

Of Commerce As It Nears the End of Its First Year—Planning Board's Recommendations Touching State's Educational System to Land in the Legislature—How to Treat Children.

The Chamber of Commerce with a paid secretary, has been functioning nearly a year, and it has accomplished some things very much to its credit.

Looking to the future, it is evident that more of permanent value must be done to justify the investment.

We think some committees have worked with eagerness to accomplish certain ends.

To Overhaul Education. The Taxpayers' League refused to endorse the state planning board's report recommending changes in Nebraska's educational system.

The planning board apparently neglected nothing in the way of overhauling the school system.

Recommendations are made in the interest of economy and efficiency, but the plan offered would manifestly confer more power on the university and operate in the direction of more centralization.

Some changes may be needed in behalf of improved service and reduced cost, but the planers certainly dished out a tremendous lot of changes to expect complete approval.

Assembly Seeking More About Report

The assembly favors employment of a full-time secretary for the board of educational lands and funds. The group would select one having ability to help manage the permanent school fund.
 Opposition to local schools with management retained in the federal government was voiced. This action refers especially to N.Y.A. trade schools. The group does not oppose this form of school but feels that management should be under local control to avoid a dual system of education.
 Nebraska is supporting education to 100 per cent of its ability, according to figures presented to the assembly. In 1938 Nebraska was 33rd in income per capita in the United States and was also 33rd in yearly cost per pupil in schools. That year Nebraska's average income was $379.03 per person with the country average $479.61. The state spent $64.18 per pupil and the national average was $81.19. In 1938 the state stood 16th in ability and 32nd in support. This indicates, the assembly pointed out, that the state has kept up its support of education despite a lower income.

The teacher group favored a two per cent sales tax as a replacement for part of the property tax, the income to be divided among governmental subdivisions on the same basis as the property tax. As schools now spend 43.5 per cent of the property tax dollar and 21 per cent of the total tax dollar, this would provide about half of the new tax for schools.
 A teacher retirement plan for Nebraska was favored and a definite drive proposed. Nebraska is one of a comparative few states not providing for teacher retirement.

Tenure conditions of teachers in the state should be improved, according to the report on this phase. The association hopes to work through school boards and other agencies to avoid unfair dismissals.

It takes only a couple of hours to install a Will-Burl stoker in your present heating plant. Some people have the idea that it takes time and that we must wait for a nice warm day. The Will-Burl can be installed regardless of the weather. Let us tell you about it!

Defense Report Made at School

Committee Makes Proposal Of Possible Ways for Helping Program.

Wayne State Teachers college committee to investigate the possibilities of the school's cooperating with the government in national defense, reported, at the meeting of the faculty Monday afternoon, a tentative plan which was accepted by the instructors and which will be carried out.

"Since each and every individual in our country should deem it a privilege to be an American citizen, we feel that any movement that is American should demand our respect and cooperation," began the report. "Realizing that national defense is much more than preparing folks to fight in battles and further realizing that a national defense program should be a program that would insure happier, healthier and more abundant living in peace times, we, the committee, recommend that we launch this program so as to intensify the school's efforts in developing a better citizenry from the standpoint of physical, moral and mental development.

"For the physical program, we propose a program of discovery of weaknesses and corrective exercises, making available moving pictures which stress health and physical development, a scheme by which better habits of living will be emphasized in the students' minds, proper information concerning foods to be made available to each student with suggested menus placed in their hands and in the cafeteria.

"Realizing the importance of training for a way of life, we wish to emphasize as far as possible the facts and practices which make for successful living in a democracy. We suggest emphasis placed on the importance of certain traits through club and class participation such as citizenship week or month, that we make available moving pictures which will educate in citizenship or other phases of democratic life, and that through some convocation periods important information be brought to our students which will arouse patriotism and love of country and yet be free from propaganda and politics.

"Cognizant of the fact that moral character is the backbone of good citizenship, we propose that every teacher, through classes, club work and personal effort promote and maintain the highest ideals of moral character, that the religious organizations of the college double their efforts and program in reaching the students in the splendid religious training these organizations give."

Dean Clarence McGinn is chairman of the committee, with Coach J. H. Morrison, Miss Marie Hove, Miss Lenore Ramsey and Prof. K. N. Parke as other members.

Christmas Convocation. Y.W.C.A. will have charge of the Christmas convocation next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Norma Jean Traster is in charge of the program which will include a play-let picturing a family circle on Christmas eve and group singing of Christmas carols. Sound pictures were shown at chapel last Tuesday morning.

Two Weeks Vacation. Christmas vacation will start with the close of school on Friday, December 20. Classes will resume Monday, January 6.

Plans for Christmas. All the halls on the campus are having Christmas parties next Wednesday evening for only the residents.

The Christmas prom will be next Thursday evening, December 19, with the Lyre club orchestra playing.

Action Is Taken About Activities

State Board Will Present Proposals to Schools For Decision.
Nebraska Activities association, meeting in Lincoln Friday, selected from various suggestions the proposals which will be submitted to member schools for acceptance or rejection. Supt. N. F. Thorpe was one of the delegates attending the assembly.

Regarding attendance at regional contests held in Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri, the board will prepare a proposal for decision. This will probably divide the territory into quarters with a contest held in each one in four years. The proposal will be that schools enter when the contest center is closest.

The board suggested that if two football teams meeting wear the same colors, the home team change. The present ruling provides that the visiting team do so.
The board defeated a proposal to restore spring football practice in Nebraska high schools.
The matter of including marching bands in district music contests was tabled.

A rule restricting the first football game to the third Friday of September with three weeks of practice preceding this will be submitted to vote of schools. The present rule limits starting practice to the first of September.

Mrs. Esther Thompson and Miss Myrtle Johnson will be in Norfolk this Thursday for a district meeting of welfare workers.

Recital Is Given By Wisner Editor

Harold Humphreys, Wisner editor, proved his versatility by playing a piano concert at the college auditorium Tuesday evening. The program included some old favorites such as "Valse in G Flat," by Chopin, "Elegy," by Nollet, and "Second Nocturne," by Leschetizky, besides other classical and modern numbers. Mr. Humphreys has an intimate understanding of the piano and its possibilities; he plays with feeling and at times displays virtuosic brilliance. His playing discloses the reason for his interest in music and the piano.
Prof. Albert G. Carlson assisted by playing some second piano parts and gave a talk on "Music as a Hobby."
A large group of visitors attended from out of town.

R. R. Larson spent the week-end in Sioux City with his brother, Paul Larson, who is somewhat improved from his illness.

Assembly Seeking More About Report

The assembly favors employment of a full-time secretary for the board of educational lands and funds. The group would select one having ability to help manage the permanent school fund.

Opposition to local schools with management retained in the federal government was voiced. This action refers especially to NYA trade schools. The group does not oppose this form of school but feels that management should be under local control to avoid a dual system of education.

Nebraska is supporting education to 100 per cent of its ability, according to figures presented to the assembly. In 1938 Nebraska was 33rd in income per capita in the United States and was also 33rd in yearly cost per pupil in schools. That year Nebraska's average income was $379.03 per person with the country average $479.61. The state spent $64.18 per pupil and the national average was $81.19. In 1936 the state stood 16th in ability and 32nd in support. This indicates, the assembly pointed out, that the state has kept up its support of education despite a lower income.

A teacher retirement plan for Nebraska was favored and a definite drive proposed. Nebraska is one of a comparative few states not providing for teacher retirement. Tenure conditions of teachers in the state should be improved, according to the report on this phase. The association hopes to work through school boards and other agencies to avoid unfair dismissals.

Teacher Group Is in Favor Of Sales Tax to Help Relieve Burden.

The teacher group favored a two per cent sales tax as a replacement for part of the property tax, the income to be divided among governmental subdivisions on the same basis as the property tax. As schools now spend 43.3 per cent of the property tax dollar and 21 per cent of the total tax dollar, this would provide about half of the new tax for schools.

Why wait until next spring to fix up that leaking roof? There will be plenty of nice weather in which to re-roof this winter, and it is our honest opinion that single prices will be higher in the spring.

Have you had the best in stoker coal? If not, give it a try. Phone 147 and ask for it. Just say, "Send me a load of the best stoker coal." We'll know what you mean, and you'll get just that — the best.

Defense Report Made at School

Committee Makes Proposal Of Possible Ways for Helping Program.

Wayne State Teachers college committee to investigate the possibilities of the school's cooperating with the government in national defense, reported, at the meeting of the faculty Monday afternoon, a tentative plan which was accepted by the instructors and which will be carried out.

"Since each and every individual in our country should deem it a privilege to be an American citizen, we feel that any movement that is American should demand our respect and cooperation," began the report. "Realizing that national defense is much more than preparing folks to fight in battles and further realizing that a national defense program should be a program that would insure happier, healthier and more abundant living in peace times, we, the committee, recommend that we launch this program so as to intensify the school's efforts in developing a better citizenry from the standpoint of physical, moral and mental development.

"For the physical program, we propose a program of discovery of weaknesses and corrective exercises, making available moving pictures which stress health and physical development, a scheme by which better habits of living will be emphasized in the students' minds; proper information concerning foods to be made available to each student, with suggested menus placed in their hands and in the cafeteria.

"Realizing the importance of training for a way of life, we wish to emphasize as far as possible the facts and practices which make for successful living in a democracy. We suggest emphasis placed on the importance of certain traits through club and class participation such as citizenship week or month, that we make available moving pictures which will educate in citizenship or other phases of democratic life, and that through some convocation periods important information be brought to our students which will arouse patriotism and love of country and yet be free from propaganda and politics.

"Cognizant of the fact that moral character is the backbone of good citizenship, we propose that every teacher, through classes, club work and personal effort promote and maintain the highest ideals of moral character, that the religious organizations of the college double their efforts and program in reaching the students in the splendid religious training these organizations give."

Dean Clarence McGinn is chairman of the committee, with Coach J. H. Morrison, Miss Marie Hove, Miss Lenore Ramsey and Prof. K. N. Parke as other members.

TELEPHONE 130
Weekly AS REPORTED in the current Publishers' Auxiliary, a conflict of opinion over the desirability of the weekly newspaper has developed between a 1930 journalism school graduate of Lancaster, Mo., and the publisher of the Chandler, Arizona, Arizonian.

Lancaster is credited with a population of 307, and Chandler with a population of 1,378. The two newspapers to which the disagreeing editors devote their talents, report circulations of 1,031 and 1,100. In his enthusiasm, the Missouri journalism graduate advised young men to "get into the weekly field and stay there." The more seasoned Arizona editor, evidently recalling his darkest experience, retorted by saying that when one gets into this "voluntary servitude," there is no question about staying in. The Arizona editor dissertated at length on how a young fellow could pan out in trying to live and rear a family and buy an occasional automobile on $15 per week, and then save enough to secure a loan in buying a newspaper. If the latter could happen, the editor told how one might earn a maximum of $24 per week by working 23 hours a day—almost perpetual motion—always running the risk of inviting the punitive antagonism of men in politics or business.

Perhaps the Missouri journalism graduate overrated the rural field or unduly expressed the ambition which he himself possessed. But the Arizona editor issues a blast of disparagement which would be contradicted by modern experience in the middle west. The Arizona man reflects conditions that existed in the rural field forty or fifty years ago when the country newspaper was usually an impecunious institution, often maintained as a political hack or as the subservient instrument of some business faction. It was the time when the practice of barter ruled and cash returns flowed largely from county printing or legal business. Failure to be awarded the county printing was almost a death blow. Such failure meant more patches on the editor's aged pantaloons, (now pants). Advice on how to direct the newspaper's policies was gratuitously given by self-appointed community leaders and obsequiously accepted by the wan, drawn-visaged editor who tried to feel heroic as he battled for the faction that permitted him by a narrow margin to keep out of the red.

Now, the Arizona publisher examines the mid-west's modernized weekly newspapers. They are no longer cringing sycophants, no longer paid to flatter by small favors or spurred to fiery prejudice by small slights. The 15-dollar-a-week employee is a recollection of far bygone days. We know many weekly newspaper that have the largest investments in their respective communities, employ the most help, pay the highest wages, and roll up the biggest net incomes—all made possible by putting emphasis on unbiased service through the years. We know many newspapers in Nebraska and Iowa and other mid-western states that do not shriek for more dollars, do not brag about what they are doing, but that have reared outstanding successes on foundations of service quietly performed from day to day without ostentation. They have become respected as well as self-respecting institutions.

To the young fellow capable of meeting demands, the metropolitan field might be more inviting. But if he does not own considerable stock in a daily newspaper, he will likely, as his years multiply, find himself a useless barnacle, a pensioner if he is permitted to hang on. If one owns a prosperous country weekly to which he has given years of faithful service, he cannot be junked, but he can stick and find fault as long as nature permits him to live. We have noticed that old-timers, enfeebled by age and indigestion, can pretend to be active longer in the weekly newspaper field than in any other business or profession.

We think the Missouri journalism school graduate was looking around and ahead, while the Arizona editor cast his vision in the direction of the remote past.

Nation's Business calls attention to the numerous, peace-time Christmas toys on sale in the stores rather than those suggestive of war. It points out that Christmas creations encourage knowledge of chemistry, engineering and transportation and other constructive peace-time pursuits. "In any event," says that magazine, "the toy department with its tinsel hangings and false-bearded Santa Claus holds out a hope for a better world. It teaches that peace will some day come again and is training the youngsters to take their place in it."

The bomber assembly plant to be established by the government in Omaha and to employ ten or twelve thousand men, will indirectly help the whole state. It will be a relief to know the unemployment problem will be solved in the metropolis. And Omaha is a sensible distance from both big oceans. It is a safe distance from foreign threats.

A late report states that N. W. Aver & Son, Philadelphia advertising agents, have expressed the belief that increased buying power due to the defense program, will make 1941 the biggest newspaper advertising year since 1929. Huge expenditures for defense will gradually sift through the country and stimulate demands on industry. That would absorb idlers and develop commodity markets. Nebraska's farm areas will benefit if crop production returns to normal, and this seems a reasonable hope, based on increased moisture in the soil.

Fascists and Nazis are spreading propaganda against communists, and the communists are doing the same thing against the other alien doctrines, each apparently striving desperately to capture favor in this country. As a matter of fact, however, all foreign isms mentioned are equally inimical to the American democracy, and none should be allowed to gain a foothold in this country.

What profound home-love is reflected by the prize-winning girl in the late Chicago show who said she was going to use the money she received to help buy her father a farm! The spirit of the boys and girls attending the international stock exhibition is the country's highest hope and surest safeguard.

A former member of the legislature advises that state schools should ask for just the appropriations they need to carry them through—not more than enough with the expectation that amounts asked will be cut down. The legislature should understand that requests do not exceed actual requirements.

"Every report from Lincoln," says the Norfolk Daily News, "carries the hope of reduced state taxes. Every dispatch from Washington tells of higher and higher levies and more lavish spending. There is an old saying that the greatest spending is done by the officials who are farthest from the people."

The Omaha Journal-Stockman expresses the department of agriculture's fear of a hog shortage next spring. And that causes the ghosts of five million slaughtered surplus pigs of recent memory to rise and haunt us.

A United States of Europe—a democracy with the masses free to elect their representatives—dictators and war lords junked—the state subject to the people—might in time lead to equality and permanent peace.

The Greeks are showing their primitive fighting spirit—fired by patriotic loyalty that counts heavily against the Italians who are reported distrustful of the Mussolini leadership.

Despite human cussedness expressed in ruthless war, there is deeply etched into the souls of Christians everywhere a fine appreciation of the spirit of Christmas.

Important Minority

(Norfolk Daily News)
Omitting the ten states of the solid south, the vote in the presidential election was 23,807,903 for Roosevelt to 21,316,965 for Willkie, a margin of less than 2,500,000 votes, the smallest since 1916. The republican vote constitutes a loyal opposition that can't be waved off.

The Same Language

(Omaha World-Herald)
When he was running for governor in 1936 and 1940, Dwight Griswold said unequivocally that he was opposed to new forms of taxation. Now, as governor-elect, he not only repeats his statement but says specifically that he is opposed to the state income tax and the sales tax.

His attitude should do a great deal to chill the movement for new taxes at the next session of the legislature. At the same time it demonstrates again the fact that Governor-elect Griswold talks the same language as Candidate Griswold.

One Less Congressman

(Lincoln Journal)
If Nebraska must lose a congressman in two years from now the state must be redistricted, and that problem will afford one of the interesting issues to be solved by the coming legislature. In the reforming of the districts one congressman must be dropped and new territory added to new districts to maintain a population balance. Thus a non-political legislature will be called upon to decide something that may be loaded politically.

Limelight-Loving Harold

Secretary Harold Ickes seems to itch to get into the newspapers which he frequently assails. The Baltimore Sun says: Harold Ickes, whose thinking is frequently somewhat confused, continued yesterday his attacks on the newspapers. He issued a formal statement from his office in the department of the interior in which he said, in part: "Recalling recent statements to the effect that only those who have popular confidence can be strong and only the strong can be free, I now, in friendly fashion, invite comment on how the recent election established the popular confidence in the press that brings it the strength without which it cannot be free."

This invitation is addressed, obviously, to those who recall the statement about the relationship between popular confidence, strength and freedom. The difficulty is to recall such a statement. In his Baltimore address, and perhaps elsewhere, Wendell L. Willkie, the republican nominee for the presidency, made a statement which sounds something like that quoted by Mr. Ickes but means something vastly different. What Mr. Willkie said was: "Only the productive can be strong and only the strong can be free."

Mr. Ickes may have had in his mind some sort of recollection of Mr. Willkie's aphorism, but if he has he got it confused. We suggest, therefore, that Mr. Ickes refresh his memory and try again.

GIVING

What a thrill charges one's sensibilities when the other fellow—when he feels he has been of service to his neighbors or his community! It is the spirit of Christmas that leads one to look for ways to answer human yearnings and relieve human woes. In cultivating the habit of giving, of spreading good cheer and making others feel better, one receives so much compensation in satisfied emotions that he forgets every material need for himself. He quite forgets self in bestowing means of joy and in lifting burdens from struggling souls. He makes others know that some one cares, that some one is desirous of stiffening footsteps and fusing courage and hope into weakened human fiber. Doing something for others in deeds or words—the spirit of Christmas—is a powerful antidote to self-pity or whatever one's emotional ailment may be.

page each week is soundly constructive and wholesome in the way to manage children and to rear them in the direction they should go. Often parents, teachers and officers are responsible for the wayward tendencies of young persons. Frequently the remedies they apply make the youth's life more hopeless. Often unsympathetic, they have more of an idea of asserting authority than of curing faults. They should consult Judge Reeker's experience and absorb his advice.

Capitalism

(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)
We all recognize the fact that ours is a capitalist nation. All the progress we have made in over 150 years has been under a capitalist system. Is there a better system anywhere? Are the totalitarian nations any better off than we are? Perhaps we had better analyze capitalism.

The head of one of America's largest banks recently had this to say concerning capitalism: "Business must have capital. What is capital? Savings. Whose savings? The people's, yours, your friends, your neighbors."

"Everyone who saves something from his earnings, and puts the money to work, or has it put to work for him, is a capitalist."

"That is the American way, the way in which America has been built. Capitalism is democracy—at work."

That's simple, and it's sound, declares the Industrial News Review. Capitalism is a term too often used to mislead the uninformed and create political discord. The truth is that capital is the collective invested savings of millions of people—the man with $100, the woman with $500.

That's what the capital in the nation's banks consists of. The average bank deposit is small. But put millions of those accounts together and you get real money—the money that goes to build homes, to start businesses, to expand industries, to make jobs, and to do the thousand and one things necessary to keep American industry expanding and employing labor.

The nation's bankers are simply the custodians of this capital. They don't own it. They are hired managers, responsible to their depositors and controlled by the strictest kind of laws. It's their job to put it to work where it is safe—and where it will be employed in building up the wealth and the resources and the economic and social value of America. The great majority of American families are capitalists. Their future security depends on invested savings in industries, in life insurance, in land, etc. Any political trend which weakens our private enterprise systems, strikes at individual savings—capital.

RURAL AMERICA

A columnist who interviewed Arthur Balfour, English statesman, immediately following the other world war, quotes him amidst wild jubilation over ending of the war, as expressing many misgivings in connection with the future peace and welfare of the world. Russia had gone far on the road of dubious government planning, and France was seriously threatened with communism. Balfour said England was facing serious social problems, and that danger existed in large American cities. The English statesman evidently saw what was coming. But he added—20 years ago—that if civilization as then known, were forced to disappear, it would in time be restored by one large group—rural America. He is quoted as stressing that encouraging conclusion: "But if it does, there is one class in one nation that in time will bring it back to the world. That is the people of rural America, those who live in the small towns and on the farms of your country. They are the safe, sane, dependable people of the world today. They will, in time, bring our civilization back to the world, but it will take 100 years to do it."

Still a Farm Problem

(Omaha Journal-Stockman.)
Notwithstanding political claims that agricultural conditions have been greatly improved by legislation in recent years the action of farmers and farm organizations indicate that the farm problem is still with us. In their national conventions the Grange and the Farmers Union have already voiced their demands for more remedial laws and next week the American Farm Bureau federation will take up the matter in their convention in Baltimore.

Bureau leaders have not been at all backward in declaring that farmers have been disappointed that the AAA and other farm organizations, together with the many financial set-ups have not brought about the results that were predicted. Many militant farm leaders insist, that the present federal farm program has not given farmers parity prices for their products and they are of the opinion that something should be done about it.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the organization, is emphatic in declaring that congress still faces a most serious agricultural program. "Many farmers realize," he said, "that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to prevail upon congress in 1941 to make another large appropriation for cash payments to farmers, such as have been made the last three years, $212,000,000 in 1938 and in 1940 and $225,000,000 in 1939, because of the tremendous appropriations that will have to be made for national defense."

What farmers really want is better prices for their crops. Give them good prices and other farm problems will settle themselves. "Domestic market prices can be stabilized at near-parity levels as effectively as at the lower levels established in the past through government loans," insists O'Neal. "In other words, the present AAA act would be amended to provide loans up to 100 per cent of parity on the basic crops instead of 75 per cent as now provided by the law for corn, wheat, tobacco, cotton and rice. Acreage allotment features of the AAA would be retained. "If there is going to be any price-fixing by the government, or under the authorization of the government then farm prices should be fixed at parity, and agriculture should be brought to a level of equal exchange with all other groups," he said. "The increased buying power of the farmer to meet the needs of the farm will help solve the unemployment problem by a greatly increased demand for the products of industry and labor, and establish a healthy relation between city and country."

All of which appears to the country to have a familiar ring. Everyone agrees that better prices for farm products spell better prices for manufactured products and greater prosperity for us all. It is evident, however, from the demands of farm leaders and farm organizations that this condition has not yet been brought about. The real farm problem is how to achieve agricultural parity with industry and it promises to be with us for some time.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Three members of the house committee on appropriations—Stefan of Nebraska, Carter of California and Rabaut of Michigan, have been on the western coast inspecting federal prisons which included both McNeil Island near Tacoma, Wash., and Alcatraz, near San Francisco. The committee's report to the full committee on appropriations will include suggestions regarding possible savings in the next appropriations for our federal prison system. Members of the committee indicate that our prison population is growing in spite of many paroles and discharges.

The Pacific northwest is booming as a result of our national defense program. Vancouver, Wash., is especially booming due to the completion of the first unit of a new plant of the American Aluminum corporation which is already turning out large quantities of aluminum. Five additional units are to be constructed and about 700 men are to be employed. When completed, the Vancouver plant will be next largest to the one in the Tennessee Valley which is said to be the largest in the United States. These plants are now regarded as national defense plants and a strict regulation has been inaugurated against visitors in order to eliminate danger of sabotage. Much of the aluminum is going into the manufacture of airplanes.

Believe it or not, we have about ten years of raw ore on and under the ground for the manufacture of aluminum and there is no danger of any shortage of this material at the present time. Gigantic electric power supply is necessary for the making of aluminum and locations of plants to available electric power is the first consideration. Bonneville power supplies the Vancouver plant.

British ship experts are on the Pacific coast now ordering American built merchant ships. One expert says Great Britain wants us to build them 60 of these ships. Submarines have sunk too many of the vessels which must be replaced if a steady supply of material is to go to England. Vancouver and Portland are competing for ship yards to supply some of these vessels. During the last war Vancouver had a ship yard for that purpose and is offering some free sites to this and other industry which is being attracted to points of water transportation and cheaper and abundant electric power.

Members of the house are notified to be ever ready to return to their Washington offices but are also told that the leadership is satisfied that while congress is in session and is adjourning frequently, time will be marked to some date just before Christmas when this session will adjourn sine die. New members who will come into office on January 3 are busy looking for office space.

Over a thousand soldiers at one of the camps in Washington state have had colds or near-influenza. Wet, cold, foggy weather is something new to some of the recruits, many of whom are living in tents. These tents, holding a squad of men, are quite comfortable. They have board floors, electric lights, and sleeping facilities are good. Hundreds of new officers and men are steadily filling up these new cantonments and many of the men are finding some shortage of uniforms and certain supplies which will be forthcoming within the very near future.

Fishing is good in the lakes and rivers around Vancouver, Portland and Seattle. Steel head salmon runs are on and the commercial fishermen are making very good hauls. These fish are somewhat smaller than the Chinook salmon which are larger and better eating according to the natives. Ducks are plentiful all over the Puget Sound country and also around Portland and Vancouver. The shooting mornings on the lakes sounds like a Fourth of July celebration. Hunters claim it is no trick to bring back the limit of ducks. Strikes hold back national defense progress in the lumber industry in the Pacific northwest. Although there is a great demand for the lumber and prices have gone up, the union men are asking for higher wages in order to participate in the increased prices going to the mills. Strike mediators are on the ground settling the strikes as fast as they break out.

LOCALS

Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Ingham and Tommy of Norfolk, were Sunday dinner guests in the A. W. Ross home and supper guests at the Dr. C. T. Ingham home. Wilbur Sydow of O'Neill, spent from Sunday to Tuesday morning in the Irving Daring and Mrs. Rebecca Sydow home. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sydow of O'Neill, Mrs. Ervin Van Cleave and Lester Sydow of Stuart, were also Monday dinner guests in the Daring and Sydow home. All were here for the funeral of Mrs. Helen Erleborn.

Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ingham will have all their children here for a family reunion at the holidays. Mrs. Duran Summers will come from Atlanta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ingham from Alhambra, Cal., Miss Esther Ingham from Wauwatosa, Wis., Dr. and Mrs. Charles Ingham and Tommy from Norfolk. The Ralph Inghams observe their 20th wedding anniversary December 28.

Explosions in plants making national defense material, including powder, have caused deaths and destruction around Tacoma. Federal investigators are on the ground looking for fifth columnists. That sabotage is responsible for these blasts is not denied in private circles. With the United States becoming a great world arsenal, Uncle Sam's sleuths are mighty busy trying to check these destructive acts. Cedar mills, which have great supplies of lumber on hand, are worried over the competition from Canadian mills. The Americans say that Canadian cedar shingles are coming in duty free. The Canadian mills pay 44 cents an hour less to their workers as compared to the American prices. Canadian money exchange also helps the Canadians. So the Canadians set the price on American cedar shingles and the American lumber men say foreigners control a market which first belongs to Americans. The Washington state farmers have the same thing to say about Canadian apples. They have the same complaint to make about Canadian imports that Nebraska farmers have to say about imports of meat and grain from South America. It has been too wet to harvest all of the potato crop around Portland and Vancouver. Potato digging machines have been idle for some days. Farmers are not satisfied with the prices of potatoes. The plum crop was ruined this year due to dry weather, the farmers say. Most of the farms are small in acreage—around 40 acres. So the cream check has kept most of the farmers going. Many Nebraska farmers who left home because of the drought and who came to the Pacific northwest, get jobs in lumber mills or in the various industries. The country is highly unionized and a union card is absolutely necessary before getting most any kind of a job. Common labor in the new aluminum plant at Vancouver is around 62 cents an hour. A high school graduate who started at this wage and got promoted now gets 82 cents an hour with a bonus of about $5 a week. However, there are thousands of men without jobs in the Pacific northwest and jobs are not half so plentiful as the publicity would believe from the very flowery publicity regarding new industries.

Formula Is Given For Saving Trees

In response to requests for a method of saving trees from damage by rabbits, L. R. Barratt gives the formula for a liquid which he spreads on tree trunks. Into 1 gallon of hot water he mixes 1/2 pound of soap chips, 2 pounds of lime of sulphur, 3/4 pound of asafetida and 1/4 pound of London purple. Mix out of doors. After the substance has cooled Mr. Barratt spreads it on tree trunks with a paint brush. He used this on many trees last year and none were eaten.

Increase Asked By State Board

Restoration of Salaries and Needed Repairs Given As School Needs.

Partial restoration of salary cuts and needed repairs at campuses of the teachers colleges prompted the state board of education to ask the legislature for an increase of $119,714 in appropriations for the four state schools during the coming biennium.

Providing the request is granted, salary increases at Wayne will amount to $14,786 and building repairs at $11,317. Chadron would get salary increases of $3,228 and repairs of $21,700. Kearney's salary increases would be $13,991 and repairs $14,698. Peru's salary raises would be $14,102 and repairs $15,681. No new buildings are being requested.

Two years ago it was recommended that the colleges have $1,119,538 and the legislature cut this by about $70,000.

Early Resident Of Pender Dies

Services Are Conducted for August Meyer Saturday At Wakefield Church.

August Meyer, 77, father of Harvey Meyer of Wayne and William Meyer of Wakefield, died Wednesday, December 4, at his home near Pender. He had suffered a stroke about a week before.

Funeral rites were conducted at Wakefield Methodist church Saturday afternoon at 2 with Rev. R. F. Shipwright of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Pender, in charge. Burial was in Wakefield cemetery.

August Meyer was born in Hanover, Germany, October 1, 1863. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in his native land. Mr. Meyer came to America in 1888. He married Miss Ida Korth in 1895 and had since resided on a farm west of Pender.

Surviving Mr. Meyer are his wife, four daughters, Clara of Pender, Edith, now Mrs. Danny Flynn of Sioux City, Wilma and Dorothy at home, and six sons, Julius of Pender, Harvey of Wayne, Clarence of Waterbury, Erwin of Randolph, William of Wakefield, and Walter of Pender. Planning Board Lists Proposals

New Building for Library Is Scheduled for Wayne Within Decade.

Wayne and other Nebraska teachers colleges will receive $17,692 for major repairs and replacements within the next two years, providing the state planning board's recommendation is adopted by the legislature. The board proposes a $652,692 building program for 1941-43 as part of the 10-year $2,902,072 improvement plan.

Among proposals listed for completion within the decade is a new $100,000 library building at Wayne college.

New Ruling Made In Flight Training

Young men desiring flight training and commissions as ensigns in the U. S. naval reserve may apply to the nearest naval recruiting station which for this area is in Sioux City, according to a new announcement made by Lieutenant Commander W. B. Ault of Kansas City.

A youth who passes educational qualifications and preliminary physical examination is sent to government expense to the nearest naval reserve aviation base of which there are 16 in the country. A selection board there judges his fitness and gives him complete flight physical examination. Upon being selected for flight training, the young man is placed on duty as a flight student at an aviation base.

Young men in this area who desire flight training and believe themselves qualified physically and educationally should apply to the naval recruiting station at Sioux City.

The new plan is designed to reduce the time intervening between the making of original application and starting flying instruction.

PASTEURIZATION AND STERILIZATION

Through research by Doctor Louis Pasteur during the last century, the cause of infection was discovered as being simply contamination from an unclean or germ-laden source. Doctor Joseph Lister thoroughly demonstrated that surgical operations could be performed without infection, by keeping wound, instruments and dressings completely sterile. Unless there is an inner infection, the present day infected operation wound is rare indeed.

Even Lister with his crude method of sterilizing, reduced the mortality of his operations from every other one to one out of twenty — and that was in 1845.

Modern obstetrics has especially profited from this discovery by Pasteur and practical application by Lister and others. Almost never is the hospital birth followed by infection.

Discovery of Pasteurization or sterilization has been one of the greatest gifts from Medical Science, affects us all every hour of the day, and adds to our comfort and well-being — whether we are sick or well.

But It's True

THE SIGNATURE OF U.S. PRESIDENT JAMES K. POLK IS WORTH MORE TODAY THAN THAT OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN !!

ALL SIX OF MRS. E. L. DUNCAN'S SONS WERE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT—ALTHOUGH THEY LIVED IN THE SAME HOUSE—CARRINGTON, ENGLAND, 1909...

THE KANGAROO WHICH CALLS FOR ITS MASTER'S MAIL EVERY MORNING, CARRIES THE LETTERS BACK IN ITS MOUTH—BELONGING TO JAMES FEENEY OF BULLS GROVE, AUSTRALIA...

It is not necessary for members of parliament to reside in the district which they represent. Polk signed his name less frequently than any other President. Lincoln signatures are numerous.

Experiences at Club Congress in Chicago Thrill

The thrill of being picked for top honors in home furnishings judging and also of being the two highest individual judges in a national contest came to Esther and Helen Schroeder of Wayne, last week at Chicago. Helen writes of the trip as follows:

"The 19th national 4-H club congress was held in Chicago the past week with 44 states and Canada sending representatives to this annual event.

"Approximately 50 Nebraskans left Omaha Saturday, November 30, and returned there last Friday. I was one of the 4-H members who rode the Burlington, writes the Wayne girls, "and the rest of the Nebraska delegation made the trip to Chicago on the Rock Island.

"During their stay in the city, the Nebraska folks stayed in the Harrison hotel. The Auditorium hotel was the place of meeting for the 4-H when the group made tours or visits.

"Twentyfour girls went to the Sears-Robuck store Monday, December 2, to judge in the home furnishings division. Late that night L. I. Frisbie called us at our hotel room and told us we were the high team in our class, that Esther had placed first as an individual and that I was second. No one could have been happier at that moment than we were.

"Every part of the trip was educational and interesting for each and every one of the 1,700 who attended the 19th national 4-H club congress in Chicago where we were entertained and befriended by the Chicago people.

"Among the sights we saw on our tours were the art institute, the field museum of natural history, the Shedd aquarium, the international live stock exposition and the McCormick works yards.

"We were also privileged to see such well-known people as Bob Feller, Tom Harmon, Wayne King, Frances Langford, Jon Hall, Patty Berg, Jane Alden, Bill de Correvant, the "quiz kids" with Joe Kelly and Bobby Riggs.

"I never knew that so much fun could be packed into one week and yet be so valuable. At the club congress I also met many new people and gained new friends from all parts of America. The club congress is a place where all meet and become one large happy group."

Schools in County Apply for Fruits

A number of Wayne county schools have applied for surplus commodities which are available on request. Supt. F. B. Decker has filed these requests and expects the distribution of fruits to start soon.

Health Seal Sale Is Conducted Here

Sale of Christmas health seals, conducted from December 2 to 9 through schools of the county, will realize a fund which will be used for first aid kits and for T. B. examinations. Reports from the sale are expected to reach Supt. F. B. Decker soon.

Have New Books. District 65, with Lorene Wittler teacher, has just bought a new set of Compton's encyclopedias.

Sign Is Displayed. In response to requests, Supt. F. B. Decker has secured for exhibit a metal "Drive! Slow School" sign which is at this office. School officers wishing to see this are invited to do so.

District 25. (Kathleen Mayberry, teacher.) Many had perfect attendance for the first three months. Reaume Loche and Melvin Svoboda received 100 every day for a month in spelling. Pupils are busy making Christmas decorations and gifts. They are also arranging a Christmas program.

District 2. (Ruth Hackett, teacher.) At the last meeting of the LaPorte city council of the school, the following were elected officers for this month: Mayor, Joyce Bichel; city clerk, Johnnie Luschen; judge, Nadine Jorgensen. Names were exchanged for Christmas gifts.

Ardyce Lutt treated the school to cake and jello for her birthday. Some of the money which was taken in at the Thanksgiving program has been spent for games to keep the pupils occupied during the recesses of cold days.

Joyce Bichel brought flowers to school to brighten the room. The 5th and 6th geography class has begun working in a new workbook on South America. This news was assembled during the club meeting.

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Reeker

A Mighty Mean Kid.

"Jean is a naturally mean kid, your honor. Won't you take him and lock him up for six or seven years? I just can't do anything with him. He spits on me and kicks me on the legs when I tell him to do something."

Jean's mother, her hat hanging on the side of her head, emphasized her remarks by stomping her feet and banging the judge's desk as she shifted about from one corner of it to the other.

Jean stood beside her, chewing a long piece of licorice candy. In one hand he held a live sparrow; in the other, a wrinkled, dirty cap, which he used as a handkerchief to wipe away tears, the aftermath of a whipping on the courthouse steps.

More interested in the live sparrow than in what was going on in the courtroom, the little vagabond looked at the judge as if to say, "It will be all right to go to jail if I can keep the sparrow." But amidst the flood of his mother's remarks he found no opportunity to speak.

At length the tide ebbed, and it became apparent that the woman was a "bad" mother.

English Children Continue Activity

We are still quite safe and have not had much to be bothered about although you may have heard about the trouble some of our people have had. Thus a little English girl, Gwen, writes to Jacqueline Wightman October 26, from Huddersfield in a letter which arrived in Wayne a month later.

The little girl explains that she has been taking advantage of light evenings to play out of doors but now that it is dark at 6:30 she will not be out. "I have been back at school about a month and we are having next week holiday," Gwen continues. "I am now in the top form of school and I shall be leaving when I am 14."

"My sister's boy friend has been called up and he has gone into the Royal Air Force." Gwen tells that she has a new pet, a burgeriger which is green with a blue tail. He is quite tame and is seven weeks old.

Accident Record Shows Increase

"Fine Parade," the magazine published monthly in Honolulu by employees of the Hawaiian Pineapple company, contains figures in the Thanksgiving issue which show a heavy increase of accidents in the island plants the past year. The rise ranges from 50 per cent in Honolulu to 254 per cent in Lanai. In an effort to improve this record, which is costly both to employees and to employers, the company has made special awards to those who do not have accidents.

Other items in the paper, sent by Isabelle Gueso to Jacqueline Wightman, tell of health examinations, sports and entertainments sponsored by the company for the workers. It also contains news items about the group. Isabelle writes that 1940 has been the hottest year in Honolulu. Some snow has fallen recently and severe rain storms have come but the weather remains hot.

The little Hawaiian girl and her sister spent Thanksgiving day assisting the last interscholastic football game of the season. On their return home they had roasted duck for their mother's birthday.

Isabelle sent a pressed butterfly orchid, the first bloom on plants she raised. A friend gave her one orchid plant several years ago and she now has eight. After three years the plants began to blossom.

Kind of Weather Repeats in Cycles

That weather repeats in cycles of 23 years is noted in an article in the November issue of The Feed Bag, a copy of which is furnished by Mrs. Carl Bala. The writer states that the 23-year repetition theory has proved 80 to 90 per cent of the time in weather of 1917-18 and the expected this year follows.

November: Outside of the first few days, the following weeks show a period of little warm weather over almost northern and middle of the about normal temperature south. The later part of the cold in northeast section. Continued warm from the low central valleys westward to north to average cooler than the in the east but from Michigan and middle Michigan westward decidedly.

December: A marked cold about the middle of the first 15 degrees below normal and continuing until the end of the month with no let-up except for a few days in the central valley. Nearly everywhere east of the Rockies snowfall greater than normal and does much to protect winter grains.

January: Steady and severe everywhere, persisting through the month, notably over Florida and the gulf states. Temperatures east of the Rockies lowest in 29 years. Snowfall usually heavy, except for deficiencies in Michigan and Texas.

February: Following a week of intense cold the temperature begins to end one of the severest and most prolonged cold periods on record. Not much precipitation during the month.
