

Blizzards Lack the Teeth Possessed by the Early-day Variety — Wayne as a Town and College Center — Editorials Discussed — Dwight Griswold's Surprising Vote.

The blizzard during Monday of last week would have brought more discomfort and more serious consequences if the country were not protected by trees and buildings. It would have been more severe if it had been accompanied by more snow. In the history of Dixon County, blizzards are recalled as early as 1869 when a man by the name of Austin who lived near the Logan, perished in a storm which overtook him while he was going after a load of wood. Another terrific blizzard which swept northeast Nebraska in 1872, proved fatal to Joseph Balsom who had gone from his home near Concord to get some wood. G. W. Packer, who accompanied him, survived.

Early-day blizzards usually lasted three days, and if the fuel supply were low, the experience was serious. Going any distance with no fences to keep one in the road, and with snow filling the air and driven by a fiercely cold wind, was perilous.

A major blizzard of short duration was the one that came January 12, 1882. It lasted only one day, but while it lasted, it caused much suffering and many deaths. The storm was unexpectedly precipitated while schools were in session. Teachers and children had a hard experience and some perished.

In contrast with old times, inhabitants have better homes and vastly improved quarters for their live stock. Fences, trees and numerous buildings break the sweep of a storm. So, last week's blizzard, though ugly enough to interrupt travel and communication, jolting people out of accustomed routine, lacked old-time ferocity.

Visitor's Commendation. J. S. Woodson, associate editor of the Sioux City Journal, who inspected the Wayne State Teachers college plant and observed student earnestness while here to speak last week, expressed high appreciation of achievements apparent in this institution. Searching recollection of colleges he had visited through the years, he could remember none that equaled Wayne college in its group of modern buildings and wonderfully well furnished and attractively kept campus. He never saw a finer type of students. His impression but confirms the opinions of other travelers who have expressed delight over the Wayne college.

Mr. Woodson also indicated that the college reflects the excellent character of the town and surrounding country. He said he was glad to endorse the many good things he had heard about Wayne.

It was not a suddenly hatched idea for Wayne to become a college town. Back in the eighties, soon after the town was founded, a Lutheran academy was established here. This was supplanted in a few years by Prof. J. M. Pile's privately owned and privately conducted normal college. Then in 1910 the state took over the school which the legislature decided to buy. Prof. Pile was a dynamic force behind educational values, and he spread them throughout northeast Nebraska. Under state ownership and management the institution has developed rapidly and substantially. Its influence has been felt throughout this area, lending much to high-minded citizenship. The college and the surrounding territory have been sympathetic and mutually helpful.

At Press Meeting. One section of the Nebraska-Iowa press meeting in Omaha last week discussed editorial features of country weeklies. It is the general opinion that editorial expressions are desirable even though they are not always illuminating. There are some notable exceptions in rural newspapers. But the Herald has discovered that as a rule readers prefer editorial expressions even if they do not always agree with them. People like to know what the editor thinks even if he hasn't much to think with.

Scored High in Election. Dwight Griswold's total vote of 355,000 for governor in the late election was the largest received by any candidate in the history of the state excepting that given Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 when his total was 359,082. Griswold's previous campaigns without success evidently did not hurt him. Rather, they extended acquaintance and permitted due appraisal of good qualities.

Needed Repairs Being Installed At School Plant

Softener and Emergency Heating Service Will Be Replaced Here. A new water softener and stand-by equipment for the heating system, necessary replacements at Wayne college plant, are being installed. Repairing of the smokestack at the school power plant has been completed. These improvements were financed by special funds appropriated by the last legislature.

The old water softener, used for conditioning water for the cafeteria and dormitory showers, has worn out. Softening of the water for these purposes is necessary to alleviate lime deposits that might clog equipment. The old softener was traded in on the new one which was bought at a cost of $1,605. The new softener is larger and is thus expected to give better service.

In the past the college has had a boiler using coal to put into service in case something happens to the gas supply. The school is now having an oil burning unit and storage tank installed for this emergency service. The cost is about $346.70.

Needed smokestack repairs were completed recently for about $700. The stack was torn down 20 feet and rebuilt 10 feet.

No provision has as yet been made for leaks in the swimming pool which is in need of repairing.

Health of Child Topic for Study

Coach J. H. Morrison Gives Reasons for School's Work in Line. The school's responsibility for child health was the subject of an instructive address given for Wayne city school Parent-Teacher meeting Tuesday evening by Coach J. H. Morrison. The whole aim of a school health program should be to find out the physical needs for students and provide such exercise as to satisfy these needs. One of the interesting things mentioned by the speaker was that as a rule housewives are the most physically fit of any group for their work gives them the complete exercise needed. The child is in the care of the school the major part of the day so his health is a real responsibility for the school. He should be as healthy when he finishes the 12th grade as when he enters kindergarten. Adequate sanitation and safety should be provided in school. Health should be checked so that needed corrections may be made. As a rule the child who is healthy learns most easily. Mr. Morrison listed five reasons why the school has a responsibility in the child's health. The school must educate the child in practical and public health care, giving proof for facts on diet, exercise, etc. The school must cooperate with public health authorities with daily health checking to prevent spread of epidemics. In this connection Mr. Morrison expressed the opinion that a teacher or child with a cold should not be in school for colds are the source of many serious diseases. The school should provide medical and dental inspection, giving information to guide parents in keeping their children healthy. The school should give attention to mental health for the mental attitude does much in a child's adjustment. And finally, the school must provide these services and at the same time keep out of the realm of medical care. The national defense program is arousing the country to the need for improved physical conditions. Mr. Morrison predicts that a national drive for better health will start soon. Mrs. Herman Baehr introduced the speaker. She and Mrs. W. H. Swett arranged the program. Children of the school are bringing odd cups so the group will have service for the meetings. The kindergarten and first grade had charge of serving. On the committee were Mrs. Wm. Ross, Mrs. M. E. Grant, Miss Doris Patterson and Miss Colla Potras.

Land Is Reclaimed By Camp Enrollees

Gullies Are Filled and Seeded to Lessen Loss Through Drainage. Reclaiming of land badly gullied by erosion has been the major project of Winside CCC camp boys under direction of the soil conservation personnel the past two or three months. Some 55 acres that were so badly cut as to be waste land have been put back into productive state.

The camp enrollees, using a 50-horsepower tractor and large blade, have worked in 75 gullies. They filled the gullies and widened the drainage channels so that the runoff is spread out into a thin sheet of water. The erosion power is thus diminished. Cooperating farmers have finished smoothing up the blade work and have seeded these gullied areas to a mixture of brome grass and alfalfa or straight brome grass.

Land Is Reclaimed By Camp Enrollees

Gullies Are Filled and Seeded to Lessen Loss Through Drainage. Reclaiming of land badly gullied by erosion has been the major project of Winside CCC camp boys under direction of the soil conservation personnel the past two or three months. Some 55 acres that were so badly cut as to be waste land have been put back into productive state.

The camp enrollees, using a 50-horsepower tractor and large blade, have worked in 75 gullies. They filled the gullies and widened the drainage channels so that the runoff is spread out into a thin sheet of water. The erosion power is thus diminished. Cooperating farmers have finished smoothing up the blade work and have seeded these gullied areas to a mixture of brome grass and alfalfa or straight brome grass.

Protein Needed For Winter Ration

Winter rations for pigs need to be watched more than in summer when stock is in pasture. Good gains cannot be expected unless farm grains are supplemented with proteins. Tankage, fishmeal and meat scraps are all of about equal value to supply the protein needs, the amount fed depending on the size of pigs. For pigs weighing under 100 pounds the ration of corn or grain sorghum should include about 20 per cent by weight of the protein supplement.

Gains Are Better On Young Stock

A bushel of corn fed to calves will produce about 10 1/2 pounds of gain. When fed to yearlings the gain will be about eight pounds. Two-year-olds make about seven pounds gain on the same amount. Hogs in dry lot will need about seven bushels of corn and 40 pounds of tankage to make 100 pounds of gain.

Neglect of Accident Hazards Claims 32,000 Lives Annually in U. S. Homes

Falls and Burns Leading Causes, Red Cross Warns in Safety Appeal

Washington, D. C.—The American Home—traditionally the symbol of security and safety—rivals the highway as the scene of the nation's greatest number of accident fatalities.

In a statement issued here by the Home and Farm Accident Prevention Service of the American Red Cross, it was pointed out that accidents in the home, including falls, burns and other common mishaps, claimed 32,000 lives last year—only 600 less than the number of motor vehicle deaths. Farm accidents accounted for an additional 4,200 deaths.

Statistics showed that home deaths last year increased 500 over the preceding year and farm accidents increased 200.

In addition to a mounting health toll, home and farm accidents last year caused upwards of 4,700,000 injuries which resulted in economic losses running into millions of dollars.

To reduce the number of rural and urban accidents in and about the home, the American Red Cross in 1935 inaugurated its accident prevention program as a parallel project with the First Aid and Life Saving Services. This year, 9,000,000 "check lists" describing accident hazards and urging their removal will be distributed throughout the country.

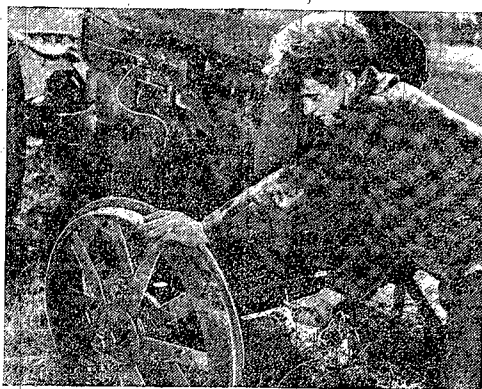

Approximately 2,900 Red Cross chapters have undertaken a program to consult householders in their vicinities with accident hazards in the home and on the farm. Chapters will be aided by the Junior Red Cross and the schools in distributing the "check lists."

The program will stress the vital need for removing accident hazards causing falls, as this type of accident resulted in more than half of last year's home accident fatalities. Burns and explosions caused the next highest loss of life.

Accident prevention is one of seven services conducted day-to-day by the American Red Cross in its tireless campaign against accidental death and suffering arising from disaster and other causes of emergency nature. These services are supported solely by members who join each year during Roll Call, November 11-20.

Each year 1,400 adults and children die from accidental poisoning. Label bottles clearly and keep them out of reach of children.

Accidents on the farm yearly injure 200,000 persons and machinery is the leading cause. Most deaths and injuries are due to carelessness.

Free Press A RIVAL publication, the San Francisco Examiner, has a page advertisement in a recent special edition of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, which latter was thus celebrating the completion of a new building. The Examiner uses its page to set forth the priceless advantages of a free press. It says:

"We Americans are an 'undisciplined' people—according to the government-controlled press of the totalitarian states.

"We are 'undisciplined' because every American citizen still possesses the fundamental rights of liberty.

"We are 'undisciplined' because we are free to think as we like, to speak out as we like, to attend the church of our own choosing freely and openly.

"We are 'undisciplined' because the people still rule the nation—America is still governed from the bottom up, and not from the top down.

"Yes, we're 'undisciplined' all right—and we're proud of it!

"Have you ever stopped to wonder why? Why the American government has ever dared to limit your personal liberties—to curtail or eliminate your right to speak and think as you will? It has happened elsewhere—why not here?"

"It has not, will not and can not happen here—so long as an uncensored press exists!

"For your daily newspaper is the champion of Americanism. It strikes out fearlessly and effectively at every effort to regiment the nation—at every overt act—at every suggestion of despotism.

"It turns the pitiless glare of publicity on malfeasance in public office, on plunderbund political activity, on anti-American organizations and activities.

"Yes, your daily American newspaper is free to bring you the truth. That is your privilege—a precious privilege enjoyed by very few peoples in the world today."

Voting Strength

ACCORDING to the record of the late election, the solid south and large urban centers re-elected the rolled. Rural communities generally rolled up large majorities for Willkie. But the cities had the votes, and the country could not overcome them. Still the cities are dependent on the country for support—dependent on the country for food and to furnish markets for manufactured goods. It is largely the rural market that, in peace-time development, supplies a basis for employment. City and country are plainly interdependent, and yet we find the prevailing judgment of the country set aside by the great centers whose milling masses often live from hand to mouth and who usually think superficially, if at all.

Members of the United States senate and house sometimes fail to measure up to expectations in depth of understanding and breadth of public policies. Lack of expected bigness is frequently revealed. For instance, observing Wendell Willkie's announced attitude against accepting a government job if one were offered him, led one senator to remark: "Nobody asks him to take part in this administration." How childish! Mr. Willkie merely set at rest rumors that he might be offered a cabinet portfolio. The senator should want Willkie to take part by cooperation, as he proposed in his post-election speech, in support of what he thinks is desirable and in opposition to what he believes is harmful. Voters should look out for the election of senators of larger caliber and clearer perspective.

Explosions in armament plants point to sabotage as the cause. The FBI, under the direction of Edgar Hoover, is on the alert to detect crime and capture the guilty, but at this distance it would seem vital to defense to increase armed guards for all munition industries. It also seems that enemy propaganda aimed at weakening American forces should be outlawed and stopped. Individuals who prefer alien forms of government should move out.

In a broadcast last week, Herbert Hoover made a masterful appeal for ways to convey food to helpless victims of the war in conquered countries. The problem of how to reach these sufferers is difficult to solve. Mr. Hoover appeals on Christian ground, and he hopes for an agreement between warring nations that would not be violated.

There is so much falsehood in the world—at home and abroad, especially in military circles abroad—that in character building schools should stress more than ever a foundation for truth. Though a lie may seem the easiest way to get by at the moment, it is finally revealed to the discredit and disfigurement of the liar.

A writer says if one doesn't make mistakes, he doesn't make progress, but if he doesn't profit by his mistakes and escape making the same ones over again, there is something seriously wrong with him. It takes resistance to error to toughen the human fiber and keep an individual vital and alert.

Turkeys were more susceptible to the severities of last week's storm than pheasants. The latter generally survived. Many turkeys perished. A pleasant doubtless figured that if it could escape the perils of an open season, it could stand the terrors of a wintry blast.

If newspapers have no standing and no influence, as Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, would have the public believe, why the eagerness to curtail their liberties? If they cut no figure, why does fretful Harold pay any attention to them?

Society should be careful not to take so much from those who are making the grade, to reduce them to dependence on the government. Policies that would level everybody down would not help those who are down.

Armament building in the course of defense plans has spread prosperity in industrial sections, and the influence on conditions in the middle west will be increasingly felt.

An advantage in this climate—if one doesn't like the kind of weather dished out, he doesn't have to wait long for a change. He will soon have the variety he thinks he wants.

Senator Burke consistently proposes to register as a republican. His record of sincerity—his steadfast determination not to sidestep convictions—will win popular approval.

The Late Storm

(Lincoln Journal)

Out in the Shelton vicinity the old timers are crediting the recent storm with being the worst experienced since 1886. Some set the limit at 50 years, remembering the blizzard of 1888.

Really Rolling

(Industrial Press Service)

The nation's big defense program is really going full blast. A short time ago, we notice, ground was broken for a structure that represents the largest individual aircraft production expansion effort in the country—perhaps in the world. It will increase the production of one particular type of plane from the present rate of eight a day to around seventy a day. And it shows how fast industry can move—the moment government gives the "go ahead" signal.

Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, was there for the ceremonies, and declared: "The rearmament program has gathered good momentum and is going forward fast."

And Emil Schramm, chairman of the Reconstruction finance corporation, offered a mild word of approval for industry, saying there had been "no sitdown strike by industry."

Anyway, the defense program is really moving along. And even at this early stage, there seems no doubt that industry is producing rapidly and efficiently enough to put fear into the heart of any potential aggressor, who is even dallying with the thought of striking at our country and our way of life.

Some Corn Cribbed Too Soon

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Just a few years ago the idea was to get the corn cribbed by Christmas, and not a little of it went over till after the first of the year. It was a cold weather job. But year by year the harvest season moved ahead, as more and more power equipment was used, till now many farmers figure to have the corn all picked by early in November, maybe a bit earlier. It takes only a few days to run through the corn fields with two-row pickers, and power elevators. Thus a job that only a few years ago lasted for weeks now may be completed within a week, and there is a lot of satisfaction in that. But the temptation seems to be to get it done a bit too early, some seasons, such as this one.

Thus we do not recall a year when there have been so many reports of spoilage in early cribs as this fall. Perhaps there is more talk about it than actual spoilage, but the fact remains that some have failed to wait long enough for moisture to be reduced to a safe cribbing level. A farmer in the other day remarked that what corn needs is a bit of real freezing and drying weather. One thing, corn on the stalk is not hurt by weather, unless the stalk is down. It is a fine thing to push work, and get it out of the way, but here is a case where too much pushing may not turn out so well. Last year it was O. K.; this year not so good.

The Press Is Free

(Norfolk Daily News)

Harold Ickes asks the newspapers to comment on his statement implying that because 83 per cent (his guess) of the press did not support President Roosevelt, the press is not free, but is controlled by some sinister influence.

The fact that a majority of newspapers opposed the third term reelection of one of the most powerful rulers in the world, one who has it in his hands to grant or withhold favors, to allocate money, to name his supporters to lucrative jobs, to use his influence, as he already has, to punish those who incur his displeasure—that fact alone proves that we have a free press.

If the American press had followed the German press in heiling the leader in high power, and had submitted to administration control Mr. Ickes would have called it a free press. But we doubt if the people would.

The people of the United States have long passed the stage where they will blindly follow the advice of any editorial commentator, if they ever did. The newspapers publish both sides of the political news. They comment on the news as they see fit, and their readers make up their own minds, as they should.

The intimation that the press is controlled by advertisers or other back-stage power is some more of Mr. Ickes' bunk. He tried to prove that in a speech a year or two ago, and had to eat his words when the published records were pulled on him.

WAR CURSE

What a cruel, blasting monster is war! And modern war with its ingeniously devised means of death and destruction, and with its ruthless disregard of innocent and helpless non-combatants, is a real threat to our boasted civilization. Precious lives lost, millions insufficiently nourished, prized architecture demolished, and delicate nervous textures ruined by the terror of deadly bombs! What is accomplished? Nothing good. Wiping out much of the flower of civilization and weakening beyond recovery many who survive! And nothing of value accrues as a result to any nation or any individual. If charitably inclined America could feed the hungry, minister to the sick and otherwise reduce misery in stricken lands without military interference results would not seem quite so sickening. Contemplating conditions abroad we wonder if the world must sink to the level of the dark ages before peace can be restored and rehabilitation be made possible.

THANKSGIVING

For convenience it is hoped different parts of the country will hereafter unite on one day to observe for Thanksgiving. An example of conflict lies in the fact that Nebraska sets apart one day and Iowa another—one week later. Thus, persons working in one state and living in the other are out of harmony—badly inconvenienced. Federal and state authorities should get together and settle on one day. Today is the day Nebraskans suspend usual activities and give thought to reasons for gratitude. We are thankful we are still free people and still free from the horrors of war. We would be still more thankful if we could help war-torn Europe find ways to peace—ways to the solution of differences without slaughter and ruin. We are thankful our population is separated from fields of conflict and is thus in a strengthened position to aid in restoring order and human rights after arrival forces have become exhausted. Thanksgiving is not merely a feeling of smug satisfaction. It is not a 'boastful feeling that special favors have been bestowed. It is an acknowledgment which is warranted by sympathetic anxiety for less fortunate peoples. It is heightened by kindly words and generous deeds. It would be an especially wonderful Thanksgiving if we could persuade nations to quit fighting and have themselves to let us help cure many wounds and start the climb back to peaceful reconstruction. We are thankful for much. We would be thankful for much more if we were permitted to serve stricken peoples as we would like to serve them.

WOMEN RALLY TO NATION'S DEFENSE IN RED CROSS VOLUNTEER SERVICES

Training Courses Fit Them for Duties Vital in Present Emergency

WITH the call to the colors of more than a million of the nation's young men, American women everywhere ask how they can volunteer their services to aid in the emergency. What part can women and girls play in national defense?

The American Red Cross, through its 3,700 Chapters and their branches, provides the answer. More than a half million women already have enrolled to give their time in Red Cross volunteer services, according to Mrs. Dwight F. Davis of Washington, D. C., Chairman of Red Cross Volunteer Special Services. Through sewing and knitting a million garments for Europe's war victims, and making millions of surgical dressings for war wounded and sick, they have gained efficiency and experience which can be readily diverted to the work for home defenses should the need arise, Mrs. Davis said.

In order to prepare most efficiently for any emergency which may come, the Red Cross is extending its training courses through its Chapters. Women motorists are trained for the Red Cross Motor Corps; girls who wish to volunteer for office work, train for the Staff Assistance Corps; other thousands join the Canteen Corps; women and girls who wish to learn to protect the health of their families, take Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick Courses; those who wish to learn how to aid the victim of an accident, enroll in the First Aid classes.

The Gray Lady Corps is composed of volunteers who require more specialized training and this is available only in those chapters near military hospitals. The Gray Ladies are the visitors in military and civilian hospitals giving those who are ill and comforts to sustain the morale of the sick. Nurse's Aides are trained to assist doctors and expert registered nurses in clinics and hospitals and this training is limited at present to regions where there are many hospitals.

The Red Cross "preparedness for humanity" program is supported by the memberships of the American public and every patriotic man and woman is urged to join his local Red Cross Chapter during the Roll Call, November 11 to 30.

Wayne High Gridders Finish Season Here Thursday; Place Three on All-Star Honor Team

Holiday Game Will Be Last Grid Appearance for Ten Seniors, Eight Linemen and Two Backfield Men.

After two weeks of illness, Coach Frank Sullivan's Wayne high football proteges are all set to defend their perfect record when they meet the strong Bloomfield high gridders here Thursday afternoon in a Thanksgiving day attraction.

The contest, year's most important for the Blues, will bring to a close their most successful season in years. They will defend an undefeated and untied record as well as an uncrossed goal line.

A coaching rivalry of several years will be renewed here when Coach Sammy Sommerhalder brings his gridders here, and both he and Coach Sullivan will have their boys keyed up to the highest pitch in an effort to win this crucial game.

Ten seniors will make their final appearance under the blue and white of Wayne high. These are Paul Harrington, Lloyd Pflueger, Dale Powers, Harold McPherran, Jack Wright, Francis Smith, Joe Granquist, Bob Haas, Warren Ellison and Roland Mahnkke.

Due to the muddy condition of the downtown field, arrangements have been made to play the game on the college gridiron. The largest crowd of the season is expected to attend this battle, which is scheduled to start at 2:30.

Wildcats Lose Final Grid Battle of Year

Playing their final game of the season Tuesday afternoon at LeMars, Ia., Coach Jim Morrison's Wayne State gridders lost to the Western Union eleven, 39-0. The game, originally scheduled, for last Friday evening, was postponed because of the heavy snowfall of last week.

With Tuesday's battle out of the way, Coach Morrison's worry about injured backfield men and possible replacements will be over for another year. Starting off with the most promising squad of several seasons, Morrison's men scored two easy early season triumphs. Then the injury jinx hit the Wildcats, and things changed.

This was no ordinary jinx. It was extra-ordinary—and ruinous. Up until almost the very last it demanded only backfield men. It took some of the best and put them out for the season. Such men as Jim Warren, Pete Kozicek, Pec-wee Garvin, Bud Best, Lawrence Retzlaff, Bill Little and Horace Purizer, all backs, were put out of action. Some were able to return to the game while others, Warren, Garvin and Purizer, were out for the season. And then in one of the last games, End Eddie Nitz was injured and taken from the line-up.

In spite of all of this discouragement, however, the Wildcat mentor has hopes for a good season next year. He loses only three men by graduation. But these three, Joe Lindahl, Fay Webb and Dan Hungerford, have been consistent standouts and will be hard to replace.

Sorghum Cheaper As Stock Feed

Grain sorghum is cheaper feed than corn at present prices, according to Agent Chet Walters. Corn figures about one cent a pound and Kalo about half a cent. The feeding value of grain sorghum has proved to be from 90 to 95 per cent as good as corn. Grain sorghum is suitable for any animal on the farm.

Mrs. E. W. Funnell of Bay City, Mich., who was called here by the illness of her brother, the late Dr. G. J. Hess, left Monday for Detroit to visit before returning home. Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Hugh Drake took her to Sioux City. Mrs. Funnell, Mrs. Hess, Mrs. Drake and Jean Drake spent Sunday in O'Neill with Mrs. Hess' brother.

Dale Powers, Lloyd Pflueger and Paul Harrington Win Positions on First Team; Three Blues on Second.

Three Wayne high school gridders, all seniors, were awarded positions on the Northeast Nebraska conference all-star first team at a meeting of the seven coaches last week. Creighton, only other undefeated team in the loop, also placed three, Wayne boys to receive the honor were Paul Harrington, Lloyd Pflueger and Dale Powers.

The honor team, which consisted of 13 men, including three tackles who tied in the voting, and one utility halfback, also included two men from Bloomfield, Plainview and Pierce, and one from Randolph.

In addition to the first team selections, Wayne also placed three men on the second team, Harold McPherran, senior, Joe Kessler, junior, and Bob Stoll, sophomore.

According to common practice, preference to honor team positions is given to seniors, and thus only one underclassman, Fullback Jim Saloum of Creighton, rated a first team spot.

First Team Selections.

Second Team Choices.

Players chosen on the second team were Milton Meyer, Pierce, left end; Harold McPherran, Wayne, left tackle; Robert Chivers, Pierce, left guard; Willis Hladik, Creighton, center; Gaylord Haberich, Hartington, right guard; Clyde Newton, Bloomfield, right tackle; Marvin Weber, Randolph, right end; Vance Viergutz, Randolph, quarterback; Chris Steel, Hartington, left half; Bob Stull, Wayne, right half; Joe Kessler, Wayne, fullback; and Norman Wilson, Bloomfield, utility halfback.

Mrs. Marguerite Emery arrived home the first of last week from Long Beach and Los Angeles, Cal., where she had spent about three weeks.

Cage Prospects at Wayne Are Good

Five Lettermen Report to Coach Elwood Morris in Preparation for Season's First Game December 6.

With an expected turn-out of about 30 men after the close of the grid season, Coach Elwood Morris is already holding twice a week basketball practices at Wayne high in preparation for the Blue's opening game of the season with Central high in Sioux City Friday, December 6.

Coach Morris is building his team around the five returning lettermen, George Derry, center, Joe Granquist, John Berry and Dale Powers, forwards, and Bob Stull, guard. Possible first string men showing up best in early work-outs include Francis Smith, Bob Hossie, Bob Nichols, Joe Kessler, Ray Murray, Bob Hokum and Willis Lessman.

Taking advantage of the large turn-out of promising material, the Blue's mentor plans to place drill emphasis on team work and fast play rather than on the performance of any outstanding players. In order to achieve greater offensive speed, Morris states, he may form two first team fives of about equal ability, with the possibility of alternating the players during a game.

Sullivan Has Seconds.

Second string men and rookies will be under the guidance of Coach Frank Sullivan who will drill the youngsters in ground-work and fundamentals of the game. To hold the interest of these boys intramural games may be arranged after the formation of the several teams.

Open at Home Dec. 17.

The first chance for fans to see the Blues perform at home will be Tuesday, December 17, when Emerson high invades the local camp. In order to vary competition somewhat, Coach Morris has placed on this year's schedule several great teams that will be new to Wayne's followers. Leaders among these are Schuyler, Madison and Battle Creek, with all three promising to offer plenty of competition.

Unusual Record Being Made by Wayne Athlete

Dale Alderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alderson of Wayne, a junior at Upper Iowa college at Fayette, has won distinction in the sports world. The following article appeared in the Upper Iowa Collegian:

"Dale Alderson of Wayne, Neb., ranks as one of the best known figures in Peacock athletic affairs. Capable in many fields, Alderson stars in football, basketball and baseball.

"Dale occupies a key position in the Peacock backfield, where his ability to toss the pigskin has become the pride of Upper Iowa fans and the despair of opposing line-ups. Calm under fire, Alderson passes a football with more accuracy than the average person can throw a baseball. On defense, Dale's 190 pounds back up the line, and his ability to tackle 'em so they stay tackled' is a vital part of the Peacock second line of defense. Alderson's gridiron ability received due recognition in his being named a member of the all-conference team last year.

"In basketball circles, Alderson's ability is shown by his conference record. During his first year in Peacock cage affairs, Dale scored 152 points, or an average of 12.7 points per game. Dale was also chosen All-Conference guard in his freshman year. During his enrollment in Denison high school, Alderson was named to the Iowa

Defense Plans Of Century Ago Had Same Aims
 Old family records found by Miss Claudia Bruce reveal interesting sidelights on life in the dozen states comprising the Union a hundred years ago. One of these bits shows that a defense program was established then and probably was of as much concern as the plans now under way in this country.

Written in ink and in longhand on a scrap of letter paper is the certification that Thomas Bruce, father of A. R. Bruce of Wayne, was a legal member of the defense unit. It reads: "This is to certify that Thomas Bruce has enlisted into a company of riflemen in the 21st regiment and is armed and equipped according to law in the same. Hartland, Sept. 13, 1837. Thomas T. Oded, commander."

It seems that equipment a hundred years ago meant that each man had a flint rifle. The guardsmen got together on the village green occasionally, perhaps once a week, for drills. Their training and equipment would compare strangely with those of today but the purpose was the same. The men were prepared to defend their free country against any trouble.

One of the troubles of that early period was the dispute over the slave question. It was in February, 1837, that Lovejoy, the editor who favored abolition of slavery, was killed. His paper at St. Louis was destroyed.

Another interesting paper in the possession of Miss Bruce is a handwritten lease to her grandfather. This gave him land which was to be paid for through his efforts in clearing the piece.

The Bruce family has been traced to early New York history. Later they followed the westward movement to Pennsylvania and then came on farther west as the middle states opened.

Mrs. Allis Pollard, formerly of Wayne, has gone from Dell Rapids, S. D., to Long Beach, Calif., where she is visiting before going to Newport, Ore., to be with her sons.

The unusual experience of sighting deer wandering about in this region has been confirmed twice since one of the animals was seen last week at the Geo. Bruns place near Altona. Wm. Beckenhauer noticed about half a dozen deer scampering in a field about six miles south of Wayne, and Kenneth Pierson reported seeing one of the animals at the Roy Pierson place in Wilbur precinct. The deer have evidently wandered south from wooded regions to the north. When this country was new, some 60 years ago, deer drifted south each winter to find food.

United States Position in World Under Rigid Test

J. S. Woodson Sees Struggle To Death Between Two Forms of Life.

"America's position in the world today challenges real patriotism, loyalty and citizenship. The greatest is in the midst of the universal crisis of all history. Totalitarian dictators have sworn death to all democracies. National unity and preparedness are imminent demands." This statement began the address of J. S. Woodson, associate editor of the Sioux City Journal, Thursday evening before members and guests of Wayne branch of A.A.U.W. at the Women's club rooms. Mr. Woodson also spoke at college convocation Thursday morning.

America has had panics, wars and other troubles before but none so stupendous as this. In each such crisis in this country a capable leader has come forward to guide the nation's destiny. For this reason Wendell Wilkie last week appealed to Americans to unite and he asked God to guide the hand of President Roosevelt.

Seething Since World War.

Threats to democracy have been seething since the World war and broke out anew in September, 1939, when Hitler invaded Poland. The submission of other nations has increased this threat until practically the whole world is involved in a struggle between dictatorship and free government.

The present strife differs from all others in that it involves a war between these two forms of life. Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin were referred to by Mr. Woodson as the worst type of "gangsters"—ruthless warlords who are thirsty for world power and who openly threaten all democracies.

Hitler, the world's greatest demagogue of all time, has built a gigantic war machine. Among the 70 million Germans he discarded any plan to use those of World war days or older. He knew these fine, kindly people would not be easily changed. Instead he remade Germany by training boys and girls with the one compelling idea that they are a superior people and that they were mistreated in the World war. The resulting self pity aroused emotions of the young folks to the fighting point.

The submission of each nation subjugated has increased Hitler's thirst for power. When Mussolini saw France on bended knees, he joined the axis. Stalin is just as contemptible but is not yet active. Hitler threatens, if successful, to combine all the industrial power of Europe to create history's most gigantic war machine. He has the help of Mussolini and of Japan and is seeking a combination with Russia and Spain. If Russia joins the axis powers, the threat would be more serious. But the fact that Russia is a natural enemy of Germany and Japan may prevent this.

Invasion Is Threat.

The threat to this country came when Poland was invaded. Other nations were subjected. Hitler's plans have been given a setback by the stubborn resistance of Great Britain and Greece. Mr. Woodson is of the opinion that this country should give all possible material aid to Britain as the threat to democracy here is just as potent as there. A mastery of the sea by Britain means safety for this country. If Hitler could invade the British navy he could invade this nation. For this reason America must not only send material aid but must become well prepared in fast order. A strong navy, mighty air fleet and well trained men are essential.

Manchuria Has Started.
 If this country had been well enough prepared to tell Japan to stay out of Manchuria, this whole world conflict would likely have been avoided. The taking of Manchuria led Italy to attack Ethiopia. Then Hitler had the courage to subordinate one nation after another.

National unity and speedy preparedness are the crying need, for well-informed sources predict that this country will be in the war at least by next March. America needs to prepare before the "gangsters" lay an indemnity on this country. All possible aid should be given to Britain in her brave battle for the cause of democracy. "We have liberty, freedom and independence to protect." Hitler does not intend to restore a single one of the conquered nations if he wins. But he can't be allowed to win. The cause is too important.

Hitler spent 100 billion dollars to train and equip his war machine of nine million men. Mr. Woodson helped his listeners visualize a billion by explaining that the Christian era, from the time of Christ to the present, is only one billion minutes. America will have to spend billions for efficient defense. Some estimate that the cost of defense will bring the national debt to 75 billions. The entire national wealth is only 300 billions.

Acts of officials have placed America in precarious positions several times. Mr. Woodson does not look to South America for great cooperation, for people there are more European than American. The need to help Britain while she is potent is most important. If Britain should lose, the survival of democracy would become a problem for this country alone.

America Has Resources.

Mr. Woodson explained that the United States has half of the industrial power of the world and this nation is as rich in resources as any other three in the world. If this country combines its resources and industrial power to provide Britain with all needed material aid, Mr. Woodson believes that the war can be ended in short order. Americans have the genius to do this and the speaker looks for them to determine the outcome.

Will Be Costly.

But the crisis is going to cost and cost. It is going to test the finest patriotism. Americans will have to realize that the threat to their freedom is definitely at stake. They will have to lower their standards of living and pay heavy taxes that are sure to result. An income tax of $2.50 this year may be $250 next. Americans can do all this. "But God grant that we won't have to sacrifice our liberties!" concluded Mr. Woodson.

Music by Quartet.

A college quartet, including Edwin Carstensen, Bob Johnson, Arthur Gulliver and Gene Taverner, accompanied by Genevieve Lundak, sang.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr., Miss Mildred Piper, Miss Lenore Ramsey, Miss Louise Wendt and Mrs. D. S. Wightman.

An act of 1864 created the office of adjutant general for the territory of Nebraska with a salary of $300 annually. The great Sioux and Cheyenne Indian war on the Nebraska border prompted this action. In 1871 the legislature abolished the office which was restored in 1881 and has since been in continuous existence.

The governor appoints the adjutant general and the appointee holds the position until the age of retirement at 70.

The adjutant general has control of the military department, subject to the governor, and he keeps records, receives supplies and cares for equipment of the military department. He is responsible for training and equipping the national guard.

Rural School News

Lists Are Mailed For Fair Exhibits

Fair premium lists for Wayne county schools for the next two years were mailed last week by Supt. F. B. Decker. Schools can start on these. Few changes have been made, though the numbering is simplified. Rural schools are to exhibit two and not more than 10 cards of work and may have eight additional entries, such as wood work and sewing. Town schools are limited to 70 cards with 20 additional exhibits. This is the first time that the additional entries have been limited, this being made necessary for greater fairness. While display cards will again be used.

A Square Peg in a Round Hole.

Eric promptly pulled up a chair when invited to do so, but his teacher, shunning the suggestion that this was to be a sociable chat among could-be friends, remained standing.

It was Saturday afternoon. Yesterday she had made an appointment to bring the 14-year-old boy before the juvenile court judge. "This is the boy I called you about," she commenced wodenly. "He has horribly dirty ways about him. He spits on his handkerchief and rubs it over his face when I tell him to wash. He never combs his hair, and he bites his grimy fingernails off instead of cutting them. His clothes are always filthy, and his shorts-trunks are forever dragging on the floor. He is the poorest excuse for a human being that I ever observed. There must be something wrong with his mind. I think he belongs in the state feeble-minded institution instead of in the public school."

Luckily, she didn't ask the judge what he thought of her tirade of abuses, during which little Eric, sullen and defiant, was shrinking back into his chair. It was quite apparent that his trouble, whatever it was, rapidly grew worse under the pitiless scorn of his teacher. So until further information about the boy's surroundings could be gathered, both were dismissed from the court room.

Eric was a baby, less than a year old, when his father deserted his mother. She then relied on relief and the charity of a few neighbors for her livelihood.

She professed membership in a church, but she never attended it nor sent Eric to Sunday school. In fact, Eric received no more attention from his mother than an ordinary tree growing along the roadside receives from a passerby.

Unless he was a miracle boy, Eric could not make an adjustment of his personal habits in his home, such as it was, nor at school under the supervision of a woman who exhibited her incompetence as a teacher to be greater than Eric's mother's incompetence as a mother. Though the mother was ignorant, she did recognize her inability to rear Eric properly and voluntarily relinquished him to wiser, abler persons.

Since Eric was of Swedish descent, she chose for his foster parents a Swedish farmer and his wife. Their patient insistence on cleanliness taught Eric the necessity of keeping clean and endeavoring to be like other normal boys.

Two years ago, shortly before Eric was graduated from high school, his mother was committed to the state hospital for the insane.

In recent months, Eric has procured the assistant manager-ship of a metropolitan taxi-cab company. During the past three years the irate teacher of his youth has been operating a mangle in a commercial laundry—a work for which she is no doubt better qualified than for teaching.

Christian Science Services

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, November 24.

The Golden Text is: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard; which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved" (Psalms 66:8, 9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Psalms 42:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "What evidence of soul or of immortality have you within mortality? Even according to the teachings of natural science, man has never beheld Spirit or Soul leaving a body or entering it. What basis is there for the theory of indwelling spirit, except the claim of mortal belief? ... Science reveals Spirit, Soul, as not in the body, and God as not in man but as reflected by man. The greater cannot be in the lesser" (pp. 478, 467).

Mrs. Kate Chilcoat, 96, nee Kate O'Brien of Pilger, died in Fremont.

Miss Doris Rogers of Ainsworth, was elected to take Miss DeLoris Jarmila's place on the Pender high school faculty.
