Historic Points.

In these troublous war days with lines sharply drawn between democracies and dictatorships, there will be quickened steps against intentions or plans that threaten the foundations of neutral countries. A lurking fifth column, designed to aid alten powers, will come under closer official surveillance. In America, the Dies committee of investigation will receive increased support, and Hoover's G-men will be encouraged in their endeavors to detect suspicious characters and exterminate subversive activities. It looks as though the western hemisphere might contain the only surviving self-governing peoples in the world, and any groups who are not satisfied with privileges of independence here guaranteed, and who would saddle on this country the totalitarian tyranny increasing-timbosed abroad. Should pack up

But the eagerness with which individuals of all nationalities seek admittance to this country to settle down as peaceable citizens is reasonable proof that not many are out of harmony here. In being on the alert for enemy termites, care should be taken to avoid the injustice of unfounded suspicions. The fact dfiat one bears a foreign name or speaks with a foreign acjustice of unfounded suspicions. The fact (fixt one bears a foreign name or speaks with a foreign accent is no reason to think he is not a goot American. If he came from abroad he may be a firmer adherent of the flag he adopted, a more conscientious upholder of the oath to which he subscribed, then some natives who make more noise. Carelpssly directed suspicions wronged many innocent persons during the World war. Such injustices follow hysteria seeking expression without regard for facts of the first of harmful consequences. Wild emotionalism which has no sense, should be kept carefully in leash in the present world crisis. Most citizens are stout defenders of the democracy to which they have pinned their faith. The comparatively few who are faithough, will be ferreted out by duly constituted authorities. It is not up to a curious individual to pass judgment according to his bias and without proof.

pinned their faith. The comparatively few who are disloyal, will be ferreted out by duly constituted authorities. It is not up to a curious individual to pass judgment according to his bias and without proof.

While the beffer is generally fet and expressed that we should and may keep out of direct participation in the European conflict, it is nevertheless the part of discretion to be prepared adequately for defense, as leaders of both political parties agree. This country must be ready to defend the western hemisphere in case of invasion, and the way neutrals abroad have been crushed, there is no certainty of security here without the preventive influence of ample armanents. When force stalks in a spirit of ruthless conquest, the surest defense against attack is superior force.

Late Census Valites.

The late census turnishes much valuable information as to the condition of individuals throughout the country. It shows who are gainfully employed and who are making the grade without help during a period of unusually tough sledding. It shows that have been slipping and hose that have been slipping and his effects the influence of modern transportation and hard-surfaced roads. It reveals population shrinkage in farm areas devastated by drouth and grasshoppers during past years. Census returns constitute a source of important aid in drawing conclusions and indicating needs.

Utterly
Silly
THE IDEA of wanting to keep President Roosevelt in the saddle through fear of dangers abroad seems supremely silly. What has he done or what have his bureaucratic satellites done to justify confidence that they could do better than many other able and upstanding Americans to develop due defense means and keep us aloof from the European conflict? If one, blindfolded, were privileged to pick a president from the ranks of republican candidates, or even from the democratic party's waiting list, would there be anything to fear in the way of foreign entanglements? On the contrary, woillin't confidence rebound and strength resurge, the better to meet both foreign and local problems?

On this subject, the Sigux City Journal,

On this subject, the Sigux City Journal, sensing the fallacy of the argument, closes with this editorial observation:

with this editorial observation:

"The people are solidly behind Mr. Roosevelt's defense plans. When the safety of the nation depends on something being done about preparedness republicans and democrats go along, of course. But the president has not exhibited such great genius in spending nearly $10,000,000 for defense that the office demands him and him alone for another four years. Indeed, there are millions of Americans, as loyal to the country as any of the new dealers, who readily would agree that an improvement could be made by sending someone else to the White House next January. It's all right to back the administration when it takes a stand for national defense, but it's extremely silly to say there's just one man who now can save us."

Fager and NEW DEALERS of the ever-thirsting Harold Ickes fretful their home-economics setup, are now pinning hope on the war storm abroad to justify the third-term movement and to perpetuate one-man power, thus micidentally of course—to intrench an increasing horde of hangers-on in government jobs. From Washington circles have lately come solemn suggestions for adjournment of politics and a coalition of parties in view of the world, crisis. The fact that Americans are in lagreement for dile preparedness to insure adequate defense and to prevent possible invasion does not mean that they are willing to forget domestic problems and surrender rights to choose their officers. France and England, its subjosed to be advanced to the Americans surreinder trights to change leaders even while deadly battle to change leaders even while deadly battle to retain power, should control themselves in behalf of allowing accustomed free exercise of the populace's self-governing privileges.

There is no reason for the European war the sickening slaughter and ruin but it exists newertheless, the outgrowth of madly desperate national rivalry. It is a titanic struggle between two sharply conflicting forms oil government. The United States will do its utmost to avoid involvement unless or until its democracy is threatened or invaded. This country was built as a democracy on a solid foundation of individual liberty. People came here because of democracy, and every resource at command will be used, if nedessary, to maintain ground established. We cannot afford not to be prepared to uphold independence while sanguinary Mars is scourging the earth. Liberty-loving people can be depended on to defend rights handed down through the years.

Action by the state board of education, meeting the first of the week, to support an aeronautics setup in connection with each teachers college will be generally approved. The Chadron college already has a department of that kind, and it is said to be growing in popular interest. Flying is on the increase, and it is believed the state colleges will grow in valuable public service as well as gain benefits from the new connection.

The Dies committee has had a lot of The Dies committee has had a lot of preliminary experience and has accomplished valuable results, but according to late reports, it will have much more to do to head off development of a fifth column in this country. The committee was hindered by some knockers in the past, but the growing need of united defense against evil possibilities will henceforth give it firm and united support.

Noting the absence of war hysteria in this country, the Omaha Journal-Stockman says "the readiness of congress and the nation to agree to the president's demand for a big war chest and an adequate preparedness program is fair warning to the world that the United States will be ready for business in case its territory is threatened or its rights invaded."

The difference in importance between The difference in importance between barnyard roosters, numerously marked for slaughter Wednesday, and surviving human roosters may be determined in part by our ability to keep out of war, speed defense measures, maintain peaceful relations and escape diabolical shambles similar to those now outraging Europe.

IN VIEW OF WAR.

In view of aggravated war conditions abroad and of the vital need of amassing sufficient defense machines, the Omaha World-Herald emphasizes the importance of people keeping their "heads (cool and their thinking caps on.", That newspaper also punctures the folly of allowing the war scare to influence the United States to perpetuate one-man power. The Colorado republican word suggested calling off the election, would thus surrender to methods employed by the dictatorships which we fear. The World-Herald observes: "We need to consider very seriously, sinps which we lear. The World-Herald observes: "We need to consider very seriously, too, who is best to be trusted to guide our national destiny in the years that lie ahead, whether they be years of peace or years of war. In view of his peacetime record of splendid dreams and their dreary non-fulfillment, it surely is open to question whether Mr. Roosevelt is that man." That newspaper says in conclusion: "We, the people, need to think and to act realistically. We cannot afford, in this hour of world destiny, to let politicians and propagandists fool us again. For it is we, ourselves, none other, who are responsible for the present safe-keeping of our republic and for sponsible for the present safe-keeping of our republic and for its survival as a safe and happy home for our children and our children's children." gram recently submitted after much research and study by a committee of which Glenn Frank was chairman, treats at considerable length different phases of American life. Speaking of agriculture, the report states that production would have to be increased rather than dirininished to satisfy a proper standard of living in America. As to a policy of scarcity, it says among other things: "A policy of permanently scaling down the output of American farms is as unsound as a permanent scaling down of the output of American factories would be. The economic life of the nation is admittedly thrown out of balance when industry follows a policy of unrestricted i production with a resulting fall in prices. This has been the temporary justification for experimentation with crop restrictions. But, if industry and agriculture are to make possible a better-fed, better-clothed and restrictions. But, if industry and agriculture are to make possible a better-fed, better-clothed and better-loused people, the answer is not to have agriculture and industry follow a policy of fewer goods at higher prices; the answer is to have both industry and griculture organize for the answer is to have both industry and agriculture organize for the production of more goods at prices that will so increase conprices that will so increase con-sumption that satisfactory total profit is realized by both manu-facturer and farmer from the sale of a larger volume. By no stretch of the imagination, can scarcity as a permanent policy either in industry or in agricul-

New College Building Is Dedicated Here Friday

John F. Rohn of Fremont, 1s Principal Speaker at Fitting Ceremony. Americans should appreciate the John of yesterday, today and tomorrow. John F. Rohn of Fremont, 1s character developmens, to culture, to the beautiful things of life, to pursuit of happiness and to community life. He dedicated it to the Jouth of yesterday, today and tomorrow.

fact that they can give attention to constructive, elevating and idealistic phases of life instead of to war strife, stated John F. Rohn of Fremont, tormer member of the state normal board, in speaking Friday afternoon at dedication of the new student-faculty activities building at Wayne college. This country has no business being involved in the Européan struggle, Mr. Rohn added. American boys should not be sent abroad to fight, and this nation should not become involved unless self-defense becomes necessary. America can do more to help the world by remaining aloof and aiding in the afterwar recovery.

War recovery.

The statement that the "safety of the republic lies in the intelligence and education of its citizens" is proving itself, stated Mr. Rohn. Progressive education will "help preserve our republic and our floor.

Today free education is taker or granted, whereas in early time only the privileged were schooled. It was the opinion then that free education and printing presses dis-turbed and caused trouble. This wiew has changed, All classes now truction and priming presses disturbed and caused trouble. This view has changed, All classes now have free access to education.

Mr. Rohn spoke of Thomas Jefferson who, served #V years in public life, longer than any other American, and who reached the high-est office in the land, the presidency. When Jefferson was designating what should be put on his epitaph he wished it stated that he was author of the Declaration of Independence, author of the Statute of Religious Preedom and founder of the University of Virginia. To Jefferson the fight for liberty, freedom and founder of the University of Virginia. To Jefferson the fight for liberty, freedom and education, which these represented, was farmore important than his high positions. Mr. Rohn expressed hope that such high ideals might continue to guide this nation's destiny. Wayne's activities building, the speaker stated, is likely unique in the nation and perhaps in the world in providing such service—through a self-liquidating plan.

Facilities Are Best.

Dr. J. T. Anderson explained that through a recent survey of teachers colleges in this country. Wayne's dormitory facilities rated the most practical and most useful in the nation. The school now has $600,000 worth of dormitories built at no cost to taxpayers. The dormitories and the new activities building are self-liquidating. This type of structure may be so financed, whereas a bibrary or cfass building for the school would require legislative appropriation.

ng for the school would require cgislative appropriation. The new building will serve a decided need in social, academic and religious activities of the school, Dr. Anderson stated. It is school, Dr. Anderson stated. It is conducive to good citizenship. Dr. Anderson pledged the school's loyalty to education and democracy. The building and serv-ices of the school will, he added, be used for the better things of life. He dedicated the structure to

The Ford Motor Company was founded by a working-man for working-men. Its present officers began as employees of the Company. A square deal, a just wage and stabilized employment for a large proportion of our employees — and as fully stabilized for all as conditions will a enable our men to retain their personal independence.

In consequence of these policies the Ford Motor Company has one of the finest bodies of employees in the world. The larger proportion are mature men of long
