

Cemeteries Attract Crowds on Memorial Day — Rain Brings Relief — Increased Food Demand — Draperies of Black — Stimulating Hazards — WPA as One's Goal — No Regard for the Truth.

Memorial day drew crowds to cities of the departed all over the United States. While distant Floridians where many American soldiers lie buried, was desecrated by savage bombing, cemeteries in still peaceful America were scenes of floral profusion, graves covered with beautiful blossoms, evergreens dotting the grassy hillsides, sunshine accentuating marble shafts, singing birds breaking the monotony of silence and lending cheerful animation to sad recollections — all attest to the brevity of life and the certainty of death.

Wayne's Greenwood cemetery, on an elevated plot, is always well kept, but it looks its best on Memorial day when nature and man combine to make it so. Precious memories, ever tugging at human heartstrings, find expression in the season's richest flowers. Such tributes of love reflect profound sense of loss. They emphasize a yearning for familiar faces, for close associations, abruptly dissolved by grim death. Memorial day's somber thoughts are blended with Greenwood's solemn grandeur.

How the quiet reverence of the occasion must have contrasted with the torn landscape and mad slaughter in Europe. "At peace," inscribed on many tombstones, has been the abiding wish of peoples through the ages. When the war marries stables, popular wishes are cruelly crushed.

Worry Suspended Again. Faces were very perceptibly lifted by Thursday afternoon's generous rain. It added materially to the month's scanty contribution. When moisture fails to come according to expectations, people think of lean years and naturally fear another season of drought and shortage. As a rule, town men work harder at worrying than the farmers. A fall of moisture like the one Thursday once per week would give comforting assurance.

Famine Is Threat in Europe. The prospect of a food famine in Europe, made so by war's ruin, will wisely increase production in this country. The coming winter will be a tough one for nations that have been engaged in slaughter and destruction. People cannot raise crops while fighting, and they cannot devote to production ground that has been devastated by shells. It is up to countries that have escaped the war scourge to feed countries so afflicted.

Overdoing Crepe Hanging. When a fellow overdoes crepe hanging—when he leans over backward in reciting largely imaginary ills, he turns tragedy into comedy. When he expresses no faith in anything or anybody, no hope for returned peace and plenty, he surrenders all confidence in his judgment. A mildly pessimistic attitude may show some power of analysis, but when things are presented as one hundred per cent bad with no chance for improvement, the guess is that the origin of such despair is in need of more fixing than the condition and prospect thus draped in black.

To Prevent Easy Going. Why creation couldn't have been arranged to steer the world along successfully without grasshoppers, cut worms, flies, mosquitoes, weevils and other pests has never been made quite clear. If snakes and rodent varieties do some good which at this writing seems inconceivable, the tasks assigned to them might have been removed by changing the plans. It is offensive and destructive creatures are desirable because they keep human bipeds uncertain and on the alert, some purpose may be served. Perhaps evil insects and animals were put into the program to furnish mind-whetting hazards. It appears true that the human fiber is weakened by having a soft berth and too easy going.

Alarming Student Apathy. An astonishing revelation of indifference appeared recently in an eastern publication. The story disclosed that school graduates in a certain mid-western city said their ambition was to become WPA workers when asked as to their plans for the future. This response is reported to have been given in all seriousness. The WPA is not accepted as a permanent employing agency. It is an emergency setup to help solve the unemployment problem. No doubt it serves a worthy purpose, but usually it would not be considered the source of one's life work. Many WPA workers would be glad to have jobs in private industry. It is all right to accept WPA jobs in the absence of other opportunities, but they should not be deemed the height of one's ambition.

DEATH AND RUIN IN FLOODS

Summer Course In Flying Likely

State Aeronautics Group Gives Approval Sunday To Site at Wayne.

A summer training program at Wayne's new airport is assured providing the required 15 students are enrolled and providing a qualified, rated pilot instructor can be secured by June 20. A tentative allotment has been made to Wayne under these conditions by the federal aeronautics commission at Kansas City.

All college students or former college students between the ages of 18 and 25 who are interested are asked to enroll at the college at once. The summer course fee is only $20 whereas the fall fee is $40. Each takes 48 hours of ground training and 35 of flying to earn a private pilot license which is good any place in the United States. Fifteen students, one flying instructor and two planes are required for a unit. It is hoped many more young folks will enroll so that flying training may be lined up.

The summer course opens the middle of June and is completed by the first of September. Wayne will probably also have training in the fall in the expansion of the civilian program.

Secretary W. H. Swett of the Chamber of Commerce or Russell Bartels will explain the training program to all interested. The license earned enables the person to fly any place in the United States but does not qualify him to pilot a plane for hire. Already more than the quota of young folks has signified intentions of applying for the training. Girls are eligible along with the boys and one has applied.

Wayne's airport was approved Sunday by the Nebraska Aeronautics commission. Mayor M. L. Ringer signed the lease of the J. T. Bressler 30.38-acre tract.

The field was not damaged by the high water Tuesday. Tests showed that the site will stand most severe storms.

Discing, marking boundaries and other work to prepare the airport start soon.

Start Remodeling Of Two Buildings

SUPERIOR FITNESS MADE APPARENT IN WAYNE APPOINTEES

A LETTER from Congressman Karl Stefan calls our attention to the high ranking of Wayne youths for admittance in the naval and military schools—a fact attributed to individual qualities very materially helped by an educational atmosphere. Here is the congressman's encouraging observation: "I wonder if you have noticed how well the Wayne boys are doing in the United States naval academy? In looking over the applications for appointment to that academy, I have gone over hundreds of names and I find that Wayne boys have made an unusual record. You know that I hold a strict civil service examination and appoint these boys on a basis of merit without regard to party or creed. The boy who gets the highest mark in this civil service examination gets the appointment, and by a strange coincidence, the Wayne boys' marks have been the highest. I believe that that is an unusual recommendation for Wayne's educational facilities, and, of course, for efforts on the part of the applicants themselves. * * * You know, I receive hundreds of applications for appointment to each of the schools every year, and I usually have only two appointments to make, one to the naval academy and one to the military academy. At the same time, I may appoint two alternates to the military academy and three to the naval academy. This year Merlin Paddock of Wayne graduates from the naval academy, Eugene J. Hunter is in the school now. Leland Preston of Wayne is my latest appointee."

Need Education For Democracy

Freedom and Security in Government Now Face Serious Test.

"Can we make the democratic idea and process work in such a way that we can achieve security in a social organization which will maintain freedom?" This, according to Dr. H. D. Griffin in addressing Kiwanians Monday, is the challenge America faces today in a world of warring philosophies.

"Democracy and education have one thing in common—they are not lightly achieved," began Dr. Griffin. "Education doesn't just happen. It is a long, slow process, requiring patience and practice and the formation of habits. And the same is true of democracy. It is also a long, slow process, requiring patience and practice and the formation of habits. For neither does democracy just happen. Democracy and education are achievements."

"What is democracy? Politically, democracy is government directly by the people collectively. And what is the essence of democracy? It is self-governance, self-discipline. And this is basically an individual achievement. Self-governance and self-discipline are assured by making them habits. And habits are attained by practice with satisfaction. Democracy then, like education, is basically an individual matter, and training for democracy must be individual training as well as social training. Democracy to be effective in one's adult life, requires preparation, training, habit formation, self-discipline, self-control, self-government."

Dr. Griffin quoted from Washington and Jefferson to show that the founders of this democracy saw that "paper guarantees of freedom were not enough." They (Continued on Page Two)

Sale of Stamps In New Area Is Begun Monday

County Has 267 Families Eligible for Buying Under New Plan.

Eight northeast Nebraska counties, Wayne included, put into operation Monday the federal food stamp in this first approved rural area in the United States. About 7,400 welfare clients, whose families total about 25,900 persons, will benefit through the plan. Wayne county has 267 families on the eligible list.

Mrs. A. C. Thompson reports the sale of $300 worth of stamps at the court house office Monday and Tuesday. With the free stamps the buying power is increased to $450. Stamps are also sold at Carroll, Winside and Hoskins banks. WPA workers so far have been the largest purchasers of food stamps.

Each county supplies a revolving fund used to buy the stamps from the FSCC. These stamps are sold to clients. For each $1 in orange stamps bought, the client is given free 50c in blue stamps. The blue stamps are used to buy surplus commodities. As clients usually spend about $1 a week per person for food, it is the aim to increase this amount of food to $1.50. The stamp plan automatically does away with the former procedure of giving surplus commodities to clients.

BUYING NEEDS FOR FATHER FEATURES THE ANNUAL EVENT

MOTHER'S day on the second Sunday in May is soon to be followed by Father's day which comes Sunday, June 16. Fathers have allowed demands for shirts, ties, socks and other wearables to accumulate in order to open a large and satisfactory field for contributions when the occasion arises. If fathers always kept stocked up on little essentials their families would be disappointed—wouldn't know how to remember them in addition to kindly solicitude. We understand the demand for gents' furnishings just before Father's day is not second to that which develops prior to Christmas. Growing willingness to receive sundry necessities on the special day set apart has led merchants to be on hand with ample supplies.

Suffers Injuries In Car Accident

Chet Walters Is Hurt When Machine Hits Bridge Near Fremont.

County Agent Chet Walters suffered a fracture of the right arm near the shoulder, cuts on the nose and left eyelid and numerous body cuts and bruises Thursday evening when he fell asleep while driving about six miles south of Fremont. His car struck a bridge. A passer-by took Mr. Walters to Fremont where he received care in a hospital until Monday when he was able to return to Wayne.

Mr. Walters spent Memorial day in Lincoln. He was alone and on the return was to meet Frank Carlisle who had spent the day in Fremont.

The Walters car stayed on the road but telescoped and was damaged beyond repair. Mr. Walters' glasses broke and cut him. The impact and broken glass in the car resulted in the injuries.

Stratton Leases Missoula Hotel

New Structure in Montana Will Be Completed by April Next Year.

Hotel Florence, the new modern 200-room, seven-story fireproof structure now under construction at Missoula, Mont., has been leased by E. O. Stratton of Wayne, for a 20-year period. The hotel, which will cost $557,000 exclusive of furnishings, was contracted for May 9. Excavation had been completed last week when Mr. Stratton was there and concrete footings were being started. Mr. Stratton plans to move to Missoula about the first of the year to take charge of the hotel which will be ready to open in April, 1941.

Florence was the name of the wife of one of Missoula's pioneers. The city's most imposing hotel bore this name. Three years ago in October the hotel burned. It happened that the Minnesota football team was housed there the night of the fire. Items in the city papers then first attracted Mr. Stratton's attention to Missoula. He at once saw the promise in Missoula hotel business and has since been working on the plan to rebuild the city's famous hotel. The new structure is on the site of the early one.

A year ago Mr. Stratton spent considerable time in Missoula assisting in financing the community hotel enterprise. In addition to a few stockholders, many people in the city own shares in the hotel.

Hotel Florence, in addition to hotel facilities, will provide space on the ground floor for several stores. The structure will be the leading hotel in Missoula and the finest in Montana.

Missoula is a city of 21,000 and has grown from 14,000 a decade ago. Sugar beets, lumbering, cattle and sheep raising are the chief industries. The city is the principal distributing point for western Montana. The state university is located there. Many tourists visit Missoula, the gateway to Glacier and Mt. Ranier national parks and to many other scenic spots of the northwest.

Wayne's community enterprise hotel, the Stratton, was realized in November, 1928, largely through the enterprise of Mr. Stratton. This hotel, one of the two successful enterprises of the kind in the state, the other at Broken Bow, filled a great need in the city. The $56,800 hotel has been managed most successfully and will soon pay for itself. Mr. Stratton will either lease or sell Hotel Stratton before moving to Missoula.

saw that an enlightened public was essential. "Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness," and the school house is the "fountain head of happiness, prosperity and good government."

Must Face Decision.

"Today American education for democracy faces a very real decision," Dr. Griffin continued. "Very real are these world-wide teachings which by precept and implication and force would destroy the very right to practice on this planet the theory and the method of democracy. Dictators have marshalled every device in their attack upon the right of man to govern himself—schools, press, radio and cinema—and now enforce these teachings by brute force upon the hapless democracies which they have destroyed. The time has come to marshal all our available educational facilities, our libraries, our schools, the screen, our radio and the radio, in an effort to give the American people a realistic picture of the world in which we live and an understanding of the problems and the perils facing our civilization and our democracy. These devices can fire our people with a sense of unity, a love of traditional America and the fundamental truth that to save one's life one must sacrifice it in devotion to a common social ideal."

Young Folks Marry At O'Neill Church

Miss Angela C. Pribil Bride Of Charles W. Denesia Early Monday.

Her net veil was finger-tip length and was held in place by white satin bows and streamers. Miss Ann Pribil, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in blue silk chiffon dress, floor length, trimmed in pink rosettes, and she wore a corsage. Mr. Denesia and his best man, Francis Pribil, brother of the bride, wore suits of teal blue. Must Learn Early.

"Democracy must be practiced in the home if it is to perpetuate in the nation. One acquires self-control and self-government by practicing it. When self-government in small matters is begun in the primary grades, self-government in larger matters will be possible in those children upon reaching high school, college and citizenship. Education for democracy is now concerned with the individual in society and with the cultural values which sustain and enrich life in society. "Mankind has always valued freedom and security but has never been able to join them for any considerable time. To guarantee both freedom and security was the dream of our founding fathers and for a time we had both in considerable measure. In this lay the strength of America and its lure for millions. Here democracy, the dream of centuries, came true. Now this idea is challenged. Can we have both freedom and security? Do we have to kill one to get the other? Education must face this issue or lose its liberty and its opportunity. Education must lead the way or degenerate into an instrument of regimentation and tyranny. In the largest sense democracy is education, and universal education."

Dr. Griffin quoted from Prof. Eduard Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, who said that "the supreme social aim of education is to obtain a better society. This is also the ideal of democracy. This ideal is so high and so valuable that it is worth believing and living. Do not permit such conceptions and ideas as are trying to dominate Europe to get a foothold in this free country. In the approaching battle for the sword, the United States has a very great role to play. Be ready for that fight, be prepared, be strong. O people of democracy. To all right-thinking men and women, I give the motto of my beloved nation, 'Bravda Vityezi,' meaning 'Truth Prevails.'"

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Huntermer took Miss Marcella Huntermer as far as Omaha Monday of last week on her way to Annapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Huntermer remained in the city until last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Huntermer were in Beemer Monday evening. Because of the flood they sat up all night in the hotel at Wisner with about 30 other people who were stranded. They got to the water just south of Wayne about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and were unable to get into Wayne until 3 in the afternoon.

"That so? What companies?"

"Light, telephone and water."

ed and considerable damage resulted. The homeless received shelter in churches. The new $30,000 swimming pool was filled with mud and water. Communication and power were cut off for some time. Pilger, West Point, Willis, Walthill, Jackson also had high water.

A C. C. Stirtz supply truck left at Homer, was unharmed.

Aid Comes to Stricken.

Red Cross and WPA assistance was concentrated on northeast Nebraska in recovery work. Albert Evans of St. Louis Red Cross office, flew to the area and organized the work of feeding, clothing and housing those left homeless. The plane flew over the area to survey the points of greatest disaster. The plane was sighted here. E. A. Felton of Lincoln, came to direct WPA workers in recovery work.

Highway patrolmen entered into the rescue work. Two, who were in Wayne Tuesday, had been in Pilger and West Point, helping. At Pilger they rescued an elderly couple from a home in which water was rising. The men were to give drivers' tests here that day but changed their schedule to rush to Winnebago to aid flood victims.

Clouds Gather Fast.

Clouds gathered Monday afternoon after a hot, sultry day. The first report of a storm came from southeast of Wayne where wind, hail and rain combined as sort of a surprise attack. After the clouds cleared in the southeast, others gathered in the north and more rain fell. Early in the evening heavy, chunky black clouds filled the sky and moved about as though in a race. About 7 o'clock the rains came and came. Water poured from the heavens for an hour or more and then slackened somewhat. About midnight piercing lightning seemed again to open the clouds and heavy rains followed.

Rainfall, according to the gauge at the State National bank of Wayne, registered 4 inches for Monday night's storms. Winside's fall was 4.5 inches, Carroll's 2.75 and Wakefield's 4.35. Norfolk reported 7.78 inches, Pilger 8 to 9, Walthill 6, West Point 1, Sioux City 6.33, Fremont .33, Oakdale 3.5, Albion 2.33, Columbus .25, O'Neill .67.

Wayne county lantans woke early Tuesday to the sound of rushing torrents of water. The night's rains swelled Logan creek until it filled the valley to a width of a quarter to a half mile.

Washouts Are Numerous.

Numerous washouts were reported Tuesday on the railroad lines in this part of the state. Probably the worst spot was between Hubbard and Nacota where two miles of track were out entirely, the tracks being carried about 100 feet off the grade. Nineteen bridges were out in that vicinity. Several spots washed between Wayne and Wakefield. East of Winside about 300 feet of tracks were off the grade, and about a mile was out west of Wayne toward Winside. In several places between Wayne and Carroll the grade was washed. About five hours' work will repair the damage on that line. Several bad washouts were reported from Emerson to Pender and toward Omaha. The train leaving Omaha Monday night halted at Pender and passengers were cared for there. Agent R. R. Larson said the repairs would not take long after water recedes enough to permit work. Sections of track were out between West Point and Norfolk, also at Oakdale, Hadar and Newman Grove.

Lines Are Damaged.

Damage to telephone lines was quite extensive, according to Manager C. L. Pickett. Sections of toll lines were put out of commission by poles falling and wires becoming inundated. Naturally many became concerned about the safety of relatives and friends and calls swamped the local office until 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Though regular routings for calls were not in use Tuesday, the company found it possible to reach places in all directions by round-about circuits. No local trouble to lines was reported. All rural lines south of Wayne were put out of commission when the pole holding the cable broke and the cable was caught in the flood waters. Repairing started as soon as water receded. Lines southwest of Winside were also out because poles went down.

Telegraph service was interrupted Tuesday when poles were caught in the flood waters. Repairmen had to wait for water to recede before fixing these.

No mail was received by train Tuesday as washouts resulted in annulling all trains for the day and Wednesday. The only mail coming to Wayne was brought by a mail bus that came east from Norfolk Tuesday afternoon and returned after going as far east as possible.

Roads Are Flooded.

Travel was at a standstill Tuesday morning when creeks swelled to rivers in the valleys. Most travel south was halted for the day, though a maintainer was on duty at the spillway south of town to help cars through when necessary. Water was over highway 35 along the railroad track half way between Wayne and Wakefield, and a sector of the highway north of Wakefield was reported taken out. Highway 98 west of Wayne was passable early Tuesday and those wishing to leave or come generally detoured that direction.

The Monday bus leaving Sioux City for Norfolk Monday, was stalled that night at Emerson.

Rescue Work Starts.

Rescue work started Monday night as soon as flood waters began to rise. Madison CCC men, between 2 and 5 Tuesday morning, took about 50 people to safety, housing them in the city hall. At Belden a man and his mother saved themselves after their car slid off a grade. Water rose to a depth of 12 feet in West Point park and to five feet in parts of the city. Some residents were rescued by boat. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wagner were taken from their home at Stanton by use of a rope.

Amateur Radio Helps.

Amateur radio proved its value by affording communication between stricken areas and the outside world. When power in Winnebago and Pender was cut off, these amateurs broadcast messages that were picked up and relayed. Even here at Wayne the sets proved valuable. When Rev. C. L. Eads and young men with him were stalled at the Lyle Gable place south of Wayne, the word came to local amateurs by radio and families were informed of their safety.

Help in Rescue Work.

W. F. Robinson, Kenneth Likes, Bob Bramhall, J. S. Matheny and Murton Hilton, who had attended a Chevrolet meeting in Norfolk Monday, were witnesses of the human-chain rescue near Pilger. The men left Norfolk at 11:30 p. m. intending to return to Wayne by way of highway 275. They got as far as Humburg creek near Pilger where they were stopped by the flood water rushing over the pavement. Seventy cars were stranded in that place. West Point boosters were caught in Norfolk and remained overnight. Two cars had become stalled in the water, one of which was occupied by Don Connelly, West Point, mechanic. About 2 o'clock both cars were washed off the pavement. Mr. Connelly managed to climb out and get into a tree where he remained overnight. Tuesday morning the group from the Chevrolet garage helped in the organized rescue under the direction of State Highway Patrolman Oltman and Nelson of Norfolk. The water rushed across the road at that particular place with such force that it washed the dirt from under the pavement on the south side of the highway, but cars were able to get through on the north side about 8:30 Tuesday morning. The Wayne folks then proceeded toward home and arrived here at 2 Tuesday afternoon.

Leave Homer for Safety.

Mrs. H. E. Ley and daughter were visiting the farmer's parents. Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Evans, at Homer when the storm struck. About 2:30 Tuesday morning, when water began rising, all went to South Sioux City where they remained until the danger was over. The Evans home was in the flood area.

Stay at Farm Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Braden Carhart and infant niece, Patty Ann Ahern, who were enroute here from Omaha, were caught in the downpour near Wisner Monday. They were able to reach a farm home near the junction of highways 15 and 275 and remained there overnight. They came to the edge of the flood waters Tuesday morning but had to return to Pilger to stay with friends until that afternoon. They visited in Wayne over Wednesday.

Have Difficult Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Theobald, who were in Sioux City, left there at 5:30 Monday evening to return home. They came on highway 9. Four miles north of Wakefield they had to wait two hours before they could cross a hollow which was flooded. The water reached the middle of the car door. While waiting they could feel their car being swayed by the force of the water. After driving through water almost continually they reached Wakefield where they spent the night. Dry corn stalks that washed up under the car's hood during the perilous battle against raging flood waters Monday night, caught fire from the exhaust the next morning after the homeward journey had been resumed, and speedy action was required to prevent a serious fire loss. Mr. and Mrs. Theobald saw the bridge by Walt Herman's go out and three of Mr. Herman's cattle swim to safety.

Newly planted fields were washed considerably in many places. Replanting will have to be done, but the benefits of the moisture far surpass the losses. Many fences were taken out and repairing was in progress early.

Some livestock was lost, especially along the Elkhorn river. Gelding Is Rescued.

A bay gelding, which evidently had been washed for some distance down the waters in the dredge ditch, was rescued by Harry Bartels at his place three miles west of Wakefield Tuesday morning. Mr. Bartels asks the owner to call for the animal.

Family Leaves Home.

D. Hall's nursery grounds in the south part of town were flooded

The Glory Road Concert Artists to Come

The Glory Road concert tour, consisting of five outstanding young artists, will appear at the State Teachers college, Thursday evening, June 13. These artists are Ruth Diehl, soprano, William Gephart, baritone, Claus Adam, cellist, Mara Sebriansky, violinist, and Walter Robert, pianist.

The concert given by this group of brilliant young musicians will present an evening of unusual enjoyment. The music heard will be solos by each artist, and ensembles by the entire company.

Each year over 100 young musicians apply to the National Music league to be included on its artist list, and a committee of outstanding concert artists and teachers chooses the very best from this group of applicants. From this artist list the National Music league has selected five of the most interesting for the Glory Road concert tour.

Is Given Sentence On Court Charge

Stephen Rockwell, found guilty in county court Monday on charge of assault, was sentenced to serve 30 days and was assessed costs of $7.75. He was paroled to Russell Bartels during his sentence.

Last week Rockwell was charged with assaulting F. E. Powers with intent to inflict bodily injury. By agreement of County Attorney B. R. Davis and Mr. Bartels and H. D. Addison, attorneys for Rockwell, the charge was amended to assault.

Will Dip Sheep At Morris Farm

The annual sheep dipping at the C. H. Morris farm west of Carroll is planned for Tuesday, June 18, when sheep raisers are invited to bring their animals to the Morris farm. M. A. Alexander, sheep specialist at the agricultural college in Lincoln, will be invited to speak.

The dipping will be in the morning, followed by picnic dinners, program and sports.

Last year 1,100 sheep were dipped. These were from all parts of Wayne county, also from Pierce and Cedar counties. It is expected the number will be as large this year. Dipping costs will be prorated, probably being about 2c a head. Agent Chet Walters reports that most sheep have ticks this year. The cost is more than made up in extra pounds gained and additional wool.

Concert Is Planned At College Tonight

This evening at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium, Prof. Albert G. Carlson, pianist, will give his second piano concert for the season. He will be assisted by Mrs. Clarence McGinn, soprano, who will sing a group of songs. Mrs. Albert G. Carlson will be accompanist.

The program opens with a Beethoven Sonata. Other numbers by Beethoven, Schubert and MacDowell make up the first group of piano numbers. In the vocal group by Mrs. McGinn are two numbers, "Boy O' Mine" and "In the Lilac Rain," composed by Prof. and Mrs. Carlson, which are repeated by request having been given on a previous program.

Mr. Carlson's second group of numbers includes a Polish one by Chopin, "Monkeys" and "Dance of the Wild" written by himself and a work by the French composer Debussy.

The public is cordially invited. There is no admission charge.

Recall Early Storms.

Early settlers recall that the Logan was in the habit of going on a rampage about every spring in years gone by. Peter Henkel and his family were living south of the Harry Barnett residence at the southwest edge of town about 45 years ago when Mr. Henkel was raising sugar beets. Such a rain filled the valley and water flooded the home. Steve Russell led neighbors in building a temporary plank bridge to rescue the Henkel family. Another time Mrs. Simon Goeman and children were rescued from the same house by boat when water flooded the place. Some years ago this house was destroyed by fire.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunter, Wayne's earliest remaining pioneers, recall that such floods through Logan valley were expected in June in early days. Mrs. Hunter has observed that through the years, since she came in 1889, storms usually occur in June and December, when seasons change. The water and accompanying lightning are great purifiers, Mrs. Hunter believes, and the benefits far surpass the losses.

Memorial Day Rain.

Memorial day brought this territory its first rain after a number of dry days. Wayne's gauge registered .73 that day, Winside's visitors during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnson and Teddy, Roy Holm, George Jensen, Ralph and Mary Elinor Ring, Lawrence Ekerott, Albert Lundahl, Joe Dahlgren, Harry Johnson, Harold Holm, Alfred Hitz and Robert Felt.

for the first time since the dike was completed along the creek several years ago. The Merle Tietsof family, living in the house on the Hall grounds, moved early Tuesday to higher shelter. Mr. Hall had a couple of cows and a hog on the lots and got them to higher ground. He reported the flood waters, about 10 feet deep in the nursery grounds, to be the worst in the 18 years he has been in Wayne.

The tile and cement west wall of the D. Hall greenhouse near the college was washed in by the wall of water from the hills. Water stood about two feet deep in the greenhouse, but did not damage plants. Some loss resulted in the supply and boiler rooms which were flooded. The wall has been rebuilt and clean-up work is about complete.

The college willow bowl was converted into a small lake in Monday's downpour, water reaching near the height of the bowl platform. Wayne firemen used their pumps Tuesday to remove the water.

Water got into a few store and residence basements, but no damage resulted here from this source.

The hog shed at the W. C. Shulteis farm west of Wayne, the former Mellor place, was flattened by the storm.

COSTLY ALL OVER the land communities were urged during past new deal years to qualify for federal grants for different public improvements. The benefiting town met part of the cost and the balance came from the national government's treasury.

"New Germany, Minn., wanted a city hall and community building. The WPA made an estimate of $80,000, part of which would have been contributed by the Government. The town council thought that figure high, investigated and found the building could be erected for $25,000.

"American judgment is revolting at the philosophy that it is better to spend $2.40 for something than to get it for $1, even though part of the $2.40 is to be dropped like manna from heaven. People are seeing at last that not all gifts that glitter are golden.

Industry AMERICAN industry has undertaken the task of preparing for national defense with all possible skill and haste. It is a stupendous job and will require utmost coordination of effort.

Change Needed ANSWERING Paul V. McNutt's insistence that the president should continue at the head of the nation in view of trouble abroad and the need of defense preparations, the Sioux City Journal points to the new deal record as proof of the advisability of a change.

What the Future? (Lincoln Journal) The kind of world we must live in now, and in the future, is a matter of intense concern to the people of this nation. Since their forbears landed on American soil they have enjoyed a degree of freedom not paralleled anywhere else in the world.

It is believed the lately appointed national board to handle defense means will be on the alert to avoid waste in spending federal funds to reach desired goals. Contradictions over what had been accomplished with appropriations for the army, navy and air service have bewildered people in trying to reach conclusions.

It is claimed that while schools and colleges have done wonderfully well in looking after academic training, they have not adequately prepared skilled workers, and thus a demand for the latter is growing. It is not just important to know literature and art. It is essential to human needs to know how to use hands as well as brains in construction.

Foreignisms are reported vying for power in Mexico. Russian representatives are telling the Mexicans that the soviet union is the only true democracy. It is hoped natives of the south country will not allow themselves to be gulled into believing smoothly fashioned falsehoods.

Dr. H. D. Griffin's idea of building and perpetuating democracy, as expressed in an address to Kiwanians this week, is, as we understand, to fortify school children against alien philosophies which have resulted in dictatorships and surrendered liberties. He would have every medium of influence used to show advantages in a free democracy, and thus build resistance to destructive elements.

Congressional mail is now heavy with requests from young men who want to become flying cadets and letters from various individuals who are placing before the government locations for possible factories, aviation fields and other matters of national defense.

A group of congressmen have joined together to demand that congress remain in session until the present emergency is over. Bob Doughton who is chairman of the ways and means committee, tells friends he has no hopes congress can adjourn before the last of this month. The first tax bill is meeting some snags. The last deficiency appropriation bill has so many items that it may not emerge from committee for several weeks. Those who felt the end of this congress would be around June 8, now feel it might be closer to the fourth of July.

Some days ago, experts on national defense, including a lot of congressmen went out to see what a man named Barlow, who formerly lived at Clear Lake, Ca., could do with a substance he had discovered. The government spent about ten thousand dollars for a lot of Washington, D. C. June 1, 1940. The Third congressional district holds an exceptional record in the success of its midshipmen at the United States naval academy, not having lost a man on account of scholastic deficiency in six years.

In 1939, Wilber S. Wills of Ne- high graduated from this school and this year Melvin Paddock of Wayne will graduate. Other midshipmen in the school who are appointees from this district are Thomas Francis Malone of Madison, Norbert Hesse of Howells, and Eugene Hunter of Wayne. Leonard Preston of Wayne is the new appointee. The same good record has been maintained by the cadets at the United States military academy from the Third congressional district. Robert Hunter of Loretto graduated last year and Virgil A. Schwab of Hooper is this year's graduate. Other appointees in the military academy from this district are Robert Short of Norfolk and Robert Truax of Norfolk. Ronald Whitaker of Chambers is this year's appointee.

Memorial day in Washington was wet, cold and unusually sad. The annual parade brought out a lot of people but the big crowd was found at Arlington cemetery and around the tomb of the unknown soldier. The president sent a representative to place a wreath on the tomb. Hundreds of people braved the wet weather to pay homage to the nation's dead. Among them were two members of the Santee Indian tribe. They were Tom Kitto and David Frazier of Niobrara, who are here discussing Indian matters with officials in the Indian bureau.

The story behind the 25 per cent cut in the highway authorization bill is that the matter came up some nights ago in the chief executive's office when other matters were being discussed. Members of the roads committee were told that if the total wasn't cut at least 25 per cent, the bill would be vetoed. That's why a spokesman for the chief executive appeared before the executive session of the house committee on roads and that's why the bill came up without allowing any amendments and that's why the $9 million dollar cut stayed in. The members who feel modern highways and especially farm-to-market roads mean national defense are going to try to amend the bill in the senate. Secondary roads which originally had a total of $25,000,000 in the new bill are now cut to about $18,750,000.

The federal road program is not the only one which is going to get the pruning knife in the gigantic national defense plans. Flood control, rivers and harbors and many other projects for which many people have been planning are in for some radical changes. Trained men and modern arms get first place now.

Annapolis where our naval academy is located, has gone through its colorful "June Week." Four hundred young men have been graduated and now have commissions as officers in the United States navy. Never before has Annapolis been so crowded with friends and relatives. These fine young men come from families in every congressional district in our land. Many of them come up from the ranks of the enlisted men who won their commissions by competitive tests after going to the naval school which is set up to give enlisted men a chance to become commissioned officers. They are appointed by the secretary of the navy. The rest are appointed by house and senate members and a few get presidential appointments. The Third district has not yet lost a man in the naval and army academies because of scholastic failures.

Recent visitors in the Third congressional office were Bert Howard of Scottsbluff, Robert G. Simmons of Lincoln, William J. Your children happily marched off to school looking at the pretty airplane flying overhead without rushing shrieking back to find shelter in a cellar. You still believe, even now after endless warnings, that such things cannot happen here.

"Stop talking about a depression which still left you a home, a wife, children, safety and comfort. Stop feeling sorry for yourself, for nothing has ever happened to you of that which is now happening to millions of your fellow men."

The American Red Cross, the only organization in the world that can relieve this terrible suffering, is making all possible haste to supply these poor refugees with food and clothing. The first call was for 10 millions, and now the sum has been doubled. Everyone is urged to help. Gifts may be left at either Wayne bank or with Red Cross officers.

Couple Married At Home Service

Miss Margaret Jones Bride
Of Howard G. Fisher
Friday Evening.

Miss Margaret Jones, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. T. Jones of Wayne, and Howard G. Fisher of West Point, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fisher of Guide Rock, Neb., were married Friday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock at a pretty candle light service in the home of the bride's parents. About 36 relatives and friends were present for the single ring ceremony performed by Rev. Ray H. Turner, Presbyterian minister of Norfolk.

The improvised altar in the home was centered with a large basket of pink roses and spiraea with candelabra at either side holding white tapers. In front of the candelabra were smaller baskets of roses and spiraea. Handles of the baskets were tied with tulle in pastel shades. Smilax and bridal wreath decorated the stand-down which the bridal party marched, and snapdragons and bridal wreath made up the bouquets about the home.

Mrs. W. H. Hasebroock of Scribner, sang "Because," by Guy D'Hardelet, before the ceremony. Miss Marion Seymour was her accompanist and also played Lohengrin's march. Miss Alice Mae Young lighted the tapers.

Preparedness Is Need of Present

Dr. L. Stark of Norfolk, Is Speaker at Memorial Day Services.

"I'd rather die on my feet in battle than to live on my knees." Thus Dr. L. Stark of Norfolk, expressed the priceless heritage of freedom in his Memorial day address at Wayne Municipal auditorium. Dr. Stark is a veteran of the Spanish and World wars, and has been active in rehabilitation work.

Memorial day was first inspired by the Civil war. It was General John A. Logan who in May, 1868, asked veterans to decorate the graves of their comrades. President Andrew Jackson favored the idea and set aside May 30 as a legal holiday. Confederate Memorial day is May 10.

Dr. Stark related that the first G.A.R. post organized in Wayne county was at LaPorte in 1881 and the first Memorial observance was in May, 1882, when Judge C. E. Hunter was speaker. This holiday, also Independence and Armistice days are the outcome of war. "May there be no more days to be observed because they grow out of war."

Slavery and taxes had in the first half of the 19th century been the basis for threatened secession of states. When President Jackson died in 1848 he foresaw the trouble between the states. For some years the south had prepared, training men for war leadership. They had Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and others. This war would have lasted no longer than 90 days but it was drawn out for four and a half years. Abraham Lincoln, in a lying search for northern leadership, finally found General Grant who kept the states together. The south was prepared and the north was not, explained Dr. Stark.

Again in the war with Spain, this country was not prepared and great entered into the affair. This war should have been finished in 60 days but was drawn out to 14 months because of unpreparedness.

The same was true in the World war. Americans were caught unprepared.

Preparedness Effective.
Dr. Stark cited figures to show how preparedness has benefited in the medical profession. In the Civil war 33 men died in battle to 65 from disease. In the Spanish American war 6 were lost in battle to 25 from disease, and in the Mexican war 15 in battle to 110 from disease. The building of the Panama canal taught the medical profession the value of preparedness, for men made the canal region habitable by disease control. The results of this medical preparedness showed in the World

Religion Is Vital.
"Let us prepare." Dr. Stark urged, not haterially but with a determination not to lose our lives or our liberties. The speaker cited the present European war as the first in history in which no chaplains are provided in army ranks. The assault on religion is one of the greatest disasters. "When religion goes, civilization goes."

Rev. A. Hoferer presided at the services. Wayne municipal band, directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, led the Legionnaires and scouts to the hall and played "America," a medley and "Star Spangled Banner." Rev. C. G. Bader gave the invocation.

Ritualistic rites were conducted by the Legion at Greenwood cemetery. The band played there. Mrs. Hattie McNeill directed the oration of about 50 veterans graves by girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Omaha, brought Hamer Wilson of Wechita, Falls, Kan., here Wednesday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson returned home until Friday with relatives and friends.

Comparison Shows Nations Are Small

The small size of European nations is more easily realized when their areas are compared with states and counties in this country.

Supt. F. B. Decker has compiled figures showing that Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Germany, France, England and Italy combined have an area of 905,433 square miles, not twice the size of New Mexico, California and Texas which have 546,827. Belgium, Netherlands, Denmark, Switzerland and Luxembourg combined make 58,496 square miles of territory, about two-thirds the size of Nebraska. This state's area is 76,808 square miles.

Luxembourg is about twice the size of Wayne county, the former having 999 square miles and Wayne county 450. Cherry county, Nebraska, with 5,979 square miles is about half the size of Belgium with 11,775. Belgium is practically equal in size to the state of Maryland which has 12,337. Netherlands is nearly the same, having 13,203 square miles. Denmark, with 16,575, is only slightly larger than Maryland and about one-fifth the size of Nebraska.

Norway's area of 124,588 is close to New Mexico's, 122,634. Sweden's 173,347 is slightly larger than California's 158,297. Germany's 181,699 is about two-thirds the size of Texas with 265,896. France has 212,659 which is also smaller than Texas. England's 50,874 is about equal to Alabama's 51,998. Italy's 119,714 is about the same as New Mexico.

Nebraska's deaths due to traffic accidents totaled 12 for the month of April. Others injured were 389. One of the non-fatal accidents was in Dixon county, close to Wayne.

The April record shows 30 per cent less accidents and 47 per cent fewer fatalities than the previous month.

Nebraska had 277 fatalities in 1939 on 11,442 miles of state and federal highways. The 277 deaths caused a loss of $12,456,600 which is more than the state capital cost during a period of 11 years. It is one-tenth the value of the whole highway system, and more than 1,100 miles of roads and bridges.

A Goal Attained Through Difficulties.
Naturally Faye shrank away from their empty home, the judge of the juvenile court told her father when he complained of her failure to respond to parental control, her bad companionship, her remaining in a cheap show or roller-skating rink until the doors closed for the night.

"Until now," the father defended himself, "I haven't been able to afford a housekeeper to look after Faye and her younger sister, and I have to be away at my work from 8 in the morning till 6 at night. The expenses of my wife's long illness and her burial have been paid by two years' struggle, and I can afford a housekeeper. I will hire one at once, and together we can, perhaps, supervise the girls."

The passage of six weeks brought Faye back into court, the housekeeper verifying the complaints made by her father. Menial superior, far advanced in school, the 14-year-old girl maintained a defiant attitude

LeRoy Hammer and Neil Sandahl brought flowers the last month. Donald and Marcelline also brought a rake to use on the school lawn.

Picnic dinner was enjoyed at school May 21.

District 28, South.
(Helen Iversen, teacher.)

Warren Holtgrew and Verda Niemann were on May 1 chosen May king and queen. Pupils enjoyed a May pole dance and treats were served.

Dorothea Anderson and Leslie Niemann had perfect attendance for the term. Elaine Lettmann, Marian Niemann, Laura Jane Quinn and Verda Niemann also had perfect records the past month.

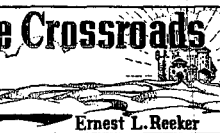

The school had 34 visitors in the year.

Miss Iversen and pupils went to Winside May 17 for a treat at the drug store.

A bounteous picnic supper was enjoyed by patrons and their families May 17. Selections by the rhythm band, folk dances and games were diversion.

toward her father; yet both said they would make every effort to hold the home together.

Regularly at two-week intervals, however, the father reported that Faye could not be controlled. For her part Faye declared that she would rather be sent to a training school than be compelled to live at home feeling that her father mistrusted her. If we did not commit her, she would run away from home.

"Faye, you have finished high school, now what would you like to do?" we asked, more in despair than in hope of turning her thoughts to anything constructive.

"I want to be a registered nurse," she replied promptly. "But what's the use of my trying? I've made applications to hospitals for training, and they all say they won't accept me until I've completed two years of college work. How can I go to college? Dad can't afford to send me."

We looked around then and finally induced an accredited, church-owned hospital to accept Faye for training, a real accomplishment because written recommendations had been requested and Faye's conduct had been such that recommendations from responsible persons were unobtainable.

With nothing in the world but her high school diploma, a good mind, and a very scant, inexpensive wardrobe, Faye embarked upon a career of nursing.

Because she became a skilled surgical nurse upon graduation from the hospital, her services were in constant demand.

She reached her goal through difficulties but not without gratitude to her father despite their incompatibility. "I still love to have a good time," she wrote us, "but I'll be so busy now I'll never get into trouble again—thanks to father for turning me over to the court."

The father deserves full credit for realizing the seriousness of the home situation and his own inability to cope with it.

Brewing Industry Enters Third Year of Self-Regulation in Nebraska

Two years ago the Self-Regulatory program of the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee was launched as an experiment entirely new in the history of American industry.

Today, as the Committee begins its third year of activity, the experiment has been proved a vital force in maintaining beer's position on a sound social basis. Under the guidance of Charles E. Sandall, the program in Nebraska became so practically effective as to cause the same Self-Regulation program to be installed in 12 other states under the sponsorship of the United Brewers Industrial Foundation.

At this time the Committee and Mr. Sandall renew the pledge made two years ago to assist the efficient Nebraska Liquor Control Commission and local law enforcement officials in eliminating the small minority of law-violating retail beer dealers.

THE WHOLE NEIGHBORHOOD LOOKS BETTER SINCE WE PAVED WITH CONCRETE

"I WISH we had put concrete on our streets long ago. Aside from being the best to drive on, it keeps itself clean, looks better, and has made our neighborhood more desirable. Property values are up."

That's not half the story. Your own experience tells you that concrete helps you to drive safely; that it effectively checks skidding; that its light-grey surface helps you see at night.

And concrete saves you money because it is moderate in first cost, low in upkeep and long lasting.

Be guided by your experience and observation. When your streets come up for paving—insist on concrete.

Are you one of the fortunate property owners taking advantage of the Work Relief program and securing necessary and desirable street improvement in front of your property? Now is the time to petition your city officials to pave your street with clean, safe, "money-saving" concrete pavement.
