

For Being Able to Reduce City's Electric Rates—Advertising Wayne—Looking Out for Storms in the Old Days—Often Fooled in Determining Human Values.

Wayne's light and power plant is a veritable gold mine for the city, and that is the reason electric rates can be reduced. This source of revenue absorbs paving bonds whenever optional dates will permit, and it now has $56,000 in such investments. Also it has built up an insurance account of $10,800 to take care of possible accidents, and a fund of $18,000 for depreciation. It also has $12,000 on hand. Each month the sum of $200 goes into the insurance fund and $750 into the depreciation account. The plant has kept up equipment and maintained an adequate system in all parts of the community. It is recalled that the service has not been interrupted on account of a break-down, night or day, for a long time. It is noted and appreciated that Manager N. H. Brugger and his assistants are constantly on the alert to give efficient service, and have succeeded in doing so in a highly satisfactory manner. The announced cut in rates at this time when costs generally tend upward, is gratifying. The reduction will lead consumers in the business district to feel justified in using more electricity and making Main and side streets more resplendent.

Signs to Be Erected.

It is noted that the Chamber of Commerce is getting ready to place a sign at the south entrance to Wayne with the city agreeing to furnish the necessary electricity. It is understood the north entrance will also be properly illuminated. Plans are being made to erect Wayne signs at different points in the outlying territory. Manifestly, the purpose is to invite people to come to Wayne.

Old-Time Methods.

Long before the days of modern transportation and hard-surfaced roads, before the time of weather forecasts, people considered carefully the condition of the elements in advance of taking even a 10-mile drive. Old-timers studied the winds, the attitude of the moon, the action of smoke curling from chimneys and the behavior of the lowly ants before starting out. Ants were considered faithful prophets. If their holes were carefully covered, bad weather was likely. On the contrary, if their abodes were open and they were out and at work, the prospect for fair weather was reasonably certain. The ant forecast was checked with the tilt of the lunar orb, the performance of smoke clouds and the direction from which wind came.

Now we have government forecasts, based on scientific processes, and they are easier to obtain, even if not always more accurate than methods followed by first settlers. But to travelers who now go 10 miles in 10 minutes in an automobile instead of that distance in an hour behind Old Dobbin, with the advantage of all-year, mud-free highways, weather prospects are not so important. One can step on the gas and get almost anywhere ahead of a storm, and if he stays on the highway, he is in no danger of being stranded in knee-deep mud.

Many Surprises Revealed. Laughing at the foot of the class or jeering at a crude human specimen may have shocking repercussions. The butt of school-room contemptuousness may prove a star as talent later awakens and the realities of the workaday world unfold. Also descendants of an apparently dull ancestral line often become unusually brilliant and constructors of forces. Inherent qualities of superiority may be revealed in most unexpected places. The person who was dumb in school may become an outstanding figure. The fellow whose lineage promised little or nothing, may shine in the field of achievement—always to the surprise of those who looked on doubtfully. In this country where opportunities are many for those who have the ambition and foresight, appraisals of human worth and possibilities are often mistaken. The distance from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves is not far. Courage and determination to meet life's test weigh heavily in shaping destiny, and no one should brag about his family tree or venture to say what he will do in scaling heights some previous member of the family had scaled. The god of destiny does not seem to care a picture about one's birth certificate.

The cynic's observation that young persons today have less quality than their forebears is often disproved. Youths frequently show amazing superiority. They have cultural advantages denied previous generations. Not only modern means of travel but latest ways of listening-in on the world have largely reduced provincialism and stimulated knowledge, heightened vision and deepened thinking. Purposes in life are more definitely fixed in the minds of young persons than they were in the days of their grandfathers and grandmothers. Present evolution of the average individual from childhood to maturity is reassuring.

SERIES OF MUSIC EVENTS IN WAYNE END OF THIS WEEK

THE ANNUAL district music contest opens in Wayne tomorrow and continues through Saturday. Both vocal and instrumental numbers will be entered. About 2,600 students from northeast Nebraska high schools will be here to take part. These participants will be accompanied by many well-wishers. A total of thousands of visitors will attend. The contest is planned under the leadership of Prof. K. N. Parke, known master of details. Everything will be found in readiness with every desired accommodation. The usually hearty welcome will be extended by Wayne. Citizens will do their utmost to lead guests to like the community and want to come back. It is a convenient time for students from neighboring schools to inspect the Teachers college with a view to enrolling when they are ready for college.

Norfolk Student Is Relay Queen

Attendants Are Announced For Presentation Here Friday Evening.

Shirley Hallen, Norfolk, will be crowned queen of the annual college relays at ceremonies sponsored by Wayne Chamber of Commerce Friday evening. Each of the 13 colleges entering the event was entitled to enter a candidate, and selection was made by a secret committee. Attendants, to be presented with the queen, are Stella Mae Hammit of Logan, Ia., Charlene Bunker of Cherokee, Winifred Lewis of Coleridge, Jean Mines of Wayne, and Wilma Kai of Pender. They were also chosen by a secret committee. Presentation ceremonies open at 7:30 at the college field. The Legion color guard will lead the procession, and the college band plays. The honored young women will then be presented formally. Each will receive a gift from the Chamber of Commerce. Preliminaries for the relay meet will be held in the afternoon with finals in the evening. C. C. Stutz, chairman of the athletic committee, is cooperating with Coach J. H. Morrison in plans and is assisted by Supt. N. F. Thorpe and Prof. Raymond Cherry as sub-chairmen. J. M. Strahan is head timer, and other timers are Armand Hixox, Clarence Wright, L. E. Brown, J. C. Others will assist.

Expand Program To Supply Food

The ever-normal granary program is being expanded into a food program designed to assure ample supplies for the United States, Great Britain and other nations resisting aggression, according to an announcement received yesterday by F. P. Roberts, chairman of Wayne county AAA. Under the program, the production of pork, dairy products, eggs and poultry will be stimulated through support of prices over the period ending June 30, 1943, at levels remunerative to producers. These price levels will be approximately $9 for hogs, 31c for butterfat, 15c for chickens and 22c for eggs. The revised program also provides for the following: Continuation of the existing corn loan program for 1941 and 1942; continuation of the policy of making loan corn available to producers at the loan rate plus certain carrying charges; allowing producers in the commercial corn producing area to increase corn acreage up to their usual acreage, these producers not to receive corn payments.

Is Medical Patient.

Mrs. L. C. Lamberson entered a local hospital Saturday for medical care.

MORE MOISTURE IN GROUND THAN FOR MANY PAST YEARS

MORE moisture than had been allotted to this area for several years was in the ground April 1, and rainfall has been sufficient since that date to lend additional confidence in return of old-time crop abundance. Last week-end farmers said they found the ground wet to a depth of six feet. More moisture followed, and last year's fear that the sub-soil would never again be reached has disappeared. Some small grain had been sown previous to late rains, but most fields were delayed by too much mud the first of the week. Pastures are rapidly turning green under the influence of ample moisture. Notwithstanding possible calamities in the way of hail, high winds and chinch bugs, the prospect for agriculture at this writing has not been more promising in 10 years.

Dolores Peters Writes Winning Essay on Nebraska Agriculture

"Agriculture in Nebraska" is the title of an essay written by Dolores Peters, student in district 26 south of Wayne, and taking first place in the county contest conducted by SCS, AAA and the extension service. Her essay follows:

"Agriculture is not only the oldest but also the leading basic industry of Nebraska. The state does not have large forests from which lumber can be obtained and so far no extensive mineral deposits have been discovered. The greatest natural resource in Nebraska is therefore the soil.

"We see the crops growing from the land and observe that the soil is the source of life, yet we sometimes fail to realize the importance of maintaining the capacity of the soil to produce useful products for the people who are to live here in years to come. Fortunately, most Nebraska farmers take pride in conserving the fertility of the soil. They feel, in this respect that they owe something to those who are to follow them on the land.

"The conservation of soil fertility requires thoughtful management of the land. It requires a knowledge of the soils, of soil moisture, of crops, of cultivation, of erosion, and of erosion prevention.

"Erosion is caused by two elements, water and wind. Of the two, water erosion is ordinarily the more destructive. Soil that is protected by forests, grass or other vegetative covering rarely washes away to any great extent. But when a heavy rain falls on land that has been graded, plowed, or cultivated, or where crops have been planted incorrectly, the top soil is gradually washed away. This is known as sheet erosion. It diversified agriculture, which is by the pete practices. Crop rotation also helps to combat insects and weeds; it furnishes a cash crop; it helps in the distribution of labor; and it insures a more steady income.

"In Nebraska, major crops are corn and wheat and most attention is centered on the allotments for those crops.

"First of all the nation's probable domestic, export and carry over needs for corn and wheat are determined. Then, on the basis of average annual yields the acreages necessary to produce the needed supplies of corn and wheat are allocated among the states which produce those crops. The state allotments are reduced to counties, and the county allotments are distributed among the various farms.

"The preliminary purpose of the allotments, of course, is to enable the farmer to receive a fair share of the national income in return for the commodities he produces. Allotments tend to bring agriculture within the cycle of supply and demand, where industry has always been with profitable results.

"At the same time the allotments are not designed to increase farm income through the creation of scarcity. The goal is abundance without the waste which accompanies overproduction and overcropping. Allotments can be increased as well as decreased.

"The even-normal granary aims to convert crop surpluses into reserves. Loans on corn stored under seal will make it possible for farmers to retain part of their crops in years of large production and low price and have it available for feeding or marketing in years of poor crops or when prices are more favorable. If surpluses become burdensome marketing quotas will be available to adjust marketing to amounts needed during the season and to effect storage for future use.

Aims Are Outlined.

"The objective in the management of pastures should be to secure the greatest possible returns from livestock products without decreasing the productivity of the forage plants. To accomplish this necessitates the usage of such grazing methods as will permit the grazing plants to make enough top growth to maintain their vigor. The most critical period in the life of a permanent pasture is in the spring of the year when new growth is taking place. During this time the plants rapidly deplete the stored food reserves in their underground parts. If the plant is permitted to make a good top growth, the plants will again reserve in their roots to continue vigorous growth during the summer. Whenever possible, livestock should not be turned into permanent pastures until the grass has made a growth of four or five inches. This will make the livestock more contented and also reduce wandering.

"Crops that provide feed and cover and protect the soil from erosion are essential practices in conserving and increasing birds and game. By retarding water run-off and lessening soil erosion, these crops are also of importance in improving stream conditions for fish and other forms of water life.

"About twenty million acres of our land are devoted to such practices as terracing, strip-cropping, planting adapted trees, shrubs and grass in gullies, planting farm woodlots and windbreaks, and where needed, the construction of ponds and reservoirs and the maintenance of ground water levels.

"All of these practices contribute directly to wildlife conservation by increasing the crops and trees which wildlife needs for food and cover throughout the year.

"A beautiful farm home is both profitable and pleasant. It is profitable from the standpoint that one does his best work amidst pleasant surroundings, also it makes land more salable. Tin cans, broken glass, and other useless things should be picked up from week to week and disposed of. With a little work one can make a home beautiful by raking the lawn and putting in bees and shrubs. Trees should be well cared for. When a tree dies it should be replaced by a new one. Buildings should be kept nicely painted and in good condition.

"Future farmers of America and our own Nebraska, we must study conditions, we must put into effect all of the things we are now learning about the care of our land—for it is our heritage."

Return of Prosperity

EVERY indication points to return of plenty and prosperity to Nebraska. When we raise abundant crops, we feel all right even if prices are not what they ought to be.

Due mostly to drought and the accompanying grasshopper evil the state had been slipping for nearly ten years.

Vicissitudes of the times generally could do little in pulling us up or down. Disappointing harvests kept us down through the years regardless of market values or the economies of the country.

The bill before the legislature to reduce the minimum number of employees in an industry or business to make it liable under the employment insurance law is eyed from conflicting viewpoints.

Only through hate-provoking propaganda can aggressor nations arouse their subjects to go forth to shoot and kill.

Jimmy Roosevelt, eldest son of the president, was married at a Beverly Hills home Monday, and his mother flew across the country to be on hand for the ceremony.

In times of national stress self-anointed patriots like Secretary Harold Ickes are quick to try to fasten the odium of disloyalty on those who express disagreeing opinions on public policies.

What to do with about 8,000 alien criminals in our country is a question for which the house will soon seek a legislative answer.

for consideration by a committee in the legislature this week. Elderly teachers favor the bill, and young ones who figure they will get out of the profession and receive no benefits from their investments, are against it.

We know an individual who speaks ill of no one, and who is on the alert to find qualities to commend. The look of reproof he gave when a fellow biped was referred to as the neplusultra of asininity was disconcerting.

Russia and Japan have signed a five-year non-aggression pact, solemnly entered into and grandiloquently proclaimed to the world.

Georgia newspaper men have been informed by an advertising specialist that more women read advertisements than scan the picture pages.

Part of the war material used in Europe is false propaganda, as evidenced by the reports that are in utter conflict.

The country's defense program is certainly getting a raw deal from the CIO branch of organized labor.

Wayne county promises to contribute a large number of farmers and townsmen to the feeders' day meeting in Lincoln tomorrow.

Instead of multiplying government bureaus, it would seem the part of wisdom to ease out of some we have on hand.

It would certainly defeat high purposes in which all are concerned, to permit alien forces to undermine and weaken what our national defense program is paying out billions to uphold.

Indications are multiplying that thousands of American farmers are preparing to increase their use of machinery this year in order to make up for the loss of farm help owing to the draft of young men from rural areas.

Farm wages have gone up as the supply of competent and experienced labor has decreased, and a great many farmers, rather than trust many of their farm operations to men of little experience, are equipping their farms with the power machinery deemed sufficient.

In this connection it is also stated that more farmers are turning to livestock in order to use their land profitably and economically.

Obstacles to Business. A reader sent to the Nebraska State Journal the following excerpt from an article on "What's Happening in Taxation and Government Regulation," in a Prentiss-Hall publication:

The fact that it takes the national labor relations board a very long time to decide whether or not an employer has violated the labor act is no defense to a back pay order.

The Journal comments: "Pity the employer. He is taxed by the government, penalized by bureaucratic agencies of the government and made to pay and pay and lose and lose by representatives of labor organizations and labor agitators.

The reader may be his own judge as to whether such obstacles as this had anything to do with the fact that it required preparation for a major war to solve the unemployment problem in the United States.

THE WPA.

The Lincoln Journal quotes Dwight Felton, administrator of the WPA in Nebraska, as warning WPA workers that they must accept jobs in private employment when they are offered to them or run the risk of dismissal from the government agency.

Harry Bridges may never be deported even though a deportation warrant may be issued. Australia appears unwilling to take him back.

Congress passed a law a year ago requiring all foreign controlled political organizations to register with the state department and to give Uncle Sam information on their finances, personnel and membership.

The federal bureau of investigation started with annual appropriations of around $8,000,000. This year appropriations will be over $16,000,000 which includes $8,750,000 for special defense activities.

The five million aliens who registered at the various post offices under the alien registration law will be checked and double checked.

About 70,000 aliens came to our country for permanent stay under the quota last year.

What to do with about 8,000 alien criminals in our country is a question for which the house will soon seek a legislative answer.

The new automobile license plates for the District of Columbia went on sale late in February, but for the whole week preceding March 31 when the old licenses expired, men and women who had waited until the last minute to buy their new tags, stood in a two-block-long line leading up to the traffic bureau.

Will Great Britain ever pay us back the seven billion dollars voted by congress recently for British aid? One answer to that is that the administration has promised congress that there will be a demand for British securities and collateral in this hemisphere.

In answer to many questions, we cannot state definitely why our navy has begun painting American warships a dark gray which is the same color British ships are painted.

It is widely contended here that the president as commander-in-chief of the army and navy has the power to provide escorts for convoys to England.

Notice of Appreciation

I wish at this time sincerely to thank all of my customers and friends for their fine patronage during the time that I have been in the lumber business in Wayne.

I hope you will accord to the Fullerton Lumber Co. the same cooperation that you have shown me.

C. E. WRIGHT

APPRECIATION . . .

To each one whom we were permitted to serve in past years, we wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks.

Former and new customers are extended a cordial welcome to the Fullerton Lumber Co. yard. We guarantee you'll be absolutely pleased with the merchandise, and we are determined to give you service that you are sure to like.

P. A. THEOBALD May We Serve Your Needs in Lumber, Paints, Coal?

Announcing . . .

Opening of Our Newly Purchased Lumber Yard in Wayne . . .

We have purchased both the Theobald and Wright yards, which will be combined at the Wright Lumber Co. yard at 113 South Main street, and take this opportunity of extending a cordial invitation to the general public.

Our confidence in Wayne and north-west Nebraska assures us a real opportunity to extend our service, already reaching several points in middlewestern states. We have been in the lumber business in the northwest for over half a century and our aim has always been to provide quality merchandise through economical buying and the very best of service.

In the Wayne office, P. A. Theobald will be manager, and we feel that his long experience and extensive acquaintance will enable him to be of valuable service to you! Assisting Mr. Theobald will be Dwayne Dale and Paul Zepplin.

May we have an opportunity to supply your needs in lumber, building material, Sherwin-Williams paints and quality fuel?

Invite Young Men To Enter Camps

Applications are now being taken for CCC camps and a number of vacancies are yet to be filled, according to Mrs. Esther Thompson, county selecting agent.

The purpose of the CCC is to give unemployed young men an opportunity to earn while they are learning; to secure experience and job training that will help them to find better jobs. Employers express their appreciation of the value of work habits secured by these young men in camp.

The CCC camp teaches the operation, care and repair of motor vehicles, tractors and bulldozers; the basic principles of metal work, knowledge of electrical equipment and wiring, the art of cooking, photography, drafting, typing and radio.

Young men who are unmarried, between the ages of 17 and 23, and of good health are eligible. Enrollees are paid $30 a month. If they have dependents, $15 is sent to these and the other half is divided, $8 given to the youth to spend and $7 saved for him each month. Savings are paid to him in a lump sum at the end of his enrollment.

Eight enrollment periods are in January, February, April, May, July, August, October and November, but applications may be made at any time with Mrs. Thompson at the court house.

Easter Service Held at College

Wayne college Y. M. C. A. was in charge of the annual Easter service presented at chapel Wednesday, April 9. The program told the story of Holy week both in music and in scripture. Christian Science Services

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 20.
The Golden Text is: "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians 5:18).
Among the edition, which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promises)" (Hebrews 10:19, 22, 23).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Glorify be to God, and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible attainment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love" (p. 45).

Golden Wedding Day Is Observed

Many Attend Reception for Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Long At Home April 9.

Despite the inclement weather and the impassable roads over 150 friends and relatives attended the reception Wednesday, April 9, of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Long's golden wedding.

Sixty-five golden wedding cards and 10 telegrams of congratulations were received. The Order of Eastern Star, Goldenrod chapter No. 106, of which Mr. and Mrs. Long are charter members, sent a large bouquet of yellow snapdragons. The Daughters of Union Veterans of Civil War Betsy Ross tent No. 3 remembered them with yellow roses. Miss J. B. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Tanel Hyspe and Mr. and Mrs. Corlin Peterson each remembered the bride and bridegroom of 50 years ago with beautiful bouquets.

Mrs. Olive Lamb had charge of the guest book. Mrs. Mary A. Aistrop and Mrs. Bettie B. Harman, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Margaret Sundell, Mrs. Tanel Hyspe and Mrs. Bird Oliver received the guests. Many old friends assisted with the serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Aistrop and Mr. and Mrs. Don Lamb presented the large three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white love birds and white roses with the names, Charley and Anna, stenciled in gold on the top layer. Many cakes and cup cakes were contributed by friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Heikes, niece and nephew, furnished the most unique corsages for the couple, made with 50 bright new pennies covered with cellophane on cellophane cords and arranged as a boutonniere.

The Harding Cream company of Omaha, in which Mr. Long has purchased ice cream for nearly 50 years, contributed 300 individually wrapped servings of ice cream, with "50" in gold stenciled on each, for the occasion.

In the evening from 7 to 10 the guests with Bert Page at the piano enjoyed an old-fashioned get-together song fest of the old times sung 50 years ago. Three times during the evening the young people came to chafarisi with the usual tin cans and cow bell and were served ice cream and cup cakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Long were married April 9, 1884, in Omaha and have lived in Wakefield since that time. They have been in their present home since January, 1899.

Mr. Long, Charley, as everyone knows him, was born May 22, 1866, in Wayne county, Ohio, and has resided in Wakefield since 1885. He has been in the drug business here 59 years. Mr. Long was always a public spirited citizen, contributing and helping with everything for the betterment of his home town. He maintains his membership in Corinthian lodge No. 83 A. F. & A. M. and Haggai chapter No. 39 Royal Arch Masons. Mrs. Long, the former Anna Heikes, was born February 25, 1869, in Juniata county, Pa. She came with her parents to Dakota county when she was 9 months old. Mrs. Long experienced the hardships of early days in Nebraska, including Indian scares, grasshoppers, droughts, ox-team days and the living in dug outs in the hills. Mrs. Long taught in the Wakefield public schools for three years. During the winter of the big blizzard of 1888 she was teaching at a school seven miles southwest of Wayne. She has been secretary since the starting of the library by the Woman's club and also of the Graves Memorial library. She is a member of the board of trustees and chairman of the book committee. Since the starting of the Wakefield cemetery association in 1899, she has been most active as secretary with the exception of 10 years when seriously ill. During this time of illness she wrote hundreds of letters to non-resident lot owners and collected many hundred dollars for the perpetual care fund. At the annual meeting April 1 she was again elected secretary.

The Longs have one daughter, Adele, and two grandchildren on the west coast.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., April 1, 1941. The nation seems to be aroused by the epidemic of strikes which has been dangerously delaying national defense work. Every member of the house seems to be getting letters and telegrams from citizens in all parts of the country who are becoming alarmed and indignant because apparently the nation's needs in its hour of emergency are being utilized by some labor leaders for their selfish gain of position and power without regard to the welfare of the country as a whole.

Again the people may have the opportunity to vote on a constitutional amendment giving them the right to change county government or consolidate county offices.

L. B. 379, the teachers' retirement bill is being considered this week. The bill provides for a 5 per cent assessment on teachers' salaries with no contribution from public funds. As amended so far, teachers under 21 years of age are excluded or exempted and the first year's assessment paid by the profession is retained in the retirement fund. Retirement occurs at age of 65 on an earned pension based upon contributions paid in, with a minimum of not less than $300 per year.

L. B. 72 provides for a constitutional amendment which if adopted, will place on the tax rolls additional property maintained, used or operated for the generation, transmission or distribution of electrical energy and will directly affect many plants taken over by the power districts.

L. B. 199 relates to better assessment of taxable property by making the assessor a full time job and by providing that taxpayers make out their own assessment return and thus eliminate precinct assessors.

But It's True

The fact that three Cornwall girls named Richards married men of the same name is no more interesting than the fact that the men were unrelated to each other. There are many Richards in Cornwall, but most of them are closely related.

Madison Youth Repeats Honor

Delores Peters, Champion of Wayne County, Takes Second Award.

Douglas K. Kelly, Madison county, repeated an honor he won last year Friday when he again took the championship of the northern Nebraska spelling contest at Wayne court house, earning the distinction among 26 students from 14 counties. Delores Peters, Wayne county champion, placed second. She was also county champion last year and placed sixth in the 1939 contest. Douglas received the largest trophy and Delores the smallest. Kelly can keep the award. The contest this year was the most successful yet held. Entries were larger and spectators more numerous.

Miss Jean Kroll, Neke county superintendent, who conducted the contest for Supt. F. B. Decker, gave a written contest of 100 words for all students. The oral contest was given to the 11 missing no words in the written event.

When Douglas and Delores remained undecided, another written contest was given. In this Douglas missed two and Delores four words. It is believed post-settled and honorable. Delores also missed epenthetic and maraschino. This determined the first two places.

The other places among the 11 in the oral event and the word missed follow: Marilyn Peterson, Cedar county, 3rd; Donald Pappitt, Wayne, 4th; Margaret Nelson, Wayne, 5th; Kenneth Erickson, Wayne, 6th; Lovell Mann, Wayne, 6th; Donnell Gamble, Wayne, 7th; Marvin Lundin, Carroll, 7th; Donald Landanger, Carroll, 7th; Virgil Stizze, Carroll, 7th; Claire Fann, Carroll, 7th; Dickie K., Wayne, 7th; Duane Hugh H., Wayne, 7th; LeRoy Giese, Wayne, 7th; Dorothy Rethwisch, Carroll, 7th.

Wayne county placed 10th in the oral event and the spelling contest. Delores Peters and Lois Labbostedt, district 26, and Arlene Cary of Windside, entered. Loss was by two and Arlene by in the written event.

Below the listed mentioned, others in the district contest were: Marjorie Koenig and Violet Schmitt, Madison county; Norma Jean Swanson and Glenn Hanson, Pender; Helen Hill and Jean Weidner, Cass; Wallace Schneider, Robert Chelboun and Jack Sokol, Stanton; Alice Myers and Esther Major, Nance; Betty Jean Werning, Alan Scofield and Earl Henry McNare, Antelope; Marjory Rohde, Dakota; Marjorie Pearson, Alfred Walsh and Donald Bolder, Dixon; Maxine Bengtson and Patricia Elyon, Knox; Stanley Phredrick and Robert Pallas, Thurston; Ned Gordon, Rock.

Delores Peters and Lois Labbostedt represent Wayne county in the inter-state contest in Omaha April 25, and Delores enters the state event in Omaha April 26.

New Type Diplomas Chosen for Class

New type of diplomas will be provided for 8th graders this spring by Supt. F. B. Decker. The diploma has a frame effect with isinglass covering the wording. The diploma is fixed so that it may be hung if desired.

Date for Exercises Is Tentatively Set

Promotion exercises for Wayne county 8th graders have been tentatively set by Supt. F. B. Decker for Saturday, May 24, in Wayne municipal auditorium. Final arrangements will be announced as soon as a speaker is definitely picked. Most schools will be out by that date, though a very few will continue a week or two longer.

Books on Display

A new edition of Compton's Pictured encyclopedia is in the superintendents' office for examination by those interested.

Books Are Available

A few copies of the Nebraska Blue Book are still available at Supt. F. B. Decker's office for schools which have not yet secured these.

Elected to School

Miss Jeanette Stuve, who has been teaching in district 7 this year, has been elected to teach in district 40 next term. She will succeed Miss Jessie Gernig, who resigned.

Without intending to do so, Betty showed quite clearly that she had little respect for her mother. Later when we investigated her home conditions, we found them to be much worse than Betty had described them. Her mother unhesitatingly gave her opinion of Betty: "She's no good. She has inherited her father's orneryness, and she'll just have to get out and make her own living."

Talking again with Betty we learned that she was fond of her church, in which she and her father had been baptized and confirmed. When we appealed to a girls' school under the authority of this church, they responded that they would be happy to accept her as a pupil.

Now making a good record in that school, Betty is planning to become a teacher in a similar one.

A bit of investigation, a little extra effort, reaching beyond county lines and over legal jurisdiction had an effect for good in a distant community.

Over Political Boundaries.

Looking in mammoth attire for all the world like a stender boy, Betty, 15, ran away from home in another Nebraska county, stopping when she reached Norfolk, Madison county, where she landed in juvenile court.

She revealed a rather tragic story. Her father had died two years before, and her mother had since operated what Betty termed "a slot-machine cafe."

She said she ran away because one of the men who boarded at her mother's cafe had tried to kill her for refusing his advances.

That she cherished her father's memory was evident as she continued. "Daddy was always good to me. He was too poor to give me nice clothes and spend money or buy me any of the pretty little things that some of my girl friends had. But we had lots of fun together, and I miss him terribly."

Then with a touch of the dramatic she added, "On his deathbed he told me 'hon' was all I had and I should always defend it at any cost."

Accidents Ruin A Good Record

Traveler Makes Thirtyeight States and Canada, Not Seeing Ocean or Gulf

Mrs. John Essex of Springfield, Mo., completed 15 years of driving without an accident, then her good fortune changed. Her car was struck by a tourist, a truck and another Springfield woman backing out of a parking space.

It's an unusual travel record that Charles Adams of Mexico, Mo., enjoys: He has traveled in 38 states and Canada and never has seen either ocean or the Gulf of Mexico.

When a curious tourist asked why the fire siren was sounding, the filling station operator in a Georgia town explained, "No, it ain't an air raid and it ain't a fire. That siren is calling folks to revival meetings." Merchants had agreed to close their stores for morning services upon sounding of the siren.

A 60-year-old retired woodcarver in Oklahoma is building a concrete totem pole as big as a silo that will give ruin excavators a real find in centuries to come. The "pole" will have six rooms, one above the other, each 18 feet in diameter. The outside will be weirdly embellished.

A California city jail which has had an escape-proof reputation for 70 years was found, during remodeling, to have the flimsiest sort of wood construction. The walls wouldn't have withstood a good punch from a bare fist, the sheriff said.

Two men in the Utah legislature are known as "Morning" and "Afternoon." Their names are A. M. Petersen and P. M. Petersen.

At last bald-headed men in a Georgia town are having the last laugh. The only barber left, leaving the residents no recourse but to return to the "bbwl and scissors" haircut.

Speed is truly the modern watchword. A trucker gave a young woman a ride. Within 15 minutes they had completed their courtship and engagement and were enroute to a minister to be married.

Ray Walker of Paul's Valley, Okla., had trouble keeping pencils in his cafe. His wife lost every one he brought in. So Ray began hiding pencils to have one when he wanted it. That was the start of a hobby. Now he has more than 2,000 pencils, no two alike.

Soldiers stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., who want to visit Louisville, 40 miles away, will have a long walk. The war department has banned "hitchhiking" as "unmilitary and discreditable to the uniform."

A thief who smashed a jewelry shop window at Chester, Pa., should never be late for any future engagement. Timing his action to coincide with the rumble of a train passing over a nearby trestle, he fled with 20 watches valued at $500.

Courtesy will pay a cash dividend in Trenton. The late John T. Gardner of Trenton, Mo., left a $1,000 trust fund, the interest from which will go annually to the city's most polite boy and girl.

To the six friends of John R. Harding at Scottsville, Va., who acted at his request—as pallbearers at his funeral there came this note: "Remember me when I am gone. J. R. H." To each note was pinned a $100 bill.

There is too much energy in beans canned by a Chicago firm, Robert Bieger of Lake Bluff, Ill.

charged in a $10,000 damage suit. A can of the beans blew up and burned his face while he was heating them in a sandwich counter he formerly owned.

Postmen now have another post to add to their already long list. The current issue of the Columbia, S. C., Postal Employee reports that B. F. Clatti was "assailed by a pantan rooster" with the idea that the mail would not go through. Clatti experienced difficulty, the item said, in putting the "foul fowl" to flight.

Orlando, Wis., taverns may sell hard liquor, but not beer. In a referendum residents voted 121 to 113 against sale of beer but approved sale of hard liquor, 126 to 121.

Confidence in Victory Is Felt in Wales

"Of course we are going through a period of great strain, wondering what is going to happen next and whether Hitler's invasion threat is merely an idle boast or whether he really means business. In any case we are certain of one thing—he will never gain a permanent foothold on these islands. Indeed the majority of us, I think, would welcome an attempt at invasion—we are so certain of its failure and the end of the war would then, I think, be in sight. As it is, the nervous strain is very marked." So writes a niece of John D. Jones from Cardigan, South Wales, March 4.

"As to actual physical inconvenience, we have experienced none here so far," the letter continues. "We have an occasional air raid warning but no bombs have been dropped within a radius of 15 miles of Cardigan. Of course in the real South Wales, Cardiff, Swansea and Rhondda valleys, it is a different matter. Swansea, especially has been badly hit—the center of the town completely destroyed after a three nights' blitz. Of course the enemy, as in the case of Coventry, concentrated on the very center of the town ignoring all the important industrial targets around. The object, of course, is the breaking of our morale but it only succeeds in making us all the more determined to see this thing through."

"The food situation is pretty good and up to now we have not lacked anything that is really essential to our well-being. And there is very little illegal profiteering. We feel that we are in a strong position. We have the utmost confidence in our leader, Mr. Churchill, and in the cabinet chosen by him.
