

To Ponca's State Park — Many Wild Speculations Over Destiny of the Bigley Ravine — Late Snows Reminiscent of Experience in Oregon.

Tales told to account for the purchase of bluffs along the Missouri river, now the state park, north of Ponca, in the early days, were numerous and often fantastic, and as subsequent years proved, none came true. What has become an inviting park was, in its primitive ruggedness, worthless for farming and of little value for grazing. It was known as Bigley's ravine—a jumble of gulches and rocky hills. Sawmills, engaged in converting timber into lumber, were soon left with nothing to work on and had to quit and move. Up and down the river on the Nebraska side high bluffs and projecting rocks excited speculations as to what of value they contained. Early settlers figured they must have been designed for some useful purpose.

In the late seventies local explorers, with a liking for primal naivness, only disturbed by the noise of birds and the howl of coyotes, found the petrified bones of pre-historic creatures. One huge mine reptile, the plesiosaurus, which was unearthed, was patched together and exhibited in the east. Different coal mining enterprises were launched, and the bluffs were penetrated in the hope of finding marketable fuel. Only worthless lignite was brought to the surface, however, and failure stopped the series of mining ventures.

A north and south railroad was expected to build in order to use the bluffs to hold up one end of a bridge across the river. It seems in 1886 a mysterious fellow came along and bought the ravine, and then speculations were rife as to what he intended to do with it. The more stoutly he refused to reveal his plans, the more feverish became the eagerness to find out. It was guessed that goats could thrive among the jagged hills, and therefore that the purchase had been made for the purpose of starting a goat farm. The report that gold and diamonds had been discovered in the hills led to suspicion that a quest for untold riches was approaching. A story that an Indian chief had buried treasures in the ravine long before advent of white settlers was offered as reason for investment in apparently worthless land.

But none of the surmises panned out. Whoever later bought the ravine from the mysterious fellow did not pay much for it. No ground was suitable for farming, and only cattle and other animals, qualified as athletes, were turned into it for pasture. Not much was heard of the ravine for a long series of years. It was there for some inscrutable reason—sometimes used by the venturesome for picnics, or to accommodate anyone who had a yearning to commune with original nature, but it was not easy to get into it—especially get out of it. Finally at the instance of local enterprises along came the state in a receptive mood to establish a park, and the ravine was accordingly acquired for that purpose. Trails through the gulches were widened and smoothed into easily passable roads. Underbrush was cleared out, and many beautifying touches were given without destroying the natural setting. Conveniences for picnickers and campers were provided. The present delightful reality was not anticipated in the old days of wild conjectures.

Four Feet on Level. The late heavy snowfall reminds us of one winter in Klamath county, Oregon, high up on the eastern slope of the Cascades. Snow fell to a depth of four feet, and as a result Klamath Falls was bottled up for more than two weeks—no stages able to run and no means of communicating with the outside world. To fill an abridged newspaper it was necessary to rely almost entirely on imagination.

A bear hunter whose whiskers were so long he had to fold and knot them under his chin, came to town from his mountain abode by driving a bull ahead of him through the snow. The bull had ample strength, but was kept going in the right direction with considerable difficulty. Stages had a long, hard task in opening trails over the mountains to connect with the railroad 65 miles distant. None of the modern conveniences for fighting snow had been invented. Just ordinary shovels and plenty of muscle were used.

That winter reminds us of running a newspaper in Klamath Falls before the railroad came, and before its rich, surrounding resources had been much more than touched. Business houses were few and had little to advertise, and a comparatively small number to interest by way of advertising. A county as large as an eastern state had less population than the city of Wayne. But sometimes persons who, in venturing, employ no sense of reasoning, are rescued from making by fortuitous circumstances.

FIFTYNINTH YEAR

Early Banker Of County Dies In City Sunday

Rites for R. G. Rohrke Will Be Conducted Friday at Church in Hoskins.

R. G. Rohrke, 68, lifelong resident of northeast Nebraska and prominent figure here for many years, passed away Sunday evening, December 15, at a Norfolk hospital where he was taken Saturday after becoming suddenly ill with aneurism.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 at the Lutheran church in Hoskins with Rev. R. F. Biddorf officiating. Burial will be at St. Paul's cemetery in Norfolk.

Richard G. Rohrke, son of M. G. and Mary Rohrke, was born July 28, 1872, in Madison county, near Norfolk. After receiving his education he taught in the Deek school east of Hoskins and later established a store in Hoskins. For a time he was on the road as adjuster for the Hartford Fire Insurance company. Mr. Rohrke then went into the banking business in Meadow Grove. Two years later he established himself in the banking business in Hoskins and served in this capacity for many years.

When the county board granted Hoskins residents permission to incorporate, Mr. Rohrke was one of the trustees appointed for the new village. At the first election in 1899 he was chosen clerk. Later he was elected trustee and served in this capacity several years.

Mr. Rohrke was an active member of the Lutheran church in Hoskins and had held offices for many years. He had also served as trustee for Dr. Martin Luther college at New Ulm, Minn.

Mr. Rohrke and Miss Martha E. Zutz, were married August 31, 1898, by Rev. R. Gruber of Hoskins. Besides his wife he leaves two sons, Lloyd of Chicago and Paul of Houghton, Mich., and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Stoepelwerth of Indianapolis. All are here. There are six grandchildren. Naomi, Ruth and Richard Stoepelwerth, Ann, Barbara and Maoy Joann Rohrke. Deceased is also survived by two brothers, Otto of Lodi, Cal., and Hugo of Broken Bow, Neb., and one sister, Mrs. Bertha Rautenberg of Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rohrke are expected here for the winter.

Pallbearers are Paul Zutz of Norfolk, Ewald Rohrke of Hadar, Walter Gutzman, Louis Krause, Frank Miller and Gustav Schmidt of Hoskins.

Passes at Home In This County

Services Are Conducted for Griffith Edwards, 70, at Church Saturday.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the Presbyterian church near Carroll for Griffith Edwards, 70, who died Tuesday evening, December 10. Rev. S. N. Horton and Gaebler & Neely had charge, and burial was in Bethany cemetery.

Mr. Edwards had suffered a stroke a couple of years ago and had failed since. His condition became critical a few days before his death.

Griffith Jones Edwards was born October 5, 1870, in Penrhyn-Dendraeth, Wales. He was a son of John Edwards and Jane Jones Edwards. He came to this country when 18 years of age and located in Iowa. He married Mary Woods at Red Oak, Ia., December 6, 1893. The couple lived in Iowa until 40 years ago, March, 1900, when they came to Wayne county and located near Carroll, their home since.

Surviving Mr. Edwards are his wife, one son, David of Winside, and two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Schmitt of Lancaster, Cal., who arrived Monday last week, and Sarah at home. He also leaves four sisters, Mrs. Dave Rees and Mrs. Will Morris of Carroll, and two in Wales, and two brothers, Will of Seattle, and Robert of Red Oak. There are eight nephews and 25 nieces.

NUMBER THIRTYTHREE

DUST BOWLERS IN PACIFIC COUNTRY HAVE TOUGH TIME

A STORY of the "dust bowlers" who migrated to the Pacific coast from hard-hit sections of the middle west, comes from Portland, Ore., where it is said they are ragged and hungry as European war refugees, but, invincible, they say they are not beaten and want no pity. The report states that 450 thousand persons poured into the northwest in the last ten years, traveling in ramshackle vehicles and arriving to find startling unemployment and little available farm land worth farming. Farmers from Custer and Antelope counties, Nebraska, were mentioned and those who expressed themselves, told of tough and near-starvation experiences, but were not certain whether they should have stuck to Nebraska or ventured into the northwest without resources or prospect. "The federal farm security administration estimates," says the report, "that there still are 25 thousand low-income, near-desstitute resident and non-resident families in the northwest eager for opportunities to become re-established on farms."

Football Team Is Honored For Perfect Record

University Football Films Are Shown For Public At Auditorium.

Wayne high school football team, closing the season with a perfect record, was honored Wednesday evening at a dinner given jointly by the Men's club and Chamber of Commerce at the Presbyterian church. About 115 from the school and the two business groups were present.

Dr. L. F. Perry presided at a short after-dinner program. Prof. F. G. Dale presented to the Wayne team a trophy. This is an ivory base above which is a figure carrying a football. The gold base is inscribed. The trophy has been on display in M. L. Ringer's window.

Motion pictures of the Minnesota-Nebraska and Oklahoma-Nebraska football games were shown at the auditorium after the dinner, this being open to the public. The Pitt-Nebraska pictures, at first to be shown, did not turn out so well so were not included.

R. W. Horney, director of intramural athletics at the university, accompanied the pictures and told about them. He was a guest at the dinner. Invitations were sent to a number of high schools in the vicinity and most of these were represented. This week's snow reduced the number somewhat.

Golden Wedding Observed Here

Chas. E. Gildersleeves Are Honored Monday for Their Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gildersleeve observed their golden wedding anniversary Monday. They received flowers and many cards but the severe weather prevented friends from calling. Mrs. Mae Young and Mrs. Ellen Gearhart entertained at dinner Sunday for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Gildersleeve, the latter formerly Lillian Cunningham, were married at the David Cunningham home near Wayne December 16, 1890. Mr. Gildersleeve had come here nine years before and Mrs. Gildersleeve eight years. They have resided near and in Wayne since.

In the Gildersleeve family are two children, a son, Glenn, at Dover, Del., and a daughter, Miss Helen, at home.

Two Face Charge In Dixon County

Omaha Youths Arrested at Emerson Are Taken to Ponca in Case.

Two Omaha youths, each giving his age as 19, are facing breaking and entering charge in Dixon county as result of an early Sunday morning escapade in this vicinity.

Richard Wallace's car was missing from its parking on a Wayne street Sunday morning about 1 o'clock. Sheriff J. H. Pile notified other officers who were on the lookout. A little later a battery and tools were taken from an oil salesman's car parked on a Wakefield street. About 3 that morning two men entered a liquor store in Emerson, taking about $16 in cash and some cigars. Emerson city marshal arrested the two, recovered the stolen goods and identified the car as belonging to Wallace of Wayne.

Sheriff Pile brought the car back Sunday and the machine was not damaged. Dixon county sheriff took the Omaha youths to Ponca to face charge of breaking and entering the Emerson store.

Messiah Attracts Good Crowd Here

In spite of snow and cold Sunday evening, about 1,200 gathered at Wayne municipal auditorium for the seventh annual presentation of the ever popular Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," by Handel. Prof. John R. Keith, director, the soloists, chorus of 150 and orchestra of 40 deserve much credit for an outstanding success.

Soloists included Dolores McNatt, Betty Wright, Janese Ridell, Frances Bleszek, Beryl Nelson, Gene Tavener and Prof. Russel Anderson. Wayne Kiwanians sponsored the oratorio as is their custom.

Sum Is Raised For Iron Lung

P. L. March Donates Reprints Of Show to Replenish Paralysis Fund.

Though weather reduced attendance some, the show sponsored at the Gay theatre Tuesday evening for benefit of the iron lung fund was attended by a fair crowd. P. L. March donated all receipts for reimbursing the fund from which $200 was given to help buy two lungs at Norfolk. Wayne has a sum raised each year at the president's birthday ball for relief in case of infantile paralysis. As time was short $200 was taken from this and given to Norfolk. The benefit and other gifts will replenish the fund.

Captain W. G. Buettow, A. H. Anderson and Ernest Yenny of the first aid squad of the Norfolk fire department, were here and showed one of the iron lungs at the theatre lobby. This was of much interest to all.

Mr. March presented an outstanding feature for the occasion, Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard in "The Ghost Breaker." The Norfolk men were guests at dinner Tuesday evening at Hotel Stratton. With them were M. L. Ringer, N. H. Brugger, L. B. McClure and W. S. Bressler, officers of Wayne fire association, and W. H. Swett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Home Decorations Are To Be Judged

Home decorations will be judged this week-end by a secret committee. Electrical prizes furnished by the city will be awarded the day before Christmas.

SESSION OF COURT TUESDAY POSTPONED

District court jury session, set for Tuesday, was postponed indefinitely because of the weather.

Because of Christmas next week the Herald will issue a day earlier than usual. It is urged that all news and advertising copy reach this office a day earlier than usual.

Wright Appointed County Assessor

Wayne county board, in regular session Tuesday, appointed Claude Wright county assessor to fill the unexpired term of the late L. C. Gildersleeve. The appointment continues until another election. Mr. Wright has served as Wayne city assessor.

Area Emerges After Season's Second Storm

Shifts Work Day and Night To Open Highways and Country Roads.

For a second time this season Wayne county and other mid-western areas have dug out of drifts resulting when a high wind early Monday morning packed Sunday's heavy snow. The storm came five weeks to a day after the year's first blizzard of Armistice day caught many unprepared and resulted in extensive losses. The November cold spell following a heavy rain damaged wires and trees and also resulted in considerable loss of poultry and stock.

This week's storm found people ready. Snow started falling Saturday and continued practically all day Sunday. Reports of the depth of snow vary from 8 to 13 inches. Early Monday a strong wind whipped the heavy blanket of snow into drifts.

Traffic halted temporarily Monday morning but crews of men started immediately to dig out. Snow plows worked all day and all night and had all main highways open Tuesday morning. Plows also worked full-time shifts on country roads and these were opened to travel after a short interruption.

Rural mail carriers were able to make only part of their routes Monday. Buses were cancelled. (Continued on Page Two)

Christmas Day To Be Observed

Many Gatherings Planned By Family Groups at Holiday Time.

The holidays will bring many families together this year for the much-enjoyed reunions at the Christmas and New Year time. Among these will be the following: Prof. and Mrs. Russell Anderson and daughter will spend the Christmas vacation in the Albert Anderson home at Wausa.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Strahan and family of Cherokee, Ia., and Miss Betty Strahan of Sioux City, will spend the day at Buster Strahan's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ahern will have as Christmas guests Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ahern and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Peters of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hiscox, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood and Elwayne will be Christmas dinner guests at E. A. Whitney's at Sioux City.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Strahan and family will spend Christmas in the G. A. Mittelstadt home at Winside. (Continued on Page Two)

Last of Pictures To Be Saturday

The last of the series of free motion pictures for children will be shown at the Gay theatre Saturday. The film is "Youth Will Be Served," starring Jane Withers. Showings start at 10 a. m., 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. Santa will distribute a treat to each child as he leaves the theatre.

The picture last Saturday drew packed houses at each showing. Many rural children and a number from other towns attended. Santa will be in his igloo at the city hall grounds Saturday from 3:15 to 4:15.

Review Activities of Year

ly functioned." The aim of the agriculture committee is to foster the feeling of cooperation between farmers and business men: Mr. Lundberg feels that this first year's work has been very successful.

For New Enterprises. The new enterprise committee, has, according to Chairman P. A. Theobald, "considered the establishment of a laundry in Wayne, but upon investigation found it not practical, so ceased endeavors in that direction, but succeeded in getting a transfer company to locate in this community, is investigating the establishment of a reconstruction finance office in Wayne, is striving to get a wholesale grocery to locate here and is giving serious thought to the establishment of a truck warehouse in this city." Mr. Theobald states that "it is difficult to get new enterprises started in a town, but believes this particular committee will be able to function more efficiently during its second year of organization."

Promote Athletic Center.

Al. Krome, head of the athletics events committee, told of the actions of his committee by saying, "we helped plan the Wayne relay which held at Wayne college last spring at which event a relay queen was crowned and various trophies were awarded; we organized a baseball team and helped organize the baseball league; we helped in the arrangement of the broadcast of the homecoming game of the Wayne college and we are now planning a dinner for the Wayne high football team in honor of their undefeated record of the past season. We also sponsored the distribution of tickets for the Southern Normal vs. Wayne college football game this fall." The purpose of the athletic committee is to promote all athletic contests with the objective that of making surrounding territory think of Wayne as an athletic center.

Work for Conventions. The convention committee, under the leadership of T. S. Hook, has been quite active during the year, not functioning so much as a committee but more through individuals who are members of organization.

COMMITTEE HEADS OF LOCAL CHAMBER REPORT PROGRESS

INTERVIEWS with Chamber of Commerce committee chairmen, published in today's Herald, will reveal objectives accomplished and sought, and will help enable members to decide as to the wisdom of the investment after a year's trial. Reports are gratifyingly favorable. All efforts in behalf of forging closer ties of reciprocity between city and country are eminently important. Wayne is a rural community, and its interests and those of neighboring farm areas are mutual. Whatever either town or country does for the other helps both. In building a bigger and busier community, in introducing new capital, in affording opportunities for more employment, in persuading more young people to enroll in the Wayne college, the Chamber of Commerce serves a useful purpose. The first year of its existence on the present rather large scale is somewhat experimental, and the coming year should, working on a foundation of experience, be more fruitful of desirable results.

Some Counties Reduce Levy

Tax Commissioner Report Shows Twentyeight Cut Despite Values.

In spite of lower assessed valuations, 28 Nebraska counties reduced property tax levies the past year, according to report of the state tax commissioner. Of the other counties, 28 retained the same levies and 37 had increases, some of them very slight.

Wayne county was one of those making a slight increase. The tax levy here in 1939 was 3 mills and in 1940 it was set at 3.05. The general fund levy was reduced and mothers' pension levy eliminated. Soldiers' relief and bridge levies were increased, making an increase of only .05.

Among counties cutting levies are the following: Cedar, from 4.20 to 3.75; Dakota, from 5.15 to 5; Knox, from 4.97 to 4.50; Pierce, from 4.42 to 4.21; Thurston, from 5 to 4.95.

Counties in this area increasing their levies are the following: Burl, from 3.48 to 3.66; Cumint, from 1.91 to 2.16; Dixon, from 3.95 to 4.38; Madison, from 4 to 5.20; Stanton, from 3.43 to 3.98.

Borrowed Machine Found Abandoned

Corn Picker Is Charged With Forging Name of Former Employer.

A car borrowed from Wm. Finn Sunday last week was found abandoned Thursday in Sioux City. Sheriff J. H. Pile and other officers are looking for the guilty party who, if found, the sheriff says, will be charged with cashing a forged check with Mr. Finn before leaving with the borrowed machine.

The stranger, it is alleged, had some work done on a car and gave Finn a check signed with the name of a Dixon county farmer for whom he had picked corn, taking the difference between the bill and the check's amount in cash. The borrowed machine was recovered by Sheriff Pile.

Officers Elected Here by Doctors

Five County Medical society met at Hotel Stratton in Wayne last Thursday evening for the last meeting of this year. Officers elected for the coming year are Dr. F. C. Dewey of Coleridge, president and Dr. J. D. Bradley of Pender, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Chas. P. Baker of Omaha, gave an illustrated lecture on clinico-pathology. Miss Wilma Eicher, also of Omaha, discussed laboratory technique for the general practitioner.

Provide Baskets To Local Families

Christmas baskets will be provided for about 30 families here next week. Most of these are provided by various groups.

Red Cross Total Again Increased

Wayne county Red Cross memberships, already at a new high of $575.62, has increased to $584.62. Included in this is $6 from Sholes.

Enlarge Board For Increasing Interest in Fair

Small Balance Is Realized By Association in This Year's Festival.

For the purpose of increasing participation in the Wayne county fair, stockholders of the association, meeting at Hotel Stratton Monday evening, voted to enlarge the board from nine to 15 members. By-laws were amended accordingly.

Walter Herman, Alfred Sydow, Iver Anderson, Fred Baird and Walter Savidge were elected directors for three years, Carl Wright and R. L. Larson for two years and M. L. Ringer and Wm. Beckenbauer for one year. All are new to the board excepting Baird and Savidge. Those whose terms had over are Wm. Peters, Phil Dammer, G. W. Albert, Simon Strate, Gus Paulsen and C. H. Morris.

H. B. Craven, president, Frank Erleben, vice president, W. E. VonSaggen, secretary, and R. W. Ley, treasurer, were renamed. The stockholders elected W. H. Swett manager and Chet Walters assistant manager for next fall's fair and also extended these two a vote of thanks for their work this fall. One of the objectives of the two will be to try to arrange the Wayne fair at a date early enough to allow Wayne county folks to enter the state fair.

Reports given by the secretary and treasurer showed that this year's fair netted about $17. Receipts were about $7,802 and disbursements were about $7,585 up to the date of the annual meeting. The board of directors meets Friday evening this week to elect delegates to the state fair managers' meeting in Lincoln January 27 and 28. Mr. Swett has been invited to attend that session to report on Wayne county's success in advance sale of season tickets and also on the cooperation between the fair and Chamber of Commerce.

About 18 stockholders attended the Monday meeting and the number would have been larger if weather had been favorable. The group visited and had coffee together after the business.

Register Soon For New Period

College Classes to Dismiss Friday Afternoon for Holiday Weeks.

Present students at Wayne State Teachers college will register for the second semester January 13 to 17. The new students will enroll Saturday morning, January 18, or during the week from January 20 to 24.

The Christmas vacation starts this Friday and continues until January 6. The Friday 2 o'clock classes will meet at 7 o'clock that morning so students may make bus connections.

Christmas Convocation. Christmas convocation was in charge of Y.W.C.A. Tuesday morning. After devotions an original play was presented and carols sung.

Students Placed. Janelle Titus, two-year student, has accepted a position in the 2nd grade at Wymore. Orwin White, four-year, will be commercial teacher and coach at Malcolm, Neb.

To Remodel Store After Christmas

Wayne Council Oak store will be remodeled after the first of the year and a complete, modern meat department will be added.

Miss Gertrude McEachen who teaches at Albion, comes Friday evening for two weeks' vacation.

that day but resumed their regular schedules Tuesday morning. No interruption was experienced in train service and no damage done to any equipment. The train made its scheduled runs each day. Telegraph and telephone service was not interrupted by this week's storm and no damage was done to wires.

Early Tuesday morning two graders moved snow drifts in the business section of Wayne to the center of Main street. Crews of men then loaded the snow onto trucks and took it to the park where it will provide valuable moisture. The men practically cleared three blocks the first day and continued their work Wednesday. The service facilitated travel and parking.

School sessions in most rural districts were cancelled Monday and many town pupils were also unable to attend that day.

Corn picking was delayed by the November storm and some of the grain still remains in fields.

The heavy snow will prove very valuable, according to D. L. Gross, extension agronomist at the Nebraska college of agriculture. Mr. Gross says this is what the state has been needing and he believes the ground will benefit from the moisture.

Appeals Ruled Suit.
The rent suit filed by Mary Laase against Anton Granquist was appealed this week from justice court to district court. Justice court found for the plaintiff and Mr. Granquist appealed.

Birth Record.
A son was born December 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brock of Palo Alto, Cal. The other child in the family is a daughter. Mr. Brock is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brock who formerly lived in Wayne.

Extends Best Cheer During Holidays

For the first time in 24 years W. H. Hoguewood has been unable to have an active part in Christmas festivities of the community. He wants the little folks to know that even though he cannot be with them, his heart is with them and he wants each one to have a most happy holiday. Mr. Hoguewood especially thanks the Woodmen and other friends who have been so kind in remembering him while he has been shut in. Mr. Hoguewood has been active in bringing Christmas cheer to all, especially to children and shut-ins. Though he cannot contact them personally this year, he extends to all best wishes for a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

Annual Meeting.
Directors of the Norfolk Production Credit association have set Saturday, January 11, as the date for the annual meeting of stockholders, according to W. A. Monson, Pierce county stockman, who is president of the association.

Mr. Monson said the directors and Secretary-Treasurer L. J. Richling are arranging a program that should make the meeting the best in the seven-year history of the agricultural credit cooperative.

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Dec. 19, 1940 No. 4

"The only difference between you and a horse is that a horse wears a collar."

"Well, I wear a collar, too."

"I'm wrong then. There ain't no difference."

There is a difference in coats, as most of you have found out, sometimes to your sorrow. If you are looking for trouble-free coal for furnace, heater or range, you can't go wrong buying Pineale. Get it in either lump or nut.

The base burner hard coal we are offering you this year is the same reliable hard coal we have had for many years past. It has given satisfaction before, just as it does now. There is none better!

The game warden came into camp and picked out the near-sighted guy with the glasses on.

"The name of the bird you just shot, he announced, "is Jones, he says."

Take a look at the houses around town after a good snow and see the houses with snow still all over their roofs. Then take a look at the neighborhood houses with the snow melted off. You're right, the houses with the snow still on are insulated houses. If you can't figure out how little it costs to save the heat that melts the snow from the uninsulated house, let us do it for you. It will pay you!

Yes, we have stoker coals to suit the most fastidious. Tell us what you want your stoker coal to do. We have a kind that will do just that, we believe.

Vacation Starts In School Friday

No Session Is Held Monday Because of Heavy Snow Which Drifted.

Wakefield high school will start Christmas vacation this Friday afternoon for two weeks. School will be resumed January 6. Most of the teachers will be out of town for the vacation, visiting home folks. School was not in session Monday because of the storm. The high school is 60 per cent rural students and when the roads are blocked and they are unable to get to school this cuts down the attendance. The attendance Tuesday morning was about 95 per cent.

Successful Jabberwock

The third annual Jabberwock sponsored by the band with other musical organizations and groups of Wakefield taking part was well attended last Wednesday evening. The band netted about $40 which will be used for new band uniforms.

First prize in the stunts went to the Band Mothers organization with second to the Auxiliary and third to P. T. A. Paul Soderberg, Miss Marie Brower and Dr. G. W. Henton were judges.

Basketball Game.
Wakefield Trojans went to Pierce last Thursday evening and lost by 31 to 17. The local team goes to Lyons this Friday evening. Several parents and business men are helping with the transportation.

Faculty Party.
Teachers new to Wakefield this year, entertained the other teachers at a Christmas party Wednesday evening at the Herbert Cecil home. Gifts were exchanged. After games, luncheon was served.

Christmas Programs.
Lower grades are having their usual Christmas programs and activities this week.

Present Pageant At Local Church

A religious pageant, "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart," written by Mrs. Herbert Cecil, wife of the local music instructor, will be presented at the Wakefield Presbyterian church Friday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Cecil has also directed the production.

The characters are: Mary, Phyllis Clough; Joseph, Walter Moeller; the voice, Herbert Cecil; Miriam, June Shellington; Nathaniel, Glen Marcoe; inn keeper, Irwin Stronberg; Little Anna, Dian Pospisil; Daniel, Delmar O'Connor; Thomas, Bob Clough; youngest wife man, Junior Clough; Verah, Bud Kilian; old prophetess, Margaret Moder; angel, Alberta Shellington; wise men, Dr. G. W. Henton and H. B. Ware; shepherds, Marvin Bichel, Warren Berg and James Hypse; priest, A. L. Pospisil.

The appropriate setting and costuming will be used. The scene is in the court yard of the inn. The music is by a quartet, Paul Stronberg, Herbert Cecil, Miss Esther Schwerdtfeger and Mrs. Max Coe. Miss Vera Green is the accompanist.

The junior, primary, beginners and nursery departments will also be presented in special numbers.

Miss Verna Wolters spent from Friday to Sunday in Norfolk.

On Being Prepared

WILLIAM S. KNUDSEN, production chief of the national defense commission, undoubtedly knows what he is talking about when he says defense plans are lagging and advises industry and union labor to forget everything but the welfare of the country in their work. Knudsen advises against the too short work week which leaves industrial plants idle two days out of seven at a critical period.

Talk in Washington is that lack of close cooperation between industrial and union labor groups may persuade the president to declare an emergency and to take command in behalf of due action. If this democracy is threatened by such social gains as increased days of idleness, the short work week had better be lengthened. Preserving this democracy is more important to labor as well as to the rest of the population than unnecessary leisure.

Americans wish to avoid war, but they want to be prepared fully for defense in case of attack. National strength is evidently the best assurance of peace in a world threatened by dictators whose pledges under the light of past experience, are worth nothing.

Trade Hurt by Weather

WHATEVER may be the virtues in the early and heavy snowfalls, they have so far hindered pre-Christmas buying. The Armistide day blizzard caught many corn fields unhusked and farmers thus delayed were checked in finishing the job by the storm during the past week-end. Having the crop properly stored in marketable condition would contribute to due holiday activities. With passable roads during remaining days before Christmas, trade will doubtless be materially augmented.

Saturday compared favorably with the same time a year ago in trade volume, and then the storm descended, interrupted travel and put a crimp in the normal flow of business. Thanks to the enterprise of officials here and over the county, streets and roads have been cleared promptly, and usual traffic has been resumed.

Compensations for the heavy snows that disturbed December trade may be found later in improved soil conditions and greater assurance of normal crops. Also with the corn problem out of the way, January trade may be expected to be stimulated.

Our mind is eased by a radio report of a recent experiment. It related to the comparative value of water of different temperatures given to hogs. It was to ascertain whether very cold water is less beneficial than that heated to a moderate temperature. Certain hogs were taken in hand and allowed to tickle and refresh their insides with varying degrees of liquid cold. Results were carefully noted—weights and other evidences of growth and health properly recorded. After due regulation of hog drinking habits, and close observation of accompanying reactions, it was found no difference developed. The conclusion was reached that the temperature of water cuts no figure in the evolution of a pig. It may be suggested that what a human relishes in water would be satisfactory to a pig and conducive to its health and well-being. Settlement of that point will enable us to turn to other more or less important matters.

The joy of giving at Christmas time or at any other time is enhanced by having little to give and by making a personal sacrifice in doing it. If one is not pinched by contributing to others' comfort or happiness, he does not relish fullness of the exalting spirit. If he feels weight of giving, he yields more of himself and accordingly gets back larger returns in satisfied consciousness.

Republicans met in Lincoln Monday to encourage solidarity of their organization. A conference of national leaders is to be held in Lincoln February 3, this state selected because of its pronounced ascendancy in party strength in the late election. Republicans are following the sound advice of Wendell Willkie, presidential candidate, in maintaining an alert minority group.

Lately mysterious strangers have been counting pedestrians who pass different points in the business district at different times of day. They have been parking themselves at corners and alley intersections and making note of the human current. If anyone knows what is in the wind, he is not disposed to explain.

West Point, which is one of the best lighted towns of its class in the state, is planning to secure more lights and become still better lighted. It has discovered that an abundance of illumination is a good investment. It has also discovered the advantage of shouting its identity in illuminated signs.

not be great, and it would seem highly worth while in getting employers and employes together.

Official Washington should do in giving out information what people in private walks expect and need. Hints of something dreadful to happen only arouse fear. Ample facts should accompany evil forebodings.

It would seem wise economy for the government to save federal funds for defense by cutting out unnecessary public building projects that are costly without doing much to relieve unemployment.

Cities and towns are gaily in holiday decorations, and Christmas programs express the joyful spirit of the occasion. Peace and good will are emphasized.

Driving Best When Roads Bad.
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

The Conditions of the roads considered, traffic accidents have been relatively few the past few days. Reasons for the decrease probably are two-fold—first, fewer cars on the highways, and second, better and more careful driving.

Everyone probably has noted that when it's foggy, or slick, or streets are blocked with snow, the automobiles move along the streets and highways at a very sedate rate. Fenders are dented and bumpers clash occasionally, but serious accidents are rare, thanks to reduced speeds and the caution observed by drivers.

Carefulness like this when roads and highways are dry and driving is "good" probably would eliminate half or more of the accidents that occur each year. This has proved true in cities like Omaha, where stringent well-enforced traffic regulations hold down speeds at all times. Only when the rest of the country learns this lesson will any substantial and lasting reduction in the accident rate occur.

What Does It Mean to You?
(Norfolk Daily News)

With all the talk of democracy and how it may be saved to the world, it is doubtful if many of us have ever stopped to think about what democracy means in our every day life. We glorify the American Way of Life, but if asked to tell just what we mean by that we would be stumped. We might point to a few examples illustrating privileges that we enjoy that peoples in totalitarian states have been deprived of, but we probably would forget many of these. Democracy is something we don't miss until its benefits are taken away from us.

Now is the time, if ever, to begin to place a value on the democratic privileges that we enjoy and to consider the foundation of them all—the constitution of the United States.

Last Sunday was the 149th anniversary of the signing of the Bill of Rights, as the first eleven amendments to the constitution are called, and the anniversary brings to mind the fact that most of the guarantees of personal rights were afterthoughts, tacked on to the constitution after it was adopted, but promised to the people as an inducement to ratify. What these amendments mean is brought out in a book, "Speak Up for Democracy," written by Edward A. Bernays. Mr. Bernays says:

"We often think of democracy as only a political abstraction or a figure of speech. Actually every American benefits by it 24 hours a day. Here are striking contrasts between living in a democracy and under a dictatorship:

"We read our morning newspaper and know that our news comes to us uncensored by the government. Freedom of the press exists. (Article I of the Bill of Rights). We may read an outspoken attack on the president. Or we note that the defendant in a sensational trial is tried openly in court before his peers. (Article VI).

"We turn on the radio. Again we know that what we hear has not been censored by our government. (Article I).

"We call up a friend on the telephone. He is free to express himself as he desires. He knows that no secret police, such as the German Gestapo or the Russian GPU is listening. (Article I).

"We get a letter uncensored—our right under the constitutional amendment on freedom of expression. (Article I).

"The doorbell rings. We may be annoyed, but we are not intimidated. We fear no Gestapo, GPU, or other secret policeman. We know that no legal kidnaping exists in America. (Article IV).

"We go to work, and carry on our business. We buy and sell to whomever we want, restricted only by law arrived at through democratic processes. We may go to a meeting of employer and employes. Men are free to create a union to bargain with their employer.

"During the day we express ourselves freely about a proposed government tax. (Article I). We get appeals in the mail for funds for two political parties, and we send a contribution to the one of our choice, or throw them both in the waste-basket.

"On the way home from work, we may listen to a soapbox orator praising a political party not in power. We may think the speech is rot, but are glad we had the right to listen to it. (Article I).

"In the evening, we hear a radio forum. Two sides of a highly controversial question are discussed by men of opposite convictions. Before we go to bed, we send a wire to our congressman urging him to do something about a specific law. (Article I).

"We go to sleep without fear that during the night secret police will invade our home and carry off a member of the family to a concentration camp. No policeman can enter our home without a warrant issued by a court through due process of law—a court order. (Article IV).

To this might be added the fact that our courts are still free and independent of the executive authority and the thought that upon our independent judiciary all of these rights depend. The first step Hitler took to bring the German people under his complete control, was to make the courts subservient to his will.

PRIEST LEADS.
A section of the backwoods country in Maine has solved the relief question through the leadership of a young priest who, seeing the desperate straits of many ill-clad and ill-fed families, organized his community into a crocheting and knitting industry, selling the products to metropolitan centers. He also persuaded tillers of the soil to diversify production, raising other things besides potatoes, and finding an ample local market for an increased variety of produce. The home crocheting and knitting industry had earnings of $350,000 this year, and promises to mount to a $3,000,000 business before long—a rated big business for the backwoods. Maine's governor said: "Today St. John Valley is the brightest spot in our relief picture. Those folks are well on their way toward solving their own problems."

Antecedent

stances that to an outside observer seem to have been carefully planned by a wonderful gift of foresight. Without an inkling of what was going to happen, large groups of strangers soon appeared to acquire tracts of Klamath county timber under the federal government's timber and stone act, and each applicant had to publish a notice in a newspaper. Hundreds of notices that came from the land office kept us afloat, and old-time Oregonians supposed such good fortune to the tenderfoot variety, fresh from the east, must have had some powerful eastern connection. Unexpected timber demands made us simulate wisdom which we did not possess. Such demands luckily enabled us, under consciousness of extreme greenness, to make the grade.

Since then Klamath Falls became connected with the outside world by the main line of the north and south railroad. Introduction of automobiles also solved the transportation problem. The city—now 10,000 inhabitants—flourishes amidst large use of timber and cultivation of irrigated tracts.

CAPITALISM.
Capitalism is a system in which individualism is inspired and rewarded. There are those who begin at the bottom, and instead of striving to reach the top, put in time and effort trying to tear down the system by which they are employed and which could be used as a foundation for success. Others who, like Wendell Willkie and William Knudsen, have started on the lowest rung of the business or industrial ladder rise steadily to positions of outstanding usefulness. The idea of one is apparently to break down employing institutions, stripping powers of leadership from those who have been successful, and destroying the capitalist system which has furnished employment. The idea of the other is to make good on merit—using individual talent and energy in a field in which service counts. The capitalist system is the only free one, and if it is not undermined by communist or fascist termites, working stealthily from within, its spirit, fanned by traditional courage, will prove invincible before any conceived dictator aggression. It is the weakening of the American fiber through insidious elements that in considerable degree speeds the need to develop adequate defense plans.

LOCAL NEWS

M. D. Coleman of Pender, was here Wednesday.

Oscar Hoeman and Wm. Fredrickson arrived home Tuesday from Sweetwater, Texas, where they had been on business. They left here the Wednesday before.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Martin left Thursday for a trip to Texas and California after visiting a week in the Oscar Liedtke home. The Martins have sold their hardware business at Genoa and are looking for a new location.

Mrs. C. J. Hess, Mrs. S. J. Benson, Mrs. Hugh Drake and daughter, Jean, left Wednesday in the Hess car for Greeley, Colo., to spend the holidays in the Drake home. They planned to reach Kearney last evening.

If you buy Mother's Christmas coat this week she'll get double pleasure out of it because she'll have it to wear during the holidays. We'll make you the same price reduction now that you expect in January on any one of our fine "Betty Rose" coats. She'll appreciate a "Betty Rose" because she knows they are nationally famous for style and quality.

PRICES NOW $1275 to $1500
Sizes 14 to 40

We bought a new assortment of ladies' dresses in late winter styles especially for Christmas giving. And we thought about the women who wear large sizes, too, and got some especially nice styles in half sizes from 20 1/2 to 24 1/2. Most of them are at the popular price of $4.95. There is also a nice group of $3.00 styles to choose from.

For the housewife who is expecting holiday guests we have a pretty, new collection of "June Love" rayon and cotton house frocks at $1.95.

Mothers appreciate nice things for their home as Christmas gifts. Fine bed spreads at $2.95 to $4.75. Warm blankets in pretty plaids are welcome gifts especially for the newtyeds. Our special 72x84 part wool plaid blankets at $2.98 are a rare value. If we were to try and duplicate on the present rising market they would cost $1 more.

A lovely lace table cloth at $3.95 would delight her. Pretty towels and towel sets at $6 to $10.00. Colorful lunch cloths at $1.00. Embroidered pillow slips at $1.00 pair. All these home gifts she'll welcome and you can choose them all here from bright new Christmas stocks.

Silk hosiery is the universally successful gift for every "Her" on your list. And if you give Munsings you can be sure she'll recognize your thoughtfulness in choosing "the best." The Munsing label means fineness and beauty and quality to every woman. We can help you choose the newest shades and the proper sizes and we'll box them for you in pretty Xmas wrappings without extra charge. Prices $1.00, 75c, 55c.

Men buy 80 per cent of all the house coats sold at Christmas time. We have the styles "She" likes, Mr. Man, and we'll Christmas wrap your selection beautifully. The price is $3.95 for lovely chenille or rayon silk coats. We can help you select the correct size.

Sweaters are "sure to please" gifts for every Miss. She never has too many if she is a high school or college girl. You are sure to find one she'll like here. Prices are $1.00 and $1.95.

Girls like bright, colorful knee-high 50c sport Sox, fuzzy colored $1.00 mittens or the new smackies at $1.95 which look like boxing gloves. Pretty satin slips at $6 are a favorite girl's gift, and any miss will be delighted with cozy, pretty Munsing pajamas — $1.50 to $1.95.

Every woman admires hand drawn linen handkerchiefs. The ones most treasured are those hand embroidered in the Chinese convent. It is almost impossible to get them now. We have a nice collection which our daughter secured for us when in China. You'll please some one greatly if you send her one for a gift. Priced — 50c.

Christian Science Services

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, December 22.

The Golden Text is: "Thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; . . . I am the Lord; and there is none else" (Isaiah 45: 18).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. . . . And God said, let there be light; and there was light. . . . And God said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Genesis 1:1,3,26).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal and divine Mind presents the idea of God; first, in light; second, in reflection; third, in spiritual and immortal forms of beauty and goodness. But this Mind creates no element nor symbol of discord and decay. God creates life, neither erasing thought, mortal life, mutable truth, nor variable ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them" (pp. 303, 295).

Better Tasting Foods, Drinks, Are Newest Gift to Housewife

"Vinylite" plastic being kneaded between heated rolls. Its whiteness heightens its resemblance to baker's dough.

A TIRE housewife sometimes says at the end of a hard day that "it seems a mile" from the kitchen stove to the family table. Yet the distance from the nation's kitchens to the nation's dining rooms nowadays is much longer than that. It is often 3,000, sometimes 6,000 miles. The housewife doesn't have to make that trip. "Big business" does that for her.

Food comes from thousands of giant kitchens, producing great transportation and storage problems. Modern refrigeration helps some of these foods to withstand transportation and storage. But for the most part they must travel and stand about in sealed cartons, cans, and bottles. These packages not only have to bring eatables and beverages to the country's tables in good condition. They must deliver them, whenever possible, with their flavors unaffected by the containers they come in.

A whole new vista of possibilities for better eating and drinking has now been opened up by way of the chemist's laboratory. The answer is a unique substance known as "Vinylite" plastic. In one phase, this appears as a lacquer which, coating the inside of a carton or can, holds the food or beverage in a plastic envelope. This envelope imparts no taste to any food or drink and seals it up from all contact with the container itself.

Foods and liquids that pick up flavors and odors very easily can be shipped and stored unscathed in this plastic. Several large metropolitan centers have approved it as a covering for the new hood type caps for milk bottles. Beer out of a can lacquered with it proves as true to taste as if drawn from the keg. Bottle cap manufacturers, who formerly had to carry some fifteen to twenty different kinds of coated paper, in addition to metal foil, now use paper coated only with the new plastic.

The substance is so non-toxic that almost the first use found for one form of it was in the making of dental plates. As a lacquer, it is not only bringing better food and drink to the country's tables. It is expected to bring new eatables and vegetables—products that never before have been able to withstand the rigors of commercial handling.

Candied Grapefruit Shells Ring Christmas Bells

THESE grapefruit are just shells of their former selves, but who cares when they're candy containers for candied orange and grapefruit shells? Give your Florida Christmas gifts that can be eaten wrapping and all! Each strip is tied in a lover's knot after you make them with these directions.

Candied Grapefruit Shells

Select large Florida grapefruit. Wash; break off cells by grating lightly on fine grater. Cut sliced from stem end of grapefruit; remove inside, leaving thick part of peel. With small sharp paring knife cut fruit from rind, removing as much as possible this way; scrape remaining membrane and pulp from rind with heavy spoon. Cover shell with cold water; bring to a boil, cook about ten minutes. Drain off water. Repeat process 3 or 4 times. Cool shell. Put in a syrup made of equal parts of sugar and water. Use sufficient syrup to float the grapefruit. Cook to 220° F. (medium thick syrup). Let fruit stand in syrup at least 24 hours. Turn several times during this period. Then cook to 232° F. (very thick syrup). Remove from syrup and turn it over a glass to shape; cool. When grapefruit is cool enough to handle roll in granulated sugar.

Candied Orange Peel

Peel of 4 Florida Cold water oranges 2 cups sugar

Remove peel from orange in four lengthwise sections; cover with cold water; bring to a boil and cook until tender. Drain. Cut peel in thin strips with scissors. Combine 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water; cook, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cook until the soft ball stage is reached (238° F.). Add peel and cook slowly for 20 minutes, until most of the syrup has been absorbed. Drain in coarse sieve. Roll peel, a few pieces at a time, in granulated sugar. If desired tie long strips in knots. Store in tightly covered container.

'Joe' Lindahl Again Wins Little All-America Honor

Virgil "Joe" Lindahl, stellar end on Coach Jim Morrison's Wildcat football squad, last week-end was awarded the high honor of a post on Paul B. Williamson's Little All-America eleven.

Is Only Grizzer in Country To Receive Award Three Times.

Winning a spot on this mythical team is old stuff to Lindahl. He first won the award when a sophomore two years ago and again last year.

Playing brilliant football throughout his entire college career under Coach Jim Morrison, Lindahl's task was made doubly hard this year because of the weird succession of injuries that kept haunting the Wildcat team during the entire season.

Blaze Destroys Store at Pender

Elmer Harder - Loses Store Building and Stock in Tuesday Fire.

Elmer Harder's store building and grocery and meat stock at Pender were completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin late Tuesday evening. Insurance is carried on both the building and stock but is not nearly equal to the loss.

The blaze, discovered by passer-by about 11:30 Tuesday night, had gained such headway that the roof caved in and it was impossible to save anything.

Elmer Harder's left hand was badly cut when broken glass struck him. A number of stitches were required to close the wounds.

Elmer Harder is a son of the Geo. Harders of Wayne and a former resident here.

Will Be Active In Speech Meet

Donley Feddersen, former Wayne student, and Don Overturf, instructors in speech in Norfolk, have been invited by F. M. Hawk, president of the State Teachers of Speech association, to take charge of two of the eight sectional meetings at the annual convention in Lincoln January 31 and February 1. Feddersen conducts the section of interpretation.

Feddersen is also asked to serve as chairman of a committee to study speech contests as a means of making recommendations to the State Teachers association. This change would provide such divisions as radio news casting, extemporaneous reading of poetry and original cuttings which would demand more from the contestant.

Gale McGee of Norfolk, also a former Wayne student, has also been invited to have charge of one of the divisions at the speech meet. He is now instructing in speech at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Old Swiss Bells, Prized Possession

Swiss bells that are 112 years old are a cherished possession of John Thiele of Wayne. The 28 bells were brought to this country by John Thiele, grandfather of the Wayne man, in 1828. They had been used in Germany about 50 years. Each bell is of different construction and sound and they make delightful chimes. John Thiele's father, also named John Thiele, had the bells until they came into the possession of the Wayne man.

Wayne Girl Gets Award in Judging

Esther Schroeder of Wayne, and Verna Jandt of Peshigo, Wis., were among the 4-H clubbers who won duplicate awards at the International Livestock show in Chicago. Each received one of the Capper trophies. Esther's was for judging home furnishings and Verna's for clothing judging.

Minnesota led in the number of "double winners," having six. Four were from South Dakota, three from Nebraska, two from Wisconsin, and one from Iowa. Girls far outnumbered boys in obtaining these prizes, only three boys winning, as compared to 13 girls.

Awarding of prizes to outstanding 4-H club members is conducted annually by the Chicago and North Western Railway company for the purpose of stimulating interest in agricultural work. Awards are made for proficiency in livestock raising or in home economics and winners are determined on the basis of recommendations made by the state agricultural colleges of universities, acting with the cooperation of county agents, in the states served by the Chicago and North Western Railway company.

Recommend Changes In Law Procedure

Lincoln, Dec. 17.—The state bar association's committee on legislation recommended today the next legislature be asked to pass a bill limiting the time within which inheritance taxes may be assessed and barring the lien of such taxes against real estate after the expiration of a certain time.

The committee, headed by Laurens Williams, Omaha, will pass the recommendation along to the bar convention in Omaha Dec. 27 and 28.

Other legislation to be recommended: A bill providing that if, after a primary election, a vacancy upon the ballot for county judge or county superintendent is occasioned by the death or withdrawal of a nominee, and there shall be more than one petition filing for such vacancy, the governor shall choose from among such petition candidates the one whose name shall appear on the general election ballot.

A legislative appropriation of $1,044 to reimburse all claims of district judges for traveling expenses, "which have not been paid because of the depletion of funds out of which such claims otherwise would have been paid."

Adoption of uniform acts, such as those relating to bills of lading, conditional sales, expert testimony, partnerships, stock transfers, and trust receipts.

On the committee, besides Williams, are District Judge Fred L. Spear, Fremont; Robert D. Flory, Columbus; Robert A. Nelson and Clarence T. Spier, Omaha; James L. Brown, Clarence L. Clark and Max G. Towle, Lincoln.

Much Snow, Big Crops.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)
This may be unusual weather by comparison with other recent seasons, but the old-timers insist that it's what Nebraska and Iowa weather used to be like every year. Well, if our memory serves us correctly, they're talking about the time when abundant crops were rule in this section, and while the snow may be inconvenient right now, it should pay dividends in the long run.

Ralph Moore, member of a prominent Boston family, always wanted to be a farmer, instead of following his father's footsteps and becoming a banker. He went to Northport, Kan., bought a farm and worked it himself. Although laughed at when he entered the contest, he won it unanimously.

"Slacker Dollars."

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau is making a determined effort to attract "slacker dollars" to a huge issue of government bonds that will bear three-fourths of one per cent interest and be subject to taxation, the same as non-government securities, and the chances are that the issue will all be taken by the banks of the country.

It is not certain that the secretary is on the right track but the result of this experiment in government financing will be watched with a good deal of interest. "Slacker dollars" had probably been better employed by the government than permitted to lie idle in bank vaults but this does not seem to be an adequate answer to the problem of what to do with the millions of idle funds in the hands of individuals and banks. Why have these funds remained idle so long?

No banker or individual capitalist, large or small, wants his money to remain idle. He wants these funds to be earning interest. He wants to see his money at work. These funds have not been idle because their owners wanted them to be doing nothing. They have remained idle for the same reason that thousands of men and women have remained idle. There was no opportunity to put them to work.

It is hardly fair for the secretary to call these idle dollars "slacker dollars" any more than it would be to call unemployed men slackers when all they lacked was the opportunity to go to work. If business men had more incentives to embark on new enterprises and enlarge their operations there would be less talk about idle dollars and consequently idle men.

In financial circles there is much complaint that the government has driven individual initiative and enterprise out of business and thus created a condition of which it now complains. Investment of idle capital in government activities is hardly calculated to permanently increase profitable employment of idle men.

At all events, the term "slacker dollars," as used by a representative of the government, "hardly seems to be applied fairly any more than when the term "slacker" is applied to men and women who are involuntarily out of work. It is perhaps an unfortunate expression but the country is anxious to see how the plan works out.

In Musical Program.

A community Christmas music program is to be presented in Wisner high school auditorium this Thursday evening. The band, directed by Herman J. Eickhoff, formerly of Wayne, plays three numbers, one of which is a novelty arrangement by Mr. Eickhoff.

Changes Sought For State Fair

Lincoln, Neb.—The Nebraska junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring a bill to be presented to the 1941 unicameral, which would change the method of handling the Nebraska state fair. The measure, says John B. Quinn of Lincoln, chairman of the state fair committee for the organization, has these purposes:

1. Taking politics out of the management.
2. Elimination of the self-perpetuation feature of the board as has been the case in the past.
3. Making the state fair an official part of the state government.
4. Creation of a junior board of directors for young men with 4-H club training to cooperate with the senior board.
5. Focusing the attention of some 35 additional statewide agricultural and commercial organizations directly on the management of the fair.

Under the new system the cost of administration would be $3,100, not including the salary of a general manager which is written in the bill at not to exceed $6,000. As the board now exists the cost for salaries of board members is $5,750. The president now receives

American Oil Products.

(Lincoln Journal.)
It is cheering to learn from representatives of the oil industries that there is no bottleneck in their production and distribution plants. The war in Europe has almost eliminated the market in that continent for American oil products. The result is that oil companies have big stocks on hand, a surplus of producing and refining plants.

and a distribution system that is being used to far less than its capacity. "No bottleneck" is the report that comes from the oil industry.

Regimenting Farm Labor.

Tulsa (Okla.) World
What is, perhaps, the most ironical bit of news emanating from Washington in recent weeks was the fact that Wage Administrator Fleming and Secretary of Labor Madame Perkins are flirting with the idea of drawing up a labor program for farmers in which will be incorporated both a minimum hour proviso and a wage scale.

Such a plan as this would flout so many economic laws that it would be unfair to cite any single one in protest.

Minimum hours and wages can be geared to industries where the selling price is also under control, or reasonably so, of that particular industry. Farming, however, is not a matter of so much steam, so much power, so many machines, so many units rolling off an assembly line at clock-like intervals.

Fixed production prices cannot be arbitrarily saddled on an industry whose selling price is dictated by some one else, and that is precisely the economic handicap under which the farmer operates.

He buys seed at a fixed price in the spring; he plants it on soil assessed and taxed at a certain figure; he pays a threshing machine a fixed price per bushel to thresh his crop; all summer long he operates against rigid costs but he never knows in the spring what his crop will sell for in the autumn.

The only workable margin of safety he has, is in the expenditure of labor... chiefly his own. If he can labor long and late he may overcome the uncertainties of a sensitive market.

But saddle him with fixed labor hours for what help he needs and minimum wage scales and you sink him without trace. Even on highly organized commercial farms the margin would be very slim indeed. Commercial farms usually deal with a product for a special market like vegetables and fruit. Yet when there is one such commercial farm the nation has perhaps a thousand smaller one-man or two-man units dealing in the same commodity. To impose wage hours on one would be to give the others a chance to undersell him in the nation's markets.

It won't work. The cowboy on his range, the plowman in his corn, the picker in the cotton, these folks are fighting in a battle where nature and the weather hold all the cards. They have to fight and work when and if they can. You can't blow the whistle half way down the corn row.

Recipes

Hungarian Spaghetti and Sauce.
2 medium sized onions, diced.

1/2 teaspoon clove.
1 can tomato paste.
Sage.
2 sections garlic.
3 green peppers, diced.
Hot pepper pods (or ground peppers to taste).
Thyme.
Parsley.

Fry onions and peppers in olive oil, add other ingredients in order given. Cook until thick. Serve on spaghetti which has been cooked in salted boiling water for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Souffle of Meat.

2 cups milk.
2 tablespoons flour.
3 beaten egg yolks.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/2 teaspoon pepper.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 teaspoon chopped parsley.
2 cups chopped cooked meat.
1 beaten egg white.
3 beaten egg whites.

Make white sauce of butter, flour and milk, add other ingredients, folding in egg whites last. Bake 35 minutes in a buttered baking dish set in a pan of hot water. Serve plain or with tomato or cheese sauce.

Five Pierce high school students, Lenna Wiese, Arlene Wiese, Raymond Marks, Marian Beemer and Darrell Herbolshofer, were injured Thursday when cars driven by Raymond Marks and Boyd Edwards, Osmond, collided.

Auxiliary Seeks Aid for Veterans

"While America is making itself self strong against today's dangers, it must not forget the men who gave their strength in the country's service 23 years ago," states the Legion Auxiliary, rehabilitation chairman. The need for effort in the behalf of these men and their families is greater than ever. And there is deep satisfaction in doing for those who have sacrificed for their country. The Auxiliary is this year asking all wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of veterans to join in this rehabilitation work.

Teacher's Death Case Is Settled

James W. Wright Receives Sum of $5,000 in Suit Against Car Driver.

A settlement of $5,000 was reached last week in Sioux City in court action which followed the accidental death of Miss Frances H. Wright, 23, teacher in the city and former resident of Wayne. Miss Wright was fatally injured July 4 when the car in which she was riding with Loren E. Klatt, also of Sioux City, and a C. B. & Q. train collided at the outskirts of Laurel.

Miss Wright was killed instantly, having suffered a skull fracture, broken back and internal injuries. Mr. Klatt has a skull fracture and internal injuries. They were hurled about 75 feet from the scene of the accident, and the demolished car was carried about 150 feet.

The young folks were enroute to Creighton to spend the holiday with Miss Wright's sister, Mrs. Phyllis Jorgensen.

Judge D. C. Browning ordered the settlement of $5,000 on application of James W. Wright, father of the teacher and administrator of her estate. The claim was against Mr. Klatt.

With the settlement in probate court, a lawsuit instituted by Mr. Wright against Klatt for $20,000 damages was ordered dismissed "with prejudice as to future action."

Earns Scholarship In Study of Music

Franklin Simonin, formerly of Wayne, is enrolled this year as a junior in the university at Oklahoma City, according to word from Mrs. Frank Simonin. Franklin earned a scholarship for being a national winner in 1938. He is majoring in music and dramatics. He plays first chair trombone in the symphony orchestra and is also in the symphonic band of 75 pieces under the direction of James Neilson, a very fine leader.

The Simonins have heard the president's military marine band and other outstanding artists this fall.

Mrs. Simonin reports that the thermometer has not reached lower than 12 above this year.

Couple Married At Moseley Home

Miss Lois Marie Moseley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Moseley of Belden, and granddaughter of G. W. Fortner of Wayne, was married to Cyril C. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith of Laurel, at a home wedding Monday noon, December 16. The double ring service was performed by Rev. S. N. Horton of Union church. Miss Lucille Moseley, sister of the bride and student at Wayne college, was bridesmaid. Lester Smith served his brother as best man.

Dinner was served to relatives and other guests.

A wedding dance was held Monday evening at Belden.

Party for Woodmen Here Is a Success

In spite of steady snow Sunday, about 200 attended the Modern Woodmen's Christmas program and party at the city hall. Emerson was the only out of town camp represented. Early Settler Dies at Laurel Frederick Krei, 92, Passes at Home Thursday After Being Ill Long.

Frederick Krei, 92, early resident of Wayne county, died December 5 at his home in Laurel after being in failing health for some time. Funeral rites were conducted December 7 at Immanuel Lutheran church there with Rev. E. Wille in charge. Burial was in Norfolk.

Frederick William Krei was born in Mecklenberg, Germany, September 29, 1848. He came to this country 69 years ago and first located at Guttenburg, Ia. He moved to Wayne county in about 1885 and had been here and at Laurel since.

Deceased married Miss Anna Hawk and the latter died January 27, 1920, at Norfolk, where the family lived for a time. Since then Mr. Krei had been with his daughter, Mrs. Mary Monk at Laurel.

Surviving Mr. Krei are seven children, Mrs. Mary Monk of Laurel, Fred Krei of Red Wing, Minn., Mrs. Anna Wagner of Laurel, Otto Krei of Laurel, John Krei of Wood Lake, Neb., William Krei of Laurel, and Mrs. Mable Inglehart of Edmonds, Wash. Two children died in infancy. There are 22 grand children and 27 great grandchildren. All the children attended the rites.

Gallant Spirit Displayed by British People

The spirit of the English people who face daily terror from air raids is amazing to an American. Miss Kathleen Staines of Casterton, exchange teacher here a year ago, writes Wayne friends that all letters she receives from her home folks in London are now written from the air raid shelter in the garden. Her people have experienced raids every day since August 24. Now water is beginning to ooze into their shelter but they write the most cheery letters imaginable.

Miss Staines, who penned a note on a Christmas greeting card, tells that weather at the time was lovely after two weeks of incessant rain.

The English instructor explained that she had a free afternoon and would spend it walking up one of the beautiful hills in the English countryside near her school. The hills are covered with red bracken (ferns) and streams of beautifully clear water rush down them.

In Rearmament Program.
F. E. Brock who was in the garage business here with W. C. Coryell some years ago, has accepted a position with the government in rearmament work. He will be located at Vallejo, Cal., to which place the Brock family will move from Palo Alto soon.

Three in Family Are Found Dead

Tragedy Is Discovered by Neighbors Who Call at Home in Chicago.

All three members of the Michael Then family of Chicago, relatives of the W. E. Roggenbachs and Wm. Brocherts of Wayne, were found dead at their home December 1 by neighbors who went to call on them. It is thought that gas either from coal or from the plumbing asphyxiated members of the family while they slept.

Mr. and Mrs. Then and son, Donald, had moved November 31 to their new home. When neighbors came to call the next day they were unable to arouse anyone and investigation led to discovery of the tragedy. The friends noticed that gas fumes were still prevalent.

Mr. Then was a nephew of Mrs. Roggenbach and of Mr. Brochert. The family had visited here.

Mr. Then was 49, Mrs. Then 47 and the son 21. Mr. Then leaves four brothers, Max, Tony, Edward and Herman, and three sisters, Margaret, Lily and Helen, all of Chicago.

Cedar county Red Cross membership drive amounted to about $475.

Stamp Plan for Cotton Is Sought

Chamber of Commerce Now Making Effort to Get Favorable Action.

The Wayne Chamber of Commerce has entered an application to be acted on during the next 30 days in regard to establishing the cotton stamp plan, in Wayne county. This plan is very similar to the food stamp plan, it being a method of disposing of surplus American cotton through the medium of increased purchasing power for the low income families.

This plan would entail no extra administrative expense for business houses in this community are already equipped to handle the stamps because of the food stamps which are now being used.

With each $1 purchase of green cotton stamps $1 in brown cotton stamps would be given free. A five-member family which normally purchases $5 worth of cotton goods every three months, might purchase $5 worth of green cotton stamps and be given free $5 worth of brown cotton stamps, thus being able to buy $10 worth of cotton goods instead of $5 worth.

Both green and brown cotton stamps might be exchanged for any new commodity or product sold in retail dry goods stores for human or household use, which is 100 per cent domestic cotton and made entirely in the United States. Bindings, buttons, and other fasteners, findings and trimming would not be considered when determining whether or not an article is 100 per cent cotton.

Cotton stamps would be accepted by any approved store doing a retail dry goods business.

Cotton stamps are issued in 25 cent denominations. Restrictions pertaining to cash change, loose stamps, debt payment, credit accounts and identification of users now applied to food stamps would also apply to cotton stamps.

It is not at all definite if Wayne will get permission to use these stamps. W. H. Swett is organizing a letter campaign in an attempt to get a favorable act on the north-east Nebraska district. Mr. Swett believes that such a plan would bring in approximately $6,000 per year to the retail and business merchants of cotton articles. He urges those in favor of such a plan to write to Paul Jordan, regional director, 1050 Empire building, Milwaukee, Wis. Each person is also requested to send copies to Congressman Karl Stefan and to the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

When the food stamp plan was being considered 800 letters and telegrams were sent asking that it be set up in Wayne. Wayne and other communities in this food stamp plan district had more letters sent than any of the other communities seeking such a set up. This is one of the reasons Wayne county was considered so promptly.

Returns to Work.
Frederick Berry has returned to his work at the congressional library in Washington, D. C., after being ill. Mrs. F. S. Berry, who went east to be with him, will remain there for Christmas and may stay for the president's inauguration.

TUBERCULOSIS

Medical Science has made This Dread Disease Preventable and CURABLE

Such a short time ago Tuberculosis was one of the most dreaded of diseases. Of course, it is yet a serious thing to allow one's self to become run down and infected with the "T. B." bug. But thanks to scientific and medical research, Tuberculosis is now CURABLE. True enough, patience and full co-operation with Physician's orders is necessary, but what a blessed knowledge that another scourge of mankind is being conquered.

Tuberculosis is not stamped out by a very great deal, and it may take another century, but Medical Science is bringing that day nearer all the time. One of the very best possible ways you can help is to keep up your vitality—have a yearly examination, and insist on the same thing for every member of your family. The early stage of any chronic, acute or wasting disease is easier to cope with, and most especially is this true of Tuberculosis.

In Ponca for 1886.

From the Ponca Journal for December 23, 1886: The theory that Mr. Massey purchased the land along the river on account of buried treasure brings out the following history: In the year 1620 there was in Massachusetts a tribe of Indians called the Wampanoags. The name of their chief was Massasoit. He is celebrated in history as one of the greatest and wisest of chiefs, and one of the most powerful, his dominions having extended from Cape Cod to Narragansett bay.

But Massasoit had one vice which we regret to say he caught from Pilgrim forefathers, that is avarice. He liked to hoard up gold and did indeed gather together a large amount of it. He died in 1661 and after his death the riches which everybody supposed he had were not to be found. Of all the gold he had collected, not a shilling was discovered, and his wives and children, reduced from affluence to extreme poverty, had to take to the woods and go to making baskets for a living.

For many years it was a deep mystery what Massasoit did with his money. Recently some old Aponaguet records of the Massachusetts Bay period have thrown light on the matter. It seems that in the year 1654 Massasoit took a long journey to the west. Day after day and month after month he traveled toward the setting sun, determining to find the western edge of the country, or as we would say "the jumping off place."

But when he got west as far as the Missouri river, he became discouraged at the length of his journey. At the place where Ponca now stands he rested several days. He saw that this was to be a great country in the distant future, and he liked it so well that he concluded to go west no farther but go back to Cape Cod and the next year remove his whole tribe to this place permanently. His vast accumulation of gold he had brought with him, and not wishing to tote so heavy a load back again he resolved to bury it where he would safely find it when he came the next summer.

He accordingly buried it in the bluffs near the Lime Kiln ravine. "Here," said he as he deposited the gold in a hole in the ground and covered it, "here Massasoit plants this gold and here let it remain till Massasoit comes and digs it up." Then he started on his return to Cape Cod. He never came back to Ponca again as he expected. He had several wars on hand to settle with the Pilgrim forefathers, over some Pilgrims who had happened to get shot or scalped, and thus Massasoit, harassed by war, became discouraged and sick and finally died without seeing the promised land again.

But is not the tradition that "the gold is to remain buried until Massasoit comes again and digs it up" about to be fulfilled. Massasoit buried it in the bluffs and there Massey saw it and will dig it up. While we reverence the memory of Massasoit, we are glad that Massey saw it. Thus will the history of great events corroborate each other.

Tribute to State Of Texas Written

A tribute to Texas, written by Mrs. Chester Chubb of San Antonio, Texas, formerly Edith Moses of Wayne county, has been sent to the Herald by Mrs. S. R. Theobald, also of San Antonio. It follows:

"If I could paint I think that I should try to paint a picture of this unique state of Texas; the canvas made of firm, strong web, the manner of the painting old and new, the colors dull and bright, faded and strong.

"Dull for the misty mornings that float up from the gulf; bright for the midday sun, or when the moon is full; strong for the high, wild winds that sweep across the plains; mild for the evening breeze that gently fans away the dazzling heat that ends a brilliant sun-soaked day.

"Up from the south the dust-hued trails that spread from Mexico—Spanish and Aztec mixed—missions of crumbling stone; zarapes gay prisms of light; stunted trees and brush, needlesharp prongs and spikes, velvety gray of sage, silvery blue magueys, and far to the east the sombre moss that drapes the live oak trees.

"The cotton fields a clear bright green in neat clean rows, the squares of corn in bold detail; and for a background derrick stand, straight man-made pines—a forest etched in black and gray—the forest pools black, shining oil lying inert in grassless soil.

"The Texas plains, the grazing lands! Great breadths of canvas, flat—then gently rising towards the west to make sandy hills; growing, changing from soft dull green to sand—wild flowers breaking neutral tones like misplaced gipsy-scarves. Then, suddenly, through far-off mists, the sandy hills are mountains, and the scarves transparent rainbows, shielding them from too abrupt a view; blue and green and mauve, with long low bands of rose and pink, that veil the rising range. The colors seem to move, to live; vibrating bands that meet the hazy sky, and seem to point the way to deep eternity.

"If I could paint! On one great firmly woven canvas—a canvas that would mellow but hold strong—with paints that time might soften but not change, then I should paint a picture of this state, this unique state of Texas."

Miss Ruth Stauffer of Wisner, and Frederick Kemper of Stanton, who were married last week, went to Cincinnati to live.

RURAL AMERICA —HOPE OF THE WORLD

On November 12, 1918, in the Savoy hotel in London, I visited for an hour with that great English statesman, Arthur Balfour. As we listened to the din of the joy-crazed throng on the Strand, which continued day and night for a week, Lord Balfour said to me: "People of England and people of all allied nations are crazed with joy today over the ending of the conflict in which they have been engaged. They do not realize that the world is facing a more serious problem today than it did yesterday, or at any time during the past four years. Civilization, the civilization we have known in Europe and which you know in America, is in the balance right now and it may disappear in the comparatively near future. We know what has happened in Russia. We do not know what will happen in Germany. We know France is seriously threatened with communism. We in England are facing some serious social problems. Danger exists in the large cities of America and the civilization we have known may disappear. "But if it does, there is one class in one nation that in time will bring it back to the world. That is the people of rural America, those who live in the small towns and on the farms of your country. They are the safe, sane, dependable people of the world today. They will, in time, bring our civilization back to the world, but it will take 100 years to do it." That statement did not impress me at the time, but I have thought of it many times since and especially since the rise of Hitler in Germany. The English statesman had a clearer vision of the future than I could have had. "I know that today leaders of English thought are praying that America may stay out of active participation in the present conflict. They are fearful that should we become an active participant we, too, will go the way Europe has gone. We will sacrifice our heritage of democracy and will not be in a position to maintain that civilization which permits of free enterprise, of private ownership of homes and farms and stores and factories. That we, too, will become a socialistic state, with our people slaves of government, instead of its master. The thinking people of England know America can best serve the cause of civilization by keeping out of any active participation in this war. England and all Europe need the influence of the safe, sane, dependable people of our small towns and farms more than they need the sacrifice of America's young manhood on European war fields.

Health Seal Fund Is Being Compiled

Money for health seals sold by Wayne county schools is being turned in to Supt. F. B. Decker. Teachers have been asked to have this in at least by holiday vacation. The total amount will then be compiled.

Directories Available

Directories containing names of newly elected and appointed national and state officials have been secured by Supt. F. B. Decker. These may be studied at the office now. They will be mailed after the holidays to those who do not call for them.

New Director Named

Emil Kai has been appointed new director in district 73. He takes the place of Harry Fisher who resigned when he moved to Wakefield.

Fourth Month Ends

The fourth month of school in many districts came to a close last Friday. Other schools will end the four months this Friday.

District 43

(Faye Lutt, teacher.) Pupils having perfect attendance the past month are Joanne Kabisch, Merlin Sievers, LeRoy Sievers and Dorothy Sievers. LeRoy and Merlin Sievers have had perfect records for the term.

Christmas gifts for parents have been finished. A Christmas program is to be given, December 20. Gifts will be exchanged. Story books, scissors, clay and posters were purchased with fair money.

In a reading contest Joanne Kabisch's and Richard Prince's cars got to town first.

The sale of Christmas seals amounted to $1.30. All pupils helped decorate the Christmas tree which brightens the room.

First Community Christmas Brings Its Happy Memory

Wayne county's first community Christmas, held just 60 years ago, was not elaborate but was one of the most enjoyable with the recollection of pioneers who have watched this region develop from prairie to one of the most modern sections of the state.

The fall of 1880 ushered in the hardest winter within the memory of earliest settlers. Snow fell early in the fall, covered the ground to a great depth and stayed until late spring. Blizzards were frequent, and people did not venture far over the unbroken, unprotected prairie.

The hardy pioneers had little in the way of entertainment during the long, dreary months. So, when they received an invitation to attend the first Christmas celebration, they gathered from long distances and filled the court house at LaPorte to overflowing.

LaPorte at that time had only 12 families but the little settlement had raised the sum of $35 for the community Christmas observance. Mrs. John T. Bressler and Mrs. Mary Brittain had charge of arrangements. No fire tree was available so the women secured a stately little box-elder, binding the twigs in cloth and adding some evergreens procured from a merchant at Wisner. Candies and other gifts adorned the tree which was lighted with candles.

The program consisted of talks by C. E. Hunter and A. P. Childs. Songs and recitations were also included. Everyone contributed to the tree and everyone was remembered in the distribution that climaxed the happy occasion.

How bright a spot in memory's book must be the recollection of this event for those who were privileged to experience Wayne county's first community Christmas!

Will Compile Data On School Lights

Supt. F. B. Decker is planning to compile information about the cost of installing electric lights and the reaction to their use in rural schools. Wayne county now has eight schools with electricity and questionnaires have been sent to each.

Lad Is Injured When Pony Falls

Virgil Stolze received a badly bruised left leg Sunday of last week when his pony slipped and fell onto the member. Virgil was selling Christmas seals for his school, district 71.

DO YOU KNOW?

(Facts compiled in Geo-Fax, feature of Carto Craft Comments.)

More lumber has been taken out of the state of Washington than from any other state in the Union. One-half of the coal resources of the world are located within the confines of the United States. Brazil came by its name after the wood "brasil," a red dye-wood found there by the Portuguese explorer, Cabral, when he accidentally touched this section of the western hemisphere on his way to India in 1500. The name given to Key West by the Spanish was Cayo Hueso, meaning "bone reef." It received this name because the Spanish found Indian skeletons there. Not knowing what the words meant, the English twisted them into Key West which made sense in English. A lake is a considerable expanse of water nearly or wholly surrounded by land, whose surface level is independent of the level of the ocean. A sea or bay has its surface level dependent upon that of the ocean. A mountain is the result of the work of volcanoes or of internal movements in the earth's crust called by geologists "diastrophism." Hills, on the other hand, are not small mountains but are the product of erosion, wind erosion in the case of dunes, water erosion in the case of peaks and ridges, glacial erosion in the case of drumlins, moraines, etc. An estuary is the drowned end of a river and its valley, caused by the sinking of the land below sea level.

Children at the Crossroads Ernest L. Reeker

Johnny had been pilfering brass and copper which he sold to junk dealers. Since he possessed natural ability for leadership, the juvenile court sought to ascertain the underlying cause for the 10-year-old's conduct and remedy it. Only future guidance and resulting behavior would determine whether Johnny's leadership qualities would make him a gangster or a useful citizen. In a wholly undesirable locality, above a small grocery store, was Johnny's home, consisting of two tiny rooms. His father and mother were divorced; and the father, though earning a good salary, contributed nothing toward the support of mother and son. The mother worked at odd jobs, cleaning houses and doing washings. The neighborhood offered nothing inspiring to Johnny. The only place for him to play was the street; the only place for him to spend the evenings was the dingy, empty home. His only companions were two boys who came from homes similar to his; and nowhere, outside of the class room, were there any standards of manly conduct or examples of fine character for him to pattern after.

It was not difficult to comprehend the cause of the boy's wrong-doing nor to surmise whether he was drifting, or seemed hopeless, in his environment, to instill in him cleanliness of thought and speech, conceptions of personal honesty. He might have been committed to an institution, but eventually he must return home. If success were to be achieved, the home must be reconstructed. To accomplish this it was necessary to secure control over the family. A complaint was filed against the father, charging him with non-support of his wife and child. He was given his choice of one of two courses: Stand trial and, if convicted, serve a term in the penitentiary; or contribute toward the support of his dependents. He chose the latter, agreeing to contribute $10 weekly.

We then took Johnny in hand, instructing him as to the morals of the situation and stressing the serious consequences of crime on his own character. A minister became interested in the case and enrolled Johnny in a live Sunday school class. The mother was induced to move to a better section of town, the action made possible by the $10 per week contributed by the father. From that time on Johnny spent his leisure hours in normal boys' play in the companionship of his Sunday school classmates. A successful business man became his "big brother" and augmented the work of the court by encouragement and advice; filling, to some extent, the place which Johnny's father should have held. Because of the cooperation of mother, minister, "big brother," and the county attorney who changed the mind of the neglectful father, the regeneration of Johnny was effected. He has been graduated from high school and is now enrolled in a theological seminary.

Second Blizzard Of Season Strikes

The season's second blizzard gripped this territory early Monday morning, drifting the heavy snow which had fallen all day Sunday. Roads were blocked temporarily but most of them were opened the middle of the week.

The storm came just five weeks from Armistice day when the winter's first blizzard struck.

The early storm caught farmers while they were picking corn and delayed this work. Because of this a number still have corn in the field.

The November blizzard, following rain and sleet, resulted in damage to telephone lines, trees and poultry.

organizations which might hold conventions in Wayne. The main purpose of the committee is to bring conventions to Wayne. Mr. Hook feels that "Wayne is too small a community in which to hold some state-wide conventions. The biggest convention held in Wayne the past year was the music contest last spring. We helped in the promotion of this as much as we were able," added Mr. Hook.

In Trade Extension.

The food stamp plan, rooster day, dollar day, spring festival, fall festival, pre-Christmas opening, blue ribbon days and cow days were all planned by the trade extension committee of the Chamber of Commerce. L. E. Brown, who is chairman of this committee, says: "It is the primary purpose of this committee to try and get a unified front for trade in Wayne. I feel that the Chamber of Commerce has been very successful during the first year in adding a great deal to the cooperative spirit between the various business houses in this territory."

Mr. Brown went on to say "the Chamber of Commerce is planning to initiate the cotton stamp plan in Wayne sometime this winter or next spring. This plan will apply to cotton goods in the same fashion as the blue stamp plan applies to the surplus food commodities." Mr. Brown feels that the food stamp plan has been very beneficial to Wayne and surrounding territory for it has brought in approximately $1,000 a month which would not have otherwise been spent in the territory.

Add Parking Space.

The municipal affairs committee, of which E. J. Huntermer is chairman, has as its most important function of the year the promotion of extra parking spaces for out of town cars and the conditioning of these new parking spaces. Several new parking lots have been secured and these have been graveled and lighted. The decorating of the Chamber of Commerce, and specifically under the direction of the municipal affairs committee.

Mr. Huntermer also stated that "the cleaning of streets in time of bad weather and the marking of roads are under the supervision of this committee." It is the aim of this group to make Wayne a more desirable place in which to live. The two general purposes of this committee now are to enlarge the trade territory and to make the State Teachers college more of a liberal arts school, Mr. Huntermer concluded.

L. W. McNat, chairman of the membership committee, reports that his group has had little to do for almost all the business men in Wayne were anxious to become members.

The budget and finance committee under the leadership of J. C. Carhart has allocated money to different committees. It is also the duty of this group to collect, but because the money this year came in so well it was not necessary to do much of this.

The rules and procedure committee has functioned whenever occasions called for decisions. This group is headed by L. W. Ellis.

Better Roads Sought.

Frank Erxleben, leader of the highway committee, reports that he and his group have been in Lincoln several times in an attempt to get special work done on the spur which connects highways 15 and 20, between Dixon and Concord and in regard to work on highway 35.

The committee of which C. N. Olson is chairman has provided publicity for functions of the various committees and the Chamber of Commerce in general. This committee has had correspondence with the Chambers in nearby towns and in this way tried to get a more cooperative spirit between these towns.

C. E. Nicholaisen, head of the entertainment division, reports that his committee has been in charge of the arrangement of the two free dances which were held in connection with the fall and pre-Christmas openings and has provided the entertainment for a few of the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce. The committee also has charge of the Christmas treats which are now being distributed to children.

Study Planning Report.

The legislation committee, of which A. V. Teed is chairman, reports that it has studied the report of the state planning board in reference to the educational system in Nebraska and with a view to cooperating with the organizations of defense for the Wayne State Teachers college.

Russell Bartels, who reported the activities of the committee in the absence of Mr. Teed, is of the opinion that in the ensuing year this group will have a better chance for activity as the state legislature will then be in session and it is in this way the local organization can best fulfill its aims.

"Many persons," according to Mr. Bartels "are of the opinion that because of the functioning of the various committees a paid secretary for the Chamber of Commerce would be unnecessary. This is not true," Mr. Bartels adds, "for none of these committees would have accomplished a great deal without a leader at the helm who was experienced enough in this type of work to superintend what we were trying to do."

Airport Is Secured.

Other achievements of the Chamber of Commerce during this first year was the obtaining of an airport. Mr. Bartels was chairman of this committee and worked with Secretary W. H. Swett in the organization of this enterprise. A pilot training course was initiated and a secondary flying course is now being strongly considered. Only a few more students are needed.

The Wayne county fair was under the supervision of the Chamber of Commerce. Agent Chel Walters aided Mr. Swett in the organization of this.

Hold Fellowship Program in Branch

Graduate fellowships enabling women to do research are prompted by the American Association of University Women, and Wayne branch held a fellowship meeting last Thursday at the Woman's club rooms. The United States is divided into 21 sections and each section is aiming to raise $40,000 as a permanent endowment for advanced study. Nebraska belongs to Northwest Central section which includes Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota. Since 1926 this section has the $40,000 endowment as well as 12 annual awards of $1,500 each to its credit. Any woman who is a graduate of a recognized college or university is eligible for a fellowship. There are 19 fellowships now available. At the local meeting Mrs. D. S. Wightman asked questions about fellowships and answers were given by Dr. Mary Honey, Miss Beulah Rundle, Miss Mildred Piper and Miss Miriam Huse.

Miss Doris Patterson, fellowship chairman, conducted an auction of "white elephants" for benefit of the fellowship fund and more than $9 was realized.

As the branch has been asked to help children who are refugees from the war zone, the branch decided to save refreshment expenses next month and give this saving for the purpose. Each will bring cookies, and coffee will be furnished.

On the serving committee last week were Miss Lettie Scott, Mrs. R. P. Cuff, Miss Gretta Hackenberg and Miss Rundle. Christmas motif was used.

Families in County Are Reestablishing

Wayne county has 61 families enrolled in the FSA program of reestablishing themselves, according to Ray Verzal, rehabilitation supervisor.

Mr. Verzal said the FSA accepts responsibility of the self-rehabilitation program from a standpoint of procedure and direct cooperative supervision, but the actual opportunity for the hard-pressed families to get back on their feet depends largely on the attitude of the community as a whole. Many families need encouragement as much as credit, he said. This encouragement can come only from their neighbors.

"And right now, during the Christmas season, is a mighty good time for one neighbor to give encouragement to another," the FSA supervisor added. "By neighbors I mean the business and professional people in town as well as the neighboring farm families."

Mr. Verzal pointed out that all the 61 farm families have borrowed funds from FSA, but emphasized that this money represented only what it takes to put definite sound farm plans into effect. The family-made plans aim at recovery of self-sufficiency, and are the chief step toward actual rehabilitation. The supervisor said he believes several other farmers in the county are eligible to take part in the rehabilitation program because they are good farmers, yet are unable to obtain necessary commercial credit to continue.

Circulation Large At Wayne Library

School Adopts Weather Policy

Parents Are Advised to Decide Between Risks And Advantages.

Wayne city school has adopted a definite policy with regard to stormy days, the need for such having arisen November 11 and again this Monday when blizzards gripped this area. Supt. N. F. Thorpe advises parents that they use their own judgments about sending children. School will always be in session and teachers will be on hand to care for those who come. Parents should decide whether or not the benefits to be derived are worth the effort required to reach school. Supt. Thorpe does not want children's health endangered in an attempt to be in school. But he does plan to have teachers provide something worthwhile for those who do attend on stormy days.

About 100 of the 268 in high school were snowbound Monday. A considerable number were out of the grades also.

Plan Registration.

Planning registration for second semester is being taken up in home room meetings this week. In groups of about 30 each, students are being informed about electives and required work and on choice of courses which are a basis for college study. Each home room teacher will help the students under her direction prepare temporary schedules. Principal G. B. Childs will complete final registration. The plan is aimed at attention in selecting courses best suited to his future. Registering before the holidays will allow the staff to make needed schedule revisions during vacation.

Holiday vacation begins Friday evening. Work resumes December 30. No school will be held New Year's day.

High school students brought a penny each and the money was used to buy a Christmas tree which adorns the upper hall. Geometric figures, made by the geometry class, are attractive on the tree.

Second in Debate.

Wayne high school debaters placed second Saturday in an invitation tournament at West Point, Sioux City Central being first. Wayne won six and lost two debates. Those accompanying Miss Clara Chilson were Herbert Temme, Melvin Utecht, Robert Haas, Paul Harrington, Barbara Heine and Moriel Sydnor.

Geraldine Fredrick, who came from Clay Center, Kan., enrolled as a freshman last week.

Harold McPherran who had been in California, re-entered school. He had gone west with Delbert Steele who remained there.

Carols Are Sung.

Pupils of the elementary grades began singing Christmas carols Friday in the lower corridor and are singing a few times this week. The final "sing" will be Friday afternoon before holiday dismissal.

Junior High News.

Literature class is studying "A Christmas Carol," by Dickens.

Scenes in the 8th grade windows to the south and west were painted by Patty Loe, Donna Granquist, Carla Wright, Alice Smolksky and Paul Powers.

The 8th graders are busy preparing two short Christmas plays. They chose the plays instead of the usual party since they are being entertained so much by community organizations.

The 7th grade study of Bolivia included special reports by Elsie Benthack, Jean Smolksky, Jessie Loe Pile, John Hawkins, Dick Boyce, Lavonne Longe, Mary Anne Newton, Doris Gildersleeve, Bob Huffman and Kathryn Thompson and a picture show arranged and presented by Richard Kielstrup.
