

There are no hypenated American citizens in this country regardless of their origin. A naturalized citizen is just as much an American as the one who was born here. Though natives of other lands, their allegiance is to this country, not to the ones they left.

There are doubtless hired agents of foreign isms sent here to stir up trouble. There are doubtless others who haven't sense enough to see the difference between a government that enslaves its people and one that grants every possible means of freedom and security. Few are so dumb they cannot understand that totalitarianism would rob them of what they came here to gain.

A current magazine publishes a symposium of reasons why Americans of different national origins severed home ties and moved to the United States. They came to get away from bitter rivalries, shackled individualism, strangled liberties and lack of opportunities. Here they found merit, springing from the lowliest ranks, recognized and properly rewarded. People migrated to this country to take advantage of its greater independence and security, and usually they have been satisfied and grateful.

That any person capable of thinking out comparisons could wish to make over our system of government according to alien patterns, is inconceivable under the light of common sense.

Happy Contrast. The suggestion has been ventured that fewer persons are stuck up over material riches than used to be evident. In the old days a sort of aristocracy—painful to behold—was built up on possession of more property than the average. A fellow was looked up to on the ground that he was better off than the rank and file. He did not necessarily know much beyond how to make money and how to hang to what he made. His opinions were sought on involved public problems not because he knew the answers, but because he had superior financial rating. Conditions seem to have changed for the better in that respect. Due to improved means of travel and communication, people have enlarged their circles of acquaintance as well as heightened their points of view. Broadened understanding has brought less uppishness and less snobbery, products of mental narrowness. If one has happened to accumulate a little more than another, he does not usually feel superior, nor is he so regarded by those who are less fortunate in worldly goods.

In primitive settlements, individuals reputed as tops in cash or its equivalent, were leaders in civic affairs. They were consulted on how to run the schools even if they knew little more than enough to sign their names. Educators invited and accepted their opinions because they were influential. In the church they were hailed as pillars because they gave more—though usually not more proportionately—than the low-income group, for running expenses, and therefore their counsel on spiritual questions of which they had but slight if any conception, was reluctantly permitted powerful weight.

The change is a happy one. People have been so leveled up and down in their feelings, and have become so conversant with the world that they have no inclination either to brag or look up abashed. In recent years, those who have worked hard and managed carefully to keep off relief, probably win the largest measure of respect. Unavoidable hardships have thrust some persons down, and their pluck lifts them in popular esteem to a par with the highest successes. Thus, despite devilish wars abroad, domestic disturbances at home and a Titanic struggle for the survival of democracy, we have become more democratic than ever.

Old-Time Whiskers. Another improvement over old times is comparative absence of whiskers. Reproduction of early day photographs reminds one to feel relieved over progress out of the whisker habit. Whiskers conceal facial expression. One cannot tell whether a face buried in a hirsute jungle is smiling or snarling or doing neither.

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1940

LATE RAINS GIVE CROPS HEREABOUTS MUCH ROSIER HUE

NORTHEAST Nebraska is the most fortunate part of the state in crop conditions, according to all accounts. The farther north one goes, the better the prospect appears. Ernest Peterson who has been traveling a great deal lately in the interest of hybrid corn, confirms the report. He says corn in some south sections of the state seems irreparably damaged. But he believes there will generally be plenty of feed for livestock. More moisture has fallen north of here, and benefits to growing corn have been correspondingly greater. Rains have changed the outlook very materially. Fields that offered little encouragement, have revived, and late corn now appears good for a normal yield. Even early corn that threatened to be seriously cut down a few weeks ago, may score a half crop. Thrashing small grain has been going forward with some interruptions due to wet weather. The average yield of barley in the neighborhood of Wayne is about 40 bushels to the acre.

Rains Received Are of Benefit

Moisture Again Brightens Prospects for Corn in Northeast Area.

Northeast Nebraska this past week again received soaking rains, greatly increasing prospects for a good corn crop. This was the third time good rains came to parts of northeast Nebraska in the past eight days.

Wayne and near vicinity received .98 of an inch July 29, .6 of an inch July 31, .04 of an inch August 2 and .6 of an inch August 5, making a total of 2.22 inches of rain falling in the past week, according to the State National bank gauge.

Norfolk received 1.26 inches. Other rainfall figures over this section of the state include: West Point 1.5; Albion .59; Pierce .75; Plainview and Creighton .5; Niobrara .5; Laurel .75; Stanton 1; Meadow Grove 1; Tilden .25; Nechile 1; O'Neill .5; Newman Grove .75; Randolph .75; Hartington .7; Grand Island 2; and Wakefield .31. Cooler weather followed the rainy period.

Revise Figures Before Making Levy in County

Boyd and Knox Appeal to State Supreme Court In State Increase

Action of the state board of equalization in raising land valuations makes it necessary to have figures revised before county commissioners can fix the annual tax levy. Wayne county assessments cut 20 per cent from land values this year. The state board of equalization restored 12.275 per cent of this amount on improved lands and 11.1648 per cent on unimproved lands. This resulted in approximately the average state valuation cut of 8.5 per cent. Wayne county's 1939 valuation of $10,842,815 was cut this year to $16,221,225. The state board raised the figure to $18,093,584. Values will have to be refigured. This will delay the county board's action on the tax levy until August 20. Two northeast Nebraska counties, Boyd and Knox, have appealed to the state supreme court from the state board of equalization's action in raising land values over their recommendations. Boyd county board fixed its valuation at $4,580,280 this year, cutting it from last year's figure of $5,632,660. The state board raised the amount to $4,956,700. Knox county's valuation this year was set at $13,287,486. Last year the total was $16,257,000. The state board raised the amount from the cut to $14,306,164. State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith said that if the contentions of Boyd and Knox counties are sustained the state board would likely have to meet again and raise the state levy above 2.57 mills because state totals would be reduced, necessitating a higher tax.

Finishing Coat Will Be Placed

Wayne-Laurel Highway Will Be Opened to Traffic In Few Days.

The final oil coating for highway 15 between Wayne and Laurel is expected to be laid by the end of this week. Gravel sprinkling will cover the oil and the road will then be opened to travel. Cars will pack the gravel into the oil, this giving the finish. First coating for the highway was completed last week. One side of a mile about four miles north of town had to be taken up and relaid to safety tests. Instead of five sharp turns in the old road, the highway now has only one long curve. The distance is shortened by a mile, now being 16 miles from Laurel to Wayne. Grading and surfacing to connect Concord and Dixon with highways 15 and 20 are progressing steadily. These sectors are to be graded. Grading and graveling are complete from Carroll north to No. 20. Much needed regrading is contracted on other highways through Wayne county.

Music Director Is Chosen Here

K. E. Hanson of Albert City Accepts Position for Coming Year.

Wayne city and school bands will this year be under direction of K. E. Hanson of Albert City, Ia., who Wednesday accepted the position after the board of education selected him Tuesday from among four candidates, three in Iowa and one in Minnesota. Mr. Hanson's salary is to be $1,800, the city and school furnishing equal parts. Mr. Hanson, who comes highly recommended, has had nine years of public school music experience. He has directed municipal bands in Newell, Rembrandt and Sioux Rapids, Ia. The past two years he has organized and directed a Buena Vista county all-star band which has played at the county fair and he has been selected to serve in the same capacity this year. For six years Mr. Hanson has had charge of music in Albert City school. A member of the school board has directed the city band for some 20 years so has retained this position though Mr. Hanson has played in the city band there. Interviews with Albert City business men established the fact that Mr. Hanson is very highly respected as a man and for his ability as a music teacher and band director. The plan of the city and school board is to have the music program organized as a progressive unit with steady advancement through the school. The aim is a 50-piece school band. Mr. Hanson will also supervise voice instruction in the school. He will direct the city band which is open to any who wish to play. Private lessons will be given to city band members and weekly rehearsals arranged for the group. The municipal band members will probably rehearse in small groups Saturdays and the entire band one evening a week. The city and school will share equally in the director's salary, also in purchase of instruments and music. The city will levy for the band raises about $1,500. After the instrument and music have been built up, this expense will be reduced. Then the council's school board expect to save $1,000 together annually on these costs. The council and school board voted to try the joint management plan for one year and take further action after the plan is tested. Mr. Hanson will be here throughout the 12 months of the year. Mr. Hanson finished Alta, Ia., high school, took his under graduate work at Buena Vista college, Storm Lake, and had two summers of graduate study in music at Denver university. Mr. Hanson is married and has two children. Mrs. Hanson is talented in music. Wayne board of education, meeting Monday evening, selected four possible music instructors. The board interviewed some Sunday and all six members went to Iowa Tuesday for further interviews. The English and debate position combined is the only one left to fill in Wayne city school. Frank Sullivan, Edgar, who is industrial arts instructor and football coach, is here and he and Supt. N. F. Foster began this week arranging for the work shop in the city school.

PREMIUM LIST FOR COUNTY FAIR NOW READY FOR PUBLIC

THE COUNTY fair's annual premium list is ready for circulation. For a few years past the list was published in tabloid form by the local newspapers, but the management figured from experience that a book would be handier and easier to preserve, and so a book has been printed with an especially attractive cover. As the fair will be held the first week in September, the book is made available none too early to suit the convenience of exhibitors. Besides unusually numerous and excellent entries, the program of entertainment is said to be of an exceptionally high order. The fair is a Wayne county institution, and it deserves united support in popular interest and attendance.

Preparing Meals For Midshipmen Is Big Problem

Serving three meals a day to 2,300 midshipmen at Annapolis naval academy at an average cost of 76c a day per person is a problem that is worked out to mathematical precision. Leland Preston and Jean Hunter of Wayne, are cadets in the academy and the former sends information about the Annapolis food situation.

In order that 169 cooks and 200 mess boys may provide quality food, prepared in immaculate kitchens and served piping hot at an allowance of 18c for breakfast, 17c for luncheon and 41c for dinner, supplies must be bought in enormous quantities. Canned foods are purchased by the tons in August and placed in six storerooms. Fresh fruits and vegetables are bought in nearby cities three times a week on bids and placed in 12 rooms. The academy owns its own dairy which produces 640 gallons of milk a day. Butter is bought by the carload, and a 10-day supply of potatoes amounts to 35,000 pounds.

Meats too are bought in quantities for midshipmen. Each day 3,600 pounds of meat are used, each cadet being allowed one and a half pounds. Each month 36,021 dozen fresh eggs supply foods for meals and 3,495 pounds of frozen eggs are used in baking.

To figure a common egg and lettuce salad for the boys, the cooks know that to serve 1,000 requires 60 heads of lettuce, 208 dozen eggs, 49 quarts of salad oil, two pounds of salt, two and a half pounds of egg yolks, two ounces of mustard, a half ounce of cayenne pepper, seven tins of pimentos, six bundles of parsley, four and a half ounces of mustard seed, 18 ounces of Worcestershire sauce and six pints of vinegar. For the 2,300 they figure two and three-tenths this amount.

An average breakfast at the academy requires 2,221 oranges, 159 pounds of cereal with three and a half pounds of salt, 10,000 griddle cakes, 236 pounds of ham, 30 gallons of syrup, 45 pounds of coffee, 30 gallons of cream, 190 pounds of sugar, 35 pounds of cocoa with 100 gallons of milk, 83 pounds of butter, 240 gallons of milk to drink.

Huge mixing machines, large ovens and warmers enable the cooks to prepare and serve 2,000 loaves of bread, 450 pies, 4,200 cookies and other similar quantities of foods.

The Wayne youths are appreciative of the quality of food and service at the academy.

Why go through another winter without the comfort of stoker heat? Especially when a Will-Burt stoker can be had at a price that means a saving to you over your present fuel bill? But, be sure it's a Will-Burt. There IS a difference.

Teacher: "Do you know, Johnny, where shingles were first used?"
Johnny: "I'd rather not tell."

We don't know where shingles were first used, but we do know of a number of places around here where they should be used, at once. If your place is one of those needing new shingles, now is the time to do the work, and this is the place to get the best — No. 1 Red Cedars.

"What you need is an electric bath."
"Nothing do in a doc. I had an amulet drawn that way at Sing Sing."

Time to start thinking about your crib. Are you going to have crib room this fall?

Many an old house that is an eyesore at present could be turned into an eye-pleasing home with the application of a little paint. We don't mean any old paint, however. We do mean, though, Glidden Paint in colors approved for the type of house. If you haven't seen the Glidden professional color selector, you have been missing something. It will settle the color question for you, in a hurry.

We never did hear how the Mexican candidate is officially notified of election, but we presume he is given a fifteen-minute start.

Are your cows switching flies or making milk?

THE SUMMER slump in milk production is not entirely a natural phenomenon. Cows that are eternally aggravated by flies don't have much time to graze and chew their cud and make milk. Fly time is milk-slump time.

Protect your cows from fly torture with Dr. Hess Fly Spray. This product is both a fly killer and a fly repellent. It kills flies in the stable and it protects cows from flies in the pasture.

Dr. Hess Fly Spray has been tested as a fly killer and a fly repellent. Costs little to use. 1 tablespoonful of milk, per treat, at each milking pays for the spray.

WILLKIE WENDELL L. WILLKIE, republican presidential candidate, will give his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., August 17, and he is expected at that time to set forth his ideas of what troubles the United States and what may be done to restore old-time security. The more one understands his qualities of mind, the more one is drawn to him as a leader of sterling principles. He impresses one as meaning what he says, and not one who is likely to meet himself coming back.

Mr. Willkie has been in the middle west studying agriculture, and his earnestness in approaching the problem with determination to build—not destroy—inspires helpful confidence. He notes with evident wisdom that industry must recover in order to create buying power and help the recovery of agriculture. Touching the subject he said at Des Moines:

"I shall exert myself to the utmost as president to create new jobs in the cities and thereby produce more purchasing power for American farm products.

"If elected president, I will not take away any of the benefits gained by agriculture in the past few years. I do not favor changing the present farm program unless a better one is gradually evolved."

One thing of importance to the middle west is Mr. Willkie's plan to decentralize industry to promote both national defense and national prosperity. Bringing more industries into the middle west would help this area as well as safeguard Atlantic and Pacific states.

FOR A LONG TIME the republican and democratic parties were so nearly in agreement that there were no sharply defined issues over which to contest. The tariff held the spotlight for many years. Then the money question was a source of contention for a few years. But comparatively little harm could be done through mistaken judgment. But since the new deal came into power and undertook to remake our system of government, strewing the way with costly blunders, issues have become clear-cut, involving the most serious consequences. Plainly divergent philosophies of life are in conflict, democrats of the Jeffersonian type joining the republicans, and republicans of left-wing tendencies still yielding to the new deal lure. Those whose imaginations still cling to new deal fallacies, still hoping for an easy millennium with everything free, are likely to stick to the Roosevelt banner, despite evident wreckage caused by text-book theories. Democrats and independents who have followed the trail of riotous spending and ingeniously devised national follies and blasted hopes, will join republicans in swinging the government into a safe middle course.

The Dies committee has a list of aliens employed in key defense industries, and is on the alert to avoid sabotage. Nearly 200 communists have been found in the employ of shipbuilding plants. Others belonging to societies rooted in totalitarian countries are said to be engaged in work looking to American defense. The Dies committee is on the right track. Any symptoms of disloyalty should and doubtless will receive prompt attention. The fifth column is a sly, skulking menace that seems to develop in large centers where there are many employees and much activity. It cannot be tolerated. It is one thing that helped the overthrow of France.

What a newspaper shall publish for public information or not publish in behalf of the public welfare is not up to the determination of persons who peek from cover and whose selfish motives are only partially concealed.

Senator Burke's bill to change the presidential term to six years and make an incumbent ineligible for reelection grows as sound public policy with the present bold step to break down the two-term tradition.

Rains came and the air cooled rather too suddenly and unexpectedly to turn to something else besides drouth over which to feel disagreeable.

HAVING one band leader for both the city and school has been settled according to action of the council and board of education. An agreement has been entered into by which, as we understand, the school takes over the job of supplying the musical needs of both the school and city, and accepts revenues from the one-mill levy as the latter's share for the service.

During the early history of the municipal band, the one-mill raised ample funds for the purpose. As valuations declined, the levy proved insufficient. Struggling along on half enough tax receipts to meet requirements led to the proposition to combine funds. It is remembered that pending adoption of the levy some fifteen years ago, cash contributions were made by business men to organize and maintain the band.

Through the years Prof. F. C. Reed has, as leader of the band, turned out many proficient musicians. Many band leaders had their training under him, and appreciate the foundation laid by him. Past and present students are uniformly grateful. He is rated second to none in the state as a band leader, and many express regret over the prospect of changed leadership when the dual role is established.

Mayor M. L. Ringer explains that the new setup will save dragging along without adequate revenues and that anyone, whether a member of the school or not, will be privileged to take lessons. He says money derived from lowered valuations would not stretch far enough. He adds that the recent agreement insures the city the benefit of a band for all public occasions. The mayor says surprise has been expressed that such combination had not been effected before.

Walter S. Miller, veteran member of the city council, says the idea is to pool funds to carry the load. He mentions that Red Oak, Iowa, found itself in a similar boat, and by combining resources, produced satisfactory results. He says the Red Oak band was a prize winner this year.

Secretary W. H. Swett of the Chamber of Commerce, says the band committee of which he is a member, was appointed as an advisory committee to assist the school board in developing and utilizing the band in the most effective way possible. As to a band for the fair, Secretary Swett says no arrangement has thus far been made, but that one will be provided and on hand at the opening of the big show.

In view of financial conditions, Herman Lundberg, member of the city council, expresses the belief that the city and high school bands should be combined under one leader. Under the present arrangement not enough money is available for the purpose. "At one time the school and city bands were under one leader, Prof. Reed, and success was shown in prizes won in state contests," says Mr. Lundberg. "I see no reason why Wayne should have three bands. Personally, I think Prof. Reed is one of the best band leaders in the state."

J. J. Ahern, pioneer merchant, makes the following contribution to the discussion:

"Wayne city taxpayers pay a levy of one mill to support a band. This raises $1300. The band leader receives a salary of $1500. There is some other expense to be defrayed—studio rent, etc., amounting to about $300. Hence a deficit of around $500 yearly. When property valuations were higher the one mill levy brought in $1800 to $2000 and there was no deficit.

"The council, who are much concerned about cutting expenses, have proposed to the school board that they receive the $1300 now being levied, add it to the $1400 which they have been paying a musical director, and in return provide the city of Wayne with a band. Of course it cannot be expected of the school board to provide the city of Wayne with a band to compare with our present band under any such arrangement. If it were possible to find a leader capable of doing two men's work for one man's salary our city councils and school boards would have done so long ago.

"It also appears that for three years at least no money saving is to be made for the taxpayers. In addition to a considerable increase in salary for a new director, it will be necessary to spend several hundred dollars for band music. The city band has always been provided with music free by the present director who has an extensive library of his own. Considerable other money must be spent for the larger band instruments which band members as a rule do not care to buy for themselves. Such instruments now being used by the city band are the property of the band members, who purchased them out of earnings made by the band when playing outside engagements.

"New uniforms will call for another outlay.

"It will require a new leader some time to build a band capable of accepting outside paid engagements as he has a very small number of experienced musicians to start with.

"It appears to me that we are going to lose—for several years anyway—the advertising value of a first class city band, and we are not going to save any tax money. The city council, the Chamber of Commerce, the school board and the new band director are going to be subjected to constant criticism for their failure to provide a good city band, and a considerable group of young people are going to lose the benefit of the advanced music training which they have been receiving under the present system.

"If the city council finds it impossible to provide the $500 needed to supplement the present levy in order to keep up an outstanding band, it seems to me that the Chamber of Commerce could well afford to provide this amount out of the $6000 which the business and professional men of Wayne are now contributing toward a fund to advertise and promote the business interests of Wayne.

"Wayne has had the benefit of this advertising for years and the tax money has not begun to pay for what it has cost nor what it is worth.

"Parents of several hundred members of the city band have, in the past fourteen years, spent thousands of dollars in transporting this band to out of town engagements which have given the city valuable advertising. They have also spent thousands of dollars for instruments. Members of the band have spent their own earnings for the larger instruments which individual members could not afford to buy. They have had so much pride in the band that they have spent part of their earnings for extra musicians when they wished to make a superlative appearance at some outside engagement or when it was necessary to replace some absent player.

"The director has accepted a considerable cut in salary for several years. He has provided the band music without expense to the city, and his reputation as a director together with the quality of his band have made it possible for him to secure outside

LOOKING THIS WAY.

Japan which is allied with totalitarian governments, all aiming to destroy democracy, is trying to get mad at the United States. One officer high up in military circles, says this country could sweep the Japanese navy off the seas in three weeks. Spain which once had large holdings in the western hemisphere, has, under chesty General Franco, decided to avenge results of the Spanish-American war by recapturing lost possessions, and for good measure including a considerable slice of the southern part of this continent. The dictatorships would seem to be getting together to divide up the world among them, snuffing out human freedom and casting civilization into utter darkness. But one who understands America's exhaustless resources and knows the comparative skill and initiative of this country's men and industries will not fear successful invasion by any combination of powers. But we must be ready for attack to avoid it, and that is just what we are doing.

band engagements of unusual and outstanding advertising value.

"The band has been the nucleus around which many of the city's advertising and promotional affairs have been built. They have been a valuable attraction at the fair.

"And outside of its advertising value the band has provided valuable musical training which has enabled many Wayne young people to secure employment.

"To sacrifice many of these advantages for the city and its young people without any cash saving for at least three years seems too much of a loss.

"The extra $500 needed at the present time is available and no doubt the Chamber of Commerce would be glad to provide it out of the $6,000 now being contributed for advertising, promoting the welfare of the city.

"It is a matter of great satisfaction to know that in 14 years of playing outside engagements no criticism of the personal conduct of any band member has ever been made. They have always been closely supervised from both a social and health standpoint when on their tours. They have been a source of pride and satisfaction to everyone who has ever accompanied them and thousands of Wayne citizens have done so.

"The band has attained and held a position of musical attainment and glamour which has attracted new members and the personal and financial support of parents.

"It is no small matter to secure this membership and support and keep up the personnel necessary to an outstanding band.

"I still think a band such as we have had is worth all it costs as an advertising and promotional implement for the city and I am more than willing to pay my tax share to keep an outstanding town band."

TO HIS MOTHER.

A letter written by an English pilot in a bomber squadron, directed to his mother and to be delivered to her in the event of his death, was recently published in London and America. In urging his mother to keep up her courage, and expressing high satisfaction over his sacrifice for Christianity and civilization, he concluded by saying: "You must not grieve for me, for if you believe in religion and all that it entails that would be hypocrisy. I have no fear of death; only a queer elation. I would have it no other way. The universe is so vast and so ageless that the life of one man can only be justified by the measure of his sacrifice. We are sent to this world to acquire a personality and a character to take with us that can never be taken from us. I count myself fortunate in that I have seen the whole country and known men of every calling. But with the final test of war I consider my character fully developed. Thus at an early age my earthly mission is already fulfilled and I am prepared to die with just one regret, and only one—that I could not devote myself to making your declining years more happy by being with you; but you will live in peace and freedom and I shall have directly contributed to that, so here again my life will not have been in vain."

strength of presidential candidates, showed Willkie slightly in the lead. The solid south is still solid, though swinging somewhat away from the Roosevelt column. It is surprising that with many new problems and objectives to engage attention, southern states cannot forget the Civil war which evidently still influences many of the rank and file. There are plenty of live issues to consider without going back 75 years to dig up events involved in the conflict between the north and south. Some southern states showed such narrow margins for Roosevelt that they may easily swing against him before the campaign ends. Likewise in the north where the states were mostly for the republican candidate, the advantage is too small to feel overly confident. When the campaign gets under a full head of steam, results may quickly change one way or the other.

Washington, D. C. July 29, 1940

Many deaths have occurred in this town from the terrific heat; also, many prostrations. Thousands of people sleep in the parks. Believe it or not, 110 degree temperature in Nebraska is not as hot as 95 in Washington. It's a different kind of heat. Even people from the Philippine islands say that it is hotter in Washington than in the islands.

Hot winds and corn damage in Nebraska bring great sadness to the Nebraska delegation in Washington. These Nebraska representatives gather around the weather map in the house lobby and cuss and discuss the weather.

Thousands of government employees are excused afternoons during the heat here. Even the weather men takes the afternoon off. Offices are so hot as to be beyond human endurance.

The compulsory selective military training legislation; some additional T.V.A. measures; suffrage for the District of Columbia; some new tax legislation and national defense may keep congress here until late in September, according to the latest guess. Some sort of compulsory military training bill is predicted to pass congress within a week or so.

Congressman Carl Curtis of Nebraska is one of a special congressional committee selected to investigate the interstate migration of destitute citizens. The committee is now studying migrants in New York and New Jersey. Ahead of this committee is a scouting force of 40 investigators, many of them borrowed from federal agencies concerned with the migratory worker problem.

Every day, new faces from foreign lands appear in the diplomatic sections of Washington. People with all kinds of titles are making the front pages of Washington newspapers where they tell stories of why they were forced to leave the old country and how happy they are that they were allowed to come to the United States where they feel they will be safe from persecution. Many of these people with titles are being taken in by some of the rich families here in the east. Some of them are looking for jobs.

It is not uncommon in Washington to see flags at half-mast in front of some of the foreign embassies and legations. This usually indicates that that particular country has been invaded. Contributions from native patriots are keeping diplomats of at least nine countries functioning in our nation's capital. Although their home countries have collapsed, the Polish, Belgian and French embassies and the legations of Czechoslovakia, Norway, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Latvia and Lithuania are functioning as usual. How long they can continue depends on the future. Our state department, however, is not recognizing territorial conquests. Some of our representatives in these foreign countries are being summoned home, and this is taken to indicate that they will not again return to their foreign posts. Only two legations—the Austrian and the Albanian—have folded up in the last two years. The Czechoslovakian legation is depending on contributions from loyal Czechoslovaks throughout the world. The minister, Mr. Hurban, and his wife, have been visiting in California. This minister says that he has very little to do and the legation building is too big for him, but he is in no position to sell it. Only the future will disclose what will become of these fine buildings and these foreign diplomats who feel that they are people without a country.

Peace-time conscription on which congress will vote shortly, is already stirring up and will bring to the floors of the senate and the house the hottest debates that have gripped congress in years. The opponents of this measure feel that conscription may be unnecessary and that the regular army could be increased within five months by voluntary enlistments. Army spokesmen, however, disagree. They claim that they cannot get enough voluntary enlistments to bring the army up to the required strength for national defense and to get enough men to man the modern fighting machines which are now being constructed. The real purpose of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill is not so much to create a large standing army, as it is to provide an adequate reserve of trained men, if need for a large army should arise. The opponents of the measure claim that the army and navy have not made strong enough efforts to secure voluntary enlistments and they believe that these efforts should be exhausted before attempting selective conscription. Believe it or not, jobs are hunting workers in government service at this time. Workers hunting jobs are more numerous, but the civil service commission is trying to bring the two together. Among the thousands of applicants for work, the difficulty is to find those fitted for particular jobs. There is no trouble getting applications. They are here by the hundreds of thousands. The need, however, is for workers with special qualifications. The commission has put on special and temporary employees to aid in classifying applications. Notices of examinations are issued twice a week by the commission and they cover examinations for almost all classes of skilled workers. The greatest demand is for mechanics and engineers. Professional employees with particular qualifications are obtainable from the regular eligible lists. But the expansion of the national defense program may require many and frequent examinations in the near future. It is estimated that about 70,000 workers will be engaged in the next few months by the war and navy departments.

Take Trip to Iowa.

Howard M. James, daughter, Mari Belle, and son, Phillip, drove over into Iowa Sunday to visit with the A. L. Thomas family of Neola. The Thomases adopted the James baby, June Adair, and it had been five weeks since they had seen her. June is doing nicely in her new home. She has been under the care of a baby specialist in Council-Bluffs and has gained weight and is improving. June was 2 years old the next day after her mother passed away. Mari Belle is spending this week at the Thomases home and this Sunday Thomases will bring her and June to Wayne or Mr. James and Phillip will drive down to get her. Returning to Wayne-Sunday Mr. James and Phillip were caught in the storm and their car slid in the ditch two times but Mr. James was able to get out without help. The corn in Iowa looks better than it does in this state but farmers there have been delayed with threshing due to rains and grain ripening late.

Members returning from their districts in the New England states, report that unemployment in some of their towns has suddenly disappeared. Paper mills which were idle are now working overtime and shoe factories which reported 30 to 40 thousand unemployed shoemakers are said to be working full force with blanket orders for shoes for our army.

During June, the navy department put on more than 5,000 new employees. The navy yards are getting most of them. The war department will be hiring about 30,000 in all, independent of the increase in the regular army, which recruited 20,000 in June. The field work in the next two months and clerical forces in Washington will expand accordingly.

There are now 129,000 government workers in Washington, nearly all under the classified civil service. Housing the new employees is a gigantic problem. The census bureau has been putting on 7,000 temporary workers for the 1940 census and this has increased the demand for rooms and apartments. The force at the Washington navy yard has about doubled in a few months.

Applicants for new government work file their applications with the civil service commission, which gives the information as to the classes of workers desired. Selections are made from the civil service registers of eligibles resulting from the examinations. As yet, the departments have been able to obtain sufficient skilled workers from the commission's lists, but the haste with which these examinations are being held indicates fears of a shortage as the forces are increasing. It is not so easy for people without some kind of training or skill to get jobs. The state and federal employment agencies also take the registrations of unemployed mechanics and other skilled workers and artisans. Insofar as possible, these people will be brought into contact with prospective employment in the national defense program in non-governmental jobs.

This expansion of government service is coming right after the president expected a decline of such employment under the reorganization program. This is due entirely to the defense program.

The national defense council reports that within the past six weeks, it has entered into contracts amounting to over a billion and a half dollars, with more contracts for still larger amounts being processed. Not since the World war has the government moved so fast in a national program. The contracts, in the main, will go to the big industries here in the east, but smaller orders will go to many cities throughout the country with the result that representatives of various industries and chambers of commerce, including some from Nebraska, are now in town.

The building of new war industries which will be distributed throughout the middle west and far west has not yet started. One powder plant is being built in Indiana, costing 25 million dollars, but more than ten times that much will be used for such new establishments. Such industries may be as disappointing in nature as those similarly launched during the World war and while their location and construction are a present problem, the cities which get them may have to look ahead to even greater problems when the world gets back to a sane, peacetime basis, which will eventually come, unless it is destroyed by war, makers in the meantime.

Last year over 500,000 people took civil service examinations hoping to get jobs with the government. Less than half of that number passed the examinations and obtained places on the hundreds of eligible lists. The executive order which blanketed many thousands of emergency workers into civil service through non-competitive examinations, kept many of the competitive eligibles from appointments, even though they may have had high relative standings on the eligible lists. The census bureau, which by law can appoint only workers with a civil service status, has exhausted some of the commission's lists in making up its new force. The government has nearly one million civil service employees now. Retirement, resignations, etc., cause a rather large turn-over in the service. About 35,000 leave it each year.

The national defense council is worried over what the national defense program will do to the farmers. It is agreed that the program will hit the farmers the hardest, and they have been hit pretty hard at various times since the World war. It would not be hard to lessen the blow to agriculture if the farming structure were to be placed on the same plane with industry in war time and in peace time as well. The food supply of our nation is so important at any time, as is the supply of war materials, without which industry cannot operate. A country rich enough to provide a defense program of billions of dollars is rich enough not to permit that program to work to the detriment of our farmers.

Recent visitors to the Third congressional office include: Mrs. Margaret Ingoldsky of Omaha, Donald Thompson of Belden, who is now working here in Washington, Mac Baldrige of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Durman who live now at Pekin, Ill., and who formerly lived in Norfolk; Rolf E. Tuomo of Albion, Walter Kichell of Tucumseh; C. W. Motter, the secretary of the chamber of commerce at Fremont; and Marr McGaffin of Omaha.

Rival Teams Headline Semi-final Loop Series

Wayne and Winside to Meet Here Sunday in First of Three-Game Series to Decide Entry in Championship Finals.

LAUREL AND RANDOLPH MEET IN OTHER SERIES

It's Wayne vs. Winside in the Big Six semi-final playoff series! The first game of the three-game series arranged by loop directors, will be held here in Wayne next Sunday at 2:30. And what a game it should be! Each club has once defeated the other, so Sunday's affair should be an attraction no baseball fan will want to miss.

Directors Arrange Series.
Directors of the Big Six baseball league and managers of the several teams met in Wayne Monday evening to make arrangements for the final series of games to determine the championship team of the loop.

Those present at the meeting agreed to match the two top ranking teams, Wayne and Winside, in a "best two out of three game" series. The first game of the series will be held in Wayne, August 11, the second game at Winside, August 18, and the third, if necessary, on a neutral diamond at some later date. The next two ranking teams, Laurel and Randolph, will also meet in a similar series.

The winners of these two series will then clash in a final series to determine the real champion.

Regular Season Closes.

The first season of regularly scheduled games in the Big Six baseball league came to a close last Sunday afternoon as Wayne lost to Winside 9 to 3, and Laurel won from Randolph 5 to 2. The other two teams, Osmond and Hoskins, have previously completed their schedule, so were idle.

Final standings show a three-way tie for first place, with Wayne, Winside and Laurel all holding a .600 rating. Osmond, the team that caused more upsets than any other, apparently hit its winning stride a few weeks too late and finished in fifth position.

From all reports, the loop was a success in every way. Rivalry was keen, but always of a friendly vein, and interest grew greatly as the season progressed and favorite teams turned in winning games.

Advance moves are already underway to start the ball rolling this fall toward getting the league started earlier next year, thus preventing the final series from extending to such a late date.

Final Standing of Teams.

	W	L	Pct.
Wayne	6	4	.600
Winside	6	4	.600
Laurel	6	4	.600
Randolph	5	5	.500
Osmond	4	6	.400

Winside Romps Over Wayne '9'

Game Is Reversal of Previous Sunday; Errors Costly In 9 to 3 Defeat.

A determined Winside nine Sunday tapped Dale Alderson for eight hits and defeated the visiting Wayne team by a 9 to 3 margin again to put these two teams into a tie for Big Six league leadership. The Winside lads displayed a better brand of baseball than they did a week ago when they suffered an 8 to 1 defeat at the hands of the same Wayne team.

Alderson seemed far less effective than he did a week ago, striking out but five men and allowing nine hits. Gardiner of Winside, allowed six hits and whiffed 11. Outstanding at bat for Winside were Meisenbach and Lutt with two hits each. Cross of Wayne connected for two safe blows.

Wayne started things off by scoring one run on two hits in the first half of the initial frame. They pounded out two more hits in the second but failed to score. Another tally came in the 3rd on an error and a hit, and the last run was scored in the 8th on an error and a hit.

The home boys put the game on ice in the last half of the 1st, scoring four runs without a single hit, the counters coming as the result of a base on balls, three errors and a fielder's choice. They scored two more in the 5th on three errors and a double, two more in the 6th on three hits, and one in the 7th on two hits.

Wayne Players Do Share in Providing Thrills for Monday Game.

Sioux City and Wayne Kiwanis kitenball teams met at Wayne college Monday evening, for a challenge match, the visitors winning 8 to 2 in an interesting contest.

Looking to Competency.

The Nebraska City News-Press is ruffled because potatoes from Virginia, at $1.75 a bushel, are being shipped by the government to Nebraska at a time when many producers in this state are refusing to dig their spuds for the 60 cents offered them on the market. It makes the N-P wonder if the new deal is competent to concoct, feed and house the big army we're talking about.

Tugwell for Secretary.

(Omaha Journal-Stockmah.) Announcement that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace planned to resign his position in the cabinet of President Roosevelt in order that he might devote all his attention to campaigning for the vice-presidency has started the newspaper correspondents to look around for a successor to Wallace in the department of agriculture. Among the names brought up was that of Dr. Rexford Tugwell. The suggestion was not received with much enthusiasm and the Nation's Business gives the reason:

"Four million dollars of federal money and an unestimated number of millions of words were spent in creating a model community at Hightstown, N. J. In that golden age in which Doctor Twagwell and his associates were engaged in rebuilding America. Now it has gone under the hammer. Salvage practically nil. Almost no attention paid to its finish. Not even Dr. Twagwell sent flowers."

It is just possible that there has been a return to reason in the department of agriculture and that the farmers of the nation would not welcome Dr. Tugwell as their leader. But as it may, the country is in no mood to go back to the wild experiments in socialized farming that were high lighted in Washington a few years ago. What is needed just at present is an educated and hard headed

Life of J. A. Piper Featured in Daily

Homesteading, politics and business activity have made a colorful life for Joel A. Piper, 89, of Lincoln, father of Miss Elsie Ford Piper who was formerly on Wayne college faculty. The Lincoln Sunday daily featured the life of Mr. Piper who in 1872 filed on a homestead in Harlan county. Mr. Piper took an active part early in politics. Harlan county had a similar experience to Wayne county's in the moving of the county seat and Mr. Piper was one of the stalwart young men who helped one night in transferring the records from Melrose to Alma. Mr. Piper was selected sheriff and afterward county superintendent. In 1894 he was chosen secretary of state. Mr.

Piper served as secretary of the state board of charities and corrections through the terms of five governors. Though not now in business Mr. Piper maintains an active interest in public affairs.

Mrs. August Piepenstock, early resident of Wayne, passed away at her home in Ocean Park, Cal., Monday, July 15, on her 82nd birthday. Interment was in Woodlawn cemetery in Santa Monica.

Mrs. Piepenstock, whose maiden name was Paula Voget, was born in Harde, Westfalen, Germany. She and her husband, with one small daughter, Pauline, came to Wayne in the spring of 1885. They operated the first bakery in Wayne, later selling that and managing a general merchandise store in the north part of what is now the Ahern building. Mr. Piepenstock passed away in Wayne in 1902. Chinese United By War As Never In Past History

"The war in which the Chinese people are now engaged has proved to be a very good thing, for now for the first time China is united and the differences between the races of people have been erased," Miss Helen Lee, Chinese girl, who is now studying in the Baptist Missionary Training school in Chicago, expressed this opinion on the governmental affairs of her home country. Miss Lee, who spoke at the Wayne Baptist church Sunday, went on to say that "during the first year of the war Japan made a rapid advance along the Chinese coast, but during the last few years she has made few territorial gains. The common people are inclined to be bitter against the Japanese because of the war situation, but the Chinese government is doing everything possible to erase this feeling."

"China," said Miss Lee, "is now going through a transition period, many people giving up the old Chinese traditions and aptitudes, accepting in their place modern progressive ways. In rural communities the population is still dominantly conservative, with generation after generation of families living together in one house, under the authority of the eldest parent, but in the larger cities the people are rapidly changing to modern ways of abode."

The government in China has built a number of modern Chinese schools, but there is a scarcity of efficient teachers to instruct the masses of children clamoring for enlightenment. "No compulsory school attendance laws are necessary, the children being so anxious to attend that there is a long waiting list for every government school. The same subjects are taught in China as in the United States; however, there is a bigger demand for the English language," the Chinese missionary reports.

Miss Lee's brother, who is minister in a Chinese church in Chicago, was last year married to a Chinese nurse who helped care for Fred Snite, jr., infantile paralysis victim who has spent the last several years of his life in an iron lung. The couple went to China for a visit and were married there. Fred Snite, jr., is now able to be out of the iron lung a few hours each day.

Miss Lee was in Shanghai for a month during the war. She served in the wounded soldiers' hospital and refugee camp. Several air raids occurred while she was there, but because she was in the foreign settlement, which is located in the center of the city, she escaped personal injury.

In comparing the United States with China in regard to wealth of the people Miss Lee is inclined to think her country very poor. She says, "China has very few rich people, everyone being on much the same level economically, and that level does not include very much actual income."

Miss Lee has been a student in the United States for three years. She plans to go to the Baptist Missionary Training school in Chicago, for one more year, and then she will return to China and engage in missionary work. Miss Lee is the sixth Chinese girl to attend the Baptist school in Chicago, and is the only one enrolled at present.

Fatally Injured By Train in City

Mrs. Martha Wichert Dies in Norfolk Friday Night After Accident.

Mrs. Martha Wichert, 60, sister of Herman Podoll, Winside, died Friday evening as a result of injuries sustained when she was accidentally struck by the tender on a Northwestern railway switch engine in Norfolk early Friday. Funeral services were held Sunday at Grace Lutheran church, Norfolk, with Rev. M. Braunsreuther pastor.

Mrs. Wichert, who was hard of hearing, was walking on a foot path that goes over the railway tracks when the accident occurred. Her left leg was badly mutilated and her right foot crushed. Although Lars J. Larsen sounded the whistle in an attempt to warn Mrs. Wichert she apparently didn't hear it and walked in the path of the engine tender. An ambulance was called and Mrs. Wichert was taken to a hospital where a part of her right foot was amputated.

Mrs. Wichert is survived by a son, Gilbert, of Norfolk; brothers, Herman Podoll, Winside, and William Podoll, Bushnell; sisters, Mrs. Thomas Evans, Norfolk, Mrs. Chris Anderson, Pierce, Mrs. Charles Hoffman, York, and Mrs. Herman Neitzke, Hoskins.

Hospital patients sometimes fail to realize that an Intern is actually a Doctor, who has passed his Medical School tests and been through from 6 to 8 years of preparation. From 2 to 4 years is the average Internship.

INTERNSHIP
TWO TO FOUR YEARS

During Internship the Doctor visits patients between calls of attending Physician, acts in emergencies, keeps patients comfortable and assists in operations or whenever a second Physician is needed, but does nothing on his own initiative.

This very valuable training under older and more experienced Doctors is highly concentrated practice. Each two years of Internship is about equivalent in experience to five years of private practice.

But It's True

A class in marine life is conducted at the University of Miami, and all pursuance of the work is conducted under the sea. The students don helmets, go down with their instructor, scare the fish, stay about half an hour.

Masterson, according to his own story, had never gambled in his life before March, 1927. He started early in the month, wagered small amounts, finally plunged on March 16, last, and has never bet on anything since. The diamond he found was said to be one of the most beautifully formed in the world.

Unique Program Is Featured at Nebraska Picnic

A ruddy-faced, Santa Claus-like man, who comes from practically all cities in Nebraska and who now plays in Hollywood movies, entertained Nebraskans at their annual summer picnic July 27 in Bixby park, Long Beach, Cal.

On a battered old fiddle which he took from an equally battered case this unique Michael Cruise strummed such tunes as "Stonewall Jackson," "Brilliance" and "The Butterfly" for the home state group.

This picturesque character, with twinkling blue eyes and long, gray curly hair and beard, was pleased to tell that he is "just the same age as Chicago." He added that he was "born in 1871, the same year that Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern and set Chicago afire."

Cruise explained that his home is in Tucson, Ariz., but he spends much time in Hollywood. Among the films in which he has had parts are "Arizona," "The West-erner" and "Freedom Ring."

George Hunter, also of the motion pictures, enlightened the picnic program with numbers on an eight-string banjo. Larry Ames, 12, of Auburn, frequently in the movies, and Dr. H. R. Wildman of Fullerton, sang.

Traditions of Nebraska and California were told the picnic group by Harlan V. Boyer of Long Beach, formerly of York, Neb. Mr. Boyer also urged assistance in efforts to crush out subversive movements in this country. Mrs. Boyer is the former Dorothy Ellis of Wayne. Mr. Boyer is an attorney and is candidate for congress.

Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Pauline Maltzer, Sophia Gregerson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell and Bert Brown were among those at the picnic. Only about a dozen regis- tered. A conflicting Nebraska pic- nic in Sycamore grove in Los An- geles attracted attendance. Mrs. Bell, the former Elsie Porter, and Miss Gregerson were students of the Nebraska Normal college in Wayne.

Miss Laura E. Lyons, who writes from Long Beach, tells that she had picnic dinner with the Paul Rethwisch family and Mrs. Mar- jorie Gramberg, the last of Car- roll, July 14 at Anaheim.

Miss Ethel Williams of Holly- wood, cousin of Miss Lyons, and Henry H. Clark of Los Angeles, were married June 29 in Long Beach and went to Catalina island for a trip before residing at El Monte.

The Magnus Jensens, who came from Winside to California 19 years ago on their honeymoon, are building a new home in North Long Beach. Mrs. Jensen is the former Florence Parker. Mr. Jen- sen is a fireman.

As many Wayne county people have visited Point Fermin, Miss Lyons writes that they would be interested in knowing that approx- imately two acres of the six-acre slide area is going toward the sea. The crack separating it from the rest of the slide area widened 15 feet and dropped six feet in the past month. Mrs. Grace Mueller and son, who have continued to live in the area since the slide started in 1929 have sold their property which is being moved. This is the last of 14 houses, gar- age and service station which originally occupied the site. The area moved decidedly in 1929 and then only slightly since until this summer. Surveys show that the slip involves a depth of more than 3,700 feet. The floor of the ocean shelves gradually from the point to a depth of 200 feet three miles off shore, then drops off suddenly to 1,500 feet. A mile farther out it rises again to within 400 or 500

Most Teachers Elected.
Only one school in Wayne county now remains without a teacher, according to reports made to Supt. F. B. Decker.

Did You Know?

Nebraska's department of roads and irrigation is in charge of the state engineer appointed by the governor. The engineer supervises construction and maintenance of highways, bridges and other improvements for which money is appropriated by the state, also of all irrigation and drainage activities. Licensing of motor vehicles now devolves upon this department. The legislature of 1937 set up the highway safety patrol in the department.

The bureau of irrigation, water power and drainage, now replaced by the department of roads and irrigation, was created in 1895. Its duties were to determine rights to and issue permits for use of public waters, to enforce laws regarding water rights, highways and drainage, to appoint water commissioners, to approve plans for dams and power plants and to approve plans for drainage ditches. These powers are now discharged by the new bureau.

The division of highway safety patrol, instituted in 1937, has as its powers and duties the following: To regulate operation of motor vehicles on highways, to make arrests for violations in operation of vehicles, to direct traffic in conformity with law, to see that car drivers have registration cards and permits, to investigate traffic accidents, to cooperate with officers in enforcing laws.

Cedar county closed the first half of the year with a balance of $229,667.

Like Father, Like Son.

Officials in juvenile court work take pride in successful efforts just as skilled workmen take pride in the results of their labors.

During the medieval and early modern period the conception of natural causes of crime was not understood. Even in contagious disease natural causes were only slightly recognized, and crime was generally regarded as due to innate depravity or the insubordination of Satan.

More recently those who have made an exhaustive study of criminology are thoroughly convinced that there are few born criminals.

Ray, 16 years old, seemed to be one of those few born criminals. His father had deserted his mother and a large family of children when Ray was about 5 years old. The mother struggled desperately to rear her brood properly, while the father, although earning a good wage, failed to support them, and apparently took a delight in their sufferings. When given the opportunity of either contributing to their support or going to the penitentiary, he chose the latter.

Minor offenses had brought Ray before the juvenile court two or three times, and on those occasions all of our efforts on his behalf had been in vain. While his father was languishing in the county jail awaiting transfer to the penitentiary, Ray was arrested for an attempted crime of a serious nature. Realizing our inability to make a good citizen of him, we committed him to the state industrial school, and so for two weeks he and his father occupied the same cell in the jail.

The father was transferred to the penitentiary one day, and Ray went to the industrial school the next. Afterward when the sheriff made an inspection of the jail quarters, he found all the mattresses were badly cut up, beyond repair, and other damage was done to jail equipment. A prisoner said that the father had destroyed part of the mattresses, and the son, the rest.

When the father had served his time in the penitentiary, he returned to Madison county. Ray, shortly after his release from industrial school, was convicted of a felony in another state. Upon being confined to prison, he stabbed and killed a fellow prisoner, for which crime he was sentenced to life imprisonment in a penal institution where only the most dangerous type of criminals is incarcerated.

Chronic crime and incurable disease are not unlike, and both should be subjected to permanent care.

Indian Legends About Creation Show Similarity

Indian stories of the creation have furnished such a vast field for the dreamer that many tales have arisen concerning the beginning of the earth. Each tribe developed its own explanation. These differ greatly in detail, yet in part bear a remarkable resemblance to the theories advanced by the fore-runners of modern civilization.

The Pawnee Indians tell a tale which has been handed down for generations by that tribe. They believe that after Tirawa created the sun, the moon and stars, the heavens, the earth and all things upon the earth, he created a man and woman. He then instructed this man and woman in the art of building a lodge and fireplace. After they completed the fireplace he told them to make the ground even inside the lodge, leaving only one small mound in the west for an altar. On this altar they were told to place the skull of a buffalo, in which Tirawa would live. This final message to them was that they and their children should always remember that the Tirawa, gave them life, but they would eventually return to their mother, the earth.

The Wichita Pawnee have preserved another tale explaining the creation. Man-Never-Known-on-Earth and he it was that created all things. After the man, Having-Power-to-Carry-Light, and woman, Bright-Shining Woman, were made they dreamed that things were made for them, and when they woke they had the things of which they dreamed. Thus they received everything they needed. As time went on Man-Never-Known-on-Earth fulfilled his promise to Having-Power-to-Carry-Light that there should be more people and villages on the earth.

After these things happened the man and the woman went from one village to the other showing the people how to use the things they had. Having-Power-to-Carry-Light traveled like a spirit, teaching the men how to travel from one place to another, how to hunt the animals that existed for their use, and how to make the things they needed. Bright-Shining-Woman taught the women how to raise and harvest corn and how to offer up their sacrifices. Late one evening after the sun went down the people saw the woman in the sky and she had become the moon. Early the next morning after the darkness passed away the people saw a star in the heavens and it was the man, who then became known as the First Star—Seen-After-Darkness—Passes-By.

The tale of the Caddo Pawnee is that in the beginning Darkness ruled. Soon a man and then a whole village of people came into being. This first man called all the people together and gave them all kinds of seeds which they were to eat. He told them that the Great-Father-Above would give them a man by the name of Sun who would overcome darkness. He also announced that the Great-Father-Above had given him marvelous power, because it was necessary for some one on earth to carry out his will, and told the people to call him Moon. Moon came to be chief and led the people westward, telling them they must not look back the way they came, lest they should be stopped and have to remain in darkness. Finally Moon picked up some dirt and threw it in front of him, causing mountains to rise up. Here the Caddos—the few he had left for many had looked back and stopped thus causing darkness—lived for a time.

After a time the people became dissatisfied and wanted light. They talked to Moon about it and he told them if they killed a black and white deer they would have part light and part darkness.

When the Sun first came out of the east and went down in the west it went too fast to do them any good at all. Coyote, Moon's helper, announced that he was going to stop the Sun from going so fast. He started eastward early in the morning and waited for the Sun to come up. When the Sun came up he found Coyote waiting for him. Coyote told the Sun he wanted to talk to him. The Sun said that he could not stop and talk, but Coyote told him that he would go along with him. So the Coyote kept talking about the things that had lately happened and walking very slowly. When the Sun was nearing the west Coyote asked him to wait a moment and scampered over. After a while the Sun grew tired of waiting and went on very slowly, lingering for the Coyote to come, but Coyote did not appear. And this is the reason the Sun still lingers and goes down very slowly.

Moon showed the people how to make bows and arrows, how to hunt and how to fight, but at last he became wicked and sinned and was banished to the sky, where he still lives.

Covington, Columbus & Black Hills railroad was to be sold. An officer of the St. Paul company, according to the Northern Nebraska Journal published at Ponca 60 years ago by Wm. Huse, said his organization would buy if the price were reasonable. The St. Paul company had a claim of $62,500 against the line. Some of the grade of the narrow gauge was too steep for a load of standard width, the ascent being 85 feet to the mile. The company would have to rebuild the line to make it standard.

Outlook for Crops Is Promising Here

Corn prospects in this vicinity have brightened the past two weeks, and some very good yields are expected this fall. Recent rains have been of great benefit to this crop as well as to pastures, hay fields and gardens.

One of the especially good corn stands this season is on the land of the late John Jones. Practically every hill has three stalks of tall hybrid corn, some measuring 10 to 12 feet tall. Ears are plentiful also.

Threshing is progressing between rains and yields are satisfactory. An exceptional yield of oats is one on the Bernard Dalton place, where eight acres made 11 loads of about 550 bushels, an average of nearly 70 to the acre. Barley is making 35 to 50 bushels.

Carroll Vicinity Shares in Rains

Carroll vicinity shared Sunday night and Monday morning in more beneficial rains which were general in this part of the state. The amount registered in town was about 1.5 Sunday night and about 1.1 Monday morning. At the Ed.
