

Plans
For County Fair in Hands of Chamber of Commerce Secretary — Too Much Luxury and Ease — Sabbath Observance in Philadelphia — How Mountains Compare — World's Fair Buildings — For Independent Employment.

Secretary Swett of the Chamber of Commerce has the task of leading the county fair to deserved success this year, and he is now shaping the course of events looking to that end. The program would seem sufficient to satisfy varied tastes. Good crops, now promised, should insure extraordinary farm exhibits. Schools of the county have been busy through the year getting ready to show specimens of their skill. With return of abundance and prosperity, the fair should be able to score the old-time high rank.

Apparently Soft.
The young people on the boat cruising the Patomac one Saturday night—often liquor drinking, spooning and lolling—impressed us as too soft and weak to handle big responsibilities or overcome serious obstacles. Whether these young men and women were from the ultra-rich or from the middle class, we could not tell. We wondered if it were necessary to train the youth for military service in order to make them strong and self-reliant. Why didn't fine, tough fiber be developed by training for peaceful pursuits?

We have heard parents who have drugged and saved in order to turn more over to descendants, say they did not want their children to have to work as they had to work. As a consequence, the products often become useless saps. Doubtless there are examples of too much labor and too little play, and these justify moderation and the middle course. But too many go to the ruinous extreme of idleness and over-surfeted appetites at the expense of parental toil and self-denial, and thus threaten the vitality and courage of the race.

It is an unkindness not to teach children to labor, plan, accept responsibility and accumulate independent bank accounts. Nothing so fuses iron into blood and backbone like the power of initiative and the ambition to win one's own spurs.

We believe the middle west is superior to the east in human metal and character stability—probably due to lack of extremes in riches and poverty, and to more interest in safeguarding the young outside of the realm of dollars and cents. Compulsory military training for possible defense will do for the youth in the east and elsewhere what should have been done in an considerable measure by practice of industry and self-restraint. Putting self-starters on boys and girls early in the direction of work and individual achievement and counseling them in the essentials of balanced judgment would head off a lot of later problems.

Old Blue Laws.
In the matter of Sabbath observance we understood Philadelphia stuck to its so-called "blue laws" until recent years. We were told that Sunday motion picture shows had not long been permitted. The town is strong for historic shrines and ideas and the "blue laws" worked into the background harmoniously.

Eastern Mountains.
Nature was evidently just re-appearing when it made the Alleghenies and other eastern mountains, and didn't tackle mountain making in a big way in America until it fashioned the Rockies, Cascades and Sierra Nevada and other peaks in the western part of the country. Eastern mountains are beautifully green, but they lack the western size.

At the New York Fair.
Attempt to blow up the British building at the New York fair, reminds us that we saw it but did not go into it. We inspected the French building and its expensive display about the time France surrendered to the Nazis, and we thought we could detect a gloomy atmosphere, quite unlike that belonging to the gay and elaborately finished surroundings.

Florida was out to capture the next annual meeting of the National Editorial association, and accordingly invited the editors to a luncheon and program on the fair grounds one afternoon. After talking around our share of the luncheon, served on a lake beach, we decided to slip away quietly and see other fair attractions. An old Florida booster accosted us as we were leaving, and sensitive about "baiting and running," we told him we wanted to see the Florida building. With pride, he took us in charge and allowed us to miss nothing. The display was wonderful, costing, as our escort assured us, a million and a half dollars.

A sound system will be installed to enable all to hear. No charge will be made for attending the ceremonies and the public is urged to be present.

The management plans to arrange for passenger flights at reasonable fees so that all interested may have opportunity to take plane rides.

Preparations for the dedication are in charge of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, R. W. Bartels, chairman, Stanley G. Fuller, vice chairman, Clarence Sorensen, Herman Lundberg, Walter Miller, M. L. Ringer, J. T. Bressler, jr., and Dr. J. T. Anderson.

Holiday Accident Fatal To Wayne College Coed

Miss Frances Wright Killed Instantly in Train-Auto Crash Near Laurel.

Miss Frances Wright, 23, Wayne college student, was instantly killed, and her companion, Loren E. Klatt, 27, of Sioux City, was seriously injured the morning of the Fourth in a car-train crash on highway 20 at the outskirts of Laurel. Miss Wright suffered a skull fracture, broken back and internal injuries. Mr. Klatt, who sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries, was taken by ambulance to a Sioux City hospital where he underwent an emergency operation and was given a blood transfusion Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Klatt was driving the Iowa sedan in which the two were enroute from Sioux City to Creighton the Fourth to visit Miss Wright's sister, Mrs. Phyllis Jorgensen. About 10:15 the car collided with the westbound Burlington motor train enroute from Sioux City to O'Neill. Onlookers said that apparently the young folks failed to see or hear the train. Both were hurled about 75 feet from the scene of the accident, to the side of the road. The automobile, which was demolished, landed about 150 feet from the point of impact and the motor was thrown out of the car.

Dr. R. T. Carroll, summoned by the train crew who picked up Klatt and the body of Miss Wright, said the latter had been killed instantly. A Laurel ambulance took Klatt to Sioux City. Funeral rites for Miss Wright were conducted Saturday morning at 11 in First Methodist church in Sioux City. Burial was at Kennard, Neb.

Miss Wright was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wright and was born at Correctionville, Ia., August 3, 1916. She was graduated from Randolph high school and attended Wayne college. She was a

Food Stamp Plan Gaining in Favor

Eligible Clients Are Urged To Take Advantage of Program Offered.

Wayne county's participation in the federal food stamp plan is showing some increase this month. Of the 277 eligible to use the stamps in Wayne county, 119 or 43 per cent did so in June. Clients are more and more coming to realize the advantages of the stamp plan and others are entering into the program this month.

In the eight-county district 2,954 of the 5,438 eligible to participate are doing so. This is an average participation of 54.4 per cent. Nance county participation is highest with 74.5. Boone is 64, Stanton 55.9, Knox 53.5, Pierce 50.7, Platte 47.7, Madison 46.3.

Two objectives are working out well in the stamp plan. Relief clients obtain $1.50 worth of food for each $1 in cash spent, and surplus commodities are used, raising the price producers receive for their foods.

Wayne Station Robbed Monday

The onlooker telephoned to Marshal W. A. Stewart who hurried to the station. But the intruder evidently disappeared during the telephoning for he was gone and the door was again locked when Mr. Stewart arrived.

Plans for the Wayne county fair September 4 to 7 are going forward steadily. At the meeting Friday evening the fair board named Chet Walters assistant to Midgaur W. H. Swett.

An innovation this season will be the use of 4-H boys and girls as junior superintendents in every phase of the fair work. This will enable the young folks to get acquainted with fair work and develop into good leaders.

The premium book is expected to be released early in August. The plan is to make this bigger and better than ever.

Both groups agreed that the band training will be provided without cost to any in the community who wish to take it. This will include children of all Wayne schools, adults in town, also adults and children in rural "areas" near Wayne.

The board and council also specified that the instructor who handles the city and school band shall also be qualified to teach voice and chorus. Mayor M. L. Ringer appointed the band committee of the Chamber of Commerce, W. H. Swett, Harold West, C. E. Nicholson, Dr. L. F. Perry and Clarence Wright, as an advisory group in the joint management plan.

THOUGHT TURNS TO OBSERVING WAYNE'S SIXTIETH BIRTHDAY

WAYNE celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding in 1891, and it will be an order to observe its 60th milestone next year. The golden jubilee was a big success. A circus was provided for entertainment, and everybody enjoyed it. Many early settlers, located elsewhere, came back to renew friendships and share in the festivities. Next year marks another decade in the passing of events, and many who have moved to other parts of the country during the time, would return and spend a few days reminiscing among former acquaintances. The best way to celebrate should be carefully figured out far enough in advance to make the occasion appropriately elaborate and attractive. In the meantime let us go forward under an increased head of steam.

Disagreeing Philosophies OLD-TIME republicans who are republicans because their fathers were republicans must have better ground than the fact that Wendell Wilkie used to be a democrat to frown on him as the party's presidential candidate.

Willkie knows the answers to new deal pretense and knows how to puncture new deal fallacies. He will not hesitate to retain whatever is desirable in the present program, and he will not be slow in removing obstructions to free enterprise.

The day the republican convention opened in Philadelphia the Evening Bulletin of that city concluded an editorial with these warning words:

"But this is no time for pussyfooting or for yielding to pressure groups. If in meeting the issues of foreign relations emphasis is put on that which is conjected to be popular, rather than on what the people need to hear, the results may be disastrous for the party."

"Today likewise the ordinary canons for candidate selection can be scrapped. The usual tests of political or sectional availability can be waived aside. A standard-bearer is needed who in courage and competence can impress the people as superior to the leader the democrats will offer."

"Courage often pays rich dividends in politics. This looks to be one of the times."

It is understood that Senator Norris will try to defeat Wilkie on the ground that he had been a utility head. But the country has to have utilities, and the presidential nominee's way of handling them to the advantage of the public ought to strengthen rather than weaken his popular appeal.

All eyes and ears will be on Chicago next week when the democratic national convention will be held there. Speculations are still rife as to what the president will do about accepting the nomination for a third term.

The world clash is apparently between dictatorships and democracies, and it is now up to the United States to present a solid front in support of its freedom. This is the way to escape crushing demands.

While Hitler was building a huge war machine, France felt smugly satisfied with a regime of dizzy dreams very similar to the program of the American new deal, and thus when the French government was attacked, it was not prepared to defend itself.

cratic institutions against any totalitarian onslaught is now the surest way to insure peace.

One apparent difference between Roosevelt and Wilkie is that the former has put reform above economic recovery, whereas the latter will see that business is given a chance to function untrammelled, and in such freedom will be permitted to contribute to a balanced upswing in rewards to production and wages.

Someone suggests that platform builders ought to employ news writers to separate chaff from the wheat and boil down to simple, direct diction what they are trying to say.

"God Bless America" is the popular song these days on all public occasions, and its meaning is emphasized more than ever. The need of its spirit is more keenly felt.

The flower of manhood is destroyed in war, and thus often largely the products of the unfit are left to reproduce a nation. That is one of the calamities of war.

Nothing is heard of grasshopper ravages so far this year, and it is supposed the wet spell of a month ago had much to do in destroying the pest.

Early friendships are the ones longest remembered, and so, they are the ones that should be most carefully cultivated.

Cochran's Error

Governor R. L. Cochran, who has evidenced many good qualities in his three terms as chief executive of Nebraska, is sadly lacking in one.

That is a knowledge of what to say and when to say it.

His blast at Wendell Wilkie, republican nominee for president, is a case in point. Mr. Cochran condemns Mr. Wilkie because the latter has been president of a utility company and is a wealthy man.

The fact the republican standard bearer started out as a youngster who earned his way through college, practiced law in a country town, served in the armed forces of this nation during the last World war and finally achieved great success by dint of his own ability and hard work completely escapes the governor.

In other words, Mr. Wilkie is to be condemned because the story of his life is the sort of American success story which we used to term "typical."

Perhaps Mr. Cochran's error is not so surprising, after all. We must remember that for 25 years the taxpayers of the state of Nebraska have paid his way and kept him on first one good job and then another. A few years in private endeavor would probably have done him some good.

He may get such a chance after the votes are counted this November.

Finding More "Projects."

Why are inventors so important? Why is there so much talk about the importance of industrial research to this country's welfare?

These aren't new questions, and they've been answered—more or less ably—by a number of people. But Charles F. Kettering, president of General Motors Research Corporation, came up recently with one of the clearest statements of the whole case that we've heard in some time.

Here's what Dr. Kettering, distinguished scientist and inventor in his own right, said:

"We are the only country in the world that ever had the peculiar kind of problem that we have got today. We have got excesses of men, money and materials. The only thing that means is that we haven't got any projects. We are one lap late, and everybody thinks we are ahead. In other words, we have got to broaden this industrial base of ours so that we supply new jobs, new projects to take up these excesses of men, money, and materials."

There, in short and cogent words, the reason is offered why American industry is so actively engaged in research for new products and new ideas— "research projects," as Dr. Kettering calls them. Last year, $215,000,000 was spent on this type of work alone. And industry's enthusiasm in this cause, plus its proved ability, is one of the best auguries for the future we could possibly have!

Ills Tag Easy Road

France fell before the Nazi invasion partly because it "followed the easy road" of short working hours, low production, and the United States has been prone to follow the same road.

"The Germans," he wrote, "by hard work, thrift and well directed efforts, were able to produce the bare necessities of life and to create the most potent war machine of all time. . . . France followed the easy road. The number of hours worked per week was decreased and production per hour was not high."

"Fortunately, the United States has great natural resources and a knowledge of quantity production methods. It will be possible to prepare and at the same time maintain as high a standard of living as during the past 10 years."

Filley warned, however, that "adequate preparation means the end of the discussion of a 30-hour week or a 40-hour week. It means the end of sit-down strikes, the slow down sabotage and the Townsend pension plan."

"It means that every able-bodied man who receives wages or assistance of any kind must first have performed worthwhile productive labor. Adequate preparation for national defense and maintenance of even minimum standards of living will provide a job for everyone who is able and willing to work."

Without question, Herbert Hoover, former president, towers far above all others in qualities of statesmanship, of knowledge of how best to get the country back on an even keel, to keep it out of foreign troubles and to protect its future safety and welfare, but his availability for successful leadership at this time has been impaired by the onslaught of a depression which came while he was president and which no earthly power could have averted. But well forward in knowledge and experience is Wendell Wilkie, who also has what a candidate needs to build a fire under new deal fallacies and to lead the public to repudiate them.

Employing units is to reduce forced idleness and not to supplant private industry. Those who want to free themselves from dependence on the government, should accept farm jobs and in that way help restore normal and lasting channels of employment. No paternalistic federal setup answers the demand for red-blooded American individualism.

Write from New York

Columbia University, New York July 7, 1940.

Dear Wayne Herald friends, We must write to tell you how much we appreciate your sending our paper to our summer address. When we came last Sunday, all by our lonely selves, to an apartment pleasant enough but strange, it was about the two waiting editions of the dear Wayne Herald that we gathered as about welcoming friends. Such thoughtfulness as yours we will never forget.

What good news it was to read of Nebraska's well-watered crops! For so long we have watched green plants dry and shrivel into barren joys that nothing can bring us more joy than word of fruitful fields. We read with interest Mr. Huse's editorials about his trip to the convention and to New York City, and when we ourselves drove out to the fair Friday, constant questions were these: "Do you suppose Mr. Huse saw this?" and "What did Mr. Huse think of that, I wonder!"

But despite our excitement and joy over changing scenes and varying experiences, we have missed Wayne friends and Wayne kindness, and look forward to the time when we shall be home again.

Yours sincerely, Mrs. C. T. Carlson, Theodora, Judith, Philip.

COST OF PEACE

The Saturday Evening Post says that a balanced distribution of power in the world has been upset, and virtually that totalitarian countries threaten the western hemisphere. It believes there is no immediate danger of invasion of this continent, but that "until an equal defensive power has been created in the hands of people who prefer peace to war, there will be no safe living in it, no security for free government."

Washington, D. C., July 1, 1940 The telegraph companies, the advertising agencies and the salesmen of buttons, flags and novelties did the real profitable business in Philadelphia. One delegate says he got 500 telegrams from home.

The signing of the Smith alien registry bill caused a great stir in the department of justice which became heir to the immigration and naturalization bureau, taken away from the department of labor because of the fight against the secretary of labor.

Scores of visitors who have been to the convention in Philadelphia are in town looking over places of historic interest. Some of them wanted to go to the white house, but were denied that pleasure; not because of the war, but because there has been a lot of new painting going on in the president's house and until the paint is dry, the daily visits are out.

Thousands of aliens are our guests now. Thousands of them have come to us with visitors' passports which have been renewed from time to time.

Many months ago, about 20,000 refugees left Europe and eventually landed in Shanghai, China. There they found about 20,000 white Russians who preceded them by 20 odd years because of the first world war.

A few airplanes are landing at Washington's new airport. But these landings are experimental and the airport will not be ready for commercial use for some months. It is expected to be the nation's model airport and its Gravelly Point site is reclaimed land from the Potomac river lowlands.

Can the house of representatives adjourn, sine die, even if there is not a majority of the membership present in the house? In reply to that question, the answer is "yes."

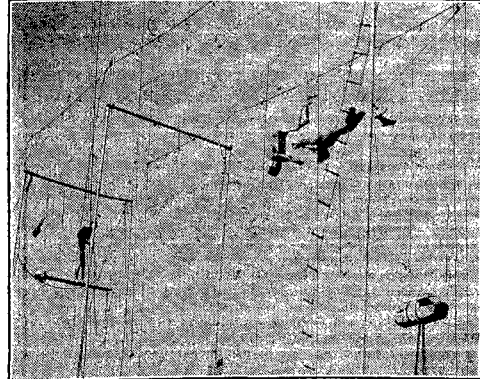

Word from inner circles comes to members of the house that famine is already stalking some parts of war torn countries. What the winter will bring to the hungry in some of those lands is horrible to contemplate.

Corn in Nebraska Stood Spring Well

Nebraska's farm-stored corn came through the spring period in nearly perfect condition. In 34,787 cribs and bins of corn on Nebraska farms covered by inspection, 99.8 per cent of the grain graded No. 3 or better. This figure is slightly above the national average of 99.6. Corn stored in 520 steel bins is almost on a par with farm-stored corn with 97.9 per cent grading No. 3 or better.
Farmers who have 1937, 1938 and 1939 corn under seal on their farms are responsible for maintaining its condition. County AAA committeemen have supervision of the grain in steel bins.
Nebraska farmers have approximately 30 million bushels of corn on their farms and in country warehouses upon which they obtained loans through the AAA in 1937, 1938 and 1939. The state also has another two million bushels of corn in steel bins and country warehouses which farmers delivered to the AAA in payment of 1937 and 1938 loans.
The inspection report covered the period ending May 31. May is generally regarded as the most difficult period of the season in which to keep stored grain in condition.
All stored corn will be reinspected in July to determine the effect of summer heat.

The Salvation army with headquarters in Sioux City plans its drive in this vicinity this week for funds with which to carry on rehabilitation and service during 1940. Capt. Gordon A. Wilson and a few helpers, each with credentials, will call in Wayne for contributions.
The principle that "a man may be down but he is never out" is the guide for these workers who help furnish food and clothing, also moral and spiritual guidance for 100,000 each year. Through boys' and girls' clubs, bands, singing groups, guards, cadets and such organizations the Salvation army attempts to develop good citizenship.
The Salvation army helps in institutions and jails. Last year 39 such services were conducted. When the prison sergeant passed away in Sioux City prisoners were so appreciative of his services that they pooled their small sums and sent roses.

Sign Applications For Crop Insurance

Wheat growers in Wayne county can start signing applications for insurance on their 1941 wheat crops about July 15, according to T. P. Roberts, in charge of crop insurance for AAA. The new crop insurance program is virtually the same as that of 1940 with exception of a change in the closing date. Winter wheat producers must apply and pay the premium before the crop is seeded or by August 31, whichever is earlier. In 1939 the closing date was in September.
Yields and premium rates have been revised to bring the base period of the insurance up to date by including actual yields and losses recorded on each farm in 1939. This annual check-up and renewal of yields and rates keep them in line with production trends.
Application to cover the acreage allotment can be made in one operation. Mr. Roberts explains. Should less than the full acreage be planted, a proportionate amount of the premium will be refunded.

Christian Science Services

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, July 14.
The Golden Text is: "The hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him" (John 4:23).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me. This is that bread which came down from heaven" (John 6:56, 57, 58).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke biblical error and all sin, sickness and death—to point out the way of Truth and Life . . . His true flesh and blood were his Life; and they truly eat his flesh and drink his blood, who partake of that divine Life . . . First in the list of Christian duties, he taught his followers the healing power of Truth and Love. He attached no importance to dead ceremonies. It is the living Christ, the practical Truth, which makes Jesus 'the resurrection and the life' to all who follow him in deed" (pp. 30, 25, 31).

Wayne Loses to Osmond Sunday

League Leaders Suffer 12-3 Defeat Here at Hands of Visiting Nine.

An Osmond team that apparently had tired of occupying cellar position in the Big Six league last Sunday came to Wayne and bargaged the circuit leading local team with fourteen hits to win by a decisive 12 to 3 margin.

The visitors had little trouble in finding the offerings of Cross, and started out in the first inning with three scores, adding two more in the second to put themselves four runs in the lead. From then on there was no doubt as to the outcome of the game—it was just a matter of by how large a margin Wayne would lose.

The local men gathered a total of nine hits, but Zuber, Osmond hurler, kept these hits so well scattered that seldom was he in any danger.

Juniors Win Two Games Past Week

Are Forced to Ten Innings To Win from Emerson; Defeat Bancroft.

Wayne's Junior Legion baseball team entered the winner's bracket for the first time this year by annexing both of its games the past week. Last Friday afternoon the lads won their first game, defeating Emerson here 5 to 4 in 10 innings, and Tuesday they journeyed to Bancroft where they won 9 to 2.

In defeating Emerson the Wayne boys displayed better baseball than they had previously shown, committing only two errors. However, they had a little trouble finding the offerings of Harty, but managed to bunch enough hits to win in the 10th frame.

Sixty Years Ago

The fragile frame buildings and inefficiency of fire protection in the early days often resulted in a destructive conflagration. The Northern Nebraska Journal, published by the late Wm. Huse at Ponca 60 years ago, tells of a fire that broke out in the new town of Deadwood, Dakota territory.

The blaze broke out in the Star bakery at 2:20 in the morning. Following Sherman street, the fire swept everything before it on Lee Main and Wall, and Patton and Williams streets. It also spread to several residences on Centennial avenue.

Fanned by a light breeze, everything was at the mercy of the flames. Less than half a score of the buildings were pronounced fireproof. Warehouses withstood the severe test. Buildings were mostly of wood and poorly constructed so they burned like chaff. The fire spread with such rapidity that any attempt at saving anything would have been useless.

All along the course of the fire terrific explosions of gunpowder, petroleum, liquor, etc., were of frequent occurrence and buildings were blown into atoms.

The hook and ladder apparatus and hose carriage were the first things to burn, leaving only a few feet of worthless hose with which to battle the denaturing elements. The new water works were put to their full capacity with little success in subduing the flames on account of the scarcity of water. Hill-sides were almost a solid sheet of flames. Water from Boulder ditch could not be had, otherwise considerable property would probably have been saved as the ditch ran almost directly over the worst spot. Wildest excitement prevailed on account of the fearful force of flames. People thought of but little besides saving their own lives, hundreds escaping with only their night clothes. Every team within miles of the city was called into service to help save what could be got out.

Probably 200 were made homeless and many were destitute. About 125 buildings besides 50 or 60 houses were destroyed. The loss figured at about $2,000,000. Several firms that survived posted notice that they would reopen.

After the fire, lumber was hauled rapidly and building commenced as soon as the debris could be cleared. Structures were to be more substantial than ever. Most of those who lost wooden stores decided to erect brick ones. Labor was in great demand and a lively appearance followed the conflagration.

General Stings, commanding at Fort Meade, was called on for a company of troops to act as guards over the property of unfortunates sufferers from the fire. The request was complied with and cavalry was sent, also 10 wagons and two ambulances to transport the destitute to Fort Meade where they were furnished camps and rations.

Evil doers, if caught, were to be speedily dealt with. An ordinance passed provided for a vigilance committee of 100.

Though the post office and $3,000 worth of stamps were lost, no mail was destroyed and service was regular. Merchants did not take advantage of conditions by advancing prices. Their sole aim was to serve.

County records were lost excepting for one set of the treas-

Save Democracy By Living Ideals

Rev. C. L. Eads Tells Kiwanis Club of Need to Practice To Keep Liberty.

"Saving America" was the theme of the message given Monday at the regular Kiwanis meeting by Rev. C. L. Eads, Wayne Baptist minister. Rev. Eads said that "Americans are conscious of American ideals and standards which include moral and spiritual liberty. They cherish their freedom and that is what makes America what it is." He went on to say that "there can be no morality without liberty, for morality demands privilege of choice. Liberty and morality are the greatest things America stands for. The church is the basic institution which can save America and what it stands for."

"We want truth," Rev. Eads continued. "Progress is based on truth. All business rests upon truth. As Americans, as citizens of the world we cherish truth. Impurity breeds destruction, degeneration and downfall. Those impurities within are what caused the downfall of some of the old European governments. To prevent this happening to us we must keep liberty, morality, truth and purity alive."

Rev. Eads pointed out that "the things which people cherish originate in God. Morality is cherished so morality rests in God." In conclusion he said that these "American standards can be saved by practice. For if they are not practiced they will stagnate. Talk alone will not save moral and spiritual liberty. We need to act. People may not listen to what one says but they cannot entirely ignore one's actions. Living of these principles is the thing which will save America."

Practices Studied On Soil Field Day

The soil conservation field day, held in and around Hoskins June 28, was attended by 100 farmers. The tour was sponsored by Winside CCC camp and the agricultural agents of Wayne and Stanton counties. An inspection was made of 11 farms which have employed the latest soil conservation practices.

Contour farming, strip cropping, sod dams, trees, spring seeded broom grass and native grasses were inspected on the Lyle Maroltz, Ernest Strate, Jim Nielsen, Walt Fenske, Henry Kruger, R. D. and E. A. Langenberg, George Langenberg, and Gus Schroeder farms.

A summary of the most successful broom grass practices, decided on by the farmers at this conservation tour follow: Use native broom grass seed; prepare a firm seed bed; seed broom grass in the fall from August 20 to September 1; however, if this is not possible, the early spring should be the second choice; seed broom grass with alfalfa and a fall nurse crop of oats or barley; use no nurse crop with spring seeding; never let the weeds get over 10 inches high the first year; harvest the crops like oats and restrict and rotate grazing.

College Student Develops Hobby Of Photography

Marvin Hudleson, Wayne college summer student, has some very fine pictures to show in proof of his interest in his hobby, photography.

Marvin Hudleson, Wayne college summer student, has some very fine pictures to show in proof of his interest in his hobby, photography. Mr. Hudleson has, as he puts it, "been fooling around with pictures the last 15 years." He is instrumental instructor of music in Onawa, Ia.

Some of Mr. Hudleson's most interesting pictures were displayed at "open house" at Terrace hall a short time ago. Some of these were "Where's My Soap," showing his small daughter in a bath tub; "Winter Solitude," a still of a portion of Onawa state park; "Snow Caps," revealing snow covered posts in the Onawa state park; "Early Morn," showing Great White Throne mountain at Zion National park; "Death at the Crossroads," showing a wreck near Onawa.

Mr. Hudleson has a complete miniature orchestra, made up of pipe men and small carved instruments, which he uses to make pictures. He displayed one titled, "The Soloist," which shows one of the pipe men accompanying another who is playing a clarinet solo. He has carved all but one of the instruments in this orchestra.

Sharon, Mr. Hudleson's daughter, who is 19 months old, has her entire life down in pictures. Her first picture was taken when she was two hours old. She was born just before Christmas so her father had this picture reproduced on cards and used it to convey his Christmas wishes.

Most of the pictures which Mr. Hudleson has taken are black and white, but he plans to do photographs in the near future.

The lowan has used his hobby in connection with his band work in Onawa, taking pictures of his students better to point out to them their faults. His band placed first in the national music contest three years ago.

Mr. Hudleson presented a picture of the garden on the campus to President J. T. Anderson. This will be hung in the student-union building. He gave Mrs. Prudence Theobald one of Terrace hall taken at night and showing the lights shining out through the west door.

University Women Respond to Call
A cable from the British Federation of University Women asking the American Association of University Women to take care of their children for them for the duration of the war has resulted in a nation-wide project for the placement of several hundred British children between the ages of 5 and 16. During the war 20 years ago British people provided homes for thousands of refugee children from Belgium, France, Germany, Russia and Spain. Now that Great Britain is in danger, America will furnish safety for that country's children.

The children will be brought in as speedily as possible in compliance with all immigration regulations. Naturally information will not be given out in advance as to ships and sailing time.

This nation has 68,000 university women in 822 branches and they are already responding well to the call for homes. A small Iowa branch has arranged for one child to stay in the home of the president while all members assist in support. The British women feel that American university women will provide sympathetic and intelligent care for their young folks.

But It's True

THE TOWN OF CORTADOS, MEXICO, WAS NAMED AFTER JUAN CORTADOS IN 1802 - AND EVERY MAYOR SINCE THEN HAS HAD THE SAME NAME!

THE SKYLARK MAY HAVE BEEN A "BLITHE SPIRIT" TO SHELLEY, BUT IN AMERICAN AGRICULTURE IT IS CONSIDERED AN "UNDESIRABLE ALIEN" AND ITS IMPORTATION IS NOT ALLOWED!

The skylark is considered more of a menace to crops than crows, sparrows or hawks. In the state of Minnesota every dead skylark is worth $1 to the man who caught it. There have been 21 mayors of Cortados. All have borne the same name, and all have been members of the same family, which serves, in effect, as a sort of democratic dynasty.

son and two children of Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conley of Grand Island, and Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Roberts were at J. O. Conley's near Winside the Fourth.

George Washington did not consider July 4 the happiest day in his life, contrary to popular opinion. On July 4, 1754, the American who later became the "father of his country" was forced to surrender Fort Necessity to the French. He never liked to be reminded of it.

Benjamin Connors, New Orleans, heard his ducks and geese quacking so he stood in the darkness, pretending to be armed, and shouted, "stick 'em up." Two shadowy figures stood in this position till police arrived. The men had broken the necks of 13 ducks and two geese and had put them in a sack. The pair was charged with petty larceny.

The reason the members of the United States Fat Men's club are fat was revealed at their annual outing at Lynnfield, Mass. The 25 members of the club consumed a 29-pound turkey, other plates of food and put away seven cases of soda pop. They gained an average of two and one-half pounds per man. The heaviest man there weighed 315 pounds.

George Lundgren, 29, Chicago, was being the helpful father by putting a diaper on his daughter, Florence Jane, a year old. Lundgren had put a pin in his mouth for safekeeping, and when his small daughter began squirming he cooed to comfort her. The coo, however, was inboard rather than outboard, and the pin shot down his throat. A physician from the Illinois Research hospital had to be called in to remove the inch-long pin.

Municipal Judge Wheeler of Omaha, was waiting for his wife one afternoon when a police court regular, boozey of breath and unsteady of gait, came by. The judge talked to the man for an hour and said he had given him a new outlook on drinking. The next morning Judge Wheeler saw the man before the bench again. "Yes," the man confessed. "After your talk I felt differently. I resolved to take just one more bottle. That's all I had judge."

Wayne County Rural School News

School Property Values Compiled

Census in County Reveals Reduction of Eighty Over Last Year.

Valuation of Wayne county school districts, as assessed for school purposes, totals $21,997,445, according to report compiled by Supt. F. B. Decker. The average mill levy in rural districts the past year was 2.46 with a high of 4.40. A few districts assessed no tax for the year, having sufficient balance to pay costs. The districts ask for $46,720 this year and the levy will be made by the county board early in August.

Value of school buildings in rural districts is placed at $99,000 and value of sites at $7,500. Texts are valued at $12,000, maps and charts at $3,400 and other property at $18,000.

The 78 rural school teachers include three men and 75 women. The men received $1,395 in salaries or an average of $156.66 a month. The women received $36,995 or an average of $54.20. Total salaries paid in the county to rural teachers were $38,393.45.

Schools received $6,105.05 as their share of the state appropriation. Rural districts paid $2,490 to school board members for salaries, those in two districts serving without pay and the highest paid receiving $80 for the term for the three. County rural schools paid $1,220 for textbooks, $2,000 for school supplies, $775 for janitor services including cleaning the school houses and yards, $4,100 for fuel and hauling, $275 for janitor supplies, $1,700 for repair and upkeep of buildings, $800 for repair and replacement of equipment, $575 for library books, $276 for transportation, $125 for lunch and playground equipment, $60 rent, $400 insurance, $675 for new buildings, $275 for additions to old buildings, $690 for new equipment, $35 interest, $70 for other incidentals. The districts have on hand a balance of $7,000. These figures are approximate as the report of one district is not yet in file.

The county school census, pupils between the ages of 5 and 21, on which the state appropriation is made, gives a total of 2,811 this year, estimating the one district yet to report. Last year's census showed 2,891, just 80 above this year's.

The rural schools had a total enrollment of 888 last year with two of these pupils under 5 years of age. The aggregate number of days attended was 142,936 or an average daily attendance of 796. The aggregate days taught by county rural teachers was 14,264.

Did You Know?

Early banking in Nebraska was carried on under the general incorporation laws of the state. The instability of these early institutions finally led to the general banking act of 1889. This act provided for the filing of bank reports with the auditor and the examination of banks under direction of the auditor. The legislature of 1933 set up the department of banking as a separate agency. This department has general control of banks and banking. It has charge of and full supervision over examination of banks and enforcement of statutory compliance by banks in their business functions.

Sixteen in School.

Exhibit at Fair Is To Be Outstanding

County fair work for the school exhibit must be brought to the court house by pre-opening day, August 31, so that it may be placed in the hall for the fair which is September 4 to 7. All work is to be mounted on white display cards. Indications point to an exhibit of 1,000 cards.

Figures Compiled In County Schools

Wayne county town, rural and parochial schools had an enrollment of 2,137 last year, according to figures compiled by Supt. F. B. Decker. Of this number, 1,114 were boys and 1,023 girls. By grades these were divided as follows: Kindergarten, 24 boys and 27 girls; first, 98 boys and 81 girls; second, 88 boys and 80 girls; third, 98 boys and 101 girls; fourth, 115 boys and 86 girls; fifth, 110 boys and 94 girls; sixth, 105 boys and 96 girls; seventh, 77 boys and 77 girls; eighth, 98 boys and 104 girls; ninth, 83 boys and 79 girls; tenth, 86 boys and 76 girls; eleventh, 80 boys and 65 girls; twelfth, 52 boys and 57 girls.

The while John's father was complaining in the boy's presence of his son's incessant cigarette-smoking, he was taking a package of cigarettes from his own pocket, offering them to the juvenile court judge, and lighting one for himself.

John was incorrigible, disrespectful of other members of the family, and just see how stained his fingers are with nicotine! The judge asked John if he did not realize that cigarette-smoking has harmful effects on growing boys. "I've learned about it at school," was his answer, "but there isn't anything to it. I can name 50 prominent business men of Norfolk, physicians, surgeons, bankers, and even ministers, who smoke cigarettes. Women teachers smoke, too. I can't see any harm it does them."

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Reeker. The argument that all these were adults and he was a growing boy to whom continual smoking would do much injury fell on deaf ears. The father and the judge, smoking their cigarettes, were at a distinct disadvantage.

Although it is a violation of the state law for the boys and girls under a certain age to smoke cigarettes, many minors do smoke, their motive being to imitate people whom they idolize and hope to pattern after. This in spite of public-school hygiene courses which teach that nicotine has harmful effects on growing bodies. It is unfortunate that much of the advertising of cigarettes, with endorsements by this movie star and that one, appeals not so much to the dolt but to the adolescent, who usually strives anyway to attain a sophistication beyond his years.

Smile and the World Smiles with You. The Voice With a Smile is contagious—it makes friends—it's a real social and business asset. Many times people form their impression of you by your voice and the manner in which you telephone. What are the points of a pleasing telephone personality? To speak pleasantly, of course. And to be considerate and courteous—such things as answering promptly, talking directly into the mouthpiece in a normal tone of voice, and hanging up the receiver gently when the conversation is completed.

Tune in "The Telephone Hour" every Monday at 6 p. m. CST over N. B. C. Red Network Stations.
