

Fans Listened Eagerly to the Nebraska Team Battle Stanford in the Pasadena Rose Bowl — Clinging to Youth — Cleveland Re-views — Formerly in Herald's Employ.

Nebraska football fans, everywhere in the state, nearly wore themselves out New Year's day listening to the Nebraska-Stanford game and rooting for the home team. Early in the game Nebraskans were encouraged to believe they were going to win, but after the first half, the streamlined Stanford aggregation got into a winning stride, and all the praying that could be done around Nebraska's firesides proved unavailing.

Many persons who do not understand football and never took any interest in the game, glued their ears to radios New Year's day in the hope of hearing their favorite Nebraskans on the march to victory. They conceded everything in the way of climate and fruit and flowers to California, but they figured that football mastery, like corn-growing superiority, belonged to Nebraska. As the tide turned in favor of Stanford, however, Nebraskans found comfort in the fact that their team had fought gamely and had lost with colors flying.

Defying Old Age. We assume an inventory would reveal that we are one of the oldest birds actively engaged in business in Wayne, but if others creeping along toward the eternal rest feel no more incapacitated than we do, they will hang on and continue indefinitely to perform the service of which they have become accustomed. One is said to be no older than he feels, and he must not allow himself to be talked into feeling older than he is. Longevity leans heavily on active interest and effort in current affairs — on still doing many things passably well.

Racketeering Stopped. A report from Cleveland, Ohio, states that that city has revived activities of almost boom proportions largely through suppressing racketeering and putting a stop to intimidation of business men. A few years ago Cleveland's business was deadlocked by uncertainty and fear. War demands have helped industry and helped exterminate racket schemes, but the city's leaders had already taken steps to free the city of objectionable elements and make it more inviting for capital seeking investment.

Racketeering has been a notorious blot on many eastern centers for a long time, concealing persons engaged in lawful pursuits and often making it next to impossible to carry necessary overhead. Racketeering is a ruthless imposition on American business and industry, and its riddance is an accomplishment long overdue. It lands a thwart honest endeavor with no reason beyond illicit gain.

Goes to Distant Peru. Wrennah Moline, now Mrs. James Carey, who, as promoter of the Herald's circulation in 1936-37, became acquainted with newly everybody in this county, was in Wayne for a brief visit Thursday. She and her husband, the latter of whom since being graduated from the Wayne college has been teaching at Ansley and Bassett, Neb., leave the last of the month for Lima, Peru, on agreement to teach there five years. For some time they have been studying Spanish and otherwise preparing themselves for their new work — educational and missionary. They start from New York January 18 and expect to spend sixteen days in making the trip.

Lima is the capital of Peru and has a population of 200,000. Peru has an area of more square miles than Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, North and South Dakota and Minnesota combined. Peru is mountainous and rich in mining. It is doubtless also rich in missionary prospects, native inhabitants, as a rule, rating low in intelligence and other evidences of what we know as modern civilization. The new and varied experience will likely be worth all it costs in hardships.

We remember Lima, Peru, particularly because it was the seat of a prophecy which we prepared for a high school graduating class fifty or more years ago. Imagination was allowed to run wild in making that prophecy. At one juncture a class member who had become a aeronaut, fell out of his balloon, and the impact drove his head into his thorax. A specialist in powdered plasters, stationed at Lima, drew the head out and into proper position by using one of his plasters. The prophecy was a literary abnormality from start to finish.

Wrennah became a member of the Herald staff because she was exceptionally bright and vivacious, and because she liked people and people liked her. At first she divided time between attending college and working for this newspaper. Later, and until her marriage, she put in full time.

Wayne Gains in Official Census Just Announced

County as Whole Loses in Conformance with Record in State.

Official census figures just compiled for Nebraska show a gain in Wayne but loss in other towns of this county. The population in Wayne is now 2,719 in comparison with 2,381 a decade ago. Carroll now has 351 and had 401 in 1930. Winslow population is 451 and it was 483 before. Hoskins now has 212 and was 255 in 1930.

Other nearby points with their populations for 1940 and 1930 respectively, are as follows:

- Allen, 404 and 489; Belden, 285 and 248; Bloomfield, 1,467 and 1,435; Coleridge, 627 and 616; Concord, 242 and 257; Dakota City, 477 and 417; Dixon, 226 and 222; Emerson, 879 and 891; Hartington, 1,688 and 1,568; Newcastle, 447 and 446; Oakland, 1,380 and 1,433; Osmond, 796 and 750; Pilger, 537 and 578; Pender, 1,135 and 1,006; Plainview, 1,411 and 1,216; Ponca, 1,003 and 920; Pierce, 1,249 and 1,271; Randolph, 1,094 and 1,145; Stanton, 526 and 1,479; Thurston, 221 and 236; Walthill, 1,204 and 1,162; Wakefield, 961 and 1,112; Waterbury, 164 and 204; Wisner, 1,256 and 1,327; Wausa, 732 and 754; Winnebago, 800 and 692; Norfolk, 10,490 and 10,717; Laurel, 861 and 864; Madison, 1,812 and 1,842; Neligh, 1,796 and 1,649.

Wayne county's total population showed a decline over 1930, being 9,880 now and 10,566 a decade ago. Dixon county also fell, being 10,413 in comparison with 11,586. Other nearby counties and their 1940 and 1930 populations are: Cedar, 15,126 and 16,427; Cuming, 13,562 and 14,327; Dakota, 9,830 and 9,505; Knox, 16,478 and 19,110; Pierce, 10,211 and 11,080; Stanton, 6,887 and 7,809; Thurston, 10,243 and 10,462.

Nebraska's net loss in population over the 10 years was 4.5 per cent.

UNICAMERAL BODY BIENNIAL SESSION STARTS THIS WEEK

MEMBERS of Nebraska's unicameral legislature started their 1941 session at noon Tuesday when senators and other officers were sworn in. Retiring and incoming governors delivered their messages Wednesday afternoon. Speaker and other officers were elected and committees chosen. At 1 o'clock today inaugural ceremonies will take place, and Governor Griswold will deliver his inaugural address. Then the usual preliminaries will be out of the way, and the legislature will be ready to settle down to business. Friday will begin the introduction of bills. The session will be one of the most important ever held in the state. In practicing proper respect for the legislature may be expected to sidestep new investments and not sacrifice adequate upkeep for existing and necessary institutions.

Veteran of War Passes in City

Funeral Services Are Today For William J. Loberg Of Near Carroll.

Funeral rites will be held this Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for Wm. J. Loberg, 59, of Carroll, who passed away Tuesday morning in a Sioux City hospital. Rev. Wm. Kearns and the Hiscox service will be in charge from the St. Mary's Catholic church in Wayne. Military committal services will be in charge of the Wayne Legion post at Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Loberg was taken ill October 14, but after a few days was able to get back at his work. He became ill again December 9 with heart trouble and went to Sioux City to consult a specialist. An abscess formed on one of his lungs. Mr. Loberg was improving until Saturday when his condition became critical.

William J. Loberg, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Loberg, was born May 29, 1880, on a farm five miles north of Carroll. He had made his home in Wayne county all his life. He married Clara Pflanz December 26, 1927, at Coleridge. The couple moved to the Loberg home place five miles north of Carroll and lived there since.

Three children were born to this union. They are William, 11 years old, Lucile, 10, and Lois Ann, 7.

Mr. Loberg served in the 355th infantry, company I in the World War, being a corporal. He received his honorable discharge in September, 1919.

Besides his wife and three children, deceased leaves two brothers, Frank and Raymond of Carroll, three sisters, Miss Lizzie Loberg of Wayne, Mrs. Alvin Young of Belden, Mrs. Gilbert Linn of Wakefield, besides a host of relatives and friends. Deceased's father preceded him in death November 17, 1940. His mother died in September, 1937. A sister, Mrs. Dora Kalkofen, died in June, 1934.

Will Announce Clinic Results On Date Fixed

Partial List of Chairmen In Civic Organization Is Made Known.

Findings of the Chamber of Commerce clinics, to be held next week, will be announced to the membership at an important meeting scheduled for Friday evening, January 31. This summary of clinic expressions will guide activity of the Chamber this year.

Secretary W. H. Sweet promises to have an exceptional speaker here for the January 31 program. A partial list of 1941 committee chairmen in Chamber of Commerce includes the following: Municipal affairs committee, E. W. Huse; membership committee, W. C. Coryell; budget and finance committee, Clarence Wright; publicity committee, K. N. Parke; industrial committee, T. S. Hook; highways committee, W. R. McEachen; entertainment committee, Dr. L. F. Perry; legislative committee, R. W. Bartels; national defense committee, J. C. Carhart; aviation committee, R. G. Fuelberth; agricultural committee, John T. Bressler, Jr.

Registering Now In Pilot Course At Local School

Young People Interested in Aviation May Enroll for Free Instruction.

Preliminary registrations are now being taken at Wayne college for courses in aviation for the second semester. There is reason to believe that the school will be approved by the Civil Aeronautics administration for both a primary and a secondary course. The primary course will be similar to the one now being completed. Twenty students can be accommodated. Each successful applicant must have reached his 19th but not his 26th birthday. He must successfully pass the physical examination prescribed by the C. A. A. for a commercial pilot's certificate. If registered in a college, he must have credit for at least one year's college work. Individuals not in college may register for the course if they have previously completed two years of college work. The school is giving three hours of college credit to those who complete the requirements of both the C. A. A. and the college.

The preliminary course consists of not less than 35 hours of flying instruction and 90 hours of ground school. The subjects included in the ground school course are meteorology 24 hours, air navigation 24 hours, civil air regulations 24 hours, and aircraft operation 18 hours.

The only expense to the students enrolling in the course is the payment of the fees for the physical examination, for an accident insurance policy and the regular college fees. It seems that this aviation course furnishes an excellent opportunity for one who is qualified and interested to secure instruction in airplane piloting and related ground school subjects with little expense to himself. How great this opportunity is should be appreciated when it is recalled that many individuals are now paying from $7 to $8 per hour for private flying instruction.

Those who wish to take advantage of the government's free instruction should not delay. The appropriation for the civil pilot training program expires June 30. Many observers believe that after that date all airplane pilot training will be carried on by the army and navy. They base their conclusions upon the well-known fact that army and navy officers have continuously opposed the program. General Hugh Johnson's syndicate column in the daily papers gives the army's viewpoint. The second semester civil pilot training course may be the last of its kind. Others, however, feel that a new federal appropriation will be made and the work continued. If one wishes to be sure of securing free instruction in airplane piloting, he should leave his name with registrar at the college at an early date.

Case Is Dismissed. The car damage action filed in county court by David Garwood against Wilbur Van Fossen was dismissed Wednesday after being settled out of court.

Early Settler Of County Dies

Robert Stambaugh Suffers Stroke and Passes at Home Monday.

Robert Stambaugh, resident of Wayne county 56 years, passed away Monday evening, January 6, at 7:45 o'clock at his home northwest of Wayne. Mr. Stambaugh suffered a second stroke Saturday morning after reaching home from a short walk to the mail box. He had had a first stroke some months ago.

Funeral rites will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 from the Methodist church with Dr. Victor West and the Beekenhauer service in charge. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Robert Arthur Stambaugh, son of William B. and Mary Jane Stambaugh, was born at Blain, Pa., January 7, 1875, and he would have observed his 66th birthday Tuesday this week. He came with his parents and sister, Ada, to Wayne county in 1885 and deceased had resided here since.

Mr. Stambaugh married Epha Geneva Bair April 21, 1927. He leaves his wife, three nephews and a niece, the last four at Tacoma, Wash. His mother died here in 1898. His father in 1907 and his sister March 28, 1925.

Mr. Stambaugh was a faithful member of the Methodist church. He had numerous friends who will long remember him.

Pallbearers will be Eph Beck, Paul Barker, Jack Winterstein, W. A. Hiscox, Clark Banister, John Grimm and J. J. Steele.

Funeral Service Is Held Monday

Jacquelyn Meyer Passes Away at Home After Short Illness.

Jacquelyn Kay Meyer, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer of near Winslow, died January 4 at the home after a few days' illness with pneumonia, aged 10 months, 28 days.

Funeral rites were conducted Monday at the Trinity church with Rev. A. Huffer and the Hiscox service in charge. Committal followed in Greenwood cemetery.

Jacquelyn Kay Meyer was born February 8, 1940, at Atkinson. She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer, a half brother, LeRoy, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rees of Atkinson, and John Meyer of Winslow.

Present Comedy At School Soon

A three-act hill-billy comedy, "Gabriel, Blow Your Horn," will be presented by the college dramatics class January 18 at 8:00 in the college auditorium.

This play tells of the love of two young people against the background of hill-billy life, interfering relatives and disappointed suitors. The cast includes Mary Jo Hallisey, Janet Mills and Lawrence Muckey as the mountain family, the Penningtons, Donna Loy Reese and William Hawkins as the lovers and Frances Blezek and William Redburn as the interfering elders. Other parts are portrayed by Mary Sharer, Ethel Gabelman, Sterling Stewart, Ben Schuman, Bruce Bolton and Jack Cayton.

Committee Aids Farmers in Debt

Best practices to follow in farming to gain the most income and to ease the debt load are available through the farm debt adjustment committee which meets the 10th of each month at 9 o'clock on the Wayne county committee are Marilyn L. Ringer, Frank F. Korff, Byron C. Ruth and Rollie W. Ley.

After a plan is worked out, according to Supervisor Ray L. Verzal, the committee discusses this with creditors. Any farmer having a debt problem may apply to the group for assistance. This service is rendered without charge.

The committee, working at the advice of the county RR supervisor and farm adjustment specialist, are interested in helping their neighbors, Mr. Verzal adds.

COMMERCE CHAMBER SERIES OF INQUIRIES TO FIND OBJECTIVES

THE PLAN launched by the Chamber of Commerce to gather ideas from members in regard to the city's needs has been practiced successfully in other communities, and it would seem the way to make the organization more practically constructive here. Thus, each member participates in advising activities. From the contribution of suggestions the year's program may be more intelligently fashioned. To make the plan work out as desired, members must be on hand with ideas. What Wayne needs to be a better town is up to members to suggest. What should be done to improve existing institutions and add new ones may be answered by the proposed inquiry. The organization can only be made worth while by having definite objectives and then working for their accomplishment, and collective advice from those interested is deemed a short cut to results.

Dies in Omaha Hospital Monday

Services for Morgan Jones Will Be Held Today at Nearby Church.

Morgan Jones, 50, resident of Carroll vicinity about 24 years, passed away Monday morning, January 6, in an Omaha hospital where he had undergone an operation and had received two blood transfusions. Mr. Jones had been ill about three weeks.

Funeral rites will be conducted this Thursday afternoon at 2 at the Bethany Presbyterian church west of Carroll with Rev. S. N. Horton and the Hiscox service in charge. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Morgan Jones was born in Bangor, Wales, July 2, 1890. He came to this country about 25 years ago and was in Kansas and Wymore, Neb., a short time before coming to Wayne county, his home since. Mr. Jones married Miss Sidna Hughes of Carroll about 20 years ago.

Surviving Mr. Jones are his wife and three children, Eleanor, who is attending college in Wayne, Eva who is a freshman in Carroll high school and Owen who is in grade school. He also leaves sisters and brothers in Wales.

Schedule Concert At College Today

The Music hour series of concerts has a program scheduled for this evening at 7:30 in the college auditorium. There is no admission charge and the program is open to the public.

Designate Week To Hold Clinics In Wayne Group

Chamber of Commerce Will Formulate Activity for Coming Period.

By proclamation of Mayor M. L. Ringer, January 13 to 18 has been designated as Chamber of Commerce week in Wayne. Community clinics will be held January 14, 15, 16 and 17 to ascertain the wishes of the entire membership and to formulate a program of activity for the best interests of Wayne, according to R. L. Larson, president of the organization.

Earl Merchant is chairman of the program committee. Others on the committee are R. W. Bartels who has charge of the January 14 clinic, T. S. Hook who has the one on January 15, H. E. Ley who heads the January 16 clinic and H. D. Addison, who conducts the January 17 meeting. Each chairman will have ten helping him. Each clinic will be held at 7:45 p. m. at Hotel Stratton dining room.

At conclusion of the community meetings, the clinic committees will summarize suggestions and formulate a program to guide Chamber of Commerce activity in 1941.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce, representatives of civic organizations and others interested in promoting Wayne's welfare are urged to attend the clinics.

In the proclamation Mayor Ringer urges that "all citizens lend their full support and cooperation to the community clinics to be conducted during the week under the auspices of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of taking an inventory of the needs of Wayne, to the end that this survey of the thinking of this community may be translated into an effective program of activity to be carried on by our community organization, the Chamber of Commerce, with the cooperation of every citizen of our city."

Miss Frances Langenberg and Miss Gladys Reichert entertained 35 guests Sunday afternoon in the W. F. Langenberg home near Hoskins at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Margaret Strate who will be married January 12. Miss Lillie Lieb of Elizabeth, Ill., and Mrs. Albert Meierhenry of Norfolk, were out-of-town guests. Bridal contests were entertainment. The guests also made a bride's book. Recipes were also brought. Miss Strate found many nice gifts which were hidden about the house. Alarm clocks which rang at different times directed her to the gifts. The hostesses served a one-course luncheon of brick ice cream, cake and coffee. The bride's colors of white and honeydew were carried out. The tables were centered with bud vases of roses and vari-colored sweetpeas. Favours were nosegays of yellow and white narcissi and daffodils. Place-cards were on the bouquets. The home was decorated with bouquets of camellias, pink and red carnations, poinsettias, roses, yellow and white chrysanthemums, calla lilies, orange blossoms, snapdragons, sweetpeas and violets. The flowers were a gift from Mrs. G. G. Meade of Arcadia, Cal., to her niece, Miss Reichert.

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Jan. 9, 1941 No. 6

Boss: "Yell out if you want anything." Steno (blushing): "Wouldn't it be better if I whispered?"

People who own Will-Burt stokers don't whisper around about it—they really get out and yell for the Will-Burt. You are paying for a Will-Burt. Why not enjoy its better heat?

Join the parade of stoker users! Get the stoker coal with the most heat at no increase in price.

Wife (reading): "It says here in the paper that in some parts of Africa a man doesn't know his wife until after he has married her." Tim (I heard): "Why mention Africa?"

"We're not at all timid about mentioning Black Hawk coal. There's no need to be, for Black Hawk lives up to its reputation as the best furnace and heater coal at a reasonable price. Have you tried Black Hawk?

The big end of winter is still ahead of us, and that means you can still save a lot of your fuel bill, and be much more comfortable, by insulating your house with Red Top insulating wool. Look at the roofs around you the next time it snows. The ones with snow still on the roof are insulated. Where the snow melts there is no insulation. Part of your fuel dollar went to melt that snow if you have no insulation in your house.

"My wife talks to herself."

"So does mine, but she doesn't realize it — she thinks I'm listening."

It pays to listen to the man who tells you he has never found any coal quite as good as Finnacle. Get it in either the nut or lump size. Either way it is the same good clean coal that has no superior.

Transparent furniture is something new in the plastic line. This one can get the effect of sitting down in the chair that isn't there without the hard feeling.

Plastic Auto Bodies.

Everybody knows that Henry Ford makes steering wheels out of soybeans. Now comes news that the day may not be far distant when entire auto bodies are made of plastic instead of steel.

Ford is experimenting now with the plastic body, stamped out from sheets that look like polished steel. The material, processed by welding several sheets of fabric under heat, is said to be 50 per cent lighter, 50 per cent cheaper and 10 times stronger than steel. All it apparently lacks is the tensile strength of that metal.

It is too early to guess whether plastics will replace steel in such a large field as auto bodies. But it is easy enough to speculate on what that would mean to the farm belt. Ford's average production is a million cars a year. Time magazine estimates that bodies for that many cars would require 170 thousand tons of agricultural products, including cotton, wheat, soybeans, corn, hides and other commodities. Wheat, corn and soybeans are said to be interchangeable in the manufacture of this plastic; one can be used, or all three.

The Prayer of the Press.

A North Carolina newspaper publisher, in a message to assembled executives of the Associated Press, voiced a prayer and a hope which deserves to be read by every American. The message said:

"If our American civilization has never been in such danger as now, then democracy's life depends upon you and our fellows in the Associated Press to discover, transmit and to publish the truths upon knowledge of which our free people may decide their fate. God guide and strengthen us each one."

Newspaper critics, who like to hear themselves talk about the perversion of the press, would do well to read those two sentences, which were not originally intended for publication. For in them they may find the suggestion that an institution which right now has the staggering responsibility borne by the American press cannot be treated cavalierly.

Those two sentences have vital import for every newspaper reader, to whom, in the task of deciding the nation's fate, belongs both the right of access to the facts and the duty, once they have that access, of knowing the facts and considering them wisely.

And to all honest and sincere newspapermen, of whom there are some in every city, to whom the Babel of a thousand tongues is a challenge to discern the truth, and to whom discernment of the truth is a challenge to set it forth, those two sentences should serve as a reaffirmation of faith in the power of truth to set men free.

Farm Outlook for '41 Is Rosy.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Now that such chores as getting a new year started (as if it wouldn't start anyway, whether we paid any attention to it or not) and convening a new session of congress are off our hands, farmers probably are taking time for a survey of prospects for 1941. Those who already have reviewed the outlook have found it more nearly resembling the fabled picture of the promised land than anything they have seen in a good long while.

First, there's the set-up of industrial production with its increase in employment, payrolls, and consumer demand, insuring a healthy outlet right here at home for agricultural products, regardless of whether or not our export trade amounts to much. More than for a number of years, farmers have the knowledge in 1941 that the fruits of their efforts are to play a vitally important part in the nation's well-being.

Moreover, thanks to the favorable moisture situation, there is abroad in this western farming country the feeling that time spent in preparing seed-beds, enriching soil, and planting seed is pretty certain to be rewarded by remunerative crops. According to the long-held contention of agronomists that depth of moisture penetration has a definite relation to harvests, the outlook for 1941 crops is the most favorable in a number of seasons.

More might be written along the same line, but these are the high spots of the prospectus which farmers are studying on these long winter evenings as they await the coming of another spring.

ECONOMY.

A demand is growing for congress to shut off unnecessary government expenses in order to contribute fully to defense costs without dangerous inflation. The idea expressed in Washington by those who have a careful regard for the country's finances, is to learn by experience in the other World war to avoid waste in making expenditures. It is understood the coming presidential inauguration is to involve an unprecedentedly large investment which would seem highly inadvisable in view of the need for reduced costs. Manifestly, federal spending bureaus should have all non-essential appropriations trimmed out. Building new government structures could be indefinitely postponed. It is likely the country could get along with the highways it already has and delay building new ones. Unnecessary federal projects are less important than a sound financial system in the course of ample defense plans not come along from added revenues. The cost of the army and navy, which runs about two billions, will be charged to national defense instead of the other budget.

The president will demand legislation for the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway and the development of the immense water power of that river when at this session. He will base his demand upon the needs of rational preparedness and defense. The first step will be the ratification of the treaty with Canada, and then the legislation and appropriations. The new locks in the Panama canal will cost more than the opening of the St. Lawrence, and even a larger amount will be spent on the new air-bases in both oceans.

The call for more and more appropriations for the army and navy will be as great as it has been. After long discussions on the vulnerability of war vessels to air bombing, the navy now alleges that our great navy must be built over for additional protection. It wants $300,000,000 for that purpose. The new naval vessels will be equipped to minimize the dangers from the air, which became so apparent when the British warships were bombed off the coast

NEW HOPE.

Hope lies in promised restoration of the balance of power in government — reclaiming by congress of its rightful powers. In reviewing the year's events in Washington, this realization is forecast by Mark Sullivan, columnist. He points out that while congress contains a majority of democrats, it is not made up of a majority of new dealers who will serve as rubber stamps. That was provided in passage of the Witter-Logan bill designed to restrain executive power, but which was vetoed by the president. The measure will be reintroduced in the new congress. Democrats and republicans alike are disposed to curtail rather than enlarge the president's powers — powers that were hastily gathered into the executive early in the new deal — often without due consideration on the part of congress. It is apparently proposed to reestablish the fundamental practice of three full-fledged and full-functioning branches of the federal government.

of Norway. Before that event, the naval experts of all countries declared that battleships in particular were not likely to suffer from air attacks. The recent British attack on Italian battleships afforded further proof that even naval experts can't always foresee what they should.

Another big fund will be demanded for more powder mills and munitions factories. It is claimed that the consumption of munitions in modern warfare makes it necessary to build factories capable of supplying an army of four million men. Some seven hundred millions were authorized by the last session and half as much more will be asked in the new congress.

It is more than possible that a congressional committee may be appointed to inquire into the defense program activities in a general way, and in particular as to the progress being made. There is some comment as to the selection of sites for powder factories, for instance, in which there must be consideration of many factors. There is plenty of unimproved land in the middle west which would seem to be available for this special purpose. When some of the best farm lands are selected instead, there naturally rises the question of the reason. One Ohio mill requires 21,000 acres, one in Illinois 22,000 acres and still another in Missouri 26,000 acres. The cities near which powder mills will be situated are not so well pleased to have such large acreages of good land permanently taken out of production, as many powder mills will cease operation when the emergency passes.

It costs about 26 cents a day to feed federal prisoners in most of our prisons but 37 cents a day at Alcatraz, where all the water for drinking and washing must be hauled to the island by boat. In spite of that, the prisoners run a laundry where they wash the clothes for the crews of army transports.

Alan Mobray, head of the British Relief Agencies in Los Angeles, tells visitors that he has raised nearly a half billion dollars in cash for British relief in a few months. Community chest workers are now competing in California with foreign relief workers.

Herbert Bluechel who formerly ran the auditorium theatre in Norfolk, now runs a movie house in San Francisco.

A. W. Marquardt who ran the Ford garage at Creighton just moved to Los Angeles from San Francisco. His two sons have fine positions on the Western coast.

CONGRESS
KARL STEFAN

The new Japanese ambassador to this country released a most ingenious statement as to the attitude of his government toward our own. He indicates that the Japanese alliance with the axis powers does not indicate hostility to us in any way, that really the Japs rather fooled the axis plotters into thinking they were getting something when they were not, and everybody is all wrong in believing that Japan is all wrong in its attitude of peace, good-will and everlasting happiness toward the United States.

Our department of state has had much and long experience diplomatically with Japan. It has listened to similar love-songs for years, and particularly since the invasion of China. One would not have to stop to think even that there are reasons for it. Included therein is the Japanese silk crop which started moving toward our markets this month. The rest of the world is too poor to buy silks in quantity at this time. Japan most sell its silk here to obtain foreign exchange and keep its war going. Were the silk crop larger, possibly the ambassador's declaration of love and affection might have been ever more profuse.

The president was about to issue an order further restricting the shipment of steel, pig-iron, etc., to Japan. That order was issued immediately. The outbreak in that country was quite different than that of its new ambassador at Washington. But the fact that our country is spending millions of dollars a day to keep our fleet in the Pacific on account of Japan's threats and war-like attitude does not soften their jingoists when embargo list is steadily added to.

It is promised that ordinary revenues will meet the ordinary expenses of the federal government the coming year. That will leave only the national defense program financing to be provided for by additional loans and new tax bills. Revenues will be increased somewhat by the new taxes levied by the present congress and probably as much more by increased income and corporation taxes. But this balancing the budget for peacetime needs will Teachers and workers meet January 10 at the parsonage with Ruby Dunklau hostess.

As the new year opens we give humble thanks for successful guidance through 1940. Let us resolve to go forward in our work in the strength of God, each doing our tasks to the best of our ability and in all humbleness. "Direct us, O Lord, and lead us in the way everlasting." In the past year the pastor has conducted 10 infant baptisms, confirmed 11 children, received 41 members by letter and otherwise, a total of 62 accessions. Communicants number 315. The pastor conducted 14 funerals and eight marriages. In the Sunday school 14 teachers and workers had a successful year. Of 125 enrolled, average attendance was 85 and 26 had perfect records. The choir presented an anthem each Sunday. The work of the choir and organist are a source of joy. The 50 Luther League members held a successful convention this summer and inspiring meetings. The congregation is indebted to their splendid work. The newly organized Missionary Aid is a decided improvement to our congregation. The church council as well as the whole congregation have shown a fine spirit of cooperation and Christian love which is greatly appreciated by the pastor and his family. Our work with you and for Christ is a constant joy. We look hopefully forward to another happy year in the work of our Master. May God bless you all throughout the new year!

Christian Science Services
"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 12.

The Golden Text is: "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all" (II Corinthians 13:14).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord. Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise" (John 21:12-13).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our baptism is a purification from all error. Our church is built on the divine Principle of Love. We can unite with this church only as we are new-born of Spirit, as we reach the Life which is Truth, and the Truth which is Life by bringing forth the fruits of Love—casting out error and healing the sick. Our Eucharist is spiritual communion with the one God. Our bread, which cometh down from heaven, is Truth. Our cup is the cross. Our wine the inspiration of Love, the draught our Master drank and commended to his followers" (p. 35).

Funeral Service Held on Thursday

Mrs. Loretta Watson Passes At Hospital in Sioux City Monday, December 30.

Funeral services for Mrs. Loretta Watson, 68, who passed away December 30 in a Sioux City hospital following an operation the Saturday before, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 at the Demme funeral home in Emerson. Rev. Allan McColl of the Wakefield Presbyterian church, was in charge. Mrs. Watson was the mother of Frank J. Watson of Wakefield, and had visited here several times. Burial was at Emerson.

Loretta Wigle was born near Homer September 14, 1872. She was married to John M. Watson, October 6, 1897, at Dakota City. Mr. Watson died in 1923. The family lived at Emerson for a while after his death. One son, John, Jr., died about five years ago. Mrs. Watson had made her home in South Sioux City for about the last six years.

Deceased is survived by one son, Frank, of Wakefield, and eight grandsons.

Among those attending the services from Wakefield were Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Watson, and sons, Emil Bjorklund, Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Johnson, G. Alfred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson and Mrs. Dave Borg.

Fullbearers were Roscoe Pierce, Bennett Brustheim, John Hecken, Jr., Walter McKiernan, Louie Peters and Henry Stoltz, all of Emerson.

Successful Year Is Recorded Here

Salem Lutheran church had its annual business meeting Monday afternoon. Encouraging reports of the work for the past year were given by Rev. C. P. Hall, the treasurer and the various organizations. The present membership was reported as 568 adults and 155 children. During the past year the pastor had officiated at 13 baptisms, 17 funerals and 11 weddings. A class of 22 had been confirmed. The work of the choir was praised for regular contributions to worship services. Sunday school work had been conducted by 23 teachers and officers.

The treasurer's reports showed receipts of $6,821.03, all obligations both local and to conference and synod met in full. The 10 auxiliary organizations had combined receipts of $1,980, and after meeting their obligations had total cash balances of $275. The congregation and its organizations had contributed approximately $3,000 for home and foreign missions, synodical institutions of mercy, war relief and synodical educational and benevolent work.

Officers elected who will be installed next Sunday afternoon are: Deacons for three years, C. A. Lundberg and Lawrence Ring; trustees for three years, Walter Erickson and Roy Sandell. E. J. Erickson was elected congregational secretary. Miss Florence Ekeroth was re-elected organist. R. G. Hanson was re-elected choir director. Ed. Carlson was re-elected janitor.

The congregation voted the final adoption of the new congregational constitution that was recommended by the Augustana synod in 1939. No major improvements or repairs of the property were done during the year. Outstanding events of the year were the father-son banquet sponsored by the Brotherhood last spring, the Nebraska pastoral conference this fall, and the successful church paper campaign by the Dorcas society.

Wayne, Kearney in Loop Battle Here Tomorrow

Important Encounter Is Year's First NIAA Conference Game

Coach Morrison's Wildcats Work Hard During Week, and Are Anxious to Annex First Post-Holiday Game.

Returning to play after two weeks of vacation, the Wayne State cagers will clash with the Antelopes from Kearney State on the Hill court Friday evening in the first NIAA conference battle for both teams.

With a season's record to date of but two wins in seven starts, Coach Jim Morrison has been giving his charges "the works" this week, with the result that the Wildcats are determined to do everything they can to come through tomorrow night's encounter with the big part of the score.

Emphasizes Defense Work.

Placing foremost emphasis on the defensive work of his men, Morrison has been putting in a good bit of time with the guards who will probably see action, including Anderson, Ahojn, Pritch, Best, Laurinot, Retzlaff and North, and in addition has been polishing up the passing attack and floor work of his different offensive combinations, working especially with Whitmore, Nitz, Gother, Retzlaff, Lenhart and Magdanz.

Probable Starting Lineup.

Probable starters for Mentor Morrison against the Kearney five will be Whitmore, Anderson, Laurinot, Best and Magdanz. Center Don Gother, who has been out with the flu, may possibly see some action, as may Forward Ed. Nitz, who has been slightly off form the past week.

Coach Morrison was encouraged this week over the flashy improvement in the play of several of his new men, especially Center Magdanz, Forward Lenhart and Guard North.

Antelopes Hit Losing Streak.

Coach Randall Watkins has also been having a good bit of trouble getting his boys to finish a game in the winner's bracket, the Antelopes losing two games to Simpson college, two to Omaha U. and one to Doane so far this season. However, the visitors come here with a number of promising sharpshooters, including Forward Menagh, Center McCullough, and Guards Wilson and Blessing.

Monday of next week the Wildcats go to Norfolk where they tangle with the Phillips "66" Oilers, and will then remain idle until Saturday, January 25, when they entertain the Sioux Falls college cagers on the Wayne court in an endeavor to avenge the early season defeat.

High Cagers Meet Madison Friday

Morris Drills Blues on Floor Work and Passing Attack.

Coach Elwood Morris and his band of Wayne high basketballers are all set for their game with Madison high here Friday evening. Not content to rest on a record of three wins in four starts, Morris has been driving his boys hard this week, giving them some new offensive formations to ponder over, and placing a good bit of emphasis on the passing and ball handling of several of his boys. Defensive work of several of the Blues also came in for some special attention with the guards coming in for extra drill duty.

The Dragons, members of the Cornbelt conference, are reputed to have a strong aggregation in spite of the fact that they have only three returning lettermen in Bob Ray, Bill Dackey and Carl Preuss.

This week's encounter will be the Blues' last home game until Tuesday, January 21, when they meet Pilger on the auditorium court. Next Tuesday Morris' men will go to Battle Creek and Friday of next week the boys' tangle with the Cardinals at South Sioux City.

LOCAL NEWS

Beverly Strahan returned Sunday from Cherokee, Ia., after spending the vacation at home.

Miss Susie Ewing, Archie Wert, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bruns were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kay.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Morris and daughter of Oto, Ia., returned home Sunday after visiting in the Mrs. Stella Chickester home since Thursday. The Morris spent the first part of the week at Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Holt, Sr., Donna Mae Holt, Mr. and Mrs. John Horstman and Delpha were New Year's dinner and supper guests in the Herman Schneider home at Norfolk.

Prepsters to Meet Indians Tomorrow

Coach Joe Lindahl will take his Wayne Prep cagers to Winnebago tomorrow evening where the Little Wildcats will battle with last year's class B state champions. Twelve Prepsters will make the trip.

For the purpose of meeting the expected onslaught of the Indians, Lindahl has been drilling his boys during the week following vacation with a view to increasing offensive speed and perfection in ball-handling and passing.

The Indians are again rated among the strongest teams in this section of the state and have enjoyed a perfect season to date. They include in their line-up of able ball handlers such outstanding stars of last season as St. Cyr, Martin and Clay.

Wildcats to Meet Nation's Champs On Norfolk Floor

Phillips '66' Amateur Quint Will Appear in Exhibition Tilt Monday, January 13.

It's the Wildcats against the national A. A. U. champs at Norfolk next Monday evening, when Coach Morrison's Wayne Staters tangle with the powerful Phillips "66" cagers. Although rated the underdogs in the fray, the Wildcats promise fans an evening of fast action.

Plans Strategy for Game.

In an effort to cope with the high scoring plays of the Oilers Morrison announced this week that he has been drilling his charges in the tactics of man-to-man defense, planning in this way to prevent the champs from setting up any of their effective scoring formations. And in order to keep the game going at full speed throughout, the Wayne mentor plans to take his entire squad of almost 20 men to Norfolk in order to have a fresh team on the floor at all times.

Freshmen to See Action.

On the Wayne squad are five freshmen who have been showing up remarkably well. As a result Coach Morrison plans to use these five boys as a unit only, and will send them into the game against the Oilers for their first appearance. Members of the quint are Harold Johnson and Lyle Seymour, forwards, John Stinson, center, and Wallace Kent and Vernon "Pete" Kozisek, guards.

The game, sponsored by the Norfolk Athletic association, brings to northeast Nebraska fans a chance to see in action the leading amateur basketball team in the country. Winners of the national A. A. U. meet last year, the Oilers were two runners-up and once finished third, boasting a four-year record of 159 games won and 28 lost with a percentage of .850.

Four All-Americans on Team.

The team is composed of former collegiate stars and includes four former All-American cagers, foremost of whom is probably Frank Groves, 6 feet, 5 1/2 inch forward, former Kansas State star, who holds the Big Six all-time scoring record of 154 points per game.

The Phillips "66" team is coached by Chuck Hyatt, acclaimed by many as the greatest basketball player of all time. During his playing career between 1925 and 1937, Hyatt was named 11 times to All-American in college and A. A. U. competition.

Guy Best of Norfolk, former Wayne State star who is well known to sport fans of this section, and Fred Dale of the Wayne State faculty, have been secured as officials for the game.

Oilers to Hold Clinic.

Immediately following the game, the Oilers and their coaches will conduct a 50-minute clinic, especially for coaches and players, in which they will demonstrate all phases of the game and try to answer all questions put to them.

Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Foy Cross and family of Omaha, were Tuesday afternoon and overnight guests last week of Mrs. S. K. Cross.

Home from Hospital.

Miss Alma Luschen returned home Saturday from a local hospital where she had undergone an operation December 27. She will resume her teaching January 13.

At Recreation Center.

A dance is planned January 17 at the recreation center for young people.

The 500 club met December 31 with Mrs. Ben Meyer and Mrs. Robert Rinehart hostesses.

The Sewing club met Friday.

Blues Humble Creighton Five Friday, 41-17

Berry and Powers Take Lead in Sparkling Offensive as Morris' Cagers Show Considerable Improvement.

Playing their first game after the holiday vacation, Coach Elwood Morris' Wayne high cagers coasted to an easy 41 to 17 victory over the Creighton high quint for their second conference victory of the season at the auditorium here last Friday evening.

Displaying surprising smoothness of attack, the Blues jumped into a 6-point lead early in the first quarter and increased their margin as the contest progressed. Paced by Berry with 16 points and Powers with 12, the Morris-coached men clicked with precision on their under-the-basket formations, while Guards Hockom and Smith consistently gained possession of the ball after thwarting the visitor's scoring attempts.

First Quarter.

The Blues scored shortly after the opening of the game when Hockom converted on both of his kick tosses after being fouled under the basket by L. Burt, Creighton guard. Berry and Smith followed with a fielder's piece. J. Burt counted first for Creighton on a free throw after being fouled by Powers. But Powers came right back and dropped one in from under the basket and then scored after he was fouled by Hladik. J. Burt scored from close in and L. Burt converted on a foul by Granquist, ending all scoring for the visitors for the first half. Berry tossed in two fielders and a free throw on Huguens' foul, and Powers ended the quarter with a flip from close in. Score: Wayne 16, Creighton 4.

Second Quarter.

Coach Morris began sending in substitutes during this period, giving his younger men a good opportunity to gain some valuable experience. The Blues eased up somewhat on their driving offense, scoring only five points in this frame, but maintained their airtight defensive game, holding the visitors scoreless. Powers started things off with a gift toss after being fouled by "Big Jim" Saloum. Stull flipped one from the corner and Granquist and Powers collected on free throws after fouls by Carter and J. Burt. Score: Wayne 21, Creighton 4.

Third Quarter.

Coming out after intermission the Wayne lads continued with their onslaught while holding the visiting five to three field goals in the third frame. Field goals by Lessman and Powers, and free throws by Stull and Berry gave the Blues a 27-4 advantage. Forward Hladik dropped one from the corner for the Creightonians, but Berry came back with two quick fielders from close-in before Hladik scored again from the corner. Murray advanced the Blues' score a point after being fouled by J. Burt, and Huguens flipped one from the floor. Score: Wayne 32, Creighton 10.

Fourth Quarter.

With only one starter, Center Berry, in the game, Coach Morris' reserve players outcoached the Creighton five 9 to 7 in the closing quarter. Kessler counted from the free throw line on a foul by L. Burt. Hladik again found the range from the corner, but Berry offset this with a fielder from close-in and a gift toss on Saloum's foul. L. Burt scored a point on Kessler's foul, Hockom converted on Saloum's misplay, followed by Berry's fielder. Huguens scored from under the basket, and Berry came back with the Blues' final counter. "Corner Shot" Hladik came through with one of his specials just as the game ended. Score: Wayne 41, Creighton 17.

Rules Explained About Accidents

Give proper care and assistance to injured persons. Call doctors and ambulance services to the scene if necessary. Call the county coroner if a fatality has resulted. Clear the highway to permit traffic to pass safely. Identify drivers and vehicles involved. Collect necessary information concerning names of witnesses and the apparent reason for the mishap. Notify proper authorities of the accident. These are rules to follow in any highway accident, according to information from the state patrol.

One of the most important duties of the Nebraska safety patrol is investigation of highway traffic accidents. It is not necessary that the vehicles be permitted to remain in the positions in which they come to a stop after the accident. They may be moved by the individuals or by any wrecking or towing service selected by the individuals interested. Anyone involved in an accident may exercise his privilege of selecting the physician or ambulance service that he may desire.

Officers of the patrol have been trained to conduct accurate, thorough and complete investigations. Any assistance given them in the course of the investigation is appreciated. Often it becomes necessary to clear the highway before officers arrive. If traffic can pass safely without moving the vehicle or vehicles, it becomes possible to obtain more information and offers a better picture of the accident situation. If the car must be moved, invaluable aid can be provided to the officers by designating marks, tracks, etc., and by marking the relative positions of the vehicles.

The patrol has found it necessary to rely upon those individuals and agencies who at all times are available and willing to bring skilled assistance to the scene of accidents. Calls for physicians, ambulances and wreckers are normally placed to the nearest point where prompt service may be expected. Inasmuch as many serious accidents occur between darkness and daylight, the problem of obtaining aid quickly sometimes becomes very serious.

Investigation of accidents by patrol officers represents one of the services offered by the organization. The service is designed to assist in the reduction of accidents by determining all available facts pertaining to accidents. It must be recognized that an officer's efforts are concentrated in the actions referred to above, and that he is attempting to complete his work quickly, thoroughly and efficiently so that traffic may continue without interference, and so that some lives may be spared because of prompt action.

Recipes

Lemon Frosted Fruit Bars (Mrs. R. M. Carhart)

Mix together 1 egg yolk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup molasses. Blend in 1/2 cup short cream. Sift flour, then sift together 1 1/2 cups flour, 3/4 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ginger. Mix into egg yolk mixture. Then add 1/2 cup nuts and 1/2 cup pitted dates.

Spread in greased oblong pan 8 by 12 inches. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven, 400 degrees. As soon as taken from oven cut in small squares.

Beat 1 egg white till stiff. Beat in 1 cup powdered sugar, lemon extract and lemon rind. Continue beating till soft. Frost cookies while warm.

Veal Birds.

1 pound veal steak 1/2 inch thick, 1 pound pork tenderloin 1/2 inch thick. Cut in one and one-half inch squares, roll each square in well beaten egg and cracker crumbs, then, put alternately on meat sticks, until 3/4 full. Then wrap a thin slice of bacon around each stick, put in frying pan and brown 1/2. Then add water and steam one and one-half hours.

Snow Pie

Cook 1 pint boiling water, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 scant cup sugar and pinch of salt thoroughly. Remove from fire, add vanilla and white of 1 egg beaten stiff. Put in baked crust. Top with whipped cream when cold.

Zweiback Nut Tart

12 Zweiback rolled fine 4 beaten egg yolks 1 cup chopped nuts 1 teaspoon baking powder 1/2 cup sugar 4 beaten egg whites Mix in order given. Bake in 2 buttered pans in moderate oven 20 minutes. Fill and cover with sweetened flavored whipped cream. Sprinkle with a few Zweiback crumbs.

Mock Turkey

2 pounds round steak, ground 1/2 pound pork, ground 1/2 pound veal, ground 1 cup bread crumbs 2 eggs 1/2 cup milk Salt and pepper Soak bread crumbs in milk and add to ground meat. Add other ingredients and mix well. Pat into a large flat cake about 3/4 inches thick. Make a turkey stuffing. Roll loaf around stuffing and bake in a moderate oven for about two hours.

Veal Tongue Curry

2 veal tongues 1 onion 32 tablespoons butter 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon curry powder 22 tablespoons flour Bring the tongue to a boil in water to which a little vinegar has been added. Drain, and cover with fresh water, adding the onion fine-sliced and simmer slowly for 2 1/2 hours. Remove the skin, small bones and cartilage and cut in pieces for serving. Melt the butter, add the flour and curry powder. Blend, add broth in which tongues were cooked and salt. When thick add the tongue in the sauce to eat.

Shrimp Hors d'Oeuvres

Wash a well-rounded cabbage and drain well. Roll back outer leaves to resemble open petals of a flower. Slice whole shrimps (canned or freshly boiled and shelled) with toothpicks and insert them in cabbage. If cabbage is a large one make cavity in top center and fill with Russian dressing (mayonnaise to which drained chili sauce has been added). Or dressing may be served in separate dish if preferred.

Ham Sticks

Simply wrap paper-thin slices of highly seasoned ham around thin bread sticks. Lacking them, cut stale bread in sticks a third inch in diameter. Brush with shortening and bake till golden brown. Then wrap with the ham. (It must be very thin.) First spread the ham with mustard, if desired.

Perk Tenderloin Birds

Split pork tenderloins or pound until a wide, flat piece is formed about 1-3 inch thick. Make a stuffing as for poultry. Put the split pieces together with stuffing between. Spread the flattened pieces with the stuffing then fold one-half over the other. Skewer. Roll in flour, and saute. When brown add milk or water to half cover, and simmer until tender, about 2 hours. Remove to hot platter and thicken the liquid for a sauce. These may be baked instead of stewed and are especially good that way.

Chocolate Roll

To 5 well beaten egg yolks add 2 tablespoons cocoa and 1/4 cup powdered sugar. Beat 5 egg whites, fold in lightly, add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cover cookie sheet with wax paper, add cake, bake in slow oven 25 minutes. Turn over on sugared board, cool, spread with sweetened whipped cream. Roll up and serve.

Pork Chops

8 or 10 pork chops 3/4 inch thick 1 bunch celery, diced 1 No. 2 can tomatoes Salt, pepper, paprika to taste 3 green peppers, chopped Dredge pork chops in flour and brown. Place chops in roaster, place remaining ingredients over chops, pour fat from frying chops over the whole. Bake 1 1/2 hours in moderate oven.

Backbone and Dumplings

2 pounds of spare ribs 2 cups flour 1 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon butter 4 teaspoons baking powder 1 cup milk Salt the spare ribs and pour boiling water over them. Let simmer until done. Make dumplings by sifting together the flour, salt and baking powder, cutting in the fat, and stirring in the milk. Drop by spoonfuls on top of the ribs, cover tightly and cook 12 to 15 minutes. The dumplings must rest on the ribs, and not settle in the liquid. Potatoes may also be cooked with the ribs.

Former Minister At Carroll Dies

Rev. F. S. Sala, former Methodist minister here, who died in Kirkland, Wash., recently at the age of 71, was born in Allen county, Kan., December 9, 1869. In 1878 his father, a Civil war veteran, died from effects of his service. Afterward Mrs. Sala and five small children moved to Iowa. Rev. Sala worked in a lumber yard at Muscatine and later started his ministry in Nebraska. The loss of his voice in 1903 forced Rev. Sala to give up his work for a time and he moved to a farm near Elgin. In 1912 he resumed his ministry. In 1923 he was called to Lincoln to help in the Methodist work and continued until 1939 when he and Mrs. Sala moved to Washington.

Rev. Sala married Anna Bugardus at Neligh October 12, 1898. Surviving Rev. Sala are his wife, eight sons and daughters, Mrs. Ruth Smith of Royal, Paul of Hastings, Mrs. Esther Crull of Walton, Neb., Beulah Sala of Seattle, Mr. Ida Allen, Charles, Mrs. Alice Milks and Wendell, all of Kirkland. Another daughter, Mrs. Ophie Frey, died a year ago. There are two grandchildren.

Continuance of federal payments, but more farmer responsibility and control with reduced expenses and overhead in the AAA; increased use of the food stamp plan, more emphasis on research for the industrial utilization of crops; control of food surplus by giving food to the world through the Red Cross and by direct governmental aid when peace comes; fair tariff protection for agriculture, and opposition to reciprocal trade treaties that discriminate against farmers.

PROGRESS

What has been done this year in Medical Science of which we may be proud?

Much, we would say—but the work never lags. The scientist, the research chemist, and the regular practicing physician are unceasingly working toward the elimination of human suffering.

Cancer, asthma, hay fever, tuberculosis, the common cold, neuritis—and all the other physical ills that have not been fully conquered—are having millions of dollars, and untold scientific energy expended on their eventual extermination. From one end of the world to the other this progress in health goes on, but no greater service is being accomplished than the gradual awakening of men and women to the good sense of PREVENTION of disease and ill-health.

Taking care of, and preserving good health, and building walls of energy against invasion—much has been accomplished along these lines of education this last year. Let's keep up the good work.

Prizes Offered In Essay Contest

Grade Students of County Are Eligible to Enter Competition Here.

Wayne county 7th and 8th graders are eligible to compete in an essay contest sponsored by the soil conservation service, extension service and AAA to develop future farmers. Prizes of $5, $3, $2 and two of $1 are offered for the five best.

"Agriculture in Nebraska" is the topic for the essays which are to be between 500 and 1,500 words and which are to be in by March 1, 1941. Soil conservation, crop rotation including grass, allotments, ever-normal granary, balancing crop and grass production to live stock needs, wild life conservation, and management and betterment of the farm home are points to be stressed. The essays must be in ink.

Originality, clearness, good English and neatness will be the basis for judgment. Competent judges outside the county will pass on the essays. The AAA office, committeemen and fieldwoman, SCS district officer personnel, CCC camp personnel, county agent, H. E. Engstrom and A. H. Doll, the last two of the college of agriculture, Lincoln, are sources of information for students.

Study for Vocations. As part of their work in a unit of applications, personal and written, members of the senior English class are interviewing persons engaged in the lines of work that interest them. Part of the class time has been spent in hearing talks on vocations available to persons with certain skills, each choosing a field in which he has special interest and doing research before preparing his talk. Each senior is attempting a self-analysis in order to arrive at a fairly definite conclusion as to what kinds of work he is best fitted to do.

Second year Latin class has begun reading the story of the Argonauts. New booklets emphasizing the importance of reading for comprehension provide additional material.

Junior English section which has been studying reporting of speeches wrote reports of President Roosevelt's address opening congress.

Pep club opened a sales campaign on stickers boosting Wayne high school. The group met Thursday after school to decide on new jackets.

Do Decorative Work. Typing students are spending this week making artistic designs on the typewriter. Cross-stitch patterns, silhouettes, landscapes, buildings, animals and flowers are favorite types of work which are being reproduced. After a day or two of practice the final designs are completed. Various colored ribbons will be put on the machines and many designs will be finished in several colors. The project is used for exhibit purposes. The best work will be displayed at the fair next fall.

In Seventh Grade. The pupils of the penmanship classes made a New Year's resolution. Each resolved to concentrate on his worst penmanship fault and do his best to correct it during the next six weeks' period.

English class is studying the parts of speech. Members can now recognize nouns and verbs when they see them.

Reading class is trying to concentrate thoroughly enough to remember important details in the material read.

Sixth Grade News. "The Beginning of Boats" was studied in the transportation unit. Several of the children made models of the early types of water transportation. The bulletin board has an attractive display of early boats made by the boys and girls.

John Addison showed the class pictures through the Delineascope of his trip to California and the Rose Bowl game. The 4th grade also attended the show.

In Fifth Grade. Richard Reese drew a picture of a skier on the blackboard to be used in connection with the Good Sports club.

"Little Chocolate Baby" and "The Gingerbread Man" are new songs being learned.

Lawrence Kohrt gave an interesting talk about skyscrapers. He showed pictures that he had gathered from the city library.

The 5th grade club met Friday and elected the following monitors: Rosella Nelson, Richard Arlen Childs, Stanley Peterson and Marvin Johnson.

Send New Slips. Dental health slips are being sent home with 6th, 7th and 8th graders. Parents are urged to have children's teeth checked as soon as possible. In the lower rooms the 1st grade has the most on the honor roll, 13, and keeps the health banner this week.

Fourth Grade News. Claire Mae Simmerman has read the greatest number of books listed on "My Book Friends" chart.

Mitzi Heine and Billie Benthack were chosen captains for a cipher-division arithmetic contest in long division. Mitzi Heine's side is leading.

Pupils drew pictures about all phases of things learned during their study of communication. These proved especially interesting when shown the class through the Delineascope. Each had prepared a short talk about his picture.

Third Grade News. Pupils of the 3rd grade have arranged a miniature store with pictures of coats, dresses, etc. They also have a measuring table to use in this connection and learn the use of the yard and inch. Each is making a booklet on clothing and has a list of summer and winter garments and those for boys and for girls.

A nature calendar is being kept during January with a record of weather taken each morning and noon. Betty Miller and Paul Bowen are keeping the chart this week.

Paul Bowen of Billings, Mont., enrolled last week.

Miss Lois Pierson visited Friday. Children of the kindergarten, 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th grades had a doll and toy show in the activities room Friday afternoon. Girls brought their favorite dolls and each received a blue ribbon for being first in some division. Boys brought favorite toys. The children marched and showed their toys.

Second Grade Notes. The class is making a library using Patty Hill blocks from kindergarten. Pupils plan to visit the public library for ideas. This is a part of the study of the community. A list of the factors which compose a community was made. The class selected the ones they would like to study. Emphasis is placed on proper and intelligent use of the library and care of books.

In First Grade. The beans which the children planted in the fall are now bearing.

Mrs. F. B. Decker and Judy visited the doll show Friday.

Bonnie Kessler and Richard VonSeggern celebrated their 7th birthdays Monday. Mrs. Kessler was a guest and brought treats for the class.

The children are bringing baby pictures of themselves. They will be looked at through the lantern as soon as all have been brought.

A show about Jimmy Microbe was presented last Tuesday. The story is of the many ways in which germs travel from one child to another.

The 1st grade had 13 on the dental honor roll. As this was the largest number from one room in the primary department, the banner will be in this room this week.

Three in One Family Undergo Operations. Three members of the Wayne Reed family of Wakefield, underwent the same kind of operation at the same hospital during the same month. The appendix caused all the trouble. Larry Reed was first victim and was taken to a Sioux City hospital. Mr. Reed followed, and then Mrs. Reed. The daughter in the family escaped.

Collision Fatal To Two Monday

Brother of Wayne Man Has Minor Injuries in Same Missouri Mishap.

A head-on automobile-truck collision five miles south of New London, Mo., Monday evening last week about 9 o'clock resulted in the death of Joseph Blackburn, 34, and Evi L. Kruger, 47, of Arlington, and injury to two others, A. A. Hahlbeck and Henry Toebben, also of Arlington. Mr. Hahlbeck is a brother of R. C. Hahlbeck of Wayne, and Mr. Blackburn was a schoolmate and neighbor of Supt. F. B. Decker of this place for a number of years.

The four men, also Mayor Harry Osterman, H. D. Meyer and Fred Vogt of Arlington, in another car, had gone to St. Louis to see a fire truck which Washington county rural fire association was planning to buy. The car with three men was ahead. When the other auto was not sighted for a time, the three drove back and found that the other machine had been in an accident, colliding with a truck loaded with hogs and driven by H. L. Siegrist of Meadville, Mo. It is thought that Blackburn, very heavy set man and driver, suffered a heart attack and lost control of the machine. He and Kruger, who was in the back seat, were killed instantly. A patrolman who investigated the accident said it was the worst in his 16 years' experience. Hahlbeck and Toebben, who sustained injuries, were taken to a Hannibal, Mo., hospital. The truck driver was also hurt.

R. C. Hahlbeck was in Arlington New Year's. His brother, manager of the Nebraska Power office there, was reported doing nicely and was brought home the following day.

Mr. Decker was in Arlington Friday to attend funeral rites for Mr. Blackburn, cafe man, at the Congregational church. Rev. David Simpson, formerly of Carroll, assisted with the rites. Deceased was not married. Herbert Echtenkamp accompanied Mr. Decker and visited his parents and also called in the Kruger home.

The rites for Mr. Kruger were held Saturday at Arlington. Mr. Kruger farmed near there and survived by his wife.

EXPLAINS REPORT OF PLANNING BOARD

County Supt. F. B. Decker spoke to the Farmers Union meeting at the W. F. Biermann home Thursday evening. He explained the changes proposed by the state planning board for schools.

District 12.

(Faye Sandahl, teacher.)
A program was rendered to the parents of the pupils on the afternoon of December 20. After the program gifts were exchanged and gifts that the children had made for their parents were presented to them. The children were dismissed for a vacation which extended until January 2.

The Christmas theme was carried out in room decorations for the month of December. Candles, poinsettias, Christmas rope and tinsel helped make the room attractive. Emil Navjkal and Donald Karlberg furnished attractive chalk sketches on the blackboards.

Donald Karlberg took part in the spelling contest which was held in Wakefield December 21.

District 77.

(John Sellon, teacher.)
Girls gave a Thanksgiving party. Most interesting of the games was a treasure hunt. Apple pie and ice cream were served, and Mr. Sellon furnished a treat.

Ervin Pfeiffer was the only pupil in school December 16 because of the storm. LaVerle Schnoor has attended the most days during the term. Ladonna Stamm has been absent most of the past month because of illness.

The school has had 10 visitors this year.

The 8th graders are studying "The Man Without a Country." Elton Welch is studying "The Wam."

Jo Ann Isom, 1st grader, has read four picture-books and is nearly through her primer. Dalbert Isom is also doing good work.

The water cooler was moved upstairs with congenium beneath it. Storm windows were washed and hung. Coal has been stored. Desks have been rearranged.

Pupils decorated the room with red and green ropes for Christmas. Wreaths and wise men were placed at the windows. Gifts were exchanged from a tree. Treats were furnished by the teacher.

District 68.

(Guinevere Lyngen, teacher.)
Allan Johnson and Fern Mohr have had perfect attendance the past month. Fern is the only pupil with a perfect record for the year.

Clark Smith, jr., had 100 in spelling during November. Naomi Johnson and Donald Wischhof had perfect records during December.

The 3rd and 4th graders completed a study of Switzerland and booklets were made by each pupil. The grades are now studying Holland.

The 8th graders read "A Christmas Carol."

Pupils decorated the room for the holidays. Red and green streamers and icicles were hung along each wall. The front blackboard was decorated with Santa Claus and trees. These had been earned by 2nd, 3rd and 4th graders in reading classes. The sand table was decorated with a large fireplace and paper Santa Claus drawn by Neal Smith. The Christmas tree, which was decorated by pupils, was placed by the fireplace. Each child placed his gifts nearby. Gifts and candy treats were distributed at the Christmas party December 20.

Holiday vacation extended from December 20 to 30.

All pupils had made gifts for their parents.

A Christmas program was presented December 19 and a large crowd attended. Pie, sandwiches and coffee were served after the program. Teacher and pupils thank all for their cooperation.

Christmas seals sold amounted to $1.28. Eugene Wischhof sold the most.

Clark Smith, jr., was president. Neal Smith vice president and Donald Wischhof secretary of the club for November. Miss Lyngen is president, Eugene Wischhof vice president and Fern Mohr secretary now.

Mrs. Gladys Roberts spoke on soil conservation. December 5 Cookies were given as a treat.

COUNTY OFFICIALS MEET IN LINCOLN

County superintendents of the state convene at Lincoln January 28, 29 and 30. State Supt. Charles Taylor has called the meeting, and Supt. F. B. Decker plans to attend. Last year 87 of the 93 county superintendents were in the city for the convention.

District 88.

(Ella Cary Holmes, teacher.)
The slogan, "Be Resourceful," and a Robinson Crusoe poster will decorate the front of the school room in January. The lives of Thomas Edison, Daniel Boone and Robinson Crusoe will be studied for instances of resourcefulness.

Margaret Swinney and Gordon Magdanz brought candy treats for their birthdays.

The most outstanding December decoration was the Christmas creche constructed by Shirley Miller.

Marjorie Swinney and Gordon Magdanz are the only pupils who have a perfect attendance for the year.

The Good English club elected new officers. Gordon Magdanz is the president. Charles Kay secretary, Harry Swinney, jr., treasurer, and Dale Miller vice president. The club has been emphasizing the correct pronunciation of words ending in "ing."

District 65.

(Lorene Wittler, teacher.)
The holiday vacation began December 20 and school resumed January 6.

Various seasonal decorations adorned the room during December. Pupils decorated the Christmas tree.

Many woodwork articles were made for parents, among them being letter holders, letter openers, balancing parrots, shade pulls, garden markers and whisk broom holders.

Gifts were exchanged and treats were given on the afternoon of December 20. A public program was held that evening.

New stage curtains were purchased with part of the fair money.

Mrs. Levi Roberts gave a talk on soil conservation December 12. Treats were distributed after a contest.

Joan Rubeck and Gloria Swanson had birthdays last month. They gave treats.

Attendance was poor in December due to illness and bad weather. Mary Lea and Robert Dee Jensen are the only ones having perfect attendance for the entire year.

District 26.

(Mrs. Ellen Philbin, teacher.)
Ten-inch letters cut from red and green construction paper bordered the burlap in the school room during December.

The sum of $27.51 was taken in on the program December 18 and $21.21 was cleared.

For the Christmas party December 24 Evelyn Test, Buddy Peters and Lois Lubberstedt had charge of refreshments, Delores Peters and Norman Lubberstedt entertainment, Melvin Saul, LaVerne and Kenneth Frevert, Norman Peters and Donald Caauwe decorations. A treasure hunt started the party. Clever verses were clues which led to the treasure. Evelyn Test and Lois Lubberstedt reached the treasure first. Pinning a cat's tail and an eraser relay followed. Gifts exchanged were placed beneath a silver Christmas tree on the kindergarten table. A pound box of candy was given to each by the teacher. Refreshments were served by the committee. Larry Lubberstedt and Lorraine Saul were guests of the school children.

Evelyn Test and Donald Caauwe have reached the goal of 30 seals for written work in spelling. Merlin Saul, LaVerne Frevert and Norman Lubberstedt have had 100 in arithmetic for the past month. Donald Caauwe, Delores Peters, Buddy Peters, Norman Peters and Lois Lubberstedt have received 100 in daily spelling recitations for the month.

Kenneth Frevert has begun his third reader.

A skating party was enjoyed December 8.

Children at the Crossroads Ernest L. Reeker

Not Wanted.

Not once in all his 13 years had Allen ever experienced that feeling of solid, comfort that comes from living in a good home. His mother was more interested in liquor than in her little boy, and his father was a ne'er-do-well who simply refused to accept his responsibility as the head of a family.

At that, when he was summoned to juvenile court Allen was guilty of only general misbehavior, not a serious offense among the complaints.

With the idea of shocking the parents into a realization of their obligation toward their offspring, we threatened to place him in an orphanage. Passively they answered, "Probably that's the best thing to do. Maybe they can do a better job than we can."

Simply because he was an unwanted, unwelcome child, Allen did not deserve to be sent to an orphanage or training school. After much searching we found him a foster-home wherein the woman, whose husband was dead and whose two successful sons now lived far away, saw in Allen a fresh outlet for her abilities as a mother. Allen immediately began to exhibit a fondness for his new mother. How inspiring it was to be treated other than as an out-cast and a bad boy. Of course he would bend every effort to be good! For some months it had been difficult for him to advance properly in school, but now with the devotion and encouragement of his foster-mother he became a student of high rating among his classmates. He joined the boy scouts, taking full part in their activities.

As the foster-mother's health began to fail, Allen assumed the responsibility for her care, although there was no necessity for his doing so. Her deep satisfaction in Allen's appreciation was abundant compensation for what she had done for him.

Placing delinquent boys in foster-homes is a comparatively recent practice in juvenile court work, and not until our administration was attempted in Madison county. That the kindly atmosphere and the family relationships of a normal home change the behavior pattern of the alleged delinquent prove the plan a success. Stated conversely, the method shows that the lack of parental affection drives children to delinquency.

Occasionally we find, after a child has been caught in un-social behavior, that parental love had never been wanting but his parents were of such disposition that he did not know they adored him. Therefore it is important that parents exhibit, by word and deed, their affection so that there is no doubt of it in their children's minds.

Second Semester Of Year to Open

Shop Work Will Be Offered Boys of Carroll School As New Course.

Second semester of the school year opens in Carroll next Monday when one of the new subjects to be offered is shop training for boys. This to be in charge of Supt. A. H. Jensen. A room has been arranged in the basement for this work and some new equipment has been purchased. Units in wood work, sheet metal, household electricity, mechanical drawing and auto mechanics are to be offered to a limited number. The course promises to prove very popular. In the new period the 11th graders will take business arithmetic in place of physical geography, and 9th graders will have orientation in place of general science and business training instead of civic training.

Semester examinations are to be given this Thursday and Friday. Dixon basketball teams played their last Friday evening, winning both games. Dixon first team won by 12 to 10 and second team won by 8 to 2. The town team defeated the Winside CCC boys here the same evening. Coleridge played here Tuesday and McLean comes Friday.

Typing class is working on business letters, also trying to increase speed and accuracy.

Barracks have not yet been completed for all of either the new army of conscripts or the organized National Guard. There are not guns or pants or shoes enough to go around.

From 1916 to 1920, with all the fervor engendered by a world war in which America was engaged, a serious effort was made to secure the enactment of a universal military training law. Behind that effort were such men as Julius Rosenberg, Henry M. Eylesby, Victor Lawson, J. E. Forgan, Ogden Armour, Charles M. Hutchinson, and others. In 1918 a republican congress would have passed the bill as a republican measure, but the democratic president Wilson would have vetoed it. Through the intercession of Col. E. M. House, President Wilson agreed to sign the bill, provided it could be reintroduced under a new number and as an administration measure. When that was done, the republican congress would not pass it, and the administration measure, and the project was dropped.

Real Value

The best personal items in a community newspaper are of invaluable service. They keep people thinking of friends and associates, and make of the people of a community a homogeneous whole.

New Frontiers

The frontiers of the future are found in the industrial laboratories of this country. From them we will get in the future, as in the past, those new things which add to the pleasure of living, provide new jobs and preserve old ones, create new demands for products of the farm and continuously raise the standard of living for all of us. Give the industrial laboratory an opportunity to operate as a free enterprise and America will go rapidly forward.

One Out of Five Americans Gets Government Pay

There were 27,794,620 people—Americans—as late as last November 1, receiving all or a part of their living—the cost of their food, shelter and clothing—from the United States government.

There is something radically wrong when such a condition can exist in this, the wealthiest nation in the world, a nation in which is concentrated 50 per cent of the purchasing power of the entire world.

More than one-fifth of all of the 128,000,000 Americans are either working for or being assisted by the federal government.

Of that vast number, that 27,794,620 people—Americans, 1,009,769 were in the armed forces of the United States on November 1. To these we are this year adding 1,400,000 more as conscripts for a defense army.

The federal government civilian payrolls on November 1 carried a total of 1,090,416 employees, of which the executive department accounted for 1,082,018, the legislative branch for 9,957 and the judicial for 2,441.

There are in the United States approximately 6,500,000 farms and government checks went to 5,756,840 of these as payment for not raising certain crops.

On the relief rolls and including those receiving other forms of government assistance, were 7,418,580 cases, representing 16,052,000 individuals.

Other items bring the total up to that 27,794,620 individuals—Americans—whose cost of living is provided in whole or in part by the federal government.

To make it complete, to this vast total should be added the employees and the recipients of assistance from municipal, county and state governments. I have no knowledge as to what that number may be, but it would run into the millions, all of which is paid, or charged against, the self-supporting Americans.

Americans, as a people, are not heartless. We sympathize with, and are always willing to assist those who through either misfortune or inability are unable to provide for themselves, but we resent being imposed upon.

Today the self-supporting family of four is providing for six people.

Are we asking too much from the government? Are we contributing to the indolence of our fellow Americans? Are we sabotaging ourselves?

It is time to investigate. Time to ascertain definitely and honestly just who needs and who does not need assistance, how much of government we need, and how much is superfluous frills.

Our legislators will respond quickly to an aroused public opinion. Will we, as a proved self-supporting, charitable people, express that opinion?

Life at Sea Is Filled with Thrills For Wayne Youth Taking Cruise

Life at sea provides thrills aplenty, according to Kenneth Petersen, Wayne youth, who is radio operator with a party en route from the eastern coast through the Panama canal and up the west coast of Mexico. On the journey, Mr. Leigh, explorer and writer, will visit land and water points seldom, if ever, touched and describe his findings for National Geographic.

The Lascar, yacht on which the party sails, is 68 feet long and weighs 23 tons. It has a forecabin, cabin, galley and bedroom. On the yacht are: Captain Lagooote, who is a jolly old fellow and has worked on the sea since he was 16; Dan Billings, first mate who is about 25 years old; Howard, the cook, who was the Leighs Home cook and is really good; Mr. and Mrs. Leigh; Wally, a guest who is going along as far as Jamaica. "We left Norfolk at 11 a. m., Wednesday, November 27," writes Kenneth. "We filled up with gas and water, powered out of the bay and set sails. For the first couple hours we made approximately 9 knots per hour. Since that time we've hit terrible winds. We just get sails set for one type of wind and that wind goes down and up comes another. At present we are about 160 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C., about one-fourth the distance to Jamaica. The first two days out it was cold. However, today I'm sitting here in my shorts and a quarter-sleeve.

"Sunday, December 1—Today we've hit an awful gale. All sails are down but two, the mainmast and a storm trisail, which we set this morning. Last night the forestal ripped right down the middle when the gale came up. We're having quite a time and right now we're bouncing over and up waves like a duck. I haven't been able to reach the mainland by radio yet, so I must go do some work on that now.

"Monday, December 2—An a.f. transformer in my receiver has opened up so that lets radio out at least until we reach Jamaica where we can get a replacement. Danny and I had a pretty good watch last night. We go on between 7 p. m. and 1 a. m. We work it quite well. While one steers for an hour the other sleeps in the little shelter in front of the cockpit. Then we change around for the next hour. This seems easier than for one to steer for three continuous hours. I about scared Dan out of his wits last night. I was steering and decided to lean down on my arm and rest a second. A second later a great wave of water broke over the bow-spirit with a thunderous crash. Danny woke up with a start and the first thing he saw was me leaning face down by the wheel. It scared him for he thought something had happened to me. His mistake.

"Sees Flying Fish. "The air is so clean and fresh. You should see the flying fish. They fly up and light on the deck. They aren't very big but they are really fleshy and, I imagine, are pretty good eating. I've had a trowling line with a nice big spinner on the end trowling about 100 feet out behind the boat in hopes of catching a swordfish or a dolphin. These aren't really the best fishing waters but the captain said that there is a possibility. We hit a school of dolphins yesterday morning and they followed right along the side, but you couldn't catch any. I haven't as yet seen a tortoise. Wally and Dan saw a couple the other morning but I was below deck at the time. We're really traveling today, doing between 5 and 7 knots per hour consistently. That's wonderful in comparison with the 2 or 3 knots which we have been doing the last two days and that was mostly east and west as we had to tact because of southern and south-western winds. According to the captain bringing us into the realm of the trade winds, northeastern winds which prevail year in and year out. These should take us down to Jamaica in fine order. We will have these trade winds with us all the way to the Panama canal. I believe we will remain in Jamaica two or three days. This life on the sea is swell, but some good solid land is going to feel mighty fine for a couple of days. Today we're all-up on deck, happy in the thought that we are at last moving toward our destination with some speed.

"Tuesday, December 3—Let me say one thing—if ever you want to go on a pleasure cruise on the Atlantic, don't take a 1,200-mile jaunt in a 68-foot sailboat. I mean there is plenty work all the time and you never get a consistent night's sleep. Last night was really some watch. The rain came down by the bucketsful. I've never been quite so wet before in my life. For four continuous hours, Dan and I changed off, sitting drenched by the wheel. There all of a sudden, the rain stopped, the clouds disappeared, the sky was absolutely chuck full of stars. Well that was most amazing. At the same time the wind, I believe, went absolutely bats. It started to change one direction then switched to another. I bet we changed four times in an hour. Believe you me, swinging that trisail from one side to the other isn't a job to be sneezed at. You have to mani-

That is what we originally intended to do but wind and currents didn't allow it. Last night it was really tough and hard to handle the ship. Because we were weaving in between islands and different reefs our course had to be very exact. This necessitated the fellows at the wheel to be constantly alert and ready to counteract any deviation from our course, however small. After being at the wheel for half an hour I was really sweating. You can't imagine how tough it is to keep a small ship like this exactly on its course with a gale blowing like it was last night. We see a lot of flying fish now. It is graceful the way they take off and just sail in the air for sometimes as far as 150 feet. They are about 10 inches long and have two wings that lie flat against their sides except when they are flying. I never would believe it is December. We are running around with hardly any clothing when everyone at home is wearing sweaters and coats. We have a little squal of rain every night which lasts about 10 minutes. The rain stops just as quickly as it starts; the sun returns and everything dries again. Captain says if everything goes well we should reach Jamaica sometime tomorrow evening. I'm really excited, seeing land in the form of these islands has more than ever increased my anxiety to reach good old 'terra firma.' We're getting the ship in top condition for our entrance into Jamaica. Danny and I have been polishing brass all morning and things have really begun to sparkle. First thing we're going to do when we reach Jamaica is to hit for a place where we can buy a quart of ice cream. Am I hungry for a good dish of ice cream? I haven't said much about our cooking. Breakfast consists of bacon and eggs and cereal. Eggs are running a little low so we are limited now to only one egg. Dinners usually consist of potatoes, meat and some kind of greens. Howard can certainly bake biscuits. Since running out of bread we have hot biscuits every meal. Supper brings baked potatoes, fried ham and pilot biscuits. For desert we have some kind of fruit sauce. I've been trying to catch some fish again but I can't even get a nibble. In the afternoons on nice days I usually let out about a 100 feet of line and try my luck.

Dangers Are Experienced.

"Sunday, December 8—Things have been happening fast. Yesterday we sailed west along what we assumed to be the coast of Haiti. About 9 p. m. the lighthouse lights seemed to get confusing. They weren't where the map showed they should be. We began to think that something was wrong somewhere; either we were way off our course or the lights had been changed since the charts had been published. Then a dead calm hit us. The wind quit. For seven hours we lolled, not even having anyone steer the vessel because it would have been futile and wouldn't have gotten us anywhere since the only direction the boat would go was with the current which was toward the shore. We waited for a time, hoping a little breeze would stir up from somewhere. After a while the land seemed to be getting a little too close for comfort. We decided to start the motor and motor out farther from land. That was a fine idea but there was one thing that stood in the way. In the afternoon we had gotten an inch backstay rope on the main boom and it had fallen overboard and had become fouled in the propeller blades. We had left it there because at the time we were moving too fast to try and get it off by reaching down into the water and under the boat with boat-hooks, and besides we didn't think we would be needing the motor before we reached port, which we thought was comparatively close. We started working, this was about 4 a. m. and plenty dark, with boat hooks aided by flashlights, but to no avail. The thing seemed to be stuck for good. There appeared to be but one thing left to do, have someone dive down and clear it underwater. All along the trip I had been told of sharks and baracodas which were said to be quite numerous in these waters. I'd been fishing for two weeks and hadn't had any kind of nibble by any fish, much less a shark. I didn't see any reason for one coming along at just this time so I volunteered to do the job. I changed into my bathing suit and dropped into the water over the side. In 90 seconds the water was nice and warm. Looking at that propeller from above water it seemed close to the surface because of the illusion created by the water. I took a deep breath and sailed forth to the depths. When I finally did reach the propeller I readily saw the reason why they couldn't get it undone with boat-hooks. It was really tangled up among the blades. I started to undo the knots but the knots had become so tight that I soon saw it would be impossible. When I came back up for air I told them the circumstances and asked for a sharp knife to cut the rope off the propeller. They gave it to me and I insisted I put a rope around me and let them play it out as I went down. I didn't at the time realize the use to which they thought they might have to put it. It seemed to me there was no reason for it, since I saw nothing for which it could be used since the boat was not moving, just drifting toward the shore. After two attempts under water, I finally cut the rope free. I came up and was pulling once more aboard the ship. Maybe if I'd thought twice about the possibilities of sharks and baracodas I wouldn't have done it, but yet we had to get that propeller free somehow because we just had to get away from the shore. The rope, they told me, was to be used to pull up my torso in case a shark took a leg or two off. It sure made me feel funny when they told me that. In the meantime Dan started the motor and we moved out into the ocean to wait till dawn and try to find where we were. Dawn came and with it clouds, thus making it impossible for the captain to take sights from the stars and find our exact position. All morning we tried to determine our position by the type of lighthouse directly opposite us on the land and finally, came to the conclusion we were just off the coast of Cuba, instead of Haiti. You can see we were far off our course. Since the day brought no wind whatsoever we decided to try to tow the boat with the lifeboat and outboard, figuring that by so doing, we could move it, very slowly, back toward windward passage and not so much gas. That attempt turned out to be quite futile so we hoisted the boat aboard once more and started up the big motor and went back toward windward passage, the place where we got off our course.

"Monday, December 9—We arrived at windward passage about 2 a. m., cut the motor and hoisted sails, although as yet there was little or no wind. The breeze kept increasing slowly but surely as time went on, until it reached its high at about 7 a. m., when we were hitting about 5 knots. The breeze died a little and for a long time we've been doing only about 3 1/2 to 4 knots. We are slowly moving and its rather nice for the boat hardly rocks at all. It's too bad about the course deviation, because had that not happened we would have been in Jamaica by now. But then time doesn't matter in the case of a sailboat. It can't be because it is under the direct supervision of the winds. We should reach Jamaica some time Wednesday morning.

"Tuesday, December 10—Land Ho! We sighted Jamaica about 11 this morning. From here Kingston lies about 40 miles farther west along the coast so we're on our last 40 miles till good old 'terra firma' again lies under our feet. It is clear and cool and a swift breeze is pushing us along at a tremendous rate of speed. The current with us, as a result we sighted Jamaica this morning instead of this evening. In the daytime the sun is hot but if one gets into the shade it's cool and comfortable because the breeze is so swell. At present we are moving along the coast at about 8 or 9 knots. The land is about 3 miles off to our right but it is so clear that it looks very close. There are great high mountains and a lot of foliage. We're just passing Moran harbor. It has a little village in back of it, settled down in between the hills. All is very picturesque and pretty."
