

In California Return - Teachers and Students Cooperate - Prolonging Life - CIO Recalcitrants - To Exempt Farm Work - War's Accomplishments.

Prof. A. V. Teed, retired Teachers college educator, motored home from a three months' sojourn at Los Angeles, arriving here last week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Teed who had spent a year with her daughter, Miss Janice May, who is an executive among girls in a large department store.

Mr. Teed reports more rain in the southwest than had fallen in any season there in 50 years. That is the recollection of California oldsters. The Los Angeles river which is often dry, notified the world that it was a water course by overflowing its banks and washing out a railroad track.

Mr. Teed returned by the southern route, and he did not encounter bad weather until he reached Nebraska. He happened to land in the state when March was showing its bad side.

Modern Schools.

School news notes from towns and rural precincts appearing in the Herald each week, reflect many activities calculated to develop well rounded lives. Schools are no longer restricted to teaching the young how to read and write and solve mathematical problems.

School room terrorism happily passed long ago. Equal partnership between teachers and students exists. Sympathetic understanding is the rule. Mutual respect is cultivated, and cooperation is found in a many-sided school program.

Extending Longevity.

People are living longer. Probably more conveniences and fewer hardships have contributed to longevity. Science has figured out ways to prolong life. Different vitamins are emphasized as essential to health.

The thing that made people live as long as they did in the old days was doubtless gravitation to eatables they relished. Food that pleases one's appetite is likely to be healthful.

An Inconsistency.

Mothers wonder why strikes are permitted to interfere with defense plants while their boys are required to enlist in the army at $30 per month. It does not track with sound reasoning.

The CIO boldly opposes the president's plan for an extra board to settle labor differences and prevent obstructive strikes. On the other hand, the American Federation of Labor upholds the idea.

Gas for Farm Work.

A bill proposing exemption of farm work in enforcing the gasoline tax is now before the legislature and farmers or others interested should write their senators.

Supreme Court Changes Order

High Tribunal Validates Title to Lots Sold But Corrects Procedure.

Decision of district court in the case filed by C. H. Hendrickson in the name of the Taxpayers League vs. Donald S. Wightman and the city of Wayne, involving the validity and regularity of the purchase of certain city lots by Mr. Wightman, was partially reversed by the state supreme court in a decision handed down Friday.

In his petition Mr. Hendrickson asked the court to set aside the deed from the trustee of the city to Mr. Wightman and to decree the title to said lots to be in the city of Wayne.

The supreme court found that the city had agreed to transfer the lots in question to Mr. Wightman for a consideration of $1,500 and that the same should be free of all taxes and special taxes, that Mr. Wightman had paid the amount agreed upon and that the same was the reasonable value of the lots at the time of the purchase.

According to decision of the supreme court, Mr. Wightman has title to the property but the city still holds a lien against the lots by virtue of the fact that the city did not pay off tax installments on the property which were merged in the decree in tax sale foreclosure.

City officials indicate that the city can clear the matter by paying the amount of the delinquent taxes to the county treasurer who in turn would return the money to the city in form of collected taxes.

Peace Affected By Old Enmities

Editor James E. Lawrence Suggests Ways to Make Settlement Last.

The proper peace settlement after the first World war would have prevented the present great conflict, according to the opinion expressed Tuesday morning by James E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star, in addressing Wayne college students and others at convocation.

A French plan, devised by Briand and given no recognition by Clemenceau, would have divided Prussia from Saxony, Westphalia and Bavaria. Briand's idea was not to separate Germany from its territory but to establish each of these provinces in the country as separate governing units.

Mr. Lawrence described the horrors of modern warfare as surpassing anything in history. He expressed the opinion that in the settlement after this war the airplane should be outlawed as a weapon of war and nations should disarm.

Neutral nations should share in the settlement of this war for they have as much interest in world welfare as those in the conflict. In the last war, Mr. Lawrence stressed, the United States was a stranger at the peace table, but this nation and other neutrals should insist on a voice in the new settlement in an effort to promote lasting peace.

Board Majority Against Project

Chamber of Commerce Will Attempt to Secure Aid From Other Source.

A majority of the Wayne county board, in regular session Tuesday, declined cooperating with Wayne city in providing an NYA project for training and securing work for young women of the vicinity. The Chamber of Commerce will make an effort to secure assistance from some other source to establish the project, if possible.

The NYA offers to provide a graduate economist as supervisor and furnish heat and food for the training center when other sources take care of rent, light, water and telephone expenses. The city council last week offered to pay half the rent and furnish light and water providing the rest of the rent and telephone toll be paid by another source.

Though the county board did not favor cooperating in the plan, the Chamber of Commerce may be able to secure support for the project.

ONLY TAIL OF BAD MARCH STORM HITS HERE ON SATURDAY

A STIFF, fiercely cold wind with a light snow was suddenly whipped into action Saturday night and sent people scurrying to their homes early. The weather acted like the beginning of a full-fledged blizzard. But by the next day it had lost force and petered out, with some freezing but little snow as a result. This area evidently caught only the fringe of a terrific storm that swept eastern North Dakota and western Minnesota where the wind reached a velocity of 85 miles an hour and the temperature dropped to zero. Sixtyone deaths were reported, mostly caused by exhaustion in persons trying to reach places of safety from stalled automobiles. Hundreds of cars were abandoned along highways. Not much snow fell.

Music Hour Series Program Planned

The college piano department is presenting another of its music hour series in the college auditorium Tuesday evening, March 25. The program begins at 7:30 and is free to the public. Prof. Albert G. Carlson is directing and arranging the production. Solo selections from the works of Chaminade, Tscherninoff, MacDowell and Tchaikowski are listed. Three duopiano teams are to appear in modern selections. Prof. Carlson will give a short talk on "Music as Philosophy."

Those taking part are Frances Blezek, Amy Howe, Genevieve Lundak, Ruth Willey, Marie Schulte, Dorothy Vasina, Elva Fisher, Margie Utemark, Helen Schulte, Arlene Haglund and Donna Flowers.

Fractures Elbow.
Glenn Loberg, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loberg of Carroll, fell Tuesday afternoon on his way home from school and fractured his left elbow. The member was placed in a cast. Glenn will be in a local hospital a few days.

Are Asked to Register.
The Norfolk office of the state employment service is registering workers who are unemployed or who have special skills for defense jobs. Walter Steffen at the Norfolk office will take registrations from Cedar, Dixon, Wayne and other counties.

Miss Martha Pierce of Lincoln, writes of regret in hearing of the passing of her long-time neighbor and friend, Mrs. Margaret Merrill. Miss Pierce sends greetings to Wayne friends.

Need Substitute Teachers.
The lack of qualified teachers in the state during the present school year has called a number of substitute teachers into regular service, bringing about an actual scarcity of teachers for temporary supply, according to an article in the March issue of the Nebraska Education Bulletin. To meet this need, each city and county superintendent in the state should prevail upon at least one former teacher to restate his certificate so as to be available for such service. Nine semester hours of college "credit," earned by extension or in a summer school, will either renew or convert into a new certificate any life certificate that may have lapsed through non-use.

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1941

Need of THE PARTY in power should be first and foremost in avoiding narrow partisanship. When the evident determination of all Americans is to safeguard democracy—though sometimes disagreeing over ways and means—it is disappointing, as pointed out by the Sioux City Journal, to note a Washington report that the president hopes to hurt the republican party on the lease-land issue.

It is almost inconceivable that the chief executive could in the present crisis, burdened by leadership of unprecedented responsibility, and properly flanked by a united nation, express or even feel an urge for partisan resentment. It is hoped the Washington report is not true.

There are sharp differences of opinion over local policies, but no apparent disagreement over going full length in defending the free American way of life. The president should lead in laying aside party differences in the present clash between the heads of free peoples and the tyrants driving enslaved subjects.

The Journal, which is wholeheartedly supporting the administration's foreign program, concludes: "Let it be hoped as time passes and developments are unfolded that all effort on the part of those in power in Washington be directed toward the more compelling thing, national unity, with partisanship relegated to the background, where, until we reach our common objective, it may be ignored and forgotten."

Cargo SPEAKING of the arrival in France of a cargo of food from America to help feed the hungry in that country, the Christian Science Monitor observes: "Free peoples are not callous. They do not shrug their shoulders over the sufferings of freedom's friends. They do not have it in their hearts to glory even in the suffering of freedom's enemies."

Mentioning the gratitude of recipients of supplies from America's bounty, the Monitor comments: "The world at last will be conquered mainly by kindness: this faith is deeply imbedded in the democratic concept of living. To temper mercy with wisdom is the problem of this difficult hour."

Speaking in New York recently a famed scientist predicted an American Utopia. What does he mean? Does he mean people will have their lives planned and that they will be reduced to mere cogs in a big wheel? Does he mean more leisure, less responsibility and enlarged government support? That kind of Utopia would destroy initiative and pluck and weaken the human fiber to a point where it could not resist the mildest zephyr of mid-summer. People would soon tire of that sort of Utopia. They would soon yearn to return to the rule of merit—the standard whose rewards are measured according to the worth of achievement.

In his broadcast Saturday night the president warned Americans they would have to curtail family budgets, carry a heavier tax load and make other needed sacrifices in meeting the present national crisis. The middle west is accustomed to hardships, via drouth, grasshoppers and price disparities, and thus with wondrous courage, it can stand a new twist in the wheel of misfortune. More abundant crops and better prices will strengthen resistance.

We have heard opinions expressed that defense plans should sufficiently absorb idlers* to reduce present relief requirements. It is suggested that activities incident to armament building ought to take care of burdens resting on relief agencies and decrease rather than multiply government bureaus. If we cannot modify government paternalism and restore dependence on individual effort during huge defense spending, when can we?

The Omaha Journal-Stockman points out that the president already has the machinery to stop strikes without the proposed board. That newspaper says "the appointment of eleven men on a super board would not alter the situation if they were the same kind of men who now constitute the present National Labor Relations board." It is remembered that Grover Cleveland settled strikes without any fooling or delay.

A move has been made to extend the terms of state senators from two to four years and raise the salary to $2,000 per year. The probable plan is to insure continuance of experienced legislators on the job. If a senator serves two years and is then defeated, he gains experience that might be made valuable to his constituents if he remained in office.

Mrs. Roosevelt suggests mobilizing the women of the country for defense. Women have always cooperated liberally in contributing to the country's protection in past crises. They have also sent their boys to bear the brunt of conflict in case of war. They could not do more for their country under the inspiration of the first lady of the land.

THE KING.

The fact that the king of Italy has stirred himself to the surface in an apparent desire to express aversion to Mussolini, indicates that the dictator is falling from the high rank which he had arrogated to himself. The king doubtless sees the sacrifice of untwiling subjects in senseless slaughter, and is arousing needed courage to protest. It is doubtful if many Italian people are in sympathy with the pompous and boastful Mussolini, who has plenty of brazen assurance, but no conscience. The king looks the part of a figurehead, and when Mussolini parked him in a corner with nothing to do but seem satisfied, it looked as though he had been permanently supplanted. Now that Mussolini has proved so foolhardy in wasting Italian lives in an unrighteous conflict, the regal head is surprising the world with capacity to disagree, command attention and assert authority. The king is ascending in the scale of popular respect.

SKINNERS.

Slick methods employed just within the law to skin people whose confidence has been cleverly gained, are quite as reprehensible and despicable in the eyes of the world as those used by lawbreakers in violation of penal codes. The slicker who is smart enough to save himself from legal entanglements while fleeing an unsuspecting victim is no more of an angel at heart than the bad egg who knocks his victim senseless and runs away with his cash. Fleeing for the crime of helping lawbreaker turn a loathsome contempt for the polite fraud who puts on a cloak of respectability to capture and betray good faith. Sophisticated humbugs do not gain much of the things they seek through clever deception, and they usually strike bottom early and hard. Finally, forfeiting confidence and failing to win or hold unearned rewards, the slicker becomes pitifully poor in both body and material substance.

Air Raid Shelters Are in Use Much

Much time must be spent in bomb-proof shelters by English people but they make the best of this, according to a letter written by Marie Nott of Sheffield, England, to her pen pal, Geraldine Hansen of Pierce, Wayne college student. The girl lives 164 miles from London but still this is in the danger zone. No matter where the planes are, writes the girl, the pilot just pushes the button, lets 'em rip and screams. And this whistling noise of bombs as they come galloping down is indeed horrifying.

One of the most used shelters is an Anderson, named for Sir John Anderson. This air raid shelter is placed about four feet in the ground and is covered with earth, sand and stones. Miss Nott writes that her family has a shelter with stone walls around and a garden on the roof, this being very pretty in summer. If there is no room for an Anderson shelter, a family strengthens its cellar.

Miss Nott tells that the shelter has been cold at her home lately so her family has shared a neighbor's, where an electric fire keeps the room warm. The neighbors are musicians and the two English families enjoy many evenings of singing. One night their merriment seemed louder than the bombs outside.

One must keep his mouth open during an air raid, the English girl continues. This prevents concussion from breaking the jaw bones. English people spend their spare time knitting comforts for soldiers. Miss Nott said she has been making socks.

"Matter" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 23.

The Golden Text is: "All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field; the grass withereth, the flower fadeth; because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it" (Isaiah 40: 6, 7).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath; for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner; but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished" (Isaiah 51:6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear. The crude creations of mortal thought must finally give place to the glorious forms which we sometimes behold in the camera of divine Mind, when the mental picture is spiritual and eternal. Mortals must look beyond fading, finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things. Where shall

Card of Thanks

Twelve long weeks in a hospital aren't so bad when you have a doctor and staff like I had. The eats were good, the cook hard to beat. Friends and relatives did their part well. With cards and letters coming day by day, flowers and gifts, even a quilt came to stay. The calls those folks did make would gladden any poor soul. Now I am at home, just south of town where the neighbors had worked in the home. We thank one and all. So come to our home. A welcome you'll get.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lindsay.

Winter Returns In Violent Form

Winside Contracts Paving And Wakefield Buys Power Plant.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for March 19, 1925:

Friday, the 13th, proved the tradition of being unlucky, for that day winter returned with violence. Snow-driven by a strong wind resulted in a blizzard that suspended activity for a time.

Fred L. Blair plans to erect a 25 by 100-foot store building that will cost about $9,000. He will also put up a new residence.

Winside board let contract for paving the business district at a cost of $50,000. Work is to be finished by July 1.

Wakefield voted bonds in the sum of $24,000 to buy the light plant at that place. Of 415 votes cast 365 favored the proposition. About 100 stockholders owned the plant.

Faculty of the college observed the school's 15th anniversary with a banquet at the Boyd hotel. Pres. and Mrs. U. S. Conn, Miss Ardath Conn, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Berry were guests. Miss Elsie Ford Piper presided as toastmaster and talks were given by Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, Prof. L. H. Britell, Dean H. H. Hahn, Miss Martha Pierce and Pres. Conn.

Lloyd Weible and Miss Margaret Keeney were married March 19, 1925.

Frank M. James, 63, resident of Carroll 37 years, died March 16, 1925.

Mrs. Katherine Greenwald died March 17, 1925, at the age of 81.

L. A. Fansie and F. E. Gamble were nominated candidates for the school board to succeed R. W. Ley and D. E. Brainard who declined.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Milliken March 15, 1925.

Winside board elected as teachers Miss Edith Hulse, Miss Gladys Metten, Miss Bess Leary, Miss Myrtle Leary and Miss Mamie Phineas.

A benefit program at Winside raised $73 for the library.

Starts Fire Pump Fund.

As a means of expressing appreciation to Wayne firemen for their help in extinguishing a blaze at his place, Geo. Meyers started a fund with which to buy a pump for the Wayne fire equipment. The pump will cost about $3,000.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sandahl of Wakefield, March 11, 1925.

Radical Changes Being Predicted

Science Promises Wonders in Health Development And Other Lines.

Assistance for handicapped children; improved health through needed vitamins and the increasing use of plastics were among the topics presented for Wayne branch of A. A. U. W. Thursday evening by study groups. A look into the future predicts radical changes.

To Help Handicapped.

Miss Ida Fisher, for the education group, told that the year's project has been a study of handicapped children. In reporting on the topic, Mrs. A. M. Daniels told that the objectives of movements to help these children are to instill capacities for living and to help them become valuable in society. The government, schools, churches and home need to promote respect, self-reliance and cooperation to this end. Nebraska has several hundred children who are handicapped and in need of physical help and vocational training. Mrs. Ralph Raymond told of a survey of penal institutions and the provisions for help through child welfare legislation.

Looks Into Future.

Mrs. Clara Heyblum introduced the summary of the social studies group. She gave a glimpse into the future in the home. Mothproof rugs, drapes of spun glass which do not fade, circular glasses heated through electrical wires embedded in the plaster or through pipes beneath floors, purified air, lights without glare such as black ones in carpets and paint perfumed to the particular fancy of the home keeper are some of the proposals. One designer would have a home made up of several little igloo-like structures which are ready-made. Each igloo would be one room and the various ones making up a home would be connected by passages. This would make it possible to buy a room at a time, all ready-made. Carl would take on the modernistic plan, being entirely streamlined with no door knobs, no running board. Some would be combined with airplanes, the wings to be stored away when the machines were used as cars. Highways too will be made for the cars which will average 115 miles an hour, several lanes and one-way travel being included. One proposal suggests a super highway to South America with people of the two continents going back and forth easily and often for better relations. Decentralization is another suggestion, cities being allowed to buy a room at a time, all ready-made on equity sites.

Will Improve Health.

Scientists are working hard to take care of physical welfare of the millions who suffer from chronic famine, Mrs. H. H. Hanscomb reported. Three meals a day are not satisfying the physical man unless he is getting the vitamins he needs, and this is impossible in present-day foods, scientists say. The job is to rectify errors in living which man inflicted upon himself. Vitamins and sunshine are man's two greatest needs and the two things he has been denying himself in increasing measure. Flour in older times contained all vitamins and today the three best are missing, but scientists are endeavoring to replace these. Also, people need 60 per cent more vegetables and 50 per cent more milk, butter and eggs than they now consume. Half the food budget should be spent for milk, fruits and vegetables. Scientists have developed 700 kinds of juices to give vitamins. Among these are juices of grass, alfalfa, timothy, celery, etc. So anxious was a Swiss man for some grass juice that he paid $1 for a bottle and $7 for its transportation by plane. In addition to these ways of gaining vitamins, scientists will soon have developed capsules and tablets which can provide needed ones. It is told that Germany has devised a pep pill which is often used to give energy and save food, but this is not recommended by scientists here. In regard to sunshine, Mrs. Hanscomb told that people spend only one of 24 hours out of doors and then do so with 80 per cent of the body covered. This denies the body the valuable ultra-violet rays in sunshine. Windows destroy the value of these rays. Scientists propose developing a new window glass that will conduct the valuable ultra-violet ray. England realizes the need of sunshine and, many, there, especially miners, use the ultra-violet ray lamp frequently. Life would be lengthened 10 per cent if proper food and sunshine were provided, scientists claim.

Increase in Plastics.

Plastics are being used in ever increasing amount, Mrs. G. B. Childs reported. In defense work, plastics are taking the place of brass, wood and steel. They lend themselves to mass production and to the use of unskilled labor. Gun stocks, bomb-resistant windows, protecting hats of attractive design, ear plugs, leak-proof fuel tanks, hospital splints and many other war needs are made from plastics. This material is used for 120 parts on planes, being lighter, faster and easier to construct. Scientists have developed many garments of plastics but they advise care in their choice as in some uses they may cause skin ailments. They do not allow the skin to have

Register for Defense.

Miss Beulah Rundle spoke for the economic and legal status of women. She told of the plan being conducted of registering all women in the 250 A. A. U. W. branches for possible services in national defense. Wayne branch has done so.

Promote Legislation.

In reporting on legislation, Miss Louise Wendt told that the A. A. U. W. has in national affairs favored coordinating educational activities, better motion pictures, federal aid to states to equalize educational opportunities, strengthening of the pure food and drug act, proper labeling of foods, standardizing food quality, coordinating social welfare, establishing the merit system, improving the condition of migrants, strengthening the democratic way, developing culture, encouraging the good-neighor policy in the western hemisphere, formulating a high-minded foreign policy, opposing discrimination against women in employment and safeguarding health and safety. Among proposed measures favored in Nebraska include improving the state school lands and funds operation, establishing county rural libraries, setting a high standard for certification of county superintendents, establishing teacher retirement, locating rural schools at most favorable points, training for the physically handicapped, providing a half mill levy in cities for a school building fund, adding liquor license fees to the school fund.

Markets at LaPorte

Interesting Today

What is hyson? A glance at a market report appearing in the paper published at LaPorte, Wayne county's first seat of government, in 1875, makes one curious. This food, unfamiliar to most people today, sold in old LaPorte for $1.20 to $1.40 per pound. Well, hyson is a tea grown in China. Young hyson is the first crop, that picked before the rains. Black tea is on the market quotation list for $1 a pound. Choice coffee is listed at 7 to 9 pounds for $1; coffee, 3 1/2 to 4 pounds for $1; dried apples, 13c a pound; syrup, 60c to $1 per gallon; and cod oil, 30c per gallon.

Farm produce brought prices on the LaPorte market as follows: Wheat, 60c to 70c per bushel; corn, 50c to 60c per bushel; oats, 40c to 50c per bushel; flour, $2.25 to $2.50 per hundred; eggs, 12c per dozen; butter, 15c per pound; potatoes, $1 to $1.50 per bushel; pure cider vinegar, 30c per gallon; beans, $1.75 to $2 per bushel.

The clipping from the old LaPorte paper belongs to L. A. Jones of Atlanta vicinity, whose ancestors were very early settlers in the county.

Seven Schuyler boys probably owe their lives to their overshoes. The lads were walking along a road when a truck snapped a telephone line. The line was whipped over a 33,000-volt highline and one of the boys who were walking along were knocked to the ground by the electricity. It is thought all would have been killed if the overshoes had not served as a non-conductor.

Dedicate School Built in Hoskins

Dr. J. T. Anderson, Addresses Large Gathering Friday At New Building.

Modern conveniences enable good teachers to do even better work in education, stated Dr. J. T. Anderson, in addressing a large number who attended dedication services Friday evening at the new school in Hoskins. A new building alone will not make a good school, for this also takes the cooperation of patrons and board members and a good faculty. A good teacher can instruct well in an old building but does even better in a new one with modern facilities.

Dr. Anderson referred to his recent trip to national meetings in Atlantic City. A few years ago, he explained, educators were interested in new classroom technique and in ways to improve the school curriculum. Now they are fighting to preserve educational standards they have. Education needs all possible support, added Dr. Anderson in commending the new improvement at Hoskins.

Dr. Anderson was introduced by County Supt. F. B. Decker who conveyed greetings, congratulations and best wishes of rural schools and county officials. He also read letters of congratulations from superintendents of town schools of the county.

J. R. Smith, representing the WPA, explained the procedure by which Hoskins has been provided with such a fine school.

Supt. Jack Davenport expressed appreciation for teachers and students their appreciation for the fine building.

Rev. F. C. Ebinger gave the invocation and benediction. He also presided. Ardyce Mittelstadt opened the program with a piano number, after which the group sang "America." Pupils sang, and the Parent-Teacher mothers' group from Norfolk furnished four numbers.

Graduate Survey Designed as Aid

Fitting School to Needs of Everyday Life Is Aim Of New Study.

Wayne city school hopes to gain valuable information which will serve as a guide in curriculum development and possible changes from a survey to be conducted by Herbert Smith, local science instructor, who will use the details together with other facts for his master's thesis. Mr. Smith will, during spare time this spring, interview by personal contact and through writing all graduates of Wayne high school in the years of 1927, 1930, 1933, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939 and 1940. This should give a representative cross-section of the graduates who have completed the course during the period defined as modern in education. Mr. Smith will compile facts as to the number taking higher education, number obtaining degrees or certificates, number leaving the home community, high school courses which proved of special value in the light of experience and those which were of little value, length of the interval between graduation and employment, time between graduation and marriage, what extracurricular activities were taken in high school and of what value have they been. The school will evaluate the material gained in terms of courses, methods of presentation and content. The information will, it is believed, be of considerable help in best adjusting the school to needs of life. Mr. Smith would appreciate having graduates of the classes mentioned see him at the city school any day between 4 and 5:30 so he may interview them.

Sweet land of Liberty of the 1st Sing

I DIE hard, but I am not afraid to go.
George Washington

Washington died from acute dysentery, but bore the pain without complaint. Although racked with agony, he said, he did not fear death, just before the end, his breathing grew easier, and he expired peacefully on December 14, 1799.

OF COURSE, YOU LIKE TO GO TO TOWN AND SEE FOLKS. BUT WHEN YOU'RE TOO BUSY TO GO OR THE ROADS ARE BAD, I'LL RUN YOUR ERRANDS FOR YOU IN A JIFFY. AND IF SOMETHING HAPPENS I'LL GET HELP QUICKLY. YOU CAN COUNT ON ME.

Children at the Crossroads

Ernest L. Reeker

Up from the Depths.
"A pick-up" and "Boy!" is she tough!—so the young fellows referred to Kate, 17. She, herself, frankly admitted that she was a prostitute.
The married man with whom she associated more than with any others had served time in the state penitentiary, not once but thrice. While living with him, Kate often became intoxicated on bootleg liquor. When we asked her if she smoked, she replied, "Sure I do. And I chew tobacco, too."
If there was any hope for regeneration in Kate, it lay in the discipline of a state institution. Surprisingly, upon her commitment she began to make an excellent record.
After her release she enrolled in a private business college and completed a full course. Today she is earning $40 per week as a bookkeeper for a large west-coast radio station.
Once she had been removed from the sphere of influence of the men who were responsible for her downfall, Kate made an excellent adjustment. Possibly if she had been older, if her immoral habits had become fixed, she would not have made for herself a new life.
Even the most debased human being can stage a comeback if his fellow man will give him some encouragement instead of tramping him still deeper into the gutter.

CONGRESS

KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. March 11, 1941.

Uncle Sam is going to have three investigating agencies. Of course, the main one is the FBI. But a new one is being set up in the bureau of immigration and naturalization. It will be headed by Jose R. Espinosa who is a friend of Senator Chavez of New Mexico. His organization will be designated as the division of special inspections in which nearly 200 inspectors will be investigating the millions of aliens in our midst. The other investigating group is the Dies committee, a special committee of the house of representatives, which is now demanding that congress do something about joining the FBI and other governmental agencies to cooperate with them. What the Dies committee really wants is to have the FBI investigators at its disposal. Up to this time, the Dies committee has been denied these investigators and the committee members claim that the FBI comes to them each week for information. The FBI does not like to see the new investigating agency in the bureau of immigration and naturalization. It believes that this work should be done by the FBI. So now congress may become the mediator between the three. Close cooperation is demanded and depended upon by many members of congress. Espinosa is a small, very dark man with bushy white hair. He was born in the United States and had many years of experience in work in the FBI and for special investigating committees. He did a lot of work for the LaFollette civil liberties committee.

No one knows who started the whispering campaign by men in high places who undertake to tell people that Argentine beef is much better than American beef.

Prominent Nebraskans have been in Washington recently. Governor Dwight Griswold conferred with the Nebraska delegation on proposed legislation affecting our state. Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City conferred with the republican leaders here. Lord Hovey of Omaha, formerly associated with the RFC, revisited that agency. Nels Urdike, the Omaha grain man, is here on private business. Paul Roberts who has charge of farm forestry in the plains states, is here from Lincoln talking about tree planting. Pat Mulready of Fremont calls to say that he has a job in the navy yard and is doing all right.

The Nebraska and Iowa state societies in Washington held a joint party to promote interstate acquaintance and friendship.

Mrs. William B. Bankhead, wife of the late speaker, has been given an $8,000 a year job to supervise the preservation of American historical shrines. The death of her distinguished husband affected her greatly and caused her to withdraw almost exclusively to Jasper, Ala. Friends got her this job in Washington.

Of the 10,000,000 immediately affected by the selective training and service act, about 5,000 are in our federal courts charged with failing to register and about 100 are already in jail for the same reason.

It costs $1.30 a day to keep each of the 22,000 prisoners in our federal prisons. That does not include the upkeep of $100,000,000 worth of buildings and grounds. It takes 3,000 employees, 2,200 of whom are guards, to run these stations. These guards work three eight-hour shifts each day. They get an average annual salary of $1,900.

The bureau of standards which tests about everything there is to test has completed a test on the cost of operating practically all makes of automobiles now in use. The car which shows the best record costs 1.52 cents per mile to run. It is one of the well known cars but not the best known. The bureau of standards has not disclosed the names of the cars tested.

Believe it or not—at this time dentists are having quite a time getting commissioned in the army. Some dentists who have been drafted are being told that the army has enough dentists and they have to serve as regular enlisted men until the service is in further need of dentists. Medical doctors, however, are commissioned more rapidly due to the fact that there is more need for this profession in our service.

Congressman Charles Halleck of Indiana, a nephew of the late Colonel Jenkins of Neligh, was the man who nominated Wendell L. Willkie at the republican national convention in Philadelphia. He is quite popular in Washington and at a recent republican gathering he was greeted with "We Want Willkie."

The beautiful marble supreme court building cost $9,000,000. It costs about $70,000 a year to maintain the building and grounds. The old supreme court room in the capitol building is unused except for the brief time last December when it became the meeting place of the senate while repairs were being made in the senate chamber. This same room was the senate chamber until the addition of the senate wing to the capitol just preceding the Civil war. The old bench, the justices' chairs and the furnishings for attorneys and spectators are still in place. Many capitol visitors pass by that door every day and the guides tell them that this is where the supreme court formerly met over a long period of time. In other words, it is just a museum. No one is allowed to enter it.

In answer to many questions about the federal budget, it can be stated that present budget policy pays no attention to income. Appropriations are made without respect to income. Because of this procedure, congress, expects a deficit during the next fiscal year of about $10,000,000,000 and some members believe that we are on our way to a $100,000,000,000 debt. There have been many proposals to set up a real federal budget whereby expenditures would be brought into balance with income. But they have all failed. The present congress seems to have been stumped by the astronomical figures in the recent budget message and some members are demanding that something be done about it.

Mrs. Roosevelt's plan for nationwide mobilization of the women of the country has been a topic of considerable conversation among members. The program was given considerable publicity after it was discussed recently at a white house meeting attended by a large number of women. The plan visualizes a program of registration of women with possible extension to that portion of the male population not inducted into military service, and to the youth of the nation. Anyway, that is the way it is being interpreted by some of those who are discussing it in congress.

Recently the 1942 agricultural appropriation bill passed the house almost without notice by the press. This bill appropriates approximately $1,400,000,000 and embraces such a variety of activities as to require the services of more than 87,000 full time employees and some 225,000 part time employees. The debate on this bill revealed a unanimous opinion that some aid has been given to agriculture through programs costing several billions of dollars, but there were many admissions that the fundamental problem of how, in a free economy, to give to the men and women on the farms of America a decent living income has not yet been solved.

There are many reasons for demands for an investigation of all defense activities and the entire defense program. It is said that this is being done because people with political and social connections have been acting as go-betweens or "professional introductors," charging exorbitant fees when contracts have been secured through their influence. It is charged that in some instances these fees have run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. The RFC has taken notice of this situation and is declining to make any loan when it appears that "commission for services rendered" has been paid. Some developments may be expected at any time. Talking about contracts, members are told that New York City firms are doing a mighty good business these days. Some defense contracts have been let to some New York City firms for 15,000,000 black neckties at a cost of $3,390,000 to equip our army of 1,400,000 soldiers. They figure this makes an average of 10 black ties apiece. One member says we need more than an investigation if the necktie deal is a sample.

In spite of the fact that it has been suggested frequently that manufacture of commercial airplanes be prohibited so that American factories may turn all facilities to war craft, members are surprised to learn that the English are manufacturing and selling commercial planes abroad—more particularly in South America. Now comes the question from several members as to why we, who are not at war, should put a stop to the manufacture and sale of commercial planes for export sale. It does not make sense to some members.

A short time ago, notwithstanding our wheat surplus, a chance to sell seven million bushels of wheat for cash to Japan was passed up. Thereupon Japan made the purchase on credit from Argentina at 59 cents a bushel which was less than the price they offered to pay us. Spain is reported to have tried to buy large quantities of our government owned cotton for which cash would have been paid. This offer was turned down and Spain filled her cotton needs in South America where she bought on credit. Some members feel that the wheat and cotton deals were ultimately financed by our own export-import bank which is making large cash loans to South America. This, too, does not make sense.

A WORD ABOUT "SPIKE JOINTS"

Unlicensed places which allow patrons to "spike" soft drinks are sometimes confused in the public mind with licensed beer retailers, who have no connection with the "spike" places and do not support their activities. The law prohibits "spiking" of any kind in beer outlets.

The beer retailers of your community are under the careful regulation and supervision of state and local authorities. We are able to report that the vast majority of dealers obey the law and are cooperating with the State Liquor Control Commission and the Nebraska brewing industry in their efforts to keep beer on a sound social basis.

Two other men thumbed rides and sat beside the coffin. Soon the farmer pushed up the lid and asked, "Has it stopped raining?" The other two were so frightened that they leaped off the truck, one being killed and the other injured.
