

And Poultry Products Are Important Side Lines — Wayne Man Knows Republican Candidate — Need of Prolonging a National Convention — How Visitors Put in Time Between Sessions at Philadelphia.

H. B. Graham of the Graham Ice Cream company, headquartered in Omaha with branches in Fremont, Norfolk and Wayne, received such large and gratifying response to his request for more sweet cream that he was led to speculate on what could be accomplished if farmers generally turned more attention to milk and poultry production as side lines to agriculture.

"It has been causing me to think of benefits to Wayne merchants as a result of the market developing there for farm produce in general, sweet cream, sour cream, eggs, poultry, etc. I imagine that during summer months the various buyers there pay out from $7,000 to $10,000 weekly in cash for farm products other than grains.

"I have been thinking about the advisability of the farmer watching this produce as a side line which is a very great help to him. Wayne has been unfortunate in the proper amount of moisture during the past two or three years, and as a consequence they have suffered from dry pastures, many selling their cows and getting out of the dairy business.

"I heard a story one time when David Cole, a former business man of Omaha, made a statement that government statistics showed that the combined mineral products of Colorado did not equal Nebraska's eggs. I later heard a Denver man say the creamery industry and all the appurtenances thereto bring in overbalanced the national banks of the country.

"That seemed a little far fetched at first, but when you think of the vast amount of money paid out for produce in the whole country in proportion to $7,000 to $10,000 weekly in a little town like Wayne, the statement does not appear so extravagant. It looks to me that the farmer who watches these side lines and carries them along is on a firmer foundation than the one who does nothing but raise grain."

In College With Willkie.
Prof. J. E. Brock of the science department of the Wayne Teachers college, attended college with Wendell Willkie in Indiana, and he knew him well enough to know he is a man of dynamic force. He knows his nervous energy is not only powerful, but intelligently directed. Both were doing the same thing—working their way through school.

Convention Recollections.
A national convention has to be dragged along through several days to satisfy the city that has paid liberally for the privilege of becoming the host. The committee in charge is careful not to allow the proceedings to end too soon. Organization takes time. The keynote and other speeches are heard, and the platform committee reports. At Philadelphia, nominating speeches were limited to a half hour each, and seconding speeches to five minutes each. Recesses were devoted to meeting presidential candidates, and to seeing the town.

A number of candidates had headquarters in the luxurious Ben Franklin hotel, and we noticed that the rooms provided for Wendell Willkie were the least pretentious of any. They were located on the sixteenth floor—small and wholly inadequate to accommodate the surging crowd. Senator Taft and Frank Gannett had spacious apartments on lower floors. We recall that comely, spirited girls met trains and tried to pin Taft bouquets on delegates and other arrivals. Undecided delegates usually sidestepped such identification. The idea was to make a big, impressive showing, and candidates vied with one another in doing so. At the opening of each session, every delegate's seat was found loaded with flowers, souvenirs, booklets and leaflets boosting presidential rivals or calling attention to Philadelphia's historic shrines. The cleaning-up process was huge every day.

The range of television which we saw at the New York fair, and which was employed successfully in the press gallery of the Philadelphia convention, is still too

FIFTYNINTH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1940

NUMBER ELEVEN

To Face Charges In Federal Court Of Embezzling

Release Everett C. Perkins On Bond Tuesday After Arrest Saturday.

Everett C. Perkins, 35, former assistant cashier of the State National bank of Wayne, facing federal charge of embezzling $4,000 in bank funds over a period of about three years, was released from county jail in Omaha Tuesday after furnishing $3,000 bond.

He returned to Wayne and will await action of the federal grand jury of which he is foreman. No action has yet been taken by disqualify Perkins for jury service.

Perkins was arrested Saturday on charge of having falsified the bank records 161 times in three years, appropriating sums varying from $10 to $100.

Arraigned and bound over to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Jack Koenigstein at Norfolk, Perkins was taken to Omaha and bond fixed at $3,000. Perkins made restitution, turning over everything he has including his residence property to the bonding company. The bank also carries insurance to cover any such loss.

Perkins is in charge of the grand jury which held its first session in May, then recessed subject to call. The term ends the first Monday in September unless the jury is dismissed. Assistant United States Attorney A. C. Epperson said Perkins has disqualified himself by the charge. He further explained that the next of the jury might act on the matter of a new jury might be selected to do so. Perkins said that if he were to sit on his own case, he "didn't believe he'd treat himself different from anyone else."

When questioned, Perkins acknowledged that the bank job paid pretty good wages for the size of town, $150 a month, but that he "lived too fast." He stated that he first started falsifying records when bills piled up due to sickness in his family. Then he started going out socially, mostly to Norfolk. He said he did not drink much but that most of the money went to buy whiskey for friends. "I was a good fellow, always reaching for the check," he explained. Perkins said he did not play cards but occasionally placed a $2 bet on a horse. He added that he lived modestly but had two new cars in three years. "I've been trying hard to figure it out myself," Perkins responded when asked where the money went.

Perkins is married and has two sons, 15 and 13.
No successor for the local bank position has yet been announced.

SMALL GRAIN IS CUT AND READY FOR THE THRESHING SEASON

SMALL grain is generally cut and in the shock hereabouts, and threshing is expected to be in order next week. Quality is reported above that of average years, and the quantity which is not exceptional, is very satisfactory. Absence of heavy rains lately has permitted freedom in taking care of the crop, but they should come soon to refresh and stimulate the corn. Some grasshoppers are reported in the small grain, and it is hoped moisture will arrive in time to prevent invasion of corn fields. It appears that "hoppers favor grass if there is plenty of it, and only tackle corn as last resort. The iron-jawed insects have not been so numerous as in some former years, and so far the corn has escaped.

Many Improvements Are in Progress In Wayne During Summer Months

Improvements at the city school and college grounds, curbing, alley paving, new sidewalks, installation of sewers and additions at the new athletic park are the major projects to be completed by WPA in Wayne this summer, according to H. S. Seace who is supervising construction.

The ground south of the building at the city school is to be converted into a playground. A three-foot concrete wall with three-foot athletic fence atop it is to be constructed along the walk on the south side of the school block. The hedge and trees from that part are to be moved to the area west of the building. The 12-foot slope south of the school is to be cut down, three feet to be taken off near the building and added at the south end, making the grounds almost level. About 600 feet of new sidewalk will be placed at the school grounds. The old walk, from the building to the southwest corner will be taken up. A new walk will lead directly west of the building and then south along the west side of the block. The east and west sidewalk at the north of the building will be extended on west to complete the block. These improvements will cost about $4,000.

Lower Tax Levy Seen For State

Reduction Thought Possible In Spite of Valued Property Lowered.

A lower state property tax is forecast in Nebraska despite reduced assessed valuations, according to word from Lincoln. Some estimate the tax will be between 2.5 and 2.6 mills. The total levy last year was 2.61.

Reduced valuations result in higher tax levies unless the amount to be raised is less. This year's general fund requirement is about $200,000 less, due to lack of emergency legislative appropriations. With reports from 89 of the 93 counties in the state complete, only 18 have increases over 1939 assessed valuation and the rest show cuts ranging as high as 45 per cent. Most of the increases are comparatively small. Wayne county asked for a reduction of 20 per cent.

Wayne county levy will be made in August, after the state amount is fixed.

Draft Roosevelt Demand Is Made

President Is Expected to Accede to Request That He Run Again.

So insistent was the "draft Roosevelt" demand at the democratic national convention in Chicago Tuesday night that party delegates nominated the president Wednesday night. Roosevelt is expected to accept today.

In addressing the trending Tuesday evening Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, divulged President Roosevelt's secret which is that he "has never had, and has not today, any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president, to be a candidate for that office, or to be nominated by the convention for that office." The president wanted it made clear that "all the delegates to this convention are free to vote for any candidate."

"Demonstrations demanding 'We want Roosevelt'" continued for 25 minutes. Considering these and interpreting the president's statement to mean that he would run if drafted, Roosevelt's nomination was launched. The names of Garner and Farley were also placed before the convention.

However, the platform committee struck a snag Wednesday when Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, demanded that the party pledge full material aid to Great Britain. This delayed the platform action until Wednesday night.

The "draft Roosevelt" movement seemed to continue Wednesday, Nebraska's delegation was reported sticking with Roosevelt unless a possible one delegate might break away. Governor R. L. Cochran was said to favor Jesse Jones for vice president.

Communication Is Strictly Regulated

Communication between countries in Europe is strictly regulated. Relatives of Miss Margaret Schemel have written to her from Holland asking that she inform members of their family in France of their safety.

Thurston county old settlers' picnic will be held at Rosalie August 8 and 9.

School, Street and Park Projects Are Now Under Construction.

To Improve Campus.
Work at the college campus includes a new retaining wall on the athletic field from the grandstand southwest, extension of the pavement in front of Pile to the corner east, completion of the Y. M. recreation center near the power plant, changing the sharp corner at the southeast entrance to the ground and doing other campus improvements. This work is expected to start within 10 days.

Forms for curbing on 6th between Douglas and Sherman, near the L. B. McClure and Ed. Miller property, were placed last week. Two blocks are also to be curbed on Douglas between 10th and 11th, near the Don Fitch, Gordon Thackray, Clair Myers and Burr Davis residences north of the park. Curbing will also be placed on a block and a half around East park. This will be on the north side of the block and south from the east end.

Sidewalks around the First National bank and in front of the Ahern store are to be replaced. The new one near the bank will be more level than the present one. Paving will be placed for 150 feet on the alley between the Dr. J. T. Gillespie and J. G. Miller residences near the college. Will Open New Alley.
Land will be vacated for an alley between 7th and 8th streets 150 feet west of Sherman. This is about a block east of the cemetery. The alley has already been staked. About 1,400 feet of sewer will be laid in that region, the sewer to extend north and south two blocks and to connect with the city system by an extension east on 7th. Improvements at the new athletic park in the east part of town are practically complete and Mr. Seace plans to turn that project over to the city within two weeks. A new grandstand has been completed. At the southwest corner is a tourist camp with plumbing and public showers. Poles with seven electric outlets will be placed so as to accommodate trailers. Two outdoor fireplaces have been built recently near the girl scout cabin on the east part of the site. Mr. Seace reports 34 men working on Wayne projects. Ten of these will be transferred to the college campus as soon as improvements there start.

Damage Action Filed Results From Accident

George Bressler Seeks Sum From John Michel for Alleged Injuries.

A suit seeking $10,860 in damages was filed Monday in district court by George Bressler against John Michel. The action grew out of an automobile accident south of Wakefield June 16.

The petition alleges that Mr. and Mrs. Bressler suffered permanent injuries and that Lindley J. Bressler's car was badly damaged. The action claims that Lindley J. Bressler, who was driving the car in which the Geo. Bresslers were passengers, stopped and signaled that he was making a left turn across the highway into a drive when the Michel car came from the opposite direction and a collision resulted. The petition charges Michel with careless driving, excessive speed, failure to have his car under control and disregard for the rights of others.

Mr. Bressler asks $75 for doctor bills and $10,000 for permanent injury, claiming that he will be unable to follow his trade of barbering for a long time because of his injuries. He asks $60 doctor bills for his wife, Venie Bressler, and $400 because of alleged disability to do her work and the need for hiring help. The petition asks $325 for damage done to the Lindley J. Bressler car.

R. W. Bartels is attorney for the Bresslers.

Interest Taken In Fair Exhibits

Premium List Is Revised to Bring It Up-to-Date For Departments.

The importance of good exhibits at the county fair has prompted special interest in this department for the Wayne county festival September 4 to 7. W. H. Swett and Chel Walters are urging farmers to save materials for exhibits as they progress. Present displays are given credit for the number of classes filled. A large number of entries and wide variety will give each precinct exhibit extra points.

Precinct leaders met at the city hall Tuesday evening to check over the premium list, bringing it up to date. Copy for the premium book is being turned over to printers this week and the book will be ready for distribution early in August.

A committee of the board is working hard on an outstanding program which will be announced soon.

It was in response to his invitation that the 13 families formed a colony to make the long trek over the prairie to establish new homes. With their families and possessions, which included as much livestock as possible, the group started out in 12 wagons.

When they left Missouri Valley Junction for Sioux City the Little Sioux river had overflowed its banks and spread like a sea over the valley. Easter Sunday, April 17, 1870, found the party fording the swollen stream. Men waded all day piloting the wagons one by one across to dry land. The hazardous trip was finished by sundown and the rest of the journey to Wayne county was completed. (Continued on Page Two)

Passes Away at Home on Sunday

May 8. Though only open prairie covered with deep grass greeted the settlers, the newcomers were happy. They set to work to erect frame shanties with lumber which they hauled in and also broke through land to raise food for themselves and their stock. It took courage and endurance but their efforts were rewarded.

Prairie Fires Menaced.

Prairie fires were among the dreaded menaces of pioneer days, and in the recollection of Mr. Hunter these revived terrifying experiences. On the vast expanse of prairie the deep grass often caught fire in the fall when it dried, resulting in destruction and occasional death. A raging blaze from the southwest raced across the prairie in October, 1878, threatening the new settlement at LaPorte. Everyone turned out to fight the flames which rose to a height of 40 feet. Mrs. W. E. Durin, 51, and daughter, Anne, 11, who were trying to help out with the fire so as to save their home, lost their lives in the prairie blaze. All men and women of the little settlement had answered the urgent call. At another time Mr. Hunter saw a menacing blaze coming toward his new crop of about 100 tons of hay. He made a backfire to save the stacks. A neighbor, also trying to set a backfire to save property lost control of his own blaze which destroyed Mr. Hunter's hay.

Father Is Frozen.

Recollection of winter storms must have chilled the blood of Mr. Hunter. His father, Wm. Hunter, a Civil war veteran, was frozen to death November 25, 1871, when he, Al Miner and Harrison Allen were caught in a storm while returning from sand flats with wood. Mr. Hunter lost his life and the others, who finally reached safety, were so badly frozen that they were crippled for life. On another occasion W. A. Hunter was one of a party who made a dangerous trip to the northwest part of Wayne county in February, 1881, to notify the Marvin Roots that their son, Marvin, Jr., 12, had died February 7. The men, lost in a blizzard, were saved only by the odor of smoke coming from the Root home. In the memorable blizzard of January 12, 1888, Mr. Hunter rode horseback to take snap corn to the school to keep Miss Wicks and children warm. Soon afterward the term was dismissed for the winter as pioneers did not feel right about burning food.

Escapes Indian Raid.

Indian raids too must have brought a strange sensation to Mr. Hunter. He was working just over the hill from C. S. Munson who was scalped by five Indians going through the territory in July, 1870. Then men were breaking prairie in Plum Creek precinct. Mr. Hunter probably escaped only because the Indians did not see him.

To pioneers grasshopper raids brought vivid recollection of terrible devastation. When questioned about 'hoppers, Mr. Hunter would relate that his first experience with the pests came in the early 70's. He had finished cutting two rounds of a 15-acre field of fine quality oats when the grasshopper hordes appeared and settled in the vicinity. By morning the grain stems were barren. Every growing thing was destroyed.

Hospitality Genuine.

Hospitality that was typical of the early midwest was extended to many travelers in early days. The Hunter home at LaPorte was the half-way stop on routes of travel and guests were always welcome. On one occasion Dr. Wilkeson of Dakota City, borrowed Mr. Hunter's fine bay team to go to Norfolk for his wedding. The young couple left Norfolk early in the morning after the ceremony. When they reached LaPorte the Hunter home was torn up due to repairs being made. In spite of their confusion the Hunters stopped their work and prepared a meal for the bridal couple who were pleased to dine on papers spread on the table.

Mr. Hunter served the early community in as many ways as possible. It was at the George Scott homestead, now the Hunter place, that Wayne county was organized September 26, 1870. Mr. Hunter was one of the three trustees to whom Wilson Durin deeded land for the LaPorte cemetery after his son, Charles Durin, 20, was killed by a falling tree February 18, 1871. Mr. Hunter was county road supervisor and member of the school board in district 8 for many years. He was a nephew of the late Judge Enoch Hunter, who served Wayne county for a long period. Mr. Hunter was a charter and lifetime member of the Modern Woodmen and Workmen lodges.

Lumber for the first house in Wayne was hauled to the site of the new town from Wisner by Mr. Hunter July 2, 1881. The material was for a home for Mr. Maxwell, hardware merchant. On his return home Mr. Hunter was caught in a hail storm and his team ran wild over the prairie for a time.

Numerous experiences, both happy and sad, mingled in the lives of pioneers and enriched the memory of their eventful lives.

Native of Pennsylvania, Walter Alonzo Hunter, son of William Hunter and Marietta Wilson Hunter, was born September 12, 1851, in Peking, formerly known as Painted Post, Pa. In his early youth the Hunter family moved to Pawpaw Grove, Ill. At the age of 19 he accompanied his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hunter, with the colony of 13 families coming to Wayne county in the spring of 1870. Deceased filed on a homestead in LaPorte vicinity for his parents who came a year later. The Geo. Scott homestead became the home of the W. A. Hunters who lived on their farm until 1918 when they came into Wayne.

Mr. Hunter married Miss Mary L. Scott at the Geo. Scott homestead November 22, 1874. Theirs was one of the earliest marriages in Wayne county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Skinner of the Norfolk district conference. Rev. Skinner, who traveled about the territory, was so highly esteemed that his word was law. It is told that Doc Middleton, the notorious horse thief and outlaw of this territory in the early days, crawled wounded to Rev. Skinner's cabin at Norfolk. When officials came to get Middleton, Rev. Skinner protected him and officials acceded to his wishes that a wounded man not be hurt. After the minister's intervention in the outlaw's behalf, horses which had been stolen from Rev. Skinner were replaced in his corral.

Married Long Time.

Besides his faithful companion of almost 66 years, Mr. Hunter leaves two daughters, Mattie, Mrs. Grant Simmerman and Zetta, Mrs. Ray Norton, both of Wayne, and two sons, William Hunter of Wayne, and Lieut. Colonel Richard G. Hunter of Nashville, Tenn. Three children, Scottie, Ella and an infant daughter, preceded him in death. Mr. Hunter, who was second oldest in a family of five sons and one daughter, also leaves two brothers, Chester Hunter of Sioux City, and John Hunter of Paradise, Cal. There are seven grandchildren and two great granddaughters.

Lieut. Colonel Hunter arrived Monday. Chester Hunter of Sioux City, Marlin Simmerman of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Wright of Sioux City, and Mrs. Rex Evans of Norfolk, were among those here from out of town for the rites.

Honorary pallbearers were Herrens Mildner, Peter Henkel, Judge J. M. Cherry, Jacob Welbaum, Nels Nelson and John Bantzer. Active pallbearers were C. A. Orr, B. W. Wright, Van Brad-

Road Contracts Let For Gravel

Concord and Dixon Will Be Connected to Highways; Other Work Done.

Contract for graveling from highway No. 15 to Concord, also from Dixon north to No. 20 and from Dixon to Laurel, a total of 10.7 miles, was let by the state board at Lincoln Thursday to J. N. Einung of Wayne, for $2,990. This will connect Concord and Dixon with paved highway No. 20 and new highway No. 15.

Mr. Einung was also awarded contract for resurfacing 14.9 miles on highway No. 35 between Wayne and Emerson and 17.6 miles between Wakefield and Pender. His new contracts total about 14,000 cubic yards of gravel.

Materials for the first coat in hard surfacing the new routing of No. 15 from Wayne north to Laurel are on the road. Mixing of gravel, sand, soil and oil is proceeding as fast as possible. A second coat will also be added on this highway improvement which is expected to be completed the middle of August.

To Extend Improvement. Improvement of another sector of highway No. 15 is expected to start this fall between Hartington and Laurel. State men are now purchasing right-of-way for the rerouting which will shorten the distance about three miles. The plan is to route the road north of Laurel on No. 20 for two and a half miles, then west six miles, three miles north to the west edge of Coleridge, parallel with the railroad tracks northwest and then north four miles into Hartington. Specifications call for a modern road with 32-foot surface and 80-foot right-of-way. A number of sharp curves will be eliminated, several hills cut down and narrow bridges replaced with wider ones. Grading, culvert and bridge work north of Carroll, connecting with No. 20, are practically finished. Gravel surfacing is expected to be under way this week. Maintenance gravel between Winside and Norfolk is to be placed this week, according to the district engineer.

On the 18 miles of hard surfacing on the new routing of highway 81 north of Norfolk, oil mat is down on two miles, mixing is done for about four more and materials are placed ready for mixing on the additional miles.

About 34,000 cubic yards of dirt will have to be moved on each mile of the 9.4 new routing of No. 81 south of Madison. The state board accepts bids on this July 25. Construction has been completed on bituminous surfacing for 12 miles of No. 20 north of Verdigris and work is under way on a similar project between Verdigris and Niobrara. Another bituminous project just completed is seven miles between Oakland and Lyons.

Let Other Contractors. Among other northeast Nebraska projects contracted by the state board last Thursday are the following: Hadar to Pierce, 8.8 miles grading, $22,702, culverts, $23,175; Tilden to Newman Grove, 5.9 miles of gravel, $3,700; Wisner to Decatur and Beemer north, 24.3 miles of gravel, $5,678. One of the projects proposed for this fall is oil surfacing from Tekamah to Winnebago by way of Decatur.

Corn in Storage May Be Redeemed

Plan Enables Farmers to Feed Old Crop and Save New One.

AAA loans on farm-stored 1937 and 1938 corn may be redeemed by Wayne county farmers for 58c per bushel until October 1. Herman J. Podoll, member of Wayne county AAA committee in charge of commodity loans, announced.

The Commodity Credit Corporation adjusted 1937 and 1938 corn loan redemption values from 67c to 58c a bushel. It places stored corn of the last three crops on virtually the same redemption basis. Farmers will now be able to redeem their older corn for feeding to livestock and keep in storage corn which was produced more recently and has better keeping qualities.

But It's True

Illustration of a lightning bolt striking a woman, with text: 'A FLASH OF LIGHTNING CURED MISS ADELINE SLOVER, WHO HAD BEEN A BEDRIDDEN CRIPPLE FOR 15 YEARS!' and 'A SEAL STAYED IN NEW YORK HARBOR BECAME THE PET OF FERRYBOAT CAPTAINS EVERY DAY FOR 15 YEARS 1900-1912'. Includes a portrait of Robert Coons and text: 'ROBERT COONS OF BOSTON, MASS., ENTERED KINDERGARTEN AS A STUDENT AT THE AGE OF 71—HE WANTED TO GET A SOUND EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION... SEPT., 1926'. Bottom text: 'IN EVERY HERD OF ELEPHANTS ONE TAKES THE RESPONSIBILITY OF WHEELING ABOUT AT FREQUENT INTERVALS TO SEE THAT ALL IS WELL BEHIND... (Thanks to Rex Schepelisky) WNU Service'.

The leader of a herd of elephants never succeeds to leadership until another chief has died. Then, with no revolution and no fuss, one member of the herd always steps to the helm, takes over the "looking back" duties. Mr. Coons, many times a millionaire, had never gone to school in his youth. He went to kindergarten for one year, then completed the grammar school course in three years. He had started high school, and was doing well, when he died. Miss Slover claimed that the lightning struck her when she was lying in bed, and that immediately afterward she was able to walk.

'Round About This Funny World

Tom Sutherland of Dunean, Okla., cancelled his burglary insurance and in its place installed a tear gas bomb in his office safe. A few days later he found the safe open, the gas valve broken, and $100 missing. A necktie of small vases which can be filled with water to keep flowers fresh all evening is being exhibited at the Texas state florists' convention at Dallas. A rubber vacuum prevents the water from spilling. Five years ago Skippy, a small Ohio dog, was so disturbed by the noise of fireworks on the Fourth that his master took him to a pet hospital for the day. Each year on the holiday the plan was repeated. This year Skippy showed up unescorted at the hospital, a mile from his home, to beg retreat from fireworks.

Books Accessioned In Wayne Library

Wayne public library has received new books by many modern, popular authors. Among these is "Rehearsal for Love," a novel by Faith Baldwin. The lives of four people are intermeshed in this exciting and always credible story of the New York of today. Louis Bromfield, author of "The Rains Came," has written another novel, placing the characters at a setting at once startling, tawdry and beautiful entitled "Night in Bombay." "This Is on Me," by Katherine Brush, is an honest, humorous, down-to-the-earth chronicle of a woman's life and career. "Stars Still Shine" is a delightful story bringing insight to the ever interesting problem of love between boy and girl in dissimilar walks of life. Lida Larimore is the author. New Experiences Are Interesting To Wayne Youth

"I went to my cabin and found a fawn standing on the porch. I didn't know what to do with it so I went back and got the manager of the camp and we fed it shredded wheat and bread. I found that it is no uncommon sight to see pet fawns here at Pend Orville lake, Idaho." Wayne McMaster, who is working and vacationing in western Idaho and around Spokane, Wash., wrote of this incident in one of his letters home. Wayne was hired to help clean up a part of Bid-Wee-Camp on Pend Orville lake, Idaho. In this camp there are 60 acres of heavy vegetation and timber and 10 acres of board front cottages, tool-sheds and flowers. A Scottish couple, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, of Spokane, Wash., own part of this. When they came over to this country from Scotland they brought with them seeds of a Scottish broom-bush. They planted the seeds at the lake and today the bush ranges over all the lake shore, beautifying the scenery with its vivid yellow blossoms. Strawberries in that vicinity are big, luscious things. Wayne told about some of the office workers who will take a half day off and go out and pick them to get full benefit of the open air and in order to eat them right off the plants. The retail price of a crate of strawberries containing 24 boxes is $1.25. Wayne is now working with the United States department of forestry in Idaho. His job is to find and uproot currant bushes, carriers of a fungus growth. This fungus growth kills hundreds of thousands of feet of white pine each year. Wayne is subject to fire call at any time. The camps, which serve as bases for this work, are called "blister tent camps." The men sleep in squad tents on cots and wrapped in sleeping bags. The nights are cool but the Idaho sun is blistering hot. The food served the workers is very good. To verify that statement Wayne gave his breakfast menu which consisted of all the panades and syrup, bacon and eggs, toast, doughnuts, maple sticks, prunes and grapefruit one can eat. Fresh trout are served every fifth meal. There is no fresh milk available so condensed milk is used.
