leads Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business to draw these conclusions:

"We may find that what we have done is to increase the amount of charity by ten-fold, and to switch from private and county relief, that is vigilant and economical, to federal relief, which is traditionally big-hearted."

"There is no hope from political quarters. The party in power cannot explore employment figures; its program depends upon them for continuation of its emergency measures and new legislation. Nor can the party out of power be realistic; its strategy to get in is to attack an administration for not cutting down unemployment as promised."

"So a great system of free enterprise, in spite of its amazing record of 150 years, finds itself in danger of losing its job to political control, largely because of an unrealistic, perhaps unwitting definition of unemployment."

Candidates do not always run extra well in their home communities. Home loyalty is sometimes hampered by secret jealousy. Not so was the experience of Hugh Butler, successful candidate in the late primary for United States senator. Butler's old home town, Cambridge, where he is best known, gave him 326 votes to 28 for all opponents. Furnas county, where Cambridge is located, rolled up 1,490 votes for Butler with a total of 423 going to four other candidates. One precinct where Butler's farms are located, supported his candidacy unanimsously. In two other precincts the vote was 183 for Butler against 15 for all other candidates. In the neighboring county of Frontier, Butler received more than double the votes cast for the combined opposition. Butler carried every precinct in both counties—a wonderfully satisfying endorsement by home people.

The taxpayer is expected to accept as a gift money taken from him to spend by wasteful bureaucrats in public projects. The taxpayer who has been industrious and frugal, managing to save something for declining years, is expected to regard as generous benevolence the absorption of his surplus in government enterprise. The individual who has lived moderately is compelled to surrender his practical judgment to that of inexperienced theorists.

The United States can be of more service to a war-weary world after peace has been declared by keeping out of the conflict. Fear that this country will be attacked, conquered and enslaved by foreign dictators at the conclusion of hostilities abroad is not seriously entertained by those who appreciate American resources and genius.

"How about adding a forty-ninth star to the flag?" asks the Lusk, Wyoming, Herald. "We have had a State of Emergency in the Union for seven years."

Looking Backward. (Nation's Business)

In 1804 an early American philanthropist died in New Jersey leaving an estate in trust to be used for the education of poor children in his home town of New Brunswick. Last month the New Jersey courts were petitioned to authorize some other use of this fund. There are no longer any poor children in New Brunswick to be educated by philanthropy, nor have there been for a good many years.

Could that New Jersey pioneer resurrect himself in the flesh today he would confront a bewildering paradox. He would see a nation of free schools, free textbooks and free student transportation, where the children of rich and poor are equal, as far as elementary education goes. He would see workmen driving to their jobs in carriages such as no grandee of his time possessed. He would see four-fifths of the population living better than he, a rich man in his day, lived.

But — and here is the paradox — he would hear endless chatter about "the underprivileged," "indecent standards of living," "wage slavery," "youth cheated of its patrimony," etc. Like some of the rest of us, he would get a headache trying to understand it.

ARBITRARY.

Nation's Business finds the federal communications commission taking arbitrary action in suppressing private enterprise. Its order to R. C. A. to suspend announced plans for manufacturing and selling television receivers and for the establishment of transmitting stations is regarded brazen assumption of authority. The magazine wonders how slow would have been radio and automobile development if government interference had been permitted in the infancy of such industries. Speaking of the order to block introduction of practical television, the magazine says in part: "A federal commission established primarily (insofar as radio is concerned) for the licensing of stations and allocation of wave lengths to avoid confusion and interference now presumes to prescribe a merchandising plan. A company that has spent $10,000,000 developing a new industry to employ 'idle men and idle dollars,' is told to go back and sit down. Political control of economic systems is a fever raging throughout the world. The results are everywhere the same: not enough goods and work to go around."

that extremity, do so unavoidably — do so because they are unable to work or cannot find employment, or have lost, through the vicissitudes of the years, any surplus they may have accumulated. Much credit is due those who, through careful management and severe self-denial, have managed to keep off relief during past hard years. The one who has succeeded in a battle against fearful odds, keeping his spirit of independence high and unimpaired, will come out of the ordeal stronger and better equipped to turn prosperity to advantage when it comes back.

TYRANNY.

Boake Carter, columnist, says a dictator, according to old Roman law, served during an emergency, and then retired. He adds that Mussolini, Stalin and Hitler are not dictators, but tyrants who forced themselves into power with no intention ever voluntarily to retire. They tell their subjects what public policies or private habits are needed for the good of society, and then secure obedience through violence or threats of violence. If friend or foe gets in the way he may be killed or sent to a concentration camp. Subjects are ordered to give up personal rights in order to have security, and they soon find they have neither rights nor security, and the liberty they have surrendered compels them to suffer in silence. Power is reinforced by show of benevolence. Injustices are done and outrages are perpetrated on innocent, undefending individuals and groups in the pretext of serving the state or the popular welfare. Destruction of precious religion or celestial hope always accompanies the rise of dictatorship and tyranny. People are fooled by false promises or made helpless through poverty to accept virtual slavery.

Speaker Declares All Ages Need Diversion Provided By Outside Interests.

Hobbies are most important in lives of people today according to Mrs. Raymond Cherry who spoke to Wayne Women's club Friday on this subject. The extremely busy person needs a hobby for relaxation. And the one who does not have enough to do needs a hobby to provide something to occupy his attention and time. A hobby is a rest cure for the busy person. Extremes of age also get great benefit from hobbies. The elderly person needs a hobby to occupy attention after family responsibility is removed. A hobby is of benefit to a child for it centers his attention in something as well as provides him with information that enables him to be of interest to other people.

Mrs. H. H. Hanscom, who displayed loom weaving, Mrs. J. G. Miller, who has a collection of glassware, and Mrs. E. W. Huse, who has coverlets, told of their hobbies. Several others had displays of hobbies for the club. Frances Ahern, playing the flute, Jacqueline Helleberg, the trombone, Warren Noyles and Mary Claire Jordan, the piano, provided music.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Shults, Mrs. Textley Simmerman, Mrs. C. C. Stirtz, Mrs. H. S. Seace, Mrs. Orville Tuskind and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen.

Guest day for mothers is planned May 10. Mrs. T. T. Jones has charge of the program of music, and Mrs. W. E. VonSeggern is serving chairman.

Message Brought By Tree Surgeon

Interesting Exhibits Are Feature of Fair at Wayne School.

Trees should not be trimmed on the tops for this shortens their lives, and lower limbs should not be trimmed until trees are old enough to stand the loss, stated Dr. Wilbur Seibert of Sioux City, in speaking Friday evening at Wayne high school science-mathematics fair. He would allow spruce trees to branch from the ground up.

The speaker told of the varying length of life of trees. Soft maple, Chinese elm, cottonwood and box elder are short lived so he advised against using them for terrace planting where a long-life tree is desired. Instead, he recommended elm, hackberry and ash. In addition to these he favors silver poplar, bass wood and blue spruce for long-lived lawn planting. Dr. Seibert advised to plant weeping willow or lawn willow where a large space is available, the tree spreading too much for small space.

Dr. Seibert says trees should be watered a distance from the roots so as to make the roots spread. A tile placed in the ground to run water into is a good means of watering a tree. He would shake limbs which are broken or cut rather than using common paint.

A tree, able to manufacture its own food from the soil and able to manage its own breathing and circulation, is a wonderful mechanism of nature.

Dr. J. E. Brock demonstrated glass blowing.

Students in biology, mathematics, chemistry and physics had exhibits. A hobby show was also featured. The displays of Edna Penn, Robert Haas, Lyle Seymour, Robert Bentback and Herbert Temme were picked as best and these students will attend the Junior Academy of Science at Chadron May 10 to 12. Will Select Youths For Naval Service

Lieut. K. M. Krieger and Chief Pharmacist's Mate G. T. Ayers will be in Wayne May 4 to select students for aviation training in the U. S. navy, it was announced by Lieut. Commander W. B. Ault of Kansas City, Kan. The board will be at Hotel Stratton Saturday from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 27 and must have at least two years of university or college education. They must be unmarried and agree to remain so for the first two years of active duty with the navy.

Training starts at Fairfax airport at Kansas City and after a month, students go to Pensacola, Fla., to complete flight training. The student is then commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve and may be ordered to one of the aircraft squadrons of the fleet as a naval aviator.

The pay offered to the cadet during the first year of training at Pensacola, is approximately $105 per month. He is given a $10,000 life insurance policy, furnished with uniform equipment and provided with quarters. After the completion of the course at Pensacola and while serving as a commissioned officer on active duty with the fleet he receives the full pay and allowances of a commissioned officer.

An indefinite quota of students has been assigned to the Kansas City area. These students will be sent through training in groups every 30 days commencing the 15th of each month.

Achievement Day Program Is Held

Women's Project Groups Demonstrate Work of Past Season.

Wayne county project clubs' achievement day, held Friday at Wayne auditorium, was attended by about 175. Mrs. Leslie Coley was chosen county chairman to succeed Mrs. Lawrence Ring who had served two years. Mrs. Ring was presented with a spruce tree as a token of appreciation for her leadership. Each of the leaders in the clubs was given gladioli bulbs by D. Hall. The past year 15 project groups had an enrollment of 191. This year 13 clubs have 185, three new ones have been organized and others are expected to take up the work. Any wishing to form a project club are asked to contact the county chairman, farm bureau office or one of the leaders.

Mrs. M. I. Swihart of Carroll, is chairman of the group meetings which will be held for leaders each month in Wayne. Mrs. H. C. Mitchellstead of Hoskins, is chairman of the group to convene at Winside. Last year Mrs. Basil Osburn was chairman at Wayne and Mrs. Leslie Coley at Winside.

But It's True

Richard was in the habit of crushing weeds, rolling them in bark, smoking the product just as cigarettes are smoked today. The pike was known to be 298 years old because a man living near the lake almost three centuries before had placed metal bands around 100 fish, with dates on them. LINCOLN DAILY JOURNAL $4 Year by Mail 12c Week by Carrier

People paying 25c per week spend $13.00 a year. Times are hard and money is scarce. Everyone must save. The Lincoln Journal will help you. The Bee-News suspension left but one other large morning daily in the state besides the Journal. It left but one other large Sunday paper in the state besides the Sunday Journal and Star. The State Journal has been serving the territory between Omaha and Denver for the past seventy-two (72) years.

The Lincoln Journal sells for one to three dollars a year less than any other big state morning daily, and is priced as low as day late afternoon papers. With the Lincoln Journal you practically get the Sunday free, for the other big morning paper charges nearly as much for daily only, as the Journal does including Sunday. By mail in Nebraska and northern Kansas, three months daily $1.25, with Sunday $2.00; a year daily $4.00, with Sunday $7.00. Or, by carrier boy, 12c a week for daily, 10c a week for Sunday, 20c daily and Sunday. The Lincoln Journal has openings for carriers on morning, evening and Sunday paper routes in many towns. Your local carrier is Bobby Meyers. Call him for service. The Herald will be glad to take your mail subscriptions. m21f

Athletic Record Of Leahy Family Is One of Note

The outstanding athletic record of members of the Leahy family, formerly of Wayne, is told in the Lusk, Wyo., Herald. Gene Leahy of Lusk, was designated as an all-American football fullback in 1919 when he was a student at Creighton university, Omaha.

Gene took his four years of high school work in Wayne and made a reputable line, smasher. He weighed 185 pounds when he entered Creighton.

The Lusk paper tells of an encounter between the Colorado School of Mines and Creighton at Omaha. C. L. Parsons, now sports editor of the Denver Post, was then coach for the Colorado aggregation. When the Miners reached Omaha, Parsons told them to "blanket Leahy." However, Leahy was not stopped and Parsons accredited the defeat of his team, to Gene's excellent job of running interference. Leahy was largely responsible for Creighton's holding Marquette to a scoreless tie and for the Omaha team's defeat of Wyoming. In the latter game Leahy scored 16 counters.

Leahy was Creighton team captain in 1919. He was given credit for being the "greatest punter and extra point kicker" that midwesterners had seen in 1919. Gene had one of the highest punt averages ever garnered at that time. His season's average was close to 60 yards.

Leahy also played exceptionally fine basketball, was the Creighton light weight boxing pride, was star shortstop in baseball. In addition he was a brilliant star in the school of pharmacy where he attained the highest average in the department. Since his school days he has done some baseball and soft ball playing.

Gene's brother, Frank, right tackle on Knute Rockne's national-championship Notre Dame teams of 1929 and 1930, and assistant coach at Fordham U since 1933, signed up as head football coach at Boston college last year. His first year at Boston brought success to the Eagle team. Boston completed an undefeated football season and accepted a bid to play Clemson Tigers in the Cotton Bowl New Year's day, losing a close 6 to 3 game.

The other Leahy brothers, Jack, now of Casper, and Tom, in the east, are also sports minded. Jack was once a heavyweight boxing champion. Jack's son, attending Regis high in Denver, was selected for the all-parochial basketball five this year. Tom, a salesman, played with Notre Dame in the season of 1938.

An Omaha loan company bought St. Ann's school at Dixon and will dismantle it to use the lumber for a farm home.

A well-known club woman of the community hurried into the juvenile court office one day in response to the judge's telephone call to her. She was angry — there was no doubt about it. "I haven't time to talk to you this afternoon, judge," she said. "My bridge club meets today, and I should be there now. What is so important that you insisted that I come down here at once?"

Nebraska is the third state in stock production. The annual production of beef, pork and mutton would supply the citizens of Nebraska with their per capita consumption for at least 10 years. Sixty Years Ago

The discovery of precious metal must have thrilled early prospectors, but even greater would be the thrill to one who found gold without searching for it.

The Northern Nebraska Journal, published 60 years ago in Ponca by Wm. Huse, tells of one C. W. Chambers, station agent at Table Rock, who had an unusual experience. While out gunning in the vast primeval forests at Table Rock, Mr. Chambers sat on the flat surface of a boulder to rest. With his head on his game bag, he fell asleep.

Suddenly Mr. Chambers was awakened by a noise that sounded like thunder. A storm had gathered. Lightning struck the tree on the banks of the ravine against which the rock rested. Mr. Chambers dragged himself from the boulder before the giant rock crashed to the valley below.

After the incident, Mr. Chambers took up pieces of the oak tree which had been shattered and with his feet he discovered shining metal.

The metal was examined and proved to be pure gold, worth $50. He found many more pieces of the same size and value.

Then Mr. Chambers proposed to buy 40 acres on which Table Rock stands. John Blacklow considered it of no value as sheep pasture and was willing to part with it for $15 an acre.

Mr. Chambers continued his gold operations in the vicinity and realized much from the rich vein.

Supt. G. B. Nellis has resigned as head of Ponca school to accept a position as guide and lecturer at Boulder Dam. His new work starts May 15.

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Recker

No Respector of Social Strata.
A well-known club woman of the community hurried into the juvenile court office one day in response to the judge's telephone call to her. She was angry — there was no doubt about it.

"I haven't time to talk to you this afternoon, judge," she said. "My bridge club meets today, and I should be there now. What is so important that you insisted that I come down here at once?"

"Only your daughter," the judge replied. "Her face paled beneath its careful make-up. 'What about my daughter?' 'Just this,' the judge responded. 'I'd like for you to look over a medical report I have here and try to reconcile it with your club work.'"

The report, from a reputable physician, showed that her daughter had contracted a social disease. Having become suspicious of something of the sort, the school nurse had reported her suppositions to the judge because of his close cooperation with the schools. A physical examination was arranged for the girl.

She was a pretty little thing, spoiled to the nth degree. Willingly she had told us her side of the story. Her mother spent most of her time away from home, attending to her social duties.

"You are to blame for her predicament because you didn't have time enough to train your daughter. Bridge was far too important. I must make some disposition of her case. What do you want me to do? Send her to an institution where she will be cured and out of your way? Or do you think you can live up to your duties as a mother?"

"Give my daughter back to me, judge," the mother pleaded. "I swear I'll take care of her. Damn bridge! Damn parties! I want my baby!"

How wide a gulf may separate child and parent, each following his will — the wisep's pleasure! Many times the juvenile court room has been the scene of a birth, the birth of better understanding.

Sixty Years Ago

The discovery of precious metal must have thrilled early prospectors, but even greater would be the thrill to one who found gold without searching for it.

The Northern Nebraska Journal, published 60 years ago in Ponca by Wm. Huse, tells of one C. W. Chambers, station agent at Table Rock, who had an unusual experience. While out gunning in the vast primeval forests at Table Rock, Mr. Chambers sat on the flat surface of a boulder to rest. With his head on his game bag, he fell asleep.

Suddenly Mr. Chambers was awakened by a noise that sounded like thunder. A storm had gathered. Lightning struck the tree on the banks of the ravine against which the rock rested. Mr. Chambers dragged himself from the boulder before the giant rock crashed to the valley below.

After the incident, Mr. Chambers took up pieces of the oak tree which had been shattered and in his feet he discovered shining metal.

The metal was examined and proved to be pure gold, worth $50. He found many more pieces of the same size and value.

Then Mr. Chambers proposed to buy 40 acres on which Table Rock stands. John Blacklock considered it of no value as sheep pasture and was willing to part with it for $15 an acre.

Mr. Chambers continued his gold operations in the vicinity and realized much from the rich vein.

Supt. G. E. Nellis has resigned as head of Ponca school to accept a position as guide and lecturer at Boulder Dam. His new work starts May 15.
