

In on Lincoln — Political Rumors — Pernicious Propaganda — Communism in Industrial Centers.

A look in on Lincoln last week found girls' and boys' make-believe official organizations going full blast. The young persons, gathered together from all parts of the state, were enjoying the experience despite wet weather.

The boys' and girls' legislative acts developed without consulting the constitution or being bothered by lobbyists or interfering hangers-on. The youths were strictly earnest, and often their judgment would rival that of elders in legally constituted bodies.

Freud Minder, secretary of the Nebraska Press association, told us a movement is gaining momentum to have a few measures that were defeated in the legislature—among them, those proposing to require publication of the personal file list and proceedings of school boards—appear on the ballot in next year's election for popular approval or disapproval.

Rumors of slowly unfolding candidacies are reported numerous around the capitol. Senator Geo. W. Norris' term expires next year and official circles are beginning to speculate on his intentions.

The question of Senator Norris' voluntary retirement does not hinder hopefulness from assuming a willing attitude. In his Elgin Review, Val Peterson, secretary to the governor, suggests senatorial possibilities on the republican side in the persons of Governor Griswold, Chief Justice Simmons, Ken Wherry, chairman of the republican state central committee, Walter Johnson, attorney general, and C. Petrus Peterson, state senator from Lincoln.

But what is the governor's secretary going to do? The governor cannot run to succeed himself and for the senatorship at the same time. If Griswold files for senator, will Val placidly smile himself into oblivion? Is he made of that sort of metal? Is the fellow who has been in demand for speech-making from remotest sandhills to the hurrying waters of the Missouri, and whose acquaintance has spread with the speed and thoroughness of a prairie fire, likely to fold up with a blessing on others who may be less known and less qualified?

Carroll Robbers Seek Clemency

Albert and Oris England Ask Pardons Board for Cut in Sentence.

Two men serving 20-year sentences in the state penitentiary for robbing the Carroll bank in 1936, have filed application for clemency with the state board of pardons which holds a hearing July 9.

Two Robbed Carroll Bank. Cash in the amount of $1,430 was stolen from the Carroll Cooperative Credit bank Monday afternoon, June 15, 1936, about 1:10 by two armed men who scooped up the money in $20, $10, $5 and $1 bills from the counter and drawer after slugging M. S. Whitney, vice president, who was in charge.

Freud Minder, secretary of the Nebraska Press association, told us a movement is gaining momentum to have a few measures that were defeated in the legislature—among them, those proposing to require publication of the personal file list and proceedings of school boards—appear on the ballot in next year's election for popular approval or disapproval.

When the men saw that Mr. Scribner had left and Mr. Whitney was alone, the two returned to the bank. One advanced to the window and said, "We are back after the contract." Mr. Whitney reached for the paper and as he turned back he faced a gun and was ordered to "lie down."

Championship soft ball will be exhibited at Wayne athletic park Sunday at 3 in the Metz team, Omaha, and Old Home players, Sioux City, meet in a benefit game, the proceeds to start a fund to help install lights at the park.

The two teams are among the fastest in the middle west. Since this section is the "cradle" of soft ball, this means that the country's finest players are to compete. The Omaha team holds city championship and was runner-up in the state, and the Sioux City players are champions in Iowa. Each one on the two teams has an outstanding record in championship play.

Following the game Sunday the athletic committee of the Chamber of Commerce plans picnic supper for the visiting players and their wives.

Premises Gained By Court Action. Case May Be Appealed to Higher Tribunal by Defendant, Here.

In an "ouster" action filed by Paul Gertner against Carl Strackbein, County Judge J. M. Cherry Saturday in county court found for the plaintiff and ordered restitution of his premises. Costs of $4.46 were taxed to defendant. Appeal bond was fixed at $1,000, and Strackbein gave notice of his intention to appeal to district court. He has 10 days in which to do so.

Through his attorney, H. D. Addison, the plaintiff stated that he had rented his building on lot 16, block 12, original Wayne to defendant since last September by verbal lease from month to month for $75 a month payable in advance. Gertner alleged that April 23 he terminated his lease through his agent by notifying defendant to vacate the building by June 1, 1941, and he also gave written notice. The period has elapsed and plaintiff claims that defendant unlawfully retains possession of the premises.

In court Saturday Catherine Gertner and L. W. Ellis testified for the plaintiff, and defendant for himself. R. W. Bartels was counsel for the defendant. The court found for the plaintiff and ordered the building vacated.

State Engineer Chief Speaker

Northeast Officials Meet in Wayne Wednesday to Hear Program.

About 70 county officials, commissioners, clerks, treasurers and welfare officers, from northeast Nebraska were in Wayne Wednesday for a program of interest to the group. State Engineer, Warden G. Scott was principal speaker.

Mr. Scott's discussion centered around the topic of highway facilities for national defense, particularly in regard to the already designated Nebraska strategic network. He told how early in the year the president of the U. S. requested the federal highway administrator to make out a report which would indicate funds necessary for strengthening the U. S. strategic road network. This would include surfacing, bridge building and construction of access roads.

Recommendations of this report were presented to congress June 2 in the form of a proposed national defense highway bill. The president specified that approximately 125 million be spent, but when the bill was passed by the senate June 16, increased tension of the war situation caused officials to appropriate twice that much for highway defense. Hearings on the bill in the house closed June 11 and action for passage is under way.

In Nebraska the strategic network, as formulated May 15, 1941, includes: U. S. 30 alternate and U. S. 30, U. S. 81 to Norfolk; U. S. 275, Norfolk to O'Neill; and U. S. 73, Omaha to Kansas line.

Mr. Scott was in Washington recently to confer with the house roads committee in the interest of (Continued on Page Seven)

Early Resident of Wayne Passes Away at Home Monday Morning.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the home and at 2 from Our Redeemer's Lutheran church for Adam Saul who passed away at his place five and a half miles south of Wayne Monday morning, June 16, at 5:50, aged 66 years, 5 months and 5 days. Rev. W. F. Most and the Beckenhauer service were in charge. The ladies' quartet, with Mrs. M. L. Ringer organist, sang "We Findet die Seele die Heimat," "Asleep in Jesus" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

Await Approval For Use of Sum

Mortgage Is Removed to Relieve Barrier Set Up by Ruling.

Improvement of the new city park north of town is awaiting approval of a transfer of $7,800 WPA funds. The sum was allocated for the athletic park. When that park improvement was completed without this, it was decided to ask that the funds be transferred.

A federal ruling prohibits use of WPA funds on property on which a mortgage is carried. The new park carried $2,000, so this held up action for a time. Last Friday morning the council, at a special meeting, released the mortgage. A note for the $2,000 is being held by the light fund until the Country club pays the amount.

Application for another WPA project for the park will be filed after word on the transfer comes.

Gets High Honor At State Conclave

Wayne Attorney Is Awarded Recognition in DeMolay Sunday at Kearney.

The award is designed to compliment men who as young men were active in DeMolay and have since distinguished themselves as business men and public-minded citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartels, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crockett, left for Kearney Sunday noon to attend the conclave, which was given in an outdoor theatre at the park. Plan for Display At Fair in Wayne. In response to a request made by W. H. Sweet, General Uhl, Omaha, 7th corps area commander, writes that he will arrange for a military display for Wayne county fair in August.

BAN ON FOURTH OF JULY EXPLOSIVES IS MADE EMPHATIC

SHOOTING firecrackers and other explosives on the Fourth, as on other days of the year, is outlawed in Wayne, as it is in most other cities and towns. An advertisement in today's Herald calls attention to local abolition of the fiery and dangerous sport, and warns that enforcement will be strict and impartial. Years ago keeping the air torn and people's lives imperiled with a variety of explosives was common practice as a way to express patriotism, and the death roll mounted higher and higher from year to year. Finally it dawned on municipal authorities that burning powder was not necessary to love of country or to readiness to fight for it. It was no longer advisable to imitate the noise and perils of the Revolution in order to appreciate what it had accomplished. So, the firecracker has been officially banned in many places, including Wayne, and fatal or serious accidents incident to the holiday occasion are turned over to careless automobile driving.

Quota Is Estimated. The figure of $16,785,000 for the national quota represents 10 per cent of the annual community chest drives over the country. Nebraska's share of the sum is placed at $63,800. This figure is 16 cents per capita. Using this figure, Wayne's quota for a population of about 3,000 is estimated at $500.

Organizations and individuals will be urged to contribute as large amounts as possible. Literature concerning the U. S. O. will be distributed this week by scouts, and the drive for funds will be conducted next week. A U. S. O. button and pledge card will be given to each contributor. Receipts will be mailed, and accounts will be audited.

Organize Drive To Serve Youths

Mayor M. L. Ringer Is Local Chairman of Campaign To Help U. S. O.

Wayne is organizing to cooperate in the United Service Organizations drive which will provide recreational educational and religious activities for young Americans in uniform and in defense industries. This city's quota is placed at $500, and a drive will be staged within a few days under direction of Chairman M. L. Ringer to raise this sum.

U. S. O. is a non-profit corporation which has brought together six national agencies in a common program of service to men in uniform and in defense industries. Participating agencies are the Y. M. C. A., National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare Board, Y. W. C. A. and National Travelers Air association.

The figure of $16,785,000 for the national quota represents 10 per cent of the annual community chest drives over the country. Nebraska's share of the sum is placed at $63,800. This figure is 16 cents per capita. Using this figure, Wayne's quota for a population of about 3,000 is estimated at $500.

Receipts will be mailed, and accounts will be audited.

Form Service Clubs. U. S. O. was formed because many communities near training centers and defense industries are not prepared for the sudden influx of young men. Most of the areas have inadequate recreational activities, leaving the youths, especially the homesick ones, easy prey for commercial and vicious exploitation. To supply this need in the lives of the men, the government is building and equipping 339 service clubs throughout the United States and its overseas bases. Staffing and operating these clubs and promoting programs are the objective of the U. S. O. Activities of the clubs include counsel and guidance, religious service.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter Brackensick of Wayne. A reception followed the ceremony for 80 immediate relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Essmann left on a trip to Yellowstone park. On their return they will live west of Pender.

Beneath an arch covered with vines were two little white gates which were opened for the bridal party by the ushers, Leon Seimers, nephew of the bridegroom, and Ronald Greenwald, cousin of the bride. Prof. C. E. Germeroth played the processional and recessional marches. Miss Dorothy Raabe, cousin of the bride, sang "Saviour I Follow On."

Miss Margaret Raabe and Miss Ruth Greenwald, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical, made floor length of pink net trimmed with lace insertions. They carried colonial bouquets of blue delphinium. Miss Pearl Essmann, twin sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and wore a floor-length dress of blue net, fashioned with a double net skirt and trimmed in pink. The flower girl was Miss Jeanene Greenwald, niece of the bride. She wore a floor-length dress of pink dotted Swiss trimmed with blue bows.

The finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore her mother's pearl necklace and carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

At the reception, a three-tiered wedding cake centered the table. Pink carnations, blue delphinium and white tapers were on either side of the cake. Mrs. Essmann is a graduate of Wisner high school and attended Wayne State Teachers college. She taught in the rural schools the past two years. Mr. Essmann is a graduate of the Pender high school.

"From 8 o'clock in the morning until late at night, from Lincoln to Omaha, from the top of the state capitol to the basement of department stores, from listening to talks of noted speakers to leading their own discussion groups, and putting out their own newspaper, Nebraska's leading 4-H farm citizens enjoyed themselves for one full week, June 1 to 7, under the direction of L. I. Frisbie," according to Bonnie Lou Osburn.

Among the 325 boys and girls, Wayne county was represented by Dean Pierson, Marion Schroeder, Esther and Helen Schroeder and Bonnie Osburn. The citizens came from 78 counties of the state and four corners.

The activities varied with the discussion groups proving the most interesting on the topics of mechanized world, personality and food, which were summarized by W. H. Brokaw, O. N. Benson, originator of 4-H clubs in the United States, was the principal speaker. Afternoon programs included visits to the state capitol, Antelope park, First Plymouth church, museum, city campus, fire department, agricultural campus. The trip to Omaha by train was on Friday. English Continue Daily Tasks with Remarkable Spirit

Miss Eileen Collier, 17-year-old English ward of Miss Margaret Schemel, who was graduated with honors from the University of Indiana this spring, has some interesting first-hand information about the war in England, where her mother and brother are living.

Miss Collier has written to her mother weekly since she came to this country several years ago; but now that the war is on their correspondence is very uncertain. Her mother reports that from January to April she received only four of Eileen's letters. The area of Leeds, or Huddersfield, where Mrs. Collier lives, has been relatively free from bombardments until recently, industries there being textile rather than mechanical. Lately raids have been more frequent. Bombs shattered windows of their home, and part of the school that Eileen attended was demolished.

At Christmas time when a large incendiary bomb fell in that suburb, residents were evacuated but returned when it failed to explode. Life in England is unaccountably interrupted at times but goes on in a miraculously normal manner. Children in the bombed school Eileen once attended were planning their annual spring vacation to the lakes when last she heard. They leave their lessons for the air raid shelter when the sirens are heard and return to the classrooms to resume studies almost as if nothing had happened. Surprising is the fact that German is still being taught. The only visible change besides actual damage is the absence of flower gardens which have all been converted into vegetable patches.

Misconstrued ideas of the meaning of rationing have been circulating over here, the English write, Miss Collier believes that only recently there has been actually any curtailment of food consumption, at least where her mother lives. Rationing merely means the equal division of foods among all classes to insure general wellbeing. Most recent letters do hint at strict food economy. Children eat glazed carrots as a substitute for sweets and women must make their own jams and jellies if they have any at all. Eileen's mother expressed in her own way the indomitable English spirit when she said it was doing them good to learn how to economize and be self-sufficing in the home.

Eileen's brother is a rear gunner in the R.A.F. He has much to tell and some that can't be told. One letter she received was literally in ribbons, from the slashes of the censor's scissors. These men follow a strange routine. They return from flight to sleep 24 hours before resuming duties.

Both Eileen and Miss Schemel wonder at the touchingly courageous spirit of the English people. Relatives in London write that they have been evacuated to Surrey, and go 22 miles to work in London every day as usual. They dislike the inconvenience and wish they could move back into the city. In their letters they are telling Americans to be cheerful! Any help from the U. S. is a great boost to their spirits and they are immensely appreciative of everything done here.

Social levels are being broken down as all band together in a common effort. The historical feud between north and south England is vanishing with the restless movements of peoples to safe areas.

As for Miss Collier, she intends to become a naturalized citizen of the U. S. On her 18th birthday she will file first papers. Eileen has distinguished herself considerably at an early age. She is not only exceptionally young to possess an A. B. degree, but has earned it admirably well, having been elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta, scholastic fraternities. Dean of the university recommended her for honors at graduation, and on her presentation of special papers in French she attained that distinction. Miss Collier plans to start work on her master's degree this fall at Indiana university.

Permanent School Fund
OUR attention has been called to the status of the state's permanent school fund and the brave struggle the late legislature made to restore and safeguard it.

That this legislature hereby declares its purpose and intent to be that its members shall remain in session until affirmative action is taken which definitely provides for the restoration of the permanent state school fund to the condition in which the constitution of Nebraska commands that it shall forever remain—inviolate and undiminished.

Fighting shy of ways to create additional taxes, the legislature shifted its ardent support of the fund to an order to the attorney general to collect delinquent loans. The legislative spirit thus exercised a fatherly feeling for the fund, but finally could not face the prospect of increased taxes to make early repairs.

The special legislative committee, appointed to investigate administration of the permanent school fund, found loans had been made to different municipal organizations, now too often with slight hope of realizing due returns. Funds invested in school dormitory bonds are, however, reported safe and sound. In that connection the only complaint made by the committee is that in refunding bonds at an advantageous rate reduction, an unnecessary intermediary was employed to make the deal.

Advocates Changes
IN THE course of speculating on proposed changes in the state's school system, Editor Cramb urges in his Fairbury Journal that children be not started to school until they are 6 years old. He quoted a former teacher of long experience as saying that beginning a child's schooling at an earlier age imposes a burden of no educational value.

In revising the school system, Editor Cramb would not give special honors for the achievements of precocious children, but do more to stimulate the efforts of those who are naturally backward. He would spread out athletics to help those who need help—who could profit most by the training. He would not restrict athletics to those who are already strong.

Breathing hot and cold almost simultaneously seems to be an all-time sport in Washington. People are advised that the greatest thing to fear is fear, and then uneasiness in manifested that they are not sufficiently fearful of the country's present peril. Excepting among alien enemy termites in big eastern and western centers, people are wholly and unqualifiedly behind every sacrifice needed to insure adequate defense, and they would be less fearful if the government would clamp down quicker and harder on those who are trying to hinder development of the safeguards for which billions are being spent.

It would seem moving in military forces to insure the operation of a defense-building industry, held up by strikes, would not necessarily involve taking over the plant by the government. The strikers are plainly the offenders, not the owners who have shown every intention of doing their part. As pointed out by one publication, operation of the plants by the government would be unsatisfactory to labor and government officials, and would not secure the production possible in private hands.

As mentioned by the Omaha Journal-Stockman, Vice President Henry Wallace expressed in a recent talk some warmth of feeling over what he suggests as lack of cooperation between the farmers and the agricultural department. Henry should know that farmers have learned much since he led a procession of five million pigs to slaughter early in the new deal administration, and that they are less disposed to shift their thinking and planning to Washington.

Vandalism is the charge issued from the city library against persons who have overturned heavy and costly urns stationed at the entrance of the building. Beautiful flowers were wrecked in the overthrow. Not many in this country would wilfully destroy works of art and beauty, but evidently enough are in circulation here to do the damage mentioned. Officers should take due note and be on the alert to take the guilty into captivity.

Another of Satan's ideas to sabotage defense supplies is revealed in what is called "fire pencils." It is said these pencils, fixed up with lead and erasers, look innocent enough on the outside, but that within lurks tremendous power for evil. Concealed acid is used to start the damage. Officers are being taught the wicked habits of these pencil devils, and they will be on the alert.

Speaking of Father's day, which is now happily over, the Omaha Journal-Stockman expressed the thought-provoking idea that "ma and the girls may take it into their heads to present him with a new rug for the sitting room or a new set of furniture for the parlor."

The house committee has put a full set of sharp teeth into an anti-strike bill, fixing a heavy penalty for interference with workers in defense plants and authorizing military forces to take charge when necessary.

Comparatively small business and industrial groups will do their best in the present crisis in the hope that they can survive government restrictions and tax burdens.

Farm people are busy these days cultivating corn and making hay. All crops are growing luxuriantly, and prospects have not been better in ten years.

Costly Experiments.

In spite of the very general protest against further costly experimentation and questionable projects at a time when the nation's resources should be mobilized and conserved for defense, the proposition has been advanced that still more millions be expended on dams and electric plants in out of the way places.

"Congress has frequently been advised to look beneath the label of alleged defense projects and see if they are needed for the emergency or are only more excuses for spending the taxpayers' money," says the Philadelphia Inquirer. "This counsel may well be applied to Senator Norris' proposal to have the Tennessee Valley authority take in a lot of new territory."

"He wants to have the 688-mile long Cumberland river and its basin included in TVA. The basin covers an area of 18,000 square miles. Obviously the proposed enormous power development could not be concluded in time to aid in the defense emergency any more than could the St. Lawrence seaway. If more electric power is needed it can be supplied much more quickly and easily through steam plants."

"Nearly $400,000,000 has been sunk in the TVA project, with an exceedingly doubtful prospect of corresponding returns to the country, although special benefits have inured to the people of a single section at the cost of the rest of us."

"Certainly, even as a long range project Senator Norris' proposal is ill timed when every dollar that can be raised should be devoted to defense. At the best, TVA is still an experiment. This is no time for further experiments that would divert man power, money, and materials from the nation's imperative enterprise."

Racketeering Up-to-Date.

We thought you might want to know that CIO plumbers in Houston, Texas, refused to work on a building job until thread cut on pipes by the manufacturer had been sawed off so that the pipe could be rethreaded by union labor. In New York the teamsters' union decided that every truck entering the city would have to have a crew of two, and so an unnecessary man sits in the cab of each truck and gets $9 a day for doing no work. In Chicago the milk wagon drivers' union will not permit farmers to sell milk to city customers. In Washington, D. C., a clothing store was painted by members of a CIO union. The store was immediately picketed by an AFL union to compel the job to be done over by their own members.

And you get one guess as to who finally pays these additional costs.

The prize piece of racketeering of this kind for some time, though, was taking place last week in New York City. Theaters were being picketed by members of the teamsters' union, who carried large banners informing the public that the theaters were "Unfair to Union Labor." The unfairness consisted of this: Theaters refused when the teamsters' union demanded that hereafter musicians arriving in automobiles or taxicabs would not be permitted to carry their own instruments but these would have to be brought by trucks driven by members of the teamsters' union at a cost of $10 per instrument by day and $20 by night, which strikes us out here as being pretty good money for carrying a piccolo a few blocks.

The high-handed practices referred to here have not struck the central west yet, where organized labor seems still to have level-headed management. But it shows what has happened, what is sanctioned by labor legislation and what can be expected to spread if opportunist politicians are still permitted to trade laws for votes.

RELIEF JOBS.

In view of the crisis in which the United States finds itself, it would appear consistent to liquidate costly relief bureaus that were organized to give employment during the economic emergency. Defense spending should absorb most welfare projects. If the emergency requires extra conserving of food supplies, it does not make sense to cut down farm production. If labor is scarce on farms and in factories why pour federal money into enterprises that should be financed by local capital? Why be on the alert for new ways to spend federal cash when the country is certain to be burdened by defense costs? Why not economize by dissolving unnecessary bureaus and get down to brass tacks in doing whatever is needed to defend the country? It is no joy ride to get ready for adequate defense, and with army enlistments, increased demand for labor and with rising markets, it would seem no able-bodied person should be without employment in private endeavor. While jobs are seeking men rather than men seeking jobs, relief set-ups should be definitely on the way out.

Looking

non-partisan league in the middle west shortly after the first World war. North Dakota went farthest in adopting this socialistic experiment, and active workers persuaded many in neighboring states to join the movement at so much per join. The idea was to have business and industry owned and operated by the state, and level and equalize individual possessions and opportunities. The plan didn't work in the middle west which soon recovered from the disease, and veered back to a sound, middle course.

But communism had taken deeper root in metropolitan centers in the east and west—especially among labor unions. This alien policy of pulling down the one who has something and foolishly hamstringing sources of employment, has been evident in defense building industries, and the firm stand finally taken by the government against interference, promises to weed out radical communists and promote a healthier and more hopeful condition.

FLYNN.

Edward J. Flynn of New York, democratic national chairman, who was in Omaha last week to inspect political conditions, said in a talk to a group of the faithful that the middle west's opposition to the new deal administration in the last election was due not so much to the farmers as to the small towns. What nerve to venture a guess so far from the fact? It is true, the small towns generally voted for a change, but it is also true that rural precincts came forth with equally strong majorities for Willie. The Roosevelt-Wallace ticket was defeated in Wayne county by a vote of 1,372 to 3,164. In rural areas Roosevelt received 818 and Willie 2,144. The democratic nominee did not carry one precinct in Wayne county, and he lost some rural precincts by from three to one to five to one. The result in this county is a fair criterion of results generally over the middle west. Thus, farmers joined small towns in protesting against a regime of costly errors. If party politics is to be laid aside during the international emergency, as suggested in high Washington circles, we would advise Flynn to postpone his political maneuverings until after the clouds have disappeared.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. June 4, 1941. The WPA administrator for the District of Columbia told a house committee that there are no more skilled workers available from relief rolls. Private industry has taken them up. Citizens complain that it is almost impossible to find available domestics. In spite of that, relief officials say that 18,000 people who are employable are looking for jobs in the nation's capital every day.

The president sent to congress his message on national defense highways. He recommended that $125,000,000 be spent for this work around army and navy reservations, also to widen strategic roads and to widen and strengthen bridges. Immediately, the roads committee got busy and wrote a new bill which would make possible the expenditure of around four hundred million dollars for this purpose. The administration bill and the one written by the committee clash radically. It will be some days before a compromise bill is written. This new road legislation has nothing to do with the regular federal aid road program in which states match federal funds.

Many members listened to Jan Valtin, author of "Out of the Night," when he testified before the Dies committee. He was accompanied by two body-guards and his colorful testimony created a sensation. He told friends he wanted to stay in the United States and become a citizen. So do thousands of other aliens who are already here and millions of others who live in other countries.

Are we officially in the war? That question comes in many letters from home. The answer is that we will not be at war until congress so decides by passage of a war declaration. Officially we are not at war.

Anti-war forces here have decided to fight against what they charge is propaganda to make the general public feel that we might as well forget neutrality and go on the basis that we are in the war. Battle lines are drawn up between this force and another force of interventionists.

Most of the anti-war forces here have gone on record in support of everything the administration wants to build up a complete defense of the entire western hemisphere. On that question there is little division here.

Michael Edelstein, a new congressman from New York, dropped dead as he stepped out of the house chamber the other day just after he had answered to his name when the roll was called. He had just finished making a brief speech in which he stated that on the question of war, the Jewish people in the United States are as much divided as other American citizens. Ever since he has been in the house, he has waged a war against intolerance and against any move which would again bring race hatreds to America. In private talks with his colleagues this popular New York member felt that his mission was to fight against patriotic and a gifted speaker. His sudden death was a shock to the entire house membership and as a mark of respect the house immediately adjourned over the day and the flags on the capitol building and other buildings on capitol hill were lowered to half mast.

Sam Woods, the American writer (military attaché) in Berlin, comes that on April 22, he and his wife visited Prague in Bohemia. Food, which was plentiful two years, is now being rationed and is hard to get. Schools and private buildings have been taken over to house children from danger zones in the Rhineland. Hospitals are filled with wounded soldiers returning from the south. Woods hails from Mississippi and speaks both German and Bohemian. "You folks back home can never realize what it means to live in a country where everything is rationed and it is even hard to get a ration card," he writes.

Several hundred million dollars have been wasted in building our new army cantonments, according to Albert Engel, a member from Michigan, who has investigated many of our camps. In reply to questions, he indicated that the waste did not result so much from rackets as from inefficiency. But he did intimate certain people made plenty of money from the construction work. His report to congress is aiding investigators who are now very busy.

The house is now considering the regular war department supply bill for military activities. The proposed appropriation is nearly ten billion dollars. Members of the appropriations committee have been working five weeks on this bill. Other supplemental army bills are scheduled along with heavier appropriations for the navy. There is now no opposition to any legislation or appropriation for national defense. But what worries many members is that up to date very little has been done to train the country, and in the middle west in particular. The calling of young men is to the same effect. The federal government now is constructing 100,000 new houses for defense workers and at the same time is about to expend another 159 millions to expand school and public health facilities of larger cities unable to meet the situations created by the sudden and great increases of population.

Among the recent visitors in the Third congressional district office were Miss Ruth Miller and Miss Helen Dyson of Lyons; Henry Blank, formerly of Norfolk, now of Washington; Mrs. Verona Smith, formerly of Norfolk, now of Washington; F. G. Hartzell of Omaha; Joe Wiley and Frank McNealey, both of Norfolk; Mrs. Mae Fischer, formerly of Norfolk, now of Washington; Mrs. Annie Rafferty of Fullerton; Mrs. Juliana Schure, formerly of Humphrey, William Vogt, Jr., of South Sioux City; Miss Bertha Prause, formerly of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Price of Norfolk, and Shelly Wiggins of Lincoln.

Washington, D. C. June 10, 1941. General Brett, chief of the army air corps, testifying before the house committee on roads, favors airplane landing strips along the nation's highways. They would be emergency landing fields.

I. V. Packard, secretary of Nebraska's aeronautics commission, conferred with many aviation officials here regarding Nebraska airport development. The army has last word in this development. It has some new plans for national defense airports based on training men from about 34 army aviation groups. The new airport map showing this revised set-up does not allocate any airports to the middle western states. So, middle-western members are holding indignation conferences.

Uncle Sam's aviation experts have been in England and in continental Europe many times during the last few months. Even the highest officials of our CAA have been there. What they have seen will affect new recommendations and new plans for the locations of airports and new methods of pilot training. The sinking of the gigantic battleships, Hood and Bismarck, the capture of Crete and other air successes are modifying the defense picture here. The fight for a separate air force is growing in both houses.

Believe it or not, Andy Risser, who runs the airport at Norfolk, and some of the other civilian instructors in Nebraska are regarded highly in Washington aviation circles. Their names are frequently mentioned in discussions by some of the CAA chiefs here.

Speaking about strikes, a Nebraska boy who is a sailor on one of our cruisers has a job in the boiler room. "We work for $32 a month and work overtime to make repairs. Union men who do the same work on our ship grumble at $10 a day. They work 40 hours a week." A Nebraska farmer says: "Extravagant spending is worrying the people in Nebraska when they see mediocre laborers who used to be glad to get $4 a day come home for a holiday in a new car and boast that they can make nearly $20 a day of overtime each week. We are having a hard time making a living out of the soil in these years. We know that these big payrolls are being charged up against our future income." Letters like these are helping to roll up the public opinion to which congress is listening these days.

The new work relief and relief appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1942 has been reported by the committee on appropriations. The new total is $885,905,000 as compared with $1,368,061,367 approved for the last fiscal year.

Warren Krebs of Humphrey, was among the graduates at Georgetown university last week. He has specialized in commerce. Many Nebraskans came here to attend graduation programs at the many schools which are located here.

Little tolerance in Washington these days. A painting of Lindbergh has been removed from a prominent club here. Reason is that members feared it might offend many of the Brits who have joined the club.

The St. Lawrence seaway fight is scheduled for the house soon. Lobbyists come in great numbers now. Florida is sending a $50,000-a-year man to Washington to sell "Florida Good Will." Florida ship canal lobbyists are also present.

State Engineer Scott of Lincoln, has been in town several days consulting members of the Nebraska delegation in connection with the proposed national defense highway bill. Reason is that an access road to a military reservation is to be constructed in the state. The state of Nebraska feels that the cost of this construction shall be borne by the federal government 100 per cent so that state funds can be used for other badly needed highway improvement in the state. Scott was introduced to the house roads committee by the Third district members. Both spoke on behalf of Nebraska. The committee has been holding daily meetings for the past week. Officials from the army, navy and public roads administration testified. Also, officials from many states including several governors.

Claude Wiegars, Wayne, boy scout field worker, was in Wisner Tuesday to help organize a troop.

Wedding Service Is Performed Here

Miss Fern Crawford Is Bride Of Walter Ulmer Sunday At St. Paul Church.

A lovely June day wedding was solemnized for Miss Fern Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Crawford, and Walter Ulmer of Hosmer, S. D., at 4 o'clock Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran church here. Rev. W. C. Heidenreich of Oskosh, former pastor of St. Paul's, read the single ring ceremony at an altar decorated in soft colors with baskets of delphinium, larkspur, ferns and palms. Miss Wilma Heidenreich of Fremont, sang "Oh Promise Me" preceding the service. She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. H. A. Welch who also played Lohengrin's and Mendelssohn's wedding marches. Miss Mildred and Miss Georgina Eckstrom, bridesmaid, and Mrs. Donald Dalby of Wellington, Colo., matron of honor, led the bridal party down an aisle with pews for relatives and close friends marked off by white bows and blue flowers. They were gowned alike in pastel nets in shades of orchid, blue and pink respectively, and wore matching net veils held by tasses and sweetpeas. Their wristlets were of the same flowers. Their dresses had long, full skirts and tight, fitted bodices. Miss Ruth Heidenreich, as maid of honor, followed. Her dress was blue net in similar style with fitted lace bodice. She also wore net veil held by tasses and sweetpeas, and her wristlet was of matching flowers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white silk on a navy blue gown of light blue and white with bands of tulle and a full skirt. A halo of seed pearls held her tulle veil in place and she carried a shower bouquet of pink Briar Cliff roses. Her only ornament was a gold locket, gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. Ulmer wore dark coat and white trousers. He and his best man, Herbert Walth, entered from the study and awaited the bridal party at the altar. Ushers who led the bride party into the church, were Kenneth Peterson, Billy House and Reinhold Walth. They wore dark suits.

Mrs. Crawford, the bride's mother, wore deep rose gown of Miami cloth in redingote style. Her accessories were white and her corsage while gardenia with roses.

A reception followed in the Crawford home where buffet luncheon was served from a table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and pink and blue candles. Mrs. Oscar Liedtke and Mrs. P. W. Gries presided. Miss Dorothy Heidenreich had charge of the guest book.

The couple left immediately for a trip to the Black Hills. For her going away costume the bride chose a blue and rose patterned silk with rose redingote, and navy accessories.

Mrs. Ulmer received her A. B. degree from Wayne State Teachers college and had taught the past two years in Hosmer. Mr. Ulmer attended the agricultural college at Brookings, S. D. They will be at home after July 1 in Hosmer where Mr. Ulmer is postmaster.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Miss Blanch Udey of Omaha, Miss Jane Udey of Neligh, and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. House and sons of Springfield, S. D.

Seven young men and one charming young woman, who delightfully interpret the world's greatest music, are the personnel of the Manhattan Symphonie ensemble which plays at the State Teachers College next Tuesday. Each is a soloist in his or her own right, and each is a member of some one of New York's symphony orchestras. Appeal Horse Case To Supreme Court

Elmer Schaber Takes Matter To High Tribunal from District Court.

The suit involving a horse deal between Elmer Schaber and Wm. Palmer was appealed to the state supreme court last week by Schaber. Wayne county farmer, who paid the $20 filing fee. The county court and district court here gave Palmer judgment for $40.

The Lincoln Journal June 12 tells of the case as follows:

"Schaber is a neighbor of William Palmer, and Palmer sued him for $40, balance due on a horse purchased of him. Schaber said Palmer had guaranteed the horse to be sound, whereas it was crippled and lame, had dizzy spells and could not walk or trot straight. He asked the court to order Palmer to give him back his $10 or hold that it was all the horse was worth. In addition he asked, if Palmer was compelled to take back the horse, that he pay Schaber 30 cents a day for feeding and caring for him since November, 1938.

"Palmer says all he said about the horse was that the animal was just as he got it. Among the reasons for a new trial given by Schaber is that after the judgment was entered he found out that Palmer had unsuccessfully tried to get the former owner to take the horse back after he had bought it at a sales ring."

Brewers' Committee Begins Fourth Year of Service!

Three years ago our Committee, the first of its kind in the United States, was established in Nebraska with Charles E. Sandall, former U. S. district attorney, as its state director.

Today, as we begin a fourth year of service to the people of Nebraska, we renew the promise made to you three years ago: to cooperate with law enforcement officials in keeping beer retailing on a high level and to help them banish from the ranks of the beer retailers the few who refuse to obey the control laws.

Public welfare programs often start with a flourish only to be abandoned. Our self-regulation program continues to gain in effectiveness because it fills a gap between the public and the law enforcement authorities. It benefits everyone.

You, the public, can assist in this cooperative program by reporting any objectionable retail beer outlet conditions to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission or to us.

In the quartet Irwin Jones, Ivor Morris, Lloyd Morris and John Davis. Mrs. Geo. Huey accompanied them. Miss Marguerite Rees played for congregational singing.

History of Congregation.
Zion Congregational church was organized April 2, 1891, on a beautiful, warm, sunny day, the weather being much like that for the anniversary. The meeting was called to order by Rev. Samuel Jones at the Wadsworth school three miles west and one south of the present church site. Matthias Jones was chosen secretary. Rev. Jones delivered a sermon on the principles of the church. In response to a call for names of those who wanted to join the new cause, Howell Rees, Margaret Rees, William Jenkins, Susan Jenkins, Mathias Jones and Owen Jones responded. Howell Rees was chosen deacon and Matthias Jones secretary. Eight children, all under 8 years of age, attended. Seven of these are still living. Jesse Jenkins, Ethel Jenkins Davis, David Rees, William H. Rees, David Evelyn Jones, Margaret Jones Evans and Nettie Jones Miller. Sarah Jenkins Jones has passed on.

"Like a little mustard seed the church grew and became a large and sheltering tree for many," the early record relates. Such strides were made that William D. Roberts and Jepkin Davis were appointed co-deacons with Mr. Rees.

A location for a church and cemetery was picked on the southwest corner of the NW 1/4 of township 27, a fourth mile west and a half south of the David Rees home. H. Brass of Lincoln, was instrumental in getting aid from the home missionary and building society so it was decided to construct a new church without delay.

Thomas W. Bowen, William D. Roberts and Rowland H. James comprised the building committee. The new church was named Zion Congregational by Mrs. Ann Jones of Red Oak. Sunday school was held in the school until the church was finished.

At a meeting July 5, 1891, William Jenkins, Jenkin Davis and Howell Rees were chosen trustees. Rev. Samuel Jones became the first pastor and served 10 years. He died February 17, 1904. During eight of the 10 years he lived at Wayne and came by train each Saturday to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Evan Jenkins, to be here for services. The membership totaled 50 at close of his pastorate. In 1892 three children were baptized. Evan W. Jenkins, Lemuel Jones and Anna Hamer Owens.

The first death in the new congregation was that of Thomas W. Bowen who died March 14, 1894. Mr. Bowen was the grandfather of Mrs. Margaret Evans. Services for him were held in the home and burial was in Iowa. In April, 1896, a second member of the congregation was taken. Owen Jones, who died at the age of 37. Mr. Jones became ill suddenly and an Omaha specialist was called. An operation was performed in the home, and as operations were very rare then the yard was filled with on-lookers and sympathizers.

A committee, including Evan Jenkins, Evan W. Jones, William J. Hamer, Howell Rees, Thomas Evans and John R. Morris, met November 26, 1903, and decided it would be best to move the church to a more central location. W. J. James, John R. Morris, John R. Hamer and David Thomas each offerred an acre for the site and the Morris land, the present location, was chosen. When the church was being moved on rollers, the building started rolling down a long hill and stopped at the bottom.

Contract for a parsonage was let to C. E. Jones in May, 1905.

After Rev. Jones' ministry, the church was served between 1901 and 1905 a few Sundays each by Rev. Owen Abel Perry, Rev. John Isaac Hughes, Rev. Volander Jones, Rev. Lloyd Roberts, Rev. Lloyd Williams, Rev. Owen Thomas, Rev. James Jenkins, Rev. I. Pierce, Rev. Thomas Jones, Rev. R. H. Jones, Rev. L. Roe, Rev. Wm. D. Evans, Rev. David P. Morgan, Rev. S. Davis, Rev. Mawdway Jones, Rev. Wm. Isaac and Rev. Wm. Rees. The last named, father of Mrs. A. C. Ward and Miss Catherine Williams of Norfolk, preached each Sunday when there was no other minister.

Rev. J. Vincent Jones of Glenduff of Wales, was invited to come to this country and he served the church from 1905 to 1908. Rev. John F. Davis was minister from 1908 to 1914, and Rev. D. Penny Davis from 1914 to 1920. Rev. David Harris, Rev. J. D. Thomas, Rev. M. G. Jones, Rev. Helemer Walco, Rev. David Simpson, Rev. Allen Magill and Rev. Earl Ressel followed.

The first music leader was Joe Jones and first organist was Miss Mary Isaacs. The light of the little church had attracted Mr. Jones to services when he was passing one evening during prayer meeting.

Ladies Aid was formed December 3, 1913 by Mrs. Evan Jones, Platte, and Mrs. E. Evan Jenkins with 19 members. Mrs. N. E. Morris formed the Junior Endeavor. In 1921 it was decided to hold English services once each month.

The new brick church was built in 1913 at a cost of $7,000, and its dedication was December 27 and 28 that year. Rev. J. F. Davis was pastor, and he was assisted by Rev. S. J. Hamford of Lincoln, Rev. J. G. Evans of Down, Mo., and Rev. Mrs. T. P. Jenkins of Long Creek, Ia.

John R. Hamer served as secretary 30 years, Evan Jenkins as deacon 23 years and Howell Rees as deacon 36 years.

The first funeral in the new edifice was for Celia Ann Roberts April 24, 1925. Three weddings within the last 10 years were those of Ralph Hillier and Betty Stamper, Annabelle Hillier and Herman Flair, Evelyn Morris and George Huey. Miss Twila Jenkins, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins, charter members, is secretary and stenographer to Rev. Adams at Lincoln.

Cat Is Logically Going Airminded

Minister Listens to Rites Conducted for Himself By His Friends.

With the whole world going airminded, it's only logical that so would Sarah Gill's cat. Sarah found the cat in the woods and the cat had wings. Folks who have seen Sarah's cat say that the "wings" are about six inches long and lie along the middle of the back. They are covered with white fur like the rest of the cat and can be spread out. The only drawback is that the cat can't fly.

The young lady, trying to edge her automobile into a parking spot blocked by a 10-ton truck, asked a youthful bystander to move it for her. He obliged with alacrity, driving it over the sidewalk with complete loss of control. Then he confessed his inexperience and his age—10.

The funeral was held at the DeLoe Baptist church for the Rev. Wright Ellis, Free Will Baptist minister of Freeman. A large number of friends and relatives assembled for the service conducted by the Rev. A. H. Lennon, a life-long friend who eulogized Mr. Ellis and paid tribute to his long life of service. Mr. Lennon officiated at the service at the expressed request of Mr. Ellis. Among those present, sitting and listening attentively, and very much alive—was Mr. Ellis, who wanted it that way.

Mrs. Raymond J. Evans' eyes were drawn to a newspaper item which reported: "Twin girls were recently born to the Warren Robinsons in Holdenville, Okla. Mrs. Robinson is a twin, her grandmother a twin and Robinson's uncle a twin." Mrs. Evans promptly wrote to the Robinsons: "We are not greatly impressed. My great aunt was the mother of four pairs of twins, my mother was a twin, my aunt had twins, my two sisters are twins, one of my sisters is the mother of twin girls, my brother is the father of twins, and last but not least, I am the grandmother of twins. You will understand now why we had to smile and what prompted us to write you this note when we read the clipping."

Members of local No. 153, International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, explained rather sheepishly why they couldn't turn on the lights in their hall—all places. Though they represented the most skilled in their craft, they toiled and snooped around the wires and connections in the hall in vain and finally had to hold their meeting with flashlight candles for illumination. When it was all over the financial secretary confessed—he had forgotten to pay the light bill.

Something desperate was necessary, Albert Lachance explained. He had lost a wallet containing $80. Edward Sadawski found it, returned it and refused to take any reward. Lachance offered $40. Sadawski still said no. Lachance threw a $10 bill on the floor and hurried away before Sadawski could give it back.

Napoleon Boiss, 45, got married in Salem, Mo., 20 years ago. "I'll be seeing you," said his bride on the parsonage steps, and that was the last he ever saw of her, Boisse told Superior Court Judge Ernest C. Simpson just before the court granted him a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Failing sight brought 57-year-old Joseph Martino to the New York City police lineup on the same old charge that has been plaguing him since 1919—picking pockets. The police collared him in a department store after they said he deftly opened a woman shopper's purse, closed it, put on his glasses so he could see the contents better, opened it again and then closed it once more when he saw the haul would be too small.

Alexander, the ugly roo, has become a psychopathic case at Topeka, Kan. Alex was caught, by a cat, got away in a near-faked condition. Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Whaley administered first aid, kept him warm with a hot water bottle and even dug him worms. He was finally turned out. But other birds would have nothing to do with Alex. He wouldn't dig his own worms, kept running back home at night time. "We're trying to ignore him," say the Whaleys.

Carl Thugsard, Jr., Jamacia, Long Island, N. Y., zizzically looked at the 6-month-old offering of his philosophical father, who gave him half a birthday party as he reached the half-year mark. Half a cake and, to split hairs, half a candle and half a toy truck were his presents.

Roland Warren Smith of Richmond, Va., has a hunch he will be called to military service the fourth of July. On New Year's eve he was notified of his local order number in the draft. On April Fool's day he received his questionnaire. On Memorial day the postman brought his notification to appear for his physical examination.

Has Unusual Pet.
Mrs. V. C. McCain of Winside has a 14-year-old toy bull named "Half-pint," a very unusual dog and a privileged character. Church and picture shows are part of her social life and she has attended both in a quiet ladylike manner. Like most old ladies, Half-pint leads a well-order life. Her routine is simple but genteel. She arises early, has her morning coffee and spends her mornings in the house and perhaps the afternoon shopping or visiting with her mistress.

Books Accessioned At Wayne Library

A number of attractive new children's books have arrived at the Wayne library. Particularly well presented are the International Mind Alcove travel series sponsored by the Carnegie peace endorsement to interest American children in their friends of other lands. Two of the books for younger children, generously and beautifully illustrated in color are: "Children of Hawaii" by Aida Visscher Thinn, former nursery director on the islands, the story of Patsy who peers into the smoky crater of Kilauea, cats and watches natives spear fish by torchlight; "Rhamor, A Boy of Kashmir," by Helmut Washburne, the adventure of a little lame Indian boy who transports his young readers to a strange land of houseboats and floating gardens.

For older boys and girls there is a story of Finland and one of Iceland. "The Cuckoo Calls," by Nora Burglon, is about twins, Julia and Vendla, who hear the cuckoo call from the west and believe it means good luck. There is an adventure of breath-taking experiences relative to the countries' distress. In "Quest in the Northland," two young Americans explore the unique land of Iceland.

Junior Literary Guild selections include a bright Pueblo Indian story, "In My Father's House," by Anna N. Clark; "Middle Button," about a southern girl in 1880 who wanted to become a nurse; and "Secret of the Old House," by Margaret Leighton, about a haunted southern mansion. "Smoke Eater," by Howard Epler, is full of thrilling excitement, the story of Lieut. Parker and his daring chase for the phantom firebug.

A new Zane Grey novel, "Twin Sombornos," has in it all qualities for which the author is famous. This is the usual tale of a man arrested for murder who turns out instead to save the helpless mortgagee family.

One of the most impressive and important volumes to reach the shelves in some time came with the compliments of Bernard Baruch, its author. Called "Report of War Industries Board for 1921," it also includes his own program for total mobilization presented to the War Policies commission in 1931 and current material on priorities and price fixing.

Hugh S. Johnson says of Baruch in his introduction: "This director and genius of our trail-blazing organization in World War I has had the most intense experience of any. In 1935 he was alarmed at the growing Nazi air power and at Europe's apparent indifference." After his country's several unsuccessful schemes for defense, Baruch persuaded the administration to adopt the War Industries board plan and to profit by experience, progress and knowledge. Mobilization of man power worked out as desired, but industrial mobilization repeated every fumble and blunder of the first war.

Today, with precious time lost, people are beginning to heed Baruch's words: "Total defense must plan to fight, to win and above all survive war." He advocates: 1. Civilian protection by retention of highest possible standard of living at lowest cost. 2. Price control with increased taxes to pay as we go. 3. Conservation, to make both ends meet where there are shortages. 4. Wise and general location of factories, to spread working opportunities to all. 5. No acting in dual capacity, for government.

People interested in simple, concise, adequately stated principles of American mobilization will appreciate this book.
